Korean Vacation Bible Schools Develop New Churches

In a letter recently received from Mrs. C. A. Williams, Child Evangelism Director of the Korean Union Mission, she writes:

"It is hard to credit any one baptism to any one interest or personal contact. We have many individuals that we know have had their first contact with the Advent Message through Vacation Bible Schools and Branch Sabbath Schools.

"However, we do know that in Korea in recent years we have had a very rapid expansion in Sabbath school work which has come about mainly through Vacation Bible School evangelism. Many of these areas where we have Sabbath schools and even churches today, have had their start through a Vacation Bible School. This method of labor has been used by our laymen and ministers to enter new territory where we had no churches before.

"When territory is entered by means of Vacation Bible School evangelism, it is quite easy to get a large number of children together. It is a most natural thing then to reach the parents through the children. This is accomplished mostly by visiting in the homes of the children in the afternoon and inviting the parents to a meeting especially for mothers and fathers to be held in the evening.

"After the Vacation Bible School has been completed and the graduation exercises are over, a Branch Sabbath School is organized. We do not announce any closing of the Vacation Bible School but announce that hereafter we will meet once a week rather than every day. Soon the numbers are sufficiently large as to provide strong leadership to organize a company. Shortly after this land is acquired and a request is made to the mission to build a church. The people themselves contribute most of the labor and materials for the church building. By this time a large number have already been baptized and more have been brought in. After the church building is completed, an evangelistic meeting is held and more souls are brought in. The church by now will have had two or more Branch Sabbath Schools operating, which were started through Vacation Bible School evangelism, and the first thing we know we have a strong interest throughout the entire district spread over a number of villages.

"This church then becomes a mother church sending out teams of young people and workers into still other areas. They report back to the mother church, telling stories and thrilling experiences they have had working for the Lord, and how He has blessed them. Others in the church hear these experiences and want to receive these blessings, so it is not long before other companies are started, and they in turn grow into churches all over the land.

"In one area, not far from Taejon, Korea, we have nine churches all within a distance of 13 miles. All of these, with the exception of the mother church, were started directly or indirectly through the activities of Vacation Bible Schools. Among these there are approximately 800 baptized believers. This is one example of many areas in Korea today where we have many churches quite close together which have been raised up largely through the efforts of young people holding Vacation Bible Schools.

"We will never know until we reach the kingdom the full story of the many thousands that have received their first impressions of truth through listening and watching the story of salvation demonstrated on a flannel-board by devoted church members in a Vacation Bible School."

Indeed, Vacation Bible Schools are an effective type of evangelism. Is your church making full use of this wonderful means for evangelistic outreach?

Book and Bible House

Managers Meet

The ten Book and Bible House managers of the Central and Northern unions met at the Pacific Press in Omaha, Nebraska on April 12 and 13. The purpose of the gathering was to coordinate the promotion and advertising program so that every church member might be informed of new books coming from our publishing houses, and to make available special offers throughout the area.

Elder W. L. Crofton, Publishing Secretary of the Northern Union, Elder J. F. Kent, Publishing Secretary of the Central Union, and W. P. Turpel, Pacific Press Branch manager, directed the discussion. Special guests included W. R. Wollard, Pacific Press, H. J. Forquer, Review and Herald, and C. L. Paddock, Jr., Southern Publishing Association. These men gave a preview of the good things coming from our denominational presses throughout 1964.

Special materials have been prepared to send to each subscriber to the union paper. For those who can visit the Book and Bible House only once or twice a year, we are attempting to bring the services of the Book and Bible House to your doorstep.

The key words of the gathering were "service" and "circulation." More efficient service to you, and a greater circulation of our beautiful books and magazines. We welcome your comments and suggestions on how this program might operate with greater efficiency, for "without books the richest man is poor, and with them the poorest may be made rich."

Porter Memorial HOSPITAL

Mrs. Doss Enrolls In Practical Nursing Course

Mr. and Mrs. Desmond T. Doss have moved to Denver where she is enrolled in the practical nursing program at Porter.

Mr. Doss has been an inspiration to those of our Seventh-day Adventist youth who have served their country faithfully during the war years and also to those who may answer the call in future years. Now on pension, for 100% disability, he can not work. He keeps active as a volunteer in civil defense and is continually looking for opportunities to serve his fellow man in some capacity.

Mr. Doss received the Congressional Medal from President Truman for his valor in saving 75 men from the cliff of Okinawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Doss have one son, Desmond, Jr., now at Fletcher Academy in North Carolina.

Mrs. Doss joins a class of 17 freshmen, the fourth class in the program that started in September of 1961 and has since graduated 34 students.

Mrs. Hazel Rice and her staff are developing an outstanding program, and those interested in that area of medical service should write for an application. The next class begins in September.

Union College

Items of Interest Building Campaign

"Project 75," a $150,000 fund raising campaign for Union College's $3 million expansion program, was jointly launched recently by Earl Luff, president of Lincoln Steel, and Union College president, D. J. Bieber.

Mr. Luff, general chairman of the campaign, is co-ordinating the 12 division leaders who will make the contacts with Lincoln businessmen in the next few weeks. "This is the first time Union College has ever approached Lincoln with a full-fledged fund raising campaign," emphasized Mr. Luff at the time of the announcement. "They deserve our help."

"Project 75," commemorating the seventy-fifth anniversary of Union College in Lincoln, is the latest step in the renovation of the Union College facilities. At the end of the 10-year-program, Union will accommodate 1600 students—a 60% increase, according to President Bieber.

The entire 10-year-plan now in its second year will feature the replacement of the 73-year-old administration building with a new campus center including classrooms, administrative offices, a library triple the present size, an auditorium, and student activity facilities.

Additional housing is now being constructed and the secondary teacher educational unit will enter its final construction phase this month.

A science hall addition doubling the present facilities is now on the drawing boards, and construction is scheduled to begin in the near future.

Of the $3 million total improvement expenditure, $2 million will be a special donation of the churches served by the Seventh-day Adventist institution. The remaining $1 million will be gifts from alumni and board members, faculty and students, foundations, friends of the college, and Lincoln businessmen.

The course stresses emergency care, radiation safety, hygiene and sanitation to prevent epidemics, care of infants and small children, and the care of a mother and baby in childbirth.

At the completion of the course 62 people were awarded certificates by the Civil Defense Organization. About half of these were members of various SDA Churches in the Denver area; the others were not of our faith.

Central States Camp Meeting

The camp meeting dates for the Central States Conference are June 11-20, at Camp Shady Hill.

You will be interested to know that we are securing some excellent help this year. From the General Conference, we will have L. B. Reynolds, associate secretary of the Sabbath School department; F. L. Bland, associate secretary of the Regional department; W. M. Adams, associate secretary of Public Affairs and Religious Liberty; and E. R. Walde, secretary of the Radio and Television department. For our evangelistic preaching, which will be every night except Saturday, we are most fortunate in having C. D. Brooks, outstanding evangelist of the Columbia Union Conference.

At Camp Shady Hill, many splendid improvements are being made for your comfort: A new road has been built; the lake at the entrance has been extended; the swimming pool has been put in first-class shape; an area with playground equipment has been provided for the tiny tots; a large deep freeze has been secured for our dining room; and an incinerator has been built to take care of refuse. These are just a few of the improvements. When you see the camp, you will be surprised!

Begin now making your plans to spend the entire time. Application blanks will soon be available through your church.

Denver Park Hill MV Week of Prayer

The senior and junior MV Societies held their Week of Prayer from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the youth room under the leadership of Mattie Sue White, the MV leader. The Week of Prayer was very well attended. Pastor Richard E. Barron of the Pueblo, Colorado, district gave us the opening sermon. It was very challenging. Sister Barron held the attention of even the tiny tots with her songs of appreciation of what God can do for you. Our pastor, Elder J. R. Wagner, continued to preach throughout the week to the older youth and church members. We are sure that the Spirit of God was present in our meetings and all who attended were greatly blessed. As a result, Elder Wagner baptized four souls on Sabbath, March 21.

Pledge Paid After 26 Years

In the mail received at the conference office on Monday, April 13, was a check for $10.00, and a letter which said in part:

"Gentlemen:

Enclosed find a letter to me of February 22, 1938, about a pledge I had made and was not paid. I remember the pledge, but I was unable to pay it as I was not employed for a long time after that, so I laid the letter aside, hoping some day I could pay it. Now that I can, I am enclosing a money order for $10.00. Many thanks for your long patience with me."

Surely, our dear sister who sent in this $10.00 payment recognized the need of heeding the Bible admonition, "Pay thou thy vows." Could it be that there are others who made pledges, but were unable to pay them at the time and are now in a position to pay these pledges? Possibly the pledge was for Enterprise Academy or Conference Evangelism. If you have such a pledge, why not pay now and receive the blessing which God has promised?

Sabbath School Exchange

A Sabbath school exchange was conducted at Wichita on March 31 at the Welfare Center, for division leaders, Sabbath school officers and teachers. The division leaders presented visual aid equipment that had been prepared to use with the present quarter's lessons. Elder E. E. Hagen, Sabbath school secretary for the Central Union Conference, presented a talk on the importance of saving our children and youth through the Sabbath school. He also displayed flannelgraph and other object materials. Pictured are Mrs. Irene Cortez, primary division leader of the Wichita church discussing with Elder Hagen one of the flannelgraph displays.

Laymen's Congress Offering, May 2

Delegates and other members of the Kansas Conference will have opportunity to attend a five-day union-wide United Evangelism Congress on August 11 through 15 in Kansas City. Inspirational messages, soul-winning workshops, tried and proven evangelistic displays, and experience reports will be presented to inspire our laymen and church officers to a greater soul-winning activity in the days to come.

Many hours of planning and work have already been given to this important project and many hours will still be devoted to making it a profitable event.

That Kansas may meet its fair share of the congress expenditures, a special offering is being taken on May 2. We trust that our good people will give generously to this worthy project. Blessings from this congress may be realized as precious souls are won for the kingdom of God.

Have You Ordered Your "Signs"?

The 1964 Signs Campaign is off to a good start. It was 90 years ago that the first Signs of the Times came off the press.

We will never know, in this world, the persons who have learned of the Surely, you will want to take as many subscriptions this year as in former years. Yes, why not increase the subscription list? The price is only $2.25. Make an investment in this important phase of soul winning.

Five-Day Plan In Cheyenne

From April 12-16 the Five-day Plan was held in the Service Room of the American National Bank in Cheyenne.

The ground work for this project was laid by Pastor L. O. Barnes, Elder O. L. McLean from the Casper office and Dr. C. O. Hilliard directed the program. Dr. Hilliard drove up each night from Ft. Collins, Colorado, to assist in this program.

The enthusiasm shown by the individuals participating was very encouraging. A large per cent of those in attendance were able to gain victory over the habit. We were thankful we had a part in their ability to "shake" the habit.

The coverage by local news media was very complete. All local radio stations and the television station covered the program. A total of 81 column inches was placed in our local newspapers.

We are encouraged by the results of the program, and wish to thank those who helped in making it a success.

Sixty-four in '64

Encouraging reports are coming in from meetings which are now being held in the conference and baptisms are expected as the result. Elder F. O. Sanders has "filled in" for Pastor R. W. Christensen in his Sunday night studies of the book of Revelation in the McCook church while Brother Christensen has been assisting Elders C. R. French and W. J. Neptune in their Chadron meeting. Other meetings are planned for the immediate future.

Efforts Numbers 26 and 27: Pastor Paul Nystrom plans a Bible marking class in Pender and another in Laurel. These classes will operate concurrently. We hope they will develop into a real interest.

Effort Number 28: Elder D. R. Castonia reports that they are planning to join the laymen in Gering who have been conducting a story hour. The story hour will be continued but a series of night evangelistic meetings are planned to follow up interests. This is real cooperation of laymen and the minister.

Remember these meetings in your daily prayers.

Add A Little Oil

When you purchase a machine or an appliance you usually get it from a reliable store because you expect to get a service check now and then to see if your machine is functioning properly. Or, you may just wish to have the serviceman call and see that it is greased properly so it will operate more easily and last longer.

We do not want you to feel that you made a mistake a few months ago when you installed that new dish washing device to help make your dish washing job easier. We are sure you got this device from a good store. This is the reason why we are making a service call at this time to give you a few suggestions so you will get the maximum benefit out of your new dish washing device.

The deacons of the College View church sponsored a Deacons' Picnic for the deacons, deaconesses, elders, and their families Sunday, April 19 in the college auditorium.

Before the potluck supper, volleyball, table tennis, shuffleboard, and relay races were played.

Church School Observes MV Week

The Kansas City Intermediate School, along with other schools in the Missouri Conference, observed the annual MV Week of Prayer. The Kansas City school made it a bit different this year and perhaps even more inspiring. The accompanying pictures and testimonies tell the story.

The following testimonies were taped and transcribed later, indicating profitable and satisfying results.

"This Week of Prayer has meant a lot to me. It has helped me to realize the great sacrifice Jesus made for me, and the choices I will have to make for myself."—Geneth Wolfer.

"This Week of Prayer means a lot to me because the spiritual messages were given by young people just like ourselves . . ."—Don Chase.

"The way our Week of Prayer came out was almost perfect. I like to hear the students' own experiences with the Lord . . ."—Patricia Endsley.

Top to Bottom: All four of the speakers shown are in the 10th grade. They are (left to right) Linda Long, Lynn Liebelt, Connie Saunders, and Cathy Saunders. One of the typical prayer bands from the upper grades uniting their voices in prayer. Tim Hickman, also a 10th grader, concluded the MV Week with his appeal to each student.

"This week has done so much for me. I wish we could do it all over again. I really liked the prayer bands a lot . . ."—Gail Tilley.

"This Week of Prayer has meant a lot to me, and I think it has given us all a spiritual blessing . . . I think every week should be a Week of Prayer."—Mark Hagensicker.

"I think this has been the best Week of Prayer we have ever had . . . I think it draws more people to the Lord when young people speak."—Robert Lund.

"I have really enjoyed this Week of Prayer."

What thrilling testimonies! These constitute another commentary on the effective usefulness of Christian Education in the lives of growing boys and girls.

If you have a new name to suggest.

please list it also. Should a new name be selected, the one submitting it will be awarded a camp certificate entitling him to one week camping during our regular summer camping program. In the event the holder of the certificate cannot use it, he may pass it on to a friend or relative.

No matter where it is, there is no news that is more welcome to one who loves the message proclaimed by the Seventh-day Adventist Church than the report of others beginning to be thrilled by this same message. We are happy to share with the readers of our union paper some of the things that make us happy in this district.

From Lebanon, comes this thrilling statement. A man and his wife have been studying our Bible Correspondence Course, second hand. They attended some of the meetings held there recently by Elder C. L. White. Two Sabbaths ago they attended services. The subject was a review of the work of grace in the human heart. After the service, as they were leaving the church, both of them took my hand, as he said, "We are getting old, and we do not have much, but we surely want to do everything we can to help this church. We are so glad to know you believe these things." They are not members of the church yet, but with such an attitude, it cannot be long before they will be.

The Waynesville church is located near Fort Leonard Wood, and consequently, it is the church where our members connected with the armed forces there attend. For several Sabbaths now, a sergeant major has accompanied his wife to the Sabbath services. Talking with him recently, after the services, he said, "I am beginning to feel that I want to know more about this church, for I have about decided that I ought to become a member." I promptly enrolled him in the Bible Correspondence Course and made plans to study with him. His wife has been a member since childhood, they have been married some 20 years, and now he decides to investigate her church. The Spirit of God is working.

The Rolla church has always been known to be helpful. Although their number is not large, they have operated a strong welfare work for some time. Some months ago two of the members decided to help a neighboring church that really needed help. Their work has been rewarded by seeing a good number studying the truth regularly. The latest report is that they have 16 new ones studying this message. A branch Sabbath school has been started at Newburg, with attendance from 15 to 20. A Friday night lay effort is being held in the church, besides other Bible studies. Help us with your prayers. There is so much to do.

Colorado Me?

Who, me?

Pray all night just for the success of an evangelistic effort I would have shunned a year ago?

Go door to door to invite strangers to come to the meetings?

Attend the Bible crusade meetings every night for three weeks myself?

Choke up as new-born Christians answer calls to come forward?

And take the hand of a loved one to help her affirm her decision for Christ? Who me?

Yes!

And it may surprise you to find yourself doing these things, too, when the Bible team of Harold M. Williams and Dick Martin comes to town, especially you folk over there on the Western Slope, where the crusade Air Dome will be set up for the next effort, in Grand Junction, from May 3 to May 24.

Thirty-three new members were added to the church roll after the Colorado Springs effort just completed, and there were two repeat baptisms. Two persons joined the church on profession of faith and 31 were baptized into the remnant.

The 19-day series proved to be a "reaping meeting," to use the words of Pastor Williams. Some who have considered the Seventh-day Adventist message for some time, and others for whom it was new, were helped to respond to the Holy Spirit.

The crusade also produced a reservoir of names of potential church members with whom home mission work will continue long after the crusade is gone.

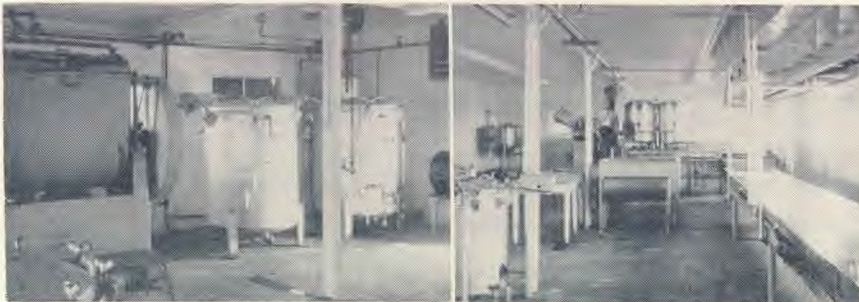

But the most important result of the crusade is the renewal of spirit among the congregation of the church.

It starts with the first appeals from Pastors Williams and Martin, as they send word forth to the church of their pending visit.

Once in town the evangelists become models of tireless energy and dedication. Their plan of action quickly involves all of the congregation.

There are pamphlets to be distributed door to door.

Committees are formed to carry out every conceivable assignment and task during the crusade.

Announcing A New Sunnydale Academy Foods

In January it was found necessary to halt production at the SUNNYDALE ACADEMY FOODS factory in Centralia, Missouri, for some checking on safety features and other needed improvements in our plant. After considerable study by Board of Management, it was voted that the plant be completely remodeled with emphasis on better means of production.

We are happy to announce that the NEW SUNNYDALE ACADEMY FOODS plant was re-opened on March 24, 1964. We now have a fine modern plant for the production of Chic-Ketts, Cho-Pats, and other foods. It is our desire to do all we can to supply adequate meat-substitutes for these folk interested in these products.

If you are ever near Sunnydale, we invite you to stop in and tour this new plant and see the students making these products as they earn their way through this Christian academy.

K. M. WISEMAN, Principal

NOTE: We are offering a 10 PER CENT DISCOUNT on all Sunnydale Academy Foods until May 15. Buy or order through your regular supplier.

Elder H. M. Williams, Conference evangelist will soon be in Grand Junction with his evangelistic group.

An all-night prayer meeting is scheduled, with volunteers signing up to take three-hour shifts through the night, from 9 p.m. until 6 a.m. the next day. Our all-night prayer service found more people attending than signed up for each of the sections. Sermons by the evangelists built up so much enthusiasm for the all-night service that I personally found myself sleepless and prayerful before and after the 12 to 3 shift which I attended.

By the time the crusade meetings start one wonders why the pastors, as well as some of the workers, have not already run down.

Instead there is a new burst of energy and spirit.

Workers take over their duties like regulars on the team.

Each Bible meeting has its theme, developed early in the song service, in which Dick Martin, as song leader and dramatic tenor soloist, and his wife, Nita, organist and lyric soprano, play an important role.

You will find yourself humming the theme song, "Turn Your Eyes Upon Jesus" or some other tune, during the day.

As Pastor Williams comes forth with his message each night, there is a selected prayer band of church members in the wings backstage constantly calling in silence for the presence of the Holy Spirit.

These are "open Bible" meetings. A free Bible is given to each family for marking scriptures singled out by Pastor Williams. The Bible may be taken home after the family has come to a specified number of meetings.

Attractive books are awarded to individuals attending five meetings in any one week. On a half dozen nights through the series large color lithograph copies of famous paintings suitable for framing are given to each family attending.

In Colorado Springs two special Bibles, one valued at more than $30, were awarded to the two persons who brought the largest number of guests to the meetings.

But the real rewards were a new insight into Bible teachings, new inspiration and strength in our message, and the unequalled joy of seeing new members take their place in the church.

Boulder Choirmen

You have read and heard about this group before. Now they are into one of their most thrilling projects yet. For many years these dedicated laymen have been singing the message with great effectiveness not only in their home church but in public efforts and on radio.

Several of these soul-winning efforts have been put on by the Gospel Choirmen themselves. They did the singing, the speaking, and the paving of the bills. These men have dared to enter new territory more than once, such as their meeting at Nederland and at Lyons—but now it seems they are into their biggest challenge yet in this Lafayette Crusade.

In this town an empty Catholic church building came up for sale at such a low price it was hard to overlook. The Choirmen had hoped to conduct some meetings there, so they counseled with their former pastor, Elder L. J. Ehrhardt, and together they presented the challenge to the Boulder church body one Sabbath morning. They asked the members to make pledges if they felt the church should be purchased, thus casting their vote of approval. If enough money was pledged, the decision to purchase would be obvious.

Well, the money was pledged, and assistance is coming also from other sources who admire such courage and faith on the part of these laymen. The meetings are already in progress in a completely renovated and freshly painted building now called "The Gospel Choirmen Chapel."

Recently Elder H. V. Reed, our conference president, and I were privileged to walk in on a large group of these men as they were working on their redecorating project just before the meetings. It was inspiring to catch their spirit of enthusiasm and dedication. One certainly was impressed that this group "meant business" in this soul-winning project. There are already some interests in Lafayette due to Bible studies conducted by laymen. We solicit the prayers of all readers that many will come and be attracted to the truth and eventually won to the full truth. It is no secret that with the Lord's help it is hoped the name of the building will some day be changed to "The Seventh-day Adventist Church of Lafayette." Hence another light will be established in a new area.

The entire Boulder church is behind its "Choirmen" with heartfelt support. The conference salutes such exemplary soul-winning activity and we trust it will also inspire others to go and do likewise.
