STEWARDSHIP

BLUEPRINT FOR SUCCESS

BY GAYLAH R. CANTRELL
Assistant Treasurer, Atlantic Union Conference

Success! Everyone wants success. And especially during the 1000 Days of Reaping we want to be successful in the work of bringing souls to Christ.

"The work to which as Christians we are called is to co-operate with Christ for the salvation of souls. This work we have entered into covenant with Him to do. To neglect the work is to prove disloyal to Christ. But in order to accomplish this work we must follow His example of faithful, conscientious attention to the little things. This is the secret of success in every line of Christian effort and influence" (Christ's Object Lessons, p. 358).

So here we have the secret. The secret of success in our Christian endeavors is to "follow His example of faithful, conscientious attention to the little things."

What joy is experienced in seeing new members added to our churches! What joy in seeing spiritual growth among members! What joy in experiencing spiritual growth in our own lives! And the secret of accomplishing this is in faithfulness to the little things. How simple the Lord has made the plan for our success.

The Atlantic Union Conference is planning for an appropriation of $80,000 for special evangelistic meetings to be held in the cities of New York, Boston, and Buffalo during the 1000 Days of Reaping. This appropriation is possible because of faithful giving and careful handling—attention to little things.

But the appropriation is only the beginning. Duties will abound which will call for the talents of all. There will be visits to be made, praying to be done, gifts to be given, sympathy and compassion to be imparted, smiles and handshakes to be extended, encouragement to be given, literature and handbills to be distributed, transportation to be provided, telephone calls to be made, hospitality to be provided, chairs to be set up and taken down, floors to be swept, music to be provided, records to be kept. "The principles of the gospel cannot be disconnected from any department of practical life" (Christ's Object Lessons, p. 384).

"The symmetrical structure of a strong, beautiful character is built up by individual acts of duty. And faithfulness should characterize our life in the least as well as in the greatest of its details. Integrity in little things, the performance of little acts of fidelity and little deeds of kindness, will gladden the path of life; and when our work on earth is ended, it will be found that every one of the little duties faithfully performed has exerted an influence for good,—an influence that can never perish" (Patriarchs and Prophets, p. 574).

Let's watch for opportunities and day by day, hour by hour, follow the Perfect Example. Let's make faithfulness a part of our daily lives. Let's experience success!

Kilgore Attends SDA Retired Worker's Convocation

They claimed she was the oldest retiree present. But more importantly for Rochelle Kilgore, who taught for 50 years in SDA schools, it was a chance to see old friends and former students. She was asked to be one of the speakers at the first SDA retired workers and senior citizens convocation held this past summer (August 6 to 8 on the campus of Southern College).

Kilgore served as AUC's English Department chairman for 25 years, stepping down in 1962, though she still continued to teach for a number of years.

Dr. Rochelle Kilgore, longtime English professor at AUC, recently attended a convocation for SDA retirees.

She was then named Director of Student Placement, followed by a stint with the Alumni Association.

An extensive traveler, she also worked with an SDA servicemen's organization for 25 years, traveling often to Europe, encouraging servicemen to "work for the Lord" when they completed their work for the government. She no longer travels overseas, though she still continues to travel in the United States, primarily visiting AUC alumni. In addition, she corresponds with numerous friends, former students and AUC alumni from around the world. In recognition of her indefatigable work for AUC and Christian education, the college named the girls' dorm chapel after her and in May, 1977, awarded her an honorary Doctor of Letters degree. ☆

"Better Breakfasts"

Sixty-five participants from the churches in Framingham, Hudson, Lancaster, Leominster, Sterling, and Worcester assembled in the College Church Fellowship Hall on October 28 for Raydene Drexler's lecture-demonstration "Better Breakfasts for Less." The meeting was sponsored by the Central Massachusetts Chapter of the Association of Adventist Women, Marguerite Rittenhouse, president.

Mrs. Drexler stressed the importance of sound nutritional information coupled with serious effort to establish family eating habits that are healthful. Modern American customs and pressures make regular, healthful meals hard to achieve, she warned, and readily available oversweetened or oversalted snacks spoil the taste for plain food. Making economical family meals tempting, attractive and nourishing, therefore, demands long-range planning, family involvement, and imagination.

Following Mrs. Drexler's presentation, participants were encouraged to sample a variety of unusual breakfast foods. Then, circling a table laden with healthful ingredients, they made granola for their family's morning meal.

This was the second of a series of evenings sponsored by the Association of Adventist Women. This new organization, created with the blessing of the General Conference office of Human Relations, aims to help Christian women achieve their potential and share their concerns. Future plans of the Central Massachusetts Chapter include a session on legal concerns of women and workshops on church leadership and time management. Local dues-paying members are automatically members of the national AAW and will receive the national newsletter, The Adventist Woman. ☆

AUC Students to Study in the Tropics

The biology department at Atlantic Union College is offering a course in Tropical Biology which involves a trip to the Caribbean Coast on December 26 through January 6.

The course is open to students of all backgrounds and requires no previous education in biology. The purpose of the trip is to enable students to develop a greater understanding and appreciation for the complexities of the tropical habitat by experiencing it firsthand.

The students will be flown from Boston to the small country of Belize located on the Caribbean Coast of the Yucatan Peninsula between Mexico and Guatemala. The time will be spent at two field stations made available to Atlantic Union College by International Zoological Expeditions of Sherborn, Massachusetts. The first field station is centered in a tropical rain forest and the second on the world's second-largest coral reef.

An Unusual Spiritual Experience

"O Lord, Revive Thy Work . . ." (Habakkuk 3:2) this has been the prayer of the Hungarian church's pastor each day since he began his work in this conference. The pastor, Elder Imre Petrik, recalls, "After accepting the pastorate of the New York Hungarian congregation some years ago, I was disappointed to see that only a very few new converts had joined this church in recent years. Being aware of this fact, the conference ministerial director told me, 'The Hungarian church will not be able to survive.'

"A heavy burden weighed on my mind and heart. I was longing to do something for this church. Older members were dying year after year, and membership dropped even lower. The church board had already made suggestions as to what we could do in case of a final dissolution.

"Considering the sad fact that this church might close its doors after being alive for 70 years, I decided to do all I could with the Lord's help, to prevent it.

This could not happen! We are responsible for the survival of this congregation!" I said to myself.

There were only two things we could do: work and pray. My wife and I prayed to the Lord daily to remember our church, and to lead us to find new converts. We also prayed for a spiritual awakening in the church. Church members joined us in this aim. We started handing out literature and made efforts at soul winning.

With true enthusiasm we are proclaiming the advent message at this time on radio, through news media, and also offering the Bible Correspondence Course to Hungarians.

The Lord heard our supplications, and has really blessed our unselfish efforts in a miraculous way. We baptized six precious souls on August 7. There are some well-educated young people among them, even of the Jewish faith, who now are rejoicing and serving God as Seventh-day Adventists.

The members of our New York Hungarian church are now happy and have gained courage to continue to seek and lead more souls to the cross of Golgotha.

Elder Petrik affirms, "We give thanks and glory to God alone for these successes and for our new church members. God has answered our supplications in a wonderful way. It is my firm conviction that the Lord always recompenses the prayer of a faithful worker, and will guide us to find new souls."

Please pray for the efforts of the New York Hungarian brethren, that we will see more of the fruitage of our labors. We pray for the worldwide Advent family, that we might be blessed and able to reach the goal of 1,000 souls per day during the 1,000 days ahead.

Hispanic Evangelistic Series to Foster New Church in Queens

With its sanctuary crowded each Saturday with more than 400 people, the Spanish Queens church decided it had to give birth to a new congregation in some other part of the borough. And what better site than its mother church, the Jackson Heights church? So, with the approval of the pastor and congregation of Jackson Heights the planning and the work were begun. The Conference gave all its support with the goal of organizing a new church in this borough of more than one quarter of a million Hispanic people.

Elder Jorge Grieve

Videotapes of the meetings were edited for airing on Ayer . . . Hoy . . . Mañana.

The church was organized for door-to-door visitation, using a survey of the radio and television program, "Ayer . . . Hoy . . . Mañana," and the El Centinela magazine. Elder Jorge Grieve, Director-Evangelist of Ayer, Hoy, Mañana, was appointed the speaker for an evangelistic crusade.

With his energy and loving care for souls, Elder Grieve organized his team which included Spanish Queens pastor, Elder Israel Gonzalez, and two more workers: Pastor Antonio Rodriguez, who will serve as pastor of the church developing from the crusade; and Miguel Angel Rodriguez, a student of theology from Central America Union College. All other helpers are members of the Spanish Queens church, plus one of the fine leaders of Jackson Heights church. The cooperation of the pastor and congregation of the Jackson Heights church was also very helpful.

September 25 was the starting date. From the very beginning, the blessing of the Holy Spirit brought about a mighty success. People arrived from the whole borough and beyond. Many of them came as a result of invitations aired by Ayer, Hoy, Mañana. Two hundred and twenty-eight non-Adventists attended the first Sunday meeting, and more than 120 children were present for a special program under the leadership of Sister Celia Torres.

From September 25 to October 3, with the exception of Thursday, meetings were held every evening with a very full attendance. Now the meetings are held each weekend (Friday to Sunday). Some meetings are videotaped and edited for use on Ayer, Hoy, Mañana's program on Sunday afternoon. This has created a favorable atmosphere toward the crusade, which is announced at the end of the presentation on the program.

A fine group of brethren serve as ushers and register the visitors, who give their names, address and telephone with pleasure in order to receive gift books and printed material on the issues presented to them by Elder Grieve. Great interest has been sparked through the meetings by God's grace. With the leading of the Holy Spirit, the membership and the Conference hope that the establishment of a new church will be a reality soon.

Also assisting was Leandro DeArmas, newly appointed assistant auditor for Spanish churches.

A workshop for church communication secretaries was also held at the church on October 10, led by Betty Cooney, Communication Director; and Louis Matthews, a photographer and school principal from Northeastern Conference. A number of Personal Ministries seminars have been conducted by Personal Ministries Director, John Aitken, as well as disaster-preparedness workshops led by Community Services Director, Juanita Kretschmar, have also been held at various churches throughout the Conference.

The various sessions represent continuing efforts to assist laymen as they work in and for the church, particularly during the 1,000 Days of Reaping. ☆

Conference Comment

A five-church Officers' Training Seminar was conducted recently at a retreat center on the South Shore of Long Island. Under the direction of Elder John Lorntz, pastor of the Patchogue-Riverhead district, and newly appointed ministerial director for the Conference, officers from the Babylon, Huntington, Patchogue, Riverhead, and Patchogue Hispanic churches met from 3:00 to 8:30 p.m. on October 23. Elder John McLarty, Trevor Forbes, and Dale McConnell assisted in the workshop sessions. Elder Arthur Santos, pastor of the Spanish Prospect church in the Bronx, was the evening speaker. ☆

"Crusade Search" Held at Grand Concourse

A five-week evangelistic series held during the summer by Elder D. Robert Kennedy, pastor-evangelist, culminated in a special candlelight communion service.

Title for the crusade was an acronym built on the theme "Search Every Armor and Rescue Confused Humanity." Many people attending rededicated their lives to the Lord, and 34 gave their hearts to Christ and were baptized. A number of others enrolled in baptismal class to prepare for an early fall baptism.

A spirit of praise and rejoicing was experienced and appreciated by many attending the meetings, a number of which dealt with last-day events and preparation. A question posed by Pastor Kennedy was given prayerful consideration: "So many people are lost because—in youth they are 'too young'; in manhood they are 'too worried'; when aged they are 'too old'; when dead they are 'too late.' Are you making excuses to God?"

North Creek Vacation Bible School

The North Creek church, with a membership of 31, held a Vacation Bible School August 16 through 20, 1982. Mildred Walter, director, reports that 70 children attended, 65 of whom were non-Adventists. Stories, crafts, recreation and, of course, the study from God's Word made up the five-day program.

The closing program was held August 20 with Elder Robert Farley, Youth Director of the conference, as the speaker. The children and parents, who packed the little church, were overjoyed and inspired by the sermon and the program. Crafts were on display and refreshments were served. Many are already planning to return next year.

Each of the leaders, teachers, and assistants were presented a lighted candle in a star-shaped holder as an appreciation gift and a symbol of letting their lights shine during a blessed week of Vacation Bible School. ☆

Faith Action Advance

The members of the Batavia and Rochester Genesee Park churches believe that action of faith can advance only through the ministry of every member. Chief Ryder and his wife Eileen stood before the church to be introduced by Pastor David Osborne and to receive the plaque voted by the church board. Elder Stanley Steiner, President of the Southern New England Conference, presented the plaque.

After more than thirty-four years as chief of Lancaster's police force, Chief Ryder is retiring November 30. During most of those years Eileen Ryder, also retiring, has served as police secretary and office manager.

More than 160 blind campers and 100 friendship campers sponsored by local churches enjoyed the pleasures of Camp Winnekeag. More than 400 non-Adventists attended the Camp. There is no other evangelistic effort in the conference which had even close to that number. The lessons learned and the impressions made are unforgettable. Their first Sabbath, daily worships, and yes, the vegetarian meals, all reveal the Adventist life-style which they experienced.

"I did it all at Camp Winnekeag. From watching Scott Green, the Men's Class I National Water Ski Champion, to learning how to water ski myself. From actually touching a snake, to milking a goat. From the cabins to the outpost, B.M.X., to horses and everything in between I experienced at Camp Winnekeag. I met Jesus there through the personal invitation of the Camp Pastor. I grew in every dimension and enjoyed it in every way. I want to be at Camp Winnekeag next year, don't you?" Over 900 campers shared this experience in 1982. Don't YOU miss out next year.

The afternoon was filled with three workshops arranged and presented by three teams composed of three teachers each entitled: Learning Centers, Learning Games, and Room Decor.

Special recognition was given to two of our teachers for their award-setting achievements. Mrs. Beverly Costa, teacher of grades one and two at Cedar Brook school, was born, raised, educated, and is now in her 33rd year of teaching—all in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Marguerite Johnson, teacher of grades one and two at Middletown school in Portland, Connecticut, was invited in 1962 to be the first teacher at the then brand-new church school building in Middletown-Portland and now after 20 years she is still teaching at that same school and is still loved and wanted there.

Nice going ladies! Keep up the good work and may God continue to bless you in your ministry in behalf of God's younger members. We are proud to have a fine and successful group of Christian teachers in this conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Amelotte and Pastor Dubocq stayed for the Afterglow in the Village church which takes place at 11:30 each Sabbath after the morning sermon. The friendliness and warmth of the whole Sabbath morning permeated the Afterglow, and we were thankful to our Lord for a most beautiful Sabbath in which to worship.

Centenarian Receives Services from Christian Record

According to the Guinness Book of World Records, from data on documented centenarians, actuaries have shown that only one 115-year life can be expected in just over two billion lives. Alex Jones is a one-in-two-billion person.

Before the Wright Brothers made their historic first flight through the friendly skies, before Henry T. Ford introduced the horseless carriage and, yes, even before the end of the Civil War that pitted the North against the South, Alex Jones was alive and doing well.

Claiming to be 120 years old, Jones says he was born in 1862. The son of Negro slaves, Jones was born on a plantation in Burke County, Georgia, near Augusta. Although he was born into slavery, due to the Emancipation Proclamation issued by President Lincoln three years after Jones's birth, he never served as a slave.

Jones answered an enthusiastic "NO" when asked if he were ever a slave.

Some 30 years ago Jones suffered an accident and lost his eyesight. He was nearly 90 then. In 1976 this centenarian began receiving Christian reading services from Christian Record Braille Foundation. He currently receives three talking magazines from Christian Record: Encounter, The Student and Christian Record Talking Magazine.

Jones learned his livelihood from his parents: Farming. He says he farmed cotton, corn, potatoes, peas, beans and watermelon. A self-educated man, he matter-of-factly states, "I never went to school in my life." Even at 120, Jones possesses strength better than men half his age, probably due to laboring with his hands for so many years.

A devout Methodist, Jones says he's been a Christian for 65 years. His oldest living son is still a "baby" at 95 years of age.

Jones resides now at the Amelia Island Care Center in Fernandina Beach, Florida, and has no profound reason for his longevity. He simply notes, "I just tend to my own business. A bad man don't go very far." ☆ of families. The family is recognized as a most effective means of evangelism in the Seventh-day Adventist Church and home economics, with its dedication to family stability, has a real mission here.

Topics discussed by the group were: (1) the responsibilities of the profession for strengthening family life both in the church and in the larger society; (2) the urgent need in Seventh-day Adventist institutions for qualified dietetic technicians, and how home economics programs in the colleges can help meet this need; and (3) the possibility of some coordination among the colleges to maintain home economics programs that meet professional standards in spite of budget cuts and reorganization of academic departments.

Clinton Wall, representing the Adventist Health Systems, gave counsel for working out ways and means to train more dietetic technicians in home economics programs. A preliminary evaluation of the home economics curriculum and its future directions were presented by Merlene Olmsted of Walla Walla College. The curriculum evaluation was based on a five-year study of home economics in Seventh-day Adventist higher education prepared by Martha Lorenz at Andrews University.

Consider the Magazine

Our evangelistic magazines—These Times, Signs, Message, and El Centinela—provide us with a remarkably easy but power-laden opportunity to witness for Christ.

The day of the magazine is far from over in spite of all the inroads of television. Consider, for example, that a magazine, which can be read at leisure and at one's own pace, doesn't put a time limit on creativity. A magazine gives you the freedom to tell your story the way it needs to be told—with one picture or a thousand words.

A magazine such as Signs, Message, El Centinela, or These Times can touch the whole of life with sophistication and warmth. It can deal with modern man's real problems, with his everyday concerns, and provide solutions from a biblical perspective. Because Christianity is relevant to all of life, a Christian magazine can delve into the realms of art, ethics, history, science, economics, psychology, sociology, urbanization, secularization, and so forth.

On the other hand, the simplest article pointing out that Jesus cares may be enough to win a heart. Down deep we all are pretty much the same—vulnerable, lonely, fearful. We need the comforting word, the assurance that we have a gracious Saviour who loves us, helps us, exalts us, and frees us from guilt. Forgiveness—as God grants it—is the only basis for inner contentment and peace of mind!

Consider the evangelistic magazine as a pulpit in every home, the friendly messenger with a distinctive message, a prophetic, warning message, a grand, wholistic life-style for hurting people. A magazine gives opportunity to proclaim our message as the good news it really is. It gives opportunity to "make appeals that will arouse the careless and bring foolish, wandering minds back to God" (Testimonies, Vol. 7, p. 155).

Consider the magazine—then consider your responsibility to use it to win souls. As a Seventh-day Adventist Christian you are involved. You cannot avoid it. You are a participant in the redemptive mission of God through the church. You are involved in the world, its business, its culture, its hunger, its politics and governments, its travail, its tears, its sin. You cannot be a spectator! Jesus said, "I pray not that thou shouldst take them out of the world, . . . as thou has sent me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world" (John 17:15, 18).

Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel. Preach it by your life and by using our evangelistic journals. It is a great time to be alive and to participate in the finishing of the work of God on earth. Will you accept the challenge to-day? Tomorrow may be too late!

H. M. S. Richards, Jr., presents a plaque to Ithiel Gillis (right) in appreciation for his 40 years of service to the Voice of Prophecy. Between them is VOP manager Daniel R. Guild. Elder Gillis entered denominational work in 1928 and joined the radio team in May, 1942, just a few months after the program began airing coast-to-coast. After nine years as treasurer, he served as manager from 1951 to 1969. Following his official retirement, he began the stewardship department, where he continues as a consultant. His work includes helping persons set up deferred giving plans. Gillis has been on the VOP staff longer than any other person except VOP founder H. M. S. Richards. ☆ the help he personally had given to them. Included in the messages that were read that evening were messages from Elder Neal Wilson, president of the General Conference, and Dwight Bradford, Elder Bradford's son.

Elder C. D. Brooks, Speaker for the Breath of Life, presented the history and a current update on the Telecast. Brooks has recently conducted a series of successful evangelistic meetings in Los Angeles. They followed a year of prime time Breath of Life programming on a major TV channel in the city.

In addition to the speaker and musical numbers presented during the program, special proclamations from the Governor of Maryland and the Mayor of Washington, D. C., were read. They proclaimed May 1 to 8 "Breath of Life" week.

The funds generated by the banquet are being used to support the Breath of Life Telecast. ☆

Gift Bible Memorial Named after Cross

The late C. G. Cross, who served as manager and editor of Christian Record Braille Foundation from 1958-1974, devoted his untiring talents to the furtherance of this organization, as well as to countless blind friends and associates throughout the world.

In an effort to honor Cross, who died March 25, 1981, Christian Record has established a C. G. Cross Gift Bible Memorial Fund.

"It's only fitting to name this new fund after Cross," explains B. E. Jacobs, CRBF general manager. "Cross's one desire during his 14-year tenure here was that each service distributed to the visually impaired would lead them to know Jesus as their personal friend."

Wendell Carpenter, coordinator of reading services, will oversee this new fund. He says Jessie Cross responded favorably to the memorial. "I know my husband would have considered it a great honor to have God's Word presented to the blind in his memory."

Carpenter continues, "We hope all who knew Cross will respond in a positive way. Unfortunately, we have had to deny some requests for gift Bibles or to postpone sending some because of limited funding. We're confident this memorial will benefit the blind who long to study the Scriptures."

Contributions to the fund can be sent to C. G. Cross Gift Bible Memorial, Christian Record Braille Foundation, 4444 South 52nd St., Lincoln, NE 68506. ☆

At Rest

BARR, Delphys Ramsey, was born on June 11, 1946, in Montego Bay, Jamaica. She attended primary and high school there. She married Lowell Owen Barr on November 5, 1966. The union was blessed with two sons, Christopher and Howard.

In December, 1969, Delphys was baptized into the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The following year she immigrated to the United States and with all the zeal of a new convert she joined the Mt. Eden (now Grand Concourse) church in the Bronx. Here she ministered as lead soprano for the choir, Sabbath school secretary and Church Clerk. She was always ready to serve when asked.

Her winning personality made her one of the most intimate parts of the church choir and indeed the life of the church. Her spiritual goal was to help save others, be saved and then be part of heaven's choir. The theme of her social life was to spread joy and cheer wherever she went.

On June 26, 1982, the hand of death reached out through a tragic accident and snatched her from her husband Lowell, her son Christopher, her mother and father, three sisters and a host of relatives and friends.

She sleeps in quietness, and in confidence shall she rest.

BARR, Howard Paul Owen was born to Horace and Delphys Barr, on January 11, 1969, in Montego Bay, Jamaica. He immigrated to the United States in 1975 to join his parents. He attended St. Catherine of Sienna parochial school in New York City.

He was baptized in 1981 in the Grand Concourse church. He became an active member of the Advent Youth Department, an usher, a member of the Youth Choir and an outstanding Pathfinder.

His spiritual goal was to be a "God's Kid" as he always sang, and his dream was to be a scientist and help humanity.

His life ended tragically on June 26, 1982, in an automobile accident.

Left to mourn this terrible loss are his father, a brother, grandparents, uncles, aunts, cousins and other relatives.

Howard will certainly be missed by all, but he rests in peace.

CARTER, Karen Andrea was born to Ucal Carter and Merna Morgan on December 27, 1971, in Kingston, Jamaica. After her mother immigrated to the United States she lived with her grandmother in Clarendon and attended the Chapelton All-Age school.

Little Karen immigrated to the United States on April 29, 1981, to join her mother. Karen was very loving and very attached to her mother. She was also marked by that special smile, and will be remembered by it.

She joined the children's choir and the Pathfinder club and was active in both.

Her ambition to be a Pediatric Nurse was ended by a tragic car accident on June 26, 1982.

Karen leaves behind to mourn her loss, her father Ucal, sisters Yvonne and Jennifer; brothers Courtney and LeRoy; aunts, uncles, and other relatives.

She will certainly be missed while she sleeps.

HARVEY, Leslie Latoya was born to Gerald and Sonja Harvey on February 13, 1976, in the Bronx, New York. She was an active Pathfinder and a faithful member of the Children's Choir, and was loved by all.

Leslie's spiritual life was guided by her mother, who only wanted her to live for her Creator. She attended Excelsior Day Care Center. She graduated on Thursday, June 24, 1982. That marked the first round on the academic ladder to the medical doctor Leslie wanted to be.

Her young dreams were shattered on June 26, 1982, when a tragic auto accident claimed her young life.

Left to mourn her loss are her mother and father, two sisters, grandparents, aunts, uncles, and a host of relatives and friends, the choir and the church at large. She sleeps, awaiting the call of the Life-giver.

The Sacred Circle

BY ROBERT H. PIERSON

"There is a sacred circle around every family which should be preserved," Ellen White reminds husbands and wives. "No other one has any right in that sacred circle. The husband and wife should be all to each other" (The Adventist Home, p. 177).

Symbolically our home is to be a little sanctuary, a little heaven on earth. In the sanctuary revealed to Moses on the mount (Exodus 25:40), there was a Most Holy Place. Entrance to this Most Holy Place was restricted. Only the High Priest could enter that sacred room, and he could go beyond that second veil only once each year.

In every home, our little sanctuary, there is a sacred circle—a most holy place where only the husband and wife may abide. There are to be no triangle friendships, no matter how innocently conceived. The only third party in a triangle of the Christian home is to be God. "No other one has any right in that sacred circle."

How many heartaches would be avoided if the family's most holy place were never violated!

A service by Home and Family Service, General Conference.
