To the Outlook Family

For several weeks I have been planning to send a report of the work in this field. It has been just seven months ago today since we landed in Port of Spain, Trinidad. The path has been dark over which the Lord has led, but he has stood by our side in the darkest hour and caused us to look beyond the tomb to that glorious resurrection morning.

My little girl and I are both well and getting along as well as could be expected under the conditions. We are living with Elder Holbrook, the president of the conference, and they are doing all they can to make it pleasant for us. Sister Holbrook is a school teacher, and takes a great interest in teaching my little girl.

After I fully made up my mind to stay, we decided to hold a colporteurs' institute. Brother Ask, one of the conference workers, and I visited the churches on the island of Trinidad. We found a number of young people waiting for some one to start them into the work. When our institute began, December 26, there were a number present from the different churches. They continued to come, and when the institute closed, there were forty-two in the class. I wish you could have seen how anxious they were to carry this message to the homes of the people. One young man did not have enough money to pay his fare all the way to the institute, but came as far as he could and walked the rest of the way.

When I stood before this class of colporteurs, I could not help but feel that God had called us to this field. Although it has been terribly lonesome at times, the Lord has helped me to have faith in him. He has blessed the efforts of the colporteurs, and this truth is finding its way to the honest in heart.

Wages are very low here, and it is difficult for the people to make a living. The common laborers get from thirty to fifty cents per day. The money is the same value as in the States. The war prices cause many to go hungry. In the homes there is very little furniture, and often only one room. It is very warm here in the sun during the middle of the day, but cool most of the time in the shade. The nights are cool, and one is able to sleep well. There is an abundance of fruit here, and it is very reasonable in price.

During the first four months of this year, our colporteurs have taken orders for a little over $7,000.00 worth of books. On account of low wages, the deliveries have not been very good, but the truth is finding its way to honest hearts. Several are keeping the Sabbath as a result of the work of the colporteurs since the first of the year. We find very little reading matter of any kind in the homes, and the people are hungry for something on the Bible.

I am enjoying my work, and hope that the Lord will continue to give me health and strength to go forward with this message. It is not so easy to get around here, as one has to carry a hammock and net in many districts, and sometimes he has to take his food with him, but after all, there is a great satisfaction in seeing how anxious these dear people are to know the truth. May the dear Lord help us to press on until the message is finished.

It is the Same Old Story Again

J. S. JAMES

How wonderfully the Lord is helping his people today as they unite with him in the various lines of home missionary work. It would seem there was no room for doubt or hesitancy on the part of any after reading the following letter from a good sister in Colorado. It was written to the secretary of the tract society, being only one of many of a similar kind received by him. The writer never dreamed that it would be published; but it is such a simple, modest testimony of what God can and will do for all who step out with like faith, I know the OUTLOOK readers will appreciate it.

"Dear Brother in Christ: I will write you this morning in regard to the books you sent me a few days ago. I received them all right and was glad to get them. Will go out with them soon. I had good success with the ones you sent me before. It was a long time before I could get out with them at all, as the roads were so bad. But when I did go the Lord went with me as I had asked him to do.

"I went to Garland, just a small place, you know, but I stopped at seven houses on the road. At one house I did not sell anything, but I sold ten at the other six houses. One lady said, 'Oh, I want one of each kind.' She laid them up against her, and folded her arms around them and said, 'My trust is in the Lord.' I did not know whether I had better stop at her place or not, for her husband is a Spiritualist, and they had been holding meetings in their home. We had a good visit, and she told me she did not want anything to do with the devil. In Garland I sold eleven more. Did not get to go to all the places, for we had to return home so early on account of the roads. A business man, whose time is much taken up, looked at the books and said he had not time to read, but the books were good ones, and he would pay for three of them, and I could give them to anybody I thought they would help, and who could not afford to buy them, which I did. You see the Lord did a good work that day as I left twenty-one books in the homes of the people, and I prayed as I left them that the truth might find its way into their hearts, and that much good might come from that day's work."

One of our conference home missionary secretaries sends in the following very encouraging items regarding the progress of the work in his conference.

"I am glad to write you that the Lord is blessing the home missionary work. I have visited several churches on this trip, and I find all our people ready to take hold of the work.

"The field days have been well attended. In most places the people are calling for a field day so that they can get started. I must tell you of one experience we had in our field day this last week. There was a young man and his wife who offered to go with their car when we asked for cars to take the members out in the country. These people went along, and they got so interested in the home missionary work that they decided to unite with the church. He came forward at the close of the experience meeting and asked me if they could be baptized at once. I have arranged to have a baptismal service Sunday for these people, so we can see some immediate results.

"Our brethren on the farms are also ready to take hold of this work. We had a field day in Campion just before I left there. The students all seemed to enjoy going out for an hour or two. We sold one hundred ten of the little books around Campion, besides having many good experiences."

From "India's Coral Strand"

Aside from the home letters, the OUTLOOK gets first attention from the mail when it comes. We follow carefully all the workers that we knew there, and we are glad to note the progress that the work is making. It gives us courage to see the way the work is progressing at home. God is in this work and it will triumph.

We are glad to report that by the blessing of God all is well with us, and we can say that we see evidences of the Lord leading in our work. There are difficulties all the way and the devil is determined to choke the seed that it may become unfruitful. From every side here we hear encouraging reports coming in. A few are baptized here and a few there, but when they are all counted it makes quite a little company. Not long ago I was talking to an old man who was wanting baptism. I asked him why it was that he wanted to be baptized. He said that he could not read and he knew only about the plan of salvation by what the native evangelist had told him, but that there had a change taken place in his heart. The things that he once wanted to do, he had now given up and he was not living for this world any more. He was an old man and was direct from heathenism, but to see him was to know that he believed what he said. Such is the power of the gospel. It has the same power as of old and can touch the heart of stone.

May we ask for the prayers of the OUTLOOK family? Pray that God may cause his face to shine in this dark land. Also pray that the Lord of the harvest may send more laborers into this part of the great harvest field.

The Bible Reading Band

C. M. CHRISTY.

In order to economize on time and postage, I am writing to you through the columns of the OUTLOOK instead of addressing a letter to each of you personally. I know that you will consider this a personal letter just the same, for we all love to read the OUTLOOK and often consider it as just a family letter.

I am wondering how you are progressing with the Bible year? We are often surprised to see what can be accomplished by systematic attention given to the thing we set out to do. Last January we set out to read our Bibles through during 1919. We are now almost through the sixth month of the year, and by the close of the month we shall have completed the reading to the ninetieth Psalm. Many have expressed to me their surprise at having read so far through the Bible and to see how easy it is to keep up with the outline by just giving systematic attention to it. And God has so abundantly rewarded the effort!

Perhaps some have been surprised to see how far they have fallen behind in the assignments by not doing just a little reading every day. One young man, in speaking of the Bible year to me, said: "I am surprised as I think over the past. I have allowed other duties to crowd in and have fallen so far behind in the Bible year that I fear I shall not be able to catch up again. In fact, I have been doing very little reading in my Bible the past few weeks, and I feel that I am losing ground spiritually as a result." Do you not think that is true in the life of anyone who neglects the reading of the blessed Book? If we get careless about our Bible reading, then we get careless about prayer, and soon we feel a dearth in our lives. It seems to me that there is a great power I lose from my life when I fail to read my Bible every day. Do you think I can afford to do it?

In reading Dr. Wood's book on India, "Fruit from the Jungle," I noticed this statement: "Many cases of real conversion can be traced to the simple reading of the Bible." The Bible is the one book responsible for all the enlightenment we have. "The entrance of thy words giveth light," says the Psalmist. Some way it does something that other books will not do. I take another book from my bookcase, a book that when it was first published made a great stir in the world. It has a beautiful title, "The Service of Man." I think, "Now here is something in which I shall find counsel for the rebuilding of a broken life." I open it and this is what I read: "It is no use disguising the fact, there is no remedy for a bad heart." Ah, but there is! Here is the blessed Bible which describes the restoring means of grace. It speaks to that individual who is broken in hope, in will, or in faith. It points him to Christ, it leads him back to the restoring springs of life. Let us not neglect the daily reading of this Book of Books. If you are discouraged or have fallen behind in the Bible year, resolve today that you will read just a little more each day, and complete the Bible year before the end of 1919.

Western Nebraska

Friday, May 30, we left College View to visit some of the churches in the western part of the state. The roads were very rough, and the radiator of the car leaked, so we could not make very good progress. As I looked ahead at the rough roads, I could but think of the troublous times before the people of God, and I prayed that none of us might let the truth leak out of our hearts as the water leaked from the radiator.

We arrived at Brother Gabriel Johnson's home about 9 o'clock in the evening. We had planned to go to Lexington Sabbath, but wet weather made it impossible to travel. By the last of the week the roads had dried sufficiently so we could go on to Lexington, where Elder Garton and his wife have labored so faithfully. We found a good company there. A church was organized, consisting of ten members. The members all seemed to be very much in earnest and anxious to help finish the work.

On account of more rain and the necessity of repairing the car, we were unable to leave Brother Johnson's hospitable home until Thursday. As we told them good-by we could but hope and pray that their children would all have a part in giving this closing message to the world.

We arrived at our daughter's home, Mrs. John T. Bennett, at Curtis, Thursday evening. Mr. Rouse spoke to the church there Sabbath, and Sunday night the house was well filled and all listened with interest as he spoke on the importance of heeding the prophecies.

We plan to start toward home the first of next week, and will visit several churches on the way back.

MRS. J. S. ROUSE.

How Shall They Hear?

This is a subject which is of interest to all our small churches and members living alone. What the church at Fremont has done may be a suggestive help in answering the question.

The Signs weekly is perhaps as good an Adventist minister as is found in print. It preaches regularly as well as making its personal visits, rain or shine. It has rained at Fremont quite enough this spring. Getting out to church has not been as pleasant as it might have been.

In considering the work of helping our neighbors it was suggested that we put the Signs in every Fremont home for six months. Our only hold-back would be the refusal of the paper. Brother Will Middaugh said, "You secure the names and I'll pay for the subscriptions. Keep on till I say stop." So with the assistance of a few church members from College View we canvassed the town, taking one thousand two hundred ten subscriptions. Some of the members at Fremont also found time to help in this part of the work. One can easily secure from fifty to seventy-five subscriptions a day. The church did not feel free to allow Brother Middaugh all the blessing of paying the bill so assisted to the amount of $200.

Counting ten sermons for each weekly number would make twelve thousand sermons weekly now being preached in Fremont without a preacher. The results of this will be reported more fully later.

BESSIE ALLEN.

Go to School

If I were in wireless communication with every boy and girl in Nebraska I would send the message, Go to School. We are living in an hour when efficiency is demanded, not sixty per cent, not eighty per cent, but one hundred per cent.

Education is like compression in a gasoline engine. There may be a perfect gas mixture and red hot spark, but if the piston or valves fit loosely the driving force oozes out and the engine has but little power. You may be bursting with grit and throbbing with determination, but if you lack efficiency these forces are wasted. Because you are not prepared for your job, because you lack training, you cannot take advantage of the forces of your nature.

Education makes one powerful, full of power for the work of life. Be humble but desire to do big things. Plan to do big things with all your energies consecrated to a cause that is right. Prepare for it. Get an education and you will be an engine of power. Every ring should be ground by training to fit snugly in the cylinder which is full of a rich mixture of grit and a willingness to work. Touch it off with a hot spark of determination and you will marvel at your forces. Go to School.

Culbertson

Last Sabbath, June 7, it was my privilege to meet with the Culbertson church. This is surely an enthusiastic and earnest company of believers. I particularly noticed the predominance of young people.

Although services are conducted in two languages, a spirit of perfect, Christian fellowship and co-operation exists. I presented our plans for the tent effort in McCook and of their own free will they paid for one hundred ten of our small books and twenty-five subscriptions to the Signs of the Times magazine to be distributed as we saw fit. Truly, the Culbertson church has the missionary spirit and who knows when God will call upon the youth of that company to do a greater service in his vineyard.

L. E. WESTERMAYER.

McCook Tent Effort

After visiting the believers at Elm Creek and the churches at Lexington and Curtis, I had the privilege of meeting with the tent company at McCook, where Elder Baird, Brother Westermeyer, and their wives, also Rosa Nelson are laboring. The meetings had been in progress only three nights, but I found some interest developing. The workers are of good courage in the Lord, and are expecting fruit from their labors. We invite you to pray for the company of workers at this place.

Shelton Academy Announcements

Nine years ago the 16th of last March the first step was taken toward a permanent home for the Hastings Intermediate school. At that time I was a member of the board. After all these years, with all their changes, the privilege has now come to send out the first calendar announcing the school in its new home and under its new name—Shelton Academy.

The building with its equipment is such that teachers and students can be justly proud of it. It is our aim to maintain such a standard that it will be accredited not only from an educational standpoint, but that the Master, whose system of education it professes to follow and for the advancement of whose cause it has been established, will be pleased to place it upon his list of accredited schools, and permit his blessing to rest upon it.

We want all our people in the Nebraska Conference to have a copy of the calendar, so we are mailing one to every family. If there are those who have not received a copy write at once for one. Address G. C. George, principal Shelton Academy, Shelton, Nebr.

Office Notes

H. E. ROSENBACH

Brother Emery has been in the office the last day or so "checking up."

Mr. Christy met with the church at Nebraska City last Sabbath.

Mr. C. W. Stump went to Falls City the latter part of last week.

Elder Rouse left the early part of last week for Denver, Colo., to attend the camp meeting.

Miss Gibbs left Friday for Tekamah, and visited the Decatur church Sabbath.

Brethren Baird and Westermeyer report that they have a very good interest at McCook, and that prospects are good there for continued interest.

Fremont will have 1,210 Signs of the Times circulated among its citizens during the next six months. The town was canvassed very carefully, and this number represents those who were interested sufficiently to warrant a copy of this paper being sent to them.

Mr. C. M. Christy made a trip to Burwell, Nebr., Friday, June 13. While there he organized a Sabbath school of seventeen members. He informs us that before long there will be a membership of twenty-five or more. We are glad that these people have an organization.

Word was received from Elder Shaw, at Hastings, this morning and he says: "We have begun our meeting but as yet we have a very moderate interest. We are going to try something desperate unless a change occurs soon." Let us all pray earnestly for the work there, as well as the different efforts that are being held over the state.

The young people's society had its first meeting last Sabbath evening at 7:30. A goodly number were present and all enjoyed the program. At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Erb, who has been in the service with the Red Cross overseas, gave a short talk relating some of her experiences while in service, and this was greatly appreciated by all.

Shelton Academy Notes

Brother Peterson was in Shelton last week looking at property. He desires to locate his family near the academy.

Brother Kranz, of Cairo, Nebr., made the academy a brief visit recently while at Shelton. He desires to locate near the academy that he may send his children to school.

M. E. Ellis, of College View, stopped at Shelton between trains recently to visit friends and look over the new school building.

Among the visitors at the academy this week were Mrs. Rhodes, of College View; Mrs. Rasmussen, of the Hastings Sanitarium; her sister, Miss Graybill; Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Gibson, business men of Hastings.

The Shelton Academy calendar is being mailed to every Adventist family in the conference this week whose name is on our list. If you do not receive a calendar soon it is because your name is not on our list or it has been overlooked. Write at once to G. C. George, Shelton, Nebr., and one will be sent you.

ASA SMITH

J. H. Wheeler and family were in Crawford last Friday and made the office a pleasant call.

C. H. Evans has returned to his home at Marsland from California, but Mrs. Evans was unable to return.

Brother and Sister G. L. Wheeler, of Broadwater, took their daughter, Neva, to the Colorado Sanitarium.

Miss Goldie Jenkins reports twenty-two hours, twenty orders, value $61.35 in Alliance, this being an average of almost $3.00 per hour.

Miss Dena Grien took forty orders in Alliance last week in thirty-four hours, the total value being $129.50, making an average of over $4.00 per hour.

Mrs. Asa Smith spent Sabbath and Sunday at the Pleasant Valley church, the guest of the Wheeler family, returning home Monday afternoon by train.

Mabel Morris, secretary of the Broadwater Sabbath school, reports twenty-four 100 per cent members, and very few tardy members, also the co-operation of all the members to make their school a success.

Miss Florence Howell, educational secretary for the Nebraska Conference, spent several hours in Crawford between trains, the guest of Elder and Mrs. Sutton. She was on her way to Merriman, Nebr.

Harmon Ellsworth, who will be remembered by some of our brethren as one of our colporteurs some twelve years ago, has returned to Crawford with his family after an absence of about ten years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Peters, of the Pleasant Valley church, near Marsland, Nebr., announce the marriage of their daughter, Myrtle, to Mr. Fred Klopfenstein, of Loma Linda, Calif., June 10, 1919, at Alliance, Nebr. A reception was given at the home of the bride's parents, June 12, which was attended by about seventy friends. A very pleasant time was reported, and many useful presents were received. The groom is a graduate nurse of the Loma Linda Sanitarium. The bride is also a graduate nurse of the Nebraska Sanitarium. After a few days in Denver at the camp meeting, they will make their home in San Bernardino, Calif., where the groom holds a position in the hospital.

Prof. G. C. George, principal of the Shelton Academy, will be in attendance at the camp meeting to meet young people who desire to attend the academy, or who wish information concerning it.

An Open Letter

To the Readers of the OUTLOOK:

If "actions speak louder than words," it has been demonstrated that I do not enjoy reporting my work, but as I do enjoy reading reports of other laborers, I have felt impressed that I ought to write a few lines to you before leaving Colorado.

At the last General Conference I was invited to connect with the work in Denver. I reached Denver in time for the good camp meeting at Rocky Mountain Lake Park. Following that meeting I entered upon my work as pastor of the York Street church, but I had hardly begun when I was called to attend the Kansas camp meeting, and from there I went to the Oklahoma camp meeting. I greatly enjoyed these meetings. They brought vividly to my mind early experiences at camp meetings in the east. But the heat was quite trying, and soon after my return to Denver I was stricken down with a sickness which nearly cost me my life. Thus my church work was again broken in upon. The altitude at Denver, which seemed of such value to me ten years before, affected me unfavorably from the beginning, and so I had very few well days while there.

Then the plague came on and our meetings were closed for weeks, and altogether it seemed like an up-hill proposition, but the Lord greatly blessed the people. During the weeks of no church privileges the members were encouragingly loyal. For some time while we could not visit the people in their homes, we visited them on the porches through the screen doors and told them we were praying for them, and for them to pray also and be hopeful and faithful.

I cannot soon forget the dear, faithful souls I met and loved in the York Street church. I have few new members to report, but the Lord helped me to renew the faith of some who had long been discouraged, and to present important, practical lessons to all.

My associations with Elder Gosmer, the president of the conference, also Elders Anglebarger, Lauda, Nerlund and Miller, were very pleasant. I was pleased to speak to the First church several Sunday nights, also twice to the South church on Sabbath, and during Elder Miller's absence, on account of sickness, I held Sunday night meetings with the colored people. These latter meetings I especially enjoyed. The singing was always an inspiration, and I felt really sorry when my last evening with these people came. I do hope they may join in the song of the redeemed in the land of promise.

When I went to Denver, I was full of hope and courage, and with the expectation and desire to remain there indefinitely and do a good work, but early in the winter I became convinced that I was losing my nerve power, and after consulting with my brother, Doctor Place, and with the conference workers, I decided to close my work there not later than May 1.

I am spending a few days now with my brother in Plateau Valley, near Plateau City, before returning to California. The quiet and beauty of this place have already done much for me. I shall probably rest for three or four months before attempting church work again.

I feel sad to think of resting when the harvest is so great, and especially when we are so near the closing of the struggle. I ask the prayers of God's people for myself, and for all that the home-call may find us ready.

"O, there'll be joy when the work is done,

Joy when the reapers gather home;
Bringing the sheaves at set of sun
To the New Jerusalem."

May we all meet then and there in my prayer.

Did You See It in the "Review"?

F. W. STRAY

It is always refreshing to hear the above question, indicating that the speaker is a loyal Seventh-day Adventist trying to keep posted on the progress of the message.

Take the Review out of Kansas, and Seventh-day Adventists would backslide and fall away about as fast, if not more rapidly, than new ones would come in.

I have often thought it would pay the conference to raise a fund and send the Review to every family. The trouble would be that such a plan would defeat its own purpose, for that which the people would not value enough to make a personal effort to secure would be unread and unappreciated. A good, fair price paid by the public for our books is the best guarantee that they will be read and studied. So it would be a mistake to furnish the Review free or at below cost.

The first paper off the press represents all the labor of writing, editing, proof-reading, typesetting, etc., and if only one paper was printed it would cost hundreds of dollars. One hundred papers would reduce this initial cost, as each paper would take a share of the cost of getting out the first paper. Of course, each additional paper would represent an added cost in the paper used and expense of mailing. It can readily be seen that the larger the edition each week, the lower the cost of production, because the first great cost of getting out the paper is the same whether there be one hundred or one hundred thousand copies. Hence, the publishing house is able to make the exceedingly liberal Seventieth Anniversary offer—that during July all new or renewed subscriptions will be entered for fourteen months at the regular yearly subscription price of $2.50. If your subscription expires any time this year send in $2.50 during July and you will receive the paper for fourteen months from the time of the expiration of your subscription.

We appeal to the people who do not now take the Review. If you can raise the five cents a week, by all means subscribe now and get the paper for about four cents a week. The Review should be in every Sabbath-keeping family in our state. Send $2.50 with your address to F. I. Mohr, 204 No. Topeka Ave., Wichita, Kans.

Current Events in Wichita

It will be interesting to the members of our conference who read this, and encouraging to the various churches, to know that the magazine band of the Wichita church is doing good work. This band was organized shortly after the beginning of the year. Not all of those who joined are now following the work, but those who are still in the work are having good success.

During the month of March four individuals engaged in the work of distributing our magazines and our small books. They were using "World in Perplexity," "World War," "Armageddon," and the Watchman and Signs magazines. Their total sales for the month of March were $102.80.

In April three persons reported work, using "World Peace," and other books in the World Crisis series, with the Watchman and Signs magazines. Their total sales were $58.80.

During the month of May five persons went out in the work. The books used were the same as before with this difference, more "World Peace" were used, also some "Bible Prophecies Unfolding." The total sales for the magazine band for the month of May were $105.05.

We are surely grateful to these faithful workers for the work they have done. We thank the Lord that he has given them a desire to do this work. They are praising the Lord for the experiences which they have, and the success with which he is blessing them. One or two of these experiences have appeared in the Outlook recently.

The Kansas City church is using quite a large number of magazines, I understand, but exact figures are not available. I hope later that it will be possible to give a definite report of this work in Kansas City.

How is it in your church? Have you a magazine band?

Brethren H. S. Osterloh and J. D. McBroom shipped the tents out to the different places where tent efforts are to be conducted this summer.

Elder C. E. AcMoody has received a call from the Atlantic Union Conference to do evangelistic work in that field. He will leave the latter part of this month. What is our loss is another's gain.

We were very grieved to learn of the death of Brother H. A. Schneider, of Great Bend. Elders Stray and Hue nergardt had charge of the funeral. Interment was made in the Shaffer church cemetery near Bison.

The new book, the "Source Book" will be in stock in a short time. Just now there seems to be a little delay in getting these books. Limp leather, postpaid, is $2.25. Send your orders at once.

The conference committee met this week to consider very many important matters concerning our summer's work, and also the academy work at Enterprise. We are securing the strongest faculty that has ever been connected with the academy in Kansas. We are looking for a large enrollment at the very beginning of the school term.

The thousand six-months' subscriptions to the Signs of the Times, paid for by Union College, have nearly all been secured.

Not only the fourth Sabbath in each month, but the first and third Wednesday nights, are devoted to the home missionary work.

Sister Cabanas and her two daughters, Margaret and Lillian, who were recently baptized, leave with Mr. Cabanas for Idaho to live. We will miss them very much.

The Sabbath school rally day was one long to be remembered by all the members of the Central church. Both a forenoon and an afternoon session were held.

Our Work and Workers

Mr. S. E. McNeil, of Takoma Park, Washington, D. C., is busily engaged auditing the books of the Central Union Conference this week.

Word from Elder Underwood says that there is a large attendance at the Colorado camp meeting and that they are enjoying a splendid meeting.

Plan now to attend your camp meeting. The date is given in the camp meeting schedule, also the place of meeting if it has been definitely decided upon. In these trying times you cannot afford to miss the blessings to be received at these yearly gatherings.

Missionary Volunteer Reading Courses for 1919-20

We take pleasure in announcing the new 1919-20 Missionary Volunteer Reading Courses, which we believe to be unrivaled for excellence. We hope that a larger number of young people than ever before will avail themselves of the entertainment and information that they offer.

Henry Drummond has said that "to fall in love with a good book is one of the greatest events that can befall us. It is to have a new influence, pouring itself into our life, a new teacher to refine and inspire us, a new friend to be by our side always." We believe the influence of these books will strengthen and uplift all who read them.
