HE SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST Church is not an ordinary church or just another church. We are a people of prophecy with a mission and a future-God's visible remnant entrusted with a distinct message for the world. This church to which we belong will emerge a victorious company to stand some day on the sea of glass. But, before the day of triumph the church will be severely tested, and many will lose their way in the purifying process. Jesus Himself indicated that the wheat and tares must grow together till the time of the harvest when the separation will be made, Matthew 13:25-30, 39. Harvest-time is upon us. The sifting has begun.

Many of our precious members are choosing to separate themselves from our ranks on the premise that the church is irrelevant to their needs. Some feel there are too many rules and regulations, the standards are too high; they cannot fit in, they cannot measure up.

Others are opting out in search of a more perfect communion. They feel that the standards have been compromised, that worldliness has crept in, and the church is now in apostasy. There are many voices today claiming to represent the reformers of the faith, self-proclaimed gurus of historical Adventism. Such present only an unbalanced interpretation of the truth, and thereby misrepresent our patient and loving Saviour.

While we admit that the church is fallible, that in its present standing it is far from perfect, yet it is God's church; and "God does not destroy His church because of its imperfection." Testimonies to Ministers, page 46. In fact, Ellen White expressly states that "enfeebled and defective as it may appear, the church is the one object upon which God bestows in a special sense His supreme regard." Desire of Ages, page 12. God loves His church supremely, and He will not fail her in the hour of her greatest need.

In his recent book, The Shaking Among God's People, Keavin Hayden states: "Too many today stand ready to condemn the Seventh-day Adventist body of Christ solely upon what they see and hear. But they are making the same mistake that Elijah did-that of judging the faithfulness of God's people through finite human vision. The Seventh-day Adventist Church has many who in their hearts have not bowed the knee to Baal in any of his countless forms. To denounce the church as a whole is to bring judgment upon these faithful ones. Thus to heap reproach upon the church is to defame Christ in the persons of His saints." page 28.

There are those who would like to reform the church from without, but history records that any reformation that has ever taken place has been from within, and is a matter that rests with the individual believer. "While the institutions of our denomination need reformation, it is the conscientious obedience of the individual believer that serves as the foundation for any true and lasting change. It is here that the work must begin. One individual living a life of principle will persuade many others into that same path." Ibid, page 76, 77.

The need of the church today is not so much a return to historical Adventism but a clear focus on present truth, and conformity to Biblical Adventism.

Biblical Adventism anchors the faith of its members so securely in Jesus that they do not abandon ship. Those who in character and deportment are corrupt in motive and unsanctified in spirit cannot live with the people of God, and will be sifted out. "The shaking must soon take place to purify the church." Spiritual Gifts, volume 2, page 284. "God's loyal people do not abandon the ranks but rather the apostates." Hayden, page 18. Regardless of the pretext, or how righteous the cause may appear, separation from the visible remnant is apostasy from the body of Christ. Those independent movements that

A GRATEFUL HEART

Our cover pictures Mr. Harold Lofthouse, of Oshawa, Ontario accompanied by his wife, Vera, surrounded with their garden produce. On August 31, Mr. Lofthouse celebrated his 94th birthday. What an amazing gentleman! His story is inspiring.

Born in Yorkshire, England, Harold lost his father when he was but six years old. Hearing stories of the many opportunities in North America, he boarded ship for Canada, all alone, at age eleven. He found work as a farm hand in the Ottawa area. His teen years included farm experience on a ranch in western Canada before returning to Ontario where he met farmer William Brown, a Seventh-day Adventist. During the year he worked on the Brown farm, he was urged to return to school and so, following Brown's advice, he enrolled in the ninth grade at Oshawa Missionary College, having had only five years of formal schooling.

Four years of study completed, he graduated from O.M.C. in 1927. Deeply rooted, by this time, was a love for God, His church and a love for Vera Hannah, a student from New Brunswick. They were married in 1930.

Seeing that Harold showed great potential for leadership, Professor L.N. Holm, president of O.M.C.,

hired him to operate the college farm. Harold was soon named manager of the successful operation and for about twenty years, student farm hands earned part of their school expenses working for "Lofty".

"A change is as good as a rest", the old saying goes, and Harold said "Yes" when offered a position at College Woodwork. Fashioning items from wood was a vocation which brought him great satisfaction and it was eighteen years before he retired from the company, during which time he had been promoted to the management position.

Since his official retirement in 1965, Harold volunteered to teach woodworking to handicapped students in the Durham Region. And, because helping others is a way of life for him, he delivered Meals on Wheels to shut-ins on a weekly basis and volunteered to transport cancer patients to and from their treatment centre in Toronto.

Harold has enjoyed excellent health except for one recent serious illness. He says he knows the Lord's healing hand was upon him and the doctors agreed that his recovery was miraculous.

Now, as he begins his 95th year, he stands straight, has a spring in his step, a sparkle in his eyes, a ruddy complexion and a quick wit. He appears all of twenty years younger than his birth date confirms.

He still drives his car, mows his spacious lawn, tends his half acre garden but has time for fun with his family which includes two children, five grandchildren and four great grandchildren. Vera loves to use her artistic talents doing oil painting, quilting, and knitting.

They are both long time members of the College Park Church in Oshawa and well known and respected in the community.

Harold attributes his longevity to his wife's loving care, a trust in God, a vegetarian diet and a sense of humour. He praises God with a grateful heart for His abundant blessings. Editor

ADRA'S OPEN

F ALL THE PROMISES in the Bible to God's children the passage in Matthew 25 regarding the reward of heaven is one of the most challenging. It is wonderful to reach the verses where the King will say to those on His right, "Come, you who are blessed..., take your inheritance, the kingdom is prepared for you."

In order to receive the blessing of the King, the invitation is simple but challenging—love others as yourself, and demonstrate your love for God in the way you treat those around you. In order to receive the blessing of the King, we are expected to hear and respond to the following call:

ADRA ANNUAL APPEAL

Adventist Developm ent and Relief Agency Canada

DOOR BECKONS

We care and give, not because we have an obligation, but because we feel compassion and respond to others with Christian love.

In addition to the name change, other revisions to the campaign were the process of being restructured. Your support, patience and understanding during this process is respectfully requested. In the meantime, the ADRA Annual Appeal must go forward with unbounded enthusiasm.

world. Our hearts are touched by the suffering of innocent people, and we reach out to help, even when we don't fully comprehend all the factors involved in the situation.

However, a lack of knowledge and understanding of circumstances far removed from our daily lives can often cause us to respond with indifference and denial. Many important causes and desperate appeals are ignored or dismissed because people lack an informed understanding of the situation or of the existing needs. For some Canadians, the ADRA Annual Appeal may be one of those causes.

Several months ago, the Seventhday Adventist Church in Canada collected opinions from across the country which urged that basic changes be made to what was then termed, the annual "Ingathering Appeal". Changes were made, and now the annual campaign is officially recommended. One of these was that Adventist Community Services become a division of ADRA Canada. In June 1994, the Board of Directors of the SDA Church in Canada enthusiastically endorsed this suggestion.

The consequences of this enormous change are exciting and challenging. ADRA Canada will continue to administer its international programme, and Adventist Community Services will develop new projects on a provincial and/or national basis. The major shift in organization and administration will require time and patience, and hopefully will prove successful.

Just as ADRA Canada develops projects for CIDA's approval on a matching basis, so Adventist Community Services will develop matching projects at the national and provincial level for ADRA's approval.

scoops of ice cream for a dime? Remember when a new car cost $999.99 and a new house went for $9,999.99? We know that those days have vanished forever, and somehow, some of us still believe that the old "Minuteman" goal for Ingathering of $25.00 per member is adequate to meet today's overwhelming needs. Well, it just isn't so!

Each conference translates its ADRA Annual Appeal objective into a local church Challenge. As an act of genuine faith and compassion, don't you think it would be wonderful for each Canadian church prayerfully and willingly to develop their "Faith Objective" beyond the minimum Conference recommendation?

ADRA would like to challenge each church, elementary school, academy, college, Pathfinder club, Adventist Community Services centre, and other groups, to catch the vision of reaching

Wins Republican Nomination

On August 9, 1994, Elder Randy Sauder, won the Republican nomination for State Representative in the 29th District of the State of Georgia. It includes the City of Smyrna which is the tenth largest city in the State of Georgia as well as surrounding areas. Sauder is an ordained Adventist minister who served as a pastor in the Alberta and Ontario Conferences from 1979 to 1986. He is now an attorney in the Atlanta area where he, his wife Kathy (Bothe), and two children are members of the Marietta Adventist church. He is Co-Counsel for the Georgia Cumberland Conference Association and regularly speaks on behalf of the Conference in churches across the State.

Upon winning, Sauder expressed appreciation for the many prayers in his behalf. He faces the Democratic challenger in the November 8 election.

Celia Stenfors-Dacre and Alan Dacre received Doctor of Medicine degrees from the Loma Linda University School of Medicine on May 29, 1994. They are both doing their residency in the Chicago area, Celia doing a transitional year and Alan in Orthopaedic Surgery. Celia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sakari Stenfors of Parry Sound, Ontario.

ASI Names Women of the Year

Carmen Carter-McLeary and Tonny Monteith posed with Lynne Waihee after the awards

Two Canadian women were among eight honored at the Adventist-laymen's Services and Industries (ASI) convention last month (August) in Dallas, Texas.

Named in the areas of Church and Professional Life were Tonny Monteith of North Vancouver, BC, and Carmen Carter-McLeary of Scarborough, Ontario, respectively.

Interested in Seventh-day Adventism through a Happiness Digest book, Mrs. Monteith left the Anglican church six years ago. A widow with two married children, she became wrapped up in her new-found faith and the Richmond church were she is personal ministries leader, youth group co-ordinator, a Sabbath school teacher, and social committee chairperson.

Mrs. Monteith also serves on the Executive Committee of the British Columbia Conference.

Gifted in hospitality and administration, Mrs. Monteith "does innumerable visitations," according to her congrega-tion, gives "many Bible studies," and is involved with community services. Last year she spent six weeks in the Ukraine organizing the evangelistic campaign of Pastor Jack Nash.

Mrs. McLeary was among the first business professionals to form a chapter of ASI in eastern Canada. Highly committed to her local congregation, she has also served as a member of the Ontario Conference Committee and a member of the Canadian Union College board.

But it was for her role in personal health care of the elderly that she was granted a Certificate in Professional Life. Administrator of Carter Manor Limited in Toronto, Mrs. McLeary has merited respect in the business community for maintaining quality care and financial soundness despite Canada's years of recession.

For her service and community effort, Mrs. McLeary recently received from Canada's Governor General the Commemorative Medal for the 125th Anniversary of Canadian Confederation.

Both ladies are presidents of ASI chapters in their local conferences.

Six other women were recognized in the areas of Church, Professional, and Family Life at a special luncheon.

Speaker for the occasion was Lynne Waihee, First Lady of Hawaii. A Seventhday Adventist and former teacher at Hawaiian Mission Academy, Mrs. Waihee is involved with Family Literacy Centers through the office of Children and Youth and the Governor's Council for Literacy.

Rose Otis and Elizabeth Sterndale, directors of Women's Ministries for the General Conference and North American Division, made the presentations.

THE LAST GENERATION GIVES ALL

ost of us give from our abundance. We give from the surplus of our means. We take seriously the promised blessing of Malachi 3:10 and from that which is poured out to us beyond our needs we share with others and with the cause of God. We know that the work of God at the time of the apostles and at the time of the pioneers of the Adventist movement began in sacrifice. We also understand that the work will be finished in an environment of sacrifice. But just what is sacrifice? Is it "giving till it hurts?" Or is it "giving till it feels good?" We all want to be involved at the end of time on the right side of things. So what are we to understand about sacrifice?

I believe that we can define sacrifice when we look at the three legitimate uses of money. We have been told, "Money has great value, because it can do great good... But money is of no more value than sand, only as it is put to use in providing for the necessities of life, in blessing others, and advancing the cause of Christ."(Christ Object Lessons, p. 351). God always blesses us first. And then it is from the surplus beyond our needs that He asks us to help others and to contribute to His cause. All things being equal, as we say, this would be a very appropriate way to be faithful in our stewardship. However, as we near the close of time, the generation that takes the gospel to all the world will be giving with a significantly different approach. Here is how I believe the change to sacrifice occurs.

If we use God's regular portion the tithe and our systematic offerings for the final thrust of the gospel that is really not a sacrifice for us. In like manner if we use the portion of our discretionary funds that we have been using to help others to more directly advance the cause of God that still is not a sacrifice to us personally. It appears to me that only when we are willing to allocate funds that we would normally have spent on ourselves and even do without some things that we are accustomed to having are we beginning to sacrifice.

God has not only told us that this is true but he also demonstrated it. He says, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me." If we take up our cross daily this type of self-denial is not just an occasional or one-time thing. It is a lifestyle! Jesus modeled this for us. He not only gave to us from His abundance, He sacrificed by giving His very life – the life He lived on this earth was "lived to bless others."

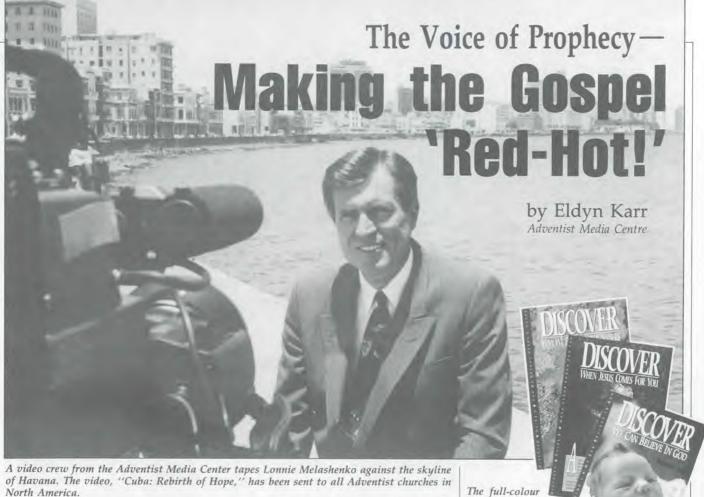

One day Jesus was sitting in the temple, near the treasury. He noted that the rich were coming by and sharing of their abundance. Then a poor widow came along and threw in two mites. Jesus called the attention of His disciples to this experience and stated, "Verily I say unto you, That this poor widow hath cast more in, than all they which have cast into the treasury: For all they did cast in of their abundance; but she of her want did cast in all that she had, even all her living." (Mark 12: 43,44). This story is very fascinating to me because the only offering that Jesus ever commended was given by a poor widow to a church that was just about to crucify Him!

Why did He commend her? Not because of the size of her gift. No doubt it was the smallest amount that was given that day. He commended her offering because she gave from her want. She sacrificed to assist what she believed was the church of God.

I personally believe that we are very near the end of time. A time when each of us should be not only giving of our abundance but giving of our want. We should be divesting ourselves of our assets and placing the proceeds into the cause of God so that not much of our stuff will be burned up at the end.

The Bible gives a very descriptive account of the Second Coming. As the cloud upon which Jesus is riding nears the earth, Jesus stands up from the throne and asks Gabriel to blow his trumpet and then He shouts, "Awake! Awake! Awake ye that sleep in the earth!" Then as the righteous dead are raised to life to join the righteous living that have finished the work and gone through the time of trouble, Jesus gives the command to the eagerly waiting angels, "Gather my saints together unto me, those that have made a covenant with Me by sacrifice." (Psalm 50:5). I plan to be in that group, don't you?

HOWING HOW BIBLE doctrines are relevant to people's felt needs is the goal—using high-tech communication advancements will be the method-as the Voice of Prophecy targets North America with cutting-edge radio messages and attention-grabbing Bible lessons.

"To use a slogan from secular radio," says Lonnie Melashenko, director-speaker of the VOP, "our presentation of God's special message for the end-time must be 'red-hot.' With so many voices and so many opinions on the air, it's not easy to captivate the restless, station-jumping audience. But I believe our Adventist message can be presented in such a compelling way that listeners will want to hear it."

One way to do that will be hardhitting, succinct, 60-second spots. These will be designed to shape public opinion on values and issues, while also building name recognition for the Adventist church.

"We're aiming these new spots at people who have wanted to look for God but were afraid to make the start," says Tim Crosby, director of production at the VOP. "We will buy time on major secular radio stations to air them."

Innovations are also planned for the weekend 30-minute broadcast and the daily 15-minute programs. More programs will take listeners directly from current headlines into the Bible's message. A recent example is a VOP broadcast that aired just four days after Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis' funeral and presented the truths of salvation and the resurrection.

Satellite transmission will enhance the delivery of such timely messages. The VOP is presently testing this method of sending programs to

Linking the local Adventist pastor to the radio broadcast is another goal. Pastors will be encouraged to give announcements of their church's activities at the end of broadcasts, and

H.M.S. Richards, shown here in a mural created by Andrews University art professor Greg Constantine, founded the Voice of Prophecy in 1930. some will be invited to participate on the programs.

The Voice of Prophecy's sister broadcast, La Voz de la Esperanza (The Voice of Hope), faces the challenge of reaching the Hispanic population, which is growing eight times as fast in the U.S. as the non-Hispanic population.

"There is an even deeper and more crucial cry from Hispanic hearts now than when La Voz began in 1942," says Milton Peverini, director-speaker. "Our Adventist programs present Jesus as the world's only Hope."

Pastors Melashenko and Peverini recently visited Cuba to participate in the first Bible course graduation service to be conducted in three decades. Their four days in Havana confirmed a rebirth of hope in the island nation. "The spirit of Cuban Adventists indicates that the work is going to go forward in an absolutely exciting way," says Melashenko.

A new Bible course, Discover, is being released in North America in October. Each of the 26 lessons is contained in a 16-page booklet. Advanced computer techniques have given colour photos the appearance of paintings. Plans are being formulated to offer Discover by computer as well as in print.

Besides covering Bible doctrines common to most Christian faiths, the course includes lessons on law and grace, the Sabbath, the sanctuary, and health. The concluding six lessons tackle "the big questions": the change of the Sabbath, the state of the dead, hell, the millennium, God's church for today, and the Three Angels' Messages.

"I've never seen a better course," says Pastor Melashenko. "It's a magnificant presentation of Seventhday Adventist beliefs. We have the enrollment cards, the lessons, the instructors and counselors—now it's up to our members to utilize these tools and give God's message for the end-time to their community.

The special offering for radio work received in churches in October, along with a portion of what is given to the World Budget, will assist the evangelistic ministry of the Voice of Prophecy and LaVoz de la Esperanza.

That "Faith Objective" may be a response something like this:

YES, we will finish our territory, YES, we will seek out the hungry and the thirsty,

YES, we will seek to know our neighbours' spiritual needs,

YES, we will seek to place literature in each home, and

OH YES! Our financial objectives will be met, for God has promised to bless our every sincere, dedicated effort to care for His earthly children.

The president of the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Canada, Elder Orville Parchment, has made a serious challenge to every Canadian church member to reach the One Million Dollar Goal of this year's ADRA Annual Appeal.

If we think it is impossible, it probably will be! But if we have faith that it is possible, we will have the drive to make it so! By adopting as our very own the objective of the $95 for '95, and by committing ourselves to reaching that goal, we will provide the ADRA Annual Appeal with the dollars for vital programs which may be matched by the Canadian government.

Remember? The days of posting a letter for three cents are long gone. Soon, the forty-three cent stamp rate will increase too. Lets increase our goals for the ADRA Annual Appeal accordingly, and make this campaign the "happy, adventurous event" that we all desire it to be.

summon believers out of the Seventhday Adventist Church to become followers of self-appointed leaders under the guise of higher spirituality and holier living, follow a course independent of God's acknowledged church. "There will be, among the remnant of these last days, as there were with ancient Israel, those who wish to move independently, who are not willing to submit to the teachings of the Spirit of God, and who will not listen to advice or counsel. Let such ever bear in mind that God has a church upon the earth, to which He has delegated power. Men will want to follow their own independent judgment, despising counsel and reproof; but just as surely as they do this they will depart from the faith. and disaster and ruin of souls will follow." Selected Messages, Book 3, page 23.

Biblical Adventism is destined to triumph gloriously. "The church may appear as about to fall, but it does not fall. It remains, while the sinners in Zion will be sifted out." Ibid, Book 2, page 380. God's remnant church is about to enter the final phase of her long sojourn on earth. Out of every nation, kindred, tongue and people will emerge one body of believers moving in concert, propelled by one hope, looking to one Lord. They will patiently watch and pray until God in His own time and in His own way purifies His church and thereby 'present it to Himself a glorious church not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing, but that it should be holy and without blemish." Ephesians 5:27.

Biblical Adventism mandates the conquest of self and generates the exaltation of Christ in the life of the believer. The full surrender of the life to Christ is the Christian's greatest challenge and constitutes the process which will make us or break us in the final conflict. Let us be serious about our commitment to Christ and to His body which is the church. The church will fulfill its prophetic role and will triumph. Let us stay with the church so that we can share in that victory.

The Hyperactive Child Grows Up

OST PARENTS recognize hyperactivity in a child when they see it.

Take the case of four-year-old Sidney. He has difficulty playing quietly, talks excessively, and often interrupts and butts into the other children's games. He doesn't seem to listen and frequently shifts from one uncompleted activity to another. He is distracted easily, doesn't remain seated, squirms in his seat, fidgets with his hands, and never waits his turn when playing in groups. Does it sound familiar? Sidney has all the traits of a hyperactive child.

While most families can cope with the present, their big concern is what will happen to little Sidney in the future? Will he ever mature? And if so, will he become a good citizen?

Recently, an article appeared in the American Journal of Family Physicians suggesting that there is more than one kind of hyperactive child. Let's add a modicum of scientific authenticity and call it the Attention Deficit-Hyperactivity Disorder (AD-HD).

Family studies have shown that there is a linkage between hyperactivity in some children and alcoholism, sociopathy, and hysteria in their adult relatives. An adoption study revealed a prevalence of alcoholism, sociopathy, and hysteria in biologic-but not adoptive-parents of hyperactive children. That's rather significant.

Other studies have uncovered problems with aggression and substance abuse in young adults who had been hyperactive children.

So parents wonder whether this has to happen to their hyperactive child. Good evidence says that it doesn't necessarily have to be so, for it appears that there are two kinds, or subgroups, of hyperactive children.

Hyperactivity Disorder. He may have some learning disabilities, but he's not overly aggressive and doesn't display any antisocial behavior.

The other kind of AD-HD disorder may have all of the symptoms found in little Sidney, including antisocial behavior, increased aggression and a trend to substance abuse as he approaches adulthood. Furthermore, the family history is positive for antisocial behavior, alcoholism, and hysteria.

The outlook is good for the hyperactive child who comes from a family free from the above disorders.. They may continue to be inattentive, impulsive, and have learning difficulties, but most of them will learn to compensate and do quite well. And that is good news!

What about the others, the aggressive ones with criminal propensities and other antisocial behavior? Their prognosis may be "guarded," but it is far from hopeless for many of these children can compensate and live quite nicely, thus growing into productive adults. True, they may need intensive behavioral management and training in social graces, but they can make it, and probably will if their condi-

Society owes these kids and their families the best of care. The rewards will seeks appropriate counseling.

A final word to those moms and dads who worry about their hyperactive kids. Hyperactivity is relative. Exuberance, enthusiasm, vigor, and zest for life ought to, and does, produce hyperactivity even in normal kids. So don't take an aspirin. Take heart!

OR SIX DAYS in August, the Canadian It Is Written production crew, directed by Doug Bruce, worked under the bright prairie sun to produce five new telecasts. Spiritual lessons have been derived from the history of the plains. Events that took place in the early days of the settlement of the North West Territories are fraught with lessons for each of us.

In Waldheim, a Mennonite community, we visited one of the first Seventh-day Adventist churches built in Canada, as well as several Mennonite churches. We visited the grave of D.D. Neufeld, my mentor and inspiration to the ministry, and the very spot where he led me into the swift flowing waters of the Saskatchewan River at the time of my baptism. Our program features the theology of Dutch Reformer, Menno Simons, and includes a response from Clarence Peters, pastor of the Mennonite Brethren Church. It is entitled Under Menno's Shadow.

Our cameras captured a pow wow that was in session at Beardy's and Okemasis First Nation reservation. At Fort Carlton, Batoche and other historic sites we pushed back the frontiers of time, reviewing the events that led to the North West Rebellion. Comparing the treaties made with the Plains Indians to the covenants God made with His people, we illustrate the difference between the old and new covenants. Colourful and exotic footage illustrates the telecast entitled, Broken Promises.

It was harvest time in Saskatchewan. What an appropriate time to tape our program, Golden Harvest. Standing in a field of golden wheat, waving in the wind, we recounted the illustration Christ used in John 12:24 to illustrate His sacrifice:

Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.

In this program we brought in a steam engine and threshing machine that was used in the area almost 100 years ago. J.C. Neufeld, now over 90 years old, recalls his days as a boilermaker and steam engineer. Leslie Hunter of the Rosthern SDA church is seen cutting a giant swath in a field of wheat.

Saskatoon, Saskatchewan was founded as a temperance society. On June 18, 1881, John Lake, founder of the new colony, inspired by the hopes of the new settlement, looked over the river banks, and with outstretched arms cried out, "Arise, Saskatoon, Oueen of the North!" It was to be a place "Where temperance ideals would prevail exclusively." But by the early 1900's anyone could go to a bar in Saskatoon's larger hotels, and order as much liquor as he wanted. Today, Saskatoon is only a temperance society in memory's lane. There are almost as many liquor outlets as there are filling stations. At the same time that the temperance society was growing on the banks of the South Saskatchewan River, a large trading post on the North Saskatchewan was serving 5,000 gallons of rum every year to the Plains Indians, in trade for their furs. From the banks of the South Saskatchewan River we presented a program on temperance, entitled, 5,000 Gallons of Fire Water.

These uniquely Canadian telecasts will be aired in October and November of 1994. (Watch the Canadian Adventist Messenger for a program schedule).

PARKVIFIII ADVENTIST ACADEMY

Exciting Challenges

Excitement fills the air as students arrive on campus. Some are eager to be back and see friends they haven't been with since June. Others are a bit apprehensive about their first time on campus. Registration goes smoothly with just a few places to wait in line. Before we realize it, the second week of school is over and we are well on our way into the beginning of a new school year.

Now that the routine is established and students are busy, going to classes, writing tests and making friends, those who work behind the scenes take time to discover just how many students are actually here. To our joy, we have registered 218 students which is up twenty two from last year. This is the largest enrolment since 1989 when we registered 226 students.

This has presented us with some exciting challenges. In order to assist in the large class sizes, Mr. Nawalkowski has agreed to come teach chemistry and science 10. The guys' halls in the dormitory filled before registration day. It became necessary to turn a few students away due to a lack of space in the dorm.

The year is off to a good start. The new campus chaplain, Steve Little, comes on board with a great deal of enthusiasm and energy. Already there are noticeable changes with student involvement being the key focus. Saturday Morning Live is a new contemporary worship. As student leaders are appointed to various Campus Ministries there is a sense that yes, I can make a difference.

We are assured of an excellent academic year again. The grades from the provincial departmental exam reveal outstanding performances by our students in June. For example, Mr. Ganson's students in math had an average of 75% compared to the provincial average of 60%.

As this year begins, we invite your prayer support to make this year a true success. Our desire is to make a difference in our students' academically, but most of all spiritually.

The Blessing of Giving

During the first chapel period of the '94-'95 school year at Canadian Union College, President Victor Fitch spoke to the students assembled about "The Blessing of Giving." The presentation was timely, challenging and inspirational. We share this with you in tribute to those who give so generously for the youth of Canada through Canadian Union College. Additionally, we hope that you, too, will find satisfaction in knowing what your gifts have signified and accomplished.

OR OUR SCRIPTURE thought today, I have chosen Acts 20:36, the last part... "remembering the words of the Lord Jesus, for He Himself said, 'it is more blessed to give than to receive."

The receiver is blessed, or made happy, whatever the need. But, according to the scripture, the greater blessing is upon the giver.

There are several reasons why this is true.

First, there is joy in sharing. Second, giving gives play to the better part of our nature. It helps us in our battle against selfishness.

Third, when one gives, one receives the approval of God.

Doing right with the right motive makes one feel good. Since God is the unlimited giver, giving is a God-like

Let us take this opportunity to review some of the improvements on your campus which were and are being made by those who have given.

The Chan Shun Science Centre

The science centre was talked about for years before construction began. It was on April 25, 1993 that the College Board of Trustees voted to proceed with the construction of this desperately-needed facility. Since all the funds needed were not in hand, nor pledged, it was to be a phased project. It was hoped that once construction began, many more would then contribute. However, the construction would not go beyond the money available. There were four major contributors:

1. The Chan Foundation of Canada gave a $1,000,000 matching grant. The $1,000,000 matching money was in hand in September of 1991. But it was now discovered that the building could not be built for $2,000,000. Bob Tetz, Vice President for Development and Alumni, developed a plan to raise the extra funds totalling over $1,000,000.

The membership of the church in Canada was asked to give $100 each to fund the remaining money needed for the construction of the building. At the October 1993 Board of Trustees meeting it was voted to proceed with the construction of the building, as a phased project. The members of the Board pledged to do their part in raising the remainder of the funds.

Then, on October 22, 1993-October 22 is a significant date for Adventists—Dr. Charles Lindgren sent a letter to Mr. Tetz which read: "My dear Bob, I have good news." The letter promised additional funds which were sufficient to complete the building without a phased project.

2. Dr. Charles Lindgren '30 and '32, and his late wife, Rubie, have contributed well over $1,000,000. He came to CIC as the college was known then, with almost no money. I wonder what his teachers thought of him? Did they ever think that he and his wife would contribute millions to various projects throughout North America and the world?

The Lindgren family made investments and the Lord blessed them. And from the increase, funds have been given where needed.

Could it happen that someone in chapel today will, should the Lord not return, contribute significantly to CUC or other worthy projects?

3. The Seventh-day Adventist Church in Canada gave $300,000.

4. Dr. Howard Gimbel '52, and his wife Judy, gave $100,000 to help make this project possible.

Students give through class gifts

Many others have given. The College Senior Class of '94 wanted their class gift to go toward a flag pole which was to be placed in a prominent area. The Parkview Adventist Academy Senior Class of '93 also wanted a flag pole erected. The funds from these two classes were added together and used as directed. As a result, the Canadian flag can be seen from the beginning of College Avenue and from the freeway. It has become a significant campus focal point.

Other donors provide landscape master plan and paving

Included in the $3,386,000 budget was very limited funding for landscaping and road construction. And there was not enough money available to do curbs and paving. Again, donors, who wish to remain anonymous, volunteered to pay for a landscape master plan and to pave the campus. Returning students, I am sure, were ecstatic when they drove on to campus. What a change! Their donation will total several hundred thousand dollars.

Blessed because of giving

According to our text for today, I want to challenge each of us. First, one who receives a gift has a responsibility to care for that gift. I challenge each one of you to assume that responsibility. Wouldn't it be terrific if there was no writing or scratches on the new classroom desks! Wouldn't it be great if we all used the sidewalks and preserved the lawns and planting!

Second, each of us is to give as we are able. As students, I'm sure you do not have a lot of extra money. But you do have time, even with your busy schedule, and talents which you can give to make CUC and the community around you a better place. Campus ministries, student association and various clubs are possibilities for service.

May each of us receive God's promised blessing as we give, in whatever capacity, this school year.

Job-Smart Canadian Students Study Abroad

Cutting straight to the chase in the turn-of-the century job market, two jobsmart Canadian Adventist students headed for Europe this summer to jump start their career opportunities in international commerce and service. Taking into account the new global economy and village, they and seventy-seven other Adventist academy and college students increased their beginning, intermediate and advanced language skills by enrolling in Adventist Colleges Abroad programs in Austria, France, Italy, Spain and Singapore. Those who became bilingual jumped ahead of 95% of their competitors for 80% of the new jobs in North America.

Heather Fletcher of Grande Prairie, Alberta and Janine Knowlton of Langley, British Columbia and their ACA classmates supercharged their summers with travel, adventure, new lifelong friendships, increased cultural sensitivity and broader visions of service during their intensive study programs in Asian Culture, International Business, French, German, Italian and Spanish.

Janine Knowlton and thirty-three other ACA students headed to Colegio Adventista de Sagunto in Spain just five miles from its great Mediterranean beaches to study Spanish. Seven days they ventured with guides through Castilla seeing the capitol sights of Madrid, the monastery-palace of Escorial, the castle and cathedral of Segovia and the ancient streets of Toledo. Knowlton is continuing her Spanish language and culture studies at Sagunto for 1994-95.

Heather Fletcher and ten other ACA students headed for the Alps to study French on the beautiful hillside campus of Institut Adventiste du Saleve at Collonges-sous-Saleve, France, only six miles from downtown Geneva, Switzerland. French classes were interspersed with a Swiss-American Club Fourth of July fireworks spectacular in Geneva; cheese and chocolate feasts at Gruyeres, Switzerland; gondola and chairlift rides up Alpine peaks; and Bastille Day celebrations on Lake Annecy. Six Canadian students Philip Antunes, Natasha Befus, Christopher and Philip Hoyt, Jeffrey Smith and Jennifer Teixeira will be at Collonges for the 1994-95 academic year.

Heather Fletcher

Janine Knowlton

Twenty-three ACA students explored the Austrian and Bavarian alps and lakes, and the castles, cathedrals and other delights of the Sound of Music City, Salsburg, Austria as they studied German at Seminar Schloss Bogenhofen along the banks of the Inn River near Braunau, Austria.

The ancient ruins, museums, fountains, parks and history of Rome, Venice, the Island of Elba, Verona, Siena and San Gimignano provided spectacular backdrops for the eight ACA students studying Italian at Istituto Avventista Villa Aurora, a restored Renaissance villa overlooking the city of Florence.

Two ACA students headed to the world's number one port, Singapore, to study Asian Culture and International Business at Southeast Asia Union College. Their ten-week courses were accented by visits to Buddhist, Hindu, Confucian religious sites and to Malaysian jungles and cities giving them first-hand opportunities to learn about Chinese, Indian, Indonesian, Malaysian, Thai and Arab cultures.

Operated jointly by the Adventist colleges and universities of North America, ACA summer programs allow Adventist students to receive six semester or nine quarter hours of college credit (sixteen quarter hours in Singapore) or one year of academy credit in their language of study. Because students enroll through North American academies or colleges, they receive home campus credit and many are eligible to receive the same financial assistance that they would at their home campus.

An academy student's parent and a college teacher went as sponsors with ACA students on their summer adventures. Billie Scott of Mt. Pisgah Academy and Sylvia Rasi of Pacific Union College received full tuition, room and board scholarships for sponsoring 8 or 10 students in their programs. This same summer scholarship program for parent, teacher or staff sponsors will be in effect next summer.

Right now seven Canadian and another 76 ACA college students from the North American Division are enrolling at three European campuses for their nine-month academic-year programs. To better prepare Adventist students for today's job market next summer ACA will offer programs in Chinese, Greek and Portuguese in addition to those in French, German, Italian and Spanish. In 1995 ACA summer programs will be located in South America as well as Asia and Europe. Adults and students aged 15 and over are eligible to enroll.

For further information about ACA's summer or academic-year programs, contact your North American Adventist academy or college modern language teacher or admission/records office, or write Adventist Colleges Abroad, 12501 Old Columbia Pike, Silver Spring MD 20904-6600 or call (301) 680-6444.

MARITIME

Let's Welcome Two New Pastors

Pastor and Mrs. Steeves

We wish to welcome Lloyd and Sandra Steeves, who have just arrived in the Maritime Conference to pastor the churches in the Fox Point-Tantallon District of Nova Scotia.

Lloyd and Sandra are both from the Maritimes, and have recently spent four years at Canadian Union College where Lloyd received his B.A. degree in Religious Studies. They have two daughters, Kim, who resides in BC, and Crystal Holloway, who with her husband have taken the position as dorm parents at Sandy Lake Academy.

Pastor and Mrs. Hammen and Richard

A warm welcome is also extended to Richard and Martha Hammen and their son, Richard, who have just arrived in the Maritime Conference to pastor the Prince Edward Island District. The Hammen family come from the Seattle Spanish Church in Washington.

Education Snack Shack

The teachers of the Maritime Conference, along with help from interested friends, have provided a service to Camp Meeting attendees. A hot food booth was operated serving a range of vegetarian quick food—hot dogs, burgers, perogies, burritos, etc.

Many of our friends chose a quick meal there as a convenient alternative, or as a way of supporting Christian Education. Louis and Dorothy Moores, Earl and Betty Sheets, Jack and Bunny Everett, Ron and Deanna Fall, the teachers, and other strong supporters were the genius in preparing an aesthetic, sanitary environment, and then the tasty food service.

Each Maritime Conference church school benefited with special funds for special projects.

COLUMBIA BRITISH

Pathfinders Win Derby and Sportsmanship Award

Out of over 10,000 Pathfinders and staff attending this First International Pathfinder Camporee, some 807 were from Canada. Of the 168 British Columbians, 39 came with the Fraserview Club from Abbotsford. What a time they had and what surprises!

While most everybody was "checkingout" the numerous well planned activities, the Fraserview Club spent much of two days winning "heats" at the Soap Box Derby. To Fraserview, Soap Box cars were almost unheard of until earlier this year, when an acquaintance "sold" them his 27 year old car for $50. After many hours of restoration work (including a new paint job), and meeting current racing specifications, it was carefully transported to Denver.

There the crew of 10 had their first experience at competitive racing and met the challenge, both on the track and in demonstrating a high level of enthusiasm, support and sportsmanship.

They surprised even themselves by winning not only the club category, but also the Overall Title, never losing a "heat" in the process. As well, the 10 crew members received $20,000 (U.S.) in scholarships from the Union College for their efforts.

Then to their amazement, they also received a special Sportsmanship Award for their behaviour and attitude during the Soap Box Derby.

The Abbotsford Church is truly proud of their Pathfinders and staff under the direction of Brian and Heidi Elliott, and Tim Gertz.

ONTARIO

ASI Rallies Scheduled for Oshawa and Ottawa

Last year, we had the privilege of hosting the International ASI Convention in Toronto, where we experienced first-hand the power of God working through Adventist business men and women. We were thrilled to hear people from all walks of life sharing their personal testimonies of "Sharing Christ in the Market Place", the theme of the Convention.

During the weekend of October 23 and November 12, 1994, the Eastern Ontario Chapter of ASI will be holding two rallies, at which Elder Dwight Hilderbrandt, the newly appointed ASI Director for the North American Division, will be the keynote speaker. You will find that Elder Hilderbrandt is a dynamic speaker who brings an enthusiastic approach to his new responsibilities.

It is our pleasure to personally invite you to attend the rallies and to participate in the fellowship and experiences of Christian business associates. Elder Hilderbrandt will be preaching on Sabbath at 11:00 a.m. at the Apple Creek Seventh-day Adventist Church, 700 Apple Creek Boulevard in Markham. Apple Creek Boulevard may be easily found just north of the intersection of Highway 7 and Woodbine Avenue (just west of the Highway 7 exit from Highway 404). On the next day, Sunday, October 23, from 4:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m., the rally will be held at Kingsway Pioneer Home, 1250 King Street East, Oshawa (just east of College Park Church). Board of Directors Approve New Ministry

It's here. It's finally here. "FASE II" Ministries has the blessing of the Ontario Conference. The acronym "FASE" stands for Family Achievement Seminars for Empowerment, and defines the 2nd phase of the ministry to the transplanted family pioneered by Dr. Haskell G. Edwards. Along with the strong support and partnership of his wife, Iris, Pastor Edwards offers seminars, workshops, lectures, and sermons all directed at families that experience major challenges and changes as they move from one culture to another.

Their ministry has been enthusiastically received by churches, community organizations, social workers, and teachers alike. Dr. Edwards takes his message across North America and beyond. His book 'The Immigrant Family: Framework for Adaptation and Excellence,' along with the Bible, forms the basis of the message he carries.

He is delighted to see this project welcomed into the ministry of the Ontario Conference. The Conference has also made a grant available to kick-start the ministry, but the program is designed in such a way that he is expected to raise most of the funds required for its financial success. He has developed a unique financing approach by which churches or other groups may access his services without the large outlay of funds. If you would like to know how this works you may contact Dr. Edwards at (416) 724-6720, or write FASE II Ministries, 3 Dalmatian Crescent, West Hill, Ontario.

Your prayers and financial support are welcomed. Donations may be sent to Ontario Conference, Box 520, 1110 King Street, East, Oshawa, Ontario L1H 7M1.
