Research Report and Appeal

By L. E. FROOM

This is to report that, through the wonderful co-operation of our workers and laymen in various world divisions, priceless evidence has been secured showing that the doctrine of conditional immortality has been held by individuals and groups of Christians throughout the centuries. For example, by some in Ethiopia in the sixteenth century—and about the same time by Nestorian Christians on the Malabar Coast of India, and in 1574 by certain Anabaptists in Poland — the unconscious state of the dead was cherished as an article of faith.

Each century since the Reformation has had its quota. Valuable evidence has been obtained regarding current holders of conditionalism among the clergy of various denominations in Finland, Norway, Denmark, Holland, Germany, France, Switzerland, and other lands. A century ago a remarkable revival of conditionalism took place, not only in Britain, continental Europe, and North America, but extending into India, Ceylon, Jamaica, South Africa, Australia and the Far East as well.

As a result of this quest an unrivaled conditional immortality source library has been brought together at General Conference headquarters, comprising some two hundred original books, pamphlets, and bound periodicals, 150 microfilm copies of other rare items, including manuscripts, and two hundred packets of photostats, many of them priceless.

These provide the factual basis for the manuscript now in course of preparation. But such a denominational enterprise would have been impossible without the help of hundreds of alert eyes and helping hands, not a few being non-Adventist scholars and librarians. This is therefore a most hearty "Thank you!" for fine co-operation—and an appeal to keep on the alert a little longer for other materials, old or new, still scattered in many lands in periodical, book and pamphlet form.

Where possible the original document should be secured. Quoted extracts need the full name of author, exact title of book, place of publication, name of publisher, and date (noting the particular edition or revision), with the quotation verified for exact wording, spelling and punctuation. In case of a periodical, the name of journal, place of publication, title of article, full name of author, volume and number, date, and the pages. When originals are unobtainable, photostats of title page and pertinent pages—or a microfilm of the entire work or the relevant sections—are of equal service. But these should always include the title page.

Biographical data are also highly desirable—birth and death dates, education, posts held, books or articles written, significant human interest features, and how Conditionalism came to be accepted. A photograph of the individual adds human interest.

Your continuing help is earnestly solicited. If anyone finds further data, please communicate with L. E. Froom, General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, 6840 Eastern Avenue, Takoma Park, D. C., U. S. A.

Sunday Laws

The writer is collecting Sunday laws across the United States for the use of the General Conference.

While copies of all state laws are available to us here in Washington, D. C., copies of city ordinances are not. If you know of a Sunday ordinance of any city or town you would do a good service to the cause of God by sending any information you may have or be able to get regarding such ordinance. District pastors are particularly asked to look into this matter.

In most places city and town ordinances or codes can be examined at the city or town hall or at police headquarters.

What is needed is (1) a correct and legible copy of any such ordinance, and (2) a reference to the ordinance or code section so that a person seeking the provision could easily find it. Include the city, state, ordinance or chapter number, and, if it does not affect the whole, the section as well.

Information Wanted

We have been asked to help one of our brethren to find a relative with whom he has not been in touch for many years. Mr. Pehr Augustinius Haglund is an elderly man and in poor health. He resides in Sweden and is anxious to contact a relative in the United States. Mr. Haglund at one time lived in this country, and had a brother and sister who were living here at the time of their death. He is interested in making contact with his niece, the daughter of his deceased sister, Mrs. Carl Mattsson. He says his sister's husband, Mr. Carl Mattsson, was for some time a teacher of mathematics in a Seventh-day Adventist school located at Chicago. This school undoubtedly was Broadview Academy. He says that both his sister and her husband are now deceased, but he believes their daughter to be living. However, he does not remember her name, or know where she lives.

Mr. Haglund also has a nephew named Holger Haglund, who he understands works in some meat packing industry in Chicago. Through contact with his niece, Mr. Haglund also hopes to reach his nephew.

Not Without Honor

We well remember reading in the good Book how it is said that "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country." The thought occurs to me that perhaps that is why so many Seventh-day Adventists do not enjoy the weekly visits of their church paper, the "good old Review." Are we by chance becoming so familiar with the things of the church that we lose their true significance in this day of rapid movements and international conflict?

There has just come in to my office today a little item from Brother Kermit Foss, the Book and Bible House manager of the Minnesota Conference. Let me quote: "Here is an order for the Review and Herald, and let me give you some of its history. I thought you would be interested in this subscription. Betty is not an Adventist. She has received and loved the Signs of the Times for a long time. Recently she found the Review and Herald in a Salvation Army store. Now she wants a subscription, for it is so good."

Honestly, brethren and sisters, don't you feel that unless your home has the blessing of the weekly visits of the "good old Review," you are missing something? Isn't it time that we make first things first in our own homes and in our own experiences? Why not take time just now to order the Review and Herald from your Book and Bible House. The annual subscription rate is only $6.50.

Bright Horizon

A little more than ninety days ago, the new guide to truth for modern youth entitled Bright Horizon was introduced for the first time to the young adults of America. Already Missionary Volunteers, laymen, and pastors are enthusiastically spreading the news of this new Bible guide in 22 chapters in their communities. Young people have been enrolling and encouraging their friends to enroll. Enrollment campaigns are being conducted in many areas. This new Bible course has been used in connection with Voice of Youth meetings. The results? More than 17,000 applications for enrollment have been received, and the percentage of those graduating is the highest of all our courses.

Read some of the very enthusiastic responses from young people who have enrolled in Bright Horizon.

"I want to let you know that Bright Horizon is one of the most interesting stories I have ever read. I can hardly wait to get the lessons each time."

"Thank you very much for sending me your marvelous story, Bright Horizon. It is truly wonderful. In just the first three chapters I have gotten a spiritual lift. The story is so interesting that I hate to leave it, even for a second."

Accuracy and Speed

The Second Annual Spelling-Ciphering Competition for the schools of the Greater New York Conference was held at Greater New York Academy Monday evening, May 26. The chapel was crowded with the contestants, their parents, and friends. Excitement was running high, because these contestants were all champions in their respective schools.

After the competitors had been introduced, Miss Ruth Ekdahl returned the spelling trophy, and Mrs. Marie Ulloth returned the ciphering trophy. These had been held by the Greater New York Academy and the Danish-Norwegian elementary schools during the past year.

Both the spelling and ciphering matches were held on two levels: grades 1-4 and grades 5-8. The spelling bee was won for the lower grades by Ray Deane Minner, a fourth grader from the Jamaica school, and for the upper grades by Sulma Sanchez, a sixth grader from the Bronx Community School. Lauri Lidner, a pupil from the fourth grade at the Academy elementary school and Carol Oster, a pupil in the eighth grade at Babylon, topped all challengers in the ciphering matches. Each winner was presented a purse with pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, half dollars, a silver dollar, and a green-back, totaling $5.00. Inasmuch as the gold cups are awarded only to the schools winning the upper grade competitions the trophies were presented to Mr. Roland Parker, principal of the Bronx Community School, and Mr. Harley Bresee, upper grade teacher at the Babylon Intermediate School.

These conference-wide contests are fostered for the purpose of encouraging greater interest in, and emphasis on, speed and accuracy in the mastery of the fundamental skills of learning. They also serve to focus interest on the

Minuteman Achievement

Congratulations to the pastors, church officers, and hundreds of laymen and young people who have worked so faithfully and hard to help make the New York Conference a Minuteman conference for 1958.

This accomplishment was reached on the week end of May 24, in spite of inclement spring weather and the recession. At the time of this writing (June 4) we now show an overflow of $1,592.55 over the Minuteman goal and we are confident that we will go beyond the $100,000.00 mark again this year. Probably by the time you read this we will have reached this objective.

Much good is accomplished through our annual Ingathering appeal. Let us all pray that the literature left in the homes may find some who are searching for greater light. Let us also pray that God will use the funds received so that more souls can be won to this message both at home and in the mission field.

Literature Evangelist News

The literature evangelists of the New York Conference have been witnessing some very interesting experiences in recent weeks. They have delivered about $8,000 worth of literature during the month of May. Now, with the students in the field, greater days are ahead.

All over the conference our people are manifesting an interest in the literature work. Since there is such an interest, the New York Conference is planning a special training class for literature evangelists. This class will be for those who are beginning and those who have been in the work, but who feel the call of God to return. The class will start at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, September 14, and will continue until Tuesday noon, September 16.

Anyone interested in this special class should write for application blank at once. Address your request to C. L. Wilber, Publishing Department Secretary, Box 1285, Syracuse 1, New York.

Jamestown English Church Burns Mortgage

On a recent Sabbath the Finance Committee under the leadership of Miss Estella Hills led out in a program of burning the mortgage for the debt owed on the church lot which was purchased a few years ago. The lot is now paid for in full and progressive plans are being laid to build the new church on this site in the near future.

Pictured above are Miss Barbara Salisbury, treasurer, who lit the fire, Elder Louis DeLillo, who held the mortgage while it burned; and Miss Hills, who had an active part in the campaign to pay for the lot in full.

News Notes

✓ We have received word that the following churches will have a booth at a county fair this summer: East Palmyra, Burr, Boonville, Otego, Jamestown English, Pulaski, Olean, and Salamanca.

✓ Vacation Bible School season is now upon us. The following churches are planning a Vacation Bible School this summer: Dexterville, Olean, Schenectady, South Hamilton, Randolph, Rome, Binghamton, and Ellisburg.

✓ Elders R. W. Moore, R. G. Burchfield, M. E. Erickson, and M. E. Moore are taking a week's trip visiting a number of denominational academies to study academy industries and buildings in anticipation of the growth and enlargement of Union Springs Academy.

✓ Elder Carl P. Anderson recently spent a day at the Faith for Today office to study plans for the Faith for Today booth at the New York State Fair. This booth will again be in the Horticultural Building and the date of the Fair will be July 29 to August 6.

✓ The Roosevelt Seventh-day Adventist church will be celebrating its 100th Anniversary the week end of August 29 and 30.

✓ Don't forget the annual William Miller Memorial Service in Low Hampton, N.Y., on Sunday, August 31. Elder Arthur White, grandson of Mrs. E. G. White, will be the guest speaker at the Roosevelt Centennial on August 30 and the William Miller chapel service on Sunday, August 31.

Book and Bible House Notes

Selected Messages, Volumes I and II, by Mrs. E. G. White will be among those new volumes which visitors to the Camp Meeting Bookstand will have the opportunity to see and secure. Selected Messages, as you know, are the latest volumes of the Spirit of prophecy. Volume I is already in stock at the Book and Bible House, and mailings of orders on hand will begin as soon as Volume II arrives. The price is $3.00 per volume in the cloth binding and $3.75 each for the deluxe edition. These are Christian Home Library Series volumes.

When mentioning new books that will be ready for camp meeting we are reminded that a very special display of our very earliest publications will also be found at the Bookstand this year. A letter from Brother C. B. Clark of Cattaraugus, N. Y., assures us that he will be on hand and show some of the many rare and interesting items his untiring search has brought into his possession. Many will recall that Brother Clark displayed some of his collection two years ago, and since that time he has redoubled his efforts and has obtained many new items which will be of great interest to our believers. An invitation to our members to bring to him at the camp ground "anything that they might have along the line of our old literature or various very old Bibles in English" is extended by Brother Clark.

Many things are being planned for your enjoyment and inspiration at camp meeting August 7 to 16. "See you at the Bookstand."

Adlai Esteb Speaks

Recently Elder Adlai Esteb of the General Conference spent the week end with Elder Eugene F. Carter, pastor of the Bethel church in Brooklyn. Elder Esteb was the main speaker in a triple-point program. He launched the Ingathering campaign at the eleven o'clock hour, and approximately $2,000 was raised that morning. In the afternoon Elder Esteb gave a wonderful message to the graduating members of the Lightbearers class. Twenty-two individuals completed this course and received their certificates.

We are happy to report that many of the Lightbearers already are engaged currently in giving Bible studies and doing missionary work. Several souls have already taken their stand and are in the baptismal class because of their efforts.

Elizabeth Small, Bible Instructor, with Elders Esteb and Carter at the graduation exercises.

Persons receiving diplomas at the Lightbearers graduation exercises.

The last and most vital aspect of this three-point endeavor was the baptismal service conducted Sunday evening. Elder Esteb, again brought another heart-searching, soul-stirring message to the baptismal candidates, members and visitors gathered for the occasion. Fourteen precious souls were carried into the watery grave, and buried with their Lord in baptism. This makes a total of over three hundred souls who have been baptized into the Bethel church during the pastorate of Elder Carter.

Senior Outing

Approximately 65 young people attended the senior outing conducted at Victory Lake Camp over the Memorial Day week end.

The camp, which was conducted by Elder L. H. Davis, head of the conference MV Department, had as a special speaker Elder Archa O. Dart, General Conference secretary for Parent and Home Education. His series of talks were designed especially for young people; and those who attended considered them to be some of the most informative and outstanding lectures ever presented for them.

A program of recreation, under the direction of Pastor Harold Kibble and David Hearon, brought enjoyment to the campers. The campers were so enthusiastic about the various activities that another outing is scheduled for the Labor Day week end. At the close of this senior camp, on Sunday, June 1, over thirty persons registered for the Labor Day week end. Those wishing to attend this second outing should send $1.00 deposit immediately because the number of registrants will be limited.

Southern New England Is Minuteman Conference

We are indeed happy to report that the Southern New England Conference has reached and passed the General Conference Minuteman goal for 1958. The total reported is $132,000.02, making a per capita of $24.15. We want to take this opportunity of saying congratulations to those churches and districts that raised or surpassed their Minuteman goal. There are a few churches still working and they fully expect to reach the goal. To each pastor, missionary leader, church school teacher, adult, young person, junior, boy and girl, we wish to express a hearty word of thanks for the service that you have given to the Lord in behalf of His cause for perishing souls. To our Heavenly Father we express gratitude for His guiding hand and His blessings that have rested thus far upon the Ingathering work. Unitedly we move forward in faith.

A Retrospective Picture

We would like to share with you a portion of the report given by Elder M. L. Mills at the 16th Biennial Session in Worcester, Mass.

"As we give a retrospective picture of the conference activities during 1956 and 1957 we have much for which to be thankful. We recognize that whatever has been accomplished has been done through the blessings of our Heavenly Father."

Five hundred fifty members were added by baptism and profession of faith during the biennium. The net gain in membership for this period is 357.

God has richly blessed our members. They paid a tith of $1,518,887.75. Total mission offerings amounted to $507,887.88 or an 11 per cent gain over the previous two years. Our members are at the top of the list in their per capita giving to missions.

The Book and Bible House reported a net gain in sales of over 12 per cent. The total sales amounted to $265,675.18.

Several new church buildings have been erected since the last conference session. Of the 58 church organizations in the conference all but 12 have their own buildings and 10 of these have definite plans for doing so.

The conference had an increase in operating capital of 21 per cent.

One of the problems that the conference must now face is a new location for South Lancaster Academy. Definite plans have been made to give study to this problem.

The president in conclusion said, "It is my conviction that the greatest barrier to the material growth of our church is that of our spiritual need. The Lord is willing to do great things for His people, but He will be prevented from doing so until He is given first place in our hearts. . . . Solemn and climactic events in the world tell us that the day is imminent when there will be no further need of a conference session, for the last sermon will have been preached, the last Bible study given, the last prayer of the penitent will have been prayed and the last name entered in the Book of Life. Thank God for the blessed hope of the bright future that awaits the child of God."

Space Travel

Space travel, other worlds, and the question of whether man would ever leave this planet constituted the theme of the opening Surprise Night program on June 7, under the auspices of the college chapter of the American Temperance Society. After a brief discussion, the documentary motion picture, "On the Threshold of Space," was shown.

George White opened the program at 9:00 with a community sing, as Arni Asgeirsson gave organ accompaniment. After the introduction of director-host Erling Odell, "America, The Beautiful" was sung and an invocation was given. Odell then proceeded to explain the purposes of the series and outlined its objectives. He then introduced the theme of the evening's program, and spoke briefly about the current public interest in space travel and other worlds. He stated that of all people who should be interested in this subject, it should be Seventh-day Adventists. Then, several short passages from the writings of Ellen G. White which tell about such things as other worlds and the people who inhabit them were read. After the film, which showed what the U.S. government and the Air Force are doing in experimentation with missiles and space platforms, a summary was given.

The second in this special summer series will be on Saturday night, June 21. The theme will revolve around one of the greatest disasters in history and how it affected the lives of many hundreds of people. Another major motion picture will be shown to dramatize the evening's theme.

The programs are being held in Machlan Auditorium beginning at 9:00 p.m. Admission is by contribution of 50 cents.

Correction

Since giving the address of Mrs. Esteb in last week's GLEANER we have learned that the street number as we had it was incorrect. The address should be: Mrs. L. E. Esteb, c/o M. G. Dailey, 5011 E. Locust St., Lincoln, Nebraska.

Post Office Mural

A mural is in the process of being painted for the rear wall of the new post office building in South Lancaster. Postmaster Nicholas Fabian announced this week.

The work is being done by Nelson Hallock of Bennington, Vt., a former serviceman who will be graduated from Atlantic Union College next year as a major in art, under the direction of Miss Mabel R. Bartlett, head of the Art Department at the college.

The mural is a historical treatment of the development of the Post Office Department of the United States, featuring various phases of transportation used to carry mail, whether by pony express, stagecoach, ship, train, door-to-door delivery by postmen, mail truck, airplane, helicopter, jet or missile, the latter being symbolic of the time in the not too distant future when air mail delivery may be a matter of seconds.

The mural will include a picture of Benjamin Franklin, the first postmaster in America, and a seal in gold. The mural, which will be done in colors, is approximately nine by seven feet. The background of the various figures is a map of the United States.

Postmaster Fabian said the mural will be of interest to all visitors at the post office, particularly appealing to grade school children.

Studying Psychology

Mrs. Faye Yost, the former Miss Faye Wood who attended A.U.C. in 1955-56, is studying toward a degree in psychology. Afterward, she will take graduate study at Metropolitan University in Glendale, Calif.

Mrs. Yost is presently living at 91½ Court Street in Belfast, Me., and is operating a gift shop and caring for children as a means of financing her education. She is a member of the S.D.A. church in Lincolnville, Me., and is a sister of Norma Wood, who is studying nursing at the New England Sanitarium at Melrose, Mass. Mrs. Yost desires to correspond with A.U.C. students.

Church Speaker

Clifton L. Taylor, local retired minister, last week was the guest speaker at the College church. His sermon was entitled "Believe His Prophets."

Elder Taylor is an A.U.C. alumnus.

New Fair Display

Good news for churches who are promoting the Third Angel's Message through the public fairs in their territory! A new Faith for Today fair display unit is now available.

This newly designed illuminated unit is available in the popular table-top size which has proved so easy to use. It has a new approach, a new design, and a warm friendly color scheme which will do much to attract the attention of the passer-by and draw him to your booth.

The first public showing of the display will be at the General Conference session in Cleveland. If you will be there, plan to stop at the Radio and Television Department's booth where the Faith for Today display unit can be seen.

If your church is thinking of a booth this summer or fall plan now to use the Faith for Today exhibit. It will be to your advantage to notify us as soon as your needs are definite so a display unit can be set aside for you.

Remember—plan now for your exhibit. Then let us know immediately the dates so a unit can be reserved for you.
