Give the Message

GIVE the Message. These words are intended to convey a double appeal to you. These crucial days constitute a clarion call to Seventh-day Adventists. We are possessors of the last message of warning for a perishing world. This with the world's desperate need makes it incumbent upon us to give the message quickly!

To facilitate the giving of the message by our believers, the Message magazine is being published. It is the outstanding Negro publication in its field. Thousands of readers throughout the country deeply appreciate its monthly visits, which is indicated by these experiences.

"I am interested in knowing who requested the subscription of Message in my name. This magazine has been mailed to me monthly since January and I am interested in knowing who is responsible for its coming. I enjoy reading the helpful articles in this magazine."—R. M. W., Victoria, Va.

"Will you kindly let me know who is paying for my subscription of the Message which I have been receiving for some time and have enjoyed so much? I would certainly like to thank the person for such a lovely gift and shall always continue to have it sent to me."—Mrs. J. P., Roselle, N. J.

October 14-21 has been designated by the General Conference as a special week for featuring the Message magazine. We trust that when it is brought to your attention in your churches you will respond by subscribing for yourself and for as many others as possible. In doing this you will receive a rich spiritual blessing through its enlightening and uplifting pages, and you will be helping to give the message for this critical hour to others.

"All who are baptized into a measure of the apostolic spirit will be constrained to become God's missionaries. . . . To save perishing souls they will be willing to spend and be spent. . . . The grace of heaven will be revealed in their work in the conquests achieved in winning souls" (Testimonies, Vol. IX, pp. 58, 59).

Money spent for Message magazine subscriptions will pay dividends throughout eternity. It gives so much for so little. The missionary subscription rate to church members and friends is only $1.00 a year. It is available in clubs of ten or more at 87½ cents each.

Remember, the covers are in full color. It is attractively illustrated throughout. Make the Message magazine your soul-winning ally. Place your subscriptions now, and help give the message.

Thirteenth Sabbath Offering— September 30

THE great need in the Central Pacific Union Mission is the establishing of a training school for French Oceania, on the island of Tahiti, and for the furthering of the gospel throughout the islands of this union mission.

On some of the islands whole villages have been wonderfully transformed through the power of the gospel, but a still greater work may be done with the aid of fine young people trained for service.

Opening Evangelistic Meetings In Jersey City

THE theme of the 1950 General Conference became a reality in Jersey City Sunday, September 10. The call to evangelize, spoken by our Lord, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature," is the greatest challenge of all time.

The five churches of Jersey City have heeded this call and are answering the challenge! Elder Donald Robbins of the Swedish Church, Elder James Terzo of the Italian Church, Elder James Patzkowski of the German Church, and their congregations are co-operating wholeheartedly with the writer and his English churches to make this evangelistic endeavor a real success.

Many methods of advertising have been used in advance of opening night with excellent results. I have been informed that the priests of Jersey City, upon reading the announcements, immediately instructed their people to keep away from the meetings. Satan may buffet but he can never defeat God's cause! The Lord blessed our opening meeting with nearly two hundred people, about one hundred of whom were non-Adventists. About twenty non-Adventists were standing outside the Bergen Lyceum one-half hour before opening time. Surely God has some honest souls here for us to snatch out of the fire.

The New Jersey College of Music presented several beautiful sacred numbers that were greatly appreciated by all. Arthur Neiminsky, Jr., directed our music, accompanied by Harriet Kronk at the piano and Joseph Steinert at the organ.

Mrs. Helen Brady, Mrs. Celia Kozlik, Miss Rosemarie Cosentino, and Miss Lillian Recchia are giving valuable assistance as usherettes. Lyle Watson has charge of the bookstand, assisted by Mrs. Murney. Mrs. Lily Neiminsky and Mrs. Meierhofer care for the literature distribution. Mrs. Thelma Jeffreys serves as the treasurer and gives other valuable assistance.

The fine spirit of cooperation given by the Jersey City churches gives us greater courage and zeal to go forward and win souls for Christ. We appreciate your prayers.

Burlington-Mount Holly Baptism

On Sabbath, August 26, at 3:00 P.M., an inspirational baptismal service was held in the Burlington Church as members of the Mount Holly and Burlington Churches shared the joy of the three candidates as they were buried with their Lord in this sacred rite.

These souls represent some of the fruits of the evangelistic program which has been carried on in the district by Pastor W. B. Quigley. We rejoice in the victories won in the lives of those who took their stand for the truth. The faithful members of both churches pray that many more who are now in the "valley of decision" will be added to their number.

Sunday-evening meetings have been continuing in the Burlington

Church since the dismantling of the Bible Truth Tent. Saturday-evening meetings are planned for the Mount Holly area this fall, and one-week revival services will soon be conducted in both churches.

Prospects for future success in soul-winning are bright. Leaders and members look to the Lord of harvest for their strength to labor effectually for Him until He comes.

Springfield Church School Dedicated

AUGUST 26 and 27 were "high" days in Springfield, Ohio, as the Springfield Church school was dedicated. Elder M. E. Loewen, President of the Conference, was the speaker at the 11:00 o'clock service on Sabbath and he stressed the importance of Adventist education for Adventist youth.

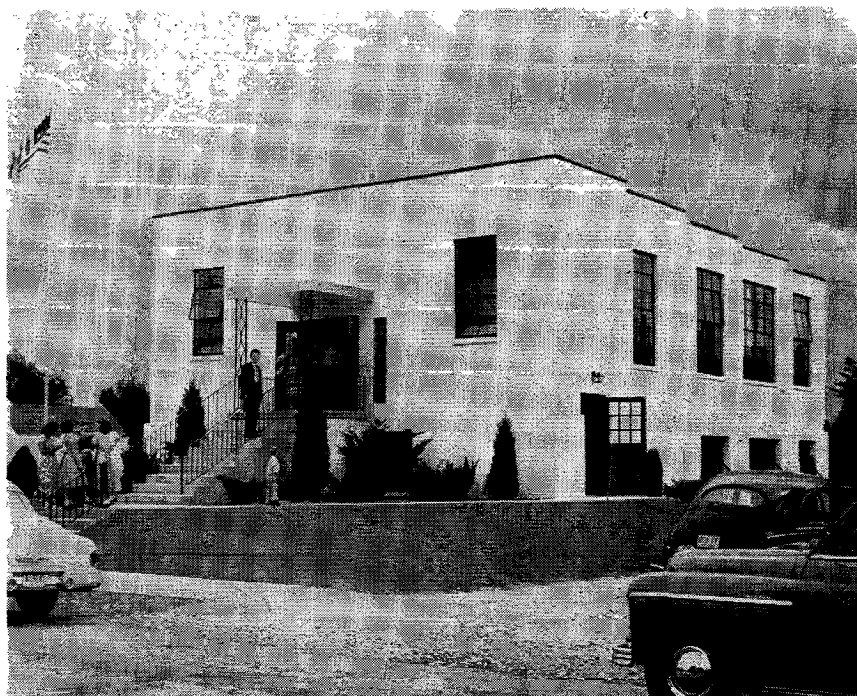

Former church members and friends filled the church auditorium to overflowing for the homecoming activities sponsored by the Sabbath school and Missionary Volunteer society. The Sabbath school officers turned over their program to former officers of the Sabbath school. A symposium of the young people who are now attending church school and those who have attended was the highlight of the Missionary Volunteer program on Sabbath afternoon.

Open house for the new church school was held from 10:00 A.M. to 6:50 P.M. on Sunday. Pictures of former church school teachers and pupils were displayed, thus showing more than twenty years of history. Elder E. J. Barnes, former church school teacher of Springfield and now Educational Secretary of the Ohio Conference, gave the dedicatory address Sunday afternoon. Elder C. R. Spangler and Elder J. W. Shultz, both former pastors of the Springfield Church, also took part in the service.

The school was designed by Elder S. K. Lehnhoff, pastor of the church, who also supervised its construction. The men of the church worked each Sunday for a whole year, donating their time to make the erection of the school possible. Although the money spent actually amounts to only $15,000, because of donated material and labor, the cost otherwise would have been at least $25,000.

We thank God for our church school here in Springfield, for it

News Note

ELDER and Mrs. F. S. Thompson from Havana, Cuba, visited the Cleveland Euclid Avenue Church on Sabbath, September 2. Elder Thompson is Secretary-Treasurer of the Antillian Union. He spoke at the missionary service and at the 11:00 o'clock service, and both spoke at the Missionary Volunteer meeting in the afternoon.

He gave an interesting report of the work in the islands of their union, and Mrs. Thompson told what it is like to be in a hurricane. They were en route to their field after attending the General Conference Session.

Third National Visitation Day

FIELD days for "Every-Home Visitation" have become a part of the program for many of our churches. Some are trying to work such a program twice a month; others, once a month.

At the beginning of 1950 three National "Every-Home Visitation Days" were set aside. Sabbath, October 7, will be the third one. Many of our members testify that such a program has brought many rich blessings to them as well as to those visited. We would like to encourage all our members on this particular day or during that week to participate in this national visitation day.

Material has been sent to the pastors and missionary leaders. They are ready to outline the territory as well as give you the supplies you need. Our objectives in this visitation program are to get acquainted with our friends and neighbors and also to ascertain their spiritual as well as their physical needs. Try to enroll them in the Bible course or arrange for Bible studies if possible. A word of prayer, if convenient, is greatly desirable. Faithful follow-up work should not be neglected.

The Lord is now calling every layman to help finish God's work in the earth. Will you cooperate?

President's Report

Working Staff

At the present time the Conference employs forty-four full- and part-time workers in the conducting of the work. Of this number, twenty-nine are serving as ministers and Bible instructors, while fifteen are employed as officers, departmental secretaries, office secretaries and stenographers, correspondence school workers, and camp caretaker. The number of ordained workers is twenty-three and twelve of our workers carry ministerial licenses. The Conference employs three Bible instructors and it is the plan to add a number of Bible instructors to the staff.

A number of changes in the working staff have occurred during the past two years. Several changes have occurred in the office force. Elder J. A. Jarry, our Publishing Department Secretary, was recently called to Ohio. His successor has not yet been appointed. Mrs. Richard Fertig, who served in the treasury department for many years, requested to be released from her duties in January. Mrs. Valeda Barcelow has taken her place in that department. Recently Mrs. Grace Cunningham, after a long period of service, resigned from Conference employ and Mrs. Juanita Hodde has been secured to take her place. About a year ago Maryon Brown resigned to take up other work.

It is with regret that we report that a number of our workers have been compelled to lay down their burdens for reasons of health. After a leave of absence of a number of months because of ill health, Elder C. R. Gibbs requested release from all responsibilities for an indefinite period of time. It is our fervent hope that he may soon be restored to active service again.

Mrs. Sarah Lenny, Mrs. Marvel Hazen, and Mrs. Anna Brandt

found it necessary to give up Bible work for health reasons. Miss Lila Morati was called to the Greater New York Conference. Mrs. Harriet Cooney accepted a call to the Purchasing Bureau of the General Conference. Miss Myrtle Johnson requested release from Bible work because of an unfortunate accident. Brother and Sister LaRue Cook were called to the mission field. Brethren C. A. Dornburg and W. B. Parkins, part-time workers, have taken up other employment.

The following new workers have come to the Conference since we reported two years ago: Elder F. S. Fowler from the New Jersey Conference is leader of the Bethlehem-Allentown district; Elder P. T. Jackson from the Northern New England Conference directs the work in the Hatboro district; Brother William Bornstein has just completed his first year of internship, while Brethren Richard Fearing and William Pohle have just commenced their internships in our field. Miss Mary Neufeld, an experienced worker connected with the General Conference staff, came to us a number of months ago to serve this field as a Bible instructor.

In order to do justice to our working force, specific mention really should be made of each of the workers and the results of their consecrated efforts. Obviously, that is impossible in a report like this. It must suffice that we assure the delegates that the quality of work being done in this field merits commendation. The service of our workers is deeply appreciated, their loyalty and devotion has been an inspiration, and God has attested to His acceptance of their service by His abundant blessing upon their labors.

Thus far we have spoken only of workers who are fully on the Conference pay roll. We wish now to pay tribute to four other groups of workers whose efforts so largely enter into the success of any Conference program. I have in mind our consecrated staff of church school and academy teachers whose full time is absorbed in shepherding our children and youth, our army of colporteur evangelists who serve as the shock troops in this spiritual warfare, also that vast group of local church officers whose steadying hand is felt upon our work continuously, and finally the entire membership of our churches whose faithful witnessing for Christ is so richly blessed of God. In this last group are brethren and sisters who devote much time to the winning of souls. Lay efforts, cottage meetings, and other types of Christian service have borne much fruitage. We thank God for a willing people and a willing ministry in this day of His power.

Why I Believe in Christian Education

THERE are a number of reasons why I believe in Christian education, but two of them stand out most emphatically in my mind and in my experience.

First, it played a part in what I am today. I am sorry, indeed, that it was not my privilege to have the benefit of Christian education in my first impressionable years of school. We were not Seventh-day Adventists at that time, and therefore the Lord must have had special watch-care over us because of our not having further enlightenment and the privilege of Christian education.

Later, having come to the light, the privilege of association in Christian schools and the leadership of Christian teachers pointed out to me the way to heaven and inspired me to become whatever I am today through the grace of God. I might add to that also the part that it played in the decision and the outlook of my companion through these years of life.

Christian education caused us to plan most definitely and earnestly for the education of our children, bringing me to the second and very important reason why I believe in Christian education.

We were blessed with three children in our home, and those children have been given the privilege of Christian education in their whole experience where it has been possible. We were placed in circumstances at times when this was an impossibility; but we went out of our way to provide for Christian education in their behalf, and we thank God for the results. Christian education is one thing that has played a large part in the training of these children—two of them as nurses and the son as a minister in the Seventh-day Adventist cause. All of them have married within the church and as families they are planning definitely for the heavenly home.

As I said previously, there may be many, many other reasons, but these stand out supreme. May something inspire you, dear parents, to go "all out" for Christian education when it involves your children.

Teachers' Institute

NOT even rain could dampen the spirits of the teachers of the Potomac and Chesapeake Conferences as they attended the joint teachers' institute on September 1 to 4. The institute was held at beautiful Mount Aetna Youth Camp near Hagerstown, Md., which is an ideal location not only for accommodating such a group but inspiring them as well.

Elder A. O. Dart, Educational and Sabbath School Secretary of the Potomac Conference, and Professor Tate Zytoskee, Educational and Missionary Volunteer Secretary of the Chesapeake Conference, were co-chairmen of the four-day session. There were forty teachers from the Potomac Conference and twenty teachers from the Chesapeake Conference in attendance.

Well-qualified men and women such as Elder G. M. Mathews, Associate Secretary of the Educational Department of the General Conference; Dr. J. M. Howell, Educational Secretary of the Columbia Union Conference; Miss Ethel Young, Elementary School Supervisor of the Columbia Union; and Elder A. O. Dart were among the principal speakers at the institute. Such vital topics as "The First Day of School," "Spiritual Aids," "Mental Hygiene," "Is Discipline Necessary?" and "Reading Readiness" were discussed by them. "Laying a Good Foundation in Speech," by C. E. Weniger; "Teaching Beginning Reading and Phonics," Eleanor Lindsjo; and "Our Home and School Associations," Arabella Williams, are just a few of the outstanding talks that could be mentioned. Another interesting feature of the conference was the workshop on the construction of paper flowers conducted by Mrs. Etta Fisher.

The Sabbath speakers were Dr. Howell at the Friday night vespers and Elder Theodore Lucas on Sabbath morning.

After the stimulating meetings that were held during the four days at Mount Aetna and the deeper realization that was gained by their association with those of the same profession and interests, the teachers left the institute to begin a new school year dedicated to the instructing of the youth of their schools in the ways of Christian education.

Potomac Junior Camp

ABOUT 160 boys and girls are better prepared to meet life and its responsibilities as a result of having attended our excellent Potomac junior camp which this year was held at Mt. Aetna in Maryland. Practically all seemed to agree that it was about the best camp we had ever had.

We have never seen a camp where there have been any better directors, teachers, and counselors than at our camp this year. The juniors seemed thoroughly fascinated with their classes in tree study, amphibians, mineralogy, and dogs. All were very proud of their accomplishments in campcraft, woodcraft, first aid, leathercraft, and rug weaving. Almost all had a grand time swimming twice every day, and many boys and girls were successful in passing difficult swimming tests. A number learned to swim for the first time.

Without doubt the greatest blessings gained at the 1950 Potomac junior camp were those spiritual feasts enjoyed around the daily Morning Watch circle, in the prayer bands, during the camp council, and around the evening camp fire. Leaders and juniors alike were thrilled to see boys and girls find Christ as their personal Saviour and develop more toward His likeness.

Commendation is due our excellent directors, Mrs. Elsie Pohle for the girls and A. W. Fowler for the boys. All were well fed by an excellent crew of cooks headed by Mrs. Stanley Haines. Our teachers worked hard and among them we were privileged in having Lester Harris of Washington Missionary College who led out in the nature study work.

The health of the leaders and campers was carefully guarded by Mrs. Zelma Wittenberg and Mrs. Grace Neil. The swimming periods were carefully supervised by teachers and lifeguards, including Helen Metz, Mrs. Elsie Pohle, Mrs. Grace Neil, Harold Mondics, Forrest Belknap, and Warren N. Wittenberg.

It was a privilege this year to respond to the invitation of the Chesapeake Conference to rent their excellent camp at Mt. Aetna. Their fine swimming pool, dining room, and comfortable, well-built cabins were greatly appreciated.

We are delighted to report that a good number of choice boys and girls were in our camp baptismal class and are being recommended to their pastors for baptism. Parents, we did our best for your children during camp. Shall we not all put forth more effort to win and hold these precious treasures throughout the entire year? Shall we not spend time with them in prayer, Bible study, craft work, nature study, and just good, plain recreation and innocent amusements?

Allegheny Conference Camp Meeting

THE Biennial Session drew delegates and constituency to Pine Forge, Pa., from seven states and the District of Columbia.

Elder J. H. Wagner's report, a sweeping record of singular achievement, showed how God had blessed in the Conference program. Evangelism, mission offerings, Ingathering, and Sabbath school membership all indicated increases for the period. The colporteur ministry and the sale and distribution of our truth-filled literature showed appreciable gains.

Christian education is being vigorously supported by the ministry. Pine Forge Institute, our Conference academy, has been accredited by the General Conference educational department and the educational department of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania. This carries with it recognition by the state of New York, as they are reciprocal.

The young people's department has initiated youth federations which tie all the societies in our territory into three federations, the Virginia, the eastern, and the western states. The interest and attraction to their quarterly meeting is second only to our camp meeting itself.

Church and Conference publicity has reached a new "high." Press secretaries are sending in excellent material. Our souvenir edition, published by the Pottstown Mercury, has given new importance to the name Adventist in this area.

A new field dining hall, a two-story structure of concrete and steel, is well ventilated, equipped with steam tables, a drinking fountain, and spacious counters, and seats 300 at a serving. It is

Tony Tells...

Six-year-old Tony was playing on the floor when Field Adventurers Jack and Martha Jones came to her home. As Tony's young mother admitted the visitors they greeted Tony and asked if she would like to hear a story. The story was about heaven and the pets the children would have there, and Tony as well as her mother listened attentively. Tony's mother readily assented to the offering of prayer, in which Jack prayed for Tony and her mother and father. After the prayer Tony slipped out of the house while Jack and Martha told the mother about the free Bible course and took her enrollment.

Two houses down the street Jack and Martha were greeted cordially and invited in before they could explain their mission. Inside, they were surprised to find a group of children seated on the floor, Tony in the middle.

"Here's the storyteller," cried Tony, as the gospel team came in. Martha obliged with another story, and at its conclusion the children reverently said the Lord's prayer together.

The children went out to play, and Jack and Martha talked with the mother in this home. When she learned about the Bible course she said, "I really shouldn't take it. My church would not permit it, but you have been so nice, and I know this will be a help to our children."

That's Field Adventuring. Old and young wait in every neighborhood for glimpses of the truth we know so well. Warm your own soul. Cheer your neighbors. Go adventuring October 7.

Gospel teams with their Bibles, the new tract by Carlyle B. Haynes, Home at Last, and enrollment cards for the 20th Century Bible Course will be on the march for God—visiting and praying in millions of homes throughout North America, Sabbath afternoon, October 7. It's your day to go adventuring for God.
