Religious Liberty Sabbath—January 18

R. H. NIGHTINGALE, President, Central Union Conference

The last final conflict between Christ and Satan involves the principles of religious liberty. Sabbath, January 18, you will be given another opportunity to strike a blow in behalf of religious liberty and your rights to worship God as you see fit.

Very grave dangers threaten our liberties and we should be awake to the issues before us. Notice these striking statements which will reveal what can be expected.

"A great crisis awaits the people of God. A crisis awaits the world. The most momentous struggle of all the ages is just before us." --Testimonies, vol. 5, p. 711

The time is not far distant when the test will come to every soul. The observance of the false Sabbath will be urged upon us. The contest will be between the commandments of God and the commandments of men."--Prophets and Kings, p. 188

"To secure popularity and patronage, legislators will yield to the demand for a Sunday law." --Testimonies, vol. 5, p. 451

"Through the two great errors, the immortality of the soul and Sunday sacredness, Satan will bring the people under his deceptions."--SP, vol. 4, p. 405

"When our nation shall so abjure the principles of its government as to enact a Sunday law, Protestantism will in this act join hands with popery; it will be nothing else than giving life to the tyranny which has been eagerly watching its opportunity to spring again into active despotism." --Testimonies, vol. 5, p. 712

"As America, the land of religious liberty shall unite with the papacy in forcing the consciences of men to honor the false Sabbath, the people of every country on the globe will be led to follow her example."--General Conference Bulletin of 1893, p. 16

What should we do in such an hour as this? Every Seventh-day Adventist should first order Liberty magazine and keep abreast of current events in the religious world. Secondly, give a liberal offering so that this magazine can be placed in the hands of influential people in your city and state.

"Let none sit in calm expectation of the evil, comforting themselves with the belief that this work must go on because prophecy has foretold it, and that the Lord will shelter His people. We are not doing the will of God if we sit in quietude, doing nothing to preserve liberty of conscience. Fervent, effectual prayer should be ascending to heaven that this calamity may be deferred until we can accomplish the work which has so long been neglected. Let there be most earnest prayer; and then let us work in harmony with our prayers." --Testimonies, vol. 5, pp. 713, 714

Boulder Memorial Hospital

Spirit of Good Will

The story of Christ's nativity as unfolded in the gospel of Luke the second chapter reveals the divine inclusiveness of God's unspeakable gift. God's method as announced by the angel is: "I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people." (vs. 10).

We wonder if a message has been so fully misread, so grossly misinterpreted, as this one? God says, "all the people." "No," answers man, "that means some of the people—the people belonging to my set, or sect, or nation." God says, "all the people."

A demonstration of this all inclusiveness was revealed by the people of Boulder who have been generous with caroling groups this Christmastime. Early in December various organizations began calling the hospital to schedule a time to sing their Christmas carols in the halls of the hospital and at the Senior Center.

The University Singers were the first to carol on Friday night the 13th, then all through the next few days right up until Christmas they came. The Colorado University Baffons, The First Christian Church, the Newman Club, the Canterbury Club, the Boulder Hi Choral, the Y-Teen Girls, The Boulder Hi French Club, the Mt. St. Gertrude Academy, the Trinity Children's Choir, the Rainbow Girls, the De Molay Boys, the Mary Kay Accordion Studios, the Sacred Heart Girls, and the Boulder Pathfinders.

Arrangements were made with the director of nursing service for the groups to sing at various locations in the hospital. They were escorted through the hospital by one of the nurses or the community relations director.

We believe this has done much to foster a spirit of rapport between the community and the hospital. The spirit of Christ at this season can do for us what it did for the shepherds, they "returned glorifying and praising God."

Religious Liberty Day And Offering, January 18

Liberty is appreciated by people everywhere, but not all have these blessings. Assaults against the principles basic to liberty are being made. The principles governing the separation of church and state must ever be kept clearly in mind if these principles survive.

We must see that this magazine, Liberty, reaches all our legislators, judges, editors of newspapers, public libraries, attorneys. We should reach the clergymen. In order to accomplish this you can readily see there must be an unusually large offering on Sabbath, January 18.

Let us all do our very best and make it a most liberal offering. We must not fail at this time.

Welcome to the Hartmans

Elder and Mrs. B. F. Hartman arrived in Kansas November 28, and assumed their pastoral responsibilities immediately in the Wellington district. Elder Hartman will have charge of the Arkansas City, Winfield, Wellington, Harper and Medicine Lodge churches.

Elder Hartman has spent most of the years of his ministry on the east coast. He obtained his academic education at South Lancaster Academy and from there he went to Atlantic Union College where he graduated in 1935. Previous to his Kansas appointment he has served in the Southern New England Conference and the Northern New England Conference. He comes to Kansas from Utica, New York, where he served as pastor in the church there.

Mrs. Hartman devotes her interest to Sabbath school children's divisions, and has for her hobbies sewing and Dorcas activities.

The Kansas Conference wishes to extend to them a hearty welcome as they proceed with the responsibilities of their new work.

A Faithful Member

One of our older members in the Kansas Conference is Brother J. O. Simpson, who was 82 years old his last birthday. Brother Simpson started when he was 80 years old to give for his birthday offering, $1.00 for each year of his age. "It seemed so small to pay to the Lord just a penny for each year of my life only once a year, and so in gratitude to my heavenly Father I decided instead to give him $1.00 for each year of my life for my birthday offering from now until He comes, or He lays me to rest."

Brother Simpson stated further that he is a charter member of the Troy, Kansas, church, and he remembers when the members, assisted in leadership by Elder Dave Olson, moved the present church building in Troy from the city of Holton, a distance of about 40 miles.

Brother Simpson and his wife reminisced a bit about the beginnings and progress of the Ingathering work. Sister Simpson, who was a former missionary nurse before World War I, said that she received her training at one of our sanitariums in Iowa. It was during that time that she became acquainted with a very enthusiastic and missionary minded individual by the name of Jasper Wayne. She says she can remember his enthusiasm, which was the beginning of the Ingathering work. Brother Simpson says that in northeast Kansas they started the Ingathering work about the same time, and he said, "I have had a part in it almost every year since."

When questioned about the Review and Herald, they told how that during the depression years they seldom saw a minister, and had it not been for the good old Review they might have lost their way. With loving tenderness they expressed their appreciation for the things they had learned that strengthened their faith and souls.

Christian Education in the Colorado Conference

The 77 dedicated teachers of the elementary and intermediate schools of the Colorado Conference of Seventh-day Adventists make up a mighty working force for God. From 8 o'clock in the morning until nearly 5 o'clock in the afternoon, five days a week, these consecrated, Christian workers are giving guidance and direction, teaching skills, and perfecting Christian character in the boys and girls belonging to the homes of our Seventh-day Adventist believers. How grateful Christian parents are for the assistance of these workers in training their boys and girls, not only to meet the needs of today's society, but in preparation for the kingdom to come.

There has been a constant up-grading of teacher qualification in the Colorado Conference until today there is a highly trained, skilled, and efficient teaching staff in the elementary and intermediate schools. Eighteen of this year's teachers are new in the conference.

When the opening school reports from all of the teachers had come in and been tabulated, they showed a final total of 1,266 boys and girls enrolled in grades 1 through 10 in the elementary and intermediate schools of the conference. A breakdown of these enrollments by grade might be of interest, and is as follows:

Grade 1	163	Grade 6	136
2	143	7	149
3	152	8	137
4	134	9	30
5	175	10	47

These 1200 plus young people are in attendance at 27 different church schools scattered throughout the conference, from Farmington, New Mexico, to Sterling, Colorado; from Rocky Ford to Grand Junction.

In addition to the teaching staff and the enrollment of our schools in grades 1 to 10, we now have a second twelve-grade school in the conference. Mile High Academy, formerly Denver Junior Academy, has been organized to handle 12 grades this year for the first time and has approximately 100 young people enrolled in grades 9 to 12. Our regular conference boarding academy at Campion has an approximate enrollment of 320 this current school year. The combined

Ground Breaking at Alamosa

For many years the faithful members of our church in Alamosa, Colorado, have looked forward to a new house of worship. At last it looks like this ambition is going to be realized in a very few months, as Friday, November 22, the first shovel of dirt was turned for the new project. Those participating in this important act of ground breaking were (from left to right, in the accompanying picture:) Elder H. V. Reed, president of the Colorado Conference; Arthur E. Hempel, Jr., pastor of the Alamosa church; Elder Ben J. Liebelt, conference home missionary and Sabbath school secretary; Ivan Glynn, first elder of the Alamosa church; and Clark Brown, building superintendent of Osborn Construction Company of Denver, who is doing the building.

enrollment of the elementary and intermediate schools and the two academies makes nearly 1,700 young people enrolled in the church schools and academies of the conference. "With such an army of workers as our youth, rightly trained, might furnish, how soon the message of a crucified, risen, and soon-coming Saviour might be carried to the whole world!"—Education, page 271.

"Life is not given to us to be spent in idleness or self-pleasing . . . For this reason the training of the young is a matter of highest importance. Every child born into the home is a sacred trust. God says to the parents, 'Take this child, and bring it up for Me, that it may be an honor to My name, and a channel through which My blessings shall flow to the world.' . . . All the faculties of mind and body need to be developed; and this is the work which parents, aided by the teacher, are to do for the children and youth placed under their care."—Special Testimonies on Education, pages 36, 37.

Campion's Seasonal Caroling Was a Thrilling Success

Campion Academy students with teacher and village drivers made scores of personal contacts and raised $2552.17 during two nights of caroling prior to the holiday vacation period.

The $1276 per night average was considered the best yet for the caroling program at Campion. The five or six students plus the driver sang Christmas carols on the doorstep of the homes during which one member of the group gave the solicitation. Over 300 students, teachers, and many village drivers participated in the two big nights. Forty-eight cars left the campus each of the two nights by 6:15 p.m. and traveled as far as north Denver to their fields of labor.

Hundreds of Ingathering leaflets, These Times, and the pamphlet of welfare work in the Colorado Conference were distributed through the area. From this seed sown, may the interested at heart be drawn to their Saviour.

Enthusiastic students, willing, cooperative drivers, and appreciative teachers, all heavily dressed for the cold and snow, came back to the campus telling of interesting contacts, dog bites, cold feet, that ten-dollar bill given, the sick visited, and the joys of actual participation in the work of God.

Students from Campion Academy were thrilled with the Ingathering funds received as the results of the two nights of caroling.

Spirits soared high when the total church and school goal of $2650 was more than reached with a total of $3021.79 or $371.79 over the goal. This included $119.62 raised by the HMS Richards Elementary School for the Campion share and the $350.00 from the business contacts by Mr. Nash and Mr. Bader.

Many, many thanks to Pastor G. A. Gerds, Ira Blackburn and Martin Gerst who helped us in the organization and plans for the caroling program. And thanks to the youth and the adults who so willingly helped in this work of spreading the message of a soon-coming Saviour to the world by personal contacts and by funds raised.

Conference Welcomes New Secretary-Treasurer

Leon F. Sanders, his wife, Doris, and their children, Ronnie and Lu Ann, arrived in Casper December 20. Brother Sanders has been elected secretary-treasurer of the conference and Book and Bible House manager. He comes to us from the White Memorial Hospital where he has been an accountant the past four years. Prior to that he was assistant Book and Bible House manager in the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference.

Brother Sanders is a graduate of Union College with a major in Business Administration. He is the son of Elder F. O. Sanders, president of the Nebraska Conference. Mrs. Sanders also attended Union College. She is the former Doris Browning, daughter of Elder Ralph Browning who served for many years as a pastor in conferences of the Central Union. Having grown up in the environment of denominational work both Brother and Sister Sanders are well acquainted with the church program and administration procedures.

We are pleased that the Sanders have joined us in Wyoming. We are confident

Ingathering

We are nearing the end of our Ingathering for the 1964 goal, and we have raised to date over $32,000. We need only $6,000 to complete the goal. Most of the churches are over, and we are nearing the finishing touches. The General Conference is quite concerned about this campaign. We are running somewhat behind the previous year, and we need to redouble our efforts and our appeal.

We would not want our world leaders to feel we have neglected them in this hour of great need. The world stands at the crossroads. No one can picture what 1964 will bring. To the people of the church of God comes this command, "Let us go forward."

Some will have to go a second mile to help the church reach its goal. We congratulate all members of our victory churches and their pastors for a job well done. We hold out our hands to those who are still working urging them to join us that we may be able to sing the victory song. We are hoping all churches will be over by New Year's eve.

As the year ends, we bow with grateful hearts before God. We thank each of you for your time, talent, effort, and sacrifice to make this campaign succeed.

An Appeal to Give Liberally for "Liberty"— January 18

Religious liberty is priceless, and only when you no longer enjoy it do you realize its worth.

Religious liberty is not something we take for granted. Bold men and martyrs have paid for it with suffering and blood.

Religious liberty is slipping from us now. Some of those who promote Sunday legislation do not themselves understand that they are working against religious liberty, while some others are working in disguise, concealing the real intent of Sunday laws.

Religious liberty is a part of our American heritage that we must keep alive by voices, pen and vote.

Now is the time to give generously for Liberty. Won't you please give liberally for liberty on Sabbath, January 18. Your gifts will put Liberty, a magazine of Religious Freedom, in the hands of lawyers, clergymen, senators, judges, history teachers, newspaper editors, government officials and others of equally important professions. One dollar sends a year's subscription. In Missouri we need $3,000 for religious liberty work. Give freely for freedom—liberally for liberty.

JAMES E. CHASE, President

Saint Joseph District

These are busy times in the northwest part of the state. The churches in this area are busy in the Lord's work. Ingathering, as usual, has been high lighted during the months of November and December. The Darlington church has been using a caroling unit in Stanberry for the first time. The report is that things are working well there. Don't be afraid of new caroling territory.

In Chillicothe there is a Silent Ingathering. It sits on the desk of Susan's Nursing Home which is operated by Mrs. Susan Higgins, S.S. superintendent there. A can with a note attached draws the attention of those coming for a visit at the home. The doctors in that city are busy like doctors everywhere. Since it is difficult to see them in their offices, Mrs. Higgins now solicits them when they come to the home to make calls.

Jim Mead, elder of the Winston church, is taking care of the Ingathering in Gallatin. His faithfulness is well-known throughout the conference.

Saint Joseph members are combining business solicitation with caroling as they strive to reach their goal of $2,600. Delayed in starting as a result of the events surrounding the death of President Kennedy, they are still working toward the goal of being finished before Christmas.

There have been other things going on in addition to Ingathering. Up in the town of Bethany our believers meet each Sabbath afternoon. Several non-Adventists meet with them regularly. Our message is being brought to them by the use of the doctrinal filmstrips.

The folks at Chillicothe teamed up with four men from St. Joseph to cause a real change in the looks of the Chillicothe church. It was an all-day work bee and there was painting inside and out, general cleaning up and some repair work. The ladies there are wonderful cooks, and prepared a lovely dinner for the group.

At Darlington each Sabbath a few minutes are taken to go over one lesson of the Spirit of Prophecy Course. The lessons are studied at home and they have a general discussion of what they have learned.

The Darlington believers are actively working for their neighbors—near and far. Realizing that they would not be able to cover the entire area rapidly they sought for a plan whereby each home could be reached by our message. They agreed with the 20th Century Bible School to send in "telephone book" names as prospective enrollees and to pay five cents for each name. Names are being sent in according to money saved for this project. The first lesson is sent out. If the lesson is returned the school then considers them as being enrolled.

Those having relatives and loved ones living in the St. Joseph area are asked to begin now sending names and addresses of individuals that you would like to have invited to attend the airatorium meetings next spring which are to be held in St. Joseph by Elder C. L. White. Further announcement will be made of this at a later date. Names may be sent to the writer's home, 2616 Belle St., St. Joseph, Missouri, 64503. Be sure to give all information possible.

The church school children presented a fine Christmas program on the afternoon of Sunday, December 15, at the St. Joseph school. Parents and families of the children who attend the school were treated to a fine dinner. Each one attending was given a present which was made by one of the school children.

All of the churches and companies in the St. Joseph district, large or small, invite you to worship with them if you should happen to be in their area at any time.

Sunnydale Presents Christmas Program

On Thursday night, December 19, the students, their parents and friends from the Sunnydale area were treated to one of the finest Christmas programs I have ever witnessed. From beginning to end, it was a splendid production, featuring the Sunnydale choir and special musical groups under the direction of Professor Robert Bockmann. The narration of the Christmas story was beautifully done by the miracle of tape recording featuring Elder Orville Iversen of the General Conference Radio-TV Department.

The stage props were appropriate to the occasion.

Audience reaction was one of deep appreciation not only for the program and the manner in which it was presented, but for the deep spiritual message conveyed.

We are thankful for the dedicated work of Professor Bockmann and those who worked with him in the preparation and production of this splendid program.

Baptism at Milan

Sabbath, December 21, was a very happy day in Milan when three lovely ladies joined the remnant church by baptism. Elder James E. Chase, Missouri Conference president, conducted the baptism in the Milan Christian Church. The baptism followed the regular Sabbath school and church services conducted in our own church.

The ladies baptized were Ruby Lynn Dickerson, Mary Pigg, and Mrs. Melvin Dickerson.

"By Faith Alone" Recommended for Reading

Is the term Justification By Faith just a group of words to you? Can you explain the necessity for the keeping of the Sabbath, in the light of the knowledge that we are saved by Faith alone, and that works can save no man? If these problems bother you, you are actually no different from many of the early (and not so early) leaders in this denomination.

You have no doubt heard of the 1888 session of the General Conference in Minneapolis in which this topic began to receive a new emphasis. You may have even heard from some supposedly informed source that at that time the entire denominational leadership took an adverse stand on the subject of justification and righteousness by faith. Of course, you want the straight facts on the entire subject, and it is now possible for you to get just that from a man who has made an extensive study of the subject.

Elder Norval F. Pease, head of the department of Applied Theology at Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Michigan, has written a book which he has entitled By Faith Alone. He attacks the problem theologically, historically, and denominationally. He gives a perfectly frank analysis of the 1888 Conference, its problems, circumstances and attitudes toward the subject at hand. He pulls no punches. He points out mistakes along with other attitudes. If you want the unvarnished facts, buy and read this book. I have read it and heartily recommend it to you. It has just come out in a paper backed edition which you can secure for only $1.50 plus 15 cents postage from your Book and Bible House.

Special Ingathering

To help reach the Ingathering goal for the College View church, future minute men from the first and second grades of Helen Hyatt School got a little practice on Sabbath, December 14.

Dressed in red capes and caps, the children took up a special offering at both church services which amounted to $214.93.

Their supervisors were their principal, Gerry Thompson, and their teachers, Mrs. Marie Rowland, Mrs. Vada Leonhardt and Mrs. Lois Sherman, with some help from the school secretary, Mrs. Tam Dutcher.

MRS. PATSY MURDOCH,
Church PR Secretary

Investment at Piedmont Park

Then there is the Melvin Dickerson family. Mrs. Dickerson and the children saved pennies from their doughnut route while Mr. Dickerson accumulated coins worth more than their face value. "In addition to other money, I had two dimes turn up recently—one was worth about $3.00, and the other between $13 and $14," he explained. Happenstance? You decide.

Even Edward Breashears found he had unusual cooperation when he decided to give an amount each week for every girl in his junior class who knew her memory verse. Previously lagging memories had a way of improving under the proper stimulus!

Of course, there were many others. Dr. C. L. Norman and family were Investment minded too. In addition to his project of giving $1 for each normal, healthy baby delivered during the year, the Norman children had a unique project of their own. "I earned 50¢ a week for being good in Sabbath school," was little Danny Joe's report as he was held up to the microphone on Sabbath morning. Gigi, Jimmy, and Raymond also earned their Investment money in this way which accounted for the $15-$24 turned in by each child of the Norman family.

And then there was Roger Baker whose peony sales looked doomed for the year because of the early warm weather. But the Lord took a hand again, and with a few cool days, peony blooms were held off until just the right time. Memorial Day sales zoomed high!

Elder Perry Green admitted he had to do some thinking to come up with an Investment project. Finally deciding to use the conference allowance for meals when he was away from home as his project, he became rather adept at the culinary arts as he made his own cheese sandwiches. Furthermore, these, accompanied by a bright red apple or two, completely eliminated his having to be on guard lest he become the victim of "today's special"—lard-fried potatoes.

Gunther Paulien related that the money he earned from taking riders to and from the University was "twice as much as last year when the money was not used for Investment." Mrs. Ralph Peterson had a similar project and was happily surprised with a $25 check from one party for rides during the first semester of school. Though she admits to being overpaid, she happily set aside the token as just one more indication of the Lord's ability to bless.

Other projects included Don Brodie's one cent for each cubic yard of concrete laid and his wife's pennies accumulated after shopping, Edith Breashears' home-baked cookies, sewing, and grocery coupons, Lillian Schroeder's donation of the amount she would have had to pay for riding the bus to and from church if friends had not picked her up, Mrs. Dave Schwartz' donation of Sabbath pay at Homestead nursing home and Mr. Schwartz' acre crop donated to the Lord. Then there was Mrs. Leland Schwab who set hair at Homestead for her Investment fund. Another hair-setting project was Mrs. Don Dishman's regular Friday job, while Mr. Dishman saved hair-cutting expense for his two boys by doing the job himself. Mrs. W. T. Jones sold stories to Our Little Friend or Primary Treasure while the Howard Baker household got a "commission" on dad's overtime pay.
