"These Times" Today

By KENNETH J. HOLLAND, Editor
These Times

I wish every Seventh-day Adventist could lean over my shoulder and read the many letters that come to my desk from non-Adventists who have been blessed by the pages of These Times. Some have been baptized, some have had remarkable answers to the prayers of our prayer circle, a great number have had their Bible questions answered, hundreds have taken the Bible correspondence course—and all have felt the warmth of Jesus Christ and the drawing power of the Holy Spirit.

These marvelous responses have occurred because you have graciously and generously provided the funds to spread the good news of salvation. May I urge you to do even more evangelistically for your friends than you have ever done in the past. Please consider the following:

- A young girl asked, "What can I believe? I need to know for sure."

The answer to this question, by Frank Holbrook (theologian, college Bible teacher, and columnist)—and answers to these other provocative questions—appeared in a single issue of These Times magazine:

- What are the three great intriguing questions that have challenged thinking men across the centuries?

- What is the goal for world revolution by Communists? 1972. 1980. 1990?

- Why do Christian leaders feel a new sense of urgency and impending crisis?

- Who said, "During the past year I have heard more discussion of the second coming of Jesus Christ than in any other period of my ministry?"

- How did students at Notre Dame University react to a talk on premarital continence?

Articles such as these are part of the reason why These Times is known today as the "Magazine With a Message Relevant to Modern Man."

This is why a recent survey indicated that "These Times is as easy and interesting to read as the digests and Time."

Look at this list of articles appearing in recent issues:

Every month These Times magazine brings to its readers the exciting sights and sounds of a throbbing world of faith and action—and presents the everlasting gospel in all its beauty, urgency, and compelling power.

Now is the time to provide These Times for your own family and to sponsor gift subscriptions for many others. Take advantage of the annual campaign rate of $2.75 (a savings of 75 cents).

Make out your These Times list immediately and turn it in to your church missionary secretary so that you and your friends will soon receive this stimulating, message-packed magazine without delay.

Spread the Message With "Message Magazine"

By GARLAND J. MILLET, Editor
Message Magazine

During the past one-third century millions of copies of the Message Magazine have sped forth from the whirring Southern Publishing Association presses to the homes and hearts of its readers. Both American and overseas readers have enthusiastically responded, to the glory of God. Interests have been awakened, thrilling conversions have occurred, and whole churches have been organized as a result of the influence of the Message Magazine. One consecrated member follows the practice of sharing her periodicals with others, and through this means she has already won seven persons to the church. A considerable number of successful leaders can trace their first inclination toward the Adventist faith from reading Message.

We praise the Lord for His leading in the establishment and continuance of such an appropriate instrument of evangelism. We also express deep appreciation to the thousands of faithful church members both for their personal and gift subscriptions and for their use of the Message in soul-winning lay activities.

Someone has said, "These times demand a message, and we have the message for these times." From the very first issue of Message, in the summer of 1934, we read, "The man with a message for the world is the man we want to hear. The magazine with a message is the magazine we want to read. . . . And our message is the glorious news that Jesus saves men from sin, and that He is soon to return to this earth to save them from sin's results—poverty, sickness, pain, death." The objective of the Message Magazine is precisely the same today. What a privilege is ours to participate in its promulgation!

We have been told by the messenger to the remnant that our papers are silent, voiceless ministers, which can go where living ministers cannot go. Furthermore, from widespread sowing of our literature there will be a great harvest at the time of the latter rain.

As we enter the annual Message Magazine subscription drive with its special campaign price of only $2.00 per subscription (almost 43 per cent less than the single-copy rate), we urge everyone to swell the circulation even beyond the minimal two-per-member goal. Just now let us be diligent to advance Christ's kingdom by subscribing to, supporting, and bounteously sowing the Message Magazine.

North American Division Photo Contest

Do you click a camera? If you do, aim your lens at church activities and you may find yourself one of thirteen prize-winners in a first-of-its-kind photo contest being held throughout 1968.

to be passed on to the union and General Conference.

Purpose of Contest

For years the church has been hampered by a dearth of really good pictures to illustrate its work around the world. Many times its publications have had to settle for much less than the best. The sponsors of the North American Division Photo Contest believe that such a competition will help to emphasize the need for top-quality pictures. It will stir up the imagination of those who do take pictures so that they will search for more original subject matter, originality in what and how they shoot, more attention to quality.

Study is being given to enlarging the contest next year to include all divisions.

Southern Union and Faith for Today Bible Schools Unite

Uniting with the Faith for Today Bible Correspondence School is the Southern Union Bible School, with its 6,000 enrollees, plus additional thousands of applicants seeking Bible School enrollment as a result of telephone evangelism and personal contacts.

The Southern Union Bible School has served students in Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, North and South Carolina, and Mississippi. These students will now be part of the North American Faith for Today Correspondence School.

The union of the two schools will boost the Faith for Today Bible School enrollment to more than 30,000.

Announcement of the merger by William R. Lawson, telecast manager, stated it is now effective in all but a few details.

Union of the two Bible schools became effective February 1 with the arrival of files, names, and information from the Southern Union Correspondence School.

Students who have been taking the Southern Union course will complete it. New enrollees will use the Faith for Today Bible School lessons throughout.

Several features of the Southern Union program will be adopted by Faith for Today, including extensive result checking to ascertain baptismal returns and wide use of the code-a-phone project.

Added files will be maintained at Faith for Today Bible School staff will now be processing the 6,000 Southern Union Bible School correspondence lessons. Through the new code-a-phone evangelism program thousands of additional applications from prospective enrollees are also being handled by Faith for Today staff members.

Checking the files of the Southern Union School of Bible Prophecy, Pastor W. R. Lawson and Mrs. Donald W. McKay, superintendent of the Bible School, discuss the best method of integrating the 28,000 names in all categories into the telecast list. The addition of the Southern Union names brings the Faith for Today mailing list to 155,000.

Dr. W. A. Fagal and Guy Stewart, Faith for Today treasurer, look at Southern states previously included in the Southern Union School of Bible Prophecy, which are part of the Faith for Today Correspondence School. Plans are to secure as many Bible School enrollments in the South as possible.

Faith for Today offices to care for the transfer of students.

Arranging the union have been Dr. W. A. Fagal and Pastor Lawson, who have worked closely with Pastor Harold Metcalf, director of the Southern Union School of Bible Prophecy, and Pastor H. H. Schmidt, president of the Southern Union. Pastor Metcalf will continue to serve as ministerial association secretary of the Southern Union.

Chief purpose of the merger is to sharply reduce costs and more effectively serve the many Bible School students in the South through the facilities possessed by a national school. Strengthening enrollments is also an objective. Running two separate schools necessitates much more overhead and operating expense.

Merger comes in the aftermath of the uniting with Faith for Today of such state Bible schools as Michigan, Indiana, and others.

Pastor Harold Metcalf is originator of the telephone evangelism plan. This has provided telephone messages for those seeking counsel. Advertisements in newspapers in Atlanta, Georgia, have brought an overwhelming re-

Focus . . .

Many tributes have been given since the sudden passing of Miss Florence Kidder, all of which have been most fitting and proper. However, we realize the tribute which will be the most lasting is the one her former pupils give in their own lives—Christian aims, purposes, and dedication to the ideals of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

In November she shared with me what Timmy Poirier, age eight, third grade, had written when he was one of her pupils in the Pittsfield church school.

Youth might reason that one eighty-plus is far too old to impart new ideas. On November 10 Miss Kidder told a newspaper reporter, "New math doesn't bother me at all." And we think these poems show her ability to inspire creativity in one aspect of the fine arts in a member of this generation. The subject of one poem reflects her positive teaching as she upheld before her pupils a new life in a new world called "Heaven."

HEAVEN

There's a place where there is no sorrow,
Where we may be some glad tomorrow.
The bears will eat out of your hand,
Oh, wouldn't that be grand!
The lion and the lamb will play,
And everyone will be gay.

Heaven is a wonderful place Where Jesus will give us His mercy and grace,
The angels will sing with the gates open wide,
And Jesus will walk at our side.

WINTER

I like to see the winter come,
I like to play in snow
But if I try to run in it,
I find I go so slow.
I like to make a snowman,
And build a snow fort, too,
Then I like to knock it down,
And build it over new.

Marion S. Simmons

sponse of more than 80,000 calls. Thousands of Bible School applications have come in from those who have listened to the messages.

A code-a-phone plan is now being used at Faith for Today and will continue to help in securing Bible School enrollments.

Dr. W. A. Fagal, director of Faith

for Today, says: "Faith for Today is presently on a number of stations in the South. Accordingly, the merging of the Bible Schools should be helpful in adding many viewers to the telecast."

Youth Leadership Training Course Held at Camp Berkshire

When the telephone rings and a voice asks, "Will you be the MV leader (or MV secretary or Pathfinder director) next year?" . . . what is your response? Do you say with Moses: "I am not eloquent . . . I am slow of speech . . ." (Exod. 4:10)? If so, you did not read far enough in your Bible. God's answer was: "Go, and I will be with thy mouth, and teach thee what thou shalt say" (Exod. 4:12).

Many who claimed this promise came to Camp Berkshire the week end of January 13 for a concentrated course in leadership training. Here they found the answers to the many questions that had come to mind since they had accepted their important responsibility. What type of meetings will interest young people? What forms of evangelism will bring them out on Sabbath afternoon? How can we encourage our young people in the appreciation of good music? How often should socials be held? What is the difference between "parade rest" and "prayer attention"?

Our youth leaders have but one goal, and that is to help our children reach the goal that the Lord has set before them. The instruction from the Bible, Spirit of Prophecy, and ex-

A Successful Ingathering Team!

Mr. and Mrs. Alden Smalling of the Babylon church make up an entire Ingathering team all by themselves. While Mr. Smalling drives the car and plays the Christmas carols, his wife solicits from door to door. Since 1957, they have brought in $5,280.00 in this manner.

Mrs. Alden Smalling demonstrates the smile that helped her bring in a record amount during the Ingathering campaign.

This past year was their most successful, when they brought in $653.00 in only fifteen nights. One evening alone saw them turn in $73.30. When some consider it too cold to be out, this dedicated couple stayed right with the task. Mrs. Smalling remembers running from house to house to keep warm when the thermometer stood at only 13°.

Although the Smallings are anxious to gather in funds to support the Lord's work, they are careful to place literature with as many as are willing to accept it. In this manner they hope to gather in souls as well.

Membership Growth in New York Conference

Two and one-half years ago, the ministers and laymen of the New York Conference took as the membership goal for the end of 1967 the figure of 4,320. This figure was the world membership in 1867.

Two and one-half years ago, the membership of the New York Conference was approximately 4,047. The conference administration, ministers, and laymen decided to place greater emphasis on evangelism and took as their goal a membership of 4,320 to be reached by the end of 1967. This particular figure was chosen because it was the world membership one hundred years ago—in 1867. As a result of hard work and the blessings of God this goal was surpassed and the conference membership stood at 4,403 at the close of 1967. Shown in the picture are the ministers of the conference. A. J. Patzer, conference president, is in the center.

Winners Enjoy a Day of Skiing

Every year there is keen competition at Union Springs Academy between the old students and the newer students to see which group can get the largest number of subscriptions for the school paper, the Echo, and the annual called the Memoria.

The winners of the contest earned

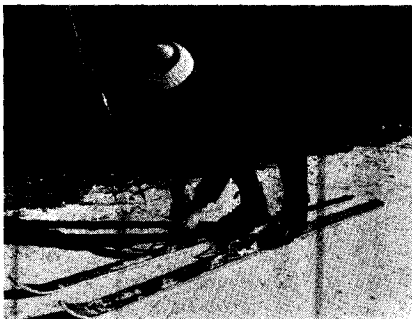

Song Mountain—that's where we are headed the privilege of spending a day at a nearby ski area. This year the oldsters won and this is the story of their day. Some of them had never been on skis before and showed it. Others had spent pleasant hours on the slopes and enjoyed the crisp, cold sunshine.

As they journeyed home that evening cushioning their bruises, sprains, and sore muscles, they were all glad that they had won the contest and had the experiences of whizzing down the snowy slopes.

Let's see. How do these things go on?
This one doesn't seem to fit!

Now for a little instruction. "To stop you just do this; it's easy."

Well, guess we will put that instruction to use. This tow seems quite safe.

The old pro rides the tow to the top of the "high" hill and comes down like a pro, too. This is O. E. Torkelson, principal.

Winter Revival Held at Bethel Church

Pastor Ivan Leigh Warden conducted a winter revival at the Bethel church in Brooklyn, New York. "God Is Adequate" was the theme for the week. Preceding the nightly messages by Pastor Warden, informative topics on health, temperance, nutrition, and negro history were presented by Dr. Courtney Wood, James Wells, Dietician Jennie Watson, and Principal Benito Hodge of the Bethel Elementary School.

Music for the week was provided by youth musical groups and soloists from the various Adventist churches in metropolitan New York. These groups also participated in a musical extravaganza on Sabbath afternoon, highlighted by the topic "Where in the Community Is the Church?" presented by Elder S. A. Hutchins, senior pastor of Bethel.

Baptism in the Farmingdale Church

On Sabbath afternoon, December 2, 1967, the members of the Farmingdale (Maine) church rejoiced in witnessing the baptism of Maurice and Queenie Small. Elder W. W. Menshausen, lay activities and Sabbath school secretary of the Northern New England Conference, assisted the local pastor on this special occasion.

It was while working at the Augusta General Hospital that Mrs. Joy Mills made the acquaintance of Mrs. Small, who was also employed there. Mrs. Small, who had never heard of Seventh-day Adventists, began asking questions which resulted in arrangements for Bible studies. Mr. Small, who was the private tailor for the former governor of Maine, was not interested in studies at first. Thus, Mrs. Small came to the pastor's house for studies so as not to disturb her husband. She also had a tape recorder and recorded the studies—Bible Gift Evangelism Plan—and then took the lessons home and played the tapes. Mr. Small listened to some of the tapes and became interested. Later, after Mrs. Small had attended camp meeting, and Mr. Small had noticed favorable changes in his wife, he decided to have the studies brought to his home. His first study was on the Sabbath to which he declared: "My eyes have been opened."

Since their baptism, both are very active in the church program and they are searching for other souls to whom they may give studies by means of the Bible Gift Evangelism Plan.

The prayers of God's people go with this couple as they continue their witnessing and work for the Master.

Five-Day Plan Held in Williamstown

A Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking was conducted in the Williamstown, Vermont, High School under the direction of Dr. Marion Westermeyer and Elder Stig Anderson from January 21 to January 25. There were fourteen people enrolled in the class and nine were successful in overcoming the smoking habit. At a follow-up meeting held one week after the close of the Five-Day Plan, these nine persons were still not smoking.

Dr. Marion Westermeyer, of Barre, Vermont, instructs smokers on the changes in body chemistry brought about by cigarette smoke.

As a result of this pilot plan in the area, and the excellent daily coverage given it by the Barre-Montpelier Times-Argus, whose reporter attended the plan, opportunities have opened up to conduct Five-Day Plans in both Barre and Montpelier in February and March.

Southern New England

Public Relations Council Held

The multi-purpose room of the Atlantic Union Conference office was the scene of a Public Relations and Press Council conducted for the pastors and the press secretaries of the Southern New England Conference on March 3.

Elder G. H. Rainey, of the Atlantic Union Ministerial Department, set the spiritual tone of the council in his devotional message, "Our Task—Communicating the Message."

Robert W. Nixon, of the General Conference Bureau of Public Relations, gave instruction during the morning and afternoon sessions, dealing with the use of practical public relations methods in the local church situation and news-writing techniques.

THE ATLANTIC UNION GLEANER

Other speakers included Elder C. W. Griffith, managing editor of the GLENER, and John Rothmund, of the 3-M Company, who spoke on the manufacture and value of church roadside signs.

Other highlights of the day's program were a fellowship luncheon, a talk by William Coulter, editor of the Clinton Daily Item, as well as a pastors' and press secretaries' panel discussion moderated by Elder Leon Davis, of the Atlantic Union Public Relations Department. Two films dealing with church public relations were also presented.

The task of communicating the message to the masses is the most important work that can be done today. In this task the use of the mass media—newspapers, radio, television—are imperative. Upon our press secretaries and pastors rests the responsibility of studying how best to make the public aware of Adventism. The purpose of Public Relations councils is to provide better means and methods to ac-

New Bedford Campaign a Success

"I have no other explanation than that the Holy Spirit has been present to bless our efforts in a marked way."

These were the words of Conference Evangelist Jim Gilley as to the reason for the unusual response to an evangelistic campaign conducted at New Bedford, Massachusetts, February 17-March 16.

During the four-week series, which was presented in English at our Portuguese church, the sanctuary was filled to overflowing and the attendance never let up. More than one hundred non-Seventh-day Adventists attended the services night after night.

"This has been a miracle," said Mrs. Leonard Westphal, wife of the pastor. "The people keep coming and the church is filled even during the week," she added. Others who were skeptical of evangelistic possibilities in New Bedford said: "This has been the most successful and best-supported evangelistic campaign ever conducted in this city."

When Evangelist Gilley made his first appeal on March 9, seventy-five persons responded and came forward and sixty-five filled out decision cards to accept Christ. Forty-one of this number are considered by the team to be baptismal decisions! "It looks as though there may be as many as thirty persons baptized in our first baptismal service on March 16," Pastor Leonard Westphal said. Others have been placed in a baptismal class to prepare for future church membership.

It is significant that New Bedford is the city that broke the heart of Dwight L. Moody, famed nineteenth-century evangelist. Moody's success in bringing thousands to Christ in great evangelistic meetings all over the nation is well known, but the city of New Bedford, Evangelist Jim Gilley "in action" during the New Bedford Crusade. Services were conducted four nights weekly for four weeks.

95 per cent Catholic, did not respond to Moody and his efforts there were a failure. The report of the success of the current Gilley-Peterson campaign is cause for great rejoicing but also great humility of heart in light of this fact.

God has honored the earnest effort, planning, and co-operation of this campaign. While at this writing the campaign is still under way, indications are that, with His blessings, this will be one of the most successful campaigns we have ever had in our field.

Along with Elder Westphal, the team efforts have been strengthened by the assistance of Elder Paul Peterson, pastor of the New Bedford English church. An up-to-date report of baptisms, as a result of this campaign, will appear in the next issue of the GLEANER.

Baptism at Middletown

On Sabbath, February 17, three persons were baptized at the Middletown (Connecticut) church by Elder Leo J. Poirier.

The love of Jesus was sown in the hearts of Eileen Curran and Steven Salamandra by Christian parents and teachers. The harvest was ripened as a result of the pastor's baptismal class.

Howard Whear of Terryville, Connecticut, heard the Word through the Voice of Prophecy Bible Course. The seed of truth remained dormant, however, because Mr. Whear did not know of a Christian church that kept the seventh-day Sabbath. Upon notification of this interest from the Voice of Prophecy, Pastor Poirier contacted Mr. Whear and the seed bore fruit as additional studies were given him in preparation for baptism.

Steven Salamandra united with the Meriden church, while Eileen Curran and Howard Whear were accepted into membership of the Plainville church.

morial Auditorium in Providence and will be conducted by the Jim Gilley-Dave Peterson evangelistic team. The meetings will run for twelve consecutive Sunday nights. Each of the churches in the above districts is contributing its support in this endeavor.

Taking part in the Pawtucket rally were Jim Gilley, conference evangelist; Dave Peterson, singing evangelist; Elder Marcus E. Payne, lay activities secretary; and the pastors whose churches were represented at the rally, including: Pastors William Haynor, Providence district; C. E. Johnson, Pawtucket district; E. A. Roberts, Taunton district; and J. J. Johnson, Brockton district.

The musical portion of the Sabbath afternoon program included a band consisting of students from the Cedarbrook Intermediate School of nearby Rehoboth, Massachusetts, as well as other local talent. Elder Payne, who has conducted Gift-Bible Evangelism rallies in the area, directed the proceedings and introduced Pastor Jim Gilley, the main speaker. In his stirring message, the evangelist said: "Seventh-day Adventists have the message for today. In a world of riots, restlessness and turmoil, we have the answer and must bring it to the world—to this area!"

A call for dedication and co-operation in this united soul-winning venture saw practically the whole congregation go forward for special prayer.

We solicit the strong support of our church members who are within driving distance of the city of Providence, and the prayers of all of our people on behalf of this crusade.

Robert L. Reynolds:
Committed Christian Leadership
1960-68

By H. E. DOUGLASS, President

R. L. Reynolds

During her eighty-six years Atlantic Union College has been signally fortunate to have had as president some of this denomination's wisest leadership. Merely to mention the names of George Caviness, Frederick Griggs, Benjamin Machlan, Charles Longacre, Otto John, or G. Eric Jones, is to point to significant eras of college expansion and hallowed memories in South Lancaster as well as to further contributions to the progress of the Seventh-day Adventist Church elsewhere. To this special list will now be added the name of Robert L. Reynolds, college president, 1960-68.

President Reynold's term marks a period of growth and academic stability that is perhaps unparalleled in the history of the college. The student population as well as the faculty and staff has nearly doubled in the eight-year period. Under his leadership, sound procedures were formulated for developing the academic proficiency of the faculty. Six members of the faculty were awarded the doctorate, eight members are expected to receive their doctorate within the next six to nine months, and three more within the next twelve to eighteen months. However, even though the doctoral degree is a sign of highest preparation for one's academic speciality, President Reynolds has chosen to hire and retain faculty members not holding that degree if they have proven to be satisfactory teachers and committed Christians.

Under his guidance, the college faculty and staff assigned themselves to a depth study in self-evaluation in preparation for the accreditation review. This two-year study was a rigorous self-appraisal which revealed strengths and weaknesses in a new perspective. Out of this report has come some distinctive innovations in curriculum planning which will be worthy of note when all the facts are in for this present year.

The New England Association of Colleges accepted this 462-page self-study as evidence of serious academic purpose on this campus and re-affirmed the college's membership in the fraternity, the best of New England colleges.

President Reynolds will be remembered for fiscal responsibility. Atlantic Union College suffered no operating loss during this eight-year period although the subsidies have been necessarily modest because of the smaller constituency of the Atlantic Union. The campus improvements have been many. The list includes the construction of a spacious college bindery and college broom factory, two new wings to Preston Hall, sixteen apartment units for faculty and married students, and numerous internal improvements within existing buildings. The campus expanded with the purchase of the Bigelow mansion, now called the "White House," and other buildings to provide for the rapid expansion of college responsibilities.

Unfortunately, President Reynolds leaves at the time when his greatest dream is about to be realized—the construction of the G. Eric Jones Library. Also high on his priorities is the impending construction of the Campus Center which will provide for the student services which are now taxed severely—the cafeteria, health services, bookstore, Student Association facilities, etc.

But beyond these measurable evidences of his unflagging leadership is that package of personality and wit which has enabled him to win the good will of all his many publics whom he has had to serve—his students and faculty, his denomination colleagues, his church constituency in the Atlantic Union, and his neighbors in Worcester County. Although good will cannot be measured on the balance sheet, it can be safely said that Atlantic Union College today enjoys the deep respect and hearty commendation of all who know her, chiefly because of President Reynold's aggressive leadership during the past eight years.

The inexorable march of years and occasions move on. Transitions have to be expected. But his forward look and deeply laid plans will be developed on this campus long after he assumes his new duties as president of Walla Walla College. Atlantic Union College will continue to be known as the college where each student is a name and not just a number. The educational quality and expressed objectives of this college will continue to be assessed in terms of "committed excellence." The entire campus family will continue to be primarily concerned with "doing the will of God" so that His plan for each one's self-development can be fully realized within the context of those qualifications befitting the "last generation."

all join in saying goodbye to these dear friends.

Elder Harms has served the Southern New England Conference with distinction. During the past six years the conference has faced a monumental task in providing new school facilities for our young people. This need has called for courage and dedication on the part of church leadership and laity alike. The challenge was met and resolved in a manner which has attracted the interest of many of our sister conferences. During this time of financial stress, Elder Harms has carried a heavy burden. We all join in saying Thank you, and may God abundantly bless as they take up their new duties.

The finest tribute we could give Elder and Mrs. Harms is our acknowledgment of the example their family has consistently given to the community where they have lived. It has been an inspiration to observe this happy Adventist home. Leonard, the eldest son, is now a junior engineering student at Walla Walla College. Linda will remain in South Lancaster for the balance of this school year to complete her junior year at South Lancaster Academy, and Larry, in fifth grade, will continue school at Mount Vernon.
