In Times Like These

By C. G. EDWARDS, District Leader
Southern New England Conference

On a cold Sunday morning at about sunrise, February 12, 1809, in a little log cabin in the hills of northern Kentucky, the baby boy Abraham Lincoln was born into the world. Life on the frontier was hard in those days, and poverty was common. And little did the humble people of those hills realize on that cold February day, that sometime this spot would be revered by millions as the birthplace of one of the world's greatest men.

Indeed on the very day after his birth, his cousin, Dennis Hanks, held him a few moments and then made the childish prophecy, "He'll never come to much."

The growing boy knew hardship, and became acquainted with toil. His hands felt the burning of blisters forming, as he hoed the fields, and chopped the wood.

And when he was only nine years old, his mother died, a gentle, loving, frontier mother, who had read the Bible to him and planted ideas, big ideas that would someday grow to great deeds. The boy Abraham mourned her deeply and yet it fell his lot, even in his sorrow, to whittle the pine pegs with which her coffin was put together.

Somehow, some way, some day during those early years, Abraham Lincoln must have asked the question of himself: "Why am I here? Why have I come into the world—a world of joy and sorrow, of toil and thought?" He pondered this question in his childhood days in Kentucky and later in Indiana where he lived from the age of nine to seventeen.

The questions of his destiny and place and contribution to the world must have troubled the preoccupied child's mind, for when he was only twelve, he wrote his name on a piece of paper and said wonderingly to his cousin, "Abraham Lincoln—that stands for me." And the cousin added, "It 'peared to mean a heap to Abe."

Early in life the thoughtful lad adopted as his own the principles of kindness, when he refused to join his schoolmates in putting fire on a live mud turtle, and wrote a paper arguing against cruelty to animals. The strong young teen-ager on a winter night loaded a man on his back who had imbibed too freely of whisky, in order to save the man from freezing.

These events and others helped to shape a man of destiny—a man used by Providence to guide his nation during its greatest struggle, a man who was later to say: "It is a solemn thing to be an instrument in the hands of Providence to deliver a whole race of people from bondage."

Today the whole world honors the memory of Abraham Lincoln as a leader who made an immense contribution to the world through a continuous conscious effort to do right, to do, as he himself said, "The very best I can."

Friend, why are you here? What are you doing to be a blessing to the world? We know why Abraham Lincoln was here, we know the work he did, but he could not have done it had he not had a sense of mission and purpose in life, and had he not had the self-respect to resolutely attempt great things.

Abraham Lincoln had a respect for the dignity of individuals to perhaps a greater degree than any other political leader of history. No doubt there were times in his life when he was tempted to drift, because of hardship and because of the seeming futility of a person in his humble circumstances accomplishing anything great and grand in the world, but he did not waver, he did his best, in order that "government of the people, should not perish from the earth."

The self-respect and dignity and noble ambition that marked the life of Abraham Lincoln can become yours. And you can get it from the same source as did he. Lincoln was a diligent reader of the Bible, as is apparent from his many public speeches and documents.

You are important. The Bible teaches your worth as an individual. It teaches that you are of great value in the sight of God, as for example in this passage from the teachings of Jesus: "Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father. But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows" (Matt. 10:29-31).

Away with the thought that you are drifting about on the sea of life without a purpose, and without a mission. You are royalty. You are the child of a king. Again notice the encouraging and uplifting words of I John 3:1, 2.

"Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not. Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is."

The very realization of the fact that you are the member of a royal family, that you are a child of God, should quicken your steps and charge your heart with an eagerness to serve in the best possible way in life. You have nothing to fear, you are the child of a king.

As the child of God, your guilts and fears can be swept away, and you can recognize that you possess royal possibilities, as is stated in Revelation 1:5, 6.

"Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood, and hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father; to Him be glory and dominion forever and ever, Amen."

Ah, yea, you are a king, and a priest, and a child of God through the acceptance of Jesus Christ, and His wondrous sacrifice in behalf of a perishing world. And His call to you, not only impels you to accept Him and find forgiveness, but to find your mission, your purpose in being in the world.

You can change the world. You can make your family, your neighborhood, a better, more lovely place. Lost in admiration and appreciation for God's love, with a new self-respect, let us all accomplish all the good that is possible for God and for our fellow men.

Associate Secretary Visits Academies

Walter A. Howe, Ed.D., associate secretary of the General Conference Department of Education, spent last week in the Atlantic Union Conference territory. Doctor Howe, who is in charge of secondary education in the denominational school system, visited Greater Boston Academy, Greater New York Academy, Northeastern Academy, South Lancaster Academy, and Union Springs Academy while he was here. This was not an inspection tour, but an informal visit to the academies to keep in touch with the educational program in process throughout the field. Doctor Howe became an associate secretary of the Department of Education of the General Conference August 1, 1963, and this is his first visit in the academies of the Atlantic Union since that time.

Doctor Howe was accompanied on his visits to the academies by L. E. Smart, secretary of education of the Atlantic Union Conference.

A Letter From Our President

Dear Fellow Believers:

"Why tarriest thou?" asked Ananias of Paul on that eventful day when he visited the penitent persecutor in

R. R. Figuhr

Damascus, to pray for the restoration of his eyesight. Paul had been sitting in darkness and uncertainty for three days—days of deep heart searching. Never before had he come to such a decisive point in his life. But now the tarrying was ended. The days of following his own plans and preferences gave way to something much greater. He was about to be launched upon an entirely new career, as different as could be from his former one. The Lord's purpose of sending Paul, the converted Jew, far hence into the Gentiles was about to take place.

It is good to know that Paul tarried no longer. He arose, was baptized, and, as he said later, began to follow "the heavenly vision." Long years passed and he came to the end of his life's journey. Here he declared his satisfaction with the decision he had made. Paul had no regrets. He was satisfied to end his days while in God's service.

The question "Why tarriest thou?" comes to many Seventh-day Adventist church members today. A vast field of opportunity and service awaits many. We have excellently equipped printing plants with highly skilled workmen and capable and dedicated writers. They are producing books and magazines that are attractive and appealing. The urgent need is for colporteurs, full-time where possible, part-time where circumstances make full-time work impossible. Many men and women who now are successfully following other lines of activity could not only make a good living as literature evangelists but could at the same time have a definite and important part in God's work in these closing days.

The call is for successful people to enter this important line of work in God's cause. We are glad for those who have closed their stores, left their profession, and dropped their tools to respond to this high calling. They decided to tarry no longer. God is blessing and prospering them.

But more are needed. It is doubtful that there is a single church in North America, no matter how small, that does not have in it one or more who could, with the training the conference furnishes, become a successful literature evangelist. I have been informed of a six-year-old lad and a man over seventy who both have recently made outstanding records in selling our literature. Age seems to make no difference in this work.

At the final end of the journey, where the wisdom of all choices will be truly evaluated, the dedicated literature evangelist will, as did Paul, declare his satisfaction with the choice he made. Then he can look forward confidently to receiving the crown reserved for all God's faithful laborers.

The great pyramids of Egypt are a classic example of misused effort and personal interest. The history of Egypt would have been entirely different had the investment of time and money that went into building the pyramids been expended instead on road building. Roads would have been a blessing to the whole nation; the pyramids merely exalted the rulers who built them for themselves. Road builders work with others in mind; pyramids and monuments reflect only self. Paul built no pyramids, but he ranged the highways of the world to carry the gospel. Thousands of others today are following his example and traversing the highways of nations with the gospel invitation in printed form. Perhaps God wants you to join them. ## Faith for Today

Open House at Faith for Today

Faith for Today's welcome mat is rolled out for you. You are cordially invited to attend the open house of the new offices of the telecast at 200 Stonehinge Lane, Carle Place, Long Island, New York.

Scheduled on Sunday, May 24, from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. the open house will feature guided tours of the facilities with explanations of the different phases of the work. The complete office staff will be working so that visitors will have an opportunity to see Faith for Today in action and meet Pastor and Mrs. Fagal.

A program of quartet music will be presented each hour; light refreshments will be served.

We recognize that many of the readers of the GLEANER may not be in the New York area during our open house. However, we want to encourage those who will be coming to New York at any time for the World's Fair or for other business to make it a point to stop in to meet the Faith for Today workers.

Pastor and Mrs. W. A. Fagal are looking forward to greeting visitors at the Faith for Today open house on May 24.

Our people have opened their hearts to Faith for Today during the fourteen years of its telecasting the love of God to the world. Now we want to open our hearts and the doors of our new building to you. Come see what has been accomplished by your gifts, your prayers, and your promotion of Faith for Today.

and Station Relations*

Notice Please!

All former students and teachers of Enterprise Academy, Enterprise, Kansas.

The first reunion ever held on the Enterprise Academy campus, March 13-14, was a huge success. Would you like to come to a special week-end and banquet next year? A tentative date has been set for March 21-22, 1965. Watch this paper for final notice.

We would like to contact all former students and teachers from 1963 back to the chartered members of 1919. Please send your name and address along with those of your classmates to Lewis C. Brand, class of 1950, now Bible instructor at the academy and chairman of the planning committee for the year of 1964-65.

College Church Dedication

Three significant services with R. R. Figuhr, W. R. Beach, and P. C. Heubach as speakers will mark the dedication week end of the Walla Walla College church May 23, 1964.

Sabbath, May 23, at 2:30 p.m. the service of dedication will have Elder Figuhr (alumnus of 1922), president of the General Conference, as speaker. R. D. Fearing, pastor, will lead in the act of dedication, and C. A. Scriven, president of the North Pacific Union Conference, will offer the dedication prayer.

Elder Beach (alumnus of 1923), secretary of the General Conference, will give the sermon at the eleven o'clock worship service on the same day. Elder Heubach, College church pastor from 1951-62, will speak at the service of consecration, Friday evening, May 22, at 7:45.

Many alumni, former staff members, and students will want to attend. The class of 1934 has been announced as the day's honor class.

Paul Gordon, spiritual vice-president of the Alumni Association, will act as superintendent of the May 23 Sabbath school and already has planned to have members of the class of 1934 as participants. Plans are rapidly materializing for a group get-together.

More information may be had by writing Alumni President Fred R. Bennett, Walla Walla College, College Place, Washington.

Tape Recorders for the Penitentiary

Every Christian is familiar with the trials, hardships, and much persecution the apostle Paul experienced in his lifetime. Yet, from behind those prison walls, where the beloved apostle had been chained so long, came a never-ending stream of love letters to his church, to strengthen them for the problems that were ahead. So it is in our modern-day setting. Behind the cold prison doors there are men today who are there, not because of a life such as the apostle lived, but because of crimes committed in a moment of hatred or anger. But can we say that all are bad?

The manager of the Christian Record Braille Foundation, C. G. Cross, began pondering upon this question some months ago, and made contact with L. W. Harvey, educational director at the Nebraska State Penitentiary in Lincoln. Through this contact, Elder Cross became acquainted with a little project which some of the inmates had been doing for the State Services for the Blind. He then presented his program to them, after which Mr. Harvey arranged for a selected qualified group of prisoners to begin reading many books onto tapes for the Christian Record.

As we see and read the love letters that came from behind prison walls in the days of Paul, we can see today a twentieth century miracle as prisoners, many of them well educated and qualified for this work, record books on tapes which are truly "love letters" to become a part of the new Christian Record Free Tape Lending Library for blind people.

As these prisoners record the Seventh-day Adventist Reading Course books, a change is truly taking place in their lives. One inmate stated he would rather read our books than any others. If we had to pay professional readers for this service, the cost would be prohibitive, yet this is one of the many projects of the CRBF to bring the gospel of Christ to the millions of people who live in darkness. Each time a tape recorder is presented to the prison, it costs the CRBF $142.50. With many pressing needs such as this worthy project, we are trusting and praying that our Seventh-day Adventist believers throughout North America will remember the Christian Record services to blind people in the special offering on June 13.

New Center Director Appointed

G. Eric Jones, chairman of the New York Center Board, announced the appointment of Harold J. Brendel as director of the New York Center. He succeeds J. Reynolds Hoffman who is now conducting Five-Day Plans to Stop Smoking in the metropolitan New York area.

Having recently joined the New York Center staff as pastor of the New York Center church, Brendel has now assumed the work of directing the Center's three-fold emphasis of educational, health, and spiritual ministries. In making the appointment Elder Jones declared: "The addition of Pastor Brendel as director of the Center and pastor of the Center church emphasizes the continuing expansion of a complete public service ministry to one of the most challenging and critical areas of soul winning that the remnant church faces."

Pastor Brendel has had more than twenty years of pastoral and evangelistic experience working in some of the largest cities in the United States and Canada. His most recent pastorate was the Denver East church. His administrative experience stems from service as chairman of boards and work on conference, hospital, and ministerial association executive committees and boards. He has also had the unique distinction of service as the mayor of the village of Lakeline, Ohio, while serving as conference evangelist.

Center Director, Harold J. Brendel, and Board Chairman, G. Eric Jones, confer on new series of programs now being conducted in the heart of New York City.

A native of Buffalo, New York, and a graduate of Atlantic Union College, Brendel has also completed advanced seminary training at Andrews University and graduate work at Denver University. He has specialized in pastoral counselling and has a deep rapport with those seeking a closer walk with God and membership into the church.

Complementing his ministry in a strong way are his wife, Norma; Dona, a third-year nursing student at Union College; Dian, a teacher at Denver's Mile High Academy; and Dixie Lee, a sophomore at the academy.

Already Pastor Brendel has mounted a carefully planned and aggressive pastoral and evangelistic program. A new series of Sabbath evangelistic and Sunday health-oriented programs have already begun under his direction.

"Readers of the GLEANER are invited to remember in prayer the Brendels as they join hands with our conference forces as God's spokesmen in this great megalopolis," stated Elder Jones, president of the Greater New York Conference.

Youth Rally at Jackson Heights Church

The Jackson Heights church was privileged to be host to a Greater New York Conference youth rally held on April 10-11.

Friday evening, L. E. Smart, educational secretary of the Atlantic Union Conference, presented the keynote address entitled, "Forward in Faith." He emphasized the fact that positive victories are created by moving out into enemy territory. As soldiers of Christ, we must be equipped with the proper weapons of this Christian warfare. These weapons are the Word of God and prayer.

On Sabbath morning it was a delight to see young people from the various sections of our large city, so well represented at the Sabbath school hour. They were but a token of the group which began to swell into the sanctuary for the 11:30 a.m. service. During this service the Aeolians of Atlantic Union Conference under the direction of Norman J. Roy gave a sacred concert. J. Melvyn Clemons, assistant professor of religion

Featuring MV's Around The World

at Atlantic Union College, presented, "Thoughts for Meditation," in which he said that our quest for God can be satisfied through music. Our quest for God was indeed satisfied as we found Him in the words and music of inspired compositions.

Sabbath afternoon proved to be the grand climax of the Greater New York rally. The meeting began with a rousing "Melody Fete" led by R. A. Mitchell, pastor of the Staten Island church. As the young people from all parts of the city stood at attention, young men of the Medical Cadet Corps, dressed in uniform, came marching down the aisle with the American flag and the Christian flag. With a snappy salute, the flags were placed on the rostrum. Then followed the pageant procession.

First came the youth representing the English-speaking churches. Then came the Israeli youth from the Times Square Center. Following them were the youth from the Yugoslavian church. The youth from the German-speaking churches were next. And then came a group representing the island of Jamaica, followed by a young mother and her family representing Japan. The costumes worn made the pageant procession a colorful one.

It was a thrill to see young people from each of these language groups participating in a program which brought out the fact that though differences in languages and customs exist, one thing remains absolute and strong, and that is the desire to spread "the Advent message to all the world in this generation."

R. Foster Medford, MV secretary of the Greater New York Conference, closed this youth rally, which will long be remembered, with the benediction. May the young people of New York City go forward in faith, and say as Paul did, "I press toward the mark . . ."

Olean Evangelistic Campaign

On Sunday night, February 16, a free public lecture series began in the Olean church. The series was named "The Light of Truth," a parallel term also used to identify the Adventist radio program over WMNS in Olean on Sunday mornings.

These lectures are slanted especially to the public and have been held Sunday nights only, for fourteen evenings. Handbills, newspaper advertising, and personal invitations were used to advertise the meetings. Prior to this public series, the greater Olean area had been covered by a concentrated literature distribution campaign and a religious survey. The literature distribution was under the direction of LeRoy Tuoto, missionary leader of the Olean church.

Another new innovation, the Bible marking plan, has been a fine success, and held the interest of the people. The attendance has been most gratifying. The small inadequate church has a seating capacity of about seventy, and the attendance has averaged sixty-eight for ten meetings. Some Sunday nights eighty to eighty-five persons were present taxing to the limit the available space.

Non-Adventist attendance has numbered on an average between twenty to twenty-seven per night and out of these twenty-four have attended at least six of the meetings and a large portion have attended all. At this writing four new cottage meetings have been established with keen interest being demonstrated.

One man declared there were two great concerns lodged in his heart. When would the next baptism take place, so he could join the church, and he desired his married son and married daughter and their families, who also have been in attendance at the lectures, to be baptized and united with God's remnant church.

The interests are many, the challenge very great, and help is urgently needed. Many have also responded to the striking pamphlet "This May Startle You . . . But" and are now reading the book From Sabbath to Sunday.

Pray for this evangelistic crusade, and the work of proclaiming God's message for this late hour in this corner of the Atlantic Union, that many souls living in the blackness of sin may come out and receive the eternal dawn of Christ's truth and righteousness.

HENRY A. UHL, Pastor

Let's Go to the Navajo

Mrs. Ruth Johnson of the Ballston Spa, New York, church recently visited our junior division of the Sabbath school and very effectively brought us the mission story. Securing a large map of the United States, she pointed out the different areas in North America where various Indian tribes will benefit from our Sabbath school offerings this quarter. She indicated our position on the map and charted our course to the Navajos in Arizona, suggesting that each Sabbath after our offering was taken we mark our progress toward our financial goal.

We hope that by the time we reach

Camp Meeting - 1964

Pictured is Theodore Carcich, vice-president of the General Conference, with headquarters in Washington, D.C. Elder Carcich, though born in Unie, Yugoslavia, has spent the major portion of his youth in New York City and claims New York City as his home town.

He attended the Greater New York Academy and received his bachelor in theology degree from Atlantic Union College, South Lancaster, Massachusetts.

Elder Carcich has labored in the northern portion of New York State, Boston, Massachusetts, and in 1942 moved to the post of president of the Southern New England Conference. In 1946 he accepted a call to the same position in the Illinois Conference. In 1950 he moved to the president's chair in the Washington Conference, headquarters in Seattle.

In 1956 Elder Carcich moved up to the post of president for the Central Union Conference, which included the states of Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas, Nebraska, and Missouri. This post he held until called to the General Conference at the time of the session held in San Francisco in 1962. In this capacity his particular responsibility lies in the North American field.

Elder Carcich will be guest at the Northeastern camp meeting. His speaking appointments at that time include Thursday night, July 2; Friday morning, July 3; Sabbath, July 4 at the eleven o'clock hour, and Sabbath afternoon at the ordination service.

R. T. Hudson Testimonial

The Grand Ballroom of the Hilton Hotel at Rockefeller Center, with its gold and blue decor was the site of the 1964 Testimonial Luncheon given by the New York Chapter of the Oakwood Alumni Association on April 19. R. T. Hudson, president of Northeastern Conference, was the guest of honor and "Alumnus of the Year."

Jacob Justiss, Missionary Volunteer secretary of the Allegheny Conference, presented a dynamic, thought-provoking address. Guest artists included Miss Joyce Bryant, Mrs. Rosa Lee Jones, Miss Marion Monroe, Marcus and Lonita Thompson, Mrs. Rose Carter and the seventy-voice New Believers Chorus of the Ephesus church.

Emerton C. Whidbee, educational superintendent of the Northeastern Conference, enhanced the occasion by doing an outstanding job as master of ceremonies. The luncheon committee included:

Mrs. Sylvia Alexander—Luncheon Chairman
Mrs. Edna Lett Williamson—Journal Chairman
Lester W. Williamson—Biography
Louis B. Reynolds—Scroll
Mrs. Marjorie Hill—Hostesses
J. Roy Davis—Seating
Emerton C. Whidbee—Publicity

Elder Hudson received tributes from Louis B. Reynolds of the General Conference; the Ephesus church; the Washington, D.C. and Pine Forge chapters of the Oakwood College Alumni Association. Presentations were made to Elder and Mrs. Hudson by Mrs. Carrie Carrington, Mrs. Edna Lett Williamson, Mrs. Sylvia Alexander, and R. H. Carter.

Each of the five hundred guests received a souvenir journal, complete with program and menu.

A. Samuel Rashford, president of the New York Chapter, gave the welcoming remarks, introduced the officers of the organization, the luncheon committee and prominent guests on the dais.

The response from Elder Hudson was most challenging, inspiring, and heartwarming as he expressed his gratitude and called for support and dedication to the educational task required for these times.

The Hudson testimonial luncheon goes down in history as the most successful of all the undertakings of the New York Chapter. Along with the well-wishers from the metropolitan area were guests from Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio and Washington, D.C.

New District Leader for Norridgewock

We want to welcome Elder and Mrs. Dale Chaffee and their two sons, Kevin Dale, age seven, and Kendall Dene, age five, to the Northern New England Conference. Elder and Mrs. Chaffee are from Great Bend, Kansas, and he will be the new district leader for the Norridgewock, Dixfield, and Jay churches, and the Carthage company.

Wilfred Burgess was the district leader up until his call to the Southern New England Conference. Elder and Mrs. Burgess left Norridgewock on

Elder and Mrs. Chaffee, Kevin and Kendall

January 15. During the months of February and March, Marcus E. Payne was the interim pastor, and currently, H. P. Gram is filling in as interim pastor until Elder Chaffee arrives.

Elder Chaffee is a graduate of Union College and received his M.A. degree at Andrews University. He began his work as a colporteur-pastor in the Kansas Conference in September, 1955. He has been in pastoral-evangelistic work in Wichita, Phillipsburg, and Great Bend, Kansas, for the past nine years.

Elder and Mrs. Chaffee were both born in Hinckley, Minnesota, and are thus acquainted with the type of climate we have in Northern New England.

We are very happy to welcome the Chaffees to Northern New England. They will be moving to Norridgewock about June 1.

Camp Meeting 1964

With the coming of spring, our thoughts leap forward to early summer at which time camp meeting is held. This is a time when we gather together to receive spiritual inspiration and have a happy reunion with many of our friends. The inspiration received inspires some people from one camp meeting to the next. We should therefore make plans to be at the entire session.

Last year was the first year on our own campground in thirty years and many more improvements are being planned for this year so that your stay will be more comfortable and enjoyable.

Now is the time to make your reservations. Use the order blank in this week's GLEANER and order now. Even though we are securing more tents, be sure you are one of those who will be assured of securing the rich blessings that camp meeting affords. We shall look forward to receiving your order and then to meeting you at the campground on June 25.

attended the Rocky Knoll Elementary School. After graduating from South Lancaster Academy, he attended Atlantic Union College, where he obtained his B.A. in biology in 1953.

He received his medical training at Loma Linda University from which he graduated in 1958 and served his internship at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital. He has also served a residency at the Merced County General Hospital.

Mrs. Moore, the former Ruth Bailey, is also well known to many in this area as she, too, graduated from South Lancaster Academy and Atlantic Union College. The Moore's have three children, Walter, who is six; Kathy, who is five; and Clifford, who is three.

We welcome the Moores back to New England and wish them every success.

Chapel Opened at Brimfield

A community chapel which has been vacant for many years, has opened its doors to a newly formed Seventh-day Adventist church in Brimfield, Massachusetts area. The chapel is located just off of Highway 20 on the Holland Road in East Brimfield, not far from Old Sturbridge Village.

The charter members of the new church had previously belonged to the Southbridge church, and had been renting the Universalist church in Southbridge during the past twelve years. Recent plans for the sale of this property left the members there without a church home in the town of Southbridge.

It was at this crucial moment that the Brimfield chapel became available and our members living in the Brimfield area felt led to establish the work in this new place and thus laid plans to open this chapel again for worship services. During the last week of April Elder Mills and Elder Harms met with our members at Brimfield and officially organized this new church body of twenty members. Other members of the former Southbridge church united with the church at Worcester.

Educator Coming

A leader in our educational work, Elder G. M. Mathews, associate secretary of the General Conference Department of Education, will be one of the guest speakers at our camp meeting.

This annual spiritual convocation will be held at the campground in South Lancaster, Massachusetts, June 25 to July 4, 1964.

G. M. Mathews

You are urged to send in your reservation for camp meeting equipment immediately so that you do not miss out on this yearly blessing. This blank appears in this issue of the GLEANER.

A fine program of speakers is being planned for our youth, who will meet again in the "Air Bubble." Each of the children's divisions will have a group of dedicated teachers and a program of real interest.

Revival-Evangelistic Meetings at Worcester

A ten-day revival and evangelistic crusade was conducted in the Worcester church, April 10-19, by Elder Remick, pastor of the New England Sanitarium church.

The special meetings were well attended from beginning to end with 150 to 200 people present each evening. Associated with Elder Remick during this ten-day period of meetings and visitation were, the pastor, Elder Swanson, and Miss Helen Weston, Bible instructor.

On the closing night, 150 people signed decisions cards, 40 of whom were non-members. A number of these expressed the desire to prepare for membership in God's remnant church.

New Bedford Five-Day Program

Dr. Alfonso Puyana, Pastor Leonard Westphal, and the writer joined talents the week of April 5-9 to conduct our first Five-Day Plan in the New Bedford area. An audience of two hundred forty concerned individuals greeted us the first night in the Hathaway School.

They formed a good cross section of the community. They came wanting a miracle to take place, yet doubting that anything so wonderful would occur.

The opening film, One In 20,000, laid a solid foundation for serious thinking. The results at the second meeting were amazing. One lady who had smoked for twenty years wanted to know how she could get the smell of tobacco out of her clothes and furniture, for it was so nauseating. This was after the first twenty-four hours. On the fourth night we had to change to another school auditorium on the far side of the city and we wondered what would happen. One hundred fifty came out.

One little man came every night, rain or shine, in his wheel chair. He had no legs—smoking had robbed him of them. Now he was concerned for his hands. We are happy to report he was able to stop. The first night, Sunday, was the last time he smoked and one never saw a happier or more grateful man. His testimony in the group therapy session was applauded with unbounded joy and enthusiasm.

A woman testified that cigarettes had cost her $12,000 in her lifetime and had caused her illnesses which resulted in a loss of wages amounting to $30,000. She felt the habit was conquered and was grateful beyond words.

Perhaps the most interesting revelation was given by another lady of culture and education, one experienced in the field of advertising, who told of her suspicion and her searching for the gimmick in the program. The first night she didn't find one, the second night she didn't find one, and likewise the third night. The program was more than half over. Here at the last was something unheard of—helping for the sake of helping someone in need. Search as she did, she couldn't find anything but sincerity. Her unrestrained praise for the program and the people supporting it brought an applause that made the rafters ring.

A follow-up program is planned and a course in nutrition instruction has been requested. I can't help recalling, "Give, and it shall be given unto you." They felt they had received to overflowing. We received beyond measure.

ROLLINS—Mrs. Edith Rollins was born January 18, 1896. She was married to Walter Rollins May 30, 1912. She was a member of the Northern New England Conference church, faithfully serving her Master.

Our sister was a devoted mother and grandmother, and cared for many other children, lovingly teaching them the Christian's way of life. Like her Saviour, she lived always to be a blessing to others. As well expressed by one of her daughters, "She was the most unselfish person whom I have ever known."

Sister Rollins passed quietly to her rest on March 30 in Concord, New Hampshire. She leaves to mourn their loss, two daughters, one son, nineteen grandchildren, and nine great-grandchildren. The surviving children are: Roger Rollins of Concord, New Hampshire;

Mrs. Roy Tarleton of Bridgewater, Vermont; and Mrs. Leonard Sargent of Danbury, New Hampshire.

Rev. Dale Gibb, a son-in-law of the deceased, and the writer, conducted the services. Interment was in Grafton Center, New Hampshire.

C. E. KELLOGG

GUEST—Mrs. Florence Hoxie Guest was born April 5, 1891, and passed away suddenly in West Hollywood, California, March 8, 1964. Mrs. Guest was an active worker in the Hollywood church. She was a student in South Lancaster Academy, taught church school in Vienna, New York, and was Sabbath school secretary for the Eastern New York Conference.

She leaves her husband, Harold E., two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Lillie Crabtree, of Loma Linda, California, and Mrs. Lynn Hoxie, of Vienna, New York; six nephews, among whom are Dr. Harold Hoxie and Dr. Elwin Hoxie, of Glendale, California; and eight nieces. Burial was in Forest Lawn, Hollywood Hills, California.

HAROLD E. GUEST

WEBB—Hobart E. Webb was born August 20, 1896, at Troy, New York, and passed on quietly, Sabbath, March 21, 1964, at his home in Eagle Mills, New York. He joined the Troy church in 1915 as a result of an effort conducted by Miles Coons and the late Joseph Schnetzler. He was a faithful, active worker and served as local elder of the Troy church for over thirty years. Brother Webb always held dear the promises of a soon-coming Saviour and often spoke of longing to see his Saviour face to face.

Left to mourn are his wife, Mary E., to whom he was married in 1917; three children, Joseph H., of Washington D.C., Mrs. Elver Blakeney and Dorothy B. Webb, of Troy, New York; one brother, William B. Webb, of Ossining, New York; and six grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, March 24, at the Troy church with Stanley Folkenberg and the writer officiating. Interment was in the Elmwood Cemetery, Troy, New York, where our brother awaits the call of the Life-giver.

SUNNY LIU

MASON—Mrs. Lucia M. Mason was born March 6, 1876, in Brooklyn, New York, and passed to her rest on September 21, 1963. Mourning their loss are: one son, Arthur; four daughters, Lillian Kribs and Alice Sandstrom, New Hyde Park, Ethel Holcombe, Bay Port, and Florence Nesbitt, San Leandro, California; eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Mason was baptized by Elder Cardey in 1905 in South Brooklyn. From the beginning of the church in rented halls and meeting houses, Mrs. Mason was a member and was among those who moved into the first acquired church at Green and Patchen Streets in Brooklyn. It was at this church she once heard Ellen G. White speak. Mrs. Mason moved with the church to Washington Avenue, and then to the present Jackson Heights church when the former was sold. Though unable to attend church in her last years, she nevertheless remained a faithful member to the time of her death.

She enjoyed the loving care of her family in her old age and rests in the Evergreen Cemetery in Brooklyn waiting the day of Jesus return. [Obituary just received.—Editor.]

GILBERT E. ANDERSEN

BISHOP—Clarence Millard Bishop, January 4, 1895, to April 18, 1964. Born in Venice, New York, he spent his sixty-nine years on a farm in the same locality. Along with his mother and youngest sister he was baptized on July 27, 1918 and became one of the first members to join the Auburn church. Miss Edna Patterson and Clarence were married in February 1923. They had three daughters.

Left to mourn his loss are his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Lester Sperry, Miss June Bishop, Miss Ruth Bishop; and his sister Mrs. Estelle Austin.

The funeral service was conducted by the writer in the funeral home in Moravia, New York, and his last resting place on earth is in the Genoa, New York, Cemetery.

Mrs. Chen Honored

The "Massachusetts Mother of the Year" is Mrs. Helen Feng Chen, wife of Philip S. Chen, head of the Atlantic Union College chemistry department.

Mother of six and grandmother of seven (this number will change to ten before the year is out), Mrs. Chen will be a candidate with mothers of the year from all the other states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico, for the honor of being the "National Mother."

"I feel so unworthy," Mrs. Chen said when she was informed of her selection by Mrs. Lawrence Jasper of Rockland, chairman of the Massachusetts Branch of the American Mothers Committee, Inc.

Mrs. Chen thought members of the Campus Women's Club at Atlantic Union College were "building castles in the air" when they nominated her for the state honor. However, the state committee members, who knelt in prayer before making their decision, unanimously voted for Mrs. Chen.

Mrs. Philip Chen, of Atlantic Union College, named "Mother of the Year" for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Mrs. Chen had only one regret. Her children were not able to be with her when she received a scroll from Gov. Endicott Peabody. The Chens have six children; five are graduates of Atlantic Union College.

Philip Chen, Jr., lives in Rochester, New York, with his wife and two children. Assistant professor at the University of Rochester Medical School, he received his B.A. degree from Clark University at seventeen, and was twenty-one when he got his Ph.D. from the University of Rochester.

Their youngest son, Samuel Chen, was graduated magna cum laude from Atlantic Union College when he was seventeen. Recipient of Leopold Schepp and National Foundation scholarships, he is a student at Loma Linda University Medical School, California. He will graduate in 1965 at the age of twenty-one.

Another son, Dr. John E. Chen, is ophthalmology resident at the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital in San Francisco. He is married and has two children. He received his medical degree from Loma Linda University.

George D. Chen is a candidate for his M.D. degree from Loma Linda in June. He is married and has one child.

The Chens have two daughters. Mrs. Frank Chung (Helen D.), is married to a Camarillo, California, doctor. Mrs. Ray Seet (Ruth A.), is in Loma Linda, where her husband is taking the medical course. Both daughters have master's degrees.

Proving that the entire family is education-minded, Mrs. Chen was the first Chinese girl to attend Michigan State University. It was there that she met her husband, who was doing graduate work for his Ph.D. in chemistry.

"My husband was born in Shanghai, four day's journey from my home, but we had to come half-way around the globe to meet," Mrs. Chen laughed.

Mrs. Chen's youthful appearance and twinkling eyes belie her years. She was born in Peking, China, into a Moslem family in 1902. In 1910 her parents joined the Methodist church and became Christians. Their home was a place for prayer and testimonial meetings to which American missionaries made frequent visits. These visitors, Mrs. Chen says, created her desire to visit America.

She was graduated from the Methodist High School, Peking, in 1923, and then attended the Sacred Heart School for girls to learn French. "It has been so many years, that I have forgotten all the French I learned," said Mrs. Chen. However, in addition to her native tongue, Mrs. Chen speaks English and Spanish.

Later she taught elementary school in Peking. In 1929, when her brother was transferred from the Department of Communication in Peking to the Railway Office in Tsingtao, she was offered a teaching position in the Railway High School. It was this salary that helped to pay her expenses to the United States.

She has taught Chinese at the University of Colorado and at Ft. Devens, near the college.

Now that her family is away, Mrs. Chen works in the Atlantic Union College library. "Being with young people helps to keep me young," she says with a smile.
