UPREACH AND OUTREACH

A heaven-sent revival is changing lives of Adventist college youth across America. How encouraging it is to see this revival spreading to our academies. What about your church?

MV Upreach is designed to lead God's youth into a deeper Christian experience. A brand-new devotional daily program called "Encounter" is just off the press and may be secured from your Book and Bible House or your conference youth director. This program is so designed that by taking just fifteen minutes a day in an exciting adventure with God the reader will be led through the entire Bible and the Conflict of the Ages series in just four years. It is a correlated reading program of a page or two from the Bible along with added spiritual enlightenment from the pen of inspiration. This program opens up a storehouse of blessings to youthful hearts who participate.

MV Outreach becomes a natural experience for the youth when their hearts are filled with Christ. The aim of Missionary Volunteers is to help win a quarter of a million new believers by the summer of 1975. We are well on the way. In North America our share of this goal is 25,000 baptisms. Already we have passed the 2,000 mark. The youth of the other divisions of the world are also shouldering their responsibilities with tremendous success. In South America they report 7,072 baptisms in the first two quarters of the quinquennium. Inter-American Division youth report 1,937 baptisms in which they have had a share in helping to win.

Let the youth of every church enter into the joy of bringing souls to Christ. Encourage them to choose a method that will produce results, such as the Voice of Youth, an MV Branch Sabbath School, a Friendship Team, Operation Fireside, or the Youth Gift Bible Plan, using "Insight Adventures" or the new "Maranatha" Bible lessons. God will surely honor such dedication with great results.

It is time for the youth to experience an Upreach toward God in a mighty revival, and to participate in this tremendous Outreach program of evangelism. Thus our youth can become the evangelistic spearhead of the Advent Movement to prepare a world for the soon-coming Saviour.

White House Conference on Children

A special conference on children was held recently in Washington, D.C. The meeting was under the auspices of the White House. A number of organizations were invited to have representatives and exhibits at the conference, among them the Home Health Education Service. Elder Silas McClamb represented this service and the Atlantic Union Conference at this meeting and there were many favorable comments regarding our exhibit and the books that were on display.

Any organization represented at this meeting had to be carefully screened and recommended. We are glad the Home Health Education Service was chosen and so well represented at the conference. Certainly we have literature the world desperately needs today.

Youth Witness Team Named for North America

John Hancock, world youth leader for the Seventh-day Adventist Church, announced this week that a thirty-member intercollegiate witness team called the "Gymnairs for Christ" will be formed this spring with students from North American Adventist colleges. After an intensive orientation and training period the first half of June, the group will begin a series of public appearances in the United States and Canada June 15 through September 15.

Six students, three young ladies and three young men, are to be selected by each college as candidates for the group. A screening committee will then choose one young person to represent each college as a member of the "Gymnairs for Christ." Christian character, speaking ability, musical talent, physical fitness, and gymnastic ability are among some of the criteria to be considered in the choice of team members.

The team will start its itinerary in the Lake Union June 15 with appearances at the Illinois and Indiana camp meetings. Moving on to eastern Canada and northeastern United States the group will tour all of the nation with the exception of the Pacific northwest. Appearances are being slated for a few camp meetings, but the youth will be seen mainly in large centers and possibly on some university campuses.

Robert Kalua, associate professor of physical education at Andrews University, has been named director and co-ordinator of the group. Michael Stevenson, an associate youth director for the General Conference MV Department, will join with the group during the first month of training and witnessing. A full-time music director and a chaplain are also to be named for the team.

The idea for such an intercollegiate national troupe was voted by the MV Advisory Committee in Washington, D.C., January 5-7, 1971. The plan was then discussed with Elder R. H. Pierson, president of the General Conference, and Neal Wilson, vice-president for North America. With the enthusiastic support and encouragement of these and other church leaders, the MV Department was asked to submit a budget and outline a program for the project.

During the past several years members of the General Conference MV staff have observed a number of youth-witnessing troupes that have been successful in reaching other youth. Most, however, have been largely singing-speaking-testimony groups, but a new dimension is being added to this national troupe. This will be the church's emphasis on health and physical fitness, which, combined with testimony and singing, will bring a broad spectrum of interests together. A few youth from the Andrews University Gymnics will form a nucleus for the group to which will be added college students from the United States and Canada.

The plan was tentatively approved by the General Conference Committee and then referred to the church's union conference presidents' council held at Loma Linda University the last of January. The union presidents, in general agreement with the idea, took the proposition back to local conference presidents for consideration. Final approval for the project came from the union and local conference presidents through Elder Neal Wilson on February 22.

Now the hard work begins. A program is being organized. Participants are being selected and trained. Itineraries are being set up. Transportation, lodging, and food services are being arranged. Advertising TV appearances, newspaper releases, and printed materials must all be cared for. Special costuming, lighting and sound systems, new musical arrangements are other important facets of the program.

Important to the success of this venture for God is the willingness of Seventh-day Adventist college youth to become involved in meaningful personal witness. Enthusiasm for the project is high among these young people.

Moving across the nation, the witness group will usually make two public appearances at each stop on their itinerary. Action-packed, Christ-centered programs will mark each witness session. Every program will include gymnastics, music, personal testimony, and youth-witnessing training. The witnessing training will be done in after-performance workshops and during daytime sessions. Each member of the group will also make personal one-to-one Christian contacts with other youth following every appearance.

Watch the columns of this paper for dates and meeting places scheduled for the youth to appear in your area.

Student Deferments May Be Ended, Fellows, What About Your Future?

Of course there is much speculation and uncertainty about the military draft just now. With the Selective Service Law expiring June 30, 1971, many things could happen.

Several trends seem to be developing and Adventist young men should be aware of these. Among other things it appears likely that the draft will be extended at least two years when it is hoped that an all-volunteer army can be operational with a zero draft.

Related closely to the draft extension is the suggested change for students. It seems quite possible that student deferments will be eliminated. The President has already asked Congress for this change and the attitude of key leaders in Washington at this time adds much strength to this possibility. Should this take place it will make real changes in the plans of many of our young men now in school. Occupational, agricultural, and paternity deferments were terminated one year ago.

In view of all this, every young man sixteen years or older who has not had Medical Cadet Corps training should by all means plan on attending Camp Desmond T. Doss at Grand Ledge, Michigan, June 1-13, 1971. A thorough pre-induction training will be given in a camp setting by qualified Adventist instructors. Careful study and discussion will be given to the teaching of the church regarding military service. Thorough consideration of the draft-law provisions for the man with conscientious convictions will also be included.

Camp Doss will provide training which every draft-age young man should have. For application blanks see your MV secretary, pastor, or academy principal.

Disaster and Famine Relief Offering—May 8

It was two years ago when God's people around the world, recognizing the outstanding work of SAWS (Seventh-day Adventist Welfare Service), and the tremendous need for necessary funds to carry on this humanitarian emergency service, gave for the Disaster and Famine Relief offering about a half million dollars for the world field. Close to $400,000 of this offering came from North America. This was the greatest offering ever given. Individual members, entire churches, and Dorcas Federations were exceptionally generous without knowing what might happen to the world during the following two years.

We are indeed grateful for what you did, because without these funds it would have been impossible for us, as a church, to help the suffering and the needy. Here is a partial list of but a few of the great disasters where we, as a church, were able to help:

- 1. Devastating earthquakes in Chile, Turkey, Peru, and Yugoslavia.
- 2. Enormous floods in Ceylon, Rumania, Korea, Vietnam, Colombia, and Pakistan.
- 3. Destructive and murderous hurricanes and typhoons in Inter-America, North America, and the Far East, as Camille, Celia, Dorothy, and others.
- 4. Relief supplies were sent to Nigeria, Middle East, etc.

One disaster followed another. The needs have been enormous. Your offering fund has been completely exhausted as well as funds from other sources.

The calls for help are constantly increasing. We do not know where to turn except to you, because you understand the human needs and the divine predictions concerning the great calamities which will befall the world in these last days. We have to continue to live with the history of mankind and in the midst of disasters and famines to demonstrate the love and mercy of God here in the homeland and overseas. We have become a part of suffering mankind.

God wants His workers to move among the sick and suffering as messengers of His love and mercy. . . .

When you meet those who are careworn and oppressed, who know not which way to turn to find relief, put your hearts into the work of helping them. It is not God's purpose that His children shall shut themselves up to themselves, taking no interest in the welfare of those less fortunate than themselves. Remember that for them as well as for you Christ has died. Conciliation and kindness will open the way for you to help them, to win their confidence, to inspire them with hope and courage.—Welfare Ministry, p. 168.

Dear fellow believers, we have to live with suffering mankind for a little while longer. We want to serve and help them, and we need your help and assistance to make this possible. Only once every two years we come to you for help. We hope that this year every Seventh-day Adventist will participate and give us the largest offering ever taken for disaster and famine relief. Two years ago we achieved an average of one dollar per member. Remember, we have used all the available funds. Today we are in a desperate need. Please check what you and your church gave the last time. We would like to appeal to you to double your offering this year. An average of two dollars for every member would give us $800,000 as an operating fund for our welfare services. This will require many members giving large amounts. We are also appealing to the overseas divisions to join us in this offering and we hope that with God's help it will be possible to accumulate an offering of one million dollars for this specific phase of our work. Let us heed the wonderful counsel of the apostle written to the Galatians, "Let us not be weary of doing good." Many thanks in advance for your generous support on May 8.

School of Graduate Studies Announces New Programs

Four new graduate programs and a change in grading procedures have been announced by Dr. F. E. J. Harder, dean of the School of Graduate Studies at Andrews University.

The new curricula include an M.A.T. program in Food Systems Management, an M.A.T. program in French for those desiring to teach the language, an M.A. program in Family Life Education, and a fifth-year program for the preparation of teachers that will lead to a Diploma in Education.

The change in grading involves elimination of the computing of grade-point averages in the School of Graduate Studies. At present, a student must complete 44 quarter credits of work with a B average or better to qualify for an M.A. For M.A.T. programs, 48 credits are required.

Under the new policy the student must achieve B or better grades in all courses counting toward the 44 or 48 credits. A total of four grades below a B will be allowed, but such courses will not count toward a degree program.

"This grading change will be of real help to the student who generally receives B's, but occasionally gets a C and then can't get an A in another course to balance it," said Dr. Harder.

The fifth-year program for the preparation of teachers is similar to the university's present M.A.T. programs, according to Dr. Harder. The difference is that anyone with a Bachelor's degree may enter it; there are no additional grade-point average requirements.

Described as a flexible program to meet the needs of the individual student and terminating in a Diploma in Education, this curriculum does not require the student to maintain all B's in course work—C's are acceptable.

Explaining the value of the program, Dr. Harder noted that many states are beginning to insist on teachers completing a fifth year of preparation, though not necessarily an M.A. or M.A.T.

The M.A.T. program in Food Systems Management will be offered by the business administration and home economics departments with an objective of preparing directors of food service facilities for institutions, such as schools, hospitals, and hotels.

The M.A. program in Family Life Education will involve the education, home economics, behavioral science, and business administration departments. The curriculum will prepare a person to teach family life education on the secondary level, to work with social welfare agencies, or to work in churches, upgrading the quality of life in Christian homes.

Andrews University presently offers an M.A.T. program in French that is designed for the individual who wants to teach a subject in a French-speaking country. The current program requires three quarters of study at Seminaire Adventiste du Saleve in Collonges-sous-Saleve, France.

The additional M.A.T. program in French recently voted is intended for those who want to teach French or who want to prepare for doctoral study. It will be a campus program, not requiring study abroad.

Invitation Letters Available

Files at the Voice of Prophecy are bulging these days with requests by Atlantic Union evangelists and pastor-evangelists for invitation letters to local evangelistic crusades to be sent to all Voice of Prophecy names in and around the crusade city.

time. More than 27,000 invitation letters have been sent since the beginning of 1971.

"We are happy to see the upsurge in these requests," says Elder Guild. "The Voice of Prophecy is ready to co-operate with every church worker in lending the value of its internationally known name and witness to encourage those who have been in contact with the broadcast to attend these meetings.

"Where evangelists and pastor-evangelists further capitalize on the Voice of Prophecy name by calling their evangelistic meeting a 'Voice of Prophecy Crusade,' this internationally known name plays an ever bigger role in soul-winning."

Elder Guild says that 256 evangelistic crusades were serviced with invitation letters from Voice of Prophecy headquarters in 1970.

The service is available to all Atlantic Union church workers, notes Elder Guild. All requests for information should be made to the Voice of Prophecy Evangelistic Association.

Braille Proofreader's Certificate Awarded

A blind employee of the Christian Record Braille Foundation, Miss Mary Pukey, has received special recognition from the Division of the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.

The Braille Proofreader's Certificate was presented to Miss Pukey by C. G. Cross, general manager of the Christian Record Braille Foundation. This special honor is conferred only after satisfactory completion of the Braille Proofreader's Course offered by the Library of Congress.

A second blind employee, Miss Judy Brisbine, received her certification from Robert S. Bray, the director of the Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped in June, 1969.

Together the Misses Pukey and Brisbine proofread all of the Braille stereotype plates and master copies for the Braille publications and books produced by the Foundation. Six magazines are published in Braille as well as many Braille books for the leading library.

The Foundation has been producing educational, cultural and spiritually uplifting publications for blind people since 1899. All services are free. The newest service, the summer camp program for blind children, is expanding annually. Requests for blind camps have come from coast to coast.

The Christian Record Braille Foundation is operated by the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. All funds for operation come from contributions, trust agreements, and bequests in wills.

New Radio Log Available

A colorful new radio log of the Voice of Prophecy has just come off the presses.

"Actually, the new log is two," says Elder H. M. S. Richards, Jr., director of the radio, Bible school, and public crusade ministry.

"There is a 'Western Log' for persons living west of the Mississippi River in the United States, or the province of Ontario in Canada," he explains. "For those living east of these boundaries there is an 'Eastern Log.'"

Both logs contain listings for the states or provinces just to the east or west of the boundary lines, so listeners may find broadcast times and locations "across the river or in the next province," notes Elder Richards.

The new logs respond to field requests for fewer total listings on logs, and to a continuing concern for economy by the Voice of Prophecy.

Color-coded for easy recognition, the Western Log is red, with "Western Log" printed on its face, while the Eastern Log is blue. All future requests for Voice of Prophecy radio logs should state which log is desired.

know of Dick's miraculous healing; however, only a few know that Henry was saved by prayer as a small boy and that he is now recovering from an airplane crash that would have surely taken his life if Jesus had not touched him. Dick and Henry have always lived each day to the full in faith that God would lead and guide in the future, and so they sing "I Know Who Holds Tomorrow" and "It's Jesus and Me."

Jimmy Rhodes was especially chosen to accompany this recording as the brothers felt he would add just the right touch to bring out the meaning of the words and music.

These dedicated young men have been singing together about the Lord's love and goodness for many years. They sing with a clarity of tone and diction seldom captured on record.

The songs in this album were chosen because they tell of personal experiences and are sung with emotional and spiritual impact, sharing those experiences with the listener. The little "Goodbye Chorus" has thrilled many thousands as Dick and Henry used to sing it every night to close their evangelistic meetings. Students Share Their Talents

There is no evidence of a "generation gap" during the dinner hour at the Boston Temple. This is the time when Atlantic Union College students, who have participated in the morning Sabbath school and church services, are guests of the church members at a potluck dinner, co-ordinated by Mrs. Ruth Melville, Dorcas Society leader.

In addition to providing food for the students, the dinner also enables church members and students to become better acquainted. Each week approximately twelve students assist in the Boston Temple services. They help in various ways, such as providing special music, teaching Sabbath school classes, leading out in song service, and helping in the children's divisions.

The warmth and friendliness of the Boston Temple members is immediately felt by the visiting students. One student, eating at the potluck dinner asked: "Do they always do this? It's really something! Everyone is so friendly around here. I want to come back often!"

✓ Dr. Virginia-Gene Rittenhouse, professor of music, has been elected a member of the board of directors of the New England Piano Teachers Association. She has also been invited to serve as the adjudicator for the National Festival of Music sponsored by the Fine Arts Council of the government of Jamaica. As a contribution of the festival she has been invited to give two solo recitals.

✓ The Chamber Orchestra traveled to New York City recently where they presented a sacred service at the St. Paul's Chapel at Columbia University under the auspices of the Adventist Forum. It was a wonderful experience for the orchestra to perform Baroque music in such a magnificent setting. In the afternoon, the orchestra again presented a sacred concert at the New York Center and, to everyone's surprise, the center was filled to capacity for the concert which was most warmly appreciated.

Education Department News

The Education Department will offer a variety of subjects in the 1971 Summer School program. Physical education, mathematics, natural and social sciences, and children's literature are the courses to be taught in the elementary education area. Other courses will be "Teaching in the Secondary School," "Supervision and Administration," and "Psychology of Teaching and Learning."

A new course in education, "Teaching Bible in the Elementary School" is scheduled to be taught by John Baker, associate professor of education, during one of the semesters in the 1971-72 academic year. The purpose of the course is to acquaint education majors with methods, audiovisual aids, and other teaching materials useful in the teaching of Bible in the elementary grades. Mr. Baker envisions the core problem to be answered in this course to be: "How can a teacher enable students to transfer the principles learned in the Bible classes to their daily living?"

An Elementary School Bible Workshop is to be held June 15-August 15 at Pacific Union College with John Baker as chairman. The task of the workshop participants is to develop a teacher's guide and students' workbooks for the new Bible course in grades 1-4. The textbooks for those grades are presently being written.

Department Head Constructs Clay Pot

In an age of mass production, man has almost forgotten the joy of shaping forms with his own hands. Since man's beginning, he has been fascinated by the plasticity of soft clay. He has pinched and pushed it into both utilitarian and aesthetic objects of delight and fixed the form by the magic of the fire.

Roger Churches, assistant professor of art, constructed the hanging clay pot (above) for illustrations and an article for the Needlecraft magazine, a supplement of Good Housekeeping. The tentative date for publication is July.

The pot was designed for simplicity, utility, and beauty, and was made from red earthenware clay that complements the green plant foliage and is porous enough to allow plant roots to breathe freely.

Outstanding Camp Meeting Planned!

Mark off on your calendar from June 24 through July 3, as this is one camp meeting session you will not want to miss. Let us mention just one or two of the most outstanding features:

Fordyce Detamore

- One of the denomination's most successful evangelists with experience in all parts of the world.

Theodore Carcich

- General vice-president of the General Conference. If you have already heard Elder Carcich speak, then you know you will want to be present. And if you haven't, then it is even more important that you hear these dynamic messages.

The Gymnares

- This is something completely unique that people will be talking about for some time to come. Outstanding young people from several of our colleges will display professional tumbling talents, sing of their faith, and testify to their love for Christ.

Emilio Knechtle

- One of the church's leading laymen. This man's messages invariably bring his listeners into a closer relationship with the Lord.

Del Delker

- When this lady sings, music becomes a powerful agency for moving people's hearts.

And Much, Much More

- Plan now to receive the blessing in store at Camp Berkshire. Those few days of inspiration could change your entire life.

Radio Station Owner Likes It Is Written

In February, a gentleman who owns an advertising agency in the Midwest visited New York City on business. Back in his hotel room he "just happened" to tune in the It Is Written telecast. What he saw so impressed him that he sent a letter praising the program and asking for the book Planet in Rebellion. In a postscript he mentioned that he owns a radio station devoted mainly to religious programming in one of our largest cities.

After reading Planet in Rebellion, this gentleman wrote stating that it was "the finest I have ever read and it presents the gospel in such a wonderful way." He asked for twenty-five copies of each of George Vandeman's books, along with Steps to Christ, to present to his five children and close friends. He thought that this might not be possible, but in any case he wanted to enclose a check for $200 to help with the It Is Written telecast.

The letter ended with an invitation to broadcast one of our church services over his radio station. As this man reads these wonderful books, what will his reaction be? Is it possible that he will eventually want to dedicate his radio station to the promulgation of the third angel's message?

Adventist Men's Seminar

"Men Witness for God, Men Preach for God," was the theme of the three-day Adventist Men's Seminar held in Syracuse, March 26-28. Although 54 official delegates from 30 churches were present for the session, the average attendance was 80, and even reached 125 during one meeting.

The guest speakers and instructors were Elder M. T. Battle, of the General Conference Lay Activities Department; Elder A. A. Esteb, formerly of the General Conference Lay Activities Department; and Elder W. E. Peeke, of the Atlantic Union Conference. God's special blessing was felt from beginning to end.

Elder A. A. Esteb delivered the opening address on Friday night. During the same meeting the "Be Free" group from Union Springs Academy presented a musical program. During the eleven o'clock Sabbath preaching service, Elder M. Battle inspired the delegates to do a greater work in witnessing and preaching in these closing days of earth's history.

Two special instructional classes were conducted by Elders Battle and Esteb on Sabbath afternoon and evening. During the first period, Group I (one-half the delegates) met with Elder Battle and studied methods of how to "preach for God." At the same time, Group II (remaining half of delegates) met with Elder Esteb and studied methods of how to "witness for God." Then, during the second period, each group exchanged classes so that all studied both subjects. On Sunday morning, the classes continued with both groups assembled together.

The meeting was brought to a climax when Elder A. J. Patzer, in the closing message, challenged each individual to enter God's service with full dedication and commitment, of which the response among the laymen was unanimous. The testimony service that followed was a Spirit-filled session with all men committing their lives to God's service. Fifty-four Adventist men received Lay Preacher's credentials for the year 1971. Truly, with such a group of dedicated men, many souls will be won to the cause of God during Laymen's Year—1971.

Bronx Sabbath School Conducts Story Hour

If one should visit the Bronx church on any Sunday between the hours of 3:00 p.m. and 5:30 p.m., there would be ample evidence of activity within the church's walls.

Since October 25, 1970, every Sunday afternoon, a number of children from the neighborhood have been accommodated with stories, songs, games, and refreshments.

This Story Hour developed as a result of the interest created by the Vacation Bible School which was conducted in the summer of 1970. Because of the volume of work involved in keeping these children occupied meaningfully, it was decided that James B. Brown should be made director, with Mrs. G. Upshur, Mrs. E. Marshall, and George Murphy as assistants.

Part of a group of boys and girls (with two of their leaders) who are attending the Story Hour held in the Bronx church.

Despite the weather, the attendance at this community Story Hour has ranged from five to as high as thirty-five children. These children, who are mostly of Puerto Rican background, are so enthused with the activities that at times they start to enter the building as early as 1:00 p.m., and, in some instances, they are reluctant to leave when the activities cease for the day. At least one boy now attends church services on Sabbath and others have come to Sabbath school from time to time. So sincere is this young lad that he attends prayer meeting and sometimes helps in the church's activities.

Valuable help has been obtained from Mrs. Shinnevy, a former member of the Bronx church, and Beatrice Smith and E. Wright. These ladies have been willing to sacrifice their time, talent, and energy. In addition to those previously mentioned, particular credit should be given to Mrs. D. Barry and C. E. Boynes for their advice and help in the past; also to Mrs. M. Pickett, the new superintendent of the Sabbath school, who has maintained a keen interest in the development of this Story Hour.

The staff is quite realistic of the challenges which present themselves when one decides to help those in need, but they have adapted themselves to the task!

Family Worship and Home Series Successful

Believing that a strong family relationship anchored in the Word of God is the only hope for the future of the church, the community, and the world, Pastor Shand conducted a series of lectures on "Family Worship and the Home" during the month of January at the Calvary church. Along with this series of lectures, he coupled with it a concentrated effort to reclaim the absent and missing members of the church.

Immediate results have already been seen in a marked increase in attendance and participation in all phases of the church from Sabbath school to the Missionary Volunteer activities.

One method used by Pastor Shand was that of the units system. The entire membership was divided into several units with an elder leading out and keeping in touch with each member of his group. If an elder noticed that someone from his unit was absent from Sabbath school, he immediately called to let that person know that he was missed and he was encouraged to come out to the worship service.

Two out of five usually responded.

Not only were absent and missing members reclaimed during the month of January, but the family ties of the Powell home were made stronger as James Powell finally decided it was time for him to be baptized and "obey God rather than man."

For twelve years the wife and daughter of James Powell have been members of the Calvary church, and they have been earnestly praying that he would join them in their worship of God. He had received Bible studies often and was well aware of the beliefs and teachings of Seventh-day Adventists. However, he felt bound to keep a deathbed promise made to his mother that he would never leave the church in which he was brought up. He was a prominent member of an Episcopalian church. It was during January that the barrier was finally broken down and he admitted that his allegiance belonged to God more than to his mother.

What joy this family is experiencing! They are now able to worship God as a family unit both at home and at church.

Bronx Sabbath School Holds Parent-Teacher Luncheon

Realizing the need for unity and devotion on the part of each Sabbath school member, and realizing the value of parents' and teachers' association, the Sabbath School Council of the Bronx church decided to involve the parents in a tangible and more meaningful way. On Sabbath, January 10, the first parent-teacher luncheon was held in the Bronx church.

In attendance were Elder Herman R. Murphy, Sabbath school secretary for the Northeastern Conference; Mrs. Myrtle Pickett, Bronx Sabbath school superintendent; the assistants and secretaries; George Murphy, youth division leader; several teachers; and Simeon Greenaway, division co-ordinator; plus several parents.

The day's proceedings were very informative, and Simeon Greenaway drew upon his years of experience as a father and worker in God's cause. Each parent was made to see the responsibility which rests upon him.

Elder M. R. Murphy, as he emphasized a point at the Sabbath school luncheon.

Elder Murphy with his relaxed and provocative thoughts bore down heavily upon the responsibility of the officers and, indeed, the entire church structure. As the various points were illustrated, there was no doubt that the speaker was equipped to deal with the problems which face the Sabbath schools today.

Before the luncheon, each parent was given a chance to question each division leader as to how he could help with the children. Mrs. Myrtle Pickett and her corp of dedicated workers are leaving no stone unturned in helping each Sabbath school member to sense his responsibility to the Lord in 1971.

Love for Humanity Day

Sunday, February 14, was celebrated by the members and friends of the Christian Fellowship church as a very special day. The theme of the day was "Love for Humanity."

As the approximately two hundred members and guests gathered at the Lefferts Junior High School in Brooklyn, each person had a red heart, bearing the theme, pinned on him by a hostess.

Games of all types, which included the young and older members as well, were played in the huge modern gymnasium from 3:30 until 6:00 p.m. At the close of the game period, everyone was invited into the school cafeteria where a sumptuous meal was served to all by a committee of church members, headed by Mrs. Thelma Thorpe.

The members of the church were treated to this social occasion, free of charge, to reward them for the successful Ingathering campaign. At 8:00 p.m. when the affair ended, everyone departed for their homes thoroughly satisfied with a day spent with Christian friends and remembering the theme of the day, "Love for Humanity."

News from Linden Boulevard

Linden Boulevard church members and their pastor, D. B. Reid, are very proud of the work of their Health and Welfare Society, under the able leadership of Mrs. Isabel Bass and her assistant, Mrs. Peggy Donovan. The department is certainly moving ahead, and here is a hint of some of the activities they are doing. Within the last four months, eleven boxes of clothing have been sent to the needy—six were sent to Tyler, Alabama; two to Luttain, Alabama; and three to Petersburg, Virginia. Also several pieces of soul-winning literature have been sent to Kintampo, Ghana.

Through the efforts of the society, two hundred persons have been helped; three thousand articles of clothing have been distributed. Food and cash value of items given away has been $300, and one thousand hours of missionary work has been contributed.

Under the guidance of the Health and Welfare Society, a cooking and sewing class has been instituted every Sunday from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. There has been good attendance at these meetings, and the leaders hope that more and more members will join the classes as time goes on.

We know the Lord will bless them as they endeavor to help some of those who are less fortunate.

Organ Concert

Jack Huff, a former television and concert organist, was presented by the Staten Island church in an organ concert on Sunday, January 17. The organ was recently purchased—shortly after Pastor Ivan Warden took over his duties at the church.

Mr. Huff is a graduate of Roosevelt University in Chicago, and is presently the eastern region organ consultant for the organ division of the Baldwin Piano and Organ Co., Cincinnati, Ohio. His concert included selections by Bach and Haydn, as well as several well-known hymns.

This concert was one of the lyceums that will be featured at the church.

Camp Meeting Reflections

We must share with you more reflections from some who attended camp meeting in Northern New England last year, and we hope these reflections will help others to see the importance of being at camp meeting during the last days of probation. Here they are:

I have enjoyed every day of my stay here. The food here is also very good, as well as the fellowship I have had. This is a wonderful place to get acquainted with God. I have received a wonderful blessing since I have been coming here for the past four years.

We feel we have really received a special blessing from camp meeting this year, and we hope to come back from "south of the border" again next year! We shall be bringing our own tent.

This is the first year my husband has taken his vacation to be with us at camp meeting, and we've had a wonderful time. The Lord willing, we'll be back next year.

Camp meeting is a wonderful experience for me—full of blessings, a great uplift, the wonderful close love for fellow beings, and a renewed dedication of service. This makes camp meeting the best part of any year. I certainly plan to be back in 1971!

Yes, these are just a few more testimonies showing the blessings received last year. We are looking forward to seeing many more come to camp meeting this year.

See you at camp meeting!

The Silver Singers

The Silver Singers of South Lancaster Academy were organized last August, under the direction of Garland Peterson. This group of young people have dedicated themselves to serve their fellow man wherever possible. During the past several months they have sung in numerous churches in New England, at civic clubs in the local area, at Fort Devens, and the Portsmouth Naval Base.

This singing group, composed of twenty-five young people, had a very rewarding week end recently in the Amesbury area, and pioneered a new youth evangelism approach in New England. The group had thirteen engagements from Thursday night to Saturday night. On Thursday night they sang at the Maplewood Manor Nursing Home in Amesbury, Friday morning at the Greenleaf House Nursing Home in Salisbury. The real highlight of the trip was singing three times at the Portsmouth Naval Hospital. After the hospital concert, Executive Officer Captain Carter B. Sigel presented the group with a beautiful plaque. Later in the afternoon they visited the United States Disciplinary Command. This is the only naval prison in the world. While at the prison the group was treated to a slide program and lecture about the prison. Friday evening the Silver Singers presented a concert of sacred music at the Amesbury church. The Sabbath morning service was presented by the young people. On Sabbath afternoon they sang at the Newburyport Manor Chronic Hospital, the County Manor Nursing Home, and the Worcester Park Nursing Home, all in Newburyport, Massachusetts. Saturday evening the Silver Singers presented a secular program for the public in the Amesbury Middle School where they received a standing ovation.

The Silver Singers were accompanied by their director, Garland Peterson, director of music at South Lancaster Academy; Elder Paul Kline, program director of the group; and Elder M. D. Gordon, youth director of Southern New England Conference. Robert Schmidt and Elder John Ferraro, both of the Amesbury church, arranged for the housing of the group. The hospitality of the members was greatly appreciated by the young people. This new approach to youth evangelism proved to be a tremendous double blessing, both to the many people who heard the group and to the group themselves.

A letter written by one of the Amesbury members concerning the week-end activities contained the following excerpt:

It was a beautiful surprise to see a group of young people so well-behaved and looking so neat. Two of the boys were at my home and we were delighted with them. I think I can safely say that was the general feeling among all the hosts and hostesses. How fortunate these teenagers are to have such good leadership! Mr. Peterson has done a fine job. This past week end lifted me spiritually and restored my faith in our youth.

The latest project of these young people is the making of a record which will include a variety of sacred music from standard literature to numbers appealing to our youth.

Week of Prayer

Pastor William Fagal, Jr., from Pawtucket, Rhode Island, and Pastor Harold Lickey from Boston, together led out in the Week of Prayer at South Lancaster Academy, March 8-13.

The topic that they emphasized was "To Know Christ." The students had prayer bands after the evening meetings. On Friday evening they conducted their own academy Ordinance of Humility and the Lord's Supper. After the last meeting on Sabbath, held at the academy, there was an extended search for God in a prayer circle. Many tears of shame and joy were shed.

Since the Week of Prayer, the students have continued their fellowship by having prayer bands during the noon hour in the Bible teacher's office. Approximately twenty students attend each day.

Scholarship Program for Pioneer Valley Academy

At the recent conference constituency meeting a new plan was voted to guarantee a $500 annual scholarship to Pioneer Valley Academy for any student from any Southern New England church that participates in his behalf.

The first $200 of the scholarship comes from the local church and the remainder is divided between the conference and the academy.

Students involved in Project Lift will be expected to work a minimum of fifteen hours per week, thus earning an additional minimum of $500 to add to the scholarship. Longer hours or higher paying jobs will naturally result in greater earnings.

The scholarship money will be applied in five monthly installments beginning with the second semester.

Any student in Southern New England is eligible for Project Lift if his local church participates in the program and he demonstrates academic progress, maintains an acceptable citizenship grade, co-operates in the work program, is a boarding student, and is not receiving a denominational worker's educational subsidy.

Applications for next year are already being received. For any additional information write to Pioneer Valley Academy, New Braintree, Massachusetts 01531.

PVA Students Assist in Evangelistic Campaign

For eight weeks, approximately thirty Pioneer Valley Academy students have been working in the town of Southbridge, Massachusetts, assisting the members of Pastor Mark Finley's district who have been taking a religious survey there. Already seventeen persons have begun Bible studies as a result of this survey. This endeavor took place prior to an evangelistic campaign by Elder Richard Pollard, Southern New England Conference evangelist, which began on April 9 and will run through May 1.

One of several groups who participated in the Southbridge evangelistic campaign.

During the evening meetings of the crusade, the students are assisting in the song services, special music, and ushering. The Pioneer Valley Academy Concert Band will present a program on the last evening of the evangelistic series, May 1. The meetings are being held in the Elks' Hall at 155 Main Street, Southbridge.

A group of Pioneer Valley Academy students are also helping in a Vacation Bible School which is held Sabbath afternoons in the town library in Southbridge.

New England Memorial Presents Key to Alcoholism

The New England Memorial Hospital in Stoneham hosted the first program in New England conducted by the International Commission for the Prevention of Alcoholism, entitled "4 Dimensional Key to the Cause of Alcoholism."

The program took place from Monday, March 1, to Thursday, March 4, and consisted of four series of lectures on the four dimensions in understanding the problems and answers to alcoholism—the physical foundation, the mental or governing power, the social application, and the spiritual (long recognized by other alcoholics programs to be basic to understanding).

This program was conducted by Ernest H. J. Steed, executive director of the International Commission for the Prevention of Alcoholism, Washington, D.C., and he was assisted by G. Robert Rigsby, M.D., staff member of the hospital.

The public was invited to this Community Service program, sponsored by the Health Education Department of the hospital. It is hoped that this timely program will grow and attract as much or more interest as did the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking program, which was first introduced approximately fifteen years ago in Stoneham and has grown to be an internationally recognized and accepted clinical method to stop smoking.

Director Steed says: "We stress the necessity for education and prevention. Also, we attempt to present to the community the causes of alcoholism and believe that once people know the cause they can better prevent the effect."

The public appeal of the program is directed to reach both the drinker and the non-drinker. Everyone should know of the causes and threats of alcoholism; therefore, the program is a general open approach; for, in addition to finding alcoholism's cause, it unlocks principles whereby a person can choose better living and find the key to maximum satisfaction.

At Rest

BLASER—George W. H. Blaser was born November 16, 1899, in Cambridge, Massachusetts, and passed to rest March 10, 1971, at the Athol Memorial Hospital after a long and confining illness. There were nine children in the Blaser family, seven of whom survive their brother: Sinclair Blaser and Sadie Battersby live in Athol; Harold and Hubert Blaser in New Jersey; Lawrence Blaser lives in Florida; Alice May in Hubbardston; and Jennie Leighton now living in Foxboro.

George Blaser joined the Boston church in 1912 following baptism by Elder Sanderson and was the first one of his family to take this step. His parents moved from Cambridge to Mansfield, Massachusetts, for a short time before Mr. Blaser moved to Athol, Massachusetts, where he resided for the rest of his life. On October 14, 1919, he married Helen Carroll and together they devoted their lives to their church, their home, and their community.

Three sons graced the Blaser home: George William Blaser, Jr., resides in Attleboro, Massachusetts; Donn Lee Blaser resides in Athol, Massachusetts; and Paul Robert Chatigny Blaser resides in West Townsend, Massachusetts.

George Blaser served his church as Sabbath school superintendent and, for many years, as local elder and Sabbath school teacher. In addition to maintaining a reputation as one of the community's fine craftsmen, he served the Town of Athol as Director of Civil Defense for many years.

Funeral services were held at the Fiske Funeral Home in Athol, Massachusetts, on March 13, and interment was at Silver Lake Cemetery.

H. W. KNOX

DOIRON—Mrs. Blanche Hilda Doiron of West Falmouth, Massachusetts, passed away at the Fraser Nursing Home in Falmouth, Massachusetts, on December 30, 1970, at the age of eighty-three. Born in Milton, Massachusetts, on January 27, 1887, Mrs. Doiron was a faithful member of the Cape Cod church in Cataumet, Massachusetts.

Funeral services were conducted December 31, 1970, at the Jenkins Funeral Home in West Falmouth by Elder Leonard Westphal. Burial was in the North Falmouth Cemetery.

Mrs. Doiron is survived by her husband, Cyrus; her son, Elliot Towers, of Pittsfield, Massachusetts; and a granddaughter, Mrs. Sally Pires, of Berkshire, Maryland.

RONALD M. FLOWERS

DORR—Cola G. Dorr, born in Carthage, Maine, passed away February 8, 1971, at the age of seventy-eight, at the Weeks Memorial Hospital in Lancaster, New Hampshire.

Mr. Dorr, after the death of his wife, Lilly, stayed with his brother, Percy, and later in the home of Mrs. Jessie Owen in Lancaster, New Hampshire.

While living near Dixfield, Maine, he started attending the Seventh-day Adventist church and was very impressed. Later in Lancaster, New Hampshire, he sought the nearest Seventh-day Adventist church pastor, took Bible studies, and was baptized January 30, 1971, becoming a member of the St. Johnsbury, Vermont, church.

Mr. Dorr is survived by two sons: Richard C. Dorr, of Colebrook, New Hampshire; and Edward T. Dorr, of Lancaster, New Hampshire; five grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Thursday, February 11, at the Bailey Home in Lancaster, New Hampshire. He will be buried in the spring in the town of Jefferson, New Hampshire, where he will rest in the hands of the Lord.

MILTON W. HALLOCK

GRASSE—Errol Norman Grasse, High Street, West Gardiner, Maine, died at his home November 19, 1970. He was born in Randolph, Massachusetts, and worked as a shoe cutter for many years. He retired in 1966. He became a member of the Farmingdale, Maine, church in 1952.

Surviving are his wife, Mabel; a son Elihu; two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Spencer and Mrs. Marjorie Rollins; seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The funeral services were conducted at the Amesbury-White Chapel in West Gardiner, Maine, by Elder Raymond O. Richardson. Burial was at Fairbanks Cemetery, West Gardiner, Maine.

RAYMOND O. RICHARDSON

GREENE—Mrs. Florence Bell Greene, widow of George Greene, was born February 15, 1903, in Barre, Vermont, and fell asleep in Jesus at Lakeland, Florida, February 2, 1971.

Mrs. Greene graduated from the normal course of Atlantic Union College in 1925. After teaching church school in Portland, Maine, she graduated from the New England Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in 1929.

She was a member of the Barre church for several years. At the time of her death she was a resident of Newbury, and a member of the South Newbury church.

She leaves to mourn four stepchildren, two nieces, and one nephew.

HALE—Lula Ella Robbins Hale was born in Willington, Connecticut, on March 1, 1887, daughter of Clara Ella Hazen of Groton, Massachusetts, and Charles A. Robbins, and died on March 11, 1971. She was one of five children. She was married on May 15, 1911, to Ashley Garfield Hale.

In February of 1925, Mr. and Mrs. Hale moved to Groton, Massachusetts, where Mrs. Hale began a small nursing service in her home—a service that over the years bloomed into a 36-bed convalescent home. This nursing home reflected her concern for people—she lived to minister to those about her. In order that she might more intelligently serve, she took high school by correspondence, followed by a course in practical nursing from the Wayne School of Nursing, Chicago, Illinois. Mrs.

Hale was concerned with the spiritual as well as the physical welfare of her patients. Not a few were led to accept Christ as their Saviour through her ministry.

She is survived by her husband, Ashley Garfield; three daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Wilkins, Miss Thelma Elizabeth Hale, and Mrs. Geraldine Isabelle Grout; a sister, Mrs. Bell Blake, of Dover, Florida; three grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Services were held at the Badger Funeral Home in Groton, Massachusetts, on March 12, with Elder David Guldhammer officiating and Elder Harold Allard assisting. Mrs. Hale was buried in the Groton Cemetery where she awaits the call of the Life-giver on the resurrection morning.

NOYES—Mrs. Ethel M. Noyes, age eighty-six, passed away February 16, 1971, at the Dumont Nursing Home in Morrisville, Vermont.

Mrs. Noyes was born March 23, 1884, in Lyndon Center, Vermont. Her childhood days were spent with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Batchelder.

Mrs. Noyes was baptized when she was a young girl in the Lyndon Center Baptist church. Later in life she became a member of the Seventh-day Adventist faith and joined the St. Johnsbury church as a charter member. For the rest of her life she was an active member in religious groups and a well-known singer in services wherever she went.

For a number of years she lived in Morrisville with her daughter, Mrs. Beth N. Miller, until she broke her hip and had to be placed in the care of the Dumont Nursing Home in Morrisville, Vermont.

She is survived by her two children: Mrs. Beth N. Miller, of Morrisville, Vermont; and Maude A. Clough, of Williamstown, Vermont; one sister, Mrs. Winifred Foster, of Underhill, Vermont; and several nieces and nephews.

The funeral service and committal services were conducted in the Morrisville church. She will be laid to rest in the Lyndon Center Cemetery when warmer weather arrives. There she will rest in the hands of the Lord.
