The Andrews University Music Department is housed in a brownish-brick building flanked by the modern campus Health Center and the more sedate Life Sciences Building on the sprawling campus of the school. Into the building of three floors are crammed the offices, classrooms, practice rooms, and amphitheatres of group ensemble practices and small concerts.

Each year this edifice sends out about twenty students with a Master's degree in music to take their places in the cultural world. The alumni of the department presently number seventy graduates.

The department offers two degrees: an M.A. with an emphasis in theory and composition or music history and literature, and a M.Mus. with an emphasis in performance in the specialities of voice, organ, piano, or violin. All students take courses in music history and literature in addition to private lessons. Of the forty-four credits required for the degree, an M.A. student must have a minimum of six credits in performance in his chosen specialty and take courses in education, conducting, acoustics, and the psychology of music. The M.Mus. student must have at least twenty-six credits in performance, practicing four to five hours a day. Everybody is required to perform with either the band, choir, or orchestra. As a capstone to their degree, the M.Mus. students give a recital; the others may write a dissertation instead if they so choose.

All graduate music students are required to perform in the band or orchestra or a choral group.

The teachers in the department represent a collective group of gifted individuals with high attainments in the cultural world. "Our goal is to have every area of emphasis headed by a teacher with his doctorate," says Dr. Paul Hamel, chairman of the department, with administrative duties ranging from co-ordinating his faculty and teaching two classes to caring for the physical needs of the music building. Some teachers already have the doctorate; others are near that achievement. The present working staff includes: Dr. C. Warren Becker, organ; Gerald Ferguson, voice; Dr. Hans-Jorgen Holman and Dr. Blythe Owen, piano; Stanley Walker, organ. A woodwind and church music specialist will join the staff next year.

Students who have completed an undergraduate degree in music are eligible for admission for graduate study. Applications occasionally include a few local housewives and students from Bethel College and Northwestern and Western Michigan universities.

For sharpening their musical skills, the graduate students have three electronic organs, three new Steinway pianos, a nine-foot Knabe grand piano, and three small practice pipe organs; but the best-known piece of equipment is the seventy-five-rank Casavant pipe organ in the sanctuary of the Pioneer Memorial church.

"We have an enthusiastic group of students," says Dr. C. Warren Becker, the organ teacher, "they like to give recitals on the organ as a means of expression, like the budding young ministers who preach on Sabbath."

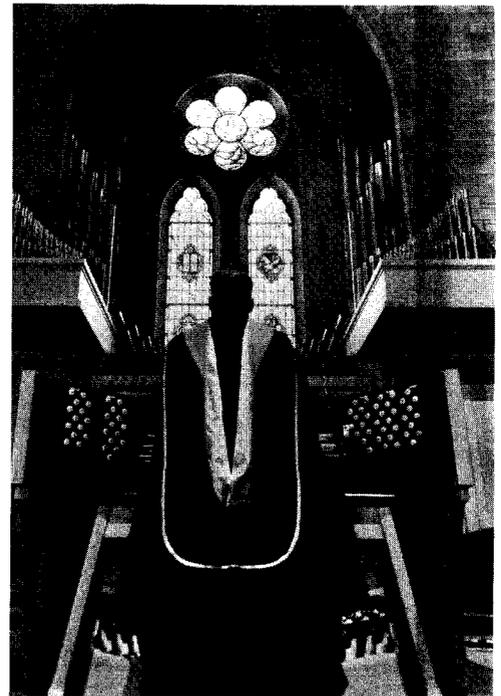

Above: Charles G. Davis, M.A., and assistant professor of music at Andrews University, is director of the university fifty-member orchestra. He has recently completed his class work at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles for a Doctor of Music Arts degree. Below: Dr. Blythe Owens, composer in residence at Andrews University, teaches a class in composition.

Since many of the local churches depend on the department for musicians to sing in their choirs and to play the organ for their services, any graduate student is eligible for a church job with pay. Some students teach the less advanced undergraduate students, and others teach part-time in the public schools.

Upon receiving their degrees, the graduates find various means to earn a living. "Two local people who received their degrees from Andrews are now ministers of music in local churches," says one teacher. "A few housewives around here earn a tidy little income by giving private piano lessons in their homes," says another professor.

Most of the graduates pursue teaching careers with a few going on to get their doctorates; twenty alumni of the department are now teaching on the college level.

Annual Music Festival at Stoneham

If there is any one function that the academy students of the Atlantic Union look forward to more than another, it is the annual union-wide music festival conducted at Greater Boston Academy.

Some 150 secondary students gathered for the eighth annual festival of music at Stoneham, Massachusetts, for participation in special week-end services, April 11-12. School and administrative officials were present for programs which commenced with a Friday evening service, when robed academy students blended their voices in a massed choir presentation. They performed Schubert's Communion in G under the direction of Harvey Davies. Soloist parts were sung by Patricia Lynch of Northeastern Academy, Robert Bouchard of Greater New York Academy, and Douglas Kriegelstein of Union Springs Academy.

Sabbath day services were conducted in the New England Memorial church. J. M. Clemons, principal of South Lancaster Academy, moderated the Sabbath school lesson study. The massed academy choirs again provided music during the worship hour, and Elder T. E. Lucas, world youth leader of the church, preached the morning sermon.

A Sabbath afternoon sacred concert was presented by various vocal and instrumental groups, including the massed choirs and bands of each participating school: Greater Boston, South Lancaster, Pioneer Valley, Northeastern, Greater New York, and Union Springs academies. A vesper program was presented by the Acadettes and Dennis Stevens of G.B.A.

The finale to the week end of activities was a secular concert with all of the above musical groups participating on Saturday night.

New Sunday Blue Laws Defeated

The Seventh-day Adventist Church and what its members believe have been given a great amount of coverage by mass communications media in the state of Vermont over the past fifteen months. During January of 1968 the legislature set up a committee to revise the Vermont State Blue Laws. Two revisions were presented by the committee—Blue Laws S.9 and S.10. Both bills were defeated, the latter, S.10, being defeated March 19 by the Senate.

S. R. Loomis, former State senator, made many visits to the legislative committee explaining our church's position. His work attracted the attention of the press and gained their support. Pastors Leslie R. Schultz and C. W. Kober appeared before the committees, the church members wrote letters to their representatives and prayed, and the result was the defeat of the bill.

Bills dealing with church-state and conscience issues are now being considered before legislatures and committees in several of the states within the

Help Your Family to Health

By J. DEWITT FOX, M.D.
Editor, Life and Health

You can bring better health to your husband and children by reading your own magazine Life and Health. In it Adventist doctors, nurses, and dietitians are supplying you with instruction for the everyday health care of your family, in which they tell you how to cook for health, talk with your teen-agers, deal with modern problems parents face, and lead your family to Christ.

Life and Health is published every month, and it is full of help for the Adventist family. It is the opening wedge for you to use in giving your friends the news of salvation their hearts are longing for.

The June, 1969, Life and Health tells you how people can stop the smoking habit. Dr. T. H. Biggs of London, Kentucky, says in his article "Want to Stop Smoking?" that will power plays a big part in breaking the tobacco habit.

Many families have the problem of meeting the food bill, and the article "Beans Are Good Food," by Lucille J. Gotham, dietitian, tells you how to cook beans, the good protein food that is kind to the budget. Miss Gotham gives you many delicious recipes to try.

You may be wondering how to train your small children to prepare them for the time when they will go to school. "Prepare Your Child for School," by Nurse Ernestine M. Schindler, tells you how to get them ready for school responsibility. As you do this you are also getting them ready for life and living.

A problem that may come up in your family is the sneaky sight thief called glaucoma. In the article "Glaucoma—Everyone's Problem," by William Henry Coles, M.D., you learn to recognize the symptoms of glaucoma and discover that you should have an examination of your eyes regularly to prevent the development of glaucoma.

One of the biggest problems of many families is to get the children settled down at night. Dr. James A. Brussel tells you in "Sleep, Baby, Sleep" how to use patience, love, discipline, firmness, and a sense of humor to solve your problem.

Other articles in the upcoming June Life and Health are "State-Board Diarrhea," by Harold Shryock, M.D., in which Dr. Shryock tells why many people have this problem when they are under stress; "Make Blushing an Advantage," by Paul Brock, in which Mr. Brock tells you how to avoid embarrassment over your habit of blushing; and "Danger from Bleeding Piles," by Robert Lee Marsh, M.D.

Life and Health specializes in telling people how to prevent illness. You save money, time, and pain when you avoid sickness rather than wait until you feel ill before you think about health habits. God gave His people a simple health guide for a world full of disease. Take advantage of it yourself and pass it on to your friends.

1969 Camp Desmond T. Doss

By C. D. MARTIN
Associate Director

National Service Organization

Just what the future holds for young men facing military service remains a question. There are many ideas being circulated. We hear of an all-volunteer army, a random-type or "lottery" selection of draftees, 19-year-olds being taken before 25 and 26-year-olds, draft deferments for college education and employment being greatly restricted, and other possible changes. This is a time of uncertainty.

One thing is sure, however—our young men need preparation for whatever is ahead. Vietnam is still with us. Draft quotas are still being met. The pressure is still on for our youth as they reach military age. We must care for our men now, before they are inducted.

This is where the Medical Cadet Corps is needed. Camp Desmond T. Doss will be held again this year at Grand Ledge, Michigan. The dates are June 3-15, 1969. This annual National Medical Cadet Corps Training Camp, with its military setting and fast-moving program of classroom work and outdoor activities, is a real opportunity for all young men 16 years old and above.

Every Adventist youth should know the Church's position regarding Sabbath observance and noncombatancy. Even more important, he needs to do some real serious thinking to be sure he has a clear understanding and a personal conviction concerning these vital issues. He needs to know how to approach an officer and make his conscientious requests known. He can profit by learning basic principles of drill, first aid, and other related subjects. These things and much more are included in the Camp Doss program.

We would urge all eligible young men to take advantage of this training and to remember the date, June 3-15. Camp Doss folders are being supplied to all pastors and MV secretaries. This folder contains complete details of the camp and an application form.

Will You Help?

Rifle fire in the streets, bombers roaring overhead, pathetic lines of refugees with pots and pans tied in old blankets and terrified children tugging their mothers' black trousers, homes swept out to sea by autumn floods—Vietnam has seen them all. The suffering and the needs are staggering.

As emergencies have faced us during these terrible times, we have been reassured to know that our people in more favored lands, through the Disaster and Famine Relief Offering, have provided funds to help. When we requested a Butler Building for a warehouse to handle relief supplies, the General Conference was able to provide it. When we needed tons of clothing and medicines, the Seventh-day Adventist Welfare Service sent it immediately. Many Vietnamese are healthier and happier today because of this help.

The needs, however, are not over. Hundreds of thousands of people must somehow rebuild their lives. Some need medical care; some, education; and some still need food and clothing.

We cannot help everyone, but God expects us to do our part. If you cannot join us in person, will you help with a liberal offering on May 10? Our grateful Vietnamese are counting on you!

World Food Service Secretary Visits Loma Linda Foods

E. W. Howse, who has been appointed World Food Service secretary, a new department within the General Conference, has recently visited the denominationally owned Loma Linda Foods headquarters in Riverside, California.

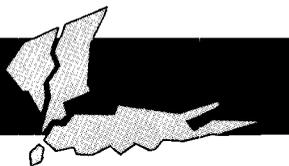

Elder Howse comes to his new position with a rich background of food experience. He was associated for many years in a number of capacities with the extensive denominationally owned and operated food enterprises in Australia. Prior to his appointment as Australasian Division treasurer at the 1966 General Conference, he served as manager of the New South Wales manufacturing facility and distribution center with headquarters in Sydney.

In his new assignment he will coordinate the activities of the denomination's food enterprises around the world. His initial visit with the administrative staff of Loma Linda Foods recently has been most interesting and informative.

A Typical It Is Written Phone-In

We wish you could listen in as we visit with those who phone in following the It Is Written telecast asking for the booklet offered. If you could have been present at the New York Center on a recent Saturday night, you would have heard the following inspiring conversations:

Lady: "I'm a member of the Catholic church, but I love to watch the program. In fact, I have asked a number of others to watch also, one of whom is a nun. Won't you please remember me in your prayers?" (Elder Roy Thurmon, director of Metropolitan Evangelism, had prayer with this lady right then on the telephone. She was very appreciative.)

Gentleman: (Calling at 2:30 a.m.) "I just came in and found a note from my wife asking me to be sure to call this number for a book she wants."

Lady: "I always listen to Mr. Vandeman and enjoy the program so much. I wouldn't miss one for anything."

Young Man: "I changed my way of life four months ago. The Christian way of life is a wonderful way. I want to study to become a priest. Can you help me?"

Lady: "The program gives me great comfort. You know there are so many problems in this life."

Young Man: "I am a young minister just starting out. I would appreciate the book offered and any other reading matter you can send to help me."

Conference Staff Goes Calling

Under a new plan, the members of the conference office staff are having an opportunity to become better acquainted with members of the various churches, and advance the cause of evangelism at the same time.

On the first Sabbath of each month, each conference office worker along with the family members visit one selected church in the conference. The visiting workers participate in the Sabbath school and church services, and the conference president, Elder L. L. Reile, presents the sermon.

In announcing the program for the day, the church members are invited to bring food and join in a fellowship lunch. Then, in the afternoon, a special visitation and literature distribution program is carried on in the immediate vicinity of the church. Each visiting office worker or wife is teamed with a member of the local church. In Conference President L. L. Reile delivered the morning sermon when conference office workers and their families visited the Staten Island church. Also on the platform (from left) are: G. E. Andersen, Stanley Schleenbaker, and the pastor, William Goransson.

New York Center Notice

We have enjoyed having a number of our church members as guests while they were visiting in New York City. However, because of the Center's tax-exempt status, it will no longer be possible for us to rent guest rooms.

For those visiting here in the future, may we suggest the YMCA, YWCA, or one of several reasonably priced hotel facilities in the Times Square area. We will still be looking for you at the time of our Sabbath services.

the following weeks, participating church members pair up to cover the same territory.

Results thus far have been highly encouraging. Many good interests have been found virtually in the shadow of the church, and some Bible studies are already in progress. Most surprising of all, participants have had good success in reaching people in Manhattan's formidable apartment buildings. After a few weeks of literature distribution, all those interested will be invited to enroll in a Bible course.

Those churches in the conference thus far visited by the conference office workers include: Huntington, Manhattan, Staten Island, and Crossroads.

Students in Mass Distribution

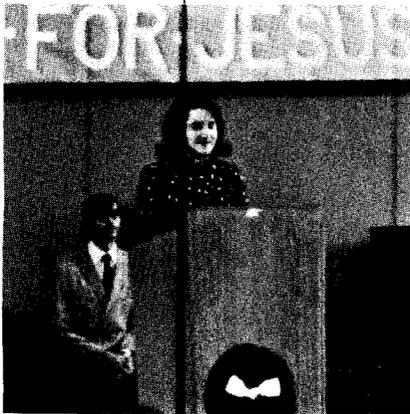

The students of Greater New York Academy mobilized during the week of March 3-7, in the service of their Master.

The student organization sponsored a Week of Prayer in which the youth took part in every aspect of the daily morning worship. Using "Living for Jesus" as a theme, students witnessed for their Saviour by speaking, singing, and praying in His name.

It is always a wonderful experience to see people speak for their Lord, but it is particularly satisfying to hear members of the supposedly "lost generation" bring the love of God to others. As part of a campaign by Metro Evangelism, ten thousand beautifully designed tracts were to be given out to New York City's masses. A number of juniors and seniors responded to a request for help, and each student, armed with a packet of three hundred pieces, handed out an invitation to receive a free copy of Steps to Christ. Having chosen the rush hour (5:00 p.m.) for the distribution effort, the students reached many commuters in a short time.

New York City is a great mission field. No one realizes this so well as the youth that are raised here. Ten thousand people were given invitations to truth. We will never know how many are finally convinced, but we do get the joy and satisfaction brought by doing some small service for God.

Students are interested and are willing to introduce their God to others if given the chance. This week afforded the opportunity.

A Voice in the Night

Literature evangelist Ruth Valverde worked the apartment house from top to bottom, and sold books at apartments 21 and 51. The lady in the latter apartment gave a $5.00 deposit, but unfortunately Mrs. Valverde some way lost the order. For two months she made collection calls at apartment 21 without ever thinking of the lady on fifth floor.

In the middle of the night Mrs. Valverde was awakened by a voice: "Ruth, remember the books you sold that lady; remember the books you sold that lady." For much of the night she lay trying to understand, but it did not seem to make sense.

A few days later she went to apartment 21 to receive the last payment. Just as she raised her hand to knock, the lady upstairs flashed into her mind. Leaving the business in apartment 21 for another day, she rushed off to the Book and Bible House to obtain the necessary books. However, she was afraid the woman would think she had stolen her $5.00 and was nervous about going back. She asked the pastor if he could go along, but he was busy at the time.

When she had made her apologies, the lady said: "That's all right. I wasn't worried as I knew you were a Christian." Excusing herself, she returned with an armload of religious books, many of them by Ellen G. White. She asked Mrs. Valverde: "Do you know these books?"

During their conversation, Mrs. Valverde asked her why she was not a Seventh-day Adventist, since she knew so much about them. The lady replied that she was a Catholic and could never leave her faith. But before Mrs. Valverde left she asked for Bible studies with tears in her eyes. She has been attending church, and plans on baptism in the near future.

Our literature evangelists are front-line troops in the Lord's army. God works closely with them in many wonderful ways.

Pediatric Consultant Speaks at Babylon

Dr. Mary Goodwin, pediatric consultant of mental hygiene for the state of New York, was guest speaker at the Babylon Home and School meeting on February 18.

The Babylon Home and School meeting had as guest speaker, Dr. Mary Goodwin, pediatric consultant of mental hygiene for the state of New York.

Dr. Goodwin stressed the important part which parents play in helping their children to develop properly. "We often underestimate what parents and teachers can do, working with children," she said. "If we could question everything we do with 'Is it right for children?' we could turn the world upside down." Dr. Goodwin stated that it takes extra time and patience in working with the "slow child."

A reporter for local newspapers gave the meeting excellent coverage in the press.

Syracuse Five-Day Plan Successful

The Five-Day Plan in the city of Syracuse which was held in a large cafeteria in the West Genesee High School met with much success. For two weeks prior to the opening night, Jim Everts, conference temperance secretary, visited all the elementary schools in the district and spoke to more than 4,500 young people, demonstrating "Smoking Sam," and telling of the dangers of cigarette smoking. At the close of each of his programs, he gave every pupil an announcement of the Five-Day Plan to be taken home to their parents. Ninety-seven people out of the 120 persons in attendance at the opening meeting stated they came because their children had brought home the announcement and urged them to attend the Five-Day Plan.

The average attendance of the Five-Day Plan was 105 and Elder Everts was assisted by Dr. Duane Cady, Seventh-day Adventist surgeon in the city of Syracuse, and by several members of the New York Conference office staff.

At the close of the program, about 95 persons said that they had "kicked" the habit of smoking and four days later, when the first follow-up program was held, 24 came back to fortify their decision to stop and to report that they felt like a new person since taking this program.

There is one more follow-up program which will be held soon and, in the month of May, another Five-Day Plan is scheduled for Syracuse. Already 25 names have been received of people who are interested in joining the next plan.

At the writing of this article, 25 people in the city of Binghamton, under the direction of Elder Haysmer Cox, are into the Five-Day Plan. Elder Cox reports that nearly all of the participants feel that they are going to be successful in this fight against the use of tobacco and requested another Five-Day Plan be held as soon as possible.

Plans are now under way for a totally co-ordinated program for the New York Conference and its ministerial team for an all-out assault on the problem of smoking to begin early in the fall. An invitation will be given to every temperance leader and every lay member to join hands in this crusade while the doors of opportunity are opening wider and wider every day.

Public Relations Workshop a First for Northeastern

The first conference-wide Public Relations Workshop in the history of Northeastern Conference was held during the month of March at City Tabernacle in New York City. The workshop was under the direction of R. H. Carter, public relations director of Northeastern Conference.

Twenty church press secretaries and two church photographers registered for the workshop. Several pastors also attended. Stennett Brooks, treasurer, and H. R. Murphy, Sabbath school secretary, represented the Northeastern Conference staff.

The following persons assisted Elder Carter in conducting the workshop: Wayne A. Martin, General Conference Bureau of Public Relations; L. H. Teachers' Training Course Held

On February 14-15 a Sabbath School Teachers' Training Course was held at the Nyack-Berea church. The course was taken by twenty-one teachers from all divisions of the Sabbath school. The class was instructed by Elder W. E. Peeke, Sabbath school secretary of the Atlantic Union Conference.

Effective, productive teaching through daily Bible study, spiritual preparation, positive mental attitude, teacher-pupil rapport, was repeatedly emphasized throughout the course.

The teachers all felt that the instructions received will greatly enhance their teaching ability and contribute significantly to the over-all effectiveness of the Sabbath school.

Combined Baptism in Ellenville

On March 1, 1969, at the Shiloh Baptist church of Ellenville, there was cause for much rejoicing as twelve precious souls were buried in baptism by Elder Lance Shand. There were five candidates from Newburgh and seven from Ellenville. These were the fruits of the labors of Pastor Dennis Ross, Jr., who came to these churches in August, 1968.

Elder Samuel Thomas, lay activities secretary of the West Allegheny Conference, was the featured speaker for the four-day Laymen's Convention which was sponsored by the Jamaica and Springfield Gardens churches. Laymen from the Linden Boulevard and Amityville churches also attended the meetings.

The initial service was held at the Jamaica church on Wednesday, February 26. A large red and white banner across the front of the auditorium spelled out the theme of the convention: "The Church of '69, Meeting the Challenge of Our Time, Arise—Evangelize!"

Overflow crowds attended the meetings each evening as Elder Thomas dramatically declared the techniques of effective soul winning.

On Sabbath, March 1, the combined churches of Jamaica and Springfield Gardens met at the newly constructed Allen A.M.E. Zion church, which is situated on the lot where E. E. Cleveland pitched his "Big Tent" four years ago. Here on this spot where hundreds of souls were converted to Christ, the Jamaica church was born.

Elder G. R. Earle, president of Northeastern Conference, presented the morning devotional message. A joint Sabbath school was conducted by Pastor J. T. Grayson of the Springfield Gardens church.

Among those providing special music for the convention were Eugene Harris, baritone, the Seal sisters, and the Amityville church choir.

Elder E. A. Lockett, lay activities secretary of the Northeastern Conference, and Bryan Best, president of the Laymen's Federation for the New York area, were on hand to give valuable help.

The Sunday morning devotion and workshop were held at the Linden Boulevard church.

The climax of the convention was reached at the Sunday night meeting. Pastor O. E. Gordon of the Jamaica church led out in a breathtaking candlelighting service. He lit a large torch and the flame from his torch was individually passed to the hundreds of candle holders filling the auditorium. The candlelighting ceremony marked the end of the convention. However, the hundreds of lighted candles still flickering in the firm grasp of dedicated laymen after the benediction had been said seemed to signal a beginning—the beginning of a united crusade to penetrate the stronghold of darkness with the glorious light of Christ's gospel.

Youth Revival Series Conducted at Bethel

Recently, a three-week revival series was launched at the Bethel church by Pastor Ivan Warden, assistant minister of the church. The campaign was preceded by a series of late-night and early-morning prayer services. Prayer time was scheduled daily between the hours of 12 noon and 1:00 p.m., and periods of fasting were entered into, which was a first for many of our young people.

The theme for the revival was "Directions Determine Destiny." Soul-stirring preaching from God's Word each night was delivered by Pastor Warden.

Under the leadership of Dr. Furman F. Fordham, a sixty-voice Revival Chorale was organized. These young people sang beautifully during the three-week revival series.

The meetings began promptly at 7:30 p.m. and concluded at 8:45. Because of the time element, the students in the chorale had no difficulty in completing homework assignments.

The above picture was taken during practice session of the Bethel Youth Revival Choir. This choir was formed and developed by Dr. F. F. Fordam, who is shown directing the group composed of sixty voices.

Oliver Moore II, a senior theology major from Oakwood College, led the congregation during the song service, and David Coleman was the pianist. A special core of youth ushers was formed.

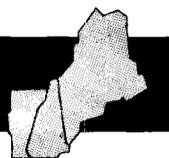

It was truly inspiring to see the youth leading out in every facet of the revival. Especially thrilling each night, was the singing of the theme song, "This Is Our Day," which was composed by the Blendwrights of Germantown, Ohio.

May these young people go forward spreading the gospel message while time shall last.

Youth Rally at Brunswick

A full day of activity for the Seventh-day Adventist youth of Maine brought a record attendance of 635 to the Brunswick church. The youth rally, under the direction of Elder K. W. Hutchins, Missionary Volunteer secretary of the conference who served as chairman and co-ordinator, was enjoyed by all.

Dr. D. W. Holbrook, president of Home Study Institute, was the guest speaker. Elder Frank Dietrich, registrar of Atlantic Union College, presented a sacred program in the afternoon and Atlantic Union College, under the direction of Prof. Norman Roy and H. D. Kinsey, presented a secular program in the evening.

Elder Paul Kline, pastor of the Camden district, was chairman of a panel discussion made up of five youths: Dennis Farley, from Pine Tree Memorial School; Linda Pervier and William Menshausen, from Atlantic Union College; Barbara Anderson, conference office secretary; and Peter DiPietro, student at University of Maine, Portland.

Elder C. W. Griffith, Missionary Volunteer secretary of the Atlantic Union Conference, was the speaker at the church service for primary and juniors.

Baptism Held in Keene

The harvest continues from the evangelistic meetings conducted recently in Keene, New Hampshire. Left to right: Elder Rolf Lindfors, Mrs. Eleanor Ahlin and her daughter, Mrs. Helny Sparby, and Elder Raymond Richardson. Mrs. Ahlin and her daughter attended the meetings in Keene and they were baptized on Sabbath afternoon, March 22. Brattleboro Women Active in Temperance Work

The Seventh-day Adventist ladies in Brattleboro, Vermont, are carrying their share of the work of the local and county W.C.T.U. organization. Miss Edith Jackson is president of the local society, Mrs. Laurea Smead is vice-president, Mrs. Marjorie Miller is secretary, and Mrs. Mary Miller is the Home Protection secretary. Mrs. Marjorie Miller is also president of the county W.C.T.U. Miss Jackson is a member of the West Townshend church, while the other ladies are members of the Brattleboro (Vermont) church.

Recently the Windham County W.C.T.U. purchased a "Smoking Sam" manikin to demonstrate the dangerous tar that accumulates in the lungs and bronchial tubes from smoking to schools and to other groups around the county. "Smoking Sam" has already met several appointments, and has several more to make in the near future.

Many pamphlets have been distributed to the local schools and churches on the dangers of alcohol, drugs, and tobacco through the W.C.T.U. program.

Mrs. Miller also is working with the L.T.L. (Loyal Temperance League) group of boys and girls in her hometown, teaching them how to have a good time without using alcohol, drugs, and tobacco. She is doing a fine work with these non-Adventist young people.

Mrs. White says in the book Temperance, page 223: "I have been much surprised as I have seen the indifference of many of our leaders to this organization. I call on my brethren to awake.

"We need at this time to show a decided interest in the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union."

the Watermans an unusual dedication to God's work, and suggested that they enter the literature ministry. Richard began work in January of this year. He has delivered $5,000 and has made over 700 contacts in the first ten weeks of this year. He has also set a record in delivering 290 adult books such as Desire of Ages and Triumph of God's Love.

Mr. Waterman was asked what attributed to his success. He answered, "Trusting God, going forward in faith, and dedicating yourself to Him."

We see, in Mr. Waterman, a truly dedicated man, working for God and not for himself. If this amount of dedication could be exhibited by all the members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, we would soon be in heaven with our Maker.

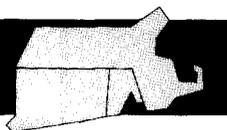

PVA Students Conduct Story Hour

Nine students of Pioneer Valley Academy, with the help of faculty members, conducted a Story Hour series for the children of nearby New Braintree, Massachusetts, from February 1 through April 5.

Conducted at the local town hall on Sabbath afternoons, the Story Hour grew in attendance from sixteen children who attended the first meeting, to approximately sixty who came to each meeting toward the end of the series.

The weekly program consisted of music and stories provided by the academy students before the children were divided by ages into separate classes.

Richard Waterman Enters the Literature Ministry

Less than one year ago, the Watermans had no interest in religion. But, as problems multiplied, they believed these could be solved by consulting with a minister. Mr. Waterman's previous contacts with Seventh-day Adventists and Mrs. Waterman's recent association with a Seventh-day Adventist where she worked, led them to the minister, Elder Carl Currie (now in Bermuda). The following Sabbath, Mr. Waterman was present at the Brooklawn church. Conversion was experienced and habits such as smoking and drinking were discarded. The Watermans joined the baptismal class and in June, they were baptized into the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The kindergarten group was directed by Marlene and Carolyn Anderson; the primary age children were led by Glenn Garver and Jeanne Nickerson; while Ron Krueger and Vicki Long took charge of the juniors. The class periods provided stories, a Bible lesson, with Bible workbooks for the older children. Those who attended nine out of the ten meetings were presented with a Bible and visiting friends of the children were given gifts.

This program was provided as a community service and was greatly appreciated by the parents of the children who attended. The missionary spirit of the academy students, who worked hard to provide the program was summed up in the words of Jeanne Nickerson, who said, "With the Lord's help, we hope that the story hour will be a success, and that through the children, we can reach the people of New Braintree with the gospel."

Much help and encouragement were given by the four faculty members who sacrificed much time and energy to help the students get started. They were: Mrs. Patricia Nickerson, Mrs. Betty Simcock, Mrs. Linda Esposito, and Mrs. Emily Proctor.

Surely these Christian young people deserve our highest commendation for the fine work they are doing in witnessing for Jesus through the Story Hour program. A student evangelistic campaign is now being planned by the youth to be conducted in an auditorium on the academy campus during the month of May.

Church Road Signs Point Way to Church

Church road signs point the way to your church twenty-four hours a day. They inform passers-by there is a Seventh-day Adventist congregation that is active in your community. They enable out-of-town believers to locate your church so that they can worship with you.

The Rockville (Connecticut) church recently purchased four road signs and has mounted them on prominent arteries leading to their church. Above Richard Anderson (left), church elder, and Pastor Mark Finley finish mounting a 35 inch by 48 inch sign on Highway 84. Due to bright reflection, part of the lettering is not visible in the above photograph. Immediately below the Bible, the words "Welcomes You" appear, and just below the name of the city, the address of the church may be seen.

How about your church? Do you advertise its presence in the community and let traveling strangers know where it is located? How about those signs that have weathered many years of service? Do they need replacing?

Information on church road signs is available through your conference public relations office.

Revival Series at Cape Cod

A week of revival services was conducted at the Cape Cod church during the week of March 9-14 under the direction of their new pastor, Ronald Flowers.

The members of the church were blessed by the pastor's messages which included, "Why Revival Tarries," "How to Be at One with God," and "The Mystery of Faith." The concluding sermon, "Three Crosses on Your Horizon," presented the listener with a choice of response to the cross of redemption, as symbolized by the crosses of two thieves on Calvary, the cross of reception and the cross of rejection.

Hopes for the week were summed up nightly in the words of a song chosen as the week's theme: "One heart, one hope, with one accord; We humbly seek Thy Spirit, Lord; Grant us, we pray, Thy holy flame; That we may light the world in Thy dear name."

Which came first, Brunch or the Brunchburger?

We admit it. We didn't invent Brunch, and it came first.

But we did invent the Brunchburger and it's about the tastiest idea in brunches since toast. You take Prosage—usually served at breakfast—spark it up in the kind of burger usually served at lunch, and wow! You've got Brunchburgers. And that's something that really wakes up sleepy appetites.

PROSAGE BRUNCHBURGERS

Into a large bowl crumble, until mealy, 1 package of Prosage. Then add the following ingredients.

|---|-----------------------------|
| 1 large minced green pepper | dash of paprika |
| 1 small jar diced pimiento | liberal dash of garlic salt |
| 1 egg | ¼ teaspoon oregano |
| 1 4-oz. package of grated Mozzarella cheese | |

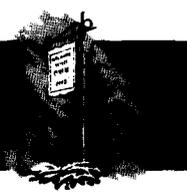

Mix together well and form into patties. Fry in vegetable oil until golden brown. Serve on well toasted, buttered onion buns. Yield, 9 burgers.

Zeta Omega Instituted at AUC

The National Executive Council of Alpha Mu Gamma, a national collegiate foreign-language honor society, has granted its 168th charter to Atlantic Union College for the institution of a local chapter that will bear the designation "Zeta Omega."

Alpha Mu Gamma is the only foreign-language honor society in the United States that gives recognition to outstanding students on the lower-division level. Any student who has completed or who is presently enrolled in a third semester of a foreign-language course and has received a minimum of two grades of A and one of B is eligible for election to the society. A student may also be eligible for membership if he completes two semesters of college foreign-language study with grades of A provided he has had two years of the same foreign language at the high school level with grades of A.

The society, established at Los Angeles City College with five members in 1931, has expanded into a network of more than 160 chapters spread throughout thirty states and Puerto Rico. Other Seventh-day Adventist institutions participating as active members of the society are Loma Linda University, Andrews University, and Southern Missionary College.

The society offers the foreign-languages student an opportunity to contribute poetry, short stories, or essays to an annual literary magazine called Scroll. Four $200 scholarships are offered each year to worthy students, and two scholarships are available for summer study at either Mexico City or Quebec City.

The college will hold its initiation ceremonies during a banquet on May 11, with Armand G. Perreault, vice-president of the Northeast Region of Alpha Mu Gamma and professor of modern languages at Worcester State College, officiating.

Full membership will be granted to Robert Stotz, president; Sheila Clemens, vice-president; Donna Hewitt, secretary; Lee Parson, historian; Dorothy Brower, Josephine Dixon, Carlos Michel, and Gerhard Wenk.

Faculty membership will be extended to William Van Grit, Karl Widmaier, Dr. George Yamashiro, Dr. William Lesovsky, and Dr. Ellis Maas. Zeta Omega has selected Elder F. R. Millard, president of the Atlantic Union Conference, as an honorary member because of his fluency in two foreign languages and his continued support of the ideals of Alpha Mu Gamma.

Miss Lourdes Morales, Spanish instructor at the college, is sponsor for the chapter.

Hospital Opens Office in Stoneham Square

A Development Office was recently opened by the New England Memorial Hospital at 389 Main Street, Stoneham. This office will be used for the duration of the current fund-raising campaign for the new hospital building.

Hardy Loomis, co-ordinator of the fund-raising program, is presently working with professional fund consultants, Glenn O. Van Meter and William Whelpley, of Assured Associates, in laying groundwork and gathering information to launch an area-wide campaign.

The hospital employee group was the first to be organized to participate in the campaign, and they have already reached more than half of their goal. The medical staff has completed the organizational phase of their group effort and will soon begin actively seeking subscriptions to the building fund.

Mrs. Gail Baird, Mrs. Donna Goodwin, and Mrs. Elizabeth Keating are the full-time secretaries employed by the Development Office, and they are kept very busy compiling data and recording transactions.

People on the move

A Welcome to the Cross Family

Elder Douglas Cross of Waynesboro, Virginia, has accepted the call of the Northern New England Conference Executive Committee to be the pastor of the Portland district.

Elder Cross was born in Indiana, but moved to Massachusetts when two years old. He grew up in Middleboro and Taunton, Massachusetts, and attended the church schools in Middleboro and Taunton through the tenth grade. He graduated from Mt. Vernon Academy in Ohio and received his B.A. degree from Columbia Union College in July, 1956. Elder Cross also attended Andrews University and received an M.A. degree in Biblical Greek in 1958.

Elder Cross has been a pastor in four different districts in the Potomac Conference. He has also been a literature evangelist, salesman, printer, and cabinetmaker. At the present time he is writing a book on the history of the calendar, entitled "Your Amazing Calendar," which is scheduled for completion in June of this year.

Elder Cross' parents live in Taunton, Massachusetts. Mr. Cross is the president of the Ad-a-Day Co., Inc., and the Carcross Co., Inc., of Taunton,

New Worker at Geer Memorial

The first full-time employee to join the staff of the new Geer Memorial Convalescent Hospital in Canaan, Connecticut, is Charles Townsend, Jr. He and his wife, Marilyn, are centered in the above picture, surrounded by the family of four children. Charles III, left, and Robert Leroy, right, will attend Pioneer Valley Academy next year and Donna and Ronald, standing, will attend the Canaan church school for the second semester this year.

The Townsends' home has been in Danbury for the past three years where Mr. Townsend has been employed at the federal correctional institution.

In 1965, they moved East from their home state of Michigan, where he was employed in a similar position for three years.

This is the first denominational institutional employment for the Townsends and they are enthusiastically looking forward to having a part in the establishment of this new S.D.A.-owned medical institution in Connecticut. Mr. Townsend began his employment on February 24 in the Geer Maintenance Department. Mrs. Townsend is employed at the Danbury Association to Advance the Handicapped and Retarded in Danbury, Connecticut, as workshop supervisor, and will resign and join her husband as soon as their future home in Canaan is re-decorated.

At Rest

FROST—Ella Knockey Frost was born in Birmingham, Alabama, on January 7, 1887. Her family became members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church in her early years. For many years she used her musical talent as an organist in various churches. She was baptized at Meadow Glade Academy, Washington.

On June 20, 1910, she married Elder S. L. Frost at Walla Walla College, Washington. They responded to the call of mission service in 1916 and spent thirty-two years as missionaries in China in administrative and educational work.

After several years of failing health she passed away in Lancaster, Massachusetts, on Thursday evening, December 19, 1968, at the age of eighty-one.

She leaves to mourn: her husband, S. L. Frost, of Livingston, New York; her daughter, Gladys Frost McAlister, of Riverside, California; two sisters, Ruth Flink, of Portland, Oregon; and Beulah Lawson, of Mountain View, California; and two grandchildren.

DAN W. SCHIFFBAUER

HAVEN—Herbert J. Haven of Old Southbridge Road, Dudley, Massachusetts, died on January 9, 1969, in Eastwood Manor Nursing Home, Webster, Massachusetts. He was born in Dudley and was a lifelong resident there. In 1925, when he was forty-five years old, he attended an evangelistic crusade in Worcester, Massachusetts, but he was not baptized until 1954.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Ellen (Makeley) Haven; two sons, Carl H., of Dudley; and Herman J., of Brimfield; a brother, Elmer, of Norwalk, Connecticut; a sister Mrs. F. Gregory, of Brockton; a grandson; and two great-grandchildren.

The funeral service was conducted in the S. W. Williams Funeral Home, Southbridge, Massachusetts, by the writer.

ALEXANDER B. FULEKI

LIVINGSTON—Mrs. Matilda Livingston of Rochester, New Hampshire, was born on March 18, 1877, and passed to her rest on January 27, 1969, at the County Home in Dover, New Hampshire.

Mrs. Livingston had been a member of the Rochester (New Hampshire) church for many years, but had been unable to attend for several years because of sickness. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Alice McFarland, of Taunton, Massachusetts; a son, William R. Kenyon, of Rochester; nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Services were held in the Ederly and Son Funeral Home in Rochester and burial will be in the Rochester Cemetery in the spring.

Mrs. Livingston rests from her many years of service, awaiting the return of Jesus and the new life He will give to all His faithful children.

MERLE A. TYLER, SR.

STUART—Mrs. Mabel Maud Stuart was born in Rome, Maine, May 30, 1876, and passed away December 18, 1968, at the home of her daughter in Santa Clara, California. She was active in the Dorcas work of the church for many years, until failing health prevented.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Roy, of Santa Clara, California; and Mrs. Beryl McDunnah, of South Lancaster, Massachusetts; a son, Norris Otis, of Royal Oak, Michigan; three grandchildren, five great-grandsons; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were conducted at Colonial Mortuary Chapel in Mountain View, California, by Elder Reuben Engstrom. She was laid to rest in Alta Mesa Memorial Park, Palo Alto, California.

TIBBETTS—Ralph Tibbetts was born at Berwick, Maine, on February 11, 1897, and passed to his rest on December 27, 1968, at the Veterans Hospital in Togus, Maine. Mr. Tibbetts was a faithful member of the Portsmouth (New Hampshire) church at the time of his death.

He leaves his wife, Freda, of Biddeford, Maine; two daughters, Mrs. Frances Keller, of Exeter, New Hampshire; and Mrs. Natalie Taylor, of Dayton, Maine; and a son, Ralph Tibbetts, Jr., of Hollywood, Florida; as well as fifteen grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Words of comfort were spoken by the writer at the Laing Funeral Home in Berwick, Maine, and our brother was laid to rest in the Evergreen Cemetery in Berwick where he awaits the resurrection morning.

MERLE A. TYLER, SR.

WHITTAKER—Mrs. Lottie Whittaker, wife of the late Albert Whittaker, was born March 7, 1879, at Fort Johnson, New York, and died in the Lord on December 27, 1968, after almost a lifetime residence in Canajoharie, New York.

Lottie was united in marriage to Albert Whittaker in 1905 and together they accepted God's last-day message and were baptized in 1911.

For many years Mrs. Whittaker has been a member of the Amsterdam church, being an active member until she was confined to a nursing home. She was cared for by her daughter, Mrs. Chauncey Faye, since the death of her husband, Albert, in 1963.

Besides her daughter, she leaves six grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren; one brother, Fenton Young, of Endicott, New York; and several nieces and nephews.

Services were conducted at the Houghtaling Funeral Home in Canajoharie, New York, by Elder Wesley H. Baker. She has been laid to rest in the Canajoharie Falls Cemetery to await the resurrection morning.

Bart figures every angle. He walks the tightwire between cost and price, and he manages to walk off with a plump profit nearly every time. It takes brains. It takes nerve. And it takes him down the prosperous road to nowhere.

Lord, show Barton Griggs the ledger that really counts. Get him to figuring the angle that really figures: "What shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?" Show him the security that will still be there when the world is a total loss. "These Times" is going to help You do it. It will be there with hard facts and sticky questions and warm appeals every single month. And You'll be there too, won't You, making it all add up to a good investment for Barton Griggs?

A Gift of Love

Lyndon Caster painted this scene in the baptistry of the Dexterville, (New York) church as a gift of love. Since he was busy with his own well-drilling business, he worked on the painting on Sundays, holidays, and evenings.

He started the work during the Christmas season of 1967, and completed it just prior to Christmas of 1968. Mr. Caster had never painted any pictures before this. He is a local elder of the Seventh-day Adventist church in Dexterville.
