● FOR THE PRESENT

● FOR THE FUTURE

● FOR ETERNITY

Seventh-day Adventist schools are a haven of refuge today for the youth of the church, where they are protected from many of the perverse and evil influences of the world. The church of tomorrow marches on the feet of today's children—educated by the church our children are assurance that the church of tomorrow will be in capable, dedicated hands.

Christian education is not only an education for this world, but it is an education that prepares our children for eternity.

The messenger of the Lord states: "Nothing is of greater importance than the education of our children and young people."—Counsels to Parents, Teachers, and Students, p. 165. "Of all the institutions in our world the school is the most important!"—Fundamentals of Christian Education, p. 226.

Character determines the direction of the life of the individual.

The basis of character is formed in childhood and youth. That is why God has given us a plan whereby our youth may develop a strong character foundation. Children educated in the schools of the church have a distinct advantage over others in the area of character development and training in Christian principles.

Each year finds more of the children of the church in the Atlantic Union Conference attending the schools of the church, but there are hundreds of children of Adventist parents in this union who are not being given this opportunity.

It is our hope that this fall will find every Adventist child in an Adventist school. "Train up a child in the way he should go . . ." is the admonition of God. Let us cooperate with the divine plan in building our youth in harmony with the blueprint God has provided.

Former Student Returns to Bermuda Institute

The 1968-69 school year marked another first-time event in the history of Bermuda Institute. One of our former students, Mrs. Sheila Wilson-Holder, returned to help her former teachers in "the nicest work ever assumed by men and women."

Mrs. Holder, a graduate of Sandringham, the former name of Bermuda Institute's elementary division, is the first of our alumni to join our staff.

After completing the eighth grade here, Mrs. Holder attended South Lancaster Academy. She continued on at Atlantic Union College until she graduated in the spring of 1968 with a B.Sc. degree in elementary education.

Mrs. Holder was in charge of 29 pupils in kindergarten and grade one. She expects an even greater number next term. Christian education at Bermuda Institute is making a favorable impact on the community. We ask that you remember us in your prayers, as we continue to expand and grow physically, mentally, and spiritually in harmony with our Christian blueprint.

Dear Parents:

When the roll is called, will your children be attending church school? The pen that has never erred emphasizes the urgency that every young person in our church attend our church schools. This responsibility is not to be entrusted to parents alone--it should be a joint enterprise shared by every member of the church as well as the parents.

The enemy has deviously and carefully plotted a multiplicity of detours to prevent our youth from obtaining a Christian education. Nevertheless, the wisdom of heaven still prevails and co-operation provides a means of overcoming such obstacles. In this age in which we live there exists little or no regard for authority, law, or order; it is imperative, therefore, that the most precious heritage of the church--our youth--be granted the opportunity of following God's blueprint in the acquisition of true education.

An absence from the church school is a vote to close its doors. How do you stand on pre-election day? Would you take a chance and dare risk so precious a treasure as just one of our youth by your failure to provide the influence of a Christian education?

In church school today--in church tomorrow--in the kingdom when the roll is called up yonder.
 Your friend through Christ,

J. C. Stewart

Christian Education Builds for the Future

Forward March!

This is the word for Christian education in the New York Conference. Much time has elapsed since the establishment of our first home school in Bucks Bridge and, with the passing of time, great advances have been made. The evidence is very clear that the constituents of the New York Conference are dedicated to Christian education.

In the future plans of the conference —total dedication is the aim and goal. Plans are being laid to erect a four-classroom school complex with a gymnasium located in the Buffalo area. A beautiful piece of property has been purchased and the church is enthusiastically moving toward the beginning and completion of this project within a year from now.

Through the support of Christian education in the New York Conference God's people are laying up treasure in heaven by providing schools for our boys and girls and young people. What a wonderful privilege is ours. May the Lord continue to add His rich blessing to the work in our great conference.

Growth Results in Northeastern's Largest Elementary Graduation

One hundred two pupils, representing the five elementary schools in metropolitan New York, received graduation certificates on Sunday, June 22, 1969, at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, Brooklyn, New York. On Sunday, June 15, nine pupils of the Boston Berea Elementary School completed the eighth grade, and on Sunday, June 7, three pupils from the Jefferson Avenue Elementary School in Rochester, New York, graduated, making a total of 114 pupils ready to launch out on the second step of their educational career.

The elementary school enrollment for the 1968-69 school year has been outstanding; 1,100 pupils according to the General Conference opening report. This represents the greatest increase in enrollment in North America. More of our Adventist parents are sending their children to the church schools and we are continually working to upgrade the educational offerings. There is an alarming need for larger and improved facilities for all of our schools. Of the 99 per cent of the schools filled to capacity, 50 per cent reached an overflow.

To meet the 1969-70 projected enrollment, the Linden Boulevard-Jamaica churches have joined hands to accommodate approximately 60 more pupils. Hanson Place will be opening additional rooms to accommodate another 20-30 pupils. Brooklyn Temple will be opening the fourth classroom and should add 20 pupils. The Berea Boston school board is trying to keep the enrollment under 100.

The pastor and members of the Buffalo church in conjunction with this office are seeking personnel to operate a school in that area. We desire that these institutions be "cities of refuge" within these great cities of the East.

The Forrest Ward Memorial School located in Bennington, Vermont, was recently completed. There are two classrooms attractively decorated, including wall-to-wall carpeting.

Pictured above is the two-story 32'x75' addition under construction in Freeport, Maine. It will provide the Pine Tree Memorial School with two additional classrooms and a multi-purpose room on the ground floor.

- A third full-time teacher has been added to the teaching staff at the Kellogg Elementary School in Bedford, New Hampshire.
- A sixth full-time teacher will join the Pine Tree Memorial School in September.
- A departmentalized program for grades 7-10 is being inaugurated at the Pine Tree Memorial School.
- During the last 12 months, 54 boys and girls who were attending our church schools were baptized.
- A new educational wing has been completed in Rochester, New Hampshire, including wall-to-wall carpeting.

The 12 schools and 27 teachers are preparing for an outstanding year of Christian education for your boys and girls. Our schools have been established for our children. Let us do our part to make a Christian education possible for every Seventh-day Adventist boy and girl. We cannot afford to do less.

EDUCATIONAL HIGHLIGHTS In Northern New England

- Barre, Vermont, is building a $24,000 two-room school building to be ready for occupancy in September. This is an outstanding accomplishment for the 54 members in the Barre church.
- Major renovations have been completed at the Estabrook School in West Lebanon, New Hampshire.

Southern New England Institutes New Supervisory Assistance Program

The Hartford Intermediate School is one of 16 church school facilities in the Southern New England Conference.

Southern New England Report

There are 16 church schools in the Southern New England Conference. Of these, two are junior academies. The total enrollment in the elementary schools during the past school year was 925 pupils. In June, there were 16 eighth-grade graduations, with a total of 112 graduates. Because we do not have the closing reports in as yet, we do not have complete figures, but each year many of the pupils who attend our schools are baptized and find their way into our academies and later on into college to become actively engaged in the Lord's work. We appreciate the dedicated services rendered by 52 full-time teachers, plus several part-time teachers and room mothers. Each one is a part of a vitally important team to make the educational program of our conference a success.

In co-operation with the Atlantic Union Conference and Atlantic Union College, a new program of supervisory assistance for each school has been voted. This program will give much-needed assistance in curriculum development, teacher training, and textbook selection. In presenting his final report, Elder Stephan, our educational superintendent, said: "We have had another exceptionally fine school year. The co-operation and efforts of the local school boards, pastors, and teachers is to be commended. Many improvements have been made in various schools and all are striving to upgrade the program of Christian education." He added: "We thank God for His many blessings and continual care for our children. Let us begin now to plan for the school year, 1969-70. Every Adventist child should have the privilege of attending a church school, where they are not only shielded from error, but taught the wonderful truths of God."

Newest School Addition

After meeting for 12 years at a converted residence on 11 Gerry Street, the teachers and pupils of the Stoneham Elementary School have a new building to look forward to for next school year.

Sod was turned in a special ceremony on June 5 at the new site, located on Pond Street near Gorham Avenue. Above, Melinda Garland, a sixth-grader, calls attention to the name, "Pond Street S.D.A. School," printed on the gold-colored spade that was used to break ground. An official name for the school has not been selected as yet, but this one will serve until a better one is chosen.

The new two-story brick structure will consist of twelve classrooms, offices, and gymnasium, and is to be constructed at an estimated $320,000. The entire plant will be completed by next January. The Pond Street school is a consolidated school supported by the Stoneham, New England Memorial, and Swampscott churches.

George Lloyd is the new principal.

The elementary building of South Lancaster Academy serves as a training center for students of Atlantic Union College. Here, education majors gain practical experience in practice teaching.

A Change in the Senior Quarterly

By LOUIS B. REYNOLDS
Associate Secretary
G. C. Sabbath School Department

Beginning with the first Quarterly of 1970 there will be a change in the format of the senior Sabbath school lessons. This change has been the subject of serious study and experimentation for many months and the updating of the Quarterly is regarded by many as a move that will result in a regular and more serious study of the Scriptures.

The new Quarterly will consist of six sections covering one page each rather than 13 or 14 questions as is currently the pattern. There will be an additional page of review questions, true-and-false questions, and completion questions to stimulate a more efficient review of the subject under study. The Quarterly will contain 112 pages instead of the present 48 and it will be the same page size as the ones now in use. The cost will be 40 cents instead of the current 20 cents.

A typical page for one day's study will have a text at the top, quoted from the King James version of the Bible. (This was done because so many people informed us in a questionnaire that they never used the Bible in the study of the Sabbath school lesson.) With this one text quoted the student will at least have before him the Biblical passage. The reason we use the King James version is that such a large majority of our people have those Bibles and they use that version for daily study. Then there are some verses in the new versions or translations in which the sense of the King James is hardly recognizable. In cases such as this we quote two or three versions in the Teacher's Quarterly for purposes of comparison and clarification.

Experiments in two large unions with a Teacher's Quarterly containing more helps than are available in the Worker showed an overwhelming majority of teachers preferred this to the Teacher's Quarterly which has been used in the past and which contained the regular Quarterly copy plus blank pages for notes. They also liked the loose-leaf, standard-size pages which meant for them that the lesson material could be easily expanded to accommodate notes from the teacher's own study. Quite a significant number of people indicated on a questionnaire that when they used this experimental Quarterly they observed that pupils had a "greater interest" in the lesson.

Almost all who responded to the questionnaire said they preferred to have for the teacher's use several translations of important texts within the lesson. A slightly larger number said they would find "life situation questions" especially valuable. These same people indicated that if a Quarterly incorporating these features should cost "as much as three or four times the price" of the present Teacher's Quarterly, they would be willing to pay that sum for it. About one-half of the people responding said also that they would like to have a one- or two-page outline or synopsis of the lesson in hand as they taught the class.

The experimental Teacher's Quarterly has been in such demand that more than 20,000 copies are currently distributed in two unions and several hundred are mailed to people outside these unions. On the strength of this tally, the Sabbath school in its Departmental Advisory Committee, voted to ask the Pacific Press to publish a loose-leaf Teacher's Quarterly 5½" x 8½" in page size to fit the 6½" x 9" standard three-ring binder. The Teacher's Quarterly will contain 224 pages instead of the present 96 pages and it will cost $1.50 per quarter or $5.50 for an annual subscription. It will contain all of the material in the regular Quarterly plus modern translations of texts, more quotations from Spirit of Prophecy books, and questions calculated to arouse class discussion.

Will senior teachers still make use of the Worker? The answer is Yes. They will need it for the features which we could not include in the new Teacher's Quarterly. For example, the lesson synopsis will appear in the Worker, illustrations for each lesson will appear in the Worker, and technical pointers on how to teach the lesson will appear in the Worker. Hence senior teachers as well as teachers in other divisions will continue to use the Worker as a vital aid to their teaching.

"Testimony Countdown"

Do the nine volumes of Testimonies for the Church seem to be a large and forbidding amount of reading?

Did you know that by reading thirteen pages a day you can read all nine volumes in one year?

Do you know why these volumes were prepared in testimony form by Ellen White?

And, have you heard about "Testimony Countdown"?

Does your church have plans to hold a concentrated ten-week Wednesday night study of the nine volumes?

Your pastor can tell you more about this proven and successful prayer meeting program. Ask him.

Supplies are available now.

Highlights of the 1969 Valentine Offering

From selling scrap iron to desserts, from sit-ups to slave auctions, from shoveling snow in Alaska to selling vegetables in Hawaii, hundreds of projects kept 537 Seventh-day Adventist elementary schools busy from February to May. Their purpose was to raise $30,000 for the annual Valentine offering sponsored by Faith for Today.

The students not only raised their goal, but went $5,000 over. On April 28, 1969, the camera was presented in a special ceremony attended by three student representatives.

Gwen Herr, an eighth-grader from the Helen Nyatt School in Lincoln, Nebraska, represented the school with the highest total contribution—$1,605.

From College Heights, Alberta, Canada, was flown Nyren Compton, the representative from Canada. He was chosen for his unusual money-raising idea—sponsored sit-ups. He did 520 of them at one time, sponsored by eight individuals at a penny a sit-up from each. Nyren also contributed five of his own dollars.

From Fletcher, North Carolina, Lonnie Anderson came to New York as the student with the highest single contribution—$103. He raised most of this by private contributions from friends and neighbors.

All 14 years old, these students typified the enthusiasm of our young people to help spread the gospel through television. The camera will have a special plaque engraved on it telling it was the gift from the 1969 Valentine offering. The camera and accessories together costing $9,000, have already been used in filming several programs.

The remainder of the offering goes to buy and keep air time on six special "children's stations."

Atlantic Union schools raised $1,565.64.

Ordinations at Greater New York Camp Meetings

Greater New York conducts two camp meetings each year, the first for its English-speaking members, and the second for those of its constituency who speak Spanish. This year there was an ordination at each session.

On Sabbath, June 28, Milton E.

Thorman was ordained to the gospel ministry. A native of Oregon, Milton Thorman attended Laurelwood Academy and Walla Walla College before receiving his B.S. and M.A. degrees from La Sierra College. He served in both the Oregon and Southeastern California conferences as a teacher, and was principal of the Bellflower Elementary School in Southern California. His most recent assignment was superintendent of education for the Greater New York Conference.

Camp meeting 1969 was really a farewell occasion for the Thormans, as they have accepted a call to the West Indonesia Union Mission to head up the educational program.

The charge was given by Elder A. C. Fearing of the General Conference Ministerial Department. Conference President L. L. Reile extended the welcome, and the prayer was offered by Lay Activities Director G. E. Andersen.

The second ordination was held Sabbath, July 12, for Rogelio E. Weiss. Born and raised in Argentina, Pastor Weiss received part of his education in that country, and part in California, where he attended San Pasqual Academy and La Sierra College. He has served as a minister in Argentina, Southern California, and Greater New York.

Union President F. R. Millard presented the ordination sermon; Dr. E. R. Maas of Atlantic Union College the prayer; Pastor Felix Rodriguez the charge; and Conference President L. L. Reile the welcome.

Mass Feeding of One Thousand

Grace was offered, a whistle blown, and the stop watch began running. Exactly five and one-half minutes later, more than one thousand people had been served a nutritious and palatable meal!

On Sunday afternoon, June 29, at Camp Berkshire, the Greater New York Conference demonstrated its ability to lead out in mass feeding in the event of a large-scale disaster. Volunteers prepared the meal which consisted of a stew, sandwiches, milk, and cookies. Ten large army field ranges were utilized for this outdoor demonstration. There were ten serving tables, with a hundred or more participants lined up before each one.

This may look chaotic, but a different camera angle would reveal ten neat lines of one hundred or more individuals ready to move by the ten serving tables.

Earlier in the day, the New York City Volunteer Auxiliary Police put on a number of rescue exhibitions. Members of the churches in the metropolitan area also demonstrated how their workers could arrive on the scene, set up, completely clothe one thousand men, women, and children, pack and leave in only three hours.

All of the afternoon activities were under the direction of Elder G. E. Andersen, lay activities director for the conference. In addition to local dignitaries, the mass feeding was ob-

These meetings are worth driving many miles to attend. Plan now to be on hand every night of the series; fill your car with neighbors and friends who need to learn of Christ’s love.

The National Seventh-day Adventist Choir, directed by Frank de Araujo (right), will sing the opening night.

Bibles with helps will be given to all attending who follow the Bible-marking plan. Cedar chests in which to keep the Bibles will go to everyone who brings three new friends with him. Also given those attending will be a beautiful illustrated color edition of Your Bible and You—an eighteen-dollar value.

A beautiful 20"x24" four-color picture of “The Last Supper,” by Leonardo da Vinci will be given everyone attending the opening night. Other pictures to be given include “Christ in the Garden of Gethsemane,” “The Star of Bethlehem,” and “The Guardian Angel.”

Parade Float Brings Family Back to Church

"That's that Seventh-day Adventist church in Jackson Heights. They're really organized."

"Man, they make up half the parade!"

These were actual sidewalk comments as Greater New York's Jackson Heights church ventured its first parade entry. The occasion was the first Fourth of July parade ever held in the Queens section of New York City.

Parade entry organizer and communications secretary Ann Vitorovich lived up to her reputation for "always doing things up right." The line of march for the Adventist section, which stretched out for two city blocks, was:

1. Men in Disaster Welfare uniforms carrying a sign reading: "Seventh-day Adventists Serving the Community."
2. Pathfinder troop in uniform with flags flying.
3. Convertible automobile with trumpet trio.
4. Large float depicting an active church.
5. Two ladies in Home Health Aide uniforms.
6. Two Disaster Welfare leaders in uniform.
7. Greater New York Disaster Welfare van.

People from 27 different countries make up the congregation of the Jackson Heights church, and 20 of these were represented on the float in their national costume. The legend "United to Serve" appeared on the side of the float along with the name of the church. Pastor Nathan Sims stood holding his Bible under his arm at the front of the float between two American flags.

Post-parade awards brought the Jackson Heights church a first-prize blue ribbon for their float, and a red second-place ribbon for their marchers. However, the real reward came when a family pressed forward to explain that they had been faithful members of the church in South America, but had not been attending since their arrival in the United States. Their parting comments were: "We'll all be in church next Sabbath, and we want our youngsters back in our own schools."

Lots of work? Yes. Well worth it? Again, a hearty Yes.

Story Hour Begins Fourth Successful Season

It all began on the first warm day in the spring of 1965 when the pastor of the district, at the close of his sermon, invited anyone who wanted to go on a hike to meet at Smith's Basin, where a lovely stream connects into the Champlain Canal. That afternoon approximately twenty-five people met, including several children. Mrs. Jeannie Wilson was one of the adults who attended that afternoon. She was thrilled at the possibilities of such a program for the youth of the church and prayed that God would give her the strength and knowledge to work with these young people.

From that time to the present, Mrs. Wilson has led out in a successful youth program which includes picnics, hikes, nature studies, and Story Hours. At times the attendance has reached thirty, but the average is approximately fifteen. The children's ages range from seven to sixteen. Several other adults in the church have helped Mrs. Wilson with this program and, as a result of their work, some of these young people have been baptized.

Pictured above on the left is Mrs. Jeannie Wilson as she led out in the Story Hour held on a Sabbath afternoon in May in the Glens Falls church school. At the right is part of the group from the Story Hour as they listen intently to a Bible story told by Mrs. Ellen Gray.

Programs like this take time, effort, and money, but the inner feeling of joy and satisfaction outweighs any expense and effort used in bringing these young people to the feet of Jesus—ready and willing to give their lives to Him.

Ordinations at Northeastern Camp Meeting

On June 28, the first Sabbath of the annual Hyde Park camp meeting, two ministers of Northeastern Conference were ordained to the gospel ministry: Stennett Brooks, treasurer of the conference; and James P. Willis, pastor of the Mount Vernon church in Westchester County. Participating in the service were E. Earl Cleveland, associate secretary of the General Conference Ministerial Association, who presented the sermon; Robert H. Carter, secretary of Northeastern Conference, who introduced the candidates; Frank L. Jones, treasurer of South Atlantic ence Regional Department, who gave the charge; and George R. Earle, president of the conference, who extended the welcome to the gospel ministry.

Elder Brooks is the son of Elder and Mrs. Roger Brooks, of Nicaragua. Born in Puerto Cabezas, he completed church school while living in the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bryan of Panama City, Republic of Panama. He graduated as a business major from West Indies College, Mandeville, Jamaica.

Commencing his ministry in the old West Jamaica Conference, Mandeville, Jamaica, he served first as a singer and a Bible instructor in an evangelistic campaign. He was later assigned the position of accountant and assistant Book and Bible House manager in the conference. He came to Northeastern Conference as an accountant in 1959 and was elected the treasurer in 1964.

He was married January 18, 1959, to Erma Parchment, a secretarial science graduate of West Indies College. They have two children: Andrea, six; and Audra, two.

James P. Willis is a native of Winston Salem, North Carolina, and a third-generation Seventh-day Adventist. He attended elementary school in Carolina and he graduated from Oakwood College in 1952 with a B.A. degree in religion.

His service has included responsibility on the staff of Oakwood College, several years as a literature evangelist and pastor of churches in the South Central Conference. In 1967 he was called to Northeastern where he is currently the minister of a growing congregation in Westchester.

He was married on September 5, 1954, to Miss Georgia Battle. They have three children: James, Jr., thirteen; Carnell, ten; and Carla, nine. Mrs. Willis, a gifted typist and also an Oakwood alumna, has taught church school and has participated in her husband's evangelistic efforts as a Bible instructor.

Ground-Dedication Ceremony Held for Victory Lake Nursing Home

A ground-dedication service was held on the site of the Victory Lake Nursing Home on Sunday, June 29, at 2:30 p.m. This 120-bed structure is being built at a cost of 2½ million dollars by the Rand Construction Co.

Officials of the Northeastern Conference, the Atlantic Union Conference, the New York State Health Department, New York State Housing Finance Agency, and the town of Hyde Park participated in the ceremony.

The Hon. Donald G. Dickson, M.D., deputy commissioner for Common

Stennett Brooks, treasurer of Northeastern Conference, leads the congregation in the ground-dedication ceremony.

G. R. Earle, president of Northeastern Conference, accepted golden shovel from Saul Tittlebaum, president of Rand Construction Corporation.

Health and Hospital Affairs, New York State Health Department, was the principal speaker. Theodore Cantrell, who has accepted a call to serve as administrator of the home, was also present. Edwina Humphrey and Jacqueline Ross thrilled the audience with their vocal selections. Approximately 200 Northeastern constituents were on hand for this happy occasion.

The building is scheduled to be ready for occupancy in September, 1970.

Ephesus Church Launches Two-Million-Dollar Campaign

The Ephesus church has just launched a two-million-dollar building campaign. This eighty-year-old structure, located on the corner of 123rd Street and Lenox Avenue, suffered extensive damage by fire the night of January 8, 1969.

The 2,400 members of this church had just completed a redecoration project that cost more than $200,000. To have this tragedy occur so soon after this renovation was a shock, to say the least, and momentarily discouraging. But their courage was quickly renewed, for they sincerely believe that "all things work together for good to them that love the Lord."

Northern New England

Camp Meeting in Northern New England

Elder Carl P. Anderson opened the Northern New England camp meeting on June 26 with the practical message, "Our Wonderful Jesus." Every meeting during the ten days' encampment provided the constituency with a spiritual feast.

Elders J. O. Iversen, W. J. Hackett, and F. A. Soper represented the General Conference, and Elder F. W. Hudgins represented Faith for Today.

The Voice of Prophecy group was represented by Elder W. R. L. Scragg, Del Delker, and the Braleys.

The Atlantic Union Conference President F. R. Millard, Secretary-Treasurer K. W. Tilghman, Education Secretary L. E. Smart, Auditor F. R. Aldridge, MV Secretary C. W. Griffith, and Religious Liberty and Public Relations Secretary Leon Davis lifted the spiritual sights of our campers through their messages.

The Medical Hour was highlighted with the messages by Dr. R. O. West from the Loma Linda University School of Public Health.

On the last Sabbath afternoon, the youth tent was filled to overflowing to listen to the story by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Westermeyer, telling of their conversion from drug addiction to Christ and the church.

The traditional all-star softball game was played on the last Friday afternoon with the unmarried men playing the married men. The dads had to take their hats off to the lads with a score of four to three.

Thrilling stories of conversion were told during the Trophy Hour on Sabbath afternoon, July 5.

Elder W. J. Hackett delivered the concluding message, renewing the hope of a soon-coming Saviour and a finished work.

SDA Soldier Cited

Pfc Orlyn Hamel of New Braintree, Massachusetts, was cited for bravery in action in Vietnam. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hamel of Pioneer Valley Academy, Orlyn served for fourteen months in the signal corps in Vietnam after receiving basic training at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

A letter from Orlyn to his parents, written August 17, 1968, described the circumstances which led to his heroic action. It did not reveal all that occurred that day and to what extent Private First Class Hamel has risked his life for his fellow soldiers. On October 28, 1968, the following citation was presented to the young soldier, together with the Army Commendation Medal with "V" for valor:

"While under intense enemy fire, Private First Class Hamel, left the protection of his vehicle on two occasions to render First Aid to wounded soldiers and carry them to the relative safety of his vehicle. Private First Class Hamel's personal bravery, concern for his fellow man, and exemplary devotion to duty are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army."

We are proud of our Adventist servicemen who, like Orlyn Hamel, distinguish themselves as individuals who are ready to sacrifice their lives if need be for their fellow man.

Southern New England Pathfinder Fair

The MV Department of the Southern New England Conference once again sponsored a Pathfinder Fair at South Lancaster on May 25.

One hundred fifty Pathfinders from clubs throughout the conference joined in the day's activities which began with preparation of booths and exhibits at 8:00 a.m. A parade, Olympic events, a treasure hunt, and awards presentation rounded out the program which was directed by Malcolm D. Gordon, conference youth leader.

Pathfinders of the Nespak Club (New England Memorial church, Stoneham, Massachusetts) were the lead unit in the Pathfinder Fair parade. The flagbearers were Ronnie Pelton (left) and David Cutts. Keeping cadence on the drums were Chuck Quittmeyer (face hidden) and David Marston.

Relay races were part of the field events in which the Pathfinders participated. Above, the teams prepare to run.

Points were given to the clubs for booths, parade, Olympic, and drill performance, the number in uniform, units with flags and guidons, and overall participation. Three clubs received ninety points out of a possible one hundred. They were: Hartford, Springfield, and Nespak (New England Memorial) Clubs.

Some three hundred spectators were present on the conference campground to witness the field events on Sunday afternoon.

C. Wayne Griffith, (left) Atlantic Union MV secretary, and Malcolm Gordon, Southern New England youth director, marshalled the parade of Pathfinder units and floats down South Lancaster's Main Street from the Atlantic Union College gymnasium to the conference campground.

Nearly Twelve Hundred Copies Sold!

The pupils of the Stoneham (Gerry Street) Elementary School were privileged, with the aid of the conference publishing department officials, to deliver nearly 1,200 copies of the "Life and Health" journal into the homes of the area near their school. The local pastors, Elder F. F. Bush from the Stoneham church and Elder A. R. Swanson from the New England Memorial church, as well as many parents and friends, served as drivers for the field day.

Because we know that every opportunity should be taken to plant seeds of truth, it is the hope of all who participated that someone will learn of Jesus through this activity.

Church Member Serves Red Cross

James H. Rice (above), lay activities leader of the Waterbury (Connecticut) church, was recently appointed chairman of the First-Aid program for the Waterbury area chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mr. Rice has been a volunteer with the local chapter Red Cross for fifteen years. He was certified as a Red Cross water-safety instructor in 1953 and was one of the principal volunteers in the setting up of the handicap swim program, which once a year, provides free swimming instruction for handicapped children and young adults.

He was certified as a Red Cross first-aid instructor in 1963 and had given hundreds of hours in the planning and programming of first aid. He is also certified as an instructor in Civil Defense medical self-help training, and serves as liaison between Red Cross and Civil Defense in this program. He was appointed vice-chairman of Red Cross First Aid in October of 1968.

In announcing the appointment of James Rice to this post, John F. Burbank, local chapter chairman, stated: "We know Jim Rice will continue the high quality of training which this chapter has maintained under his predecessors and, with his knowledge and background, will help us to give even further service to the community."

We are proud of laymen like James Rice who involve themselves in civic projects and become known as individuals who care for and endeavor to serve their fellow men. There are numerous ways that Seventh-day Adventists can become active in community activities. Red Cross, Community Chest, Gray Ladies, Civic Club membership, Welcome Wagon, and various health and welfare agencies and volunteer organizations provide perfect opportunities for service and indirect witnessing. They also provide personal satisfaction. Why not give such a venture a try?

Seventy in Spring Graduation

Seventy seniors, representing eleven states and twelve foreign countries, were graduated the week end of May 30-June 1.

Lowell Bock, president of the Southern New England Conference, was the Friday evening consecration speaker.

Elder W. J. Hackett, a vice-president of the General Conference, gave the baccalaureate sermon on Sabbath morning.

Dr. Gertrude Gibson, former chairman of the Secretarial Science Department, congratulates Pharoyn Von Gunten, one of her majors. Pharoyn has joined the staff of Ozark Academy in Arkansas.

Charles Eusey is congratulated by Edward Hoffmeyer, who graduated in 1968. Charles' mother, Kathryn Osterblom-Eusey, graduated from AUC in 1940. Charles plans to take a law course at Villanova University in Pennsylvania this fall.

The commencement address was given at ten o'clock Sunday morning by Elder Wilber Alexander of Andrews University's Theological Seminary.

Class officers included Alan Bock, president; Ruth Bettle, vice-president; Geneva Simons, secretary; John Cameron, treasurer; Robert Farley, pastor; and William Allen, parliamentarian. Dr. John Christian, professor of history, was the class sponsor.

This was the first year that an Associate in Science degree in secretarial science was offered. Susan Neumann and Brenda Worden earned this degree.

The Associate in Science degree in nursing has been offered for five years. The spring class included Robert G. Zabady earning this degree.

Placing Cash Reserves in the Lord's Work

The knowledge that your savings are aiding the Lord's work while they are earning a good return can be yours.

The New England Memorial Hospital expects to open the new addition, which will make it a 300-bed hospital, in October of this year. The banks have loaned money for the new building, but additional funds are needed for the equipment. In fact, the hospital has budgeted $550,000 to be loaned by the membership of the Atlantic Union Conference. To date we have received approximately $150,000, which leaves us $400,000 yet to be raised.

The interests rates are determined by the length of time the money is loaned to the hospital. They are equal to, or better than, what you would receive at your local bank or through a savings and loan association.

If you desire more information on hospital loans, please fill in the blank below. There is much satisfaction in having your reserve funds aiding the work of God while they earn a good return for you.

Oak Park Academy Alumni Week End

September 19-21, 1969

There are four big reasons why you will come to this year's big alumni week end at O.P.A.:

1. You will hear Elder Paul De-Booy (Class of '44), associate world youth leader, just after his return from Zurich, Switzerland.

2. You will be challenged by Elder Francis Wernick (Class of '37), dynamic president of the Lake Union Conference.

3. You will tour Soviet Russia in color Saturday night with Dr. Willard Register (Class of '42), and on Sunday enjoy the usual happy alumni banquet.

4. You will be able to show due appreciation to your alma mater, renew precious friendships, and honor classmates of the special anniversary classes:

1919 — 50-year class

1944 — 25-year class

1959 — 10-year class

REMEMBER the date is earlier this year—September 19-21! It will be a wonderful home-coming!

You will be there!

COON—Emma Jane Higby-Coon passed away July 11, 1969, at Portland, Tennessee, at the age of 101. She was the widow of Charles S. Coon, who served as a minister and church elder in the New York Conference for over 40 years.

"Mother" Coon was born near Constableville, New York, on August 3, 1867. She attended the Seventh-day Adventist school at Rome, New York. The Coons raised eight sons, five of whom became ministers.

Survivors include six sons: Elder Clinton, of Washington, D.C.; Elder Miles, of Ridgetop, Tennessee; Lane, of El Cajon, California; David, of Union Springs, New York; Elder Lester, of Collegedale, Tennessee; and Elder Glenn, of Roan Mountain, Tennessee; twenty-two grandchildren; fifty-six great-grandchildren; and three great-great-grandchildren.

The funeral service was conducted at the community church in Lincklaen, New York, by A. J. Patzer, president of the New York Conference, with the writer assisting. Interment was at the cemetery in nearby Lincklaen Center.

ERLING ODELL, JR.

FOLSOM—Marion E. Folsom, seventy-four, daughter of the late Eben and Minnie (Bradley) Folsom of Dexter, Maine, died in February, 1969, at a nursing home in Milford, New Hampshire.

Marion graduated from the Dexter High School and took courses at South Lancaster which prepared her to teach church school for fifteen years. Later, she learned to care for the elderly and her services were in demand for a number of years in her native state.

Her sisters, Margaret Fizer, a nurse, and Josephine Crandall, a teacher, preceded her in death.

Burial was in the North Village Cemetery, Lancaster, Massachusetts. Memorial services were held Wednesday, June 25, at the grave with Elder Chester E. Kellogg officiating.

MOORE—Edmund Frederick Moore, affectionately known as "Fred," was born in Cottrell's Cove, Newfoundland, Canada, on October 17, 1874. He was the son of Sarah Jane and John Moore. Fred left Newfoundland in December, 1900, and went to New York. After working for a few years with the New Haven Railroad Company, he accepted employment as carpenter-foreman with the George A. Fuller Construction Company and continued in this position for thirty-five years.

While living in Brooklyn, New York, he attended a series of meetings, at the Academy of Music, and was baptized by Pastor William A. Fagal, and became a member of the Washington Avenue (Brooklyn) church. He assisted Pastor Fagal on one of his very early television programs. In 1954 he came to Denver, Colorado, and resided with his niece, Minnetta G. Barnes, until the time of his death, in Porter Memorial Hospital, on February 1, 1969.

He leaves to mourn: two stepsons, George L. Bright, of St. Petersburg, Florida; and Robert I. Bright, of Great Barrington, Massachusetts; and a stepdaughter, Helen DeBow, of Bellerose, New York; four nieces, Lillian Owen, of New Zealand; Hilda Barnes, of England; Stella Compton, of Newfoundland; and Minnetta Barnes, of Denver; and many other relatives.

Interment was at the Chapel Hill Memorial Gardens, Littleton, Colorado. Services were conducted by Lloyd W. Austin, associate pastor of the Denver South church, and Chaplain E. E. Christian, of Porter Memorial Hospital.
