New G.N.Y. President

By W. J. HACKETT, President
Atlantic Union Conference

Several months ago the Greater New York Conference Committee unanimously voted to invite Elder G. Eric Jones of the Ontario-Quebec Conference to become president of the Greater New York Conference. Within a few hours Elder Jones gave his affirmative answer.

Elder Jones comes to our field with a wide background of experience. He has spent seven years as a foreign missionary in India, which was followed by nine years as dean of men at Washington Missionary College, before serving as president of Atlantic Union College for twelve years. More recently he has filled positions in the Canadian Union, for a short time in union departmental work, and then as president of the Ontario-Quebec Conference for the past ten years.

G. E. Jones

Elder Jones is known by his associates as a man of sterling character and unquestioned integrity. His experience fits him to carry on in a strong and aggressive manner the work which was laid down by Elder Branson because of failing health. The entire conference membership expressed sadness at the thought that Elder Branson's health would not allow him to continue his service to Greater New York, but I am sure that all will be most pleased to have a man of so many years' experience and with such a strong background for the various phases of the work of the Seventh-day Adventist church come to the field to carry on the good work which has been in progress during the last few years in the Greater New York Conference. Elder Jones has been carrying forward his work now for the last several months and has proved capable in meeting the very perplexing problems of this great metropolitan area. He is a man who is interested not only in the educational work but in the evangelistic, medical, and departmental work of the denomination.

I am sure that the members of the Greater New York Conference rejoice with us here in the Atlantic Union that Elder Jones has responded to the invitation to join our union family. Let us pray together that God will give him more than human wisdom as he takes up the mighty tasks which confront him in the execution of the work in this tremendously challenging field.

Commitment Day

The 1959 annual pledge-signing campaign and membership drive of the American Temperance Society is to be launched on Commitment Day, February 28. On this day every Seventh-day Adventist will be invited to renew his temperance vows.

Pledge signing is nothing new among Seventh-day Adventists. As far back as 1879 Sister White took an active part in launching such a campaign at one of our camp meetings. On that occasion 132 persons signed the pledge.

There are many statements in the Spirit of prophecy emphasizing the importance of our pledge-signing campaign. Here is one: "From the light God has given me, every member among us should sign the pledge and be connected with the temperance association."—Temperance, p. 197.

This indicates that Sister White apparently had a vision that a temperance organization would some day be launched by our denomination, for she encouraged them not only to sign the pledge but to be connected with our temperance association.

On Commitment Day every member of the church will be invited to sign the pledge and also to renew his membership in the American Temperance Society. Six types of membership are offered our members: the Regular Membership dues are $2 per year; Family Membership, $3 per year; Contributing, $5; Sustaining, $10; Supporting, $25; and Life Membership, $100.

Upon payment of the annual dues a membership card is issued, and every member of the society is placed on the mailing list for Listen magazine, which is recognized as the most outstanding temperance periodical published in the world today.

Your membership dues assist in financing not only our local temperance work but also our worldwide temperance program, for 10 per cent of the membership dues are credited to the International Temperance Association for the promotion of our temperance message throughout the world field.

We trust that every reader will respond to the appeals to sign the pledge and become active members of the American Temperance Society. Now is the time for us as Seventh-day Adventists to make our influence felt by precept and example, by voice, by pen, and by vote in favor of total abstinence and complete elimination of this infamous traffic.

Our Jewish Work

The March 14 missionary service is planned in the interest of our work among the Jewish people. Material has gone out to our workers, home missionary leaders, and secretaries, and we trust that every church will give attention to the fostering of our Jewish work at this time. There are many Jewish people in every community who could be reached and the suggestions that are made here for placing in their hands the Jewish paper, The Israelite, is a very fine one. This is one way that every church can foster an important phase of its missionary program.

Theological Seminary

The Board of Trustees of Potomac University has passed the following action, which will be happily received by many prospective Seminary students:

"Students who enter the Seminary in September, 1959, will continue to be eligible for the Master of Arts degree."

This vote sets aside the action published in the current Potomac University catalog and published in the union papers last summer to the effect that the Seminary would cease to offer the Master of Arts degree after August, 1959.

In the light of this recent ruling, prospective students planning to matriculate in the Seminary for the first semester of 1959-60 should immediately make application for entrance to the Seminary, in the full assurance that they may become candidates for the Master of Arts degree as at present. The schedule for 1959-60 follows:

First Semester, September 28, 1959, to February 4, 1960.

Second Semester, February 8 to June 2, 1960.

Calling all Housewives and Mothers!

The planning of daily menus is a real problem in these hurry-scurry days, but you can serve your family the best food and still keep your grocery bill from soaring out of sight.

These and other timely topics are scheduled this year in Today's Food, your free church paper published by the International Nutrition Research Foundation in Arlington, Calif.

"Vegetable Cookery—Old and New," "Vitamin B12 in the Vegetarian Diet," "Impulse Buying," "Meat vs. Vegetable Protein," "Planning Home and Church Socials," and "How Clean are Clean Meats?" are but a few of the articles to appear in future issues of Today's Food.

Today's Food enters its fourth year of publication, with a circulation now reaching more than 100,000 Seventh-day Adventist homes from coast to coast.

If you are not receiving Today's Food, give your name and address to your local church clerk or union conference office and ask to receive your union conference paper. You will then receive both the weekly publication and your quarterly copy of our INRF journal.

Changes of address should also be sent through your church clerk or union conference office and not direct to Today's Food. This method will save unnecessary confusion, delay, and postal expense.

Pennies or Pounds

As I opened my mail this morning I was greeted by two advertising folders with interesting titles: "Penny Wise and Pound Foolish" and "Horse Sense and Pennies." Of course, these folders were not advertising Christian education, but as I pondered the implications of these titles my thoughts turned to the youth in our churches and the reasons oftentimes given why they are not enrolled at Union Springs Academy.

So often when I speak to parents about Christian education they say that they just can't afford to send their children away to an academy. True, some families are financially restricted, yet I find their homes nicely furnished and the car is usually up to date. Care has been taken to provide most of the modern conveniences and some of the luxuries. Somehow, I cannot help wondering if some are not penny wise and pound foolish in regard to the importance of Christian education.

It is my firm conviction, based on my own personal experience and on my observation of many other young people whose parents are determined to follow God's plan for their children's education, that where there is a will there is always a way. The pennies that are sacrificed for Christian education become pounds of satisfaction in Christian service. Conversely, the pennies saved or otherwise used when Christian education is neglected, oftentimes become pounds of regret as young people follow interests and associates found in outside schools.

No other investment will pay greater dividends than money spent for our youth in building Christian character. It is just good horse sense to educate the youth of the church in schools of the church for service in the church. If it happens that the parents are restricted financially, then the church should step in to assist the youth if they are willing to do their part to receive a Christ-centered education.

Perhaps pennies are not the great barrier confronting modern youth in securing a Christian education. The real reason so many S.D.A. youth receive their education outside the church-operated school is that parents and the church are not alert to the necessity to provide for their youth a Christian education. Listen as these words come thundering down from the Mount of God as recorded by the pen of inspiration: "Nothing is of greater importance than the education of our children and youth. The church should arise and manifest a deep interest in this work . . . God has appointed the church as a watchman, to have a jealous care over the children and youth as a sentinel . . . and give warning of danger. But the church does not realize the situation. She is sleeping on guard. In this time of peril, fathers and mothers must arouse and work as for life, or many of our youth will be lost forever."—Counsels to Teachers, p. 165.

Further, we find that "the well-being, the happiness, the religious life, of the families with which the youth are connected, the prosperity and piety of the church in which they are members, are largely dependent upon the religious education that they receive in our schools." —Ibid, p. 497.

With this divine counsel ringing in our ears, let us not be penny wise and pound foolish. The youth who will remain in and serve the church and the cause it espouses must be educated in the schools of the church. Union Springs Academy extends an invitation to the youth of the church to spend their academy years at U.S.A. Write for information and an application blank.

News Items

On Sabbath, February 7, a new group met at the home of Brother Roy Foster in Westbury, Long Island. The Fosters have gone to quite a bit of expense and effort to convert their basement into a worship chapel. After the regular Sabbath school services, the pastor of the Mt. Vernon church, Alvin Goulbourne spoke.

An afternoon service was conducted and Pastor Norman McLeod reviewed the doctrines of the church.

This group has been formed through the results of an active program in Bible correspondence schools, Bible studies, and Bible classes. Those who have studied the Sabbath truths were invited to this first service. In addition to this, others come who have not as yet received the Sabbath studies.

Those in the area are invited to attend the weekly services. They begin at 9:30 every Sabbath morning, and are held at 230 Suget Street, Westbury, Long Island.

Elder C. E. Moseley, field secretary of the General Conference, will be speaker at the quarterly Publishing Day services, which will be held at the Brownsville church, 3 Lewis Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., March 28. Sunday, March 29, Elder Moseley will meet with the literature evangelists at the City Tabernacle at 9:30 A.M. This meeting is for all literature evangelists in the Greater New York area.

The Northeastern Book and Bible House is happy to inform you that it is now possible to supply the Wollensak Tape Recorder and Slide Projector at considerably reduced prices. If you would like further information, kindly write to the Book and Bible House, Dept. G, 560 W. 150th St., New York, N. Y.

For Sabbath school teachers and parents who wish song books for their children, the book Children Sing will be on sale for 75 cents during the month of February. This book normally sells for $1.50.

Sunday, March 29, the Book and Bible House will be open from 10 A.M. to 2 P.M. At this time several items will be put on special sale.

Experience

One day while canvassing last summer I had become quite discouraged. All morning I had knocked on the doors of the homes, but couldn't get in to one home. It was almost dinner time and I was ready to give up, but something told me to keep going. I thought I would just try one more home and then finish my work for the morning. The next house was a little way from the main road and the prospects of getting in didn't look too good to me. I knocked on the door and a little girl told me to come in and her mother would be right there. The mother greeted me with a smile and seemed so happy to see me. I told her I was making a Christian call, and she responded readily. She said she was a Baptist and had given her life to the service of Jesus Christ. Before I left she paid me cash for Desire of Ages, Bible Readings, and a $16.00 deposit on a set of Bedtime Stories, and a set of Bible Stories for her children. Here was the home that God was leading me to visit, a home where I left $115.00 worth of our good literature. No wonder we are never to even think of discouragement. God sometimes tests our faith.

I called on her a couple of weeks later while delivering, and she told me she was enjoying our books so much she had done hardly any of her work. She had saved $75.00 for a new linoleum for her kitchen floor, but she said, "I think the children need the books more than I need a new linoleum for the kitchen floor," so she gave me $75.00 to finish paying for the Bible Stories and the Bedtime Stories. She signed up for the Bible course, and is now on the 8th lesson of the second course.

Mr. Peterson and I called there last week while making November deliveries, and she told us how much she was enjoying the Bible course. She said, "I thought the dead went right to heaven, but I'm learning different." We left a set of Children's Hour with her this time, and also a Great Controversy.

I believe that some day soon this lady will accept the last message for a dying world. There are many who are waiting in darkness for us to bring them the message. I want to re-dedicate my life to the service of Christ in these last days to be faithful in helping to finish the work so that Jesus can come soon. GAIL CARKIN

Education at Its Best

Seventh-day Adventist church schools in the elementary, secondary, college, and advanced teacher-training fields have produced superior teachers and pupils. Many examples could be cited, but for the sake of sparing you a lengthy article I will tell you of two recent examples.

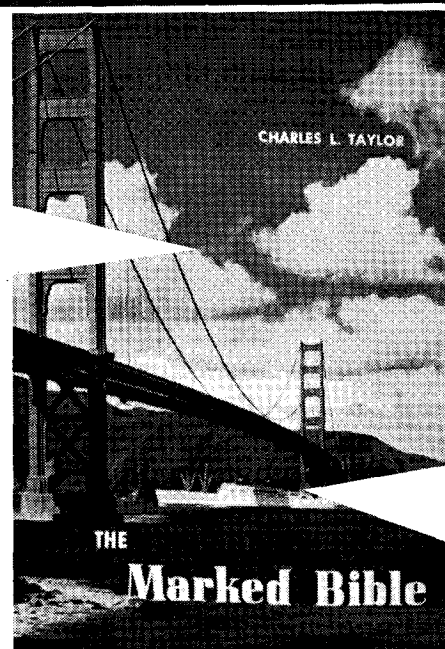

Miss Alice Bates, who teaches the elementary grades at our school in Auburn, Maine, and who taught in our school at Norridgewock, Maine, graduated in the Class of 1957 at Atlantic Union College with a major in elementary education. Seniors in the many state and private colleges in the United States are given an opportunity to compete in stiff written examinations in the field of their major course to determine what colleges are foremost in producing superior products in each field. Of the thousands of college students majoring in the elementary education field, Miss Alice Bates, our Seventh-day Adventist church school teacher, ranked first in the nation. It was our Seventh-day Adventist college, Atlantic Union College, that won the honor of producing the highest ranking graduating senior in the field of teacher training, according to the official announcement that was sent to Dr. E. W. Tarr, dean of the college.

Recently it was necessary for a boy who has always attended Seventh-day Adventist elementary schools to attend one of Maine's largest high schools for three months. This school conducts an honor assembly for its highest ranking pupils at the end of each semester. This boy was one of 18 out of a student body of 1,700 who was credited with four A's. He was also one of just five Freshmen receiving a Scholastic Honor Certificate, and was the only Freshman taking five major subjects, and yet his grades placed him first in the largest class in the school. As his pastor pointed out, "His years in our little church school were no handicap, but an advantage that this comparison revealed."

Those of you who have children in the public school should ponder carefully the statement: "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom."

The Cradle Roll, Kindergarten, Primary, and Junior boys and girls, along with the other divisions of the Springfield Sabbath school, on the 13th Sabbath brought in one of the largest offerings ever received in the history of this school, $344.70. They had a gain of $798.62 over 1957. The per capita in 1958 amounted to 51 cents. ### M.I.T. Concert Band come director of the M. I. T. Symphony Orchestra.

The M. I. T. Band, which one newspaper critic described as ranking "among the best on the East Coast," is one of two concert bands in the country that plays only music written originally for band. As John Corley explains, a wind band "has a voice of its own," which is strangled when orchestral compositions are transcribed for it. "They invariably attempt to make violins out of clarinets," he adds.

Since most original band music has been written within the past two decades, the band's policy makes great demands on its members. They must be able to handle the tricky rhythms and unfamiliar tonalities found in much contemporary music. The reward of their policy comes in being described as a band that is "well known for fine music."

Mr. John Corley received the degree of bachelor of music from Boston University in 1947, and M. Mus. from the same university in 1955. He twice was selected in a nation-wide competition to receive a scholarship for study under Serge Koussevitsky at Tanglewood, although he was unable to accept either time. He studied cornet under a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and from 1942 to 1946 he was a bandmaster in the U. S. Army. He is now director of music at Brookline High School, as well as assistant director of music at M. I. T.
