COLLEGE VIEW, NEBRASKA, JANUARY 24, 1922

NUMBER 4

Pray—Give—Go

THREE things the Master hath to do,
And we who serve Him here below
And long to see His kingdom come,
May pray, or give, or go.

He needs them all,—the open hand,
The willing feet, the asking heart,—
To work together and to weave,
The threefold cord that shall not part.

Nor shall the giver count his gift
As greater than the worker's deed,
Nor he in turn his service boast
Above the prayers that voice the need.

Not all can go; not all can give
To arm the others for the fray;
But young or old, or rich or poor,
Or strong or weak,—we all can pray.

Pray that the full hands open wide
To speed the message on its way;
That those who hear the call may go,
And pray that other hearts may pray.
—Annie Johnson Flint.

A Suggestion

S. E. WIGHT

If we would keep strict account of all the money paid into the Sabbath school, the foreign mission offering direct, and all other offerings making up our foreign mission offerings, we would be surprised at the close of the year to find that possibly it had grown to quite a sum of money. If all who are interested in foreign missions could know at the end of the year how much they have given, it would be both interesting and encouraging to themselves and to their families. We also believe that it would be pleasing to the Lord to see us keeping track of our gifts that we may know what our liberality is. At first thought the reader may not think seriously of this suggestion, but if he will try it for a time, we feel sure the experiment will grow in value as the days go by. May we not find many, both young and old, who will endeavor during the year of 1922 to keep accurate account of our gifts to foreign missions. Thirty-one dollars and twenty cents is the amount per capita expected from each church. Some go away above this amount. If all could approximate that amount at least, it would very materially raise our foreign mission offerings during 1922.

Inter-Mountain Academy

A part of the Inter-Mountain Academy school building has been finished all but the floor. They have moved in on the subfloor, but we learn that it is very cold, and have great fears that it will impair the health of the students. They tell us that it will cost $250.00 to complete the floor. This building has been put up without debt, and they are determined not to go any further until they get the money. Is there anyone who would like to make a donation of $250.00 to this enterprise? If so, we should be glad to have you send it to the Central Union Conference, and it will be forwarded on to the school. We solicit for the school the liberality of our brethren and sisters interested in the cause of education.

Why Read the Review?

W. A. GOSMER

I read the Review because it is the only church paper published by our people. When we stop to consider what a church paper is, and what its mission is, we can then get an idea of its value to the individual church member. The denomination publishes several missionary papers, suitable for missionary work for those who do not know the truth for this time. While these missionary journals and papers are admirably adapted to the purpose for which they are printed, there is a vast amount of material and information for us as Seventh-day Adventists, which they do not publish, and which might not be of any immediate interest to those not of our faith. The Review occupies a field peculiar to itself. It deals specifically with the immediate concerns of the church, and with the spiritual welfare of its members. It sets before the church the duties and responsibilities and privileges of its members. It constantly reminds them of the near coming of Christ, and of what they must be to be prepared to meet Him in peace. This, no other paper among us does, nor in the nature of things, can do.

Besides all the spiritual material for the church, there are the various departments dealing with the world-wide mission fields, the home department, the young people's department, the medical department, the home missionary department, the Missionary Volunteer department. Those who do not read the Review miss all the good spiritual sermons contained in it, which are of a nature to help prepare us to meet the Lord. Can we meet him in peace unprepared? Those who do not read the Review know very little of the progress of the work in other lands. Consequently, their interest in missions often lags, and they are remiss in gifts and prayers for the work. In these times many parents are heart-broken over the wayward, irreligious, or backslidden course of their children and young people. Yet, if they do not read the Review, they miss the very articles dealing with these questions, and of how to deal with the young people to the best advantage. They miss also the timely instruction of the home department which teaches how to conduct the home in such a way that young people will be attracted to it. They miss all the other departments of every kind contained in the Review. They miss even the obituaries of friends and acquaintances and conference leaders and workers. They miss as well all the up-to-date news items relating to our work at home and abroad. In fact, it is difficult to compass in one short article all that non-readers of the Review do miss.

Now, it is like everything else in this world that we really need. We can get it if we will, and that with few exceptions. Personally, I feel that I could not be a successful Christian, nor an up-to-date Christian, without the Review. Years ago, God planned the Review for this people, not simply to entertain them, but emphatically to build them up. It costs about five cents a week. I would rather eat one meal less a week than go without the Review. It would pay many times over to do it. I long to see the day when every Seventh-day Adventist will take the Review.

Why We Should Take the Review and Herald

T. H. Coopwood

The Review and Herald is to this denominational body what the heart is to the physical body. The heart is continually receiving blood from all extremities of the body, and after having been purified, is again propelled to all parts of the body carrying food matter for building and rebuilding tissue. So the Review and Herald officials, who are continually receiving information from all parts of the earth where the message has gone, are sending out that information as an organic exchange, keeping each reader informed of the work throughout the world.

Then it is just as necessary that each person receive and read the Review and Herald as it is for each member of the body to receive blood from the heart.

A True Reflector

N. V. WILLISS

In reading the history of this movement, and studying the steady development of each phase of its splendid organization, we find that the good old Review and Herald has had no small part in the work. It has been the medium of communication through which our leading brethren have placed before our people throughout the field the plans laid for the advancement of the work.

The Review has been a great factor in unifying the work wherever it has gone. Wherever the message has gone, the Review has gone with the plans laid by the General Conference, which, when adapted to the local needs of each field, have proved equally effectual in all fields.

As the work has broadened and gone into the distant lands of earth, the Review has kept pace with the advancing message and broadened its scope by adding departments and sections in which not only plans for the work are presented to our people, but splendid articles adapted to every phase of Christian experience afford most excellent food for the young and old.

And whose heart has not been stirred by the thrilling reports of the progress of the work in the dark lands of earth? One who reads the Review faithfully will keep in touch with the developments of the work in all parts of the world. What a pleasure to follow our friends and loved ones as they give up all and launch out into the dark lands of earth with the message! What courage and joy it brings to our hearts as we read of precious souls taking their stand for the truth!

How can any one keep up with this fast advancing message without the Review? If we need to sacrifice some things in order to take it, we will not lose by it. Let us all take the Review.

"The blossom cannot tell what becomes of its odor, and no man can tell what becomes of his influence and example that roll away from him and go beyond his ken in their perilous mission."

No Substitute

Seventy-three years ago our first denominational paper had its humble beginning in the direct providence of God. The statement was made, "It will be a success from the first. . . . From this small beginning it was shown to me to be like streams of light that went clear around the world." As far back as memory goes the Review has been in my home the greater part of the time. For years while without church privileges, its weekly visit to me was the living preacher. Before each Sabbath was ended every article it contained was carefully read. Even today if the Review does not reach me by Sabbath it brings the feeling that there is something lacking. More than anything else I believe it was the Review that not only kept me in touch with the truth, but also in the love of it. No one ever backslides that takes the Review and reads it. While now we have many denominational papers and they are all good, I have never yet found a substitute for the good old Review.

JOHN B. WHITE.

Every Adventist Should Read the Review

BECAUSE:

It is filled each week with a message for this time.

It sounds the note of inspiration, telling us that we are nearing the end of this world.

The poems and the front cover are full of courage.

The editorials point out the dangers that threaten the church and the home at this time.

It is our church paper and is laden week by week with definite instruction.

It keeps us posted on the Sixty-Cent-a-Week Fund, and no Adventist would want to miss knowing what our offerings are which are to carry our message to all parts of the world.

It faithfully reports the progress that is being made by our message, the calls for more help, and the struggles through which our missionaries must pass.

The home department gives us many lessons as to how our homes may be a dwelling place for angels.

It calls our attention to the need of giving our children a Christian education.

Our young men and young women need the help they will get by reading the articles in their department.

It speaks courage to our hearts in the hour of sickness and is a wave of light telling of the certain triumph of the message.

It tells of the advancement of the Lord's army in the heathen land.

With all the good things the Review brings week by week, I can not afford to be without it in my home.

B. W. BROWN.

A Unifying Agency

ADOLPH BLOMSTEDT

It has been quite astonishing to say the least, that during the last three months it has been necessary to urge, and even coax, some of our dear people by pen and word of mouth to become regular readers of and subscribers to the Review. What is the reason? Why is it that a need so apparent, and a privilege so far-reaching in its effects as our denominational organ in the home, must so insistently be coaxed on to so many of us? There can be only one dependable and consistent solution, and that is that the enemy of our souls understands the value of the Review better than we do; and for that reason he spares no efforts to belittle its importance to the minds of our people. There can be no question in regard to the source of such thoughts, for who could even imagine the Spirit of God discounting the value of the most important publication of the remnant church?

To set before our people again why they ought to subscribe for the Review seems, however, unnecessary. We need not mention its touching articles on the Christian life; its recital of most providential and thrilling experiences from the mission fields, at home, and abroad; and its excellent reports of the progress in our various departments. Neither shall we take the space to emphasize the practical advice of the Home Department; the instructive and inspirational articles under the heading, "Young Men and Young Women"; the helpful thoughts from "Contributors"; or the most timely warnings from "the watchman on the walls of Zion" through the editorials on current events. But may I mention with a keen sense of the solemnity of this issue at the present time, the inestimable importance of the Review in uniting us as a people and our world-wide work into a perfect whole?

The servant of God has strongly exhorted God's people to come into more complete unity. Here is one statement, "Press together, press together. Unity is strength; disunion is weakness and defeat." Vol. 6, p. 293.

With our work now extending to the ends of the earth, we need the more to take every possible measure to heed the instruction, that we may stand together as one man on every issue and in every advance move. There are no means whereby we more effectually can accomplish this unification of our ranks than through the pages of our church paper. Its weekly arrival at the homes of our people converts our scattered members into a united family. It is a God-given means to bring His people "to the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man."

Food for the Soul

R. T. NASH

It is safe to say that many of our new Sabbath keepers who are church members do not take the Review and Herald. I think this is chiefly due to the fact that its importance has not been properly emphasized by those who have helped these souls into the truth or who have been instrumental in doing so. But I would like to say to every new convert to this message, you are sacrificing more than you know. You are sacrificing one of the greatest agencies in keeping pace with the hosts of Israel on their march toward the heavenly Canaan; you are sacrificing one of the greatest agencies to prepare you for the coming of the Lord Jesus.

Of all temporal things the first consideration is food to sustain the body; and of all spiritual things the first consideration should be a good supply of food for the soul. The good faithful Review is always filled with "meat in due season," bringing from the word of God precious gems of truth and answering scores of questions you have greatly desired to know. Many statements from the pen of Sister E. G. White that have never found their way into the bound volumes of the testimonies have appeared and still appear in the columns of the Review. Maybe in the next week's paper such a statement may appear that will never flow through its columns again until Jesus comes.

Why miss these things when God in his providence has opened a way for us to have them.

Let us not let slip another issue of our church paper.

Campion Academy News

Miss Olga Lorenz, our new matron, made a trip to Boulder Sunday, returning in the evening.

Delmont Emery was called to his home Sunday evening on account of his mother's illness.

Prof. F. A. Page is spending a few days at his home at Campion.

Elder A. G. Wearner is at his home at Campion this week.

Sabbath school and church services were held in chapel, as the floor and the rostrum have been completed.

New officers were elected for our Missionary Volunteer society, as follows: leader, Mr. C. C. Moore; assistant leader, Mr. E. Innis; second assistant, Miss N. Medill; secretary, Miss Mildred Starr; assistant secretary, Miss Marguerite Wood; pianist, Miss Alice Cox; chorister, Mr. Roger Curtis; leaders of the prayer bands, Miss Medill and Mr. Innis; educational secretary, Mr. Oswald Specht; correspondence leader, Mr. LeRoy Penfold; mission band leader, Mr. Harvey Hecox.

In our Missionary Volunteer society we discussed our goal for the coming year and each was determined more than ever to reach the goal. We carry the honor of having the banner society of Colorado, of which we are all very proud.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Anderson from Wyoming are visiting with their parents at Campion and friends at the academy.

Mr. Sheek of Ft. Lupton spent Sabbath with his family at Campion.

Miss Esther Lorenz has been ill, but is now recovering, and we hope to see her taking up her school work soon.

News Notes

Elder Gosmer is in College View this week attending a meeting of the Union committee.

The colporteurs' institute closed with every attendant feeling that it was a real success and a spiritual blessing to them.

Sister L. H. Lowe has joined our colporteurs, using "Great Controversy," and we bespeak her success as she visits the homes of our capital city. We welcome her.

We also welcome Brother John Vickers to our colporteur army of Colorado, and have all confidence that God will use him in winning many souls. Brother Vickers will confine his labor to the city of Denver, using "Bible Readings."

Have you ordered your copy of the new book, "Our Story of Missions?" This is Elder Spicer's latest book. Those who have read "The Hand That Intervenes" and "Youthful Witnesses" know how interesting his writings are. The price of this book is $1.50.

Fifteen Sabbath school teachers have sent in their papers for the completion of the Sabbath School Training Course. We wish to congratulate those schools in which these teachers are teaching, and hope that more of our Sabbath school teachers will take advantage of the help this work affords.

Reports are coming from some of our Sabbath schools telling of victories and advanced steps in the lives of many as a result of the observation of "Decision Day" in the school. Every Sabbath school should have these days, giving opportunities to those who will, to make a new start in the Christian life.

Our field secretary, D. T. Snideman, says that the Signs now offer a most wonderful opportunity for our regular colporteurs to place a yearly subscription with persons who are seeking truth. Often our colporteurs find hungry souls who need immediate help, and the Signs will give this very help needed. Subscription price only $2.00, and the colporteur receives 75 cents of this for his efforts. "More Signs More Souls."

In Danger
H. A. FISH

There are one hundred and fifty homes in the Missouri Conference that are in danger of being swept away by a flood of indifference and carelessness, because they are not listening to the warnings and exhortations that are being sounded to God's people through the soul-inspiring columns of the Review.
 When we drive our car up to a filling station to have it filled with gasoline and oil, $2.50 does not seem much, but to pay that amount out for sixty issues of the Review, it suddenly grows in our eyes and we feel we can not spare it just now, so the good Review is ruled out of our homes, and we are failing to get the instruction we need to keep us alive spiritually.

Our religious liberties are becoming more and more endangered, and the future holds many a trying experience for us. We will need all the help we can get to prepare us for the time of trouble ahead.
 The Review keeps us informed of the advancement of the truth, and of the leaving of the missionaries, and their experiences as they labor for God among heathen peoples.

Let us take advantage of the splendid offer made for the month of January of fourteen months' subscription for $2.50, the regular subscription price for twelve months. How can we afford to be without the Review? Let us order it today.

Missouri News Notes

Sister V. P. Lovell returned home recently from an extended visit at the home of her mother in Monteer, Mo.
 The Clinton English and German churches were favored on Sabbath, January 15, in having Elder Russell of the Northern Union and Brother Brodersen and Professor Howell of the General Conference address them.

Elder H. C. Hartwell attended the recent meeting of the Union College Board held in College View. Brother Bates was also at College View visiting the Missouri students in the interest of the colporteur work.

We have a quantity of the December number of the Liberty Magazine on hand, which may be used to good advantage at this time. (Special price 5 cents). We also have back numbers of our regular magazines which may be procured at 3 cents a copy.

Brother Lovell recently returned from a tour in the interest of the church school work. The places visited were Ava, Pineville, Joplin, St. Louis, Poplar Bluff and Oak Grove. While at St. Louis he spoke to the colored church on the importance of Christian education.
 Brother Lovell was called to meet with the Kansas City First Church School Board last week to consider employing a second teacher for their school. Owing to the large attendance and crowded program, it was decided to employ Miss Thorp to assist in the work there for the remainder of the school term.
 An institute in the interest of the colporteur work will be held in St. Louis February 5 to 12. It is expected that 40 or more prospective canvassers will be in attendance. We are glad that so many of our people in the state are becoming interested in this important line of work, and we hope that others who are adapted to this line of work will become interested.

The Review and Herald in Every Home

Of all our publications there is one, the Review and Herald, that should visit every home weekly, with its counsels, reproofs and warnings. Some may feel too poor to take every one of our publications, yet no stone should be left unturned in our efforts to get the Review in our homes.

The good old Review and Herald is our paper. It undertakes to care for the spiritual interests of all; and by the grace of God it succeeds. In it we find precious thoughts that prove to be morsels of the bread of life. Meat in due season is contained in every article. I have found it a feast of good things.

In Vol. 4, pp. 598, 599, inspiration has brought us this message concerning the Review and Herald: "The Review is a valuable paper; it contains matters of great interest to the church, and should be placed in every family of believers. . . . If our brethren and sisters would only manifest greater efforts to accomplish this, it would be done. Every family should have this paper. . . . Those who consent to be without the Review and Herald lose much."

Kansas News Notes

Alonzo C. Cornell spent Sabbath, January 14, with the church at Emporia.

Last Sabbath afternoon a number from the Topeka church followed their Lord in baptism.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Baker drove to Lawrence Sabbath morning and spent the day with the Lawrence church.

Remember you will not be able to get the Review and Herald fourteen months for $2.50, unless your order is mailed before February 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis went to Manhattan Friday afternoon to be with Mr. Davis's brother, who was operated upon last week for appendicitis.

The church school teachers' institute will be held at Enterprise, January 20 to 23. Almost all of our church school teachers will be present.

Miss Annah Vaughn was called to Nekoma last Thursday to attend to some matters pertaining to the church school work at that place. She returned to the office Monday.

A new book entitled "The Hills O' Ca'liny" is now off the press. We will have these books in stock within a few days. This is one of the books in the reading course for next year.

W. F. Surber is now at Augusta following up an interest which was started by Brother Downey, one of our colporteurs.

Elder A. E. Johnson and H. P. Lorenz have been holding meetings at Ottawa the past two weeks. They report a good interest.

Mrs. Henry Ray, who has been assisting in our office during the past month, left last Friday for her home at Downs, Kans.

Brother J. N. Anderson of Auburn spent Sabbath in Topeka. While here Brother Anderson made the office a pleasant call before returning to his home.

Book No. 4 of the World-Wide Series entitled "At Home with the Hakkas in South China" can now be procured. The price of this little book is 25 cents, the same as the others in this series.

Miss Faye Eagle, our Sabbath school secretary, who has been detained at home for several weeks on account of sickness, was down to the office a few hours this week. Miss Eagle is feeling much better and will probably be about her duties within a short time.

Send at Once

The splendid offer that is made by the Review and Herald for the month of January will certainly be appreciated by all who do not have the weekly visitor in their home.

I trust that no one in the Wyoming Conference will let this opportunity go by without ordering the paper. If you are already taking it, have it renewed for another year, and it will be sent fourteen months for $2.50.

It is useless to state the value of the good old Review for all know something of the spiritual mold that it gives to its readers.

Surely no one wants to lose pace with this message, and the only English paper the denomination has that tells of the world-wide work is the Review. It gives a report of the efforts that are being put forth in both the home and foreign fields.

The good instruction that comes each week through the editor's column is very much needed by all of us in these hours of peril.

Brethren, the month of January will soon be gone. Let all send in their order at once to the tract society.

J. W. TURNER.

News Notes

Sister Ira Tillotson of Cascade made a short call at the office last week.

Calvin D. Walker of Alliance called at the office last Monday evening.

How about a thousand "Present Truth" for distribution among your friends and neighbors? One thousand for $7.00.

J. R. Staton, our field missionary secretary, will be at the office January 24. We anticipate a good year for the book work in Wyoming under his able leadership.

Brother Ross has been busily engaged at the office for the past few days in correcting Standard of Attainment papers and with other work pertaining to his departments.

Miss Minette Ward stopped at the office last Monday while on her way to Casper. She has been working with "Bible Readings" in Sheridan and will use the same book in Casper.

Elders Fletcher and Schacht and G. T. Glendrange spent the Sabbath with the brethren at Scottsbluff and Gering.

Vance and Clifford Canaday spent Sabbath and Sunday with their parents, returning to school Monday morning.

A few days ago we received word from Brother Irvin Martin that he expects to be in the colporteur work this coming summer.

Elder Turner, who is attending the Central Union Conference committee meeting, expects to visit the Cheyenne church as he returns.

Have you ordered a copy of "Our Story of Missions"? This book by Elder Spicer is now on our shelves. Every Sabbath school and Missionary Volunteer society should have one.

Shelton Academy News Notes

The program for the second semester has been arranged, and a number of new classes organized.

The denominational history class had the privilege of reciting their first lesson, Jan. 18, 1922.

Mrs. M. Meinte arrived Wednesday evening for a few days' visit with her sister, Miss Edith Hoffman.

Miss Esther Burkett has left the school and will spend the remainder of the year at her home. She will be missed by both students and teachers.

A very interesting Missionary Volunteer meeting is expected next Sabbath, as it will be the first conducted by the newly elected committee.

A students' music recital was given last Sunday afternoon in the chapel.

Miss Myrna Ragsdale arrived Monday afternoon from College View to attend school here during the rest of the year.

Last Sabbath the young people's meeting was conducted by the history of missions class. The subject was, "The Mountaineers." There were three readings: "The History of the Mountaineers," Alice Cardey; "The Home Life of the Mountaineers," Gerald Hammon; and "The Education of the Mountain People," Lloyd Cowin.

The chorus class has begun work on the cantata "Joseph" for the second semester.

News Notes

On account of the extra amount of work at the close of the year, Mrs. Rex Jacobson has been assisting in the office the past two weeks—working part time while she is attending school.

Every mail brings several subscriptions for the Review, but we are anxious to see "every family in Nebraska a subscriber." Remember that the offer of fourteen months for $2.50 expires January 31.

We have ordered a stock of the new book, "Layman's Home Missionary Movement." The price is 75 cents. This book should be in the hands of all our missionary secretaries, as well as everyone else interested in missionary work—which should include all.

A teachers' convention for Nebraska and Wyoming is to be held in Shelton, February 10 to 13. All teachers from both states are to be present. Elder Wood, Professor Rees and Miss Gibbs will attend from here and Brother George Ross, educational secretary from Wyoming, will be present.

Do not fail to remember the colporteurs' institute to be held in Omaha, February 17 to 27. Special help will be arranged for, to give thorough instruction in the art of selling our good books and magazines. It is not too early to begin making your plans to attend this institute. God is now calling for consecrated men and women to finish His work, and we are told in the Spirit of Prophecy that "We cannot too highly rate this work, for were it not for the efforts of the canvasser, many would never hear the warning." (Colporteurs' Evangelist). Who will answer this call of the Master? Kindly write the field missionary secretary here at the office for further particulars.

A convention for the Decatur and Tekamah churches was held January 20 to 22. Brother V. O. Punches has been holding a series of successful meetings in the Decatur church, and twenty have decided to keep all of God's commandments. He will close his meetings with this convention, which will not only represent the Home Missionary Department, but also the Missionary Volunteer and Sabbath School. Elders D. P. Wood, H. E. Lysinger, Miss Gibbs and Mr. E. J. Moser attended and assisted in making it a profitable time to these churches. Brother Moser took a good supply of books, such as Testimonies, Reading Course and other books that would be needed at a convention of this kind.

Professor Baldwin was on the sick list last week.

Edna Gould, the church school teacher, has been ill for a few days, and has been unable to hold school.

The correspondence band is raising money in order that 50 papers might be sent out weekly.

The semester examinations are in the past, and the work of the second semester has begun in earnest.

The newly elected young people's officers are as follows: leader, Oliver Coombs; secretary, Helen Burch; assistant secretary, Fannie Marsh; pianist, Esther Johnson.

Mr. Coppock spent a couple of days here last week in the interest of the colporteur work. A colporteur band was organized with Oliver Coombs as leader and Rosa Woodruff as assistant leader.

The Sabbath school officers for the new semester are as follows: superintendent, Professor Wilcox; assistant superintendent, Rosa Woodruff; secretary, Alice Neilsen; assistant secretary, Iva Byerrum; organist, Joyce Gardner; chorister, Mrs. Baldwin.

Elder Alway has started to hold some Sunday evening meetings in the school house on the Mesa above the school. There seems to be quite an interest. Several of the students attend the meetings to help in the singing or to give some special music.

The girls gave a very interesting program to the boys Saturday night, January 14. The entertainment was given in the girls' parlor, which was formerly the chapel. The decorations were in pink and white, and white ice cream and strawberry sherbet were served, also cake.

Monday, January 16, was an eventful day in the history of the Inter-Mountain Academy, because we held our first day of school in the new building. Although the building is not entirely finished, and there are some inconveniences, yet the students and teachers are all glad for the move. The girls now have the old chapel fixed up as a parlor, and they are well pleased with it.

A new Arcola heating system will be installed in the new administration building next week.

Brother and Sister Lewis have moved here from Wray, Colo. Their son, Barton, and their daughter, Emma, expect to attend the academy.

Office Notes

Brother and Sister P. T. Gibbs are expected in Grand Junction within the next few days to make their home.

Brother L. E. Curtis, of Fruita, expects soon to be at work with "Our Day." Are you doing your part in scattering the pages of truth? If you feel you are not, write to Brother Coppock about the matter. He will be glad to aid you in deciding this question.

"Our Story of Missions" has now reached our office, and we shall be glad to pass on this book to you at $1.50 a copy. This is written by the secretary of our Foreign Mission Board, and will be the latest authority for those who are planning on taking the Standard of Attainment examinations during the present year.

The Sunday evening meetings are being continued at the Grand Junction church. The interest is quite good, and the members are enjoying this privilege of reviewing the fundamentals of the message. The Dorcas Society of the church is also doing good work. The food sales which are being held are bringing very good returns, and a class in nursing is now being conducted with Sister F. W. Griffin as instructor.

One-half of the month of January is now in the past. When we reach its close, how will the Inter-Mountain Conference stand on its mission funds? Shall we not begin now, and week by week see that each one places in the offerings an amount sufficient to cover his portion of the Sixty-Cent-a-Week Fund? You will find this is most satisfactory for yourself, and the workers in the foreign lands will certainly be encouraged to labor the harder for the Master when they see those at the base of supplies are loyally holding the ropes. When we read of our people in Russia going without food to be able to buy a Bible, do you not feel you could do without some of your luxuries and place this amount in the cause for carrying the gospel to those who do not know of a soon-coming Saviour?

Brother W. H. Babcock, elder of the Fruita church, was a pleasant caller at the office during the week and reports the work as growing.

The new building at Rulison is to be occupied this week. While it is incomplete, it will still be a great aid to the school. If those who know they have unpaid pledges will make an effort to remit these, this will help in carrying forward the work at this time.

"With the Hakkas" is the name of the new number of the Junior Series. This is written by Elder S. A. Nagel, who with his wife has spent almost fourteen years in China. Old and young will greatly enjoy this interesting narrative. The price of this book is 25 cents.

The Review subscriptions are coming in nicely, though it will take a number more to put us on the 100 per cent basis. You need this paper, if you are not now a reader, to keep pace with the message. Subscribe now and receive the paper for fourteen months for $2.50, and thus keep in touch with the world-movement of our work.

Brother G. C. Smith is spending his time in the colporteur work, working with "Practical Guide." Sister Bessie Nelson is expected to be in Grand Junction to share in this branch of the work. We are glad for these additions, and trust to see still others added to the list. The temperature has not been cold enough to chill one's enthusiasm, and we have no snow in Grand Valley.

The Grand Junction Sabbath school is a growing school. The membership was fifty per cent larger the last quarter of the year than the first, and our offerings were more than double the last quarter. How is it with your school? Is each church member a member of the Sabbath school? How many are studying the lesson daily, and doing their part in keeping up the financial goal? Remember the responsibility does not all rest on your superintendent, but each member should be a committee of one to see that that one, with some others, makes the effort to reach the goals.

Union College News Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Hornbacker and Flora Montgomery are among the new students who are enrolled for the second semester. Miss June Fitch has also resumed her school work.

Stephen Mulder has returned to college after a business trip to his home in Yuma, Colo.

Alva T. Friend left this week for his home in Haxtum, Colo.

Practically all the students have been vaccinated at some time during the past week.

A number of the students went to the court house Friday to take the State teacher's examinations.

Prof. M. P. Robison and Prof. D. D. Rees are at Enterprise, Kans., attending the Kansas teachers' convention.

The Central Union Conference committee met this week and elected delegates for the General Conference to be held in San Francisco, Calif., May 11 to 31.

Hydrotherapy classes have been organized in the college for the second semester. Mr. Elstrom and Miss Huenergardt are the instructors.

Howard Williams is having success with his new photo shop, located across from the campus. Mr. Williams is a member of the Senior class of '22.

Miss Rochelle Philmon, instructor in English, occupied the chapel hour Tuesday morning. She read and gave a literary interpretation and appreciation of the three poems, "Excelsior," "The House Beside the Road" and "Song of the Chattahoochee."

Several young ladies are enrolled in the carpentry and woodwork class under the instruction of Professor Gage. They are learning the use of the various tools and will soon start to make cedar chests.

Professor and Mrs. Gage and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Crosier have taken apartments in North Hall for the remainder of the school year.

Professor W. E. Howell, educational secretary of the [General] Conference of Seventh-day Adventists and one of the special lecturers for the school of theology, addressed the student body Wednesday morning at the chapel exercises. He has recently returned from an extended tour through Europe and South America. He brought encouraging messages from the Union College students who have given

The members of the Sunshine Band have been doing special work this winter for the poor people of Lincoln. Food, clothing, and money have been collected and distributed. Many of the girls went into the village and solicited donations. It is the plan that each band will take charge of one poor family for the year.

Mr. J. J. Ireland, auditor of the General Conference, has been auditing the books of the school.

The third number of Union College lecture course was given last week. The speaker was Granville Jones, and the subject of his address was, "The Creed of Democracy."

Saturday evening, January 14, Vera Loving Howard, student with Mrs. Marie Jones-Anderson, gave her Senior piano recital in the college chapel. Miss Howard played the Mephisto Waltz by Liszt, and the Greig, a minor concerto, accompanied by the Union College orchestra, Carl C. Engel, conductor. The Junior piano students acted as ushers. Miss Howard is one of the eight girls who are finishing the Conservatory course this year.

The Missionary Volunteer society gave a program in the chapel recently. Special music was rendered by Miss Hazel Nicola, cellist; Mr. Joe Krotz, violinist; and Miss Blanche Hunter, pianist. Miss Catherine Comb told of the work the correspondence band is doing, Miss Kathryn Speh told of the literature band and Miss Josie Kiser of the Bible workers' band. The Sunshine band leaders, Linnie Keith, Mrs. Ray France, Fara Whitlow, Ethel Griesse, Ruth Johns and Volga Jacobson, appeared in a short dialogue, based upon experiences they had had in their work.

their lives as foreign missionaries.

An impressive service took place at the convocation exercises in the chapel recently when golden cords were strung for Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Oswald, graduates of Union, who are on their way to Bolivia, South America, as missionaries. President Morrison made a few remarks and presented a steamer rug to them as a gift from the faculty and the students. After a response from Mr. and Mrs. Oswald, Prof. O. S. Beltz and Elder H. B. Shaw sang a duet.
