The Microphone Message

By W. P. BRADLEY

THE red light flashes on, the technician points his finger at the singers as he throws a switch, and in the adjoining studio the radio program goes on the air. Sweet songs take their flight; the prayer ascends; and finally the voice of the speaker is lifted to bring the message of that fleeting quarter- or half-hour. Before him stands the microphone,—cold, silent, metallic; and at hand are his pages of carefully prepared and revised manuscript.

Many thoughts pass through the mind of the speaker as he begins his talk. How many are listening, and what will be the reactions of that unseen audience? Will they condemn or approve; will they accept or reject the message of life he has come to deliver? With a silent prayer for divine guidance and for the presence of the Holy Spirit to be with each listener, the evangelist gives his whole heart and mind and voice to the task at hand. And his winged words, carried on the harnessed lightnings to the homes and villages within the range of his station, come to each listener bearing a most serious message to that individual soul.

How effective is that microphone message which has come from so great a distance, which gives no clue to the speaker's personal appearance, which is, after all, only a voice? Hundreds of responses tell how the message has come home to hearts, reviving hope, pointing out sin, leading them to the loving Saviour. Said one radio listener: "I feel like a well watered plant after each message I listen to from you each Lord's Day."

The microphone message speaks with convincing, arresting power. The radio sermon found one man sitting in his car, and as the message concluded, he said, "That is the sermon I always wanted to hear." Then he fell upon his knees and offered a silent prayer. In another place it entered a home where the father and head of the family had denounced God and everything pure and holy. The reception that night was poor, but he was so attracted by the words that he sat on the floor to catch it all. As the message progressed, his heart began to melt, and he listened with bowed head.

Far away in another state was a little cottage high in the mountains where sat a lonely widow. Here the listener bowed her head on the table and wept, and rededicated her heart to God as the persuasive voice of the speaker made the personal appeal to his unseen audience. In the eastern states the national broadcast found a former

Sabbath keeper, temporarily discouraged, who knelt and prayed for strength to go on to the end, as the broadcast came to a close.

Again and again backsliding Christians have been led to begin the Christian life anew under the influence of the Holy Spirit and the radio message. Picture a group of eight adults and five children gathered to enjoy the radio service. After the service was over one lady who had confessed to her carelessness said, "I feel very much under conviction. I have got back to the stage of trying to pray for forgiveness for these past few years of sinning."

In these few experiences we have a glimpse of the way in which the radio can be so effective as a soul-winning, evangelizing agency. No wonder so many of our people are writing and saying, "The Voice of Prophecy just must stay on the air."

Is Your Church a "Beacon"?

By J. R. FERREN

Secretary, General Conference Bureau of Publicity

A YOUNG woman corporal stationed at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia wrote a very interesting letter to friends in Nashville, Tennessee. On that particular Sabbath morning she had been to church in a large city, and had enjoyed a sermon by Elder W. A. Scharffenberg of the General Conference. She was well, of good courage, and was writing for some books, a Sabbath School Quarterly, and a Morning Watch calendar.

There is an appeal in this Adventist girl's letter which is so much like others frequently coming to us that we want to share it with pastors and leaders of our churches. "There is one other thing you might tell somebody," she says. "That is, that our churches located near army posts should have the address of the church and the name of the pastor in some public place where our people in the service can find it easily. I located them here in _____ through a funeral home. That method never fails."

You may have had the experience of looking for a Seventh-day Adventist church. It wouldn't occur to most of us, however, to call up a funeral home. One lady did tell me that in her desperation to locate an Adventist church in one large city, she finally called the Catholic priest, and without hesitation he gave her the street and number.

In these days of travel and shifting of our own members, and others interested, we should take to heart the importance of using every available means to let people know how to find our churches. Keeping your church notice regularly in the newspaper is one of the best ways. Though the paper comes out on Saturday, this notice advertises for the next week, and keeps before the people the fact that there is a Seventh-day Adventist church, and when services are held. Where hotel directories are provided, our church leaders should see that the Seventh-day Adventist church is included. This also would be true with city directories. Other means may be found as we give thought to it, and consider seriously the need of being properly listed where the public can find us. And with all, a proper sign on your building will silently witness, guide, and inform many who would otherwise pass the church without a thought of what it represents.

However good the undertaker may be in "keeping track" of us, we shouldn't depend upon him alone to tell the stranger in town where to find the Seventh-day Adventist church.

A Day With Our New Jersey Radio Broadcasters

AFTER a Sabbath day in Brother W. G. Gibson's district, we arose Sunday morning, August 29, in Vineland to listen to our various Seventh-day Adventist broadcasts in New Jersey.

At 9:15 A.M. we first tuned to Brother Hollis Wolcott's voice coming from Station WFGP in Atlantic City, speaking on "The Unpardonable Sin." This broadcast was heard throughout Atlantic City, New Jersey, shore areas, and the bordering states of Delaware and Maryland, as it is so heard every Sunday morning.

At 9:30 A.M. we tuned in to Trenton, Station WTTM, and heard Brother C. R. French, substituting for Elder R. K. Krick, who was on vacation, speaking on "Jonah and the Whale." This broadcast is heard throughout our state capital and central New Jersey.

Brother W. G. Gibson's half-hour message of sermon and song, broadcasted throughout south Jersey on Station WSNJ in Bridgeton, was next clearly heard as he spoke on "The Future Foretold."

Our Greater New York-New Jersey broadcast, coming from the giant 50,000-watt station in New York City, WHN, was heard distinctly in this southern Jersey city of Vineland.

Later the same day the message was sent out over the ether waves from our Camden, New Jersey station, WCAM, where Brother Vernon Rees broadcasted at 11:15 A.M. on the "Signs of Christ's Return."

At 2:15 Elder A. E. Holst broadcasted on WPAT in Paterson, in north Jersey, and the Voice of Prophecy at 7:00 P.M. on stations in both New York City and Philadelphia, which cover all of New Jersey.

Every week these brethren are proclaiming the Bible message over the air. Thus, through radio, one of the latest and greatest of God's gifts for the advancement of the gospel, the millions in this state conference of New Jersey are having ample opportunity to hear God's last saving message for this world.

Connected with these radio broadcasts are our free Bible Correspondence Schools—our main one in the New Jersey Conference office now having enrolled over 2,000 individuals. Through the united and continued prayers, labors, and gifts of all we confidently look for fruitful soul-winning results from these wide-spread, soul-winning endeavors.

Newark Tent Effort

A TENT effort was started in Newark, New Jersey July 4 and continued for eight weeks. The attendance was good from the beginning and grew larger each week, so that the closing night was largest of all. Sabbath afternoon, August 28, will long be remembered by 22 people who were baptized and brought into the church. A second baptismal service will be held on September 18, at which time a number of others will take this important step.

The Conference was very considerate in providing help for the conduction of these meetings. Brother E. I. Watson served as associate evangelist and Brother Edgar Mimms was tentmaster and associate evangelist, as well as leader of the good music, which was a real attraction. Miss Elvira Mason did fine work as Bible instructor, while Miss Elizabeth Montfort played the piano. A sweet spirit of harmony was exhibited by these workers as well as by the church members of the whole district.

These meetings are now being continued in the church each Saturday night, and a good interest prevails. The Bible instructor is conducting many classes in the homes of those who gave their names for studies. We look forward to a number of favorable decisions from these classes.

It is our desire that God shall have all the glory for the success of this effort. The prayers of the readers of this paper are solicited for the work in this area.

Our Boys in the Service

It is with some feeling that we list herewith the reported names of members and near-members of our New Jersey Churches, who are now serving with the armed forces of Uncle Sam.

It would be quite difficult to maintain accuracy and infallibility in a compilation of a list of names such as is listed on this page, and we plead for your charitableness if any error or omission is noted. This list gives, in a limited way, a picture of what our New Jersey churches have contributed to the service of our country in the way of manpower through the medium of sons, brothers, sweethearts, husbands, fathers, and even a few of the ladies.

Is your son, brother, or sweetheart listed here? Have you written to him recently? In no way can you do more good for these young men than by keeping in touch with them through your interesting, "home-newsy," letters. It doesn't have to be your relative. A letter from home to these boys means more than any-

Tent Efforts in Ohio

THREE tents have been pitched in the field this summer for holding efforts in the following places: Cincinnati, Cleveland, and Lancaster.

Elder B. P. Gernet, assisted by Brother E. J. McMurphy and Brother Charles Dornburg, is conducting the Lancaster effort. Elder Gernet has reported a splendid interest from the very beginning. An appeal was made after the presentation of the Sabbath and 100 stood acknowledging their belief in the seventh-day Sabbath. Of course, it is too early to determine how many will accept the message and join the baptismal class. The inspiring meetings have brought great courage to our little company of believers in Lancaster, and we are hoping to organize a church there after the effort is "bound off."

Elder F. C. Phipps also reports a fine interest in Cincinnati. Because of the fact that so many are working in defense projects, he has had some problems in getting an attendance as large as he had hoped for. Some of those in attendance had to go from the meetings direct to their work. With this handicap and many others, the interest has been very good, and Elder Phipps believes the effort will prove a real success by adding a goodly number of new members to the Cincinnati Number Two Church.

Elder J. H. Laurence since coming into the Conference has been conducting an almost continuous program of evangelism in the city of Cleveland. A tent was provided for Elder Laurence this summer which he pitched about camp meeting time. His greatest complaint has been that the tent is too small and that he has had almost as many on the outside as can be seated in the tent. He will soon report his first baptismal class. All indications are that the Cleveland tent effort will be a fruitful one and result in adding a number of new believers to the Cleveland Number Two Church.

In addition to the tent efforts and the large efforts already reported in Cleveland, Lima, and Toledo, a number of smaller efforts are being planned in other parts of the field. We are hoping for one of the largest reports on baptisms in Ohio this year that we have had in the history of the Conference.

W. M. ROBBINS

Report of Lima, Ohio Evangelistic Effort

GREETINGS to our dear brethren and sisters of the Columbia Union from the Hoffman-Stauffer evangelistic company, as we send along this latest report of our work in Lima, Ohio.

A tremendous crowd of more than 1,200 people packed into Lima's largest auditorium Sunday night, September 12, for the opening lecture in a series of evangelistic meetings being conducted in this city—truly an encouraging beginning. Elder Jay M. Hoffman spoke on the subject, "Will Hitler Succeed Where Napoleon Failed if Russia Signs a Separate Peace Pact With Germany?"

This powerful and convincing presentation of the great truths of Daniel 2 was heard for the first time by most of these good people. And when Elder Hoffman, tracing the course of world events from the kingdom of Babylon down to the end of time, made the statement that the next universal world empire would be ruled by none other than Jesus Christ Himself when He returns to this earth as King of kings and Lord of lords, the response was thrilling, to put it mildly. An enthusiastic burst of applause filled the auditorium and made it impossible for Brother Hoffman to continue speaking for several moments. But then as he told them of the nearness of Christ's return and the necessity for a thorough preparation on our part, a spirit of solemnity prevailed.

Surely the Lord must have many honest hearts in this fine city and we are praying every day that all of them will take their stand for God and truth during this effort which is being put forth in their behalf. We earnestly pray that God will bless us in our work here and that He will bless you as you pray for the success of the meetings in this place.

Big Temperance Rally to Be Held in Washington

THE Society of Missionary Men, representing our Adventist churches in the Washington area, is sponsoring a very large and important temperance project. Aroused to militancy by the terribly destructive physical and moral fruitage of the free flow of liquor, these men's societies have planned the biggest thing in the way of a public meeting where the liquor situation is discussed ever staged in the city of Washington.

Elder F. C. Carrier, Secretary of the American Temperance Society, who will be the principal speaker, will have with him leading temperance organization leaders, and prominent statesmen whose voices now are being raised against the liquor traffic. Some of these will speak. A program is being prepared designed to awaken the serious people of this great community to conditions we face, not only in their relation to winning or losing the war, but to the welfare of society when and after the war is over.

With faith that such a project will be blessed by the Lord, whose instruction to Adventists through the years has been to be leaders in the cause of temperance, these missionary men have contracted for Constitution Hall for Tuesday night, October 26. At this place and on that date the meeting will be held. Committees are earnestly at work on the program, the publicity, and the details generally in preparation. Elder Carrier is working with the leaders mentioned in behalf of their cooperation in this meeting, and with the hope that "this will be the spark that will start a great fire throughout the nation."

We want your prayers, your attendance, and your help in bringing people to this important meeting. Watch for further announcements in your church.

Forty-five Decisions

THE attendance at our camp this year was 46 girls and 48 boys. Junior camp was not a recreational project nor vacation outing, but an evangelistic effort to reach the heart of the junior. Through the junior camp, we endeavored to mold character, form right habits, and secure lifelong decisions. We rejoiced that 25 boys and 20 girls decided to follow Jesus all the way and indicated their desire to be baptized.

The setting of Lake Sherando at 1,900 feet above sea level in a million-acre national forest with its spacious accommodations including three large cabins, a kitchen, a bathhouse, and recreation field, was ideal. The continuous good weather added much to the pleasantness of camp life.

Mr. Howard, the forest supervisor of the national forest, at his visit to camp, expressed his appreciation for the spiritual features, the organization of activities, the methods used to attain our objective, and the unity which existed among the counselors. He said, "This is the best run camp in our forest, and we can learn much from you about the operation of a well run camp."

You may be interested in a statement written by Paul V. McNutt in regard to summer camps:

"We now know that camp life, be it but for two weeks, gives the boys and girls a training in self-reliance, utilization of skills, love of nature and the outdoors that no other institution in American life so adequately provides. What the training camp does for our youth in the armed services is done in equal measure for our children when they have had some experience in a well run summer camp. They learn to stand on their own, to be physically fit, to do hard things and do them well. They know that accomplishing difficult things makes for strong bodies and stalwart characters. They learn how to sacrifice and to serve, how to take orders as well as to give them, how to follow as well as to lead and direct.

"They develop a capacity for cooperation and the sense of comradeship. They learn what a precious thing it is to belong. All of this would be valuable enough in peacetime. In wartime, camp life is a godsend."

The motto of our camp was Victory in Christ, and on each one of the tables stood a large "V" painted red, white, and blue, which represented the unit's achievement for the preceding day, including camp spirit, conduct of each member of the unit (personal and cabin inspection), and cooperation. The unit with the "V" on the table that had the highest rating would also get the privilege of raising and lowering the flag that day.

Each junior at the beginning of camp was presented with a special "V" emblem which he wore with honor, for it informed every one with whom he came in contact that his conduct, speech, spirituality, and cooperation were exemplary. If a junior failed to live up to the junior law and pledge, the "V" pin and a boating privilege were forfeited. If the "V" pin was forfeited more than three times in two weeks, the privilege of boating was lost for the entire camp. The juniors valued their "V" emblems so much that in the prayer bands each morning they would pray that Christ would help them to keep their "V" pins during the day. For keeping its cabin in order, each unit was given an American flag which was flown outside the unit's room.

Our special guests who contributed much to the success of the camp were Mrs. Peterson, Elder Sorensen, and our camp pastor, Elder Crager, who for many years has been a missionary in Africa, and in Inter- and South America. We were again privileged to have Mrs. R. Pleasants as superintendent of the girls' camp and Mr. H. Walls as superintendent of the boys' camp. Our talented camp staff consisted of three church school teachers, two academy teachers, five missionaries or former missionaries, one government secretary, one Missionary Volunteer officer, two Conference workers, one Bible worker, two college and three academy students, one former secretary of the Y.M.C.A. cafeteria, two Review and Herald employees, one sanitarium nurse, two mothers and an institutional worker who served as assistant matrons, and one naturalist who is now working on his Ph.D. in botany.

The special activities of junior camp—the hike to Lookout Mountain; the investiture at the girls' camp of a Master Comrade and other juniors in the various classes (each participant with her one fire which made a great "V" for Victory); the name-the-boat contest, the girls' boat to be named hereafter the "Mary S. Andrews," the boys boat named the "Sherandon"; the nature treasure hunt; the popular craft of basketry and metalcraft; the counselors-versus-juniors game; the campfire with its spirited sing and stories of the pioneers; the Morning Watch circle with the recitation of Bible verses concerning Victory in Christ; the helpful camp council periods on Christian living, and the Sabbath services of consecration and dedication to God, made the 1943 junior camp a memorable event.

Our guests at camp included mothers and fathers, and Missionary Volunteer officers from six churches in our conference as well as our special guest, little Anneli, who came from Liberia.

The special newspaper publicity given us by the Waynesboro newspaper did much to acquaint the people of Shenandoah Valley with Seventh-day Adventists and their character-building activities for youth. Our feature course in "How Best to Serve Our Country as Real Americans" did much to overcome misinformation and prejudice concerning our principles of noncombatancy.

This camp was the best in organization, planned activities, response of the juniors to character-building features, and unity of counselors in action.

News Notes

At camp meeting time a new Bible was found on the camp ground and turned in at the Secretary's tent. This Bible has on the front page the name "Mrs. Hilda Hedrich, September 1, 1905." The owner can secure this by writing or calling at the Potomac Conference office.

The radio is doing a marvelous work in the giving of the third angel's message and we see its results throughout our conference.

At present there are nine ministers in the Potomac Conference conducting radio programs, 38 times each week on eight stations and in seven cities. These workers are as follows:

Elder R. L. Boothby, Elder C. J. Coon, Mr. K. S. Crofoot, Elder Vernon Flory, Elder R. S. Fries, Elder R. E. Griffin, Elder E. F. Koch, Elder P. W. Manuel, Elder G. S. Rapp.

In addition to this, the Voice of Prophecy is heard throughout our conference on nine stations. The seed is being sown and the harvest will come later. Many of our members are taking part and are very faithful in scattering the literature advertising these programs.

First State-Wide Sabbath School Convention

"THE object of Sabbath school work should be the ingathering of souls." This admonition given in "Counsels on Sabbath School Work," p. 61, was stressed in all the presentations and discussions at the time of our state-wide Sabbath school convention in Charleston, September 10-12. Every Sabbath school in the Conference except two sent a delegate. And even these two schools were represented indirectly by the ministers in whose districts the schools are located. Two family schools also were represented. So we feel there should be a definite improvement and advancement made in every phase of our Sabbath school work.

The convention opened with a symposium at 7:30 on Friday evening. At 8:30 on Sabbath morning, Elder J. A. Stevens met with the Sabbath school teachers. Sabbath school opened at 9:30 under the leadership of Brother O. A. Fuller, superintendent of the Charleston school. In his sermon at 11 o'clock, Elder Stevens appealed to all to study the Scriptures more diligently, to take an inventory of their spiritual condition, and to get ready to move to our heavenly home where sorrows never come. On Saturday evening at 8 o'clock Elder Stevens showed pictures of his travels in the mysterious land of the Incas in the high Andes Mountains of South America. He said that Seventh-day Adventists operate a Sabbath school here at an elevation of 14,000 feet above sea level. This is our highest Sabbath school in the world. The Charleston Church was filled to capacity for both the morning services and the evening lecture.

Three hours on both Sabbath afternoon and Sunday morning were spent in a discussion of Sabbath school ideals and problems by the delegates. Excellent help was rendered by Elder J. A. Stevens of the General Conference; Elder J. C. Holland of the Columbia Union; and Elder W. B. Hill, our own Conference President, as well as our local ministers. One special feature which was so much appreciated and enjoyed by all, and especially by the kindergarten and primary teachers, was the half-hour of "Teaching Demonstration" by Miss Katie Geissinger, who is superintendent of the children's divisions of the Charleston Sabbath School. She demonstrated several finger plays, picture-o-graphs, songs, and exercises for use among the little tots. Sister Geissinger offered to go to any Sabbath school in West Virginia, and help in giving assistance for the strengthening of the work among the kindergarten and primary children.

And so ended the first state-wide Sabbath school convention ever held, as far as we know, in West Virginia. As a result, we believe that ideals will be put into practice to help our church members to better appreciate our Sabbath schools here in West Virginia, and also to hasten the heralding of the blessed truth to the far corners of the earth through ever enlarging mission offerings.

OBITUARIES

MORRIS: Benford L., was born at Hesper, Iowa October 8, 1860 and died August 30, 1943. About 1885 he took up work in Kansas, and then later moved to Ashton, South Dakota where on October 13, 1887 he was married to Clara Coate. To this union were born two sons, George R. Morris and Clarence C. Morris, both of Mount Vernon, Ohio. The latter went to China in the mission service in 1916, and served in various capacities, the last of which was Secretary-Treasurer of the China Division. He is at present the principal of Mount Vernon Academy. In 1902, the Morris family came to Mount Vernon, where the boys could have the advantage of the Christian educational facilities of Mount Vernon Academy, and except for two brief periods, this has been the family home since that time. Mr. Morris leaves to mourn a brother, D. R. Morris of Oakland, California; a sister, Mrs. Ada Day of New Sharon, Iowa; two sons; six grandchildren; and many friends. Funeral services were conducted by the writer at Mount Vernon, Ohio.

RICHARD F. FARLEY

BENJAMIN: Eber F., was born September 26, 1857, at South Madison, Ohio. He died September 4, 1943. He was united in marriage with Minnie J. Pitkin February 21, 1883. Two children preceded him in death. Surviving are his devoted wife; six grandchildren, Robert Klasen, Julia Foster, Esther Russell, Margaret Klasen, and Foster Benjamin; and five great-grandchildren. Brother Benjamin was a faithful and well-loved member of the Seventh-day Adventist church of Madison, Ohio. He rests in the hope of a soon-coming Saviour.

T. A. McCoy

NAYLOR: Augusta M., was born May 1, 1861 in Burlington, New Jersey and died June 17, 1943. Shortly after the turn of the century she left the Episcopal church to unite with the Seventh-day Adventist church. She was a charter member of the first Adventist church in Atlantic City, which was organized by Elder C. B. Haynes. When that church was moved to Pleasantville, she also became a charter member of that church. Having made her peace with God, she awaits the call of the Life-giver. Though she rests from her labors her works do follow her.

Coast to Coast—Mutual Broadcasting System

Our North American Radio Commission meeting here in Glendale has just closed. Many of the Union Conference Presidents and other Commission members are already on the way to their respective fields.

The interest and sympathy shown by these brethren at this memorable meeting has been a deep source of encouragement for us here at the Voice of Prophecy office.

The first day of the session, the brethren were conducted through our building, visiting the 27 rooms or departments where this great missionary endeavor is conducted.

Elder W. G. Turner, Chairman of the North American Radio Commission, and Professor W. P. Bradley, Secretary, presided at these sessions. Their leadership is deeply appreciated. Especially appreciated was the detailed interest which the Union Conference Presidents have taken in our work and our problems.

Advance plans have been laid, but with the realization that great efforts must be put forth by Conference workers; staff workers, and radio listeners, if we are to reach the income of our estimated budget.

Radio mail offerings for 1943 have averaged $1500 a month below the estimated income. We are hoping that there will be a marked improvement as we reach the latter months of this year. Our budget for 1944, which was voted yesterday, totals nearly $600,000. From our listeners we must receive $370,000. We beg the prayers of God's people that there will be a nation-wide rally to this great work of faith.

Philadelphia Academy

THE Philadelphia Academy has just opened its doors to another year of service to the youth of this metropolitan area. To those of us who have been on the ground for a number of years, it appears that our school is just now stepping into its greatest field of service. Elder and Mrs. C. C. Ellis, with their faithful corps of teachers, are taking hold of the work in a strong way and, with the cooperation of the pastors and churches of this field, we are seeing about the largest enrollment in the history of the school.

The present enrollment stands at 38 for the academy and 36 for the church school. We feel that with present prospects the total enrollment will reach 80 within the next few days. We are now facing the problem of having every seat filled in all the rooms. We have long been praying that we would see such a large attendance that the walls would bulge with happy students, and now we are seeing our hopes fulfilled. This sight alone has been worth all the effort it has cost to bring it about.

There are now plans on foot to renovate the building and to enlarge some of the space to give our teachers more room to carry on their noble work. As I visited the school recently I was greeted on every hand by happy young people, and the spirit manifest reveals the fact that a real school spirit already is developing. Surely, the blessing of God rests upon these educational institutions that are dedicated to the training of our precious youth. Potentially, they are the workers of tomorrow, and the future of this movement depends largely upon the turning of the hearts of all our young people to our own schools. It is the hope and prayer of our board that soon every child and young person in this great area will be enrolled. Really, if it was ever safe for our children to be in the public schools, that day is past. We are now facing the troubled days of the closing moments of time, and every child and youth should now be safely anchored in our own schools, where the Bible is made the foundation of all training. Parents, if your boy or girl is still in an outside school, don't you think it is time to bring them over to the academy and place them where they will be trained for God and His service? Did I hear you say, "How about the room?" Never mind; if you will bring the children, we will find the room!

Home Missionary Institute

A VERY interesting and, we believe, profitable Home Missionary Institute was held in Clifton Park Church, Baltimore, September 18. Members of the Essex and Baltimore Number Two Churches were also in attendance.

An unique combination of secretaries, seldom seen at once in a local church, was welcomed by the membership. The associate secretary of the General Conference Department, Elder William Butler; the Union secretary, Elder J. H. Holland; and the local secretary, George Butler, comprised the trio on outside help, while the local church secretaries helped "round off" the quartet. We sincerely thank the General and Union secretaries for their services and trust a similar combination may unite again soon.

Among the topics discussed were missionary committee and duties, missionary monthly and weekly services, ordering supplies and handling funds, and the centennial anniversary program of calling on 50,000 families with a systematic course of study in printed form for at least nine weeks, offering to all who voluntarily accept, a free Twentieth Century Bible Course of study.

Each church is given a designated number which will be stamped on all literature it scatters, and every application for more literature or the Bible course will be registered to the credit of the church doing the work. A Conference map, ruled into districts, will be the guide for each church territory.

Plans for entering dark counties, and dark cities and towns in counties now entered, were discussed heartily and will be referred to from now on under the inclusive term "New Work in Chesapeake." Literature will be scattered in such places and all interests from it and from the Twentieth Century Bible Course will be followed up with Bible readings, cottage meetings and hall or store efforts. We believe that 2,500 consecrated lay members, uniting their efforts with pastors, elders, and Conference leadership will, with God's help, be able successfully to penetrate many dark sections of the territory and establish churches as monuments to the cause. Our aim is 500 souls through this program in the centennial year of 1944, with every church doing its best.
