A Mighty Soul-Winning Factor

Steen Rasmussen

VIEWING thoughtfully present world conditions, we are forced to the conclusion that the boldness of man's transgression has become universally unparalleled. Professed religious leaders are tampering with the very fundamentals of the word and law of God. The results are that thousands of people are losing faith in the Bible as the infallible and inspired word of God, thus making shipwreck of their spiritual experience.

Standing face to face with this deplorable situation, the challenge of God to His children at this hour urges us to be channels of light, to arouse and awaken, and to make use of every God-given agency for presenting to friends, neighbors, and people everywhere the blessed gospel truth given to the remnant church for the last days.

God has provided a multitude of ways whereby His children may send forth the warning and the winning message. Yet there is no method better adapted to the talent and opportunity of the laity generally than that of the ministry of the printed page, and no method more effective in results.

"Let every Seventh-day Adventist ask himself, 'what can I do to proclaim the third angel's message?' Christ came to this world to give this message to His servants to give to the churches. It is to be proclaimed to every nation, kindred, tongue, and people. How are we to give it? The distribution of literature is one means by which the message is to be proclaimed." Southern Watchman, January 5, 1904.

"If there is one work more important than another, it is that of getting our publications before the

Elder M. N. Campbell says:—

"I am glad that a concerted effort is being put forth greatly to increase the circulation of the 'Signs of the Times.' Thousands are rejoicing in the truth as a result of reading this journal. It is our premier missionary paper, and should have the widest possible circulation. The 'Signs of the Times' presents to its readers each week a feast of the richest spiritual food drawn from God's word. It sets forth up-to-the-minute developments in the prophetic field. It is truly a watchman on the walls of Zion. Personally, I receive help and blessing from its pages. It is to be hoped that in the special effort now being put forth to widen its usefulness our people will do their best to co-operate."

"Win One" Through the "Signs of the Times"

W. H. Heckman

IN Volume IV of "Testimonies for the Church," page 598, we find these words regarding the Review and Herald and the Signs of the Times:

"The Review and Herald and the Signs of the Times are cheap papers at the full price. The Review is a valuable paper; it contains matters of great interest to the church, and should be placed in every family of believers.... The same course should be pursued toward the Signs.... These periodicals are one in interest. They are two instrumentalities in the great field to do their specific work in disseminating light in this day of God's preparation. All should engage just as earnestly to build up the one as the other."

If we want to keep abreast of the times, if we want to know how the prophecies of the Bible have been and are being fulfilled, if we want our hearts to thrill with the thought of the nearness of the end of the world and of Christ's glorious appearing, when He will gather His jewels, we should be readers of the Signs of the Times.

If we want to take part in the great world-wide "Win One" movement that has just been launched by our people this year, one of the best methods of accomplishing results is to circulate the Signs of the Times among our friends and neighbors, for this paper does win souls. Hundreds and thousands can testify that they have accepted God's last warning message as the result of reading this periodical.

The paper offers to our pastors and church leaders one of the best methods to help their church members to do missionary work. Pastors, evangelists, church leaders, and church members should see that this great "Prophetic Weekly" is distributed in their respective territories like the leaves of autumn so that no one in the judgment day can say that he did not have an opportunity to know where he was living in the world's history. Thus many will be prepared to meet the Lord in that great day when He comes to claim His own.

Brethren and Sisters, let us do our duty by our fellow men so that their blood will not be required at our hands. Eze. 33:1-9.

Greater Heights for 1937

"WORDS cannot express how I feel about the Signs of the Times. All I can say is that I wish every one in the world could receive it, and would read it. I am not a member of your church, but am trying to keep the Sabbath and follow Jesus, although my family are strongly against the Adventist religion.... The Signs has been a wonderful blessing to me, and a great help, and I want you to know how much I thank God for making it possible for me to receive it."

Expressions of appreciation like this, and words of thankfulness for the Signs, written by people seeking for truth, have multiplied during the year just closed. How they should encourage us as we approach the annual time for renewing the Signs work and pressing on with new vigor and enthusiasm. Pausing for a moment to review, we find a splendid gain in circulation was made during 1936, an increase of 9,000 copies a week as compared with 1935. This means the Signs is reaching 9,000 more non-Adventist homes. Then we go back and note the climb from 1933 with its 47,000 Signs a week; 1934 with 58,000; 1935 with 63,000; and on to 1936 with 72,000. A wonderfully encouraging record, isn't it?

Now for another forward move. A conviction has been deepening in the hearts and minds of many of our missionary leaders, and they are holding out the hope of reaching 100,000 homes with the Signs during 1937. One hundred thousand homes a week with the Signs. Doesn't the thought stimulate? The Lord said to Israel: "Ye have compassed this mountain long enough: turn you northward." Some are feeling that we have compassed the less than a hundred thousand Signs a week mountain long enough, and that the hour has struck for a very definite forward movement. At the recent council of home missionary secretaries held in Hinsdale, Ill., this was very seriously considered. It is believed that our pastors, church elders, and people will whole-heartedly welcome the opportunity for larger plans for work with the Signs of the Times.

Our Signs of the Times editors and the circulation workers, in cooperation with the conferences, in organizing for the Signs of the Times campaign officially scheduled for February 6 to 20, will furnish helpful material. An attractive large church poster is being prepared. Another edition of a four-page Signs news sheet, live with late experiences, and filled with practical suggestions, will be sent out in sufficient quantities for each of our Seventh-day Adventist families to receive one. A Signs service leaflet will contain good program material. This will include a sermonette by Elder A. S. Maxwell, Editor, and suggestions for the work that leaders will find helpful. This material is all going in good time to the churches on the order of the conference home missionary secretary.

However good the plans may be, or the attempts to organize and to provide information and inspiration, our greatest need is that the Lord's spirit shall give vision, and direct in all that is done. In this "Supreme crisis hour of the world's history," surely the Lord designs that the Signs of the Times, with its clear messages of truth, shall bring the light to many thousands of people. In the great "Win One" movement taking possession of our hearts and calling for greater activities, we should call to our assistance the Signs of the Times. It is not merely a saying that "More Signs means more Souls," but through the years it has become a reality that is everywhere recognized. May the Lord bless in our proving this again during 1937, and in a much larger way than ever before, as we reach one hundred thousand families each week with the Signs of the Times.

"Signs" Circulation for Past Four Years

Highly Appreciated

It is interesting how our literature, with its timely messages year by year, is attracting the attention of individuals who are searching for divine truths.

A Seventh Day Baptist lady writes: "Our Sabbath-keeping church has no such splendid magazines as Signs of the Times; therefore I am sending the following subscriptions." There followed another list, and still later another. She has sent thirty dollars for a club of Signs.

From Massachusetts another writes: "Would you send me the articles telling when the Sabbath was changed? Send me some of your Signs of the Times. I am much interested. State how much these copies cost and also the price for a year's subscription."

It has been proved through the years that our church missionary paper, the Signs, is appreciated by the reading public, and that it leads people to acceptance of the truth.

At this time, February 6-20, a special effort is made by every church to increase the circulation of the Signs, that its influence may be still more widely felt. Our standing for the conference in relation to the goal of an average of one subscription a member, as per last November report, is as follows:

Bermuda	120%	of goal
No. New England	61	"
So. New England	46	"
Gr. New York	38	"
New York	29	"

We solicit your full cooperation to help improve the above standing in your field, and to lift loyally in the missionary advance to make it 100 per cent in your conference. Bermuda has set a worthy example, having gone considerably above the goal.

The Signs has a warning and saving message. Shall we not be more in earnest to bring it to the people? Surely we could not plan for less than an average of one subscription a member. We hope many will be impressed to finance five to ten or more copies a week. I know one sister who for years has financed from twenty to fifty copies each year.

Can any one say, I cannot afford it,—cannot afford two little pennies a week, the price of one newspaper? Yet I note many dailies, with their crimes and horrors, find their way into homes, even Sunday editions at ten cents each. Yet do I hear it said, I cannot afford two cents a week to send the Signs' stirring messages to inquiring souls?

A New Year has been allotted us, with liberties still ours. We solicit the whole-hearted cooperation of every conference and church leader to help organize and enlist the entire church membership, old and young, in a forward missionary movement of Signs distribution in every church to average a club at least equalling in size the membership of the church. Already we hear the rumblings of Armageddon and doom. Our opportunities will soon be forever gone. Arise, O church of God, to thy appointed task. A Winner of Souls

THE Signs of the Times is recognized as our magazine for evangelism. The Signs has built up a reputation for itself through the years as a winner of souls. In these days of momentous events, both national and international, the Signs is an interpreter of the meaning of these events in the light of Bible prophecy. Because of the very nature of its articles, each issue of the Signs is read with interest. No better or more valuable missionary work could be done than to send a year's subscription to relatives or neighbors. Our churches have found that it pays to broadcast the truth by a large club order of this magazine for evangelism. We hope that every church in the Greater New York Conference will use the Signs of the Times magazine to the very fullest extent in its missionary program to win souls.

people to search the Scriptures, and persuading them to come to Christ and be born again. Millions of people are being brought face to face with God's message for these last days by reading the printed page. As we come nearer the end of all things, our missionary efforts with the printed page should be greatly multiplied.

Our excellent pioneer missionary paper, the Signs of the Times, needs no introduction to our believers. During its more than sixty years of missionary service, it has been a mighty soul-winning factor in the cause of God. It deserves a circulation far greater than its present subscription list. We believe that the united effort to reach a weekly circulation of 100,000 copies will meet with success.

In North America we have an army of nearly 160,000 believers. To every one of these, God has given His work. We are all "laborers together with God." If each one would secure just one subscription to the Signs for 1937, we should far exceed the goal suggested by the publishing house. We have but a little while yet in which to carry on the work committed to our care before the work of God shall be finished in all the world. It is still day; "the night cometh, when no man can work."

LET US DO SOMETHING

A CLARION CALL TO ADVANCE WITH THE "SIGNS" IN 1937

ROLLING at intervals over the great oceans of the world are gigantic, foam-capped waves, forced up by mysterious, subterranean forces till they overtower their fellows and, sweeping magnificently on, challenge the captain of every ship in their path, testing the nerve and the skill of all, enveloping the unwary, strengthening the brave, and bringing new hope to stranded barks awaiting a rising tide.

Over the seas of life sweep crises of equal moment. Forces, long pent up, are suddenly released and, hurtling forward over the affairs of men, change the course of history. The weak, the unready, the fearful, are submerged, but those with heart and courage see in the swiftly changing scene Time's fresh opportunity, a new call to struggle and victory.

Such crises and their aftermath can be traced through all the annals of man, and it is no exaggeration to say that another, and perhaps the greatest of all, is crashing upon our consciousness today.

Everybody knows it. They may not understand what it means, or what will follow it, but they certainly are aware that an hour of terrific import has arrived.

So much is changing, swiftly changing. "The wheels of destiny are moving fast." Old standards have been thrown down, and a thousand others upraised by frenzied hands and clamoring voices. Fearful forces have been released by godless minds, and placed with careless madness in the hands of the massed millions of mankind. The dogs of war have been fed again with blood, and every day they bite a little farther through the chains that hold them in control.

Such an hour as this, so tense, so tremendous, in its potentialities for evil—and for good—brings its challenge to every living soul. It is a challenge which none can escape, and to all whose hearts are "toward God" it thunders as a divine alarm.

It is an hour when we must everyone play the man. The task He has assigned to us as His interpreters of the times, His ambassadors of grace, His witnesses for the cross, cannot and must not be shirked. A spectacle for men and angels, we hold the center of the stage—and we must not fail.

With the opening of 1937 comes a fresh phase of our opportunity. Whatever our failures in the past we have a chance to obliterate them with glorious achievements in the new year.

Our witness in days gone by may have been feeble, our labor marred by self-interest, our enthusiasm dampened by the cares of this life and the deceitfulness of riches—but today, surely today this can and must be changed, and the whole army of God move on in unity of heart and purpose to accomplish its divine mission.

All along the line, in every phase of the work, a new spirit of devotion and consecration must operate. New and larger objectives must be envisaged—not for the passing glory of men's approbation, but because the magnitude of the task demands it.

It would be a sin, a crime against high heaven, to move forward into 1937 determined to do just what we have done before,—merely to hold our own. In an hour such as this—on the very eve of the world's supreme crisis—we are to attempt the greatest things for God in our history.

Therefore let us lay larger plans.

Let us set before ourselves goals so high that they touch the tops of the everlasting hills and glow with the glory of God.

Let us rouse from our worldly slumbers, from our smug self-satisfaction, and set out afresh to do something great for the Lord.

Yes, indeed, in 1937 LET US DO SOMETHING SPLENDID!

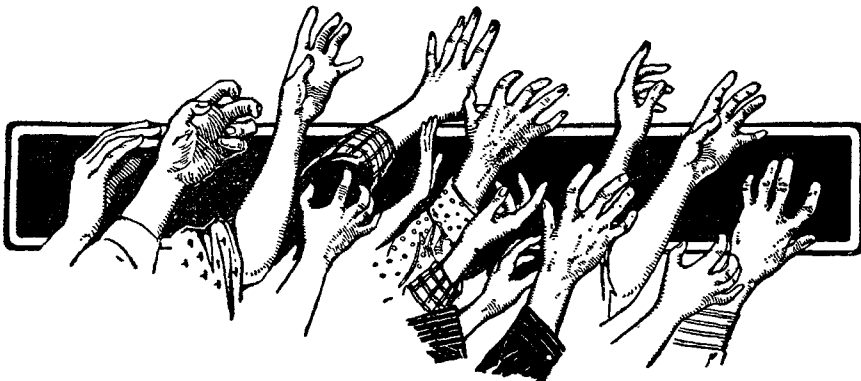

And what more fruitful avenue for our spiritual energies than the distribution of the Signs, that grand old interpreter of world events which in clarion tones tells the message the world needs?

Can we not do something splendid with this powerful missionary journal this year?

We want to do that at the office. We want to make the Signs more easy to read—that is why we have enlarged the type. We want to make it appeal more readily to this modern age—that is why we are slightly changing the make-up. We want it to go forth more redolent with the love of God, free of all nationalism, all politics,—and to this end we plan to watch every sentence with jealous care.

Yet all that can be done within the four walls of a publishing house, all the labor of love of editors, artists, proof-readers, and printers, is valueless without the enthusiastic co-operation of a willing membership.

In a very special and a very personal way the success of the Signs depends on YOU. The more personal interest you can give to the Signs, the wider will be its sphere of influence, the sooner will its ultimate purpose be achieved.

PLENDID!

By Arthur S. Maxwell

It is a shame that the circulation of this great journal should be only 80,000 copies per issue. It should be at least half a million. The goal that has been set for this season's campaign—100,000—can only be regarded as a minimum.

But can we ever hope to do the really splendid thing and reach half a million copies per issue? I believe we can.

The present figures mean that there must be tens of thousands of Seventh-day Adventists who never receive a copy of the Signs either for themselves or for their friends.

If every member in this country took a single copy for himself alone, that would bring the circulation up at once to over 130,000.

But if every member took six copies—one for himself and five for the evangelization of his friends and neighbors, the dazzling goal would be achieved overnight.

No, it is not impossible. The circulation of the Signs can be put where it should be, on a level with the greatest religious magazines in the world. The hour demands it. God expects it. The machinery is all set to this end—and the most important cog in it is YOU.

What can you do to help? What should you do? Just maintain what you have been doing? Certainly you will do that, we know. Better still, add to it, double it, maybe treble it.

Catch a vision of the times, and see what Israel ought to do.

Hear the sound of the trumpet, and gird up your loins for the fight.

As the children of Israel waited tremblingly by the Red Sea, hemmed in by the mountains and pursued by their foes, facing indeed the most critical moment in their march to the Promised Land, Moses, with commendable though mistaken piety, cried out to them: "Stand still, and see the salvation of the Lord." Exodus 14:13.

Swiftly came the divine correction from the pillar of fire:

"Speak unto the children of Israel, that they go forward." Verse 15.

There is a time to stand still and a time to go forward, a time to pray and a time to work.

Israel obeyed, the sea parted, and they marched through to victory and freedom. Had they folded their hands in the crisis, they would have been overwhelmed. They moved forward with God, and were delivered.

To such an hour have we come; and once more as threatening clouds roll up from every horizon, the voice of the Lord calls down to His waiting people: "Go forward and finish My work."

To such a call as this we cannot remain indifferent. Our future as a people and as individuals depends upon our response.

What shall it be?

Friends, let us go on with God.

Let us do something splendid for Him in 1937.

Let's put the "Signs" in 100,000 homes in 1937

It is a real pleasure to communicate with the friends of Union Springs Academy through the columns of the GLEANER. Sometimes, like friendships that have stood the tests of time and separation, we take for granted the mutual understanding, and we neglect to pass along the cheery greetings which are so welcome to all of us.

The first semester of the school year ended January 22, and it is with a genuine thrill of accomplishment for student and teacher that we record the grades of this semester. The students who have done outstanding work and received only A and B grades on their report cards are:

Barbara Lynes
Iva Ridsdale
Melva Sawyer
Glenn Stevens
Reba Kuykendall

Rarely does one discover a report card with five A's, but Glenn Stevens received one like that.

The records show that many of the students have made marked progress in their scholastic standing since the beginning of the year. However, we must remember that grade cards show only a small part of the student's growth. His social and spiritual growth are observed and marked by comparison by his teachers and associates, at work, recreation, and religious activities. Manliness and right attitudes do not appear on grade cards, but in the individual personality. We are happy to see progress made by individual students along these lines, as well as in scholastic attainment.

On Saturday evening, January 23, we enjoyed a fine illustrated lecture on "Butterflies" by Mr. L. E. Aldrich, of Union Springs.

On Sunday evening, January 24, it was our privilege to view interesting scenes from Africa, presented by Elder S. A. Wellman, of the General Conference.

Dr. J. E. Weaver, associate educational secretary of the General Conference, spent Monday, January 25, visiting the school in its various activities. His chapel talk, showing the startling importance of habits and drawing an impressive lesson from the experience of Ahimaaz and Cush, as recorded in 2 Samuel 18, was much appreciated.

OBITUARY NOTICES

FARNSWORTH.—Phillip Farnsworth, son of Carroll and Amy Farnsworth of Washington, N. H., was born at the New England Sanitarium, Melrose, Mass., Oct. 15, 1913. He was graduated from Pine Tree Academy, where he was converted and baptized. He took one year's work in Atlantic Union College. He then went West, working for a time at Hinsdale, Ill., after which he went to California and to Oregon, where he worked for a large lumber company. Recently he came to spend the holidays with friends at Angwin, Calif., and while there he died quite suddenly. Elder D. E. Robinson conducted the funeral service, and he was laid to rest in the beautiful St. Helena cemetery. A. T. ROBINSON.

FAIRCHILD.—Natillie Eugenia Adsit was born July 23, 1851, at Willsboro, N. Y., and died at Shoreham Vt., Dec. 16, 1936. She was married to James A. Fairchild, also of Willsboro, Jan. 12, 1869. To this union were born three children: Mrs. Grace M. Alton (deceased), Hiram H., of Shoreham, Vt., and Mrs. Josephine Alton, of Eldora, Iowa, who was with her at the time of her death. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Eva J. French, of Whittier, Calif., and two brothers, C. W. Adsit, of Everett, Wash., and W. R. Adsit, of Chicago, Ill.

Sister Fairchild had been a faithful Seventh-day Adventist for more than half a century. At different times she lived in Battle Creek, Mich., also at the Iowa Sanitarium, and at other places in the West. In 1935 she returned to Vermont, and at the time of her death, was a member of the Burlington church.

Funeral services were held at the home in Shoreham, Vt., on Dec. 18. Words of comfort, based on 2 Tim. 4:8,9, were spoken by the writer, who also conducted the service at the grave in Willsboro, N. Y., where Sister Fairchild awaits the call of the Life-giver.

LESTER M. ROSCOE.

TRACY.—Lydia S. Tracy was born Jan. 31, 1867, at Onslow, Iowa; and passed away at Mayville, N. Y., Jan. 7, 1937. She was united in marriage to John O. Tracy in 1886. Twelve children were born to this union, of whom two died in infancy. The family made their home at Orlando, Florida, until six years ago. During the last six years Mrs. Tracy has lived most of the time at Binghamton, N. Y. She accepted the Seventh-day Adventist faith in 1907, and was a member of the Binghamton church at the time of her death. She was apparently well until a very short time before she passed away quietly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Florence Erb. Those left to mourn her death are: her husband, three sons, seven daughters, one twin sister, one brother, twenty-nine grandchildren, other relatives, and a host of friends. Words of comfort were spoken by the writer from Rev. 14:13.

A. S. ANDERSON.

ARTHUR.—Mrs. Bernice Arthur, nee Donaldson, was born Sept. 29, 1900, in Brooklyn, N. Y., and died Nov. 23, 1936, in our Washington Sanitarium. Her parents accepted our message forty years ago, when there were only about 65 Adventists in Greater New York. In her early childhood, Bernice manifested great love for missionary work. She gave her heart to Jesus in baptism when she was 14. In September, 1919, she united with Raymond B. Arthur in holy matrimony, and God blessed this union with two children, Jesse and Raymond. Sister Arthur loved the Lord and the message of His soon coming.

We shall miss her very much, especially her Sabbath school group in Fort Lee, N. J. But most of all, she will be missed by her own dear family, who gladly cooperated with her in her service for the Master. Through her efforts her two children and many others have been baptized.

She leaves behind in bereavement her husband, her two children, her parents, four sisters, and many other relatives and friends. The writer spoke words of comfort to a large gathering. Mrs. Fessler, of Teaneck, N. J., sang two of Sister Arthur's favorite songs, and Prof.

NEW ENGLAND SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL

Attention: Graduates

From New England Sanitarium and Hospital and Sister Schools of Nursing

ON the evenings of February 8, 9, 10, and 11, at 7:30 P. M. in the Sanitarium gymnasium, the Alumni Association will conduct the annual institute for graduate nurses.

We are told, in "Counsels on Health," that every nurse who has anything at all to do in God's service must aim at perfection; that we should turn resolutely away from every temptation to be satisfied with a superficial knowledge of our profession; that the cause of God needs nurses of more than ordinary skill in the care of the sick.

These annual institutes help us to keep abreast of the rapid growth of our profession. Unless we make definite efforts in this direction, we are likely to become rusty and inefficient.

The following program is scheduled for the 1937 institute:

Feb. 8, Fractures and Splints: A lecture and demonstration by Dr. C. Haysmer and Miss Lillian Havens, R. N. Nursing Ethics: A dialogue.

Feb. 9, Medical Evangelism: Elder Mitchell. Cyclopropaine: A demonstration of this new anesthetic gas will be made, and the new Connell anesthetic machine will be exhibited by Dr. A. Bond and Miss Florence Kinnear, R. N. A Few New Wrinkles on Old Procedures: Some changes in our nursing technique will be demonstrated by Miss A. Sloane, R. N.

Feb. 10, The Eye: An illustrated lecture will be given by Dr. Benjamin Sachs, of the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary. Dr. Sachs is an outstanding authority and an extremely able speaker.

Feb. 11, Social Evening: There will be a valentine party and a finger-painting contest in the new recreation cabin.

A charge of one dollar will be made for attendance at the session. This helps to pay for the expense of the program and for furtherance of the work of the Alumni Association. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity for advancement in professional knowledge, for stimulating contacts with ambitious nurses, and for pleasant social relations with old friends. Come to the gymnasium February 8, 9, and 10, and to the cabin February 11.

"Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

"AM I my brother's keeper?" is a question that is almost as old as creation, for it was asked by Adam's first-born son, Cain. The Lord's question, "Where is Abel thy brother?" is also an old one, and implies that God holds individuals responsible for the safety of brother, sister, and friend.

While these questions are six thousand years old, yet they are just as applicable today as when first asked. We cannot get away from the fact that we are our brother's keeper. Will we carry that responsibility, particularly in the matter of his spiritual welfare? If you have friends and relatives for whom God is holding you responsible, now is a splendid time to join with us in sending a Signs subscription to all who should know the truth for this time.

Your subscriptions should be placed with the missionary secretary of your church.

FRANK D. WELLS.

More "Signs" More Souls

WILL you join the ranks of the soul winners in 1937 by selecting a number of your best prospects, sending them the Signs of the Times regularly, and then visiting them or writing occasionally and following up the interest in due time by earnest prayer and Bible Studies?

February is the Signs of the Times month. Your relatives, friends, and neighbors are in need of the light that our pioneer missionary periodical can so effectively present from week to week.

Some of our most successful evangelists are listed among the editors and contributors of this paper, and hundreds of precious souls are being won by it year after year. Although we are told in the Spirit of prophecy that the Review and Herald and Signs of the Times are cheap at the full price, the publishers are offering a special rate at this special season and we sincerely hope that we shall average at least one subscription a member in every church, for we are convinced that more Signs will mean more souls.

Coming

On Saturday night, Feb. 6, at eight o'clock, the Lynchs will appear again in the college chapel. They will present a musical program of entirely new numbers, the proceeds to be used to improve the young men's parlor.

Union Springs Academy

Our principal, Mr. William A. White, attended the union conference session held in New York City.

We are glad to welcome another new student, Miss Eusebia Biers, of Rochester, N. Y. Other students who have joined us since Christmas are Miss Grace Webb, of Troy, N. Y., and Miss Harriet and Mr. Orland Chapman, of Alexander, N. Y.

MYRLE T. AMBS, Registrar.

Correction

It has been called to our attention that the Niagara Falls, N. Y., church should have been listed with those which reached $10 per capita in the Harvest Ingathering. We are glad to make this correction.
