Greater New York Conference Holds Biennial Session

By JAMILE JACOBS, Public Relations Director
Greater New York Conference

G. Eric Jones, was re-elected president of the Greater New York Conference and Fred Minner was re-elected secretary-treasurer at the thirty-sixth Biennial session of the Greater New York Conference held in the New York Center, April 24.

The conference departmental staff was re-elected. Two-hundred fifty-five delegates from forty-five churches listened to M. V. Campbell, vice-president of the General Conference give a very inspirational service to begin the session and then listened to reports of progress during the past two years.

Elder Jones in his report emphasized that the Greater New York Conference was dedicated to the proclamation of the gospel and the work of preparing people for the soon coming of Christ. "The aim of the executive committee and conference workers is," he said, "To make evangelism our main objective and the prime reason for any undertaking whether it be large or small."

Brother Minner's report showed that 514 accessions were made in church membership during the past two years. This was, however, 94 less than during the previous biennial session. Brother Minner pointed out that both tithes and offerings were up and that the total given in tithes and mission offerings amounted to $1,690,731 for the biennial period for a yearly per capita of $201.23. This represented a gain of $126,178 for the past two-year period. Brother Minner's report also showed that the conference operating capital has increased from a deficit ten years ago to more than $140,000 at the end of 1959. The conference now meets the General Conference requirements.

R. L. Wangerin, manager of the Greater New York Book and Bible House, reported that sales had increased by $19,180 during the past two years. He pointed out that the move to the New York Center was one reason for this increase.

Eugene Armour, educational and MV secretary, pointed out that 401 children were enrolled in our elementary schools during the past two years. There are at present eleven schools with twenty-four teachers operating within our conference. Missionary Volunteers are carrying forward the Operation Fireside Bible Study plan and are active in sharing their faith in a variety of MV sponsored programs. Temperance activities include the circulation of temperance films. The Hempstead church is an example of what might be accomplished in this respect. They have purchased a copy of "One In Twenty Thousand" and are carrying on an active temperance program in the high schools in Nassau county.

According to Jamile Jacobs, home missionary and Sabbath school secretary, Ingathering increased by $11,000 during the past two years. Laymen have been active in winning many souls to Christ. Sabbath school giving has increased considerably and Vacation Bible schools have become a strong factor during the past year. More than 720 children attended the twelve Vacation Bible schools throughout the conference. There has been a growing awareness of the importance of public relations in many of the churches and greater emphasis has been placed on developing good press secretaries who might give the message of the church through the means of press and radio in their area.

J. M. Bucy, who came to the conference during February of 1960, reported that during the past five years colporteurs delivered $323,911 worth of literature in our area.

The Spanish work according to Eduardo Acosta is making rapid progress. There are now nine churches with a total membership of 1,328. The Spanish operate a six-teacher school with 130 children in attendance.

Mrs. June Croft, medical secretary, reported that an increased health program was developed in the conference in recent months. Cooking schools have been conducted in a number of churches and twenty-eight persons were qualified as instructor demonstrators during 1959.

Principal William Fuchs of Greater New York Academy reported that the academy had enlarged its classroom space, purchased new equipment, and has, at the present time seventy-nine students with a prospective graduating class of fifteen this year.

Joseph Barnes reported on the evangelistic activities of the New York Center and J. M. Hoffman described the Times Square Center which was completed during 1959.

A new church was organized in the New York Center during the past year and a company organized in Soysset on Long Island.

Of special interest to the delegates attending was the proposal by Elder Jones that we embark on a plan to establish a hospital-sanitarium within the vicinity of New York. Elder Jones pointed out that long ago the Spirit of Prophecy counseled that the medical work was one of the best means of evangelizing the large cities. This conference session gave support to Elder Jones and the conference committee to develop a plan for the establishment of a hospital-sanitarium within the New York City area.

In addition to M. V. Campbell of the General Conference, W. J. Hackett, C. H. Kelly, F. R. Aldridge, L. E. Esteb and V. W. Becker from the Atlantic Union were present and gave valuable counsel during the day.

An Opportunity of a Lifetime

Just what many had hoped for! Now it can be done either coming to or returning from the North American youth congress in Atlantic City. Extensive preparations have been made for you so that you can share in this chance of a lifetime!

We are giving you in this notice a brief schedule of the "Go-it-Yourself" tour on the trail of your pioneering youth of another generation. Better yet—you may write your local MV secretary for a complete brochure with map and pictures to guide you on this tour. If you plan to follow the footprints of the pioneers write immediately to your local MV secretary for your copy of this illustrated brochure. The supply is limited.

Guide Service to MV's Attending the 1960 Youth Congress

To make your visit to the East in connection with the 1960 youth congress at Atlantic City a profitable experience in reviewing the history of your church, special arrangements have been made for Seventh-day Adventist guides to be stationed at the principal points

Book Talks

By E. L. VAN SANFORD

Once more we feel impressed to devote this column to the importance of our missionary journals, These Times and Message, as well as those prepared in foreign languages. The calendar indicates that we have entered into the last half of May and the announced termination of the special price on These Times is the last day of May.

It is an inspiring privilege to read the many letters that come to a Book and Bible House from individuals who are receiving some of our literature as a result of subscriptions that have been sponsored by our faithful members. Just this week we relayed to a member one such letter. The receiver of the missionary journal wrote that she was greatly enjoying the magazine. She wrote further: ". . . I have concluded that some kind friend must have paid for a yearly subscription in my name. Having received no notification as to the donor, whom I would like to thank, I am writing to ask if you have a record of the name of the party who has presented me with this most acceptable gift? Thank you." Surely we should pray that such opportunities will develop into personal contacts and make possible the presentation of Bible truths.

By the way of a reminder, we present the special subscriptions rates available now as follows:

These Times, 1-5 subscriptions	per year $2.00 each
6 or more	per year 1.75 each
Message, any number	per year 1.50 each
Foreign Language, any number	per year 1.25 each
(French, German, Spanish, Ukrainian)

We would further remind our members that definite word has been received from the publisher that the subscription rate for These Times will increase June 1, (July issue) and effective that date the missionary rate will be $2.50 per year—1-7 subscriptions, eight

Andrews University, New Name to Replace Potomac University

The 1960 Spring Council of Seventh-day Adventists held in Washington April 5-7, approved the adoption of a new name for Potomac University as recommended by the University Board.

This important institution was re-named Andrews University in memory of John Nevins Andrews, who symbolizes for Seventh-day Adventists the missionary spirit and vision of the church throughout the world.

The need for a change of name became apparent when the University was relocated at Berrien Springs, Michigan. This transfer rendered the geographical name "Potomac" no longer suitable. A new name had been under study for many months, a large number of possibilities being carefully considered. At length it was decided that no other name so eminently suitable as Andrews University had been suggested.

The name of John Nevins Andrews has been an honored one among Adventists since 1874 when he set forth as the first Seventh-day Adventist missionary. Elder Andrews was not only a Christian gentleman of deep devotion, but a scholar of considerable distinction, a man of many virtues whose entire life was devoted single-mindedly to Christian service. It has been felt that no better name could be chosen for our university than that of our very first foreign representative. This name will hereafter be memorialized in our university, dedicated to the training of men and women from this and other lands for Christian service. It is believed that such a name will continue to remind us of the high ideals, the dedication and the faithfulness all need as we labor together to complete the work God has entrusted to this people.

Book and Bible House Notes

Camp meeting is just about a month away now. The first meeting begins at 7:30, Thursday evening, June 30. Hundreds and hundreds of pounds of Bibles, books, Sabbath school supplies, Chapel records and tapes, song books, and inspirational gift items which you are accustomed to find at the bookstand, are being unloaded on the campground at frequent intervals these days. At present we are planning to follow our regular plan of location for the various categories of items so our members will feel right at home when they come to visit and purchase the literature they desire for themselves and their friends. Adequate storage space will be provided for those in the habit of building their camp meeting purchase though the week. Soon we hope to distribute to the field the 1960 Camp Meeting Price List so you can use it to check the various times you want to be sure to check on.

Try to plan to "See us at the Bookstand" at camp meeting.

Dexterville Choir Program

The Dexterville church choir, recently organized under the direction of Emerson Ingersoll, presented a resurrection theme vesper service in the church on April 30. Assisting in the arrangements were Phyllis Caster and Mrs. Marion Caster. The fifteen-voice choir has excelled in this program depicting the passion week, climaxing in the Lord's death and resurrection.

Narration in Scripture and poem was by the pastor. William Whitens, Mrs. Donna Desens, and Mrs. Wilma Saxman sang the solo parts. Miss Caster and Emerson Ingersoll sang a duet "Near the Cross." "Christ Arose" was presented as a climax to the program as the choir and narrator joined in word and song. The appeal was made in a trio by the Saxman brothers, Andy, Richard, and Donn as they sang "Come Unto Me."

Wayland Church Ground-Breaking Ceremony

Despite the inclement weather about forty persons were present to witness the ground-breaking ceremony held, April 18, at 10:00 a.m. for the new Wayland church. R. W. Moore, conference president, shared with Mayor Eugene Pealer of Wayland the privilege of turning the first sod for this new structure. Others who participated were George Fandt, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren church; R. C. Mills, conference treasurer; Vic Kuhn, excavator; Max Day, builder; and the writer, who will do the masonry.

Excavation for the new church began immediately. At the time of this writing the forms are all in and the construction of the basement is well under way.

Religious Training Hour

Recently the city of New York set aside an hour one day a week when public schools would dismiss their pupils to attend their own church or synagogue for religious training.

This program was set up with the hope of stemming the tide of juvenile delinquency that is sweeping the vast city of New York. The Red Hook church immediately undertook the plan of having the religious training hour conducted in their church, which is located in the midst of a Junior High School and several elementary schools.

May Williams is the leader of this program with Estelle Spears, Maxine Pitt, and Lulu Cook as her assistants. At present there are forty-five young people enrolled in this class. Fourteen of these are non-Adventists. The class is held between 2 and 3 o'clock once each week. The children are taught songs, stories, arts, and crafts.

Presently there are five young people who are preparing for baptism as a result of these classes. We salute the Red Hook church for stepping out in this instance and seeking to win the youth who need Christ so much in this large city. This affords a great opportunity for all of our churches to start a religious training hour for those who are seeking to know Christ.

Sabbath, April 16, was a special day in the Bennington, Vermont, church. First, it was the day when three young men united their lives with Christ through baptism. Thomas LeRoy Jackson, "Billy" Joseph Phetteplace, and Warren G. Randall became members of the remnant church in an impressive afternoon baptismal service. The first two young men are pupils at our church school and have evidenced in their lives and church participation their desire to work and live for Him who is coming soon to take His faithful home. We certainly appreciate the devoted spirit and consecration of Mrs. Alice Ball, our church school teacher, whose dedication to her work has been such a strengthening influence in the lives of our children.

Warren G. Randall is from North Adams, Massachusetts, a consecrated and talented young man that found himself seeking happiness and acceptance. He searched in many places without success. Finally, he met the Master and His transforming power worked for him in a way he had not believed

Annual Meeting Held at Fuller Memorial

The twenty-third annual meeting of the Fuller Memorial Sanitarium was held in the recreation building on the sanitarium grounds, Sunday, March 13, 1960. A dinner was served to the sanitarium family and the Board of Directors after which the reports of the chaplain, Harold Knox; administrator, Mr. George Gohde; superintendent of nurses, Mrs. Charlotte Lindberg; and the medical director, Dr. L. A. Senseman were given.

The year 1959 was the best year, in every way, at the Fuller Memorial Sanitarium. The completion of our building program was a real milestone in the forward progress of the sanitarium. The chaplain reported a substantial increase in the interest among patients as well as workers. Four baptisms occurred during the year as a direct result of the sanitarium. The administrator reported that we had about one-third of a million dollars in income and we are still operating in the black in spite of the fact that $36,000 was the amount of all our charity work during the year. This is the highest that the sanitarium has ever had and 55 people were aided thereby. Mr. Gohde also reported that the entire physical plant was renovated and is now in beautiful condition. Of real help during the year was the approximately $40,000 interest on the endowment from the Fuller Estate. Mrs. Lindberg, superintendent of nurses reported that in spite of the nursing shortages we have been able to maintain a high standard of service for each patient. The medical director reported that there were over 500 patients admitted to the sanitarium during 1959 and these patients were referred by 111 doctors in the area. Seventy-three per cent of the patients were from Rhode Island, 22 per cent were from Massachusetts and the remaining five per cent were from other states. The medical director complimented the head of each department for the excellent co-operation and spirit of service manifested during the year 1959.

Willis J. Hackett, president of the Atlantic Union Conference was present with us at our meeting and he expressed his appreciation of our self-supporting institution. Also, Merle L. Mills, president of the Southern New England Conference expressed his appreciation for the work reported during 1959.

With the many blessings which occurred during this year we are thankful to the Lord for his guidance and protection over us and we sincerely hope that 1960 will show even better gains in our many and varied activities in this highly specialized institution.

Pioneer Valley Academy News

April Report

The financial report for Pioneer Valley Academy for the month of April is another encouraging one. A total of $7,510.39 was turned in by our members. Four church reports came in late for this report and if these had been counted, our April total would have been $8,039.14.

An individual in one of our churches contributed her second $1,500 toward Pioneer Valley Academy. We greatly appreciate these special gifts and every dollar that is contributed week by week by our faithful members.

We wish we could put some pictures in the GLEANER showing the progress of the building program. But we are sure all understand that we must have sufficient funds on hand before we can start building. This is the reason we are urging all of our members to be faithful in giving weekly to Pioneer Valley Academy. Thank you for your prayers and loyal support.

Best Legacy for Children

God expects every true Christian parent to provide the best things for his children; things which will contribute most to their success as children of God in this world and which will assure them the best preparation for life everlasting in the new earth when Jesus comes.

However, we cannot in our own wisdom know what is best. So our only safety is to study God's word and be willing to follow His instruction. We need to understand and always remember that we are only God's stewards and should seek to do His will.

Christians forget that they are servants of the Master; that they themselves, their time, and all that they have, belong to Him. . . . Those who withhold from the treasury of God, and hoard their means for their children, endanger the spiritual interest of their children. They place their property, which is a stumbling-block to themselves, in the pathway of their children, that they may stumble over it to perdition. Many are making a great mistake in regard to the things of this life. They economize, withholding from themselves and others the good they might receive from a right use of the means which God has lent them, and become selfish and avaricious. They neglect their spiritual interests, and become dwarfs in religious growth, all for the sake of accumulating wealth which they cannot use. They leave their property to their children and nine times out of ten it is even a greater curse to their heirs than it has been to themselves. Children, relying upon the property of their parents, often fail to make a success of this life, and generally utterly fail to secure the life to come. The very best legacy which parents can leave their children is a knowledge of useful labor, and the example of a life characterized by disinterested benevolence. By such a life they show the true value of money, that it is only to be appreciated for the good that it will accomplish in relieving their own wants and the necessities of others, and in advancing the cause of God.—Testimonies, Vol. III, 398, 399.

Rightly directed benevolence draws upon the mental and moral energies of men, and excites them to most healthful action in blessing the needy and in advancing the cause of God.—Testimonies, Vol. III, 401.

The Southern New England Conference has several plans available to those who have money or property which they would like to channel into the cause of God when they no longer need it to provide for the necessities of life. Two of these plans are revocable and provide for the owner to retain a life estate in the property and receive the income from it as long as he lives. Then at his death a portion or all of it would go to the conference, depending on the agreement.

My service is available to anyone in this conference who would like more information on any of these plans, which includes making a will. I may be contacted through the conference office, or you may write to me direct, Box 242, South Lancaster, Massachusetts.

News from Southern Rhode Island

The recent dedication of the new Wickford, Rhode Island, Seventh-day Adventist church is but the beginning of a strong advance in carrying the message to the southern portion of Rhode Island.

The new church is the consolidation of two churches, Wakefield and Slocum. The new church is the result of combined efforts of members of both churches. Harold Thomas, local elder of the Slocum church, and Paul Knowles, local elder of the Wakefield church, gave strong leadership. Brother Thomas was the chairman of the finance committee during the final stages and Brother Knowles the chairman of the building committee. Many other members gave of their time and money to see this new church erected and dedicated.

Two weeks after the dedication a baptism was conducted by G. A. Coffen and five precious souls were buried with their Lord in baptism.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Morton joined with the new Wickford church. Mr. Morton is with the U. S. Navy and stationed at Quonset. The Mortons first came in contact with Adventists while stationed in Alaska. It was the result of faithful literature distribution week by week of a church member that first interested them. They have two children, John and Ann.

Rolf Lindfors brought three candidates from Putnam, Connecticut, for baptism. They were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bromley and Mary Jane Harvey. They joined the Putnam church. We rejoice as we see families and young people baptized.

This brings a total of eighteen baptized in the Providence district this year with more preparing for baptism in the near future.

RICHARD GAGE, Associate Pastor

Special Eastern States Exposition Offering

Once again we are coming to our members to help us purchase literature for our booth at the Eastern States Exposition. This booth will be in the Industrial Arts building on the fairgrounds. The dates for the Exposition are September 17-25.

The date for the Exposition offering is scheduled for Sabbath, June 11. The money will be used to purchase literature to be distributed to those who visit our booth. We hope all will be liberal when this offering is taken in your church.

South Lancaster Academy News

It is a pleasure to introduce to the students, faculty, and friends of South Lancaster Academy three new staff members for the next school year. These new teachers are replacing John Thurber, dean of boys, Mrs. Wilma Cowan, dean of girls, and Mr. Gibson who will be giving his full time to Atlantic Union College. Mr. Thurber will be in charge of music at Glendale Union Academy in California, and Mrs. Cowan will be in France where she is to complete her requirements for her master's degree. We wish these teachers God's richest blessings as they leave our fine school.

H. D. Kinsey

H. D. Kinsey is a native of Arkansas and attended Ozark Academy. After finishing academy he attended Southern Missionary College where in 1956 he received his B.A. degree with a major in history and a minor in religion and education. Immediately he received a call to be dean of boys at Blue Mountain Academy in Pennsylvania and he has remained there for four years.

We feel fortunate to have Mr. Kinsey accept our invitation to be our dean of boys and teach two classes in history. He and his wife will be arriving on the campus to take up their summer duties about June 15.

Carol Inman

Miss Carol Inman was born in the state of New Jersey, but moved at an early age to Florida and considers this state as her home. Her first two years of college were spent at Southern Missionary College, and then she moved to Emmanuel Missionary College where she graduates this year with a B.S. degree in home economics. Miss Inman is looking forward to joining the staff and is anxious to become acquainted with each girl in her dormitory. We feel fortunate to be able to have her join our staff for she comes with very high recommendations. She will be arriving on the campus sometime in the middle of August.

James Leary

We are looking forward to having James Leary join our staff as of June 15. He will be studying at Boston University during the summer, and then will teach mathematics and biology the next school year.

Mr. Leary is an alumnus of this college, '51. He has been a junior academy principal and

"The Teen-ager in the Home"

The teen-age is the practice time for carrying adult responsibilities. What a teen-ager contributes to his home now indicates what he will contribute to his own home later. If he adds nothing but sorrow, heartache and trouble to the members of his family today, he will likely add sorrow, heartache and trouble to the members of his family tomorrow. If he brings joy and happiness to the hearts of his parents and inspires his brothers and sisters to achieve noble aims, he will more than likely radiate sunshine in his own home and inspire his family to accomplish worthy deeds.

The teen-ager is now in a position to make a real substantial contribution to the success of the home. He is wise enough to avoid those influences that would weaken the home, strong enough to carry responsibility, and old enough to be accepted by thinking men and women. Some of the ways he contributes to the success of the home are:

- Adds happiness to the home
- Can drive the car safely
- Can plan and cook the meals

- Can care for his own clothes
- Takes pride in keeping home neat and attractive
- Can manage home on family budget
- Meets appointments promptly
- Counsels with parents
- Adds prestige to the family name

Hints to Mothers

Do you have to find everything for your preschooler? He would like to find his own clothes and toys if he knew where to look for them. Why not cut out pictures from magazines and decorate the dresser drawers with their contents—a picture of socks where his socks are, pajamas where they may be found, etc.

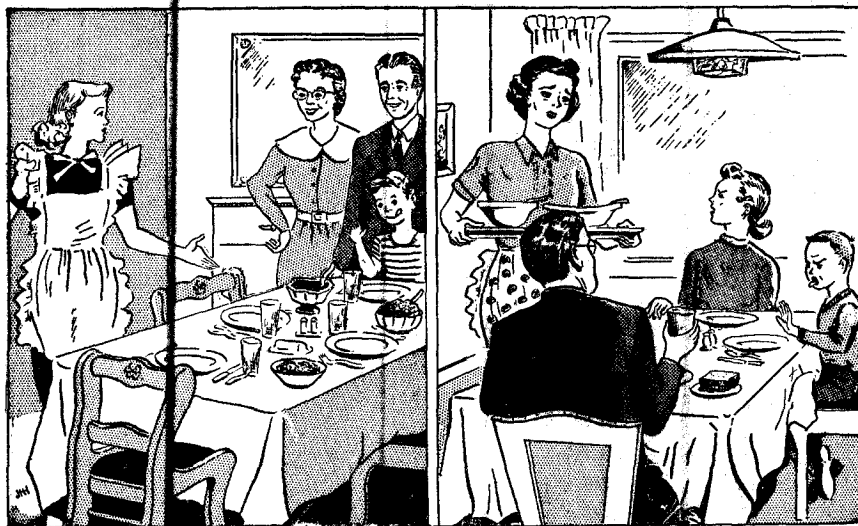

"One of the surest safeguards for the young is useful occupation. Had they been trained to industrious habits, so that all their hours were usefully employed, they would have no time for repining at their lot or for idle day-dreaming. They would be in little danger of forming vicious habits or associations."—Adventist Home, p. 284.

Child Guidance

A teen-ager likes to take adult responsibility.

Try This

Not This

(Dinner is on the table. The teen-age daughter is inviting the family to the meal she cooked herself. The family is happy.)

(Mother is waiting on the table. She looks tired. The teen-age girl turns up her nose at the food. The boy is complaining.)

teacher for five years and a teacher in mathematics in the public schools for four years. At present he is writing a new geometry book for high school use. His background of experience in extra-curricular activities is extensive in both school and church work.

He completed his work for the Master's degree in 1957 at the Fitchburg State Teachers College in our state of Massachusetts and as stated above is continuing his graduate work at Boston University.

It is felt by the board members of South Lancaster Academy that these three teachers will add strength to the school program. Each one is a qualified teacher and a consecrated Christian. They have stated that their one objective in joining the staff of South Lancaster Academy is to give God of their best and be a mighty influence in His hands as they guide our youth.

Because of the great number of applications for next school year, it was voted at a recent Academy board meeting to charge $5.00 for each room reservation. This is not an extra fee, but will be credited on one of the statements during the school year. However, since the rooms are practically all taken, and because it seems as though we may have to limit our enrollments, we felt it wise to ask for this deposit, which will enable us to know who are definitely able to attend.

Mental Health Week

The church schools of Southern New England observed Mental Health Week, April 25-29. Activities and projects suggested by Miss Millie Urbish and placed in the hands of the teachers were carried on throughout the week to bring this healthful information to our youth.

Other activities included demonstrations, skits, and discussion periods by "talented actors" of the New England Sanitarium and Hospital School of Nursing, as part of their classwork in "The Health Program of the Church."

Supervision and guidance for the week's activities were given by Dr. David Ruggles, medical secretary;

Health week demonstration

Miss Millie Urbish, supervisor of elementary schools; and Miss Marilyn Kueffner, instructor of the New England Sanitarium and Hospital School of Nursing.

"Teach them how best to preserve the physical, mental, and spiritual powers, and how to use their gifts so their lives may bring blessing to one another, and honor to God. This knowledge is invaluable to the young. An education in the things that concern life and health is more important to them than a knowledge of many of the sciences taught in the schools."—Ministry of Healing, p. 385.

Silver Vanguard Churches (105)

Greater New York (23)
 New York: Otego, Randolph, Tioga Co. (47)
 Northern New England: Keene (2)
 Southern New England: New London, Slocum, Middleboro, Meriden, Cape Cod (33)

Again we congratulate you all for another good report in Ingathering. The week's total is not quite as much as last week's, but the three conferences which have not yet reached their goals are marching forward. Our Vanguard has increased by nine churches, and we extend a welcome to each of these.

Northern New England has made the largest gain in per cent of goal reached, though Northeastern and Southern New England are not far behind. Southern New England will have to double this week's amount if they are to reach their goal next week, but at any rate, we believe they will make it in two weeks. We are glad to see that New York is continuing on toward becoming a Vanguard conference even though they have reached their regular goal.

We are grateful for what all of you have done in this campaign, and we know you will not relax your efforts until the full goal is reached.

Atlantic Union College News

✓ The Aeolian Singers, select vocal group on the college campus, will appear on the Faith for Today telecast out of New York on Sunday, May 29. The film will then be sent on to other regularly scheduled channels carrying the program and it will be a number of weeks before it has made the circuit.

The Aeolians have been scheduled to sing on Friday, June 24, at the Youth Congress in Atlantic City. The time of their presentation has not as yet been announced.

✓ Several additions to the faculty of the college have recently been announced. Mrs. Elizabeth Bentley, Leonard L. Nelson, and Herbert E. Douglass will join the college as dean of women, assistant professor of English, and chairman of the Religion Department, respectively.

Mrs. Bentley comes to us from Washington Missionary College where she has served as dean of women for the past three years. Prior to that time she had served in the same capacity at Mount Vernon Academy and Cedar Lake Academy.

Mr. Nelson, currently employed at the College Press as superintendent, previously taught English at Union College. He received his Master's degree from the University of Nebraska

South Lancaster AcademyCommencement Exercises

The largest graduating class ever to leave the doors of South Lancaster Academy will hold its commencement exercises on the week end of June 3-5. Relatives of students and friends of the school are cordially invited.

Speakers chosen by the class are men who are well known and who are vitally interested in the immediate progress as well as the future of youth. The commencement program is:

Friday, June 3, 8:00 p.m.,
 Consecration, L. S. Barnes

Sabbath, June 4, 11:00 a.m.,
 Baccalaureate, W. J. Hackett

Saturday, June 4, 9:00 p.m.,
 Class Night, Senior Class

Sunday, June 5, 10:00 a.m.,
 Commencement, J. W. McFarland, M.D.

in 1947 and has done additional graduate study at the Universities of Minnesota and Oregon.

Elder Douglass, currently an associate professor of Religion at Pacific Union College, is an alumnus of Atlantic Union College, '47. He received his Master's degree from the S.D.A. Theological Seminary in 1956 and qualified the next year for his B.D.

✓ The college faculty has recommended that the following students be graduated from the Senior Class of 1960 with honors as indicated:

High Honors: Frank Howes, James Londis, John Shaw, Velyo Vinglas.

Honors: Mrs. Belvina Barnes, William Van Grit, Barbara Jones, Michael Odell, Benjamin Plumb, Leo Poirier, Jr., Mrs. D. Leola Roberts.

✓ Dr. Mabel Bartlett, associate professor of Art, will study at Fontainebleau or the Sorbonne, France, during the summer months.

Mrs. Harriet Parrish, associate professor of Modern Languages, will also spend the summer studying in Paris, France.

✓ On May 13, the Senior Class dedicated the chapel program to the faculty members leaving the college this year. In a simulated radio program entitled, "History and You" with James Londis as announcer, the following faculty members were honored: G. H. Minchin, Daniel Koval, Jean Zurcher, and Mrs. Hannah Yanke.

✓ Immediately following chapel on May 16, the senior class gift was presented to the college. They have purchased and arranged an artistic assortment of green plants to beautify the foyer of Haskell Hall. The plants are set off by an attractive chain and posts.
