Tired Blood

By DEL DELKER

I live near a large high school, and during the football season the enthusiastic cheering and frenzied shrieks float into my room. Last year while watching the world series on TV, when the Dodgers were struggling for the pennant, I heard the announcer say excitedly, "Wow — let me tell you, ladies and gentlemen, I've never seen a crowd so excited!" (And I'll have to admit, my heart was pounding pretty hard, too!)

But really, even such exciting events—as well as many other mundane affairs about which we express such enthusiasm, are very transitory. They are like pretty bubbles that will soon pop and vanish into nothingness.

Christians, especially Seventh-day Adventist Christians, have real issues about which to be constantly enthusiastic; yes, even exuberant. Throughout all of God's vast universe, other created beings are looking on at earth's fascinating contest between good and evil. Do you suppose they are watching us with powerful TV sets? Or maybe their vision is so good that they don't even need such "crutches!" At any rate, we know they are watching us, for the apostle Paul tells us that "... we are made a spectacle unto the world, and to angels, and to men." 1 Cor. 4:9.

We are living in great times, with a great cause, and a great message for everyone in these last, last days. We have a great hope for the hopeless, the sick, the troubled, the discouraged, and the tempted. Jesus our wonderful Saviour can give happiness and peace now; and at His soon coming He will bring the real Utopia about which Sir Thomas More wrote so many years ago! Now, I think this is something to get excited about, don't you?

When I first became an Adventist, I thought, "The Lord is coming! At last I have found something to really cheer about, to sing about, and to live for!" And I still feel that way about it! However, I was disappointed to see so many professed Christians who were not allowing these eternal realities to move them to any great degree of enthusiasm. And I still feel the same about that.

The word "enthusiasm" comes from the Greek—"en theos," which means "God filled." Here is the Webster's Collegiate Dictionary definition of enthusiasm: "Divine inspiration or possession. Ardent zeal or interest; fervor. An instance, or an object or cause, of such interest."

Here at the Voice of Prophecy we have found that real enthusiasm for preaching Christ, accompanied by discretion and good judgment, has a magnetic effect on people around us and will draw them into the message. We have found, too, that when the gospel vaccination "takes," the result is enthusiasm—an ardent zeal and interest in a real cause. In proof of this, here are just a few of the thousands of letters we get from new converts, just bubbling over with enthusiasm!

I am so happy I just cannot contain it any longer. I have gone to the Saturday Sabbath church just three times, and I am here to tell you that there can never be anything or any place to take the place of all the real Bible that I have learned. I am going into that church with all my heart, to live and do His precious holy will, regardless of cost. I really am so happy I could shout!

Here is a letter from someone who has finished our course for Alcoholics, and is now in the process of taking both the Faith and the Bright Horizon courses:

Nothing so wonderful has ever happened to me as the blessing I am receiving from these lessons! As you know, I have been ill. I will probably not be able to get back to work for another month. At one time this prolonged illness of mine looked anything but bright. I was pretty despondent, and no amount of psychiatry and medication touched me. But now I have something to live for! I am not the same beaten person at all "since Jesus came into my heart." I praise the Lord for such people as you, with such good news! Everything looks wonderful to me now!

Another one:

I can never tell in words how much good I am getting from the Faith Bible Course. To me it is like the pick and the shovel to the miner, a means of getting to the real riches that mean more to me than all else. The Bible is fascinating. I now have a song in my heart!

And still another one:

All my life I have been like one stumbling in the dark. One day I heard your broadcast, and I sent at once for your lessons. I knew then why I had felt so lost and blind. Your lessons opened a whole new life to me, and I found my way into the Adventist Church. Now my life has meaning. Now I have a goal, and a cause to live for! Why couldn't I have known this sooner? Now I'm really living—before I was just existing! How can I ever thank you enough!

Can't you feel the enthusiasm springing out of these letters? How about it? Let's all show more enthusiasm, so that when converts from the Voice of Prophecy—and our other soul-winning agencies—come into the church, they will not be disheartened by limp, sluggish Adventists with tired spiritual blood. Of course, we know this terrible spiritual anemia can be cured—by getting a transfusion of the precious blood of Christ. We know how to get this "divine inspiration"—by studying the Word of God, letting it speak to our hearts and cleanse us from sin; by earnest prayer, asking God to give us "fervor and ardent zeal" for this Advent cause, the greatest cause in the world!

Someone named Bulwer has said, "Nothing is so contagious as enthusiasm. . . . It is the genius of sincerity, and truth accomplishes no victories without it."

To Mothers of Preschool Children

Cares that compose your sacred trust, that project your plans far into the future, that make a pattern of conduct and life for a child, that determine to such a large degree his work and success when grown tall, that set so well the course and fashion of character and destiny,— all these become in retrospect not any longer cares but powers and privileges of the highest order.

The world honors and respects you for it all, not merely on one day a year but for all time, for that is the way mothers live forever. They shape the spirit, arouse ambition and purpose, and pass on to posterity their own inspiration and ideals. They live on and on in the impulses they have given.

Wise is the mother who realizes the power of influence and direction in all that she does for the child. When both environment and heredity of high rank join in the early life of a child he has a tremendous advantage over others where conflicts between these two great forces appear.

Fortunate is the child whose early formative years are spent in an atmosphere favorable to happiness and carefully directed growth, where stimuli are constantly provided for self-reliant thought and courageous action.

A child's environment is too often restricted to cluttered alleys and lawless neighborhoods. But the warmth and welcome of the home make it a place where the child can expand in mind and spirit and find stimulus for development and achievement beyond the heights attained even by his own parents.

One of the most important adjustments the child will make is when he leaves the shelter of the home for the give-and-take of the classroom and the playground. If the child is prepared for these changes, his inner growth will suffer no shock or stunting. Having been well guided by a wise mother his school development will begin at once and continue without warping or distortion.

In order to supplement the plans and materials already in the hands of the mother, and to put her in touch with the newest and best in ideas and methods, the Home Study Institute has consulted many authorities in the field, has prepared, and now offers at a low price, a set of studies that have already found a wide acceptance and many commendations.

For further information address a note to the Home Study Institute, Takoma Park, Washington 12, D. C., asking about "The Preschool Child." You will find it an invaluable aid.

Book Talks

by E. L. VanSanford

A very important subject to a large number of our members is the publication of volume eight of the Commentary-Reference Set — the Seventh-day Adventist Bible Dictionary. In this column we have tried to give current information as it has come to us. Inasmuch as the camp meeting season is just a few weeks away it seems advisable to bring this matter up-to-date once again.

The Bible Dictionary will be ready for the camp meetings in the Atlantic Union. There are those who made arrangements to purchase each volume of the Bible Commentary set as they were published and a very special introductory offer was in effect. This group will have the opportunity of adding the Bible Dictionary to their set at the same price they paid for each volume of the Commentary.

For a number of months, in connection with the advance notice of the Bible Dictionary, the publisher has extended to our members an opportunity to purchase the complete set of Commentaries—plus the Dictionary (8 volumes)—for only $9.95 per volume ($10.20 including postage). This offer included a book-a-month plan enabling one to purchase one volume each month and enjoy the reduced price.

At present the catalog price of these reference volumes is $12.00 each, plus postage. However, effective July 15, the catalog price per volume will be increased to $13.75, plus postage. Until July 15, 1960, individuals not now in possession of a set of the Commentaries may arrange to secure them and the Bible Dictionary at the $9.95 price. It is most important that you give consideration to this matter immediately and make proper arrangements for your set before July 15 this year.

If you desire further information on this matter, your local Book and Bible House will be happy to supply it.

Special Youth Congress Broadcast

The Voice of Prophecy broadcasts of June 26 on all three networks will originate from Youth's Congress in Atlantic City, and will feature H. M. S. Richards speaking on the Congress theme, "Festival of the Holy Scriptures," with the entire radio group participating. Special events from the Congress will be featured. ### Greater New York Conference Granted Option on Hospital Property

More than $20,000 was pledged toward a proposed hospital for New York City by some fifty conference workers during a special workers' meeting in the New York Center on Wednesday, June 15. This liberal support for the hospital by ministers and other conference workers was a response to reports of recent miraculous developments which may make a hospital a possibility.

"More than fifty years ago Sister White said that New York City should have a sanitarium," stated G. Eric Jones, president of the Greater New York Conference. He told workers of providential developments which have enabled the conference to obtain an option on a million-dollar institution just outside New York City. The institution contains two well-constructed hospital buildings with a bed capacity of one hundred plus a number of other buildings which have room enough for conference offices and staff housing if these should be desired. The buildings are located on an 84-acre hill site largely covered by virgin forest. The trustees recently received an offer of one million dollars cash for the institution, but because of their interest in the Seventh-day Adventist medical program, they were willing to give the conference a 120-day option beginning June 2, with the only penalty in case of failure to purchase being the cost of maintenance for the last sixty days of the option period. "This," said Elder Jones, "is no less than a miracle. We feel that this is a direct answer to the prayers of the committee for guidance as to whether or not God wants us to have this property."

Dr. Dunbar Smith explained to the Conference staff the importance of the medical work in the church program of evangelism. He reminded the workers that Christ spent more time in healing than in preaching. Christ's ministry to the body opened the way for Him to present the gospel. Dr. Smith pointed out that Christ ordained His disciples to a medical ministry as well as to a spiritual ministry and commissioned them at the time of His ascension to heal as well as to preach. "The effectiveness of the medical program of the early church may be seen in the addition of 5,000 converts who became interested as a result of Peter and John's healing the lame man," he stated.

The remnant church received early counsel to develop a medical program. "They acted with dispatch," said Dr. Smith. "Nine months after receiving instruction to establish a health program, the church opened the Battle Creek Sanitarium to the public."

Support of the hospital plan has been almost unanimous on the part of all who have expressed themselves concerning it, stated Elder Jones. Prayers are being offered and financial support is coming from members and non-members in many sections of the country. One Adventist brother in another part of the country has promised $100,000 for this institution. Dr. Smith told how a non-Adventist lady attending the non-smokers club at the New York Center presented him with a gift-wrapped package of cigarettes, inside of which, rolled in cigarette paper, was a check for $100. "This is not all," she told Dr. Smith, "this is just the beginning of what I plan to do to help you establish a hospital." Several persons of influence among the wealthy of New York City have also pledged themselves to help gain financial support from among their friends.

The newspaper editor of the Yonkers Herald Statesman has shown favorable interest in the establishment of the new institution. In a front-page article with full-width banner headlines, the news of the securing of the option by Seventh-day Adventists was featured.

"As we consider all these developments," said Elder Jones, "we can only say, 'What hath God wrought!'" Let us all pray together that if this is the leading of God, that we shall have full assurance of His leadership by providing the means necessary to accomplish the task.

Fifth Year of Founding Observed

The Adventist Home, Inc., was host to more than one hundred residents, employees, and guests at the fifth anniversary of its founding, Sunday, June 12.

The Home is situated in the former Potts Memorial Institute on Route 9, town of Livingston.

Guests included G. Eric Jones, president of the Greater New York Conference, and Mrs. Jones; Jamile Jacobs, former pastor of the Livingston church, and his family; and the present pastor, Eric Norman, and his family of Kingston.

Combined with the celebration was the monthly birthday party. Honored were three residents, Addie Pulis, Alice Prescott and Archie Shepherd. Guests were Lyle Jewell, Alfred B. Heiser, and Dickie Adams.

The program also included a farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Goodall, teacher at the Livingston school, and their daughter, Diana. Mr. Goodall will become principal of a five-teacher Adventist school in Babylon, Long Island.

A musical program included a vocal solo by Mr. Jewell, professor of music in Coxsackie Central; reading by Mrs. A. B. Heiser; vocal trio of Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Goodall and Mrs. Munson; organ solo by Mrs. Joseph Harrop of Tenafly, New Jersey; organ-piano duet by Jessie Bowdish, a resident, and Mrs. Harrop.

When the Home opened its door on June 12, 1955, thirteen residents were admitted. Growth has been steady during the years and today every room is filled and there is a small waiting list.

The need for a Home for our elderly members and the many evidences of the Lord's blessing in its operation was given in short speeches by G. Eric Jones, A. B. Heiser, Joseph Harrop, Jamile Jacobs, and Eric Norman.

In closing the program, Howard A. Munson, master of ceremonies, presented Mr. and Mrs. Goodall and Diana with a purse of money which had been given by residents and employees. The Goodalls have made a fine contribution to success of the Home and to the Livingston church, and their many friends wish God's richest blessing upon them.

Salamanca District Highlights

The Salamanca district is the youngest district in the New York Conference and since its birth has faithfully and sacrificially supported every denominational campaign and many costly local projects. The district was formed when two churches, Perrysburg and Randolph, were taken from the Jamestown district and one church, Salamanca, was taken from the Olean district in February of this year.

District Highlights:

● Salamanca Elementary School Graduation—June 5

M. E. Erickson, educational superintendent for the conference, presented an eighth grade diploma to James Wetmore, the first and only graduate of the school to date. Special recognition was given to Larry Blackman, Bradley Fish, Gail Lamberson and James Wetmore for perfect attendance. The teacher, Miss Marion Silvernail, was given a farewell present by the Home and School leader, Mrs. Myrtle Blackman, in recognition of her faithful service record during the two years that the school has been operating.

● Investiture Service—June 5

Highlighting the closing school program for the Salamanca school, was the combined Investiture service of the Randolph and Salamanca Junior Missionary Volunteer Societies. Mr. Berton Woods, teacher of the Randolph Elementary school, presented seven students, and Miss Silvernail, instructor of the Salamanca school, presented ten students to M. E. Erickson to be invested in six separate classes namely, Busy Bees, Sunbeams, Builders, Helping Hands, Friends, and Explorers.

● Randolph Church Improvements

The church members, under the enthusiastic leadership of Adolph Gebbard, local church elder, raised $2,300 in nine months to purchase new pews and pulpit furniture for their church home. Personal sacrifices, bake sales and $200 from the conference made the project a success.

District Evangelistic Plans:

● Vacation Bible School will be held in the Salamanca church, August 1-12, under the leadership of Mrs. Phyllis Lamberson. During the fall months, evangelistic meetings will be held each Sunday night in the church in the endeavor to keep the church lighted up on Sunday night for soul-winning endeavors.

● A two-week evangelistic crusade is being planned for the Perrysburg church to assist in the laymen's soul-winning work being carried on by Ralph J. Husted, local church elder.

● The laymen of the Randolph church, led by R. Sarver, home missionary leader, are working on the "Operation Application" plan and are looking forward to cottage meetings this fall and at least fifteen Bible Studies each week.

The challenge for district-wide evangelism comes to us in these words—"Servants of God, with their faces lighted up and shining with holy consecration, will hasten from place to place to proclaim the message from heaven. . . . "The message will be carried not so much by arguments as by the deep conviction of the Spirit of God."—The Great Controversy, p. 612.

Our courage is found in these words . . . "Notwithstanding the agencies combined against the truth, a large number take their stand upon the Lord's side."—Ibid.

Work Out Your Own Salvation

The apostle Paul, under divine inspiration, has written, "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling." While Paul would be the last to admit that we are saved by our works, he has made it clear that if salvation is to become effective in our lives we must work and co-operate with heaven.

The building and operating of church schools is both an individual and collective responsibility which cannot be avoided if we are to "work out our own salvation." It is both illusionary and illogical to believe that we can hope to save our youth if we do not provide facilities for Christian education for them. This involves vision, courage, and sacrifice; but if we are to work out our salvation there is no alternative.

As a conference constituency, we have voted to build a new academy for our youth at New Braintree, Massachusetts, with the hope of opening the doors of this institution on September 1, 1964. There is no doubt but what this plan is in harmony with the divine blueprint, but can we expect divine aid in our desire to achieve this objective to which we have set ourselves unless we actively, loyally, and consistently do our part, both as individuals and as churches in giving a portion week by week of that which the Lord has entrusted to us toward the building of this new school? The answer is, No.

The Lord has said we must "work out our own salvation." This involves the raising of money to build schools. We can't expect the Lord to bless us or perform a miracle until we have done all that we can do. It is only when we can go no further that we can expect the Lord to intervene.

Are you giving faithfully with each pay for P.V.A.? Are you doing all you possibly can for this project? Building P.V.A. is working out our own salvation. This the Lord will not do for us, but we do have the assurance that He will reward our faith and works with the help that will be needed to make Pioneer Valley Academy a reality by September, 1964.

Cooking School in Pittsfield

A very successful series of cooking classes have just been completed in the auditorium of the Western Massachusetts Electric Company in Pittsfield. Mrs. Beverly Hutchins, R.N., was the instructor. Several of the ladies of the church gave valuable assistance.

The average attendance for the classes was 55 with one class being attended by 110 persons. Several dishes prepared at the cooking school were given away as door prizes as well as various samples of the health foods furnished by the Battle Creek Food Company.

A highlight in the cooking school was the visit of Dr. J. Wayne McFarland, medical secretary of the Atlantic Union Conference. His subject was "Better Living." Many of the persons who attended the classes purchased Dr. McFarland's book, "Better Living." On the last night of the cooking classes each one present was presented with a booklet of some 50 recipes with a Faith for Today Bible course enrollment card attached to each of the booklets.

The accompanying pictures show a partial view of the audience at the last class and Dr. George E. Porter, a leading pediatrician in Pittsfield, Mrs. Donald Dallmeyer, platform assistant for the classes, and Mrs. Hutchins, instructor of the cooking school. Dr.

Porter was the featured speaker at the last class session.

It has been a rare privilege to have the use of the best facilities in the city of Pittsfield to conduct a program for the community. Several of those who attended the classes are now taking the Home Health Education Series lessons. The seed has been sown. It is our prayer that God will water that which has been sown.

K. W. HUTCHINS, Pastor

What Is a Nurse Made of?

I'm sure you remember the old saying, "What are little girls made of? Sugar'n spice and everything nice, that's what little girls are made of!"

What would you answer if you were asked, "What are nurses made of?" You would surely be able to answer, "Oh, they are the lovely young things who give bed baths and those relaxing back rubs. On the other hand they also give those nasty shots and terrible tasting pills." Well, so far you are quite right, that is what they do, but what are they made of?

Nine months spent in an accredited college studying the principles of psychology, communications, anatomy and physiology, chemistry, bacteriology, and religious philosophy; another fifteen months spent learning the fundamentals of making sick people comfortable, of giving treatments ordered by the physician and making important observations to aid him in patient care, learning the names and amounts and method of giving the 1,000 or more drugs in current use, learning what she needs to know to keep people well.

Another nine months spent learning to care for mothers and their babies, sick children, the mentally ill, and those with communicable diseases.

Add twelve weeks of well-earned vacation and a lifetime of reading, practicing, and inquiring in order to keep up with medical science' rapid advances.

Now, that's what a nurse is made of!
