FURTHER CHANGES

H. L. Rudy

Readers of the Messenger, particularly members of the Ontario-Quebec Conference, will be interested to know that Elder G. Eric Jones, who has been serving as Union Conference Missionary Volunteer, Educational, and Public Relations secretary, has been elected president of the Ontario-Quebec Conference. We believe that Elder Jones, with his fine background of experience, will give outstanding leadership to this conference. We shall miss Elder Jones' services in the Canadian Union Conference, but are happy to know that he is still with us here in Canada and carrying heavy responsibilities in connection with leadership. We wish Elder and Mrs. Jones God's choicest blessings as they lead forth the forces of the Ontario-Quebec Conference in the program of finishing the Lord's work in this part of His vineyard. Elder Jones' successor in the Canadian Union has not yet been chosen.

Another change can be announced at this time. Elder Philip Moores has been appointed superintendent of the Newfoundland Mission Conference. Elder Moores is not a stranger in Eastern Canada. The Lord has blessed him in his ministry and we are confident that his leadership in the Newfoundland Mission will be richly blessed of the Lord. We extend to Elder and Mrs. Moores and their children our best wishes as they go forward to their new field of labour. Since Elder Moores is entering the ranks of leadership in the Canadian Union Conference, we shall introduce him and his family a little further at a later time.

"ONE HUNDRED SIXTY MILLION REASONS"

By this time nearly all our people have learned that The Voice of Prophecy has joined a second network, the American Broadcasting Company.

We want to make it clear that the ABC network is in addition to the Mutual Broadcasting System and is not a substitution for the Mutual chain of stations which has carried our denominational radio program ever since January 4, 1942, when the Voice of Prophecy first went on the air from coast to coast. Therefore, two of the four great American networks are now carrying The Voice of Prophecy every Sunday. This means that today we have behind our radio program the friendly, efficient, full organization of two radio networks of America.

The Public Relations Department of one of these two systems is rated as probably the most aggressive of all the four networks. And what have they been doing for The Voice of Prophecy recently? You'll be interested to know that a "stream" of publicity has been going out each week through ABC and Mutual channels to hundreds of newspapers, radio columnists, and radio magazines, from both their New York and western offices. All this has cost The Voice of Prophecy nothing.

Because of the addition of ABC, it was found necessary to cancel some independent stations which we very much regretted to lose—stations we deemed important to us and to our program. They had proved themselves as being well worth the means we had invested in them. But to contract with this second network, it was imperative that The Voice of Prophecy agree to take a certain number of stations on the ABC system. Much was gained in doing this, even though it became necessary to cancel most of our independent stations, for between the two systems of Mutual and ABC we now have many powerful 50,000 watt stations on which we had previously found it impossible to purchase time for our program. Some of these new stations are:

KGO San Francisco, California; KEX Portland, Oregon; KGA Spokane, Washington; KXEL Waterloo, Iowa; WENR Chicago, Illinois; WLAW Lawrence, Massachusetts; WJZ New York City.

Other 50,000 watt stations continuing to carry our denominational program are:

WGN Chicago, Illinois; KCMO Kansas City, Missouri; KFAB Omaha, Nebraska; KABC San Antonio, Texas; KOB Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Right now is doubtless one of the greatest moments of opportunity we as a people shall ever have! With favor being shown us from various sources, many of them unexpectedly; with two great systems of radio stations available to us for continual expansion; with doors wide open to us to continue to add more vital, important station outlets to carry this message of truth into the hearts of honest recipients— isn't now the time we should truly make unprecedented sacrifices by digging down more deeply into our bank accounts and pocket books than we have ever done before!

A few mornings ago, immediately after Elder Richards had returned unexpectedly from his trip in the South Pacific because of the addition of the ABC network, he spoke to the Voice of Prophecy staff at the time of our Thursday morning Prayer Circle. The service that morning became so impressive to the hearts of all present that before the meeting was concluded nearly $2,750 was volunteered by the one hundred members of the Voice of Prophecy staff. Along with Elder Richards and the other ministers, they gave, and gave from the heart! Their giving was based upon a realization that this is the time to go forward; that this is the time to reach the millions with the warning of the soon return of our loving Saviour; that it is dangerous to withhold at this time of such great opportunity.

There are one hundred sixty million reasons why we must reinstate the program as quickly as possible on many of these important independent stations and add more Mutual and ABC stations in desired localities that we may increase our North American coverage.

And what are those one hundred sixty million reasons. They are those precious ones that make up the population of the United States and Canada. One hundred sixty million souls badly in need of the gospel of salvation. One hundred sixty million reasons why we must now go forward in faith and finish His work!

"CIRCLES ON YOUR CALENDAR"

Dear Voice of Prophecy:

"I have three small children, and it is not possible for me to leave home to do missionary work. It has worried me. Then one day someone called me on the phone and wanted to sell me some insurance. The next day another agent called on the phone and that gave me an idea. So I went to the phone and began to call people I knew about The Voice of Prophecy program. I told them of The Voice of Prophecy lessons, and now I have several who want to enroll in the Bible Course. What do you think of my plan?"

We answer, "Wonderful!" And what would happen if all of North America's quarter of a million Seventh-day Adventists would do the same thing? One phone call on five consecutive Sundays, giving a personal invitation to some family to listen to The Voice of Prophecy program—which can now be heard on the American Broadcasting Company's chain of stations as well as on Mutual System—would call the attention of nearly four and a half million people to our broadcast within the span of one short month. The method is simple. Can you think of any easier way of inviting relative, friend, or neighbor into the kingdom of heaven?—for that is just where some such invitations will lead. Some, because you so kindly phoned them, will then call you blessed.

Mark circles around the next five Sundays on your calendar. Then spend a few moments of thought as to friends and relatives you ought to call.

I have circled these dates on my calendar and have made my list. Won't you join me?

THE C. M. E. AND THE DENOMINATION

The School of Medicine of the College of Medical Evangelists is one of seventy-one fully approved schools of medicine in the United States. Many of these schools of medicine are supported by the taxpayers of the states in which they are located. Others are supported by large endowment funds and privately-controlled foundations.

Medical education is very expensive. This is due to the extensive background of scientific training that must serve as a foundation for the handling of the many perplexing forms of disease, and also to the large amount of individual and small-group teaching by which the skill of an experienced physician is passed on to the medical student. Scientific physicians are not developed by mass production methods. The process of training physicians is laborious, time-consuming, and costly.

It is a considerable undertaking for our denomination to maintain a School of Medicine. As is the case with all approved schools of medicine, the income from tuition offsets only a fraction of the total cost of operation. Our tuition rates have been increased as much as is consistent with the ability of our students and their sponsors to pay. Our tuition is even high as compared with other schools of medicine. The recent percentage increase in operating costs has far exceeded the increase in our income from tuition.

We have recently expanded our student enrollment to ninety-six students in each freshman medical class. In terms of freshman enrollment, we are now the largest School of Medicine in the West. In spite of the increased enrollment, however, our costs of operating are about four times as great as the amount of the tuition income. This is the basis on which an appeal is being made to our denominational constituency in the form of a C. M. E. offering day.

The School of Medicine of the College of Medical Evangelists has now been in operation for approximately forty years. During this time, more than twenty-two hundred Adventist physicians have been trained. It is from this group that our foreign medical missionaries have been selected. It is from this group that the physicians have been chosen to staff our hospitals and sanitariums in the United States. Practically all of our full-time faculty members in the School of Medicine have come from this group of alumni. Also, many are engaged in self-supporting work and are maintaining such affiliations with our church and conference organizations as to contribute by precept, influence, and funds to the furtherance of the gospel program.

There is an ever increasing demand for the services of consecrated Christian physicians. Our Alumni Office now has on file more than two thousand listings of location in various parts of the United States and the world at large, in which the services of Adventist physicians are requested.

Many of the youth of our denomination are looking forward to the possibility of a medical training. Just now there is a larger number of Seventh-day Adventist students making application for a medical training than can be accommodated in the School of Medicine. This present situation is the obvious result of the increased number of college students who have taken advantage of educational benefits offered to veterans. The faculty of the College of Medical Evangelists will continue to do its best to offer a Christian medical training to the largest possible number of Adventist youth.

Schools of Medicine operate five and a half days per week. Other schools than that of the College of Medical Evangelists schedule regular class and laboratory assignments until noon on the Sabbath. In view of the large number of applicants to all schools of medicine, most schools do not care to be "bothered" with students who request exemption from classes on the Sabbath. Thus the School of Medicine of the College of Medical Evangelists is now the only school of medicine to which an Adventist student can look with assurance of freedom from class assignments on the Sabbath. It is therefore the more necessary that the denomination carefully sustain its own School of Medicine.

Seventh-day Adventist physicians throughout the world have exerted a tremendous influence in furthering the spread of the gospel. Personal contacts made by these physicians have already resulted in a harvest of souls. The denomination needs an even stronger program of medical missionary enterprise. The youth of our denomination deserve a continued opportunity for medical training. The denomination needs the College of Medical Evangelists, and the College of Medical Evangelists must have the hearty and liberal support of our constituency. Your generous help next August 13, (C. M. E. Offering Day) will be a means of insuring the continued success of our denominational School of Medicine.

FAREWELL

It has been a great pleasure to have been connected with the British Columbia Conference for eight years, the first four in the publishing department, and the last four in the Home Missionary and Sabbath School departments. I shall long remember the isolated and various church groups. With most of you I have had the privilege of enjoying your hospitality and to work with you to advance the cause of God in British Columbia. The various officers of the church have given excellent cooperation in making some outstanding strides in the desirable direction. The Sabbath school work has been steadily growing. All its phases have been improving. The two Sabbath School Associations have only been the beginning of greater things in that department.

The Dorcas leaders and members have worked untiringly as have the Dorcas Federation officers. Your work is reckoned as of great importance and your influence has been far-reaching. May you continue to reach out and accomplish still greater things. You have given loyal co-operation, Dorcas sisters.

In the Home Missionary department we have not been lagging. In our literature distribution program, lay preaching, In-gathering, and other church missionary activities, you have done excellent work. I have enjoyed my work with you. It has only been possible to enjoy excellent gains all along the line because of the loyal people responding to what needed to be done.

We have left British Columbia, but the district leaders, isolated believers, church officers and many friends, shall not be forgotten. My only hope is to see the work of God finished. May it indeed be finished very soon.

We feel confident that you will give Elder A. W. Bauer the same loyal support as has been our experience with you.

Mrs. Steinke and the children join me in bidding you farewell as we take up our duties in the North Dakota Conference. Our address will be Box 1491, Jamestown, North Dakota.

REPORT OF THE KOOTENAY DISTRICT

The Kootenays, in which are found some of the noted beauty spots of the west, are again buzzing with activity after the lull of an unusual chilly winter.

Creston, a small town in the center of the Kootenays, has a church membership of approximately forty. It also has a flourishing church school of nineteen pupils. The Creston church is planning on a new church school for 1949. This building is now in progress and we are praying and working for a speedy finish.

The Creston church was privileged to have Elder F. W. Bieber present on Sabbath, June 25. All our church school children and two adults were invested in one or more of the progressive classes. Brother H. Friesen, our church school teacher, has done very faithful work in preparing these classes. Three young people and three adults from Trail were invested also. Their leader, Brother Sidorko, was invested as a Master Comrade. The group from Trail had to travel a total of 300 miles to attend this service.

Seven souls were buried with their Lord in baptism by Elder F. W. Bieber in an impressive ceremony on June 25. Three of this number, two brothers and a sister, have only heard of this message within the last year. The oldest, a girl of fourteen, plans to live with her father who does not know this precious message. Her desire is to bring her father to a knowledge of this truth she loves. Two people are planning on baptism at Campmeeting. We hope more will join later.

In the city of Trail there is one of the largest smelters in the world. Thousands in this large city have never heard of this last warning message. Nelson, well known as the beauty spot of the interior, is another flourishing city with only a few isolated believers. There are several other cities in this vast area with populations running into the thousands that do not have a single light burning as yet. Truly the harvest is plentiful but the laborers are few.

The Ingathering in this territory required about 2,700 miles of driving. The members were faithful and the Lord blessed their efforts and we were able to reach our goal by May 20. The Lord will richly bless those who have given so faithfully of their time and efforts.

MEETING WITH MINISTERS OF OTHER CHURCHES

While on a recent ingathering itinerary through the Province of Manitoba, Canada the writer

entered the Anglican Church on a Sunday morning and joined with the congregation in the worship of God. The service was well attended and there was a goodly number of young people present. And the godly pastor preached a good spiritual sermon that would have done any congregation good to listen to.

When the service was over the visiting minister was invited to dinner in the home of the Anglican Canon. There while conversing together over the duties of the minister to his flock the Canon invited his guest to meet with the local ministerial association the following morning in their monthly meeting. This kind invitation was accepted, and it gave the visitor a good opportunity to meet with the ministers of the Anglican, United, Presbyterian, Baptist, Salvation Army, Luthern, and Pentecostal churches.

With their devotional exercises and routine business over the Anglican Canon read a well prepared paper on the subject of divorce. This was followed by a free and open discussion of the whole subject. All could not agree with the strong stand taken against this evil by the Anglican clergyman but all agreed that it was the duty of ministers of all churches to do all in their power to educate their people as to the sacred character to marriage and the evils of the modern divorce. They also discussed the evils of the cinema, church raffles, lotteries, gambling, and the flood of sex exciting literature that now floods the news stands everywhere and that is doing so much to corrupt the minds of the youth of this generation.

They seemed to be unable to find a satisfactory solution to these difficult problems. But all seemed agreed that the Christian churches should hold the standards high against these gross evils; and at the same time encourage those that were victims to them look to Christ for deliverance from them.

Then the Anglican Canon said to the members of the association, "Brethren, I would like to hear Pastor Astleford of the Seventh-day Adventist Church tell us something of the rise, developement and beliefs of his church." And to this they all agreed. The Adventist minister then took the floor and briefly told those assembled of the rise of the Advent Movement in the 19th century in the British Isles, the countries of Europe, Russia, and the countries of North and South America and of the wonderful manner in which this movement developed into the Seventh-day Adventist Church in America and now the missionary activities of this people have gone to the whole world until this is today a world movement and not just an American movement. Briefly he explained their reasons for believing in the second Advent of Jesus Christ and why they observed the seventh day of the week in obedience to the example of Jesus Christ and the fourth commandment of the Decalogue.

The members of the ministerial association were pleased and expressed their thanks for the data given and invited the guest speaker to have lunch with them. And during the informal meal which followed the wife of the Luthern minister said she knew Seventh-day Adventists well in Alberta, while a lady minister was well acquainted with them in Montreal, and the Presbyterian said he knew the President of the Saskatchewan Conference. In a few days His Majesty's mail will carry a supply of well chosen S. D. A. literature to the homes of these clergymen. And it is hoped that this little visit together with the reading of this good literature will break down prejudice and cause these men to open their hearts to the light of God's truth for this age and generation.

C. U. C. NEWS NOTES

Sunday evening, July 18, marked the close of the great Western Youth's Congress held on the campus of Canadian Union College. Over two thousand young people were in attendance at the Congress, and hundreds rededicated their lives to the Master. "Share Your Faith" was the motto held before the audiences throughout the three days of the meeting.

Among the highlights of the Congress were Elder Eric B. Hare's thrilling story sermons of his twenty years of service in the mission field of Burma, Keith Argrave's description of his life as a paratrooper in World War II and his providential deliverance from the prison camps of Germany, Bob-O-Link's soul-stirring tenor solos and music directing, Joe Melashenko's melodious bass voice, Dr. T. E. Lucas' "Share Your Faith" interviews, the Canadian Union College choir under the direction of Margaret Moline Yakovenko, the consecration service where the torch of truth was handed from the youth of yesterday, Brethren E. E. and A. V. Farnsworth, to the youth of today, the radio programs under the direction of Elder R. M. Gardner, Elder R. E. Finney's opening service, and the Canadian Union College rally Friday afternoon. Truly, never were such blessings enjoyed by the youth of the Canadian field. It is our prayer that the inspiration received at this Congress will help every young person to move forward in this great "Share Your Faith" program for Christ.

The annual campmeeting of the Alberta Conference commenced at Canadian Union College Monday morning, July 18. A good attendance and a feast of spiritual things is anticipated.

The heavy rains which fell at the College over the weekend were much appreciated, even though they did make it necessary for those residing in tents to move to other quarters. This is the first good rain to fall in the Lacombe area since spring, the drought was really becoming very serious. We thank the Lord for these "showers of blessing."

Erratum—

In our June 22 issue of the "Messenger" in an article entitled "Ingathering Victory," we had the "Ingathering goal of $28,000.00 has been reached and surpassed." This should have been "Ingathering goal of $26,000.00 has been reached and surpassed."

We are indeed sorry for this error.

Weddings

The Canadian Union College chapel was the scene of a pretty wedding when Sylvia Ganz became the bride of Nick Tkachuk on Sunday evening, June 19. The rostrum was simply but beautifully decorated with a large heart trimmed with cedar boughs and flowers.

The bride wore a white satin dress and carried a drop bouquet of red roses. The groom's sister, Esther Tkachuk, dressed in a yellow marquisette with brocaded bolero and carrying mauve carnations, was maid of honor, and Vera Fox, dressed in pink voile and carrying pink carnations, was bridesmaid. Little Marlene Fisher and Gracie Sicora were flower girls. They were dressed in white and carried colonial bouquets.

Walter Ganz, brother of the bride, and Alex Yakovenko attended the groom. Conrad and Terry Finney, George Reid and Ivan Toews were ushers.

Three appropriate musical numbers, "Oh, Happy Home," "Oh, Perfect Love," and "The Lord Bless Thee and Keep Thee," were provided by the college choir with Mrs. Margaret Moline Yakovenko directing. After the nuptial vows and at the close of the benediction Per Arden sang, "The Lord's Prayer."

The beautiful strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Henry Friesen on the Hammond organ, lent color to the processional, and while Mendelsohn's march was played the choir formed a guard of honor for two of its former members.

After the ceremony a delicious repast was served in the college dining hall to approximately 200 guests.

Mr. Tkachuk received his Bachelor of Theology degree from Canadian Union College earlier the same day and has accepted a call to labor in the Alberta Conference. May God richly bless this new home and make their lives fruitful in God's vineyard.

E. E. Bietz

A large crowd of relatives and friends witnessed a beautiful wedding service as Phyllis Huether, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Huether of Beiseker, Alberta, married Fred Metzger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Metzger of Carbon, Alberta, the evening of June 30 in the Rosebud Seventh-day Adventist church.

The young couple were attended by Patsy Munro, from Sidney, B. C. as maid of honor, and Richard Huether of Beiseker as best man.

A reception in the community hall followed the service.

The young couple will make their home at Beiseker. May God's richest blessing rest upon Mr. and Mrs. Metzger as they establish a Christian home.

G. D. Hagstotz

A quiet marriage was solemnized June 30, 1949, at the Pastor's home in Vernon, when Miss Violet Ross became wife to Arthur Johnson. Miss Ross, formerly of Regina, Saskatchewan, has been teaching at the Okanagan Academy at Rutland B. C. Miss Helen Johnson, sister of the groom, sang "Together." Witnesses to the ceremony were Miss Virginia Melashanko and Steve Tartaryn, both of Kelowna. Following their honeymoon Brother and Sister Johnson will make their home at Idlesleigh, Alberta. May the blessing of heaven attend them as another Christian home is established.

P. A. Rick

Miss Gwen Bernadine Morrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Morrow of East Kelowna, became the bride of Mr. Theodore Edmond Klatt, at a wedding ceremony held in the East Kelowna church at 5:00 o'clock on July 7. The church was decorated in a very becoming manner making the wedding a very beautiful one indeed. Every available space was filled with relatives and friends, some having come quite a long way to be present for this wedding.

The bride was attended by her sister Verla, and Gladys Lemky, while Leroy Morrow and John Lemky attended the groom. A Bible boy and a flower girl helped to make this wedding beautiful. Following the ceremony, Gladys Lemky sang "Oh Promise Me."

The wedding reception was held at the home of Brother and Sister Robinson where a large number of friends and relatives gathered to wish the bride and groom every possible blessing as they start on their journey of life together. After a short stay in this part of the Okanagan Valley, the young couple will go to Lammings Mills to reside.

We wish them God's blessing every step of the way.

A. G. Streifling

On Monday afternoon, July 4, 1949, Miss Eveylin Schaber, a graduated nurse from Portland, Oregon and Mr. Basil Chester Brock, a student from Berrien Springs, Michigan, were united in marriage in the Rosebud Seventh-day Adventist church. The bride's maids were her sister Miss Erma Schaber and the groom's aunt, Miss Ruth Brock, from Oshawa and the groom was accompanied by Ivan and Clifford Schaber. The soloist was Gordon Seulzle, a student from C. U. C. Following the service the reception was held in the Rosebud S. D. A. reception hall. Many relatives and friends gathered to this service where the bride and groom received many useful gifts and wished them the Lord's blessings. Mr. and Mrs. Brock will make their home in Oshawa, where the groom will continue with his christian education and the bride as a nurse, will give help to those who need it in spiritual and physical conditions.
