

Making Room for Him

By G. SAMUEL REMICK, Pastor
Southern New England Conference

Each year in the month of December Time magazine selects the person who they feel has been the greatest influence in shaping world events during the preceding eleven months of the year. The one who is chosen is proclaimed as "Man of the Year." Nineteen hundred years ago the star of Bethlehem marked the abode of a wee babe in a manger. Wrapped up in that bundle was the material evidence of the love of God as He gave His only begotten Son that we might have everlasting life. Here embodied in human form was the desire of all the ages. He was not merely "Man of the Year," but the "Man of the Ages."

Christ became one flesh with us, in order that we might become one spirit with Him. It is by virtue of this union that we are to come from the grave,—not merely as a manifestation of the power of Christ, but because, through faith, His life has become ours. Those who see Christ in His true character, and receive Him into the heart, have everlasting life.—Desire of Ages, p. 388.

The story of the birth of Jesus has become a universal story and in every language and dialect tells of the love of God in giving us His Son for our redemption. How often as we sing the songs of rejoicing and thanksgiving for this wonderful gift, we resolve that we will keep close to that wonderful Christ. But when the singing of carols has ceased, the decorations have been taken down, and the lights are put away, we find ourselves drifting back to the usual work-a-day program. We seem to forget so easily, after the Christmas season has passed, that God's great gift of love is to make our hearts glad every day of the year.

How well I remember when our son was born! Though quite a few years have passed since then, I can still feel the joy of expectancy as we looked forward to the time when the little fellow would come to take his place in the world. Finally he arrived, and not too long afterward, he was home with his mother. We soon found that it meant making adjustments in our lives. We discovered he was affecting our program for he had a schedule all his own. We had to change the furniture around to make room for his crib, his bathnet, and all the countless things that babies seem to require. We found, too, that wherever we went, whatever we planned to do, we had to pause a moment and take him into account. Was he able to go with us? Would it be too late when we got back home? Would this upset his schedule in any way? Oh, yes, we started sacrificing for him too. There were clothes to buy, and more food, and as the years passed, we made sure that he was in a Christian school. Would you get the impression that I am complaining of all the adjustments we have had to make? If you think of it as complaining, you are all wrong! It has been joy simply because we love and we count these other things as nothing.

When the Son of God comes into a person's heart, there are changes very similar to this that have to be made. Changes are very often made in the way we dress, our manner of eating, the way we budget our money and our time—in fact, we have to make room for Him everywhere we go and in everything we do. But sad to say, I have sometimes overheard remarks to the effect that the church is asking too much of one's time, or it may be a complaint about some of the sacrifices one has to make in order to be a Sabbathkeeping Christian. I just wonder sometimes what we are doing to the Son of God in our lives. Are we making room for Him in our hearts and lives? Do we take Him into account in all our plans? Can it be that we dare to grumble when it comes to make a little sacrifice for Him?

As Christians, we need the spirit of Christmas more than just a few weeks out of the year. It needs to be an experience of the whole year. Let Christ be the center of every plan—He will be if He is at the center of your heart. When the center of our hearts have been touched with His life and love, we can experience the power of the "gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth . . ." (Rom. 1:16). There are souls all about us hungering for this power and longing to be loved. We need to direct them to that Star of Bethlehem that they, too, may taste and share in this love and power. Let us not only help them look back to this wonderful gift, but help them look forward to the day when Jesus will come again, not as a babe in the manger, but as King of kings and Lord of lords.

As our church choir was rehearsing for the forthcoming presentation of the "Messiah" and I listened to them singing the lilting chorus "For Unto Us a Child Is Born" and then later heard them swell into the mighty "Hallelujah Chorus," I could not help thinking of Queen Victoria's experience as she heard Handel's "Messiah" for the first time. As the "Hallelujah Chorus" was sung, she rose to her feet. This was, of course, an immediate signal for the entire audience to rise also. She stood, seemingly unaware of anyone around her, completely transfixed with tears streaming down her cheeks until the last triumphant "Hallelujah" was sounded. After taking her seat again, she turned to one of her aides and said, "Oh, that He might come tonight—that I might cast my crown at His feet."

While the world rushes on, caught in the whirl of buying and selling but thinking little of the wonderful Jesus who gave His all for them, shall we not cast our hearts at His feet? Shall we not make room for Him as King of our lives?"

Your Heart and Your Gift

The Bible story of the Magi, or Wise Men, from the East is most impressive (Matt. 2). They traveled a long journey to Bethlehem to find the newborn Saviour. There, joyful because the star had guided them aright, the wise men worshiped the child Jesus and presented Him their treasures.

Ellen G. White in her book, Desire of Ages, page 63, comments on this unique occasion:

"They gave their hearts to Him as their Saviour, and then poured out their gifts,—gold, and frankincense, and myrrh." What a faith was theirs!

Your heart and your gift are still grateful offerings to present to your Saviour. The Thirteenth Sabbath Offering is coming December 22. This year Sabbath school members can give a special offering to the Lord for the salvation of souls. While the world celebrates the birth of Jesus by giving gifts to one another, let us remember the Giver of perfect gifts.

On December 22 or December 29, we have an opportunity to show our love for Jesus by a gift that will mean eternal life for many of His friends in the Southern European Division. Through the overflow of the Thirteenth Sabbath Offering this quarter, we can help build a new mission station in Angola, enlarge a school on Mauritius Island, and provide an evangelistic center for Paris. What a wonderful opportunity to pass on the hope of eternal life to others!

Will you answer this appeal on Thirteenth Sabbath? We read these timely words from the pen of inspiration:

The offering from the heart that loves, God delights to honor, giving it highest efficiency in service for Him. If we have given our hearts to Jesus, we shall also bring our gifts to Him.—Desire of Ages, p. 65.

Let us bring a generous offering on Thirteenth Sabbath to represent our gift for Christ, and for the advancement of the gospel in mission lands.

Cancer Survey Follow-up in January

The cancer survey follow-up on Seventh-day Adventists residing in the Atlantic Union Conference will take place beginning on January 1, 1963. This time you will not be asked to fill out any forms. Your church clerk and, in the larger churches, the church medical secretary have been asked to keep a record of all deaths and transfers of membership.

We want to thank all of you who are participating in this program. A preliminary study of our group done by the American Cancer Society seems to indicate that we have healthier babies born into Adventist homes as compared with the average American home. This will have to be confirmed by continued studies, but it is interesting to note that we not only are healthier adults (less cancer of the lung and less heart disease), but also have healthier children.

Accurate accounting of all those who registered in the cancer survey is vital to this research project. If you should move, please be sure to let the church clerk know your new address, regardless of where you move. This is most important.

We appreciate your co-operation and interest in this project.

A Special Announcement from the "Review and Herald"

The editors of the Review and Herald have just given me some good news. During the early part of 1963 the Review will publish three series of articles that will be of special interest to every Seventh-day Adventist. The first series, on marriage, has been written by a minister-college professor who has had extensive experience in marriage counselling. Having observed at close range the factors that cause marriages to fail or succeed, he has been able to write in a practical, forceful way, giving helpful counsel concerning marriage problems. This series will consist of six articles.

The second series is by Arthur L. White, secretary of the Ellen G. White Estate. From years of experience he has provided an informative and fascinating series of articles on the Ellen G. White writings and their custody. He tells of work in the Ellen G. White office, of how the manuscripts are handled, of the care used in compiling Spirit of Prophecy books, and other interesting aspects of the divine gift that has meant so much to the church.

Then there will be a series of articles on Mormonism, written by one who for many years has made a study of this religion. This series will not only provide helpful information on this religious group, it will also be a real aid to all who seek to lead these good people to accept the three angels' messages.

Other good things are coming in the Review during 1963. So, if you have not already done so, get your subscrip-

The early progress of our 1963 In-gathering campaign has exceeded all expectations. It was a $75,000.00 report for the week ending December 8. This is the largest amount ever reported for a single week in recent years. We thank God for His blessing!

Events of this campaign almost defy the pen to describe. On the third report the union has a total to date of $286,160.89, which is 65 per cent of the goal. This represents a gain of $98,739.18 over last year for the same period.

Surpassing description are the early achievements of the local conferences. Take a look at the above report. Southern New England had the largest amount for the week—$26,949.99, which raises their total to almost 65 per cent of their goal. Northeastern is leading the union in percentage of goal raised with over 87 per cent. The Northern New England Conference is taking big strides toward their objective with over 72 per cent to date. Greater New York, New York, and Bermuda are all blazing trails to early victories. Every conference is making campaign history!

We believe God's people have an awareness of the world-shaking developments which point clearly to the on-rushing climax of history. This is the hour for greater soul-winning achievements to hasten our Saviour's return!

First Teachers' Institute in Bermuda

The first teachers' institute to be held in Bermuda, took place from October 18 to October 21 at the Bermuda Institute of Seventh-day Adventists, Southampton, Bermuda.

The four-day session was conducted by L. E. Smart, educational secretary of the Atlantic Union, and LaVeta Payne, professor of education at Atlantic Union College.

The institute was officially opened with prayer at 9:00 a.m. on Thursday, October 18, by H. Reese Jenkins, superintendent of the Bermuda Mission. Elder Smart then presented the challenging devotional lecture "What Makes a School a Christian School?" On successive days, devotional talks were presented by Elder Jenkins, superintendent, and Alvin Gouldbourne, pastor of the Southampton church in Bermuda.

Topics presented and discussed during the session included the following: "Education for Character Development," "Evaluation," "Modern Trends in Teaching Methods," and "What's New in Education?"

The advantage of such a "special" institute held here was, of course, that all five teachers of the Bermuda Institute could attend and receive its benefits firsthand. Our Bermuda teachers include E. L. Richardson, principal; Mrs. Hyacinth Lightbourne, Mrs. Anita Wilson, Mrs. Belvina Barnes, and Mrs. Marjorie Richardson.

The institute proved a source of great mental and spiritual enlightenment to the teachers, who resumed teaching duties in a spirit of renewed consecration to this—"the nicest work."

Greater Endicott Dorcas at Work
Thanksgiving Day is a happy occasion for most of us here in the United States but as we look about we find there are those who are not as fortunate as we are.

Realizing this, the Dorcas ladies of the Greater Endicott church met and packed ten boxes of food for needy families in our area. We worked closely with town officials as well as church members who supplied us with names. Some of them were large families and seemed to greatly appreciate the food given them.

Much of the food contained in the boxes was taken in by our Pathfinders who went "trick or treating."

We are proud to join the ranks of Dorcas ladies around the conference in helping others.

Triple Five-Day No-Smoking Program in Albany

"I have tried quitting before, but this is the first time in forty years that I have ever been more than a day without cigarettes. I feel wonderful!"—these are the words of a retired business man on the fourth night of the Albany evening session. "Today when some of the ladies with me were smoking constantly, was the very first time that I didn't even want one! It was a wonderful feeling," said a very attractive lawyer's wife on the same fourth night. "The impact of this program on our high school has been tremendous, and I wish to express our appreciation for the help you have given our students," is the way Mr. Becker, principal of Philip Schuyler High in Albany put it. Seventy per cent of the students in this one school smoke!

Thus a three-pronged attack on smoking came to a close in the New York capital area on the evening of December 6. Both Elder E. J. Folkenberg and Dr. J. Wayne McFarland were with us for the inception of this triple program, but acute bronchitis took Elman Folkenberg home, and Dr. McFarland and I finished it together.

It began with over thirty adults gathered on Sunday night in Channing Hall of the Unitarian church. As I look down the list of those who enrolled, I see a physician, dentist, several attorneys, housewives, a social worker, secretaries; in fact, an excellent cross section of the finest people in this area. This number grew to thirty-six as the week progressed. The next morning a film was shown to the 650 students of Schuyler High, and these teen-agers were invited to return immediately after school if they wanted to break the habit. One hundred of them came. That same Monday noon a businessman's luncheon for those wishing to break the habit was initiated in a well-known downtown restaurant, and for four noon hours these men were back to go through the program together. Thus we conducted our three-pronged attack, in three places the same week.

How faithfully these folks followed the fruit and fruit-juice diet that Dr. McFarland ordered for that first day! Each day at the noon luncheon it was the doctor who did the ordering, placing these executives on a low cholesterol diet. Then as we dealt with the mighty latent power of the will, and the way to mobilize it for the trying days ahead, all entered into the program with enthusiasm. Each night the symptoms were described, as the body cells were crying for their accustomed dose of nicotine and related poisons, and by the third day there was a bond of union formed. It was a thrill to see these intelligent people, completely off their coffee and their meats, their condiments and other stimulants. Then as the doctor explained the reason why he gave them such a diet, and the truth dawned on them that the less animal fats they ate, the better off they would be—as he told them of the latest findings in the field of nutrition that could greatly decrease the incidence of heart attack in America—they were asking to be shown how to cook this way!

Plans are being made to have an evening when these people will gather for a low-cholesterol smorgasbord when they can taste these tasty dishes, and can take home the menus to prepare them in their own kitchens. Truly the Spirit of Prophecy was right when it told us long ago that our health message is the entering wedge!

This afternoon as I write this report, there are some hundred people in this area that have quit smoking this last week. Not only that, but their whole concept of Adventists, of our health message, has been brought into sharp focus—and so far they like what they see! May none of us do anything to blur that image.

Tentative plans are being laid at the invitation of the Department of Health, to run the Five-Day No-Smoking Plan right in the New York State Health Department, where many employees smoke. One of the largest high schools in the city will open its doors for a program later. All around people are asking when we will run another program so they can bring their friends or members of their family. This too will come in the near future, as we press forward into the opportunities that present themselves. One man who went through the program asked, "I have quit many times before, but did not have a good enough reason to continue, I guess, so drifted back into smoking again, could you give me a good reason for stopping?" Apparently his own health was not good enough, so I said to all present: "Your own influence upon others, the fact that someone, some child may die, just because they followed your example and saw you smoking, would be a good enough example for me." This satisfied him, and it triggered a lovely lady present to say, "We told our girls that if they would not smoke until they were twenty-one, we would give them $100 each. But now my husband too has quit, even though he has not come with me, and maybe our changed example will be what the girls need!"

What a wonderful tool to help people, to reach their hearts, and to clear their minds so when truth comes—they can see it!

Report from Jamestown,
 New York

God's work should always be making forward steps as we work and pray for the soon coming of Christ. The members in the Jamestown district believe this and with the help of the Holy Spirit, have made many forward steps in 1962. Let us share a few of these happy experiences.

As 1962 came on the scene of action, it found many sincere members of the district out holding Bible studies, giving out literature, and sharing their faith with others. In the district there has been an active society of missionary men, which was organized to help promote a more active lay participation in soul-winning activities.

For a time some in the Sherman area of the district have felt the need for a church in that area. This need was put before the Missionary Men's Society and they accepted the challenge. As we come to the close of 1962 we find an active Sherman Company meeting each Sabbath afternoon in the Sherman library with an average attendance of thirty. This group looks forward to organizing as a church in the near future.

Another forward step was taken when M. E. Rees, our conference church development director, spent three weeks with us in March. The members felt spiritually refreshed through this program and God has blessed as sizable amounts have regularly been flowing into the church treasury toward a new church building in Jamestown.

The Jamestown district had the privilege of pioneering the new conference Airatorium. We began a series of evangelistic meetings in this beautiful building in April. We had very good attendance and the Lord has blessed us as twenty new members have been added to our district this year, and many more are now taking Bible studies in preparation for this step.

This fall our church school opened with twenty-five pupils, this being more than double the size of our school two years ago. We believe that Christian education is a very important step in helping to prepare our young people for the coming of Christ. We also find nine of our young people attending ten-grade church schools or academies outside of our district. Five of these young people are attending Union Springs Academy. There are at least six more of our young people attending our Adventist colleges.

Our fall months have been busy laying extensive plans for our new church building in Jamestown, for which we plan to break ground next spring.

The Brocton church is continuing to grow and is beginning to experience growing pains as it spreads its beams of light in the northern part of our county. The Sherman Company is now doing its part to radiate light to the western part of our county, and the Jamestown church is sharing their faith with those in the southeastern part of our county.

As the message of God continues to go forward throughout the world field, the members in the Jamestown district want to go forward with it. May God bless to this end as we do our part.

Academy Spotlight

◆ On Sabbath, November 24, the Academy choir, under the direction of George White, assisted in making the district meeting in Jamestown a success. James Sullenberger, Donna Hellerood, and Anita McLaughlin each had a part in reading the Week of Prayer reading for that morning.

◆ Ronald Goodall, John Joyner, and James Davis attended the mathematics and science workshop that was conducted at South Lancaster Academy recently.

◆ Henry Foote is leading some of the members of the sophomore class in real missionary work. They have organized a branch Sabbath school in one of the nearby towns and about forty children are coming regularly. George White and Eva Wensley are the class sponsors.

◆ A Pathfinder Club has been organized and several students are taking part in it.

◆ R. H. Wentland, Sr., visited the academy recently and conducted a week-end meeting. He showed moving pictures of our work in Africa.

◆ The Medical Cadet Corps meets every Sunday morning for two hours. Forty-five boys take part in drills, listen to lectures on character guidance, and view films. Ronald Goodall is the corps commander.

◆ The ministers of the New York Conference have been invited to come to the academy to assist in week-end services. Those taking part so far are, A. T. Bidwell, Cortland district; J. S. Blahovich, Elmira district; and James Everts, Glens Falls district.

Baptisms in Northeastern

There has been a continuous increase in baptisms in Northeastern Conference during the past six years. In 1956 our membership was 4,440. Baptisms for that year totaled 307.

In 1957 we were able to reach the 500 mark for the first year since the organization of the conference.

From 1956 through 1961 we had total baptisms of 3,068, with a net gain in membership over the six-year period of 2,742—an average baptism per year for the same period, 511.

This year, 1962, has been an unusual year in evangelism for Northeastern Conference. Only one major effort was held in the conference. This was due to the General Conference session when a great number of our ministers took their vacations.

At the close of the third quarter, however, we had baptized 324, with a net gain of 314. Our membership at the close of the third quarter was 7,493. This represents a 5,000 increase in membership during the 18 years the conference has been organized.

We are not satisfied with the past record. Our ministers have pledged total effort, under God, to do something unusual in these crisis days. At a recent workers' meeting our ministers pledged to baptize 175 for the last quarter of 1962. So far we have received reports of approximately 100 baptisms already for the fourth quarter, and we have definite commitments that will cover more than the 75 needed. This will insure 500 baptisms for the year.

We look forward to 1963 with great anticipation, for this is the year we have set ourselves, under God, to make 1,000 new Seventh-day Adventists. We have in hand pledges from every district in the conference. These pledges total over 1,200.

We are urging our constituents to give themselves to prayer, fasting, and diligent labor to prepare the field for the many reaping efforts we plan for 1963.

We are convinced that until the laymen join hands with the ministry and move forward in faith, the work of God will never be finished in the earth.

The watchword in Northeastern is Evangelize! Evangelize! Evangelize!

The Integrity of the Judiciary

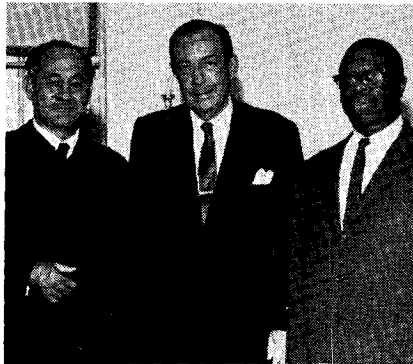

Good government is of divine origin, for, in the beginning of things, the Creator designated specific laws to govern our first parents, which were to form the basis of sound government to which all of His creation were to adhere. The laws of the Creator were not arbitrary, nor will they ever be. Man has always been and will always be free to choose to obey or not to obey these divine precepts.

The successful and systematic progress of our lives, as well as the affairs of governments, depend wholly upon our attitude toward the divine ordinances. Wherever exceptions are made to these ordinances, there have inevitably been deterioration, uncertainty, a weakening of the powers of the mind, and very certain chaos.

The extent of the influence which we as Seventh-day Adventists can exert on heads of government and representatives of our city, state, and federal systems can never be underestimated.

The Northeastern Conference President R. T. Hudson, was signally recognized by the mayor of the City of New York, jurists from the various courts of the city, and Samuel A. Spiegel, former state assemblyman, as a representative example of the influence that our organization exerts in the affairs of civil administration.

On November 8, 1962, Samuel Spiegel, in a spectacular judicial ceremony at City Hall, was sworn in as judge of the Civil Court of the City of New York by Mayor Robert F. Wagner. This elevation of Mr. Spiegel's professional public service was an esteemed recognition of the untiring and dedicated legislative responsibility that he has carried as an assemblyman in the New York State Legislature.

Government protocol requires the presence of distinguished personalities in government and the judiciary, to participate on these occasions. It was no small nor ordinary matter that an invitation was extended to Elder Hudson to be guest speaker on this occasion.

When questioned on the possibilities of qualified public servants to be here represented in this swearing-in ceremony of Judge Spiegel, this writer suggested to the judge, members of the City Courts, the mayor, and his executive secretary that a very responsible and distinguished person in the affairs of government would be R. T. Hudson, the president of the Northeastern Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. They immediately seized upon this suggestion and called Elder Hudson at his office to extend to him the invitation to come to City Hall and be one of the guest speakers for this affair.

Present there were Surrogate Court Judge Samuel DeFalco, Judge Price, Commissioner Mitch Bloom, Borough President of Manhattan Edward Dudley, and a score of other leading government officials from across the state. The mayor introduced Elder Hudson as "a distinguished minister and public servant, who has given much to the people of the City of New York in many areas of civic and humanitarian endeavors."

Elder Hudson in his concluding remarks on "The Integrity of the Judiciary" stated:

I have known Sam Spiegel for a long period of time. I have been with him in Albany on various occasions, when very critical bills were introduced in the legislature concerning church and state matters. I have seen him in action, in his untiring efforts to preserve and protect the fundamental concept of the separation of church and state, as amended in the first precept of the federal constitution. He never concerned himself as to whether or not the bills which he introduced into the legislature will pass even the assembly. His main concern was whether or not the bill was right. He has maintained and cherished the high ideas of protecting the constitutional rights and guarantees of all people, regardless of race, creed, color, or religion. His colleagues hold him in high esteem and this day is a demonstration of even a higher recognition bestowed upon him by the mayor of the city of New York, in being sworn in as judge of the Civil Court. The mayor and all of us here may well be proud of the fact that in this judicial capacity in which Judge Spiegel will serve, he will bring vitality, soundness of judgment, and character as he has done as a member of the New York State Legislature. One writer has said that one of the greatest needs of the world today is the need of men; men who are true and honest; men who in their innermost souls are as true to duty, as the needle to the pole; men who will call sin by its right name, though the heavens fall. I believe this summarizes the character and the fortitude of Judge Spiegel as envisioned by all of us present here today. Thank you, Mr. Mayor, for this distinguished opportunity in being invited here as a representative of the Northeastern Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

Some of the events leading up to this occasion were as follows:

On January 29, 1962, Joseph F. Carlino, speaker of the New York State Assembly, and Samuel A. Spiegel, then one of the New York State assemblymen, extended an invitation to Elder Hudson to be a guest at the opening session of the New York State Legislature and to present the invocation. Accompanying him on this occasion were O. A. Troy, L. B. Reynolds, and H. D. Singleton. In attendance also were Samuel Johnson, who served as mediator between the state government and the Northeastern Conference in regard to church-state issues and legislative matters, and Moses Johnson, who was invited by the Speaker to photograph the documentary sequences of this event.

On March 24, 1962, Elder Hudson was host to Joseph Carlino and Samuel Spiegel, and State Supreme Court Judge Harry B. Frank, for the first of a series of forums on the topic, "The Government of the People."

Elder Hudson was presented with a history of the city of New York, by Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, who is also president of the state senate.

It is evident from these conclusions that our work will continue to increase in intensity in every walk of life until the end of time. It is no small thing when heads of any government, whatever level, will call upon our people to represent our cause and to give them counsel in regard to the integrity of the judiciary, as well as our complex systems of administrative government.

Why Freeport, Maine, Was Chosen for Campground Site

At the constituency meeting conducted on November 18, 1962, a great deal of time was spent discussing a possible location for our campground. Many expressed their desire to serve the entire constituency in the best possible way by having the campground centrally located.

A map of the entire conference was placed in front of the audience and distances were measured off. To our surprise, we learned that Freeport, Maine, was just about the same distance from Bennington, Vermont, as it is from Lubec and Milltown, Maine. In fact, we have two churches in Maine farther away than any church in Vermont or New Hampshire, and they are Oakfield and Presque Isle. So geographically it seemed that Freeport is the most central.

Then we studied the membership. The following statistics were presented. Vermont has approximately 570 members; New Hampshire approximately 460 members; and Maine approximately 1,520 members. Our Conference church has approximately 200 members, making a total of more than 2,700. We have approximately 1,500 members within a radius of Freeport of 150 miles.

When all of these facts were clearly presented, it was unanimously voted to make plans to have our own campground in Freeport, Maine.

However, this does not mean that we will discontinue our regional meetings that are held each year in various parts of the conference. Plans will be made to continue such meetings in the future, even though we have our own campground.

We feel certain that every member will respond wholeheartedly when we launch our $15,000 fund-raising campaign in January to develop a campground for the Northern New England Conference.

Northern Vermont Baptism

On Sabbath, October 27, the members of the Vergennes and Burlington churches witnessed an impressive baptism as one soul was buried with the Lord. The decision of this candidate came as a result of a Faith for Today contact and Bible studies given to her by Mrs. Edgar Willard, and the prayers offered to our Heavenly Father on her behalf by members of the Vergennes church.

Truly the laymen play an important part in the Lord's work in the Northern Vermont district. We solicit an interest in the prayers of the readers of the GLEANER as another baptism is planned in December.

Remember Christ During Christmas

Heaven gave its greatest gift in Jesus Christ. At the time of His birth the wise men brought their gifts to Him. But times have changed and many forget Christ and His church at this season of the year.

The messenger of the Lord has written:

The north end of the cafeteria showing the loading dock and entrance that will face the boys' dormitory.

Masons lay the coping stone at roof level of boys' dormitory at Pioneer Valley Academy.

Let every one remember the claims of God. His cause cannot go forward without your aid. Let the gifts you have usually bestowed upon one another be placed in the Lord's treasury. . . . Let there be recorded in the heavenly books such a Christmas as has never yet been seen, because of the donations which shall be given for the sustaining of the work of God and the up-building of His kingdom. —Review and Herald, December 9, 1884.

It is a source of real encouragement to see the way in which the majority of our constituency are giving their financial support to Pioneer Valley Academy. It is this spirit of sacrifice that will make our new academy a reality.

On December 22 and 29 we are inviting our believers to give a special Christmas offering for Pioneer Valley Academy in the envelope that has been provided. A special invitation is extended to those who are not giving through weekly commitment programs to have a part in building our new academy through this offering.

The weather has been in our favor and the masons are completing the brick work on the boys' dormitory. The steel decking for the roof is being laid with prospects of the roof being finished before the snow flies and cold weather sets in.

If you have not fulfilled your responsibility in helping to build this institution for the training of our youth, why not give at the time of the Christmas offering for Pioneer Valley Academy.

This morning's mail brought in our first Christmas envelope with this statement:

I am sending you $5.00 for a Christmas offering as you asked. It's a sacrifice to do it, but I'm glad to do it for Jesus. I am not buying Christmas gifts, I can't. Remembering just a few with things I have in the house. I have cataracts on both eyes and it's getting difficult to see to read and write and sew. But if I can only see to get around and take care of myself, I shall be thankful.

With such a spirit of sacrifice on the part of our members our new academy will be built. S. A. YAKUSH

Brockton Welfare Center Dedicated

The mayor of Brockton and other city officials commended the members of the Brockton Dorcas Society at the time of the dedication of their Health and Welfare Center on November 27.

Mayor J. Milton McGrath spoke highly of such a small church taking on such a large task. He offered the co-operation of the welfare services of the city in the work of the center.

Pastor Gage acted as master of ceremonies for the dedication. Others who took part were Warren Swanson, who represented the Council of Churches; D. E. Caslow of the Atlantic Union Conference; Mrs. Esther Porter of the City Welfare Department; Mrs. Miriam Fox of the Red Cross; Arthur Bello of Civil Defense; and Mrs. Ida Beals, leader of the center.

The center is located in the basement of the church which has been newly decorated. Shelves lined with clearly marked boxes are stocked with clothing. Clothing racks for dresses, suits, and coats line two of the walls waiting to help the needy.

To Husband and Wife

By THEODORE CARCICH, Vice-President for North American Division

1. Keep up the courtship. Continue the early attentions. Study to advance each other's happiness. Marriage is the beginning, not the end, of love. Give it your best efforts.
2. However humble, make your own home. Relatives are wonderful (to visit), but not to make your home with.
3. Have children.
4. Plan and share home burdens, the care and training of children, finances and recreation. Avoid secrets and counsel together often.
5. Maintain neatness in home and person. Love suffers in the midst of untidiness, soiled garments, dirty dishes, and disagreeable odors.
6. Don't be stingy. Remember the birthdays, anniversaries, and gift days. Love cannot exist without expression.
7. Take a vacation together. Make it another honeymoon.
8. When things go wrong, as they sometimes will, keep smiling. Be kind in speech and action. Allow no sharpness to come into your voice.
9. Be sympathetic. Cultivate patience by practicing patience. Never let the sunset find you at variance with each other. Forgive and forbear and all will come out right.
10. Have morning and evening worship together. Attend Sabbath school and church together. Praying and worshiping together keep you together, here and in eternity.

For Teen-agers Only

Wouldn't you like to find out how you rate when it comes to personality? A good test is your relationship with your family. Here are a few pertinent questions. You be the judge.

Is my mother an unpaid maid who hangs up my clothes and puts my things away?

Am I lively in a crowd, but solemnly silent at home? Or do I share my best jokes and sweetest smiles with my own family?

Do I expect to be paid for everything I do around the house? If so, when was the last time I paid for a meal or a good night's rest?

If I brag that what my parents advise goes in one ear and out the other, is it because my head is empty?

I buy little luxuries for myself. Have I ever brought home a bag of candy for my kid brother or sister, or even Mom or Dad?

When I'm expected home at a certain hour and I realize I'm going to be unavoidably late, am I thoughtful enough to save Mom and Dad extra worry by phoning?

How explosive is my temper? Do I shout, sass, and argue when I don't get my way?

When Dad comes home from work, do I have a cheery greeting? Do I let him have the best chair for TV?

Do I show my parents that they can trust me before expecting them to give me the privileges that I want?

Are my parents really proud of me? Do I give them any reason to be proud? Or am I failing to use my talents and just coasting through school?

This quiz was made up by the teenagers of the Aquinas High School in La Crosse, Wisconsin.

What do you think should be added to this list? What should be omitted or changed? Send your suggestions to Archa O. Dart, General Conference of SDA, 6840 Eastern Avenue, N.W., Takoma Park, Washington 12, D.C.

"Aim at High Points in Character Development"

"If we teach our children to be industrious, half the danger is over, for idleness leads into all manner of temptation to sin. Let us educate our children to be simple in manner without being bold, to be benevolent and self-sacrificing without being extravagant, to be economical without becoming avaricious. And above all, let us teach them the claims which God has upon them, that it is their duty to carry religion into every department of life, that they should love God supremely, and love their neighbor, not neglecting the little courtesies of life which are essential to happiness."—Child Guidance, p. 189.

Give Rather Than Exact

Let each give love rather than exact it. Cultivate that which is noblest in yourselves, and be quick to recognize the good qualities in each other. The consciousness of being appreciated is a wonderful stimulus and satisfaction. Sympathy and respect encourages the striving after excellence, and love itself increases as it stimulates to nobler aims.—The Adventist Home, p. 107.

Spending more on daughter's clothes than on mother's usually alienates the girl from her mother.

Try This

"How sweet of you, mother, to let me invite my friends over, and I do want them to meet you."

Not This

"Mother, when my friends come to see me, I shall die if they see you in that outfit."

● The dedication of our people to the building of Pioneer Valley Academy is encouraging. Recently one of our believers sent in a check for $100. Fifty dollars was designated for the fire-damaged cafeteria and fifty dollars was to go to Pioneer Valley Academy. The sister writes, "I expect my grandson will be going to school at Pioneer Valley Academy as soon as it is finished. So sorry to hear about the fire at the cafeteria."

★ The English Department of Atlantic Union College, under the direction of Dr. Otilie Stafford, presented a skit in chapel on December 3. The six students participating discussed the varied opportunities the study of English affords, how such study enriches the understanding of all phases of life.

★ During the chapel period on Wednesday, December 5, Ernestine Tenny, snapshot editor of the yearbook, presented prizes for the best pictures turned in during the previous week. Those receiving awards were Grace Leonard, Ronald Harris, Ervin Slater, and Elizabeth Weisher.

★ During the chapel period on December 10, D. D. Lake, educational superintendent of the Southern New England Conference, urged the students of SLA to unite in one hundred per cent participation in the American Temperance Society. "Temperance is the basis of our religion," he stated. He outlined plans for a field trip for all academy students to the Worcester County jail, and also the opportunity to attend a session of the County Court. Such an experience will help the students to understand the need for supporting the temperance program, he stated.

Elder Lake also invited the students to participate in the jingle, poster, and oratorical contests sponsored by the American Temperance Society, and handed out a brochure containing the rules for the contests. Officers for the SLA Temperance Society include Judith Tyler, president; Richard Emery, vice-president; Martha Cowin, secretary-treasurer; and Keith Dowell, sponsor.

2. A new church and evangelistic center in Paris.

Paris, the capital of France, has about five million inhabitants. The light of the gospel was first made to shine in this City of Light at the beginning of the century, but we wish to see it blaze with much greater force.

The two present churches are getting far too small. It is absolutely necessary to think of a third church, which we plan to build in the northern part of the city, where the message has not made an impact at all, and which will serve, at the same time, as an evangelistic center. Building sites are very expensive in Paris, and the Franco-Belgian Union will not be able to purchase one without substantial aid.

3. Enlargement of the Phoenix Adventist School, Mauritius, Indian Ocean.

I had the opportunity to see our school on Mauritius just after the terrible cyclone had laid waste a great part of the island. Many families lost all their belongings. We were surprised to learn that, in spite of their losses, the parents did not take away their children from our school, even though they have to pay a school fee here, while the government schools offer free tuition.

Our institution enjoys a good reputation. It is appreciated by the Moslems, who gladly send their children. The education they receive here is the most effective means by which we can reach the Moslems with the gospel of grace.

The place is now inadequate. It is necessary to modernize what we have, and to enlarge, in order to be able to receive more students.

These are, dear brothers and sisters, the needs of our fields expressed in a few words. We know you will respond generously, and we thank you in advance for the sacrifices you will make, and which will permit us to realize our projects. The precious souls won for Christ, as well as our deep gratitude will be your reward.

OBITUARIES

KIMBLE—Charles Kimble was born November 12, 1870, in Catlin, New York. Here he lived and worked his full ninety-two years and passed to his rest on November 25, 1962.

He was baptized when just a boy at a camp meeting held at Auburn, New York, and has been a faithful member of the Seventh-day Adventist Church ever since.

Many of the early pioneers visited in the Kimble home, among them were Elder and Mrs. James White. It was through the Kimble family that the message of the Advent first came to the Elmira district.

Mr. Kimble leaves to mourn, his daughter, Miss Eva Kimble, and many distant relatives.

Through the years Mr. Kimble has been a faithful worker for the church he loved, and now he rests in the hope of the coming of our Lord and Saviour.
