ON THE COVER

The First World Youth Congress

These three young ladies from Mexico, who posed in their native costumes just outside of the Congress' registration and display building, were just a few of the hundreds who attended, wearing the traditional garb of their native lands.

Between 12,000 and 15,000 persons filled Zurich's Hallenstadion—a huge sports arena, for the five-day World Youth Congress, July 22-26. The large audiences heard presentations from the platform both in English and German, through interpreters. Thirteen other languages were translated by special interpreters, housed in booths off to the side of the main platform, and their words were picked up by special transistor radios procured for this purpose.

Two hundred seventy-five young people of the Atlantic Union Conference joined youth from all over the world at Zurich, Switzerland, for the church's first World Youth Congress held there, July 22-26.

Along with youth of our union and from all over America, came delegates from places like Sarawak, Kenya, Pakistan, Germany, Guam, and from Singapore, Canada, Peru, Tanzania, Czechoslovakia—an army of more than 12,000 young people who came to have part in this mammoth gathering of youth.

With the theme "Follow Me," the Congress opened with Elder Theodore Carcich, general vice-president of the General Conference, as keynote speaker on Tuesday evening, July 22. Other denominational leaders who addressed the delegates were Robert H. Pierson, president of the General Conference, and Neal C. Wilson, vice-president for North America. Elder E. E. Cleveland, of the General Conference Ministerial Association, presented three messages during the Congress entitled, "Truth for Youth." Key figures in our denominational youth organization led in programs throughout the Congress, under the leadership of Elder Theodore E. Lucas, world youth leader.

The Congress convened at the Hallenstadion, a large indoor sports arena in the heart of picturesque Zurich. The delegates were housed in public school buildings and shared dormitory-like accommodations for the duration of the meetings. Catered meals were served in a huge facility adjacent to the meeting place where thousands were quickly fed in rotating shifts. Meals were provided by tickets which were supplied the delegates as part of their fare. The programs were presented from the platform in English and German with translations provided. Translations were also provided in 11 other languages with the use of special transistor receivers to those who requested them.

The Congress was not intended as a series of preaching services for the youth, but rather as a series of reports, pageants, dramatizations, and musical programs by youth to youth.

A four-hundred-instrument "trombone choir" provided stirring music of the gospel at each of the morning services and choirs of various lands pealed forth harmonious strains, singing in individual groups or in mass choirs. Most impressive was the presentation of colors, with 115 national flags unfurled on the main platform with each standard-bearer dressed in the colorful costumes of his or her country. Each day, young people shared in programs like "Youth Speaks," "Youth In Action," "Youth in a Needy World," and "Youth International." In each program young Adventists told of what they were doing and what they were planning to do to share their faith.

Each morning a "Youth in Action" program was featured at the Congress. While a report was given from the desk (left) on the means used by the youth of Germany and Austria in sharing their faith, the young people illustrated the report. The signs above, in German, are translated (left to right): "Five-Day Plans," "Music Ministry," and "Song Ministry." Two other signs not visible in the above photo were labeled "Bible Speaks" and "Book Ministry."

"Youth In Action" portrayed the work of Seventh-day Adventist young people the world over. In South America, for example, youth are faithfully witnessing for Christ through Voice of Youth evangelism, Bible-in-the-Hand programs, and through Friendship teams. Elder Francisco Siquiera, youth leader of the South American Division, reported that 42 churches were established in one year in his field as the result of such youth witnessing! In the Inter-American Division, it was reported that 4,000 persons were baptized in a single day with much credit going to the work of our youth! It was a moving experience to receive greetings from 5,000 young people in Cuba who were not able to attend the Congress.

Vicki Johnson, a student of Madison Academy, told of a program called "Teen Dial," in which Adventist youth help other teen-agers with their problems via telephone. She said 30,000 called in Madison, Tennessee, for help. The mayor of that city was so impressed with what Adventist youth were doing he officially set aside a "Youth Problem Week" in his city and specially cited our young people. At Pacific Union College in Angwin, California, two hundred were baptized in one school year through student soul-winning activities.

Over in Australia our youth caught a vision to reach souls in towns surrounding Queensland. The problem was how to travel the distances involved. They struck on the idea of "Airways Evangelism," and literally worked to finance the hire of a five-seater airplane and 40 Bibles. Their target was a city called Gundawunde with a population of 4,000. The youth flew there, went from door to door, and placed Bibles into the hands of eager people. They finally placed 100 Bibles in that town. This was the first of many groups "down under," to witness via Airways Evangelism. At least two other youth groups duplicated this effort in other localities and many interests have developed as a result.

In the Central European Division youth share their faith through the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking as well as through the Bible Speaks plan and Book Evangelism, and Southern European young people engage others in dialogue through discussion groups.

Jerome Davis, a student of Columbia Union College in Takoma Park, Maryland, told of how he and many other youth of the school are engaged in a project of working in the inner city of Washington, D.C., tutoring children and helping teen-agers. As a result of this practical missionary activity, a number of the parents of these youth are attending church and numerous non-Adventist students are attending the college there.

There are thousands of youth whose dedication has brought persecution upon them. Elder Gilbert Bertochini of the Far Eastern Division told of Kumar, a Hindu teen-ager in Singapore, who was beaten, threatened, and finally banished from his home when he decided to become a Seventh-day Adventist. Kumar is a type of many other youth in non-Christian lands who bravely stand for their convictions in the face of opposition.

Then, there is the everyday witnessing of youth, like a twenty-one-year-old Finnish girl named Arja-Laiisa Vapalahti who told the delegates during one of the sessions: "Self-reliance is dangerous, but Christ-reliance will help youth meet victoriously every problem which comes today." Her testimony was that only through a Christian orientation can you know how to set the right principles in today's encounter with materialism, sex,

Left: the youth of Czechoslovakia made an inspiring presentation of what it takes to witness for the message in their homeland during one of the "Youth International" evening meetings. Right: Dozens of eye-catching booths and displays illustrated graphically the international nature of the work of the church. Above, youth from France visit together.

Elder E. E. Cleveland, of the General Conference Ministerial Association, addressed the youth, July 23-25, on messages entitled, "Truth for Youth." Through an interpreter, above, he challenged: "Young people know truth when they hear it, but they know it quicker when they see it, for truth in walking-working shoes is the truth that counts." Thousands rededicated themselves to Christ as a result of the messages presented at the Congress.

On Sabbath, July 26, a number of faith-sharing groups fanned out into the city of Zurich to witness. Each group attracted an audience with music and then the youth distributed literature. Dressed in cowboy outfits, the Southeastern California youth band performed in one of the parks. Above, a young lady (left) dressed in garb of the Old West provided literature to a Swiss family who came to hear the youth play.

and dope. Arja-Laiisa is preparing to be a medical missionary.

From almost every quarter of the world field came reports of witnessing activity by our youth which has resulted in people taking their stand for Christ. The Trans-African Division reported the highest number of baptisms—39,618 since the last General Conference session, through the youth Share Your Faith projects. The Inter-American Division is second with 17,652 baptisms.

A number of youth groups devoted time to "Park and Street Corner" evangelism during the Congress, to witness to the citizens of Zurich. Following a musical program, a brief message was presented in German to those who gathered in each of the places where the faith-sharing groups visited. In each instance, large numbers of spectators gathered and were provided with literature concerning the work of Adventist youth. It was interesting to watch the reactions of the people who came to see and hear what the young people were doing. One youth group consisted of Elder William Dopp's Pine Springs Ranch Band of the Southeastern California Conference, dressed in red shirts and white cowboy hats, followed by a group from the Camarons pounding out their music on hollowed-out wooden logs.

Other faith-sharing groups who witnessed in Zurich consisted of a Polish choir, a Latin American men's trio, a Czechoslovakian choir, and a German brass band.

The Friday evening program of the Congress featured a "Festival of Praise" with a mass choir blending their voices in hymns of praise to God. A consecration service was conducted following the musicale by Elder Theodore Lucas.

At the Sabbath afternoon "Youth In Action" service, a new program of witnessing called "One to One Evangelism," was presented by the General Conference MV Department. The plan shows Christian youth how to confront other teen-agers and lead them to accept Christ as their personal Saviour. This approach is intended to be strictly Christ-centered, rather than doctrine-centered. Two small booklets entitled, The Five Spiritual Facts, and Do You Know the Four Steps to Spiritual Growth help the youth approach others about accepting Jesus as their Lord. A colorful youth-oriented edition of Steps of Christ entitled Real Happiness Is, a gift Bible, and a modern translation of the New Testament, are provided as the main tools in this project. This literature is provided for those who are contacted and show an interest. Success has been realized where this program has been followed and it is hoped that many will be led to Christ through the "One to One" method of evangelism in the future.

After five days the citizens of Zurich realized that some 12,000 Adventist youth had not come to their city for a series of "sit-ins" or to riot or destroy, but rather in the words of one youth leader "to unite in a consecration of their lives to the service of God and to their fellow man." The local newspaper, which gave three full pages to the coverage of the Congress, stated the situation in these words:

"During the five days of the Seventh-day Adventists' World Youth Congress, we have a living example of what happens when young people allow God to make a change in their character. Here we find thousands of young people from nearly every nation in the world, living, worshipping, working together in peace and harmony . . . to demonstrate to the entire world that this is a successful and practical way of life."

Elder Neal C. Wilson closed the great youth convocation calling for the youth to dedicate themselves to full-time Christian living and service, saying, "A personal relationship with Jesus Christ is the first necessity for anyone seeking to help the world—and himself."

These words were, in effect, the gist of the messages of each speaker who preceded him—an appeal to youth to let Christ take control of their lives.

Feeding three meals a day to thousands of people who attended the Congress was handled with smoothness and dispatch. The meal tickets supplied the delegates had a specific time stamped on them when the holders were to take their meals, so that large numbers were easily cared for in shifts. A large dining hall was set up adjacent to Hallenstadion.

On this high note the delegates, who had traveled from almost every land in the world, began their journeys homeward better equipped to live and work for Christ and brimming with the inspiration they had gained from the church's first World Youth Congress.

Delegates to the World Youth Congress in Zurich, Switzerland, saw the imposing Grossmünster—the largest Romanesque church in the country—rising up from the banks of the Limmat River which flows through Zurich. Nearby is a memorial statue of Ulrich Zwingli, the Protestant Swiss reformer.

Atlantic Union President Retires

The farewell banquet held on August 4.

On the occasion of the retirement of Elder F. R. Millard, president of the Atlantic Union Conference, the union office family, the local conference presidents and their wives, and the union institutional administrators and their wives met together on August 4 to bid farewell to Elder and Mrs. F. R. Millard.

Elder Millard has completed nearly forty-three years of service for the church including five years as president of the Atlantic Union Conference. He came to the Atlantic Union after having served as an associate secretary of the General Conference in Washington, D.C., for a period of six years. Prior to that post, he and Mrs. Millard had served in the mission fields of the Far Eastern Division for a total of twenty-seven years of which thirteen were spent in the Japan Union Mission. He was one of the few missionaries of the church who really mastered the Japanese language. He could not only read and speak the Japanese language fluently, but could also write the difficult Chinese characters that are also used by the Japanese people. His proficiency in the Japanese language led to his assignment with the United States government during World War II, where he served for three years helping to decode the Japanese messages that were received.

Elder Millard's counsel and leadership will be missed by his many friends and associates here in the Atlantic Union.

Mrs. Millard has in excess of thirty years of service in her own right, having served as a teacher prior to their mission service, and for many years carrying the responsibilities of the Sabbath School Department in the Japan Union Mission. After returning to Washington, D.C., in 1958 she served as a secretary in the Sabbath School Department of the General Conference.

Atlantic Union College cafeteria, a program honoring the Millards was presented.

Dr. S. K. Gernet, chairman of the Fine Arts Division of Atlantic Union College, played several appropriate piano selections.

Alban Millard, chairman of the Department of Behavioral Science of Atlantic Union College, reminisced as only a brother could do regarding some of the early days of Elder and Mrs. Millard.

Elder L. L. Reile, president of the Greater New York Conference, spoke in behalf of the conference presidents and Gerald Shampo, administrator of the Fuller Memorial Sanitarium, spoke in behalf of the union institutional administrators, each expressing sincere appreciation for the leadership and counsel which Elder Millard had given the various organizations.

A beautiful bouquet of red roses was presented to Mrs. Millard by Mrs. K. W. Tilghman, the wife of the Atlantic Union Conference secretary-treasurer. Elder Tilghman presented Elder Millard with a check representing the combined gifts of individuals and organizations in the union.

After a full, rich, and rewarding term of service, the Millards are retiring in Le Grand, California. They left with the prayers and best wishes of their fellow workers and all those who have benefited by their loving ministry.

"These Times" Wins ACP Merit Award

These Times, one of the leading Seventh-day Adventist evangelistic magazines, has received an Award of Merit from the Associated Church Press at its recent national convention in Atlanta, Georgia. These Times is published monthly by the Southern Publishing Association, Nashville, Tennessee.

Kenneth J. Holland, editor of the magazine, indicates that the Associated Church Press presents awards annually in recognition of outstanding performance in religious journalism. Judges take into consideration the magazine's content, appearance, and the imagination used in fulfilling the magazine's stated purpose.

According to Elder Holland, much credit for the accomplishment goes to Bob Nixon, assistant editor, and Charles Cook, art editor, as well as to the entire Southern Publishing Association staff. "For a conservative, Bible-centered, Christ-exalting journal to be so highly honored in this day of liberal theology and emphasis on the social gospel is an amazing phenomenon, attributable only to the working of the Holy Spirit," he says.

Other general religious magazines receiving awards at the Atlanta meeting were: United Church Herald, Christian Century, and Presbyterian Survey. Judging was done by three journalists, none of whom are members of Associated Church Press. There were more than 60 entries in this year's competition, according to Holland.

The Associated Church Press has 200 Protestant, Catholic, Orthodox and Anglican members in the United States and Canada, with a combined readership of more than 24 million. Elder Holland served as a member of the organization's Board of Directors from 1963 to 1966.

New Worker Called to Voice of Prophecy

At a recent Executive Committee meeting of the Voice of Prophecy a call was placed for the services of Elder Herbert P. Ford, public relations and radio-TV director for the Pacific Union Conference. He has accepted the call and will assume his new responsibilities on September 1. Elder D. V. Pond, who has so faithfully and energetically carried this responsibility for a long period of time, has responded to the call of being co-ordinator of the coming youth broadcast. We have appreciated the services of Elder Pond through the years and are glad that he can stay with us in this new capacity.

Elder Ford is a native of Texas. He has been in public relations work since 1954 when he became public relations, religious liberty, and industrial relations director of the Southern California Conference. In 1957 he accepted a call to the assistant directorship of the Bureau of Public Relations of the General Conference. After serving there for a period of time he returned to California in 1959 to direct the public relations and radio-TV work of the Southern California Conference, with the additional responsibility of public relations director for the Glendale Adventist Hospital. In 1963 he was called to the Pacific Union Conference as public relations and radio-TV secretary in which capacity he is serving today.

The Voice of Prophecy is fortunate to secure the services of a man with a wealth of experience and excellent training in public relations work for the church. In addition to scores of articles, Elder Ford is the author of the following books: Wind High, Sand Deep; Flee the Captor; and No Guns on Their Shoulders. The Ford family will be a welcome addition to the program of evangelism carried on by the Voice of Prophecy. We welcome Elder and Mrs. Ford and their three daughters: Jana, Cynthia, and Alyssa.

Faith for Today Decision Series Continues

Faith for Today decision series began on Staten Island, September 5, at the beautiful Shalimar, 2380 Hylan Boulevard. Pastor Gordon F. Dalrymple spoke on current events in the light of Bible prophecy, pointing to campus riots, city unrest, abject poverty in the midst of great wealth, man's landing on the moon, and the current global armament race as sure indications of our Lord's soon return.

Singing at the first two meetings was the National Seventh-day Adventist Choir, directed by Frank de Araujo.

Illustrating the lectures were color slides, overhead projection, and black-light.

Associates of Pastor Dalrymple in the series are Pastors William Goransson, Roy Thurmon, Judge Brummell, Wayne Hancock, Ray Nelson, and Mrs. Gwendolyn Dorr, Bible worker.

Meetings are being held Saturday and Sunday afternoons at three o'clock, and Friday and Wednesday nights at 7:00.

Bibles, books, and pictures are being given those attending.

If you live in the vicinity of Staten Island, plan to attend the meetings whenever possible. Bring a friend with you.

Three from Atlantic Union Attend Food Service Workshop

Three persons from the Atlantic Union Conference were among the forty-five enrolled in this summer's food service supervisors' workshop at Andrews University.

They were Miss Willa MacLaren and Robert D. Roberts from Pioneer Valley Academy, and Robert G. Fleischmann from Adventist Home, Inc., Livingston, New York.

The three-week workshop was designed to train food service personnel in ways of improving food standards; to review principles in food preparation and service, and in the purchasing and use of equipment; and to teach through laboratory experience in the university cafeteria.

A workshop stressing food service supervision will be held next summer.

After completing two summer workshops plus nine months of in-service training in his own institution, a participant becomes eligible for membership in the Hospital, Institution, and Educational Food Service Society (HIEFSS).

Greater New York

Metropolitan Crusade News

Twenty-one students from Andrews University are in New York City participating in three evangelistic campaigns being simultaneously conducted in the Bronx, Brooklyn, and Manhattan.

The day begins in a rather unglamorous fashion as each student participates in "KP duties" at the New York Center where they are lodging. Breakfast is followed by three hours of required classwork under three city evangelists and other guest speakers including Dr. W. G. C. Murdoch, dean of the Seminary at Andrews University. While the men are attending class, some of the wives are preparing the noon meal and a sack lunch for each person to take along as he leaves immediately after lunch for visitation and personal work in a preassigned section of the city.

Metro Crusade Director Roy Thurmon states that the ministerial graduates will be visiting personally with a large percentage of the 28,000 people who have telephoned or written for literature offered on the It Is Written telecast, or who are currently enrolled in the Faith for Today or Voice of Prophecy Bible courses.

At night the students will assist with the three evangelistic efforts being conducted. Ten are associated with George Rainey in the Bronx, seven with Ron Halvorsen in Brooklyn, and four with Bill Jackson in Manhattan.

NBC is once again televising the Five-Day Plan in New York City. During June it was carried at 6:30 a.m. each morning, five days a week, for two weeks. This resulted in 200 telephone calls and 800 mail responses. Now the program is being repeated with one segment being shown each Saturday afternoon for ten weeks. If the present rate of response holds up, the total inquiries should reach between two and three thousand. Each individual is notified of forthcoming Plan dates in their own area.

Bible Story Hour Success Story

Early in the year, the Kingston church launched a Bible Story Hour in the home of the associate pastor, Lyle Pollett, in Saugerties, New York. The Story Hour is held each Sabbath afternoon from 4:00 to 5:00. Invitations were distributed in the neighborhood housing development inviting children aged seven through twelve to attend.

Each week the attendance increased, reaching forty-two on March eight. Children from almost all of the local denominations have been coming to hear the Bible stories. Many of them have not missed a single session since the program started.

We feel the program has done much to break down prejudice in the neighborhood and many neighbors are becoming curious about our faith. They have been asking questions as a result of the Story Hour. We feel that this is an excellent way to arouse interest and, at the same time, teach young people what the Bible does say.

Some of the children are studying the It Is Written Bible guides each week in their homes. We look for precious souls for the Master as a result of this Bible Story Hour.

"Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow"

Elder Norberto Mulinari is the speaker on the new Spanish "Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow" radio broadcast. The members of the Royal Ambassadors quartet are, from left: Ray Colom, Francisco Ramos, Luis Cadiz, and Ricardo Garcia.

A new program in Spanish "Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow," began June 28 in the Greater New York area over station WADO. It is heard at 1280 kc each Sunday from 9:00 a.m. to 9:15 a.m. The speaker for the program is Elder Norberto Mulinari, pastor of the Central Brooklyn church.

Spanish air time is hard to obtain in the New York area, and Adventists have been trying to get on WADO for a long time. When a providential opening appeared, the Spanish churches in the Greater New York Conference decided to buy a year's contract and share in the expenses.

Elder Mulinari is an experienced speaker, having appeared on television for four years in Uruguay, South America. He will have the help of the talented Royal Ambassadors quartet, composed of Ray Colom, Francisco Ramos, Luis Cadiz, and Ricardo Garcia. This group has been singing together since 1962, and has appeared at camp meetings, a General Conference session, and on tour in South America.

One immediate purpose of the broadcast will be to prepare the way for a series of evangelistic meetings slated to begin at 8:00 p.m., September 6, in the Central Brooklyn Auditorium, 167 Graham Street, in Brooklyn. Meetings will be held Sunday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday each week for two months.

The speaker for these special meetings will be Braulio Perez Marcio of Glendale, California, regular speaker for the Spanish Voice of Prophecy radio broadcast. During the first ten days of the meetings, the King's Herald quartet will be present to sing gospel songs in Spanish. Elder Marcio will also speak frequently on the "Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow" broadcast while he is in the area.

The Spanish Central Brooklyn congregation is making preparation for the fall meetings. Each Sabbath afternoon instruction is being given to help laymen in the presentation of Bible studies. Already some eighty studies are being given each week.

Livingston Revival Results in Baptism

The week of June 7-15 made history at the Adventist Home in Livingston. This was the week that Elder Dan W. Schiffbauer, assisted by Pastor Lyle Pollett, held a one-week revival in the chapel of the Adventist Home.

The Lord blessed richly during this week. Over 100 persons attended several of the meetings. On Tuesday night when the message was on the Sabbath, the total attendance was 108 with 35 non-Adventist present.

Each night prior to the meeting, three prayer bands met and prayed for the presence of the Holy Spirit. These prayer bands were to a large extent responsible for the wonderful results experienced. On Saturday night when the call was made, eleven persons went forward. One week later on June 21, seven of these individuals were baptized.

Many victories for Jesus were won during this week. One man gave us a large can of tobacco along with seven pipes, his tobacco pouch, and lighter. Others laid aside their jewelry.

Among those who helped to make these meetings a success were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kolesnikoff and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Benson who helped with the music. A large evangelistic effort will begin in Kingston on September 7. We hope your prayers will join ours in asking the Lord to do tremendous things during these meetings.

Nineteen Baptized in Elmira-Corning District

The above picture is part of the group of nineteen recently baptized in the Elmira-Corning district. The baptism followed a six-week public evangelistic crusade conducted in the beautiful Elmira church. The regional church school also played a major role in this baptism in providing Christian education for the youth. Truly, Christian education is evangelism of the highest order.

Annual Vacation Bible School a Success

Summer may be a vacation from an ordinary daily routine of life, but never is there a vacation from the privilege of our Christian service. This spirit of consecration was genuinely manifested as the Elmira church members joyfully and enthusiastically conducted their annual Vacation Bible School as a public community service to reach the unchurched children and youth of the area. Pictured above is the Vacation Bible School group directed by Mrs. William Parker. Division leaders were Mrs. Merrill Bowers, Jr., primary; Mrs. Henry A. Uhl, kindergarten; Mrs. Thomas Patterson, juniors; plus many other dedicated workers. Let us pray that as a result of such a school parents and children can be won to Christ and saved in His soon-coming kingdom of glory.

Northeastern Loses Veteran Worker

On Sabbath, July 19, 1969, the long and fruitful ministry of one of the most colorful workers of the Northeastern Conference came to an abrupt end. Elder Howard David Warner passed away suddenly while he was delivering the Sabbath sermon at the Christian Fellowship church, Brooklyn, New York.

Elder Warner first heard the third angel's message in Philadelphia in 1929 through the preaching of the late J. E. Cox. He embraced the truth and was baptized into the Seventh-day Adventist Church. He began his labors in the Adventist church in September, 1930, as a literature evangelist. In 1935, he was made a field secretary of the Publishing Department in the East Pennsylvania Conference. In 1944 he was chosen publishing secretary for the Allegheny Conference.

During this time, he met and wed the former Mrs. Tonsa LaVett. Through this merger, he became the fond father of her two children, "Bunny" and "Sister." Later on he took a grandchild, Samuel, into his home and reared him as a son.

Elder Warner was sent to a pastorate in Cincinnati, Ohio, at the Shiloh church where he stayed for three and one-half years. Next he was recalled to the post of publishing secretary for the Allegheny Conference where he served for eight years.

In 1955 he was called to Northeastern Conference to serve in the same capacity. This he did until 1965. Though being in failing health for some time, he always felt that he had to keep on working for the Master.

His last tour of duty was as pastor of the Christian Fellowship church. He worked earnestly and prayerfully. His greatest joy was in being able to move this church to larger quarters. He died as he would surely want to go, working for God.

He leaves to mourn their loss a loving, devoted wife, Tonsa; two children, McClain LaVett and Mrs. Violet Barnhart; a brother, Maurice Burke; an aunt, Mrs. Annabelle Nach; seven grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; and a host of other relatives.

The funeral service was held on Tuesday, July 22, 1969, at the Bethel church, in Brooklyn. G. R. Earle, president of Northeastern Conference, delivered the eulogy.

White Plains Sabbath School

Mrs. Rosemary Randall, cradle roll and kindergarten division leader of the White Plains church, reports a very successful Thirteenth Sabbath offering in her department.

The little girl in the middle holds up a number of dollar bills in addition to having them pinned on her dress.

The children also gave a program for the benefit of the adult Sabbath school and were well received.

Bethel News Notes

Three evangelistic efforts are being conducted in the Brooklyn area by the pastor and members of the Bethel church from July through the early part of September.

- Pastor E. J. Humphrey is preaching at the canvas auditorium which is located on New Lots Avenue between Elton and Linwood Streets.

- Byron Best, who is the Northeastern Lay Activities Federation president, is leading out in an effort on Bergen Street and is assisted by Walter Arties.

- Alphonso Williams, a local elder, is holding his effort in the Coney Island section of Brooklyn. He is located at 2222 Mermaid Avenue.

The vision of three new churches from these efforts is in view. Pray for them as they go forth in faith.

Long Island Laymen's Federation Meets

The object of these gatherings is to inspire and train the laity of the church to play a more effective role in the work of soul winning.

This summer four teams of laymen are presently engaged in evangelistic crusades. A good harvest of souls is expected.

New Bus Will Aid Transportation

The Northeastern Academy has purchased a 1969 Ford bus to aid in transporting the academy students to many educational and missionary activities. The academy experienced difficulty in getting the school chorale and band to the various appointments that they had to fulfill. The large instruments can now be transported on the bus which has a special luggage compartment. More appointments can now be filled in churches which are on the outskirts of New York City. Above: Principal J. E. Roache, stands beside Northeastern Academy's 1969 Ford bus.

Perhaps the greatest need of the Northeastern Academy is the need for classroom space. This need keeps hundreds of Seventh-day Adventist youth from attending a Christian school, where the Bible is made the foundation of all education. Much more effort must be exerted to get building facilities in which to conduct a first-rate educational program for the youth of New York City and its environs.

Hartford Church in Need of Larger Quarters

Faith church in Hartford, Connecticut, is in desperate need of a larger building. So crowded is the Sabbath service that a good portion have to view the worship service by closed-circuit television in the lower auditorium.

According to Dudley A. Thorne, pastor of this growing congregation, the situation becomes more acute each week. During the first six months of 1969, the membership rose from 176 to 217. Under Pastor Thorne's dynamic leadership, the congregation has raised $18,000 for their building fund during this same six-month period. This financial drive was highlighted by a special rally day on which the members turned in $8,000.

The congregation is now negotiating for another building where the membership can be adequately housed.

Youth Day at Prophetic Voice Church

Young people were truly in the forefront at the Prophetic Voice church, Staten Island, New York, on Sabbath, July 19. It was Youth Day, and from the Sabbath school period through the afternoon Missionary Volunteer hour the church's youth were in charge.

Nineteen-year-old Yvonne Green was Sabbath school superintendent. Rebecca Stefanesen, age ten, served as secretary. All other participants on the Sabbath school program were young people.

The morning message was presented in four parts by Halsted Green, Rochelle Grant, Luther Wilson, and Frazier Woods. The theme was "True Conversion." Geneva Wilson thrilled the congregation by her vocal presentation of "I'll Walk With God."

The South Brooklyn MV Society presented the young people's program in the afternoon.

Pastor Judge Brummell expressed his gratitude to the youth for the effective job they had done in presenting the entire Sabbath day services. He stated the young people should be given the opportunity to lead out in the church more frequently. "In order to continue the work begun by the adults," concluded Pastor Brummell, "children must begin now to work for the Lord."

VBS a First at Christian Fellowship Church

A Vacation Bible School was conducted at the Christian Fellowship church for the first time in the thirty-two years of its existence.

There were thirty-three children enrolled during the first week and forty-six during the second week.

Mrs. Isabelle Gill, superintendent, led out in the Vacation Bible School and was assisted by Mrs. Adel Davis. The school was divided into three classes during the two-week period it was in operation. The curriculum included classes in art, crafts, Bible stories, and games. Mrs. Thelma Thorpe, Mrs. Delores Trotman, Mrs. Hannah Williams, and Miss Katherine Armstrong served as instructors.

In addition to the classes conducted, the children, ranging in ages from three to thirteen, were taken on a field trip to Prospect Park in Brooklyn.

On Sabbath afternoon, July 19, they presented their closing program. During the program awards were made to Frank Griffith, Miss Linda Williams, and Miss Katherine Armstrong for outstanding service rendered to the school.

Upon conclusion of the program, refreshments were served to the pupils while the parents and guests viewed the creations of the children which were on display.

Northern New England

Conference Total Evangelism Program

How marvelous it is to look over the Northern New England Conference reports for the year thus far and see the progress in soul winning.

Surely the Lord has blessed in the many evangelistic thrusts. At the end of July more than one hundred souls have been baptized.

At the present time, the Northern New England Conference has two full-time evangelists, Elder Joel O. Tompkins, whose efforts are principally in Maine and New Hampshire; and Elder Rolf Lindfors, who is serving in the state of Vermont. Many of our local pastors are also carrying heavy evangelistic programs in their districts.

It is our desire that every inhabitant in our conference may have the privilege of knowing about the soon coming of our Lord, so that they may learn of His love for them.

In order that this may be accomplished, we hope to further expand our program by employing a third evangelist who would be primarily working in the state of New Hampshire. Also, we plan to expand our efforts in Vermont and Maine.

Therefore, in anticipation of this evangelistic thrust, the conference looks to its membership in the underwriting of the financial aspects of such a program. Sabbath, September 20, is being set aside as Total and Youth Evangelism Commitment Day. Each member in the conference will be given an opportunity to have a financial share in this essential endeavor. Won't you consider this matter and pray that the Holy Spirit will guide you in ascertaining what your part will be?

Remember the date—Sabbath, September 20.

You May Win a Soul

It has been demonstrated that when our people bring their non-Adventist friends and neighbors to all the meetings of a reaping campaign, there is a good prospect that they will see these people take their stand for the truth. The Lord is giving an opportunity along this line at the Portland church, September 13 - 28.

On Saturday, September 13, at 7:30 p.m., Elder J. L. Shuler, one of our well-known evangelists, will begin a short campaign at the White Memorial church in Portland. The opening subject will be: "SA-Day—When Millions Will Go Past the Moon on the Same Day." On Sunday night, Septem-

Evangelistic Meetings Held in Jay Church

A series of evangelistic meetings were concluded in the Jay (Maine) church on Sabbath, July 19.

The speaker for this series of meetings was Elder J. O. Tompkins, ministerial secretary and conference evangelist of the Northern New England Conference. He was assisted by Elder David I. Shaw, pastor of the Woodstock (Maine) district.

The meetings were well supported by the members of the Jay and Dixfield churches.

Nine persons were baptized, and there are several more preparing for baptism.

The Jay church has a membership of 38, and they are happy to have these newly baptized members in their church.

Bath Vacation Bible School

An average of forty-eight children attended the Vacation Bible School in Bath, Maine, twenty-five of whom were from non-Adventist families. Forty-one certificates were given at the closing program on June 23.

Those participating in the two-week program were: Mrs. Doris Thistle, director; Mrs. Eva Pecci and Mrs. Evelyn Grover, kindergarten leaders; Mrs. Brenda Savage and Mrs. Ruth Whitney, primary leaders; Mrs. Juanita Flossman and Mrs. June Gudroe, junior leaders; Robert Grover and Lynn Marie Fitzgerald, junior helpers; Mrs. Gertrude Keslake and Mrs. Josephine Kuykendall, craft instructors; Mrs.

West Lebanon Vacation Bible School A Tremendous Success!

The West Lebanon Vacation Bible School was held in the church from Monday, July 7, through Friday, July 11, and was happily welcomed by approximately 60 enthusiastic children of the West Lebanon area.

The school was supervised by Mrs. P. D. Bakker, wife of P. D. Bakker, the local pastor. She was ably assisted in her efforts by a number of the members of the West Lebanon church, men as well as women, in a number of most helpful ways.

The children who participated in the various activities of the school thought that one week was far too short for such enjoyable summer pleasure offered by the Vacation Bible School.

The closing program was held Friday evening, July 11, in the church and was attended by the parents of many of the happy children who are pictured above.

Much time and effort went into the planning for this Vacation Bible School but it was well worth it, and it proved to be not only a blessing to those who attended the school, but those who led out in the program.

Health Services Inaugurated

Dr. James Crawford assists in the screening tests for glaucoma during camp meeting.

Under the auspices of the New England Memorial Hospital, Stoneham, Massachusetts, two screening clinics were provided free of charge during camp meeting.

On July 2, 234 persons took advantage of the glaucoma screening under the direction of Margaret Horsley, M.D., ophthalmologist in charge. Of the above number, 15 were referred to further glaucoma testing, 15 were referred for refraction, and 16 referred for other pathology.

Five hundred tests for anemia screening were made on July 3, with not a single case of anemia found.

The medical personnel were happy to provide these services to our constituents.

Baptism at New London

The New London (Connecticut) church was the scene of a baptism on May 24. Elder Marion Kidder, from Pioneer Valley Academy and a former pastor at New London, officiated.

Mrs. Gladys Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Minoza, Rose and Michael Clark, and Hope Frechette were voted into the fellowship of the New London church following the service. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Minoza had previously announced their decision to be baptized during the evangelistic campaign held by Elder Lowell Bock last spring. Rose and Michael Clark are children of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Clark who were baptized at the close of that campaign.

Greater Providence, Rhode Island

Voice of Prophecy Crusade

Far left: The Rhode Island School of Design Auditorium (Trinity Square Theatre) proved to be an ideal meeting hall for the recent crusade. Located in the downtown section of Providence, it was easily accessible for those who wished to attend. Working with the evangelistic team were a number of district pastors. They were: William Haynor, Providence district; Alphonse Chabot, assistant pastor, Bridgeport (Connecticut) district; Lee Manning, Willimantic (Connecticut) district; Ronald Flowers, Cape Cod district; George Draper, Brockton (Massachusetts) district; and Russell Adams, Pawtucket (Rhode Island) district. Fifteen laymen also assisted in visitation.

Left: Evangelist Pollard in action! Between four and six hundred persons attended the Voice of Prophecy Crusade, July 2-August 23, to hear the message presented each Friday, Saturday, Sunday, and Wednesday evenings. Some three hundred non-members attended regularly. As of this writing nearly fifty decisions were made to unite with the church and a report of a baptism will be made in a future issue.

Above, Elder Dick Pollard (left) was interviewed on WJAR-TV Channel 10, Providence, by "Talkback" emcee, Jack Comely. For a half hour Elder Pollard had opportunity to touch upon subjects like the Sabbath, occultism, and health reform. A number of persons phoned to ask questions. Occasion was given to "plug" the crusade which was then being conducted.

Brochures and large outdoor billboard and bus card advertisements proved to be most effective in bringing people out to the series.

Left: Mrs. Richard Pollard, wife of the evangelist, and Mrs. George Draper, wife of the pastor of the Brockton district, served as receptionists at the Providence effort and dispensed hundreds of gift Bibles to those who attended the four-week series. Right: David Peterson directed a choir during the series as well as the song service and provided vocal solos. Elder Pollard sang an appeal song at the end of each sermon. Music did play an important role in warming hearts toward God in this campaign.

Baptism at Lawrence

God answered the prayers of the Lawrence (Massachusetts) church members in a marvelous way.

As the church continued to grow, it became more and more difficult to take members to a neighboring church for baptism. They just had to have their own baptistry. The members took the matter to the Lord in prayer, and God answered.

At a board meeting some months later, Pastor George Clavet read a letter he had received from Mrs. Charles Cashman in Florida. She had heard about the organization of the Lawrence church and had followed its growth with interest. Her parents had been members of a small company of believers who had met in Lawrence at the turn of the century. Most of these early members had gone into the Lord's work and the church company was forced to discontinue for lack of members. She felt moved to do something in memory of these people. She enclosed a check in the amount of $500 and asked that it be used for the installation of a baptistry.

On Sabbath, May 17, the new gift was initiated with the baptism of three persons. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beaulieu of Methuen, parents of six children, and Ernest Clegg of Lawrence followed the Lord in baptism. The Beaulieus came into the remnant church through the efforts of Rico Zorrilla and his wife. The Beaulieus, who were Catholics, have become faithful church workers and already are a great asset to the Lawrence church.

Ernest Clegg was first introduced to the church by a subscription to These Times sent by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baker, who are his friends. He accepted the truth when it was shown him and asked for baptism. Ernest has already become a worker for the Lord. Soon after he started studying he found employment at the New England Memorial Hospital as a supervisor of food services.

We are thankful that God answered our prayers in such a signal way and has given these new members to the Lawrence church.

Change in District Leadership

There has been a change in the leadership of the St. Johnsbury district. Pastor Kenneth Millard decided to return to college and complete his degree in biology. He left the conference on June 4 to attend Pacific Union College. After completing his work on his Master's degree, he plans to teach biology. This decision came after many months of careful planning and much prayer. We honor his decision and feel that it was God's will that he should do this.

We wish Pastor and Mrs. Millard God's blessing as they enter their new phase of ministry in God's cause.

We have secured the services of Pastor William E. Dudgeon to fill the vacancy in the district. He has had seventeen years' experience in teaching in the New York, Southern New England, and Michigan conferences. He has been a teacher and principal of three intermediate schools—just recently in Wilson, Michigan. During these years of teaching, Pastor Dudgeon has served as a lay activities leader, Sabbath school superintendent, MV leader, and local elder. He has also assisted the pastors in visiting, Bible studies, and preaching.

Pastor Dudgeon is a graduate of Atlantic Union College and lacks only seven quarter hours of receiving his M.A. degree in school administration.

Mrs. Dudgeon is the former Jane Roberts of Worcester, Massachusetts. She is a graduate of the New England Memorial Hospital.

The Dudgeons have three children—Sharon, William, Jr., and Marcia.

We welcome the Dudgeons to the Northern New England Conference, and may God bless their ministry in the St. Johnsbury district.

Then, gently separate slices and brown in plain cooking oil in a moderately hot pan until crisp. Drain on paper towel.

Stripples Zips

are crunchy, smoky bits of vegetable protein garnish. A fine complement to Stripples, Stripples Zips stay zippy after you open them because of a resealable plastic lid that comes with every can.

Serving Suggestions

Zip up the flavor in eggs, salads, casseroles, sauces, snacks, party mixes, dressings, beans, bread, and just about anything good to eat. A wonderful garnish, adds a great taste, but blends beautifully with other flavors. Assign Stripples Zips a role in your recipes. They're good in almost everything.

1. Pompeii, "the city where time stopped," was a highpoint in the tour of Italy. Two thousand years ago Pompeii was destroyed, with its inhabitants, by volcanic ash during an eruption of Mt. Vesuvius. Above is a plaster cast of a dog trapped in a grotesque pose by the disaster that befell the city. This is part of a display of the museum in the city.

2. The Leaning Tower of Pisa stands at its familiar list, off center, among the surrounding buildings. The youth enjoyed the unusual sensation of climbing the circular, tilting stairway to the top, to view the Italian countryside.

3. Murten was a charming Swiss village that was visited by the tour groups on the way to Zurich. The colorful buildings, decorated with flower boxes, and streets lined with quaint shops made it a memorable place to visit and a favorite spot of photographers.

4. Following the Youth Congress the lovely Swiss city of Geneva was visited. Along with the United Nations Building there, the tour groups visited the famous Reformation Memorial (above) with its statuary honoring the great Protestant reformers.

5. Above is seen the memorial to the thousands of Jews that died in the Dachau concentration camp, near Munich, Germany. The youth were moved by the large wrought-iron design in the foreground which is a stylization of the emaciated mass of human beings who died of malnutrition there or in Dachau's ovens.

6. One of the leading tourist attractions in Rome is the Coliseum. The nearly 2,000-year-old arena, which has stood through the centuries, was the scene of the martyrdom of the early Christians. A large metal cross in the Coliseum memorializes those faithful martyrs who were burned at the stake or fed to wild animals.
