

Greetings to the Field

By WILLIS J. HACKETT, President
Atlantic Union Conference

It is indeed a pleasure to greet the members of our churches in the Atlantic Union Conference through the pages of the GLEANER. The great Advent Movement has brought changes again to this field. Elder Gardner, our union treasurer, has notified you of Elder L. E. Lenheim's call to the Columbia Union, where he will carry heavier responsibilities. Elder Lenheim has served the Atlantic Union well for almost eight years. He has won his way into the hearts of the people by his strong leadership, his keen financial insight, and his executive ability. The brethren here in this union will greatly miss his leadership. But that seems to be the way with the great Advent Movement. Only heaven will keep our friends and loved ones always with us. We all wish Elder and Mrs. Lenheim God's blessing as they take up the challenge of a larger task.

For Mrs. Hackett and me it is like coming home again to return to South Lancaster. We have had a wonderful experience in our overseas fields of the Far Eastern Division. We have seen the work of God grow very rapidly in the last six years away out there at the end of the "Golden Cords." It is comforting to know, when separated from home and loved ones, in a strange land with strange customs, that a loyal church membership at home has a consistent plan of support for its missionaries. Often missionaries of other denominations express their admiration of the Adventist plan for the support of missions. Again and again when things were discouraging it gave us confidence and a positive forward approach to know that funds from the homeland were forthcoming year by year to build a solid work. I wish to personally thank the members of our churches in the Atlantic Union for the support you have given the mission fields. I can see more clearly the wisdom in the General Conference plan of placing our funds in one big pocket where they can be distributed equitably to each field. We also appealed to you for literature through the pages of the GLEANER, and you responded with thousands of copies of the Signs, Review, and These Times, along with other of our denominational papers. These have gone into the homes of the people of these island territories, contributing their part to the winning of souls. The Far Eastern Division has become one of the fastest growing mission fields; your support has helped to make that record possible.

Now that we have rejoined the staff of the Atlantic Union Conference territory we unite our energies and prayers with yours for a great advance of the work here. The territory of the Atlantic Union Conference is one of tremendous populations. It is not easy to reach the millions in this industrial, congested area with our message. We must find new ways, make new plans, deepen our consecration to the task, if we are to speedily finish God's work.

We must work unitedly, enthusiastically, and with greater intensity, sensing the urgency of our task. I want to appeal to each member of the church to revive that first love, that we may not be "weary in well-doing." Our danger is that we say, "My Lord delayeth His coming," and sit down in our gospel easy chair to await some great deluge of trouble to stir us into action. The signs are again pressing in upon us with greater impact to declare the urgency of the time. The plans, programs, messages of yesterday will not suffice for today. We must arise anew, with broader plans, with a greater intensity of endeavor and consecration, with more importunate prayer, with deeper dedication, with larger giving, and with an all-out surrender of our talents and energies if we are to meet the challenge of our unfinished task in this territory.

I wish to dedicate myself anew to this finishing work. I am sure that the entire ministry of the Atlantic Union desires to have a new infilling of His Spirit for the important work and days before them. May I make a special appeal to each of our members to enter into a wholehearted consecration to the task of evangelizing this great union territory. Let us arise with one voice, as one man, with one ambition, to finish God's work and to cut short the reign of sin. Let us harness every department of the church in this great crusade of winning souls for God's eternal kingdom. We must never forget that we have God's last warning message for the world. Let us implore and entreat God on bended knee to make us channels for the free flowing of the water of life so needful to a thirsty, parched world. We here in the union office wish to join you in that kind of dedication.

Appreciation

Elder W. J. Hackett and family wish to express their appreciation for the many cards and letters of sympathy which were received in the recent loss of his mother, Anna M. Hackett.

To Remain in So. Lancaster

I am glad to take this opportunity to greet the believers in the Atlantic Union Conference. Most of you know that when Mrs. Esteb and I were on our vacation she had a stroke and has been in the hospital for two months. She was paralyzed on the left side. She has made wonderful improvement in those two months. She is able to take a few steps now and is able to lift her left arm. Her face cleared up immediately, she never was unconscious, and she has been very alert through all this ordeal. There is no droop in her face and her courage is very good indeed. She has been out of the hospital and has been at her sister's place in Lincoln, Neb., for about two weeks now.

It was not only because of her paralysis but also because of her arthritic condition that we felt that perhaps we should move to a warmer climate. We gave very careful study to this, but as she came to the place of parting with her friends and going to a new environment she felt that she would much prefer to stay in South Lancaster. That was a very happy decision for me because I did not want to give up my work.

The members of the Union Committee were very considerate in all of our problems. After we gave study to the doctor's recommendation but also his suggestion in light of her great desire to come back to South Lancaster, we felt it best that she should return here. We are expecting her back home August 18.

Mrs. Esteb wants me to express her appreciation to the hundreds of friends who have sent her cards, letters, and messages. Obviously it has been impossible for her to answer all of these, and we want to take this means through the GLEANER to thank you for your prayers, for your letters, and for your well wishes. They were a great help.

We look forward to having some wonderful times together as we unite for the finishing of God's work. The great days of this movement are ahead of us and I fervently believe that some of the most interesting things in connection with our work are going to take place when the message again returns to the East with power.

I thought this word would give all of our friends an opportunity to know just what the situation is. The doctor feels that Mrs. Esteb will be fully recovered and able to get around normally in the course of the next seven or eight months. We are very hopeful that this will be a happy year for us. We'll have a chance to spend more time together now than we have had in recent years.

Continue to remember us in your prayers. Mrs. Esteb's address is: Box 458, South Lancaster, Mass.

Through Nature to God

The slogan of the famous Agassiz, the founder of natural history in America, "STUDY NATURE, NOT BOOKS," is especially significant to the Christian, for he regards the things of nature as the handiwork of the great Creator. Plainly, if he is to know God, whom to know aright is life eternal (John 17:3), he must learn to appreciate His handiwork, for nature is God's thought in action.

"While the Bible should hold first place in the education of children and youth, the book of nature is next in importance." Counsels to Teachers, p. 185.

Realizing the need of some medium by which nature could be brought more effectively before the people, the biology teachers of S.D.A. colleges, at their convention in 1947, organized the Associated Nature Clubs of America. These clubs operate throughout North America. The official organ of the A.N.C.A. is The Naturalist, a 32-page quarterly journal edited by a staff elected quadrennially by the college biology teachers.

The editor of The Naturalist is Dr. Ernest S. Booth, who has for many years been the head of the biology department at Walla Walla College, and who is well known throughout the country for his lecture tours and work in nature institutes.

The subscription list of The Naturalist is not limited to A.N.C.A. members, but is open to all. This journal is devoted entirely to outdoor natural history—to the study of animals, birds, plants, insects, rocks, stars, and to questions of creation vs. evolution. As far as possible, the articles are non-technical, although occasionally some technical material is published for the benefit of those doing research, especially in the field of creationism. Regular features include Book Reviews, Camera Tips, Fun with the Microscope, News from the Clubs, and others. The journal is printed on high quality paper, and is well illustrated.

The subscription price is as follows: 1 year, $1.75; 2 years, $3.00; 5 years, $6.00. Subscriptions may begin at any time. We would urge you to subscribe for five years, and to encourage you to do so, for each five-year subscription received, we will send you several back numbers, as long as they last. Or, you may send $2.00 and we will send you The Naturalist for one year, beginning with the current issue, and will include one or two extra 1958 issues as long as they last. If we run out of these, we will extend your subscription one more quarter. These special offers are for new subscribers only, cash with order.

Send all subscriptions to H. W. Clark, Circ. Mgr., The Naturalist, 600 Edgemont Lane, Angwin, Calif.

Weddings

Meister-Djang

Ruby Hilda Meister and Eiming Djang were married on the evening of July 31 in the home of one of the bride's sisters, Dr. Barbara Meister-Jones, with a number of relatives in attendance. ### An Experience

Brother and Sister Peter Esveld and Sister Sigrid Young of the Central Westchester church conduct a regular weekly visitation program to enroll their neighbors in the Bible Correspondence School. They work from seven to eight o'clock each Sabbath evening, and in the past two months have enrolled 13 people. Their experiences have been interesting and rewarding to them. Brother Esveld shares the following with us:

"Mrs. Esveld and Mrs. Young called at a home where a lady was visiting, and enrolled both her and the lady of the house in the Bible course. Two weeks later another home was visited where the man of the house was at home by himself. When he had decided to enroll and saw the Faith for Today card on which he was to sign, he said, 'Well, now my wife and I can study together, for she has just received her first lesson.' She was the visiting lady in the home contacted two weeks before. Now both husband and wife are following the course."

JAMILE JACOBS, Home Miss. Sec.

Missionary Visits Staten Island

Elder W. D. Brass reports that Brother Forest Zill, a former classmate of Elder Brass and now principal of the academy in Andhra Pradesh, India, was guest speaker at the Staten Island church on June 28. Brother and Sister Zill, with their two daughters, were enroute to their mission station in India after a year's furlough in the States.

To show their appreciation for the Zills' visit, the Staten Island church members are sending them a large inflated globe of the world for use in the academy. At the present time the school does not own a world globe of any kind.

Mr. West is completing his Master's degree in Theology at the Seminary, which is now a department of the new Seventh-day Adventist graduate school—Potomac University.

Mrs. West is a graduate nurse and the mother of two children. The Wests will move to our campus just before school begins on September 1. We look forward to making them a real part of our growing school family.

At a later date we will be telling of others who will be joining the staff of Union Springs Academy.

Elmira Church Breaks Ground For a New Church

Elder R. W. Moore, president of the New York Conference, said "Anything obtained in life has a price."

He was speaking at the ground-breaking ceremonies for a new church in Elmira. Elder Moore told the sixty persons attending the ceremonies that there were many involved in the church project and much was sacrificed to make it a success.

Plans are for a T-shaped, one-story building, 136 feet long. David Coon is the contractor and he stated that the project is expected to be completed next May or June.

Members have budgeted $115,000 for the building and expect to spend almost $15,000 more for furnishings.

Elder Bresee opened the ceremony and introduced Mayor Edward A. Mooers, Elder R. G. Burchfield, and Councilman Carl W. Hausman.

Literature Evangelist Rally

Literature evangelists of the New York Conference met at Union Springs Academy for the annual rally and picnic from July 18 to 20.

From the first meeting on Friday night when Elder Roscoe Moore gave an inspiring message, until the end of the picnic on Sunday, the blessing of the Lord was upon us.

The students and regulars alike enjoyed this gathering from start to finish. On Sabbath morning Elder C. H. Smith gave an encouraging talk at the eleven o'clock hour. Much of the sermon was directed to the interests of the literature evangelists.

A symposium was conducted in the afternoon in which twenty literature evangelists participated. For vesper service Elder Smith brought to us a stirring message, and a consecration service followed.

Brother VanSanford, our Book and Bible House manager, gave instruction to the literature evangelists on Saturday night.

The highlight of the rally came during the big noon-day meal when Elder Roscoe Moore, our new conference president, presented to Elder Smith the largest report in deliveries for the year and as far as we know, the largest in many years. It was a result of concentrated effort on the part of the students and regulars in behalf of Elder Smith. It was called "Elder Smith Week." A large cake had been prepared for Elder Smith.

The literature work is going forward in the New York Conference. If you, dear reader, feel impressed to enter this wonderful work, feel free to send a letter or postal card to the writer in care of the New York Conference, Box 1285, Syracuse 1, N.Y.

Book and Bible House Notes

Faith in Action by David Mitchell is a new book about Adventists written by a non-Adventist and was first made available at the General Conference bookstand. This volume was prepared in close counsel with several of our leading workers, and a special committee appointed by the General Conference approved its inclusion in our regular line of literature. It is one of a series of books on American religions being published and will be a good volume for our people to lend to their neighbors to help offset some of the literature by Canright, Jones, and others which seems to find such wide circulation. Besides citing the fantastic growth of the Adventist Church and taking the reader on true-to-life journeys in various mission fields, this volume answers such questions as, "Who are these people? What do they believe? What do their critics say about them, and how do they reply? What is the Adventist's real attitude toward war? Why does he observe the Sabbath on Saturday? Why is he opposed to Sunday 'blue laws'?" The price is $3.50 plus 15c postage ($3.65 postpaid), and is in stock for immediate mailing. Ask your church missionary secretary to secure copies for you; or if you prefer, send an order with remittance to your Book and Bible House.

Remember—After August 31 S. D. A. Answer Questions on Doctrine returns to the regular price of $5.00—until August 31 it may be secured for only $1.50 plus 15c postage. Mail orders filled at camp meeting prices until August 31 only.

A very successful Vacation Bible School has just been held in our Amesbury church. Elder L. J. Gaspie, the pastor, and the members wholeheartedly entered into the program. As far as we know this is the first Vacation Bible School to be held in this place.

The pictures below show some of the leaders. Mrs. Doris Thistle, a church school teacher, led out. Mrs. Leonard Gaspie supervised the junior section, Mrs. Dorothy Uhl the primary division, and Mrs. Gwen Batchelder the kindergarten division.

Springfield Pathfinder Club

Ten members of the Springfield Pathfinder Club went on a campout Memorial Day week end from Friday through Sunday at Somers, Conn., near the State Forest. (Pictures below.)

The Pathfinders made preparations on Friday afternoon. They cleared the area for fire, prepared a hole lined with rocks for bean-hole beans in anticipation for Sabbath dinner. There were three groups who alternately prepared the camp fires and the meals, as well as preparing the fire wood and carrying the water to the campsite, disposing of trash and clean-up.

Sabbath they visited a church about eleven miles away from the campsite. In the afternoon they took a walk in the State Forest. Saturday night after worship and nature stories, they had marshmallows around the camp fire.

Sunday they studied compass work on directions—how to use a compass to walk a square of approximately 100 paces in the woods. WILLARD CROSS

"Your Wonderful Book"

The following letter was received by the Book and Bible House recently, as a result of books placed by the Attleboro church in the motels in their area.

Scenes from the recent Pathfinder outing at Somers, Conn.

My wife and I have just returned from an automobile trip through the New England States. While staying at the White Birch Motel, U.S. Route 1, No. Attleboro, Massachusetts, we had the good fortune to read considerable of your wonderful book, The Desire of Ages by Ellen G. White. We thought it one of the loveliest, most beautiful, Biblical works we have ever seen.

We would so very much love to secure a copy of this wonderful book, as well as have one copy sent to each of the following persons (close family relatives) whom we know will cherish their copies just as much as we will. We would appreciate very much if you would forward us one copy, and to each of the persons listed (on second page), one copy each, and send us the bill for the five copies requested of this lovely, beautiful Bible work.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) J. L.

Truly this is a marvelous way of doing missionary work. Thousands of books should be placed in the motels throughout the Southern New England Conference.

Institute Closes

(This is the final in the series of reports from the Institute of Scientific Studies for the Prevention of Alcoholism, which the writer attended recently in Washington, D. C.)

Dr. Floyd O. Rittenhouse, recently elected president of Potomac University and for the past several years president of Emmanuel Missionary College, opened the second week's classes for a half-day's coverage of the historical backgrounds of the temperance movements in America. He traced the earliest interests of men of state and other prominent citizens, the first organization of the American Temperance Society, the forming of the W.C.T.U., the Anti-Saloon League and other interesting facets. Next followed Mrs. Glenn G. Hays, president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Evanston, Ill., who discussed the question, "Who Will Educate Our Children?"

As the week progressed, still further aspects of alcohol education were presented. William N. Plymat, president of the Preferred Risk Mutual Insurance Company of Des Moines, Ia., discussed the relationship of alcohol and traffic safety. Dr. Charles Anderson, psychiatrist at Hinsdale Sanitarium in Illinois, reported on the work of psychiatry in the problems of alcoholism. Dr. Anderson is on leave from the College of Medical Evangelists at Loma Linda, Calif.

Perhaps the week's highlight was a field trip to Rosewood State Training School and Hospital, outside of Baltimore. After a tour through several buildings which house all ages of mentally ill children, we heard a lecture and witnessed a demonstration by Dr. Dora Papara-Nicholson, who for many years has devoted her efforts to the study of the relationship of alcohol and heredity. She demonstrated how guinea pigs, fed quantities of alcohol, produced offspring which showed positive signs of malformation and injury.

Well known to many throughout the world is W. A. Scharffenberg, who spoke to us for half a day on the trends in the field of propaganda being used by the liquor industry. Mr. Scharffenberg left that same afternoon for Geneva, Switzerland, where he opened the European Institute of Scientific Studies the following day.

Finally, the studies were summarized by Dr. Winton H. Beaven, who has been chairman of the institute. He cautioned us to be discreet and judicious in presenting this subject to our respective groups. He said that we could do the cause great harm by misstating the facts or drawing erroneous conclusions. There are many problems and questions we have not yet solved, he said, but we are still searching and studying to become better informed and better equipped to meet the opposition. He emphasized, however, that there is much positive and reliable evidence and information in our favor, and we may use it to great advantage in alcohol education.

Academy Student Honored

Douglas Hanson, of Bolton, Mass., who will enter the Junior Class of South Lancaster Academy this fall, and who has been active in 4-H club work in his home town the past eight years, was chosen to represent Worcester County in the State 4-H Achievement Day Public Speaking Contest held at the University of Massachusetts July 7. He competed with top winners from other counties in the state and took second place. His subject was, "4-H Club Work Can Combat Juvenile Delinquency."

The Worcester County 4-H office has held two public speaking contests recently and each time Douglas won top honors. In 1957 he was awarded a gold trophy for a talk on "4-H Hobbies Give Pleasure and Profit." He also received the county medal for 4-H achievement that same year, and was a delegate to Boston for the State 4-H Congress.

He has been invited to the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield on September 19, 20, and 21 to give demonstrations in handicraft.

Among Douglas's many interests is cooking, and he is employed during the school year by the college cafeteria.

Webb Named Treasurer

When D. N. Hartman, who has served Faith for Today so ably as its treasurer for the past five years, accepted the invitation to join the staff of the Voice of Prophecy, Faith for Today hardly knew where to turn to find someone capable of taking his place.

Fortunately, we discovered the right man here in New York City, Joseph H. Webb, who for the past three years has served as manager of the Greater New York Book and Bible House. Perhaps the greatest compliment that could be paid him was the extreme reluctance of his associates to see him leave and accept our call.

Brother Webb has already entered upon his new duties and we know that he will bring strength to the Faith for Today organization.

W. A. FAGAL, Director

(Editor's Note: Before going to New York City, Brother Webb was assistant to the manager of the Southern New England Book and Bible House. The Webbs visited South Lancaster recently during the S.N.E. Camp Meeting.)
