"These Times" Campaign in October

Did You Know That

• THE Seventh-day Adventist denomination supports two missionary journals for the presentation of the full message to all the people who live in the area of the Columbia Union Conference?

• These monthly journals are called These Times and Message?

• These Times is prepared to reach our millions of white friends?

• Message magazine is prepared to reach our colored friends?

• Both of these periodicals cover in a designated period all the cardinal doctrines of the church?

• No individual can be as regular in his visits as the monthly issues of these periodicals?

• They will visit where individuals could never enter?

• Their covers are very attractive and most appealing?

• The articles are written by Adventist authors and are very convincing?

• These periodicals win people to the truth?

• Every copy contains an invitation to join the Bible school?

• Every copy carries an appeal for readers to listen to the Voice of Prophecy program and to watch the TV program, Faith for Today?

• Either one of these magazines will make a wonderful gift?

• The cost of either periodical is only three dollars a year?

By H. K. Halladay

Home Missionary Secretary, Columbia Union Conference

• During the month of October a year's subscription costs only $1.75 for either Message or These Times?

• Every copy of these papers contains at least one article inviting people to accept Christ?

• That we would like to see every church member in the Columbia Union Conference be responsible for no fewer than two subscriptions?

A Cry in the Night

By ADLAI A. ESTEB

I heard it, or it may have been a dream,
(It's passing strange how real a dream can seem) —
I heard a call, a voice cried out last night,
"Give us your faith, your hope, your light."
I said, "Who art thou? Why disturb my sleep?"
He cried, "My name is Legion and our needs are deep.
I represent the millions everywhere
Who walk in darkness and in deep despair.
We are the lost of earth, yet no one cares.
Our hearts are bare, though some are millionaires.
We've tried men's panaceas in their turn,
But none gives lasting peace, so now we yearn
To know if you have light from God, we plead,
Give us the answer to our deepest need."

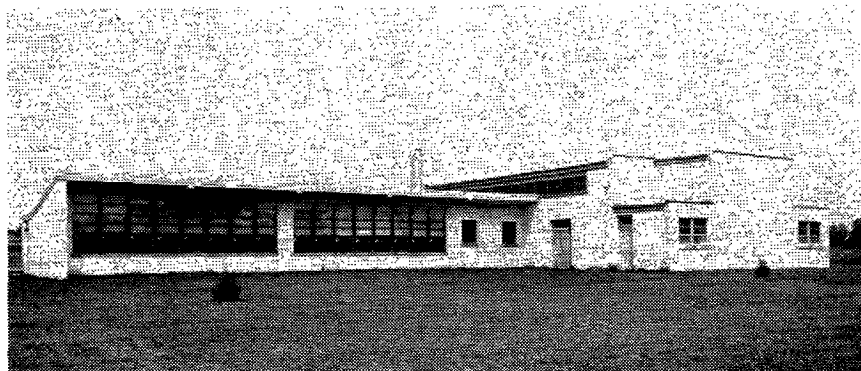

I rose there in the darkness from my bed,
And fell upon my knees in holy dread.
I prayed, "O God, what can I say or do?"
He said, "Go tell the vision shown to you."
And so this day I pass on this appeal
To every Christian heart who still can feel
And hear this modern Macedonian call
That comes from out earth's darkness like a pall.
The church must now "Arise" and truly "Shine"
For this is Heaven's purpose and design.
October is the month when we may send
The Message or These Times to ev'ry friend.
Let's hear the call that comes each day and night:
"Give us your faith, your hope, your light."

(Note: The above poem was written especially for readers of the Visitor by Elder Adlai A. Esteb, Editor of Go magazine, in connection with the annual These Times and Message magazine campaigns in the month of October.)

New Adventist Schools

in the Columbia Union Conference

Fifth of a Series

New Hatboro, Pa., Seventh-day Adventist intermediate school.

New Building for Hatboro, Pa., School

THE Hatboro, Pa., intermediate school, one of the largest in the East Pennsylvania Conference, opened for its fourth year on September 9 with fifty-four students in grades one to ten.

This new building, started and completed under the pastorate of Elder W. C. Jensen, is of plastered masonry. It has three classrooms, two of which measure twenty-five feet by thirty feet and one, fifteen feet by twenty-five feet. The gymnasium-auditorium is forty feet by eighty feet with a platform twelve feet by twenty-five feet.

Other rooms include a Dorcas welfare room, rest rooms, storage rooms, and two study halls on either side of the auditorium platform. The building is heated with an automatic oil baseboard hot-water system.

The cost of the project, with driveway, landscaping, and a five-and-a-half-acre playground, was approximately $40,000.

The first year, when the school was not yet complete, only students from the Hatboro Church attended. Last year additional students came from the Chestnut Hill Church in Philadelphia. This year the new Boulevard Church of Philadelphia is sending several students to the school.

John Wright served as the first principal. James Marrinan of Washington, D. C., is the principal this year. Other teachers include Mrs. Anne Maxwell and Marilyn Miller.

The long-range plan includes a church building to be constructed near the new school. Until that time all services are being held in the school auditorium.

Civil Defense Oath

As our church members offer their services in Civil Defense in harmony with a resolution adopted by the 1956 Autumn Council, they should attach the following statement to the Civil Defense Oath:

"I am a Seventh-day Adventist, and as such, I keep the Sabbath day, Saturday, from sunset Friday to sunset Saturday. I am willing to minister to the suffering and dying on any day. I cannot engage in ordinary activity on the Sabbath day, nor do I bear arms."

College Faculty Fellowship as New School Year Opens

THE faculty and staff of Washington Missionary College enjoyed corn on the cob at an old-fashioned corn roast and watermelon feed just before the school threw open its doors for fall registration.

Gathered at the Takoma Recreation Center at the close of the day, some sixty staff members and directors of scholarly activities turned back the blackened husks and consumed the gold found within while conversing informally with fellow teachers on subjects ranging from "Where did you spend your vacation?" to "What text are you planning to use in the three-hour world literature course this year?"

New members met old, and "old-timers" felt again the pull of "kindred spirits," all engaged in the fascinating and challenging business of helping young people prepare for their place in the world.

Among the new faces were those of Dr. Oma Hamara, who has joined the professors of Science Hall and will guide students through the maze of mathematics; and Dr. Charles B. Hirsch, newly arrived professor of history. He comes here from La Sierra College in California.

Also new on the faculty this fall is Prof. Norman L. Krogstad, who is heading the Department of Music at Washington Missionary College.

Registration got under way the following day, Monday, September 16. A later report will be given on the College enrollment when figures are available.

Dover Church

On November 24, 1917, a group of nine believers gathered in the old I.O.O.F. Temple on Lookerman Street in Dover, Del., for the purpose of organizing the Dover Seventh-day Adventist Church. Elder J. O. Miller presided at the meeting with James Richardson of Cambridge, Md., assisting him. Of those who signed that first covenant, binding themselves together with the commandments of God and the testimony of Jesus, none remain in the present-day company.

In 1919 Elder G. A. Stevens held a series of meetings in a tent pitched just a block away on Lookerman Street, baptizing thirty-eight persons. It was at these meetings that Mr. and Mrs. William Harter found the message. Today, thirty-eight years later, they are still vital, active members of the church.

Elders Appley, Washburn, Mederia, and Oswald served the congregation as pastors during the next nine years. During this time the members met in the rooms of the Century Club on the Green. In 1925 a group from Marydel, that had been meeting in private homes, united with the Dover Church.

In 1931, under the leadership of Elder W. G. Pickard, plans were laid to erect a church building on Lotus Street in south Dover. During the construction period, meetings were held in a building on W. A. Harter's property for about a year.

The building was erected entirely by volunteer help from the Dover members and other neighboring churches. A building formerly used by the Churchill Seventh-day Adventist Church, inactive for several years, was given by the Conference and moved, piece by piece, to the Dover site. Brother Harter made the thirty-mile trip from Churchill to Dover perched precariously on the end of some long sill extending out beyond the truck which carried them, a human danger signal.

Elder Pickard was called away before the church was finished and Elder W. F. Schmidt led in its completion. Services were first held in the new building about the middle of 1932, and it was dedicated December 2, 1933. Elder H. J. Detwiler, then President of the Columbia Union Conference, preached the dedicatory sermon. Friends from a large area attended to rejoice with their Dover brethren.

Elder Schmidt remained as pastor for ten years, until 1941. During this time, in 1938, the church school was opened and has been held in the church basement each year, except one, until 1955 when the Dover, Chestertown, and Grasonville schools combined to form the W. C. Moffett School at Barclay, Md.

Elders D. G. Fleagle, W. B. Robinson, C. French, V. Rees, M. Hale, R. Knox, D. Myers, and R. L. Kirk, the present pastor, have served the church since 1941. In 1947 Elder Harold Metcalfe held a series of meetings in an especially erected "Bible Tabernacle" on State Street in Dover. Sixteen members were added to the church at the close of these meetings.

In 1952 the Dorcas Society purchased, renovated, and equipped a building to be used as a public welfare center. It is located on the dual highway just north of Dover and has become very well known in the community.

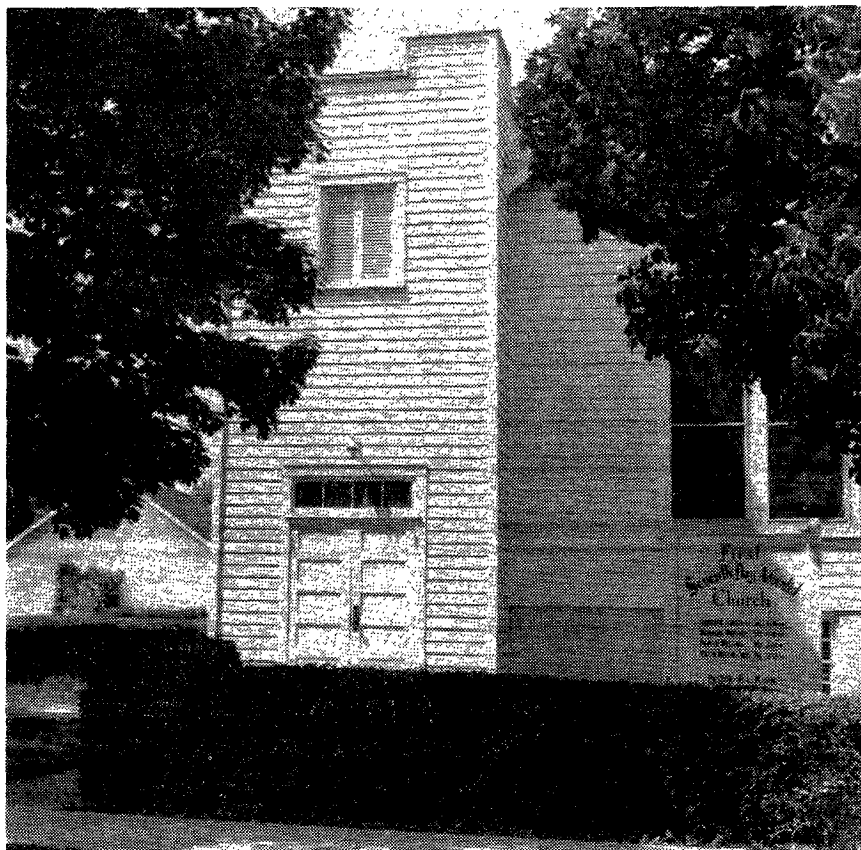

Plans are under way for further expansion and for greater efforts in soul winning. Sunday-evening meetings began in the church on September 15, 1957. The Dover Church is going "forward in faith" to help finish God's work and hasten the coming of Jesus.

Faith for Today Crusade

On Sabbath, September 7, in all churches in the Chesapeake Conference, the program for enrolling Faith for Today Bible students was launched.

Dover, Del., Seventh-day Adventist Church.

All enrollments are being made in duplicate—one card to be retained by the church and placed by the name of the individual making the enrollment, on a placard in the church—to keep an accurate record, and also to be made the subject of special prayer at the midweek prayer meeting and each Sabbath at the ten-minute service.

Each church is being organized for visitation follow-up of these enrollments, to assist in any way possible with the lessons. The goal is one enrollment per member per week, for ten weeks—or a total of 27,000 enrollments for the Conference.

With the Conference members uniting in the program of prayer, contact, and follow-up work, we may well look forward to a rich harvest for the Lord.

Our slogan is "each one enroll one; in ten weeks we'll have 28,000 done."

New Pavilion for Campground

You who attended camp meeting this year remember how anxious we became about our old tent during the windstorms. It was ripped in several places and, of course, it has too many small holes to be patched. The tent was purchased more than twenty-five years ago and it not only has served its purpose, as far as age is concerned, but it also is far too small for our week-end attendance.

When I mentioned to some of you at camp meeting that we must plan for either a new tent or a pavilion in the very near future, you heartily agreed with me that this is a primary need. I remember well that one member pressed a dollar bill into my hand and said, "I want to be number one on the list." That is the right spirit. There is no doubt that he will duplicate that gift many times before the new pavilion is built.

The committee took an action in June to go ahead to raise money for this purpose from our constituency and, as was mentioned at camp meeting, we received a hearty endorsement of this action. We have set aside Sabbath, October 5, to receive such an offering and pledges in all our churches in the West Virginia Conference. Envelopes have been sent to our churches to be distributed to the members. We suggest that you make it a liberal offering. There are those who can give fifty dollars or $100. Others may be able to give only five dollars or ten dollars. Whatever the amount may be, it will be greatly appreciated. We also invite former members, who now live in other parts of the country, or friends of the West Virginia Conference, if you feel impressed to join us in this undertaking. The Lord has blessed us in this field and we must provide the best as our people come to camp meeting.

We have a strong evangelistic program in progress. This year a great harvest of souls will be reaped. May the Lord bless you as you pray and give.

New Jersey

Transfer of Workers

RECENTLY Elder George M. Woodruff, who has served as pastor of the Jersey City and West New York Churches, received an invitation to become pastor of the Williamsport district in the East Pennsylvania Conference. Brother Woodruff accepted this call. The latter part of August he and his fine little family bade farewell to this conference to assume his new duties.

Elder Woodruff served in New Jersey for nearly ten years, having begun his ministry here. He gave faithful and loyal service. Our prayers go with him as he assumes his new duties in another portion of the Lord's great vineyard.

In order to fill the vacancy in this district, the Conference committee voted to request Elder Thomas A. Green, who is at present serving as pastor of the Camden and Mount Holly Churches, to become the new pastor of the Jersey City and West New York Churches. Elder Green and his family will be moving to Jersey City the first of October.

The committee also invited Dan Cotton, who has been serving as assistant pastor of the Newark Church, to assume the pastorate of the Camden and Mount Holly Churches. Brother and Sister Cotton and their two little girls will be moving to their new district the first of October.

Virgil Fryling, who has been serving as assistant pastor of the Trenton Church, has been released under the internship plan to spend a year at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary in Washington, D. C. He will return to the New Jersey Conference the latter part of next August.

The committee also voted to place a call for the services of Donald Rice to serve as an intern in this conference, assisting Elder E. D. Calkins in the Trenton-Burlington district. Brother and Sister Rice and their little daughter arrived in the latter part of August and have taken up their new duties. We extend a very hearty welcome to Brother and Sister Rice as they join our family of Conference workers.

J. W. OSBORN

CAMP MEETING AT PARKERSBURG, 1957. The tent was purchased more than twenty-five years ago. Not only is it pretty well worn out, but it is too small for the week-end attendance.

New Spanish Church Purchased

ON September 4 final papers were signed for the purchase of a Jewish synagogue which is now in the process of being remodeled into the Paterson Spanish Church.

This fine, sturdy building is located in the very center of the Spanish-speaking section of Paterson. The main auditorium with a balcony on three sides, is located on the second floor. The seating capacity is estimated to be 300. The ground floor has a large room which can be used for prayer meeting and smaller meeting purposes. There are several other rooms which will be converted into Sabbath school rooms.

In the remodeling approximately $5,000 in cash will be spent in modernization. In addition, artisans of various trades from both the Paterson English Church and the Paterson Spanish Church will donate their talents and labor.

This forward step in the work at Paterson has brought great rejoicing to the hearts of the Spanish Church membership. Until the present time that church has had no home of its own. Organized several years ago, it had to depend on a rented auditorium for its meeting place. This necessitated several moves. At the present time the Spanish Church is meeting in very crowded quarters on the third story of an office building.

About a year ago this Jewish synagogue was discovered to be for sale. The owners occupied a new synagogue not far away. Eight months were given for the raising of the money. The members of the Spanish Church began to work zealously and ardently to accumulate the necessary funds. With Conference assistance, the objective was reached.

Immediately after the purchase of the building, plans for renovation were set in motion. The Spanish congregation will take occupancy October 15. When the renovations and remodeling are completed, the church will be dedicated.

This is the first monument to our Spanish work in New Jersey. Our work among the Spanish-speaking people is growing rapidly. In the past three years two churches have been organized and accepted into the sisterhood of churches. Two other companies are now forming—one in Elizabeth and the other in Perth Amboy. Elder J. I. Rivera, our Spanish pastor-evangelist, and his Bible instructor, Mrs. Julia Delgado, are constantly engaged in evangelism. The Lord is richly blessing their endeavors. Their faithful leadership and the zealous soul-winning ardor of the Spanish people are causing rapid growth.

It is our earnest prayer that the Lord will continue to bless the labors of our Spanish brethren and to make their new church in Paterson a burning and a shining light.

Through the air comes this modern miracle in uranium prospecting — the airborne Nuclimeter pinpointing the radioactive ore. And through the air, radio beams the message of "H.M.S. Richards, Speaker of The Voice of Prophecy, a Seventh-day Adventist Minister," to find its way into the hearts of millions each Sunday — coast-to-coast and overseas. Truly this is a modern-day communication miracle, making possible a ministry unequalled in reaching so many so effectively.

Just as millions of tons of uranium-bearing ore await discovery by air search, so the millions of souls yet unawakened await the Word of Life which can reach them by air.

Only through your prayers and regular financial support can The Voice of Prophecy speed its search for the millions who must be discovered for God. While

Summer Camps

THE Potomac Conference MV Department has just completed a very successful summer of camping for the youth of the Potomac Conference.

The new camp site for the primary boys and girls near Montebello was in use for the first time, beginning on July 14. Following were two junior camps and the teen-age camp.

The first camp to be held was that for the primary children, at which ninety-three boys and girls were in attendance. The first junior camp saw the enrollments jump to 120; the second junior camp was filled to capacity, 140 campers making use of the fine, new facilities at the new camp site. There were thirty-seven teen-age campers for the fourth camp.

The brand-new camp, although not quite completed, is going to prove to be the very finest camp you can find anywhere on the east coast. It is surrounded by nature from which lessons can be taught and information gained. There are many trails going through the woods. The Appalachian Trail that was frequently used is only four miles from the camp site. The surrounding country is rich in Indian lore and history. Several Indian arrowheads were found by the campers and staff members.

After camp was over, several churches of the Conference engaged the camp facilities for week-end retreats. The Buena Vista, Stanley, and Lynchburg Churches already have encamped at the site, and reservations have been received from Petersburg, Richmond, and Kilmar-nock. It is estimated that between 750 and 1,000 people will use the facilities of this camp during the first months of its operation.

The camp has not been officially named yet, as the contest is being continued through next spring, at which time several free weeks of camping will be given to boys and girls who send in the name that is selected.

Certainly we are grateful to the Conference committee for their generosity in permitting the camp to be built and for the supplying of the necessary funds for such a building program. The hundreds of young people, staff members, and adults who camped at the site this summer are indeed grateful to the committee for providing such a wonderful place in which to retreat and live closer to nature and God.

SHENANDOAH Valley Academy, which is bursting at the seams with its record enrollment of 180 students, announces several staff changes for the new school year.

Mrs. Pearl Deiter who faithfully served the school for fourteen years as dean of girls, laundry supervisor, and food service director (at times all of these at once, but mostly as the last) is now dean of nurses at Washington Sanitarium. She is replaced by Mrs. Laura Haines of Hagerstown, Md. Mrs. Haines was food service director for the Chesapeake Conference camp meeting and also for the youth camps in that conference.

Replacing Mrs. Paul Riley as assistant food service director is Mrs. Belva Altizer. Mrs. Altizer, whose husband was killed in the tragic mine disaster at Bishop, Va., last spring, has three children in the Academy and one in the New Market Church school.

Paul Riley, former dean of boys, is now serving in a similar capacity at Atlantic Union College. He has been replaced by David Bauer who, like Mr. Riley, is an alumnus of the Academy. Mr. Bauer, who has a Master's Degree from the Theological Seminary, also will teach several classes in social studies and physical education.

Mrs. Bauer is the former Marilyn Haase of Newark, N. J. She has assumed the position of elementary teacher of the New Market Church school, replacing Georgene Mine-singer who is now teaching in the Toledo, Ohio, Junior Academy.

In the accompanying pictures you will see the service for the Morning Watch and flag raising around the flag pole, nestled down in the beautiful hills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. In the lower picture you will see the living "MV-'57" spelled out by the boys and girls who were in attendance at Junior Camp Number Two, at which time the lake was open for swimming for the first time.

Another change in the staff was necessitated when Emily Robinson, the dean of girls, was called to Indiana Academy to serve as English and commercial teacher. Taking her place is Mrs. C. C. Ellis who was the Blue Mountain Academy dean of girls last year.

Mrs. Ellis, wife of the assistant pastor of the New Market Church, is a veteran Christian educator, having been principal of several Adventist schools. She also will be the school nurse and will teach freshman English and home economics.

Ivan Graham, former maintenance supervisor, who is filling a similar post in the San Pasqual Academy at Escondido, Calif., has been replaced by Stanley Haines, husband of the Academy's new food service director. Mr. Haines is an experienced builder and maintenance man, having served the Chesapeake Conference for a number of years.

Personnel changes are not the only changes at Shenandoah. Two new faculty homes are nearing completion and the interior and exterior of the dormitories and administration building have been completely repainted. The big and long-awaited project—the construction of a new $350,000 girls' dormitory—is to begin within the next few weeks. A grateful faculty and student body wish to take this opportunity to thank the members of the Potomac Conference for gifts and donations that make this building program possible.

Dayton Evangelistic Meetings To Begin September 29

THE Duffield-Shafer evangelistic team will open a new eight-week series in Dayton, Ohio, 7:30 P.M., Sunday, September 29.

Meetings will be held in the city's key auditorium, Memorial Hall, 125 East First Street. Dayton's main attractions are always scheduled in this building and residents of the area are accustomed to attending big events in this hall.

The evangelistic group has made careful preparations for this series of meetings and they solicit three things from our members living in Dayton and cities nearby:

Bowling Green Church Enters Float in Wood County Fair Parade

The float pictured here was entered in the Wood County Fair at Bowling Green, Ohio, August 8, by the Bowling Green Church. It won third place honors in the parade and a purse of $30. The award money was used to help finance a "rest tent" exhibit, also sponsored at the fair by the Bowling Green Church. On the float (l. to r.) are: Janice Baker, Bonnie Baker, Judy Clarke, Delores Sypes, Peggy Rochester, Thelma Ludwig, Tony Heisen, Janet Sypes, and Larry Rochester. Elder J. W. Clarke, pastor of the church, reports that materials used to construct the float cost about $20. Church members helping prepare the float were: Henry Ludwig, Merle Klopfenstein, Gary Baker, Edna Euler, M. Klopfenstein, Doris Baker, Maybelle Ludwig, May Bordner, Nellie Howard, and the pastor's wife, Mrs. J. W. Clarke. We do not know how many lives were reached by this combined project, but we do know that thousands in Wood County have seen something of the work of Seventh-day Adventists.

1. Your prayers that God's Spirit may be present to bless and direct in all activities.

2. Names of friends, relatives, and other interests who should be contacted.

3. Your presence at each meeting.

Requests number one and two are very important, and the success of this Dayton effort depends much upon your cooperation in these important matters. But may I especially stress item three—YOUR PRESENCE AT EACH MEETING.

We speak often about Billy Graham and other great evangelists and wonder at their success. Much of that success comes as a result of the loyal support of community and area churches where meetings are conducted.

Naturally, other Protestant churches are not going to join hands with us in such a venture, but we can band together as a people and strengthen the hands of our workers. The results will be in direct proportion to our support.

There will be only eight short weeks in this series, and meetings will be held on Sunday, Thursday, and Saturday evenings each week. What a help and encouragement it would be to Elders Duffield, Shafer, and Collar if the major portion of each church congregation from cities surrounding Dayton could attend each of these meetings. The blessings would be twofold: first, upon the church itself; and, second, upon the community.

Here are a few of the church groups to whom we shall especially look for help: Springfield, New Carlisle, Hamilton, Middletown, Cincinnati (Fairfax Avenue and Walnut Hills), Piqua, and Wilmington.

EVANGELISM

Detamore Team in Harrisburg Series; 1,200 Attend Opening on September 15

By V. G. Anderson

President, Columbia Union Conference

HARRISBURG, Pa., was the scene on Sunday night, September 15, of the start of a major evangelistic campaign by the Detamore-Holley-Turner-Flory team from Texas.

F. W. Detamore

An exact total of 1,237 persons, the majority of them non-Adventists, filled the Scottish Rite Auditorium in the capital city of Pennsylvania for the opening-night session.

Meetings are scheduled to be held every night for twenty-one consecutive days. A large group of workers from the East Pennsylvania Conference staff are on hand to assist in visitation and to attend a ten-day ministerial institute.

It was a thrilling sight to see people streaming into the beautiful, new auditorium as early as 7:00 o'clock. By 7:30 the auditorium was well-filled and by the time the ministers came onto the platform the hall was completely filled. The crowd overflowed to a small, normally unused balcony and many stood during the entire service.

Here again was further proof that public evangelism is not a thing of the past. Newspaper advertising heralded the meeting as sponsored by Seventh-day Adventists. A vast majority of the people in attendance listen to and watch the Voice of Prophecy and Faith for Today programs, as indicated by the show of hands that night. And yet the people came to a dignified, yet effective, evangelistic program.

Elder T. E. Unruh, President of the East Pennsylvania Conference, was on hand to welcome the evangelistic group and to introduce Elder Detamore. Elder A. W. Ortner, local pastor, had arrangements well in hand and everything in readiness.

Elder Fordyce Detamore, a veteran evangelist, preached a powerful sermon, "Our Shattered World." The opening program also included music by R. M. Turner, singing evangelist for the team. Others associated with the group are Elder W. R. Holley, campaign manager, and Elder Harold Flory, associate evangelist, and their wives.

A total of 750 names were secured the first night. The offering amounted to more than $350—a wonderful start in the financial program. By the time this issue of the VISITOR reaches the local conferences a visitation program will be in full swing. Every morning from 9:30 to 12:30 Elder Detamore and his associates conduct an evangelistic institute for all the local conference workers in attendance at the meetings.

A wonderful start has been made at Harrisburg by the Detamore team. It was the largest evangelistic audience in East Pennsylvania in many years. As far as can be determined it was one of the largest evangelistic crowds in the entire Columbia Union for a number of years.

Elder Detamore will begin his second three-week series at Pittsburgh, Pa., on October 20. Please pray for the continued success of this wonderful team of soul winners. We earnestly solicit the support of all our members in this concerted drive for souls.

This is just the start. Elder H. R. Veach is scheduled to begin soon his series in Altoona, Pa. Elder H. Brendel and his team will begin their fall program October 26 in Cleveland, Ohio. Elder E. F. Koch starts in Huntington, W. Va., October 6. Elder Duffield begins in Dayton, Ohio, October 26. Other major efforts are in the planning stages. It is the onward march of evangelism in the Columbia Union Conference!
