A LOOK AT THE ASSOCIATION OF SELF - SUPPORTING INSTITUTIONS

By L. H. DAVIS

What Is It?

To be a member of the Association of Seventh-day Adventist Self-Supporting Institutions offers not only a challenge, but is an honor. Twelve owners of businesses within the Atlantic Union territory have chosen to become members of this organization, and these faithful Adventist owners, administrators, and staff members are experiencing noteworthy successes in A.S.I. goals.

The Association endeavors to foster and promote the interests of self-supporting enterprises operated by Seventh-day Adventists throughout the North American Division. It encourages our church members to unite their efforts with those of denominationally operated enterprises in the furtherance and extension of the gospel as revealed in the third angel's message to their immediate communities, and to the ends of the earth, according to their abilities and opportunities. The owner commits his enterprise to work in full and complete harmony with the standards and policies of the denomination, in their relationships with conference and church administrations, ministers, and church members, and, as far as possible, with the people of their communities. It seeks to provide a means by which members of the Association can become more effective in their self-supporting work through exchange of information, through co-ordination of objectives and effort, and through the inspiration of Christian fellowship.

The Atlantic Union is mindful of its 12 self-supporting institutions, and even more conscious of the accomplishments they have made in the furtherance and extension of the gospel ministry in the daily program of activities. We invite you to follow through these columns for a glimpse of our A.S.I. successes here in the Atlantic Union Conference.

Glimpses of Havens of Rest

For ten years the Island Terrace Nursing Home in Lakeville, Massachusetts, has been dedicated to the rehabilitation of the convalescent and to the modern therapeutic care for the chronically ill. Overlooking the tranquil and lovely Quittacus and Pocksha Lakes, Island Terrace is located approximately midway between Middleboro and New Bedford, Massachusetts.

The staff is motivated by a spirit of love and understanding, and believe it is a privilege to care for the ill and aged in a well-rounded program aimed at restoring each patient to the best of his capacity and help him maintain his maximum level of health, confidence, and happiness.

Six months ago a new wing built on the existing building added new dimensions of service to the nursing home. The new building consists of three levels. The lower level contains a stainless steel kitchen, dining room overlooking the lake, occupational therapy, physical therapy, beauty shop, doctor's examining room, and a spacious auditorium. On the first floor is the administration department, a large living room, and accommodations for 40 patients. On the second floor is a large living room and beds for 33 patients. Living rooms on both floors have large glass windows making possible full views of the lakes.

The nurses' station on each floor is linked to patient rooms by a light-and-voice communication system. Private, two-, three-, and four-bed rooms are available, all with adjoining toilet facilities. Carpets are used frequently throughout the home in rooms, corridors, and living rooms.

The natural surroundings in which the nursing home is located provides woodland trails, sunny terraces, picnic grounds, and adapted sports, creating an environmental therapy that implements the rehabilitation program.

Grant Tolles, the administrator and owner of the Island Terrace Nursing Home, is shown with his wife, Lucille, studying the A.S.I. policies. Mr. Tolles has 20 years of experience as an administrator and is a graduate of Madison College and the University of Connecticut. Mrs. Tolles is a registered nurse and is the director of nursing service. They head a staff of 40.

Occupational therapy is an important part of the program of the Island Terrace Nursing Home. Above, a patient uses her hands to make useful articles.

A full-time diversional therapy director plans and supervises all occupational and social activities.

Religious services are conducted every other Sunday morning, and mid-week prayer meeting is held on Wednesday evening.

Island Terrace has a capacity of 73 beds and is classified as a skilled nursing home. It is a member of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes and the American Nursing Home Association. It maintains an open medical staff and has the co-operation of the physicians and other medical institutions in the community.

The Belle Haven Rest Home began as a dream and became a reality on December 3, 1959, when Mrs. Walker and her associates purchased the first of two homes in Sayville, New York. Business started slowly, with only five or six guests by the end of 1960.

Mrs. Walker reports that in 1962 their church had some meetings on stewardship and, as a result of those meetings, they decided to dedicate their most expensive room to the church. At the time the room was empty and the stewardship secretary and some others had prayer in that room, dedicating it to God. It was about a month after the dedication before God sent someone to fill that room. Ever since the dedication the money received for that room has gone to carry on God's work, and the room has never been empty for any length of time since, and the home has prospered.

An addition was built onto Belle Haven in 1964, and in 1967 the Cedar Grove Adult Home was purchased. In order to keep the personal touch, no further expansion is planned.

Belle Haven and Cedar Grove have the distinction of being the only rest homes owned by Adventists on Long Island. Morning worship is held every morning and guests are taken to the church they desire to attend. The eldest resident since the business started operating was 102 years of age and the youngest 32. Approximately 224 people have been guests in these two homes.

On March 31, 1967, a 93-year-old lady came to Belle Haven with terminal pneumonia. Her skin was grayish and her limbs were very cold. The doctor sent her there because he thought she wouldn't live to reach the hospital six miles away. The nurses started work on her and for three weeks it was touch and go, but today she goes up and down stairs and looks to be not over 65. Her disposition has changed and her daughter notices the marvelous transformation.

A.S.I.'s Share and Win

The first objective is to operate a successful business; but equally important is the sharing of the Advent message. Here are several experiences of institutions which have combined these two endeavors.

The beautiful structure of Cumberland Sanitarium, located in the country, is chosen because of the love and warmth exerted by those who take care of the patients. Chaplain Francis S. Philbin relates: "One day the social worker from a nearby hospital called and said she had a patient ready for release but that there was one problem. The patient did not want to go anywhere but to the Cumberland Sanitarium; not because of the food, not because of the country surroundings, or the beauty of the building, but because she had learned from a former patient of the love and warmth of those that take care of the patients." How important is such tender love and care; it never goes unnoticed!

The Cumberland Sanitarium serves a lacto-vegetarian diet which is rigidly adhered to and, as a result, there have been countless numbers of patients' relatives who have been introduced to our healthful diet and the standard of the Seventh-day Adventist Christian way of life.

The chaplain relates the following story: "A non-Adventist doctor brought a patient to the Sanitarium requesting that the patient have meat due to her anemia. After much consultation with the doctor he left, very upset, stating that the patient would never get well under this diet. In spite of previous efforts in the hospital, and medicine prescribed by the doctor prior to coming to the Sanitarium, there had been little change in the patient's condition. The patient improved and the doctor now wholeheartedly endorses our diet, along with many other physicians, as well as the dietician from the State of Rhode Island Department of Social Welfare." These medical people and patients may eventually endorse other important doctrines, standards, and principles which God has given to this church, if these standards are always upheld.

Even young student employees share their faith. One of the workers at the Cumberland Sanitarium, a student of Cedar Brook School, asked one of the non-Adventist workers if she would like to attend Sabbath school and church with her. She replied that she would, and that Sabbath she not only went to Sabbath school and church, but that afternoon also went to Pioneer Valley Academy. As the weeks passed this girl continued to attend church, and has just recently asked to be off Sabbaths so that she might attend Sabbath services regularly.

The Gibbs Medical Group in Cortland, New York, is directed by Donald R. Gibbs, M.D., and his associate is Roy Parsons, M.D. Dr. Parsons is the son of Roy Parsons, Sr., who has been a missionary in Angola, Africa, for 30 years.

The Gibbs medical building was built in 1942. They have a full-time X-ray technician, two registered nurses, and 10 other aides, including three secretaries and a bookkeeper.

Dr. Gibbs tells this experience: "About six months ago Mrs. Schlict, the mother of 12 children, came to us at the medical center for help. She had many problems, including a heavy cigarette addiction and a chronic cough. The outlook wasn't very bright for her interest in our Bible study plan.

"In the past three to six months we have given Bible outlines to at least 500 people, and quite a number of these with Bibles; but here was an individual who had little prospect of handling Bible lessons. Nevertheless we presented this plan to her and she began studying her Bible. She was able to stop her smoking and eventually began to attend Sabbath school with her 12 children. She has become faithful in her attendance at Sabbath school. Then the local pastor, Nelson Evans, continued the Bible studies. She was baptized September 27, 1969, the first fruits of this program.

"At present there are over 50 people who have been studying, and we have just mailed a letter inviting these people to come to regular Bible studies on Sunday evenings at the medical building. This project will be a continuing program in our institution."

Dr. Gibbs says that "the greatest joy I have ever personally experienced is sharing God's Word with new interests."

The Elcock Nurses Registry Agency of New York City is an agency which provides employment for registered and practical nurses. They provide employment also for attendants and orderlies, but specialize in nursing services such as private-duty nursing, nursing on a per-diem basis, or providing nurses for staff positions.

The Elcock Nurses Registry Agency is registered with most of the New York metropolitan hospitals and has an employment agency license. It is a member of the Association in the Northeastern Conference. They conduct coaching classes in which a person may earn a high school equivalency diploma, issued upon completion of the course. This agency also administers psychometric tests, which are the entrance exams for nursing schools.

This agency has been in business for 15 years and is run by Mrs. Gwendolyn L. M. Elcock, R.N. She is assisted by Aminta C. N. Burnet, who is the business manager. There are approximately 100 registered and practical nurses working out of the agency. A nurses' preparatory course and other connecting services are offered. A lawyer and instructors with advanced degrees serve on the staff.

Physical therapy helps restore the sick and aged. Above, Mrs. Bertha Cline, one of the patients, uses a wax bath to limber up her hands.

The Belle Haven Rest Home was opened in January, 1960, when the Walker and Lacey families purchased the building pictured above. This was the first of two homes.

The second home, Cedar Grove Adult Home, is about two and one-half miles from the Belle Haven Rest Home.

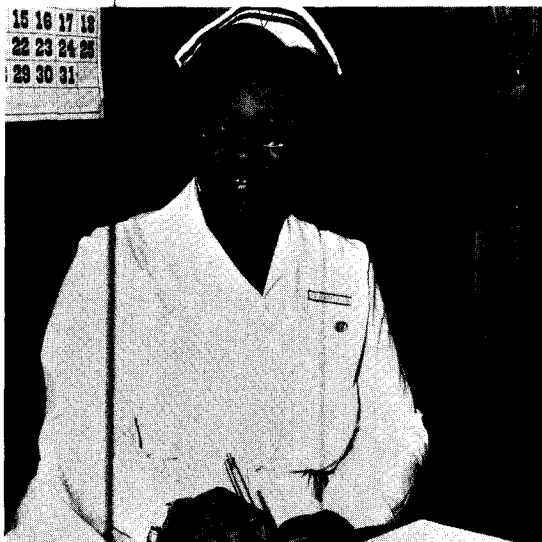

Walter Spady, administrator of the Cumberland Sanitarium, has recently been awarded a membership in the American College of Nursing Home Administrators.

Donald R. Gibbs, M.D., and Roy Parsons, M.D., stand by a picture of the second coming of Christ which is predominant in their office.

Gwendolyn L. M. Elcock, R.N., is the owner of the Elcock Nurses Registry Agency in New York City.

Lester M. Roscoe is owner and manager of the Roscoe Printing House in Essex Junction, Vermont.

Each nurse who registers at the agency is enrolled in one of the Bible school correspondence courses, and they endeavor to follow up these interests. The nurses are invited to church and many have completed the correspondence courses; two have been baptized as a direct result of taking the Bible course through the initiative of this agency. Literature is also readily available for distribution.

Adventist-Owned Printing House

The Roscoe Printing House, located in Essex Junction, a suburb of Burlington, Vermont, was founded in 1889 by the father of the present owner, Lester M. Roscoe. The Roscoe family had become Adventists through the efforts of the Bordeau brothers—a well-known family in Adventist denominational history. Retaining the spirit of the pioneers, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe have shared their faith through their business over the years, with God as their third partner.

Mr. Roscoe, who has operated the shop since 1948 upon his father's death, does printing for the various sub-divisions of the state, county, schools, and hospitals. A good volume of business is done for Adventists, some as far away as California. The printing house owns the largest cylinder press in the state of Vermont.

Lester M. Roscoe is a Morrisville church elder and for many years has been the justice of the peace for his county.

Why Join A.S.I.?

The question of why these Association of Self-Supporting Institutions are blessed with success has been answered in the experiences related. Devotion to God and service to man is a wonderful combination. Why join the A.S.I.?

1. It gives to the small as well as the large enterprise an opportunity to belong to an organization where ideas may be expressed and pooled for the benefit of all.
2. It provides opportunity for the development of a denominational pattern thereby enjoying the respect and confidence of the denominational leadership and the laity.

A.S.I. Benefits

- A free subscription to A.S.I. News, a veritable treasure of interesting articles written by denominational leaders and laymen, news items, and reports from the field—success stories—soul-winning experiences—free advertisements—Chef's Corner, with recipes, and other interesting and meaningful features.
- The A.S.I. Directory of member institutions and enterprises, a valuable guide and reference.
- Annual A.S.I. convention highlights, of special value for reference to material presented at the conventions.
- A distinctive laminated membership plaque, suitable for framing.
- Delegate privileges at the biennial A.S.I. conventions provide opportunity to participate in the business of the Association, including election of officers and executive committee members.

Application for membership is made through the local conference A.S.I. Secretary.

THE ATLANTIC UNION GLEANER

LOOKING FORWARD TO ATLANTIC CITY

By ROBERT H. PIERSON
President, General Conference

More than three years have slipped by since the last General Conference Session convened in Detroit, Michigan. Within a few months thousands of God's people from most of the lands of earth will be heading toward Atlantic City, New Jersey, for the 1970 session, to be held June 7-20.

Brethren and sisters, this next gathering must not be just another General Conference Session. The hour is too late. God's people are too needy. There is too much work yet to be done. The 1970 session must, under God, be a gathering characterized by its spiritual impact upon our lives individually, and upon the church as a whole. It must be a time of repentance, of revival, and of renewal. Atlantic City must be a place of great power as well as effective planning. May God make Convention Auditorium a place of Pentecost where the last spiritual thrust begins for a finished work!

Prayer—earnest, persevering prayer—is the key to revival and power. We appeal to our people around the world to commence praying NOW for a rich outpouring of the Holy Spirit during the Atlantic City meetings. Remember your leaders who are now planning the program. Plead with God to make this General Conference Session all that, under His blessing and guidance, He would have it be.

Voice of Prophecy Field Service Director

Norman J. Matiko, who for more than six years has served as lay activities, Sabbath school, radio-TV, and public relations secretary of the Manitoba-Saskatchewan Conference, will on September 1 assume the responsibilities of field service director of the Voice of Prophecy in Glendale, California. The major functions of the Field Service Department include promotion of the Bible correspondence courses, follow-up of the courses, and the answering of questions coming in from students.

Elder Matiko was born in Saskatchewan, Canada, and attended Canadian Union College, from which he was graduated with a Bachelor of Theology degree. He thereupon took post-graduate work at Potomac University, earning an M.A. in Bible and systematic theology with a minor in preaching and speech.

Elder Matiko was ordained to the ministry in August, 1962, near the end of his first pastorate in Regina, Saskatchewan.

GARY B. SWANSON, *Associate
Public Relations Department
Voice of Prophecy*

European Study Tour

Plans for the 1970 Andrews University European Study Tour, sponsored by the English and History departments, are in progress, according to Dr. Merlene Ogden and Dr. Richard Schwarz, professors of English and history, respectively, and tour directors.

The tour, which will visit seventeen countries, will leave from New York on June 8, 1970. The tour offers undergraduate or graduate credit to college students, but anyone interested in travel may go and take no credit.

The cost of the tour will be approximately $1,500 and the number of persons going will be limited to thirty-five. Those interested in further information may write either Dr. Ogden or Dr. Schwarz at Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan.

Radio Reaches!

Consider the 19-year-old from Brooklyn, New York, who wrote to the Voice of Prophecy requesting the "Bright Horizon" Bible course for youth.

"It kept me from doing nothing. It was something to do rather than foolishness," she writes.

"I graduated and received my diploma from the course. Now I'm taking the 'Light of the World' course (on the life of Jesus). After this one I hope to take the 'Faith' course."

Young or old, radio reaches! What about asking a teen-age friend—or even a gray-haired one—to take one of the Voice of Prophecy's saving Bible correspondence courses? There will be an eternity in which they can thank you!

HERBERT FORD
*Public Relations Director

If you are handy with a camera, have you been shooting for your church? Have you been shooting for the North American Division Photo Contest, which closes December 31?

Someone will win the grand award of $100, or one of the other eleven cash prizes—and serve his church too! It might be you!

There are still a couple months left to shoot, and perhaps you have already taken some prize-winning photographs this year. If you do not have a copy of the rules and categories, write now to Bureau of Public Relations, General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, 6840 Eastern Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20012.

Anyone in North America may enter the contest. Even if you do not win a prize, your picture may be just the one needed sometime to help your church tell its story, and you will receive remuneration for its use at that time.

Top pictures will be published in Tell and the Review and Herald.

Put your camera to work for the Lord.

Bermuda Vacation Bible Schools

The Seventh-day Adventist churches in Bermuda have concluded their most successful sessions of Vacation Bible Schools in recent years. Approximately 1,000 attended the classes of which about 60 per cent were not members of the denomination. The youngsters, ranging in age from four to 14, crowded to capacity the facilities of the six centers from St. George's to Southampton.

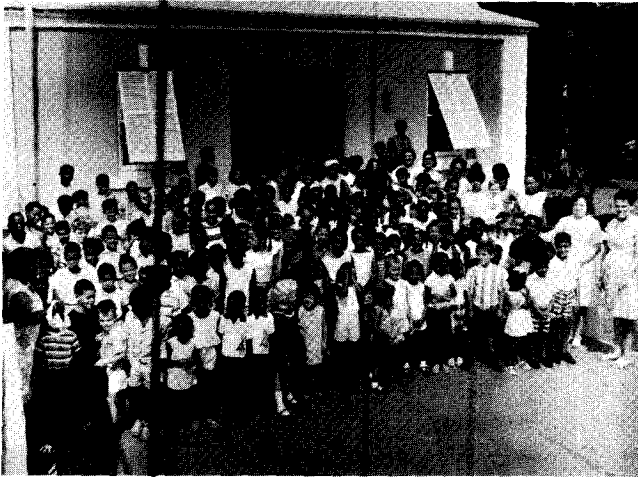

Mrs. E. Douglas, of the Hamilton church, demonstrates a phase of picture making from the use of old greeting cards.

Pastor of the Hamilton church, Elder Willie Lewis, said that the Vacation Bible School held at his church was one of the largest ever held there. On the first day of registration for the two-week-long classes 260 arrived, but on succeeding days an average of 350 children were in attendance, while preparation had been made for only 150 youngsters.

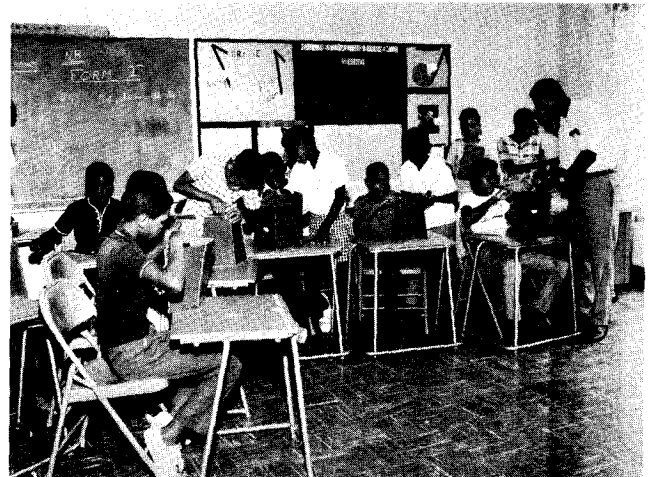

At the various Vacation Bible Schools, the youngsters were taught crafts, read Bible stories, and had inspirational song and play periods. Graduation exercises were held at the various churches and certificates were presented.

There have been 12 Neighborhood Bible Clubs organized as a follow-up program to the Vacation Bible Schools.

One hundred sixty-four non-Adventist children turned out for the St. George Vacation Bible School. Approximately 1,000 boys and girls attended the various schools throughout Bermuda.

German Brooklyn Church Celebrates Fiftieth Anniversary

The German Brooklyn church celebrated its fiftieth anniversary on Sabbath, October 4, with special all-day services. Officiating at the cornerstone laying a half century ago, was Elder A. G. Daniels, then president of the General Conference.

Guest speaker for the present occasion was Elder N. R. Dower, head of the General Conference Ministerial Department. He spoke concerning his recent travels in Europe, which included visits to Roumania and Yugoslavia. Also participating were Elder L. L. Reile, conference president; H. A. Iles, conference secretary-treasurer; Elder F. K. Erlecke, former pastor of the German Brooklyn church; and Elders Herbert Roehn and Oswald Krause.

The designation "Home-coming Sabbath" turned out to be extremely apt, with former members coming from as far away as Maine, Texas, and California. One family group was represented by twenty-four individuals! Some visitors were returning for the first time in thirty-five years.

An afternoon program featured a brief history of the past fifty years, and special recognition was given to those present who had also been present at the original cornerstone laying. The sanctuary at 1925 Gates Avenue in the Ridgewood section of Brooklyn is the oldest church built and still owned by the Seventh-day Adventists in New York City. The building has recently been redecorated inside and out.

The church is bilingual both in membership and in outreach. German and English services are conducted each Sabbath, and both languages are used in working with interests in an area reaching all the way to Kennedy airport.

The various services during the day featured special music from throughout the conference and beyond. Prof. Raymond Kuutti, of the Atlantic Union College Music Department, joined his wife and three children in a brass ensemble. The Greater New York Academy Choir sang under the direction of Mrs. Joyce Butler, and Mrs. Johanna Renz led the German Brooklyn church choir which was enlarged with the participation of many former choir members visiting for the day. Zsolt Bayor, a New York City violin instructor, played a violin solo accompanied on the piano by Barbara Hudgins.

The fiftieth anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone was also the seventieth anniversary of the church congregation which was organized in downtown Brooklyn in 1899.

Telephone Evangelism in New York City

"I am writing to let you know how much I enjoyed your recording, "The Secret of Prayer." I played it again and again to hear every word. It has been a real blessing to me."

These are the words of a gentleman who requested and received one of Elder George Vandeman's special long-play records. He had listened to the Dial-a-Friend telephone messages emanating from the Metropolitan Evangelistic Crusade offices in New York City, and accepted a free offer. After each three-minute message, changed daily, listeners may leave their name and address for a book, a Bible course, or a record.

During the twenty-six-week series, five of Elder Vandeman's records are offered along with five of his books. A free Bible and Steps to Christ are also offered at regular intervals. A new subject is dealt with each week, and the entire series is repeated each six months. Thousands of calls have been received, and hundreds have requested the materials offered. Telephone evangelism is one more way of reaching the masses of this great metropolitan area.

Metropolitan Evangelistic Crusade

Evangelism Comes to Brooklyn

In twenty nights the "Christ Is the Answer" crusade, with Evangelist Ron Halvorsen, brought Christ to Bay Ridge. The names of thirty-one interested people were received and interest was aroused in the hearts of more than one hundred others who attended.

The accompanying picture shows ten of those baptized thus far as a result of this neighborhood evangelistic effort. A third baptism is scheduled in the near future. Prospects look good for more baptisms before the end of the year.

Assisting in the crusade were: George White, singing evangelist; Halvord Thomsen, pastor of the Brooklyn church; Stephen Doyle, associate pastor of the Brooklyn church; and six seminarians from Andrews University.

Cortland Church Dedication

September 19-20, 1969, are dates members of the Cortland church will always remember, for these climaxed years of sacrifice and dedicated service by Pastors Walton Smith, Carlyle Nelson, George Carter, A. T. Bidwell, Ralph Wallace, Max Thames, and Nelson Evans, as the church was dedicated to God.

On Friday evening, September 19, a consecration service was held with Walton W. Smith, first pastor, giving the sermon. A special welcome to those present was given by Nelson Evans, present pastor. A special message in song was presented by a male quartet, consisting of Walton Smith, Donald Gibbs, Charles Luss, and Richard Hartman.

Sabbath morning brought many out to study the Word of God with us in our Sabbath school. Those who participated were Mrs. Richard Hartman, Sabbath school superintendent, Lloyd Sutton, Mrs. Richard Young, Mrs. M. N. Hempel, Richard Hartman, and Elder Carlyle Nelson, who led out in the lesson study. The dedication of five children by Elder Patzer closed the Sabbath school program.

The morning worship service featured Elder A. J. Patzer, president of the conference, as the speaker of the hour. Others who took part were Elders Max Thames, Melvin Hempel, Walton Smith, and Carlyle Nelson.

Songs and words of praise began the 2:30 afternoon program. Pastor Arseneau, from St. Mary's Catholic church, offered the opening prayer which was followed by many messages in song and comments from former pastors.

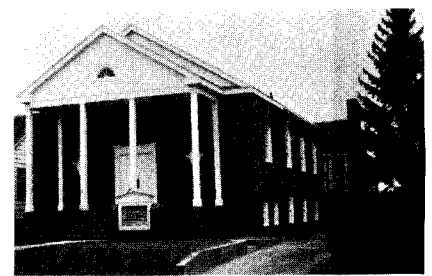

The dedicatory invocation was given by Elder Nelson; the history of the Cortland church was read by Mrs. Mildred Proctor, clerk; the dedicatory sermon was presented by Elder Donald Hunter; Act of Dedication was read by Elder Evans; and the dedicatory prayer was given by Elder Patzer. Mrs. Florence Preston presented the message in song and the benediction was offered by Elder Thames.

The first worship service was held

Successful Camporee Held at Truxton

More than one hundred happy Pathfinders and their leaders gathered at beautiful Forest Lake Camp, October 3-5, for a wonderful Pathfinder Camporee, using again the fine facilities so graciously given by the Lloyd Sutton family.

The Greater Rochester Pathfinder Club—as of now nineteen members strong—so new that they have not as yet ordered their uniforms, march for the first time under the direction of Pete Leaming, a former drill master. Mr. Leaming promises a crack marching unit by mid-winter.

Clubs from Cortland, Rochester, Syracuse, Union Springs, and Ithaca were represented. The weather, which was a bit cool for the first two days, did not dampen the spirits of these Pathfinders.

Two of the clubs represented, namely Rochester and Union Springs, had only been organized about one week. Both showed real determination to bring their entire unit up to par in the very near future.

After the vesper service on Friday evening, the glow of campfires could be seen in each camping area, as many Pathfinders tried to get warm before crawling into their sleeping bags.

On Sabbath morning, the Sabbath school was directed by the Cortland club, while a very interesting and inspiring worship service was brought by Nelson Evans, pastor of the Cortland church.

Sabbath afternoon was filled with activities, mainly the collecting of the various colored fall leaves, plants, and flowers, with each club making a beautiful display to be viewed by the Pathfinders and visitors alike.

Saturday evening a variety program, under the direction of Elder J. D. Everts, was presented by the staff and members of the respective Pathfinder Clubs.

On Sunday morning, immediately after the inspection period, each club practiced their marching and drill exercises. After each of the clubs had demonstrated their skill, the game of football was enjoyed by all. Each club had the opportunity to play against the opposing clubs in a round-robin series with the Syracuse Onodaga Club being the over-all champions.

A great deal of credit should be given to those who unselfishly give of their time to provide leadership for the Pathfinders. There is no greater work that can be done and there is no more needful hour than the present to make sure our young people are included in these activities—preparing them for the time of trouble ahead and for the wonderful kingdom that God has prepared for us.

Twenty-Eighth Convert Baptized

Merton Caster, one of the elders of the Dexterville (New York) church and a well driller by profession, has now been instrumental in bringing twenty-eight precious souls to Christ. Mr. Caster is always active in giving Bible studies and contacting interested persons. Bob Thomas, his twenty-eighth convert, was baptized recently in the Dexterville church.

Associate Temperance Secretary Completes Itinerary

Elder Milo Sawvel, associate secretary of the General Conference Temperance Department, traveled with our union temperance secretary, Elder Wayne Griffith, to four specific areas of the New York Conference—Rochester, Union Springs, Greater Endicott, and Albany—urging our people to live a more positive Christian life, especially as related to health and self-improvement. Elder Sawvel drew on the many thoughts and methods contained in the writings of the Spirit of Prophecy.

One of the most interesting features of his visit to the New York Conference was the opportunity afforded by Station WHAZ, located in Troy, New York, to appear on the Dan O'Neal radio program, where for one hour and forty-five minutes, Elder Sawvel answered the many questions telephoned in by the residents of the Greater Albany area. It was the feeling of all who attended these Better Living counsel sessions that there is a great deal to be done to tactfully warn the world of the dangers of living without self-control and the importance of preserving our physical bodies.

Gratitude

"The only means which God has ordained to advance His cause is to bless men with property. He gives them the sunshine and the rain; He causes vegetation to flourish; He gives health and ability to acquire means. All our blessings come from His bountiful hand. In turn He would have men and women show their gratitude by returning to Him a portion in tithes and offerings—in thank offerings, in freewill offerings, in trespass offerings."—Testimonies, V, 150.

Northeastern Fall Workers' Meeting

"The Minister" was the theme of the five-day meeting held for the Northeastern Conference workers at Victory Lake Camp, Hyde Park, New York, September 21-25. Nine ministers had been assigned topics relating to the minister and his responsibilities to:

- His God
- His Church
- His Conference
- His Fellow-workers
- Himself

Twenty minutes were allowed for each presentation. The presentation was followed by thirty minutes of feedback from the audience. The response was spontaneous and rewarding.

Very little time was allotted for promotional activities during the session. It was felt that most of the time should be devoted to prayer, study, and an exchanging of ideas. Throughout the entire five-day period, one could hear expressions such as: "Wonderful!" "This is what we have been waiting for." "It is just what we need." "Let us have more of the same."

G. R. Earle, president of Northeastern Conference, delivered the initial address at the opening meeting. Those who presented papers were: S. W. Stovall, E. J. Humphrey, S. A. Hutchins, R. H. Carter, E. Alexander,

K. F. Ambs, assistant treasurer of the General Conference, gave valuable counsel to the workers regarding denominational financial policies and procedures for acquiring church property.

H. D. Singleton, secretary of the General Conference Regional Department, presented the morning devotional messages. Garland Millett, editor of Message Magazine, told the workers of the impact that magazine is making around the world, especially among the darker nations.

religious liberty secretary of the Atlantic Union Conference, also spoke to the workers.

Elder Herman Vanderburg, returned missionary from Africa, was one of our invited guests, and gave a very inspiring account of his recent experience in West Africa as a missionary.

The workers were housed and met in the newly constructed Iron's Residence Hall, a 47-room motel, with an auditorium that will seat 150 persons. The setting was truly ideal and the weather was beautiful. The entire experience was refreshing.

Stennett Brooks, treasurer, reported that through August, 1969, Northeastern Conference has shown a tithe gain of $285,000 over the same period of last year. Evangelistic reports revealed that up to workers' meeting 358 persons had been baptized during the summer campaigns.

The secretary and the president confer together.

Workers' Association, through its president, Elizabeth Martin, made a report of its aims and activities to the workers at one of the evening meetings. Miss Zilda Forde, Mrs. Rosa Lee Jones, Mrs. Eva Jeltz, and Mrs. S. A. Alexander broke down the specific areas of the Bible workers' responsibilities to the church. The conference officials expressed appreciation for the contribution that is made to the soul-winning program by these dedicated workers.

It was with renewed zeal that each worker returned to his home base, determined to do more to hasten the coming of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

Poughkeepsie Responds to Bible Crusade

For eight weeks this past summer Poughkeepsie, New York, felt the impact of the Prophecy Speaks Bible Crusade. The crusade was organized and directed by Pastor Albert White of the Albany-Poughkeepsie district.

Assisting Pastor White were his wife, Jean White, pianist; Garnett Riddick, song leader; Mrs. Joyce Riddick, vocal soloist; Thomas Winslow, guitarist; and Mrs. E. Winslow, Bible instructor.

Hundreds of people assembled at the large tent during the summer to hear Pastor White proclaim the Word of God. Twenty-three of them believed what they heard and were baptized into the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The meetings made such an impact upon a staff reporter of the daily Poughkeepsie Journal, who visited one of the nightly services, that the crusade was given nearly a full page of coverage.

Pastor White and his staff administered not only to the spiritual needs of Poughkeepsie's citizenry, but to the temporal needs of some. Food baskets and clothing were distributed to needy families.

Elder Stennett Brooks, Northeastern Conference treasurer, and his wife attended the meetings and assisted in the baptismal services.

General Conference President Visits Camp Lawroweld

Elder and Mrs. R. H. Pierson visited Camp Lawroweld during August while they were in Maine for a few days. While at the camp, they met with the campers and staff for an informal meeting. Elder Pierson related several mission stories and challenged all to use what they have in service for Christ.

Camp Lawroweld was "bursting at the seams" during Teen Camp I when 102 campers were enrolled. Total number of campers for the five weeks of camp was 403. In 1968 when camp was conducted for four weeks, the total attendance was 303. In 1967, 254 campers participated in the camp program. In 1966, the attendance was 176.

The camp staff is grateful to God for showering blessings from heaven on the camp program at Camp Lawroweld this summer. More than 250 boys and girls made a commitment for Christ at Camp Lawroweld this summer.

A new dock was built and installed under the direction of Elder W. W. Menshausen and his son, William, Jr. Next year it is hoped to have a nature center and craft building erected prior to the beginning of camp.

The Northern New England Conference recently purchased a 17-foot Slick-craft boat with an 85-horsepower Evinrude motor with a boat trailer for use at Camp Lawroweld next year.

Three hundred forty-three honors were earned by campers and staff under the director of the waterfront and nature directors.

Our thanks go to the loyal constituency of the Northern New England Conference for supporting the camping program at Camp Lawroweld again this year.

Plans are already laid for a larger and better camping program at Camp Lawroweld next summer. We will be looking for your boys and girls to join us for an action-packed, thrilling camping program at Camp Lawroweld again next year.

Two New Ministerial Interns Come to Northern New England

Dan Bettle and Steven Farley are two new ministerial interns for the Northern New England Conference. Both of these fine young men were recently graduated from Andrews University with a B.D. degree.

Steven and Linda Farley have moved to Portland, Maine, where Steven will be the associate pastor with Elder Douglas Cross. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Farley of Richmond, Maine.

He received his B.A. degree from Atlantic Union College. While attending Atlantic Union College, Steven was appointed the student missionary to Peru in the summer of 1966. Steven just recently married Linda Jo Mills, the daughter of Elder and Mrs. O. J.

Mills of Hartford, Connecticut. Linda is a registered nurse.

Dan and Sheryl Mae Bettie have moved to Rumford, Maine. He will be associated with Elder David Shaw in the Woodstock district. Dan is also a graduate of Atlantic Union College. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Bettie of Brunswick, Maine.

Sheryl Mae Bettie is the former Sheryl Walin, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Walin, former Book and Bible House manager of the Southern New England Conference. The Betties have a son, age nine months, and his name is Roy Alan.

We welcome these two young dedicated couples to the ministerial work in our conference.

Dark-City Evangelism

Twenty-five decisions have been made thus far as a result of the Voice of Prophecy Crusade, which, as of this writing, is in its concluding week at the American Legion Hall at North Adams, Massachusetts. The four-week crusade is being conducted there by the Dick Pollard-Sid Dudney evangelistic team.

A union Sabbath service was held at the local Christian Science church on October 11 to bring together a nucleus of believers with the idea of ultimately organizing a church. Speaker for this special service was Elder R. J. Barnett, Baritone soloist Sid Dudney, the new conference singing evangelist, led the congregation in nightly singing. His warm personality and rich solo voice were an important part in the success of the services.

conference public relations secretary. With members who live in North Adams as well as those who will be baptized as a result of the meetings, it is hoped that a church will be organized in this "dark city." North Adams is in the extreme northwestern portion of the conference.

A final report of the results of this effort will appear in a later issue.

Evangelistic Harvest at Springfield

Elder Arthur Moyer (left) reviews the evening program prior to one of the Faith for Today evangelistic meetings held at the Springfield church, with Evangelist Everett E. Duncan. Arthur E. Morgan, song leader, looks on (right). Thirty-five united with the church through this effort.

Everett E. Duncan, director of evangelism for Faith for Today, was speaker for a three-week reaping campaign conducted from September 20 through October 11 at the Springfield (Massachusetts) church.

The campaign was the culmination of a strong program of "seed sowing" as well as outstanding community relations and church public relations over an extended period by Elder Arthur Moyer, local pastor.

Three baptismal services were conducted during the campaign bringing to thirty-five the number of new believers added to the church through this effort.

"We can only attribute the success of these meetings to the excellent groundwork that was done in Springfield by Elder Moyer," Pastor Duncan stated.

Elder Moyer has accepted a call to the Oregon Conference and will have assumed his duties there by the time this is being read.

Adventist Men's Seminar Held

A four-day seminar for the men of the conference was held in South Lancaster on the week end of October 2-5.

The purpose of the seminar was to set forth the various avenues of soul-winning service that is open to the men of the church. Around fifty were in attendance.

Elder C. C. Weis was present to represent the General Conference Lay Activities Department, and, under the direction of Elder H. E. Voorhees, conference lay activities leader, the program featured experienced lay workers as well as ministerial speakers. Elder W. E. Peeke, of the Atlantic Union Lay Activities Department, assisted in the program and offered valuable counsel. Other speakers included: Elder M. D. Gordon, conference youth leader; Dr. James Crawford, health services secretary of the conference; and L. L. Bock, conference president. Among the laymen to have part in the program were Ray Hausted, director of "Your Story Hour," groups from various churches in the conference, and Emilio B. Knechtle, who told of experiences in lay witnessing. The latter presented the Sabbath morning worship message in the Lenheim Hall chapel of the Atlantic Union College.

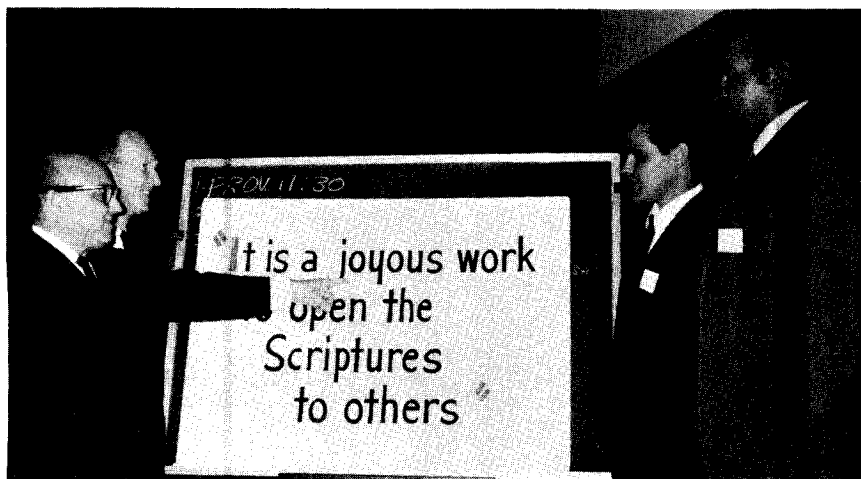

Elder W. E. Peeke (right) introduced Elder M. D. Gordon at the recent men's seminar at the South Lancaster Village church. Elder Gordon spoke on youth evangelism.

The agenda covered lay preaching, Gift Bible evangelism, the giving of Bible studies, medical evangelism, and related areas of soul-winning work.

Elder Bock closed the seminar on Sunday, October 5, with a message entitled, "Men in Issachar." All present stood in commitment to greater involvement in the lay soul-winning program for the church.

AUC Alumnus Is Chaplain

Chaplain (Captain) James J. North, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. North, Sr., of Jamaica, New York (left), visits with a member of his "perimeter congregation" at Tan Son Nhut in Vietnam.

The United States Air Force chaplain makes regularly scheduled nightly visits to the security guards as his way of letting the men know they are not forgotten as they keep lonely patrol along the seventeen-mile outer rim of the sprawling Saigon installation.

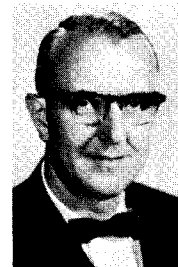

Chaplain North, a 1956 graduate of Northeastern Academy, earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in theology from Atlantic Union College in 1960, and his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Andrews University Theological Seminary in 1963. He served in the Oregon Conference before entering the Air Force in August of 1966.

He arrived in Vietnam in October of 1968, and serves as base chaplain and director of religious and moral leadership services at Tan Son Nhut.

Chaplain North's wife, Audrey, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Jones of Brockton, Massachusetts.

Former Graduate Speaks in Chapel

Elder Paul H. Eldridge, a 1935 alumnus of Atlantic Union College and presently serving as president of the Far Eastern Division, was guest speaker during the chapel period October 1. He challenged the students to be "medal men" —those who won't let obstacles stand in their way.

Paul Eldridge began his long career of service in the New York Conference, and in 1937 accepted a call to the Japan Junior College as a teacher. Prior to the war, because of continuing difficulties, he then became an evangelist in the Philippines. He was interned from 1942 to 1945 by the Japanese, after which he returned to Japan as an evangelist and later as president of the North Japan Mission. He served as radio and ministerial secretary of the Far Eastern Division from 1963 to 1966, at which time he became president of that division.

He is married to the former Retha Giles, a 1934 AUC graduate; and both his children, Norma and Larry, served as overseas workers for a time since he has been president of the Far Eastern Division.

College Pastor Is Featured Speaker

Donald Bostian, pastor of the Atlantic Union College church, was the speaker for the recent Cathedral of the Pines services at Rindge, New Hampshire.

Archaeologist Is Speaker

Dr. Siegfried H. Horn, denominationally known archaeologist, and professor of archaeology and history of antiquity at Andrews University, was a guest speaker at Atlantic Union College recently.

Dr. Horn has made fourteen expeditions to the Middle East. His most recent one involved the excavation of Heshbon during the summer of 1968. He will continue work at Heshbon next summer. He has written several books and numerous articles on his work.

Music Festival Plans Made

The band directors and a few of the principals of the academies in the Atlantic Union met recently in South Lancaster to plan their spring Music Festival, which will take place in Machlan Auditorium the first week end in April, 1970. Garland Peterson, second from left, band director at South Lancaster Academy, is this year's chairman of the Music Festival, which is sponsored by the Atlantic Union Conference Department of Education.

Stoneham Hospital Dedicated

On an unbelievably beautiful New England fall day on Sunday, October 5, 1969, the New England Memorial Hospital of Stoneham, Massachusetts, celebrated its seventieth anniversary of community service, and dedicated its new facilities with an open house program. Over one thousand civic-minded citizens and guests attended the festivities, which were well covered by television teams, and news photographers and reporters.

The program began with a band concert and the helicopter-lifting of two Candystripers to the hospital grounds to dramatize the effectiveness of the new heliport (to be located on top of the new seven-story building). Then members of the American Legion trooped the colors, with the Rifle and Sabre team as honor guards—and Arthur Norcliffe, baritone soloist, sang the national anthem.

Platform guests included clergymen, state and local public officials, the building fund campaign officers, representatives from nursing service, auxiliary and volunteers, and, in the speakers' row: Pastor Forrest White,

At the ribbon-cutting ceremony, Dr. Egeberg presented the scissors to Mrs. Ruth Deininger, R.N., who cut the ribbon to formally "open the house." Mrs. Deininger was thus honored for her fifty years of continuous, dedicated service to the hospital. She began as a nursing student, then nursing instructor, and, for many years, head of the Department of Occupational Therapy. Tours of the lovely, spacious, new hospital facilities were acclaimed by everyone. Remarks overheard, were: "This is not at all like a hospital" . . . "What a gorgeous lobby" . . . "Did you see the view overlooking Spot Pond" . . . "Imagine, a heliport on the roof" . . . "Too bad you have to be sick to get inside." Tours, refreshments, and souvenirs were provided until 5:30 p.m.—and thus, with thanksgiving for the beautiful, clear weather, the cordial, huge crowd, and the evident, spontaneous pleasure of all visitors, the doors closed—and then began the formal "moving-in" for occupancy of the newly dedicated hospital—dedicated to continued service, with kindness.

WEDDING

Medford - Sutherland

On August 31, Glenda E. Medford became the bride of Donald L. Sutherland in a candlelight ceremony held in the Village church in South Lancaster, Massachusetts. The nuptials were performed by Elder R. F. Medford, father of the bride.

A reception was held at Bailey Hall with guests from Arizona, Minnesota, Michigan, New York, as well as Massachusetts, attending.

Mrs. Sutherland is a graduate of Atlantic Union College and is now a nurse. Mr. Sutherland is attending Kettering College of Medical Arts in Kettering, Ohio.

After a trip to the Smoky Mountains, the couple will make their home in Kettering Ohio.
