Walk in Love

By D. E. CASLOW, Home Missionary Secretary

Atlantic Union Conference

You are a Christian. You have accepted the yoke of Christ in baptism. Your life has been united with His life. The name of Christ has become your name—"Christian." You want to fulfill your responsibility in this sacred relationship.

Naturally there is a desire to make certain you have found the master key to Christian living as taught in the Scriptures. You have one life before you. Only once can you live it. What is of supreme importance? While there are many texts that give the answer, the beautiful words of Ephesians 5:1, 2, are appealing: "Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children; and walk in love. . . ."

The logic of the Bible teaching regarding the Christian life is easy to be understood. God is love. You are a Christian — You have taken His yoke. You are to be like Him. Therefore your life is to be characterized by love. "Walk in love!"

Many have the idea that faith is the great word in religion. Inquiry regarding the religion of another is frequently made by the question: "What is his faith?" Some pride themselves in their religion that they have a certain brand of faith; just as some merchandise is favored because of a well-known brand name. Is faith of ultimate importance? The apostle Paul gives the answer, "and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have no charity, I am nothing" (I Cor. 13:2).

The identifying badge of the citizen of God's kingdom is not faith. It is love! Christ made this point clear in His teachings regarding true discipleship. We read the statement Jesus made on this in John 13:35: "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another." Thus love is the mark of true discipleship.

Love is the pith of piety! It is the essence of true religion. Here is the real core of Christian living. Love is the commandment for fulfilling all commandments; it is the rule for fulfilling all rules.

Once a lawyer came to Jesus wanting His statement on the great commandment to fulfill all commandments—the supreme rule in fulfilling life's duties. Jesus answered:

Thou shalt love the Lord thy God. . . . This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets (Matt. 22:37-40).

Love is the fulfilling of the commandments. A careful study of the Ten Commandments reveals that the first four commandments outline your duty to God. If you love God, you will fulfill these commandments. The last six commandments define your duty to man. Genuine love for others will lead you to fulfill these commandments in your relationship with your fellow men. Christian living reflects the love of God; "Love is the fulfilling of the law."

Christians are not to look upon love as a passive virtue, instead it is to become an active principle of life. Love is an active thing. It is an expression—an expression of godliness. In fact, love does not really exist until you give expression to it.

Love proceeds from God. It is a plant of heavenly growth. . . . Where it exists there is truth and life and power. But it cannot live without action. . . . —Testimonies for the Church, IV, 256.

How does love find expression in your life? What is love like in action? The one outstanding chapter in the Bible which gives an amazing analysis of love is I Corinthians 13. Love when examined through the prism of Scripture is found to have various components. Love is like light in this respect. A ray of light when passed through a glass prism can be refracted into the component colors of red, and blue, and yellow, and violet, and all the colors of the rainbow.

We see in I Corinthians 13 the inspired Word focused on the spectrum of love. Here is an analysis of love. Here are its elements:

Patient—Love suffereth long
Kind—And is kind
Content—Love envieth not Humble—Love vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up
Courteous—Doth not behave itself unseemly
Unselfish—Seeketh not her own
Gentle—Is not easily provoked
Trustful—Thinketh no evil
Sincere—Rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth
Peaceful—Beareth all things

In the book of Matthew is portrayed the final judgment scene. The gospel writer depicts in vivid imagery the One seated upon a throne dividing the sheep from the goats. In that solemn day, the final test of a man will be, "How have you loved?" Love will be the gage for checking Christian performance. Love will be the supreme test of religion.

Multitudinous words and acts will make up the eventual sum of your life. Let love flavor every word, act and deed—"walk in love." Everyone that loveth is born of God. Exemplify Christ in your life.

Draftees and Reservists Notice!

Many questions have been asked recently by our church members regarding the draft and the reserves here in the United States. These questions have emphasized the need to be aware of the obligations in these fields.

Selective Service Obligations

1. Every male resident of the United States must register on his 18th birthday or within five days thereafter. Generally, you will need your birth certificate or other evidence that you are 18. This registration can be done at any draft board office. You do not have to be at your home draft board. The home address you give will determine which draft board will have jurisdiction over you.

2. Every registrant must notify his draft board of any change in his address within 10 days following such change, until he reaches the age of 35.

3. Every registrant must notify his draft board of any change that would affect his classification, within 10 days of such change. This would include such things as marriage, or the breaking up of a home relationship whether by separation, divorce, or death; such things as birth or death of a dependent; entering into or leaving schooling; entering into or leaving an essential situation in industry, entering into or leaving an essential agricultural situation; a change in physical condition of a type that would affect classification. (This list is not complete.)

Reserve Obligations

Virtually all who have entered the military forces since August, 1955, have a six-year military obligation. After active service, unless such active service was six years or longer, there remains a period of time in the Ready Reserve or the Standby Reserve.

1. Reservists of all types must notify their Reserve Headquarters of all changes of address.

2. Reservists of all types must notify their Reserve Headquarters of all changes of physical condition that would affect a possible recall to active duty, and of anything that might be of a hardship nature if the reservist were recalled to active duty.

3. Reservists of all types who undergo a change of conscientious belief following their last active duty, should notify their Reserve Headquarters of such change and of their intention to request a noncombatant assignment if and when recalled to active duty.

If you have further questions in these matters, or in other matters relating to the draft or military problems, please contact the MV secretary who is your War Service Commission representative.

Tragic Incident

I watched from the hospital window as the ambulance pulled up. I saw the small, limp figure under the white sheet.

I somehow felt sorry there was no one back there with it. It was December 22, 1960, and Mrs. Earnest Crawford—helping care for the mother of a long-time friend—watched silently as attendants carried the stretcher into the hospital ambulance door.

Then perhaps this quiet-eyed, forty-four-year-old brunette fell to wondering what her husband would give her when he returned home from Leesburg later in the same day. . . . After all, Thursday, December 23, would be the twenty-fifth anniversary of her marriage to six-foot, now balding, pleasant-faced Earnest Crawford.

Gradually, then slowly sickened with a feeling of desperate dread, she heard what the swiftly moving hospital "grapevine" knew. . . . Later, sitting in the room with her thirteen-year-old daughter Becky's body lying in a nearby casket, Mrs. Crawford unknowingly twisted and shredded a pink paper napkin as, dry-eyed, she said:

"She didn't need to tell me. I knew."

The foregoing statements are excerpts from a story in the January-February Listen. This tragic incident has a Christmas setting, but as long as there are children and as long as there are vehicles which can take their lives, this story will be timeless. Every person who drives a car or ever intends to drive a motor vehicle should read this issue.

"It was the week before Christmas" reflected in this Ingathering report. All through the Atlantic Union the sound of caroling music could be heard as the carolers were hurrying from door to door receiving funds which amounted to $63,142.93. Another outstanding week of Ingathering brings the union total to $318,188.72. We rejoice in this progress!

The caroling endeavors in every conference have been most praiseworthy. We salute our faithful carolers. Hats off this week to the New York Conference for the splendid report of over $21,000, giving them a good gain over last year. Caroling commendations go to Greater New York, Southern New England, and Northern New England for remarkable results. Our gratitude ascends to God for the enthusiastic support being given to the campaign.

The new year, 1962, is here! This is not the time to rest on caroling laurels. We want to press forward with business solicitation during the month of January. Plan to attain an Ingathering victory for your church and for your conference by January 31. The new year brings new opportunities for business solicitation. Now is the time for sustained effort to make the final march to victory.

Let us remember that Ingathering is a spiritual work. We can expect the help of heavenly angels in answer to our prayers for success in our labors.

God . . . and the Plumber

It would be a difficult task indeed to attempt to convince Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Newberry of the Genesee Park Boulevard church in Rochester, New York, that God does not answer prayer.

Mr. Newberry, before becoming an Adventist, was the concert master of the Masonic Auditorium in Rochester, first violin in the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra and librarian in the Eastman School of Music. Since joining the Genesee Park church he has retired on a limited income.

During a recent every-member canvass for a combined budget, Mr. Newberry gave serious study to his own income and budget and came to the conclusion that there was not any surplus money for an increase in his giving. But, after praying over the matter, he felt impressed to step out in faith, trusting the Lord for help.

Just before the canvass, he had contacted a man to replace the defective plumbing in his house. It was estimated that it would take two men a day and one-half to do this work at a tentative price of $200 for the labor and materials. The day after Mr. Newberry signed his sacrificial commitment, the plumber and his helper started to work.

Arthur Newberry, former member of the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra

As is so often the case, the job of replacing the plumbing in his house proved greater than anticipated and instead of the two men working one and one-half days they actually put in three and one-half! It was plain to see that the original estimate of $200 would be doubled or more.

When the plumber presented his bill, he said, "You know that this job took over twice as long as I originally thought but just give me a check for the $200 and we'll call it square!"

A neighbour had had almost the identical work done some time before for a cost of $800! Mr. Newberry is convinced that the Lord rewarded his faith by this most unusual experience.

In Counsels on Stewardship, page 36, we read:

And if men will become channels through which heaven's blessing can flow to others, the Lord will keep the channel supplied. It is not returning to the Lord His own that makes men poor; withholding tends to poverty.... (Italics supplied.)

First Fruits in Schenectady

Sabbath, December 2, was a day of special rejoicing for the members of the Schenectady, New York, church as they witnessed the baptism of five precious souls by the pastor, D. E. Klam.

In September the conference evangelistic team composed of S. L. Folkenberg, Sunny Liu, and Mary Green, held a three-week spearhead effort in this city of one hundred thousand and this baptism was the result of the follow-up work by the pastor.

The present church in Schenectady, the former Unitarian church, was purchased by the membership in August of 1961 and is situated on one of the most prominent streets of the city.

Pastor Klam and dedicated laymen are giving Bible studies to a number of interested people, several of whom are anticipating baptism in the near future.

Surely these are the first fruits of a rich harvest of souls that will heed the warning message from this new beacon of truth in New York State.

Reports in Brief

Union Springs Academy — Reports of the progress of the academy Ingathering campaign reveal that good success results from their first all-out caroling effort. Heretofore they have relied on their spring Ingathering date. Already $1,500 has been accumulated toward their church's goal.

Book and Bible House — Seven different churches were visited during this fall season and approximately $3,000 worth of literature was sold during that time. This averaged $425 per sale. The Bible House personnel are pleased to see this literature being placed in the homes of our people in such a good quantity.

Niagara Falls — The Niagara Falls district, comprising Niagara Falls, Burt, and Lockport, under the leadership of A. T. Bidwell, has a district Ingathering per capita of $32.20. What an enviable record!

Buffalo — A music festival was presented on December 18 by the pupils of the Norwood school. This evening of seasonal music was sponsored by the Home and School Association under the direction of Mrs. Husted.

Dexterville — The members of the Dexterville church have just poured the concrete floor in the basement of their church. This completes the current phase of their remodeling program, it will be continued in the spring.

Meet Our New Teachers

Mrs. Rachel Lee is our fifth teacher in the new Pine Tree Memorial School at Freeport, Maine, which serves the towns of Auburn, Bath, Brunswick, Freeport and Portland.

Mrs. Lee completed her three-year teacher training course in 1940 and entered the teaching profession. During her seven years of teaching, she has taught at New Bedford, Stoneham, West Lebanon, Norridgewock, and Auburn.

In 1952, Mrs. Lee moved to Jacksonville, Florida, and did some substitute teaching there. After five years, she returned to Maine and is now teaching grades 3 and 4 and leading nineteen young lives to the feet of the Master.

Estabrook School Is Forging Ahead

This year Estabrook Intermediate School in West Lebanon, New Hampshire, has launched out in faith to "lengthen her cords and strengthen her stakes." Three teachers are on the staff:

Miss Shirley Harwood, Grades 1-4
Joseph Stephens, Jr., Grades 5-8
John Craig, Grades 9-10

Our enrollment, at present, is thirty-five pupils.

Mrs. Libby Guthrie has volunteered to teach a class in home economics to the seventh- and eighth-grade pupils. Since the equipment for cooking is there, Mr. Craig has organized his classes into a chef's club, and, between the two, tantalizing aromas float through the classrooms making supper seem a long way off.

Miss Harwood and I have combined our classes into a junior choir with the intention of singing for church services and in rest homes and hospitals. On Sabbath, December 3, we made our first appearance as a choir; we sang during the morning service. Elder Renzi was the guest speaker.

This year is the best school year we have had. JOSEPH STEPHENS, JR.

Building Program in Dixfield

On November 18 a church supper and social was held at Dixfield in the basement of the school for the purpose of starting the financial campaign to raise funds to expand the sanctuary of the Dixfield church.

The Dixfield church was built by Paul Grove and at the time the building seemed to be more than adequate. However, during the years, many precious souls have united with the Dixfield church, and now the church is filled each Sabbath. On some Sabbaths there has not been enough room for all to enter.

About three years ago, under the leadership of Arnold Swanson, school rooms were added on the back of the church, and forethought was given to the matter of enlarging the sanctuary. As a result, space was enclosed so that this could be done at a later date. Our present plans call for lengthening the sanctuary, and placing a baptistry in the church. We also plan to place new pews in the enlarged sanctuary.

The church board voted to place fifty dollars in the hands of the members to be invested so that funds might be brought in. The members responded and soon the entire fifty dollars was claimed.

The building committee, under the chairmanship of Frank Grant, hopes that work can begin before too long.

J. W. BURGESS, Pastor

Mr. Harms was born in Gary, Indiana. He graduated from Emmanuel Missionary College having been granted the B.A. degree in 1950. In the summer of that same year he was married to June Ruth Corder of Mount Vernon, Ohio, who is a graduate of Emmanuel Missionary College. Three-Week Victory

Several churches in the conference have demonstrated that Ingathering can be completed in the short period of three weeks. First congratulations go to the Pawtucket church for being the first church in the conference to report over their Silver Vanguard goal in just three weeks. The pastor, Elder Hilliard; the missionary leader, Russell Eva; and every member in the church who participated are to be commended.

The second church to perform what others have thought impossible was the Sanitarium church under the leadership of Elder Remick and missionary leader Dr. George Hamm. They set $3,000 a week as their goal to raise until their church goal of $9,150 was reached. Even bad weather did not stop them for they went out in the rain on two nights and raised $500. About 250 members participated in raising $9,442.89 in this outstanding adventure for God. This is a new day for the Sanitarium church for it is the first time in their history that the goal has been raised in so short a time.

Under the leadership of Elder Purdey and Ingathering co-ordinator John Krafchik, the Bridgeport English church has gone over its goal of $3,650 in just a few days over three weeks. Good organization, a good spirit, and thirty musical caroling candles had much to do with this victory. No tape recorder equipment was used and Mr. Krafchik said that it was a smooth solicitation and there were no complaints from anyone that the music was too loud or that it could not be heard.

As the accompanying pictures show there were five who have raised their Jasper Wayne goal by victory day. Sister Friess stood at the top with over $320 raised. Three of the youth also received the Jasper Wayne award. The youth of the church under the leadership of the church school principal, John Knowles, worked untiringly and raised over $1,300 as they went out soliciting four nights a week.

We wish we had pictures of all who have demonstrated that Ingathering can be done quickly. These victories show that good organization, team work, and prayer are vital in this work in order that much can be accomplished for God. Let us pray that souls will be in the kingdom of heaven as a result of the contacts made, the literature distributed, and the gifts received. We thank each one who has participated in any way in the Ingathering effort.

News Notes

- While out caroling the trio from the Providence church sang in front of one home where a large party was in progress. The owner of the home happened to be the owner of radio station WEAN in Providence. He was so pleased with their singing that he asked them to sing on the radio Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 p.m. The members of the trio are Beverly Costa, June Stockwell, and the pastor's wife, Jane Clarke.
- A fire in the home of Pastor and Mrs. Uhl in Fitchburg did over four thousand dollars worth of fire, smoke, and water damage on Friday, December 22.
- Instead of exchanging Christmas gifts with each other the pupils of the seventh grade at Browning Memorial School brought gifts and distributed them to poor children in the South Lancaster area. Daniel Burrows is the teacher of this grade.

John Krafchik, Ingathering co-ordinator at the Bridgeport English church, and five members who have already raised a Jasper Wayne goal. For sixteen years she lived in South Lancaster, Massachusetts, in order to give her children a Christian education. Her many friends will remember her for the consistent Christian life she lived.

After the children grew up, she moved to Schenectady, New York, where she lived the rest of her life. She was a twin sister of the late Lilly Bullick Shatley of Schenectady, New York.

PIERCE — Melzar Green Pierce was born in South Wellfleet, Massachusetts, on January 14, 1875, and died on September 19, 1961.

He spent his childhood in Wellfleet and attended the Wellfleet schools. After his schooling he worked for the Luther Crowell Bottling Company, the Cape Cod Canal, and his last position before retirement was at Camp Edwards.

Mr. Pierce formerly was a member of the Congregational church. However, in 1958, he joined the Cape Cod Seventh-day Adventist church.

On December 14, 1899, he and Mary Julia Silver were united in marriage. To this union were born six children, five of which are still living; Neil A., John L., Warren W., William S., and Mrs. George B. Seekal. Eight grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren survive him.

H. ROBERT BURROW

REARDON — Marguerite Dewey Reardon was born October 26, 1902, in Brookfield, Vermont, and died September 10, 1961, in Clinton, Massachusetts.

She was the eldest daughter of Maxwell and Flora Dewey, of Bennington, Vermont. She was married October 17, 1921, to James R. Reardon, at Randolph, Vermont.

About 1934, she was given a book by a missionary-minded layman, a seller of household necessities, who was constantly on the watch for honest-hearted persons who, he thought, would read Great Controversy without prejudice, and profit thereby. This man was Arthur Bailey. To his self-supporting missionary program should be given the credit for bringing many to a knowledge of the truth. Mrs. Reardon literally read herself into the church through his gift of Great Controversy. That little present at the time may not have seemed very important, but its influence expanded, for in time she brought the truth to many others.

Mrs. Reardon attended cottage meetings held in Bennington by W. W. Rice and invited her friends and relatives to do so with her. Several began to keep the Sabbath, and she was baptized in 1935, but at that time there was yet no local church for her to join. A few years later, Wayne Massengill organized a little church in Bennington, and Mrs. Reardon was one of its five charter members.

In 1943 she had the joy of seeing her husband and her mother baptized on the same day. In all there are perhaps as many as fifteen or twenty who are known to have come into the church because of her influence. Her very last successful effort was in behalf of her family doctor. He listened, read, and decided to attend the Sabbath services on that very day on which she was to keep her last Sabbath. It was while relating joyfully, at the church missionary service, her experience in leading this soul to God that she suffered the stroke from which she passed away early next day without recovering consciousness.

Her family and friends mourn their loss, but are comforted by their knowledge that she was ready at any time to meet her Lord when He returns.

Mrs. Reardon has lived in South Lancaster since 1950, moving here in order to let their younger son attend our school. She is survived by her husband, James R. Reardon; their two sons, James D. Reardon of Albany, New York, and John D. Reardon, of South Lancaster; her mother, Mrs. M. Dewey of Bennington, Vermont; one sister, Mrs. Rufus Dwyer, of Bennington, Vermont; two brothers, Carroll and Seaton Dewey, also of Bennington; two grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews. They grieve the loss of one who will be missed by all who knew her.

The funeral was conducted by the pastor of the South Lancaster Village church, Richard W. Knapp, assisted by the writer. She was taken home to Vermont and laid in the family burial plot, next to where her father is sleeping.
