Ten Thrilling Days In Nebraska

M. V. CAMPBELL

The Nebraska camp meeting has just closed, and as the people were leaving for their homes the common expression on their lips was, "This is the best camp meeting yet."

During the first week end Elder H.M.S. Richards, Elder E. R. Walde, and the King's Heralds quartet of the Voice of Prophecy were present and conducted the leading meetings on Friday, Sabbath, and Sunday. The messages and appeals from the speakers were of great spiritual value. The quartet was deeply appreciated, and its leader, Brother Wayne Hooper, was given a special welcome by his many friends in College View where he has been a member of the music staff at Union College for the past two years.

On Monday Elder W. B. Ochs, and Pastors A. G. Stewart and Robert Salau arrived, remaining for the last week of the camp meeting. The messages from Elder Ochs were of great value, and on the closing Sabbath in response to his appeal, quite a large number of people came forward asking for baptism. Elder Och's counsel was also deeply appreciated by the Central Union Conference committee with which he met while in Lincoln.

As was the case everywhere else on his strenuous trip in this country, Pastor Salau was listened to eagerly by throngs of Adventists, as well as visitors not of our faith. The mission stories told by both Pastor and Mrs. Stewart were found extremely interesting, and as they told of going to the mission field immediately after marriage and remaining in foreign service in the South Sea Islands for 42 years, several of the younger ministers and college students spoke of their desire to dedicate their lives to foreign mission work.

It was also a pleasure to hear stirring messages from Elder H. K. Christman, Elder S. C. Harris, and Brother C. R. MacIvor. An interesting feature of the last Sabbath was the ordination of Junius J. Olson and Donald H. Madison, both of whom have labored in the Nebraska Conference for the past four years and have during this time demonstrated their call to the gospel ministry.

Elder D. E. Venden's part in this camp meeting was well expressed on the closing evening by Elder R. S. Joyce, who had charge of the platform during the camp, when he said, "He has packed more interesting and inspirational meetings into a shorter time than any of us thought possible." At the closing workers' meeting of the camp, Elder Venden made an urgent appeal for all of the workers to spend the remaining months of the year primarily in evangelism.

Sinking The Heart Of Asia

The province of Sinkiang, sometimes called China's new dominion, lies in the very heart of Asia. The Mongolians have migrated from the east, the Russians from the north, the Turks from the west, the Tibetans from the south, and the Chinese from the southeast. Its population is estimated to range from 1,700,000 to 6,000,000 people. They are made up of many races and creeds. In area it is larger than Germany, France, and Spain, combined. It is a land wider in extent than several of the provinces of China proper.

Sinkiang! Many areas are still places of mystery, some of which have never been trod by the foot of man. It is a land where rivers disappear in the sand and then again after a few miles break forth in oases and springs in and around which are found the habitats of man, and which provide food and water for the nomads roaming over its vast plains.

Tihwa, the capital of the province, is located in the north central part. Here the governor, appointed by the Chinese government, attempts to rule that vast domain. Before modern means of transportation came into use, travel by mule or horse cart took months, through deserts and over the mountains infested with robbers, to reach this interior city. Even in modern times colporteurs, carrying the printed page of the third angel's message, spent over two months in travel, crossing the weary wastes, to reach this city from Lanchow, which is the headquarters of our northwest China Union Mission. During recent years this has all been changed. Over approximately the same route, which served for centuries as a caravan road from the east to the west, an improved auto highway has been built, making it possible to cover by truck or car the distance in days where it formerly took weeks. Now along this same road air fields have been built, making it possible to travel from Shanghai to Tihwa, a distance of over two thousand miles, in less than two days' flying time.

During the recent years, or ever since the establishment of Seventh-day Adventist mission work in Lanchow, the capital of the province of Kansu, which is the gateway to Sinkiang, one of the definite aims has been to carry the gospel of a soon-coming Saviour to the people of Sinking by placing representatives of this closing message in this remote province. As a result of the influence of the work of the Northwest China sanitarium and hospital, this now seems possible. In all the province of Sinkiang, including Tihwa, the capital, there is no modern, equipped hospital, and as far as we know the nearest X-ray machine is in Lanchow, over 1,000 miles away. Many leading government and other officials from Tihwa have been patients in the sanitarium at Lanchow. As a result of the help received they are now urging that a medical institution be established in Tihwa, and are offering to assist in every way possible to provide travel, buildings, and facilities to make such a program possible.

In a country where Mohammedanism is the prevailing religion, hearts can be touched by ministering to physical needs when they can be touched in no other way. For years the doors to enter Singlang have been practically closed. Many prayers have been offered to God to open the way, for there are many in that interior land who are honest in heart. Now the doors are open. They may not remain open for long. What is to be done must be done quickly. May God help His people to make it possible to lengthen the cords to the very heart of Asia and gather in for Him those waiting in that land for the saving grace of the gospel.

Faculty Changes at Enterprise Academy

A complete faculty for the 1949-1950 school term has been announced by the academy board. Three former teachers, Elder and Mrs. Stacey and Mrs. Cossentine, will not be on the staff, making vacancies to be filled.

Miss Ida Edgerton of Nebraska has accepted a call to take charge of the commercial department. Since her graduation from Union College in 1946, Miss Edgerton has carried on a strong teaching program at Plainview Academy, She plans to make the commercial department here fully college preparatory. She will also teach the Spanish classes, being well qualified with a major in that field.

From Ft. Worth, Texas, comes Miss Laurie MacPherson as music instructor. A 1947 graduate of Union College, Miss MacPherson was in charge of an academy music department during the first term following her graduation. She then returned to Union College for additional work and received her Bachelor of Music degree. An outstanding musician in various fields, she has taken advanced work at the MacPhail School of Music in Minneapolis, Minnesota, and Texas Christian University in Ft. Worth. She attended the Westminister Choir School in the east this summer.

A local change was also announced. Mr. Francis Knittel, who has served as English instructor the past two years, will take up duties as dean of men. Mr. Ted Weis, who for the same period of time has carried out a well-organized work in the dormitory, will devote full time to the Bible department.

Share Your Faith Scholarships

As a climax to the recent Share Your Faith youth's rally, the young people of the Central States Mission contributed their talents and presented a musical program Sunday night, July 31, at the Lincoln high school auditorium, Kansas City, Missouri. The proceeds of this program, together with patron funds solicited by the youth in their various churches, were to be used for the purpose of awarding scholarships to deserving youth.

In order to ascertain which of our youth would be in line to receive this scholarship consideration, a questionnaire was supplied to the local M. V. executive committees and to the pastors, asking for recommendations from their churches. Individuals recommended for consideration were classified as follows: (1) high school graduates (two scholarships), (2) first and second year college students, (3) third and fourth year college students, (4) medical college students. This breakdown made it possible to cover all the applicants entered with the most reasonable amount of consideration.

According to the questionnairs entered covering the four divisions of classification, the following Missionary Volunteers have demonstrated their qualifications to a high degree and therefore have been awarded the Share Your Faith Scholarships for 1949; Miss Chlora McClure, Wichita, Kansas; Miss Winnie Mae Jackson, Topeka, Kansas; Miss Josephine Ford, Kansas City, Kansas; Mr. John Washington, Independence, Kansas; Mr. Jimmie Valentine, Kansas City, Missouri.

The value of each scholarship is $40. A total of $200 has been cleared from the proceeds of the program. The Missionary Volunteer department of the Central States Mission feels that this has been a fine example of the willingness of youth to assist youth. We commend the young people who were the recipients of the scholarship awards this year, and we wish to encourage all our youth to redouble their efforts to share their faith that they all might become living witnesses to the power of God.

Bible House Notes

The special centenary offer of 25% discount on the purchase of the Spirit of prophecy books is entering its last month. This offer expires September 30, 1949. We are sure a number of you have been putting off taking advantage of this saving on the books that you plan to buy, and this notice is to remind you to place your order with your church missionary secretary immediately.

The writings of Ellen C. White provide an inspired commentary on much of the Bible record. They give instruction relating to every field and phase of Christian experience and church work without purporting in any measure to take the place of the Bible. It is not necessary for you to obtain them all at one time, but you should take this opportunity to purchase one or more books so that you can begin to make your acquaintance with the prophetic truths provided for us.

Fussy, The Investment Lamb

Romona and Etsle Maggard, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Maggard of Bradleyville, Missouri, are real investors for Jesus. While Ingathering one day, the children were given a baby lamb only a week old to keep for their very own. Someone told them that when the lamb was grown they could sell him and buy sweaters and shoes for school, but the children said, "The lamb is for Jesus," so they dedicated him to the Lord and called him Fussy.

One day Fussy was almost killed by a big dog, but the children rescued him and prayed that he would not die. After careful nursing for several days, Fussy was soon as well and strong as ever. In fact, he grew to be a big sheep that weighed 90 pounds. There had to be a parting sometime, as Fussy was dedicated to the Lord, and when he was sold Romona and Etsle turned in $18.10 for Sabbath School Investment in the Taneyville church.
