Columbia Union Leads Division In Sales For Five Months

ACCORDING to official reports received in the Washington office of the Columbia Union Conference, literature evangelists in this area are leading the entire North American Division in total sales for the first five months of 1961.

Elder Bruce Wickwire, Union Conference Publishing Secretary, says that bookmen of the Union reported a total of $474,151.09 for this period, which is $50,589.29 more than for the same period in 1960.

High Conference in the totals is the Allegheny field. The largest gain was noted by the Ohio Conference and only two conferences showed a loss while six showed a gain during the five months over the same period in 1960.

A record-breaking number of student literature evangelists are now at work, says Elder Wickwire. To give needed help and stimulus to the student program a series of student rallies are being held this summer. Student rallies have already been held in the Chesapeake, East Pennsylvania, Potomac, West Pennsylvania, and West Virginia conferences. Future rallies will be held in Ohio at Mount Vernon, July 28-30, at Cleveland, Ohio for the Allegheny Conference, August 29-31, and in New Jersey, August 3-5, at Kingstons.

Elder Wickwire says that some of the students are delivering as high as $1,000 worth of books per week. He terms it "the best student program in the history of the Columbia Union Conference."

Leading the Union Conference in sales is G. W. Barnes, of New Jersey, followed closely by Ralph Krum, of the Chesapeake Conference. Other highs have been registered by J. H. Creighton, of the Potomac Conference; Charles Reiley, of West Virginia, Oscar Dunn, of the Allegheny Conference; and Charles Wiles, of

We solicit the prayers of our entire membership of the Union Conference for both the regular and the student bookmen as they carry on their soul-winning work for the remainder of the summer.

SVA Farm Enables Students To Earn While Learning

THE farm and dairy of Shenandoah Valley Academy provide practical working experience and a means to reduce educational expenses for nearly 30 boys. Both industries are managed by George Corson, a graduate of the school.

The dairy, supervised by Silas Still, employs eight boys. The boys who work there receive valuable experience in the process of homogenizing, pasteurizing, and cooling milk. They also become familiar with the medical part of cow veterinary. The dairy herd comprises 120 animals and yields approximately 52 thousand pounds of milk a month. Besides providing all the milk for the school and faculty, it also supplies a Washington market. The dairy boys usually work an average of 25 hours a week.

The farm, under the direct supervision of Mr. Corson and assisted by Charles Tucker, employs 19 boys who work an average of 18 hours a week. The activities of the farm crew range from raising and harvesting crops, treating seed and grain, and preparing feed to all kinds of construction work. During the off-season for crops, the boys gain experience in hauling and cutting pulp wood. Last year the boys laid a 2,000-foot pipeline which supplies several pasture spots with water. The farm is pushing a program to increase production per acre.

"The farm and dairy tries to keep its machinery up with the modern farming trend," says Mr. Corson. The equipment of the farm and dairy includes trucks and tractors, irrigation equipment, and the usual farm and dairy equipment. The boys are given opportunity to operate machinery when they have had some experience and exhibit care and dependability in their work.

By doing the various jobs they have a chance to become acquainted with all phases of the farm program. "The experience gained from the farm and dairy," explains Mr. Corson, "provides a large field for specializing in such things as animal husbandry, milk processing, farm construction, chemical controls, and agronomy."

Four Students of One Family At Virginia School

By Eugene N. Smith

A SENIOR, junior, sophomore, and freshman—all in one school and all in one family. The Harold S. Campbells of Bethlehem, Pa., had three daughters and a son attending Shenandoah Valley Academy last year.

Hal, a senior, and Jeanne, a junior, were the first Campbells to arrive on the campus of S.V.A. They came for the school year of 1958-1959. The next year they were joined by Kathy, a sophomore, and this past year by JoAnn, a freshman.

During the time the four Campbells have attended S.V.A., they have been an active part of the school family. Hal wrote a sports column for the school paper in his junior year, and this year he demonstrated his weight-lifting ability during a chapel period.

Jeanne was a representative to the Student/Faculty Council in her freshman year and also was the social secretary of Thea Fia, the girls' club.

Kathy worked in the science lab, and during the two years she has attended S.V.A. she has been vice-president of her class. She, too, has written articles for the Shen-Val-Lore.

JoAnn is interested in music and likes to spend some of her time playing the piano and organ.

To All Friends of Michigan—

You are invited to be present on Homecoming Sabbath, August 12, which will climax this year's camp meeting of the Michigan Conference.

This has been a year of intense activity in evangelism which has been the pastors' and members' method of commemorating the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Michigan Conference, the first of the denomination.

The high light of the Sabbath-afternoon program will be the trophy march as these newly baptized members will tell of their conversion. The evening program will feature a historical pageant.

If you are a former Michigan member or pastor, you have a cordial invitation to attend camp meeting on Homecoming Sabbath, August 12, at the campground near Grand Ledge, Mich.

New Members Record Impressions of Charlottesville Retreat

ON Friday afternoon, May 26, we left work with a feeling of great excitement. This was our first opportunity as newly baptized members to attend the annual weekend retreat of the Charlottesville district. We had met many of the members, but had never had an opportunity to get acquainted, and we were wondering what kind of people these Adventists really were.

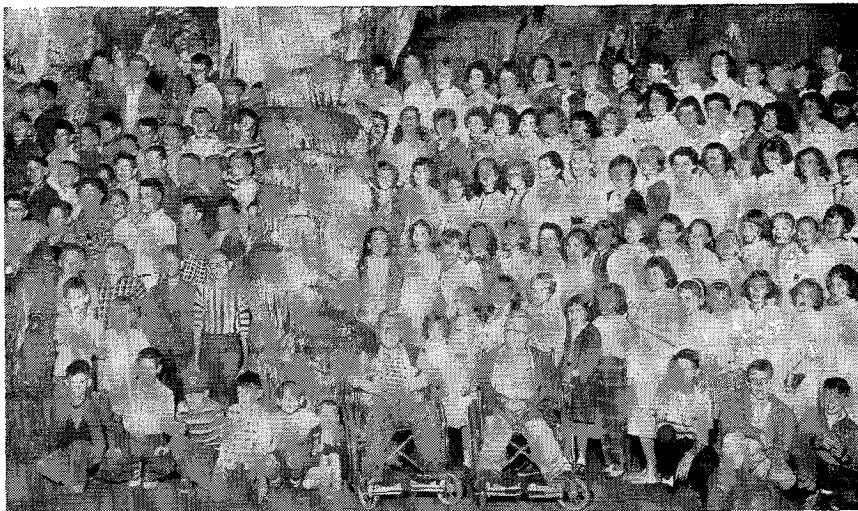

We arrived at Camp Albemarle just as it stopped raining. Our first glimpse of camp was some rain-soaked buildings back among the trees. The temperature was in the chilly low 40's. This rather cool, dismal first impression was quickly driven away, however, by the warm greeting of our pastor, Carl Hartman, and the delicious aroma of food that had been prepared by his wife, Betty.

Flag lowering followed supper, and as we heard the bubbling stream, felt the brisk, cold air, and saw the tall, wet trees, we were led to realize how close God and nature really are.

We eagerly pressed close to the great stone fireplace to warm ourselves as the evening program began. Elder E. J. Barnes and his wife were our special guests for the weekend. Elder Barnes showed slides of western mountains, flowers, birds, etc. As we looked and listened, we were impressed that both were well acquainted with God's second book of instruction, the book of nature. The night air was cold as we went to our bunks, but we were thankful for the warm friendships that we were making among the Adventist believers.

On Sabbath morning early risers braved the cold to go on a bird walk. Although just 25 campers stayed for the entire weekend, by the time breakfast was over 70 to 80 people had arrived for the Sabbath services. The high lights of the day were the Sabbath school and worship services. A fine lesson study was presented by

The juniors from the Potomac Conference Camp Meeting are caught with their mouths wide open as they sing "Give Me Oil for My Lamp." This is an appropriate song as they stand about 250 feet below the surface of the earth in Luray Caverns, Va. This group enjoyed other recreational activities and many spiritual blessings under the enthusiastic leadership of the camp-meeting junior staff. The staff was composed of Herbert Broeckel, Robert Clark, Douglas Cross, Carl Hartman, Nicholas Klim, and Richard Rideout.

our church school teacher, S. A. Minesinger. Elder Barnes presented a wonderful sermon on trees and Christian growth.

The Sabbath afternoon hours were filled with a hike, nature activities, Bible games, and singing. As we listened to the singing, we had a wonderful feeling that those who had only been names to us a short time ago now had become brethren; we all seemed like one big family, one in faith and God.

Saturday night was filled with games and motion pictures that were enjoyed by young and old alike. We arose Sunday morning to find the sun beaming through the trees. This was the last day of camp and God had blessed us with a perfect day. Breakfast, softball, and camp clean-up came in all too rapid succession, and we were soon reluctantly saying good-bye.

Our hearts were heavy because the good time was over, but we were deeply grateful that we had not been disappointed in the kind of people Seventh-day Adventists are. Thank God for Christian people like these. [Note: The Marions were baptized and married on the same day, December 21, 1960.]

Ohio Camp Meeting Is Best Yet, Say Officials

BEAUTIFUL weather, Elder H. M. S. Richards and the "Voice of Prophecy" group, and Dr. F. D. Nichol combined to pack Ohio's camp-grounds July 7 and 8 with nearly 5,000 Seventh-day Adventists.

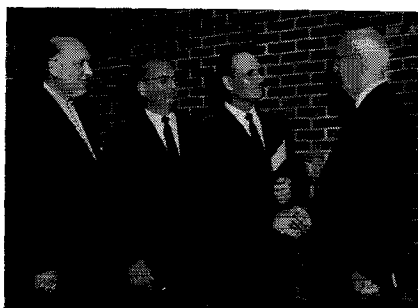

This was the largest and best camp meeting ever held in Ohio, say Conference officials. A sense of the urgency of the times seemed to pervade each meeting. The Spirit of God was very evident as hundreds responded to consecration calls.

God is preparing a people for the eternal kingdom and "this camp meeting was a steppingstone in that direction"—so said many interviewed on the grounds over the last weekend of the camp session.

The photo shows a portion of the 11:00 o'clock hour congregation on Sabbath, July 8.

Grand Exodus

You have arrived. You are either a college student now in good and regular standing or you have been accepted for the fall term and are anticipating your big move to the campus.

And, oh boy, what a move that will be. Haven't you always yearned of getting away from parental rule and being on your own. Sure, you went away to academy but that's small time compared with what you are going to be oriented into. Hundreds of kids your own age to date and run around with, good times in the big city of Washington, sneaking out of the dorm late at night for wild rides in the country, and hundreds of other pulsating attractions awaiting your arrival. And by the way, have you heard about the deans? Pushovers! Why you can feed them the biggest lines and they're suckers for them every time. Well almost every time. But what takes the cake is the study routine. You know how your high school teachers pumped you with that nonsense about studying twice as hard when you got to college, etc.? College isn't hard at all. No one studies except when its absolutely necessary and ...

And don't believe a word of it. If this is your idea of Columbia Union College and believe me, quite a few people come to college with exactly this idea, then don't bother to even anticipate your big move for the fall term. You won't lose for the first nine weeks, gradewise or otherwise. And as far as exploiting your dormitory deans, don't try it. They're here for a purpose and they know what that purpose is even if you don't. I won't attempt to go any further into my schizophrenic editorial on college life, but take some good advice and listen to what your parents, teachers and especially your friends who are successful in college have to tell you. Come with the idea that you're here to prepare yourself for the future and try your best to make a success of your college career. Do all this and the fun and excitement that you have dreamed of will be yours. And you'll be able to stay to enjoy it. See you at registration!

"Cream of the Crop"

You have arrived. You are either a college student now in good and regular standing or you have been accepted for the fall term and are anticipating your big move to the campus.

Of course, you have many dreams and hopes for your college career but you may discover that college isn't all you thought it would be. All your dreams of a big social whirl and hopes of top grades can go down the drain with a few careless gestures.

The most important thing to remember in college is don't sit back and wait for things to come to you, go out and get them. Your success or failure in college depends on YOU! There is no magic formula for popularity. Just be your friendly self and you'll make friends fast.

You should realize too, that now you are not competing with high school or academy students for grades. You are competing with "the cream of the crop" from all the high schools and academies from many states. This, of course, makes the competition pretty stiff. A good plan to follow for the first nine weeks is to study as hard as you can and wait for the grades to come out. If you've done pretty good then you can sort of let up on the studying and enter into some extra-curricular activities. If the grades aren't so good, hit the books twice as hard the second nine weeks. There will be plenty of time to "goof off" later.

We'll be looking forward to meeting and becoming acquainted with you. See you in the fall!—JCS

In Retrospect

Dear Editor:

I would like to make a few comments on this college.

Prior to coming here, I had attended a large public university. Therefore, this college was a new experience to me. I want to say that after being out of school awhile and returning to school here, it has been a very enjoyable experience. I have found that the lessons are much harder than I had in similar fields at my state university.

I would like to say that the social events have been very well planned and very enjoyable. Would like to say too, that I met a lot of nice people through the so-called regimented seating in the cafeteria.

I want to wish the senior class good luck as they go to various places to take up various duties and in some cases further schooling. I have enjoyed knowing the ones that I met.

My only regret about this college is that I didn't come sooner.

Sincerely,

Song Leader, Business Manager and Inventory Clerk

Mohr Reports From Curacao

Dear Members of the Sligo MV Society:

I ARRIVED safely in Willemstad, Curacao, after a day of flying aboard a Royal Dutch Airliner. Like Marlin and Dick I found no one waiting for me, and I had quite a hectic time fighting off taxi drivers while trying to locate the mission office by phone. After contacting someone and waiting for two hours, Elder Christensen, the president of the mission, came for me and immediately took me to the tent evangelistic effort that is currently being held. I have been working ever since then.

Inexperience No Excuse

Helping in this tent effort has been the biggest job so far. I was immediately made song leader and direct song service every evening although I had never done anything along that line before. I found out early that inexperience is never an excuse in the mission field. If a job needs to be done, you have to do it, there is no one else. When Elder Zackrisson, the mission MV secretary, left for Youth's Congress in Colombia, I was also made business manager of the effort in charge of the finances and programming. This is the work that I am doing now.

Since the effort has not occupied all my time, I have been given all sorts of odd jobs to do. Yesterday I took inventory of the books in many languages at the Book and Bible House. I have typed, drawn posters, cut paint stencils, and about anything else you might think of to do.

Translation Helpful

Curacao is an island of 180 square miles with a hot tropical climate. Most of its population is Negro. They speak Dutch, English, or Papiamentu. Papiamentu is a scrambled combination of Spanish, Dutch, English, Portuguese, and several other languages. Fortunately, most meetings are done by translation in English and Papiamentu, so I have had no real difficulty yet.

400 "Friendly" Members

There are three churches on the island plus two small congregations, a total of about 400 members. The members have been very friendly and helpful to me. Our work has been quite successful in spite of the Catholic hold on the people and the usual mission difficulty of a lack of money and workers.

This has, of necessity, been a short and sketchy report, but I will give you a complete report when I return.

Sincerely yours,

Honor Roll Cites Outstanding Students

71 Named From Lower Division

ABOUT one in every ten students enrolled second semester earned at least a B average in all academic work.

This was announced today when the Honor Roll was released by registrar officials. Students, to qualify for the Honor Roll, must carry at least eight hours, maintain at least a B average if a lower division student and a B plus average if upper division.

Totally, 71 were named to the list from lower division (freshman, sophomore) ranks. Eighteen upper division students qualified.

Following is the Honor Roll:

LOWER DIVISION:

"Cool" Classes Led By Davidson, Harris

As Washington's hot and humid weather takes its toll of those who hoped for top grades, the students of the Columbia Union College Biological Field Station are experiencing an unforgettable summer of being among blue meadows and forests of the Allegheny Mts. Here, 30 miles west of Staunton, Va., and in the heart of the George Washington National Forest, during pleasant days and cool nights these students are finding that observance is one of the main keys to the learning process.

The valley where the station is located fairly teems with living things. Among the innumerable common things found have been deer, wild turkey, bear, birds, and wild flowers and insects of every sort.

Professor Lester Harris and Dr. John Davidson are instructing this summer. During the first term which ended July 14, Professor Harris taught edology of terrestrial vertebrates and philosophy of science; Dr. Davidson taught endomology and field natural history. Beginning the second term, July 16, Prof. Harris will teach field natural history and materials and methods for teaching nature. Dr. Davidson will teach ornithology.

If you feel you are lacking in a knowledge of the Creator's works, consider the advantage of learning first hand from these things. For more information write to either Dr. W. H. Beaven, dean of the summer session, or Prof. Lester Harris, Biological Field Station, Headwaters, Va.

New Church Organized With Assist From Laymen

ROLAND PLATER and his wife lived 45 miles from the nearest Seventh-day Adventist church, but every Sabbath found them in Sabbath school and church with their three small children.

They traveled happily from their home in Prince Frederick, Md., to the Ephesus Church in Washington, D. C. It was here they learned, through a visitor, that a church had been organized in Annapolis, Md., and this was only 35 miles away.

They enrolled their children in the Sabbath School and soon they became very active in all phases of the Annapolis Church activities. Rain or shine always found the Platers in their places in the church.

Once Mrs. Plater was heard to say, "Wouldn't it be nice if we could have a church in Prince Frederick." At this time the Plater family and the sister and brother-in-law of Mrs. Plater were the only known Adventists in the Prince Frederick area.

When Pastor Alfred Jones conducted an evangelistic meeting in Annapolis he could depend on the Platers to help boost the crowd. Mr. Plater came nightly with his station wagon or truck loaded with visitors. On one occasion the Platers exceeded their usual record and brought 26 visitors to the evangelistic meeting one evening from Prince Frederick to Annapolis. He rented a school bus and paid the bill himself. To explain this wonderful Christ-like spirit Mr. Plater modestly said, "I'd like to do this more often."

An open-air meeting was held in the yard of a Mrs. King who had recently moved to the community. She also was a Seventh-day Adventist. As a result of advertising this open-air meeting, Mrs. Mary Johnson, who traveled 65 miles from her home in Lusby, Md., to Washington, D. C., learned that there was a small zealous group of Adventists working hard to hasten Christ's soon coming only 15 miles from her home. She visited the Prince Frederick group which was being operated as a branch Sabbath school of the Annapolis Church. Sgt. Richard Brown and Mrs. Victoria Turner, Sabbath School Superintendents of the Annapolis Church, untiringly assisted Pastor Jones in getting this work established.

Mary Johnson offered land and practically co-sponsored a tent meeting on a spacious lot on Highway #2 in the Prince Frederick area. From every human standpoint this would be the least ideal place to conduct an evangelistic meeting. The place was completely rural, most of the houses were far apart and the only means of transportation was by car or by foot. But the meeting proved to be successful.

One has only to visit the little church by the side of the road in Prince Frederick, Md., to see how the Lord has richly blessed. Almost every Sabbath morning you will find approximately 30 men, women, and visitors. In all probability the Platers have transported almost half of them from over the hills and through the woods before arriving themselves.

Report From the Oil City District in Pennsylvania

It was such a privilege to unite with the Oil City members for a soul-winning campaign April 1-22. Every member seemed to rally every talent to help. All will remember the big snow storm the opening night.

From evening to evening we could see the Lord working, calling out His honest in heart. When the hour of decision came many precious hearts responded. We could not succeed without our precious laymen rallying to the mighty call of the Third Angel's Message. When each member considers himself a soldier in the ranks of Prince Emanuel, a pulse of power is felt throughout the church. Then and only then can the work be finished.

I want to thank the Pastor, Elder Gordon G. Creighton, for his hours of untiring visiting. Ray West, one of our interns, left no clod unturned in his search for the lost. All together we rejoice in God's grace and power to save souls for His Kingdom.

News Notes

- THE West Virginia Conference Committee voted that the next camp meeting dates be June 8-16, 1962.

- Have you enrolled yet in the Prophetic Guidance School Course? If not, please do so! This is an unusually interesting and informative course on the Spirit of Prophecy, offered by the "Voice of Prophecy." You may enroll by sending $1.00 to The Prophetic Guidance School, Box 200, Glendale 5, Calif.

- Dr. Wyman and family have just recently located in Huntington. We welcome Dr. Wyman and his family as a practicing physician.

- Dr. G. E. Hartle is returning to West Virginia after an absence of more than a year.

- A medical graduate from the College of Medicine, Loma Linda University, is coming to the West Virginia University Medical Hospital for his internship.

- Mr. Peterson, a layman from Charleston, has gone to Indore to be the lay-shepherd-carpenter. He is giving his time during the week on the building and on Sabbaths assists in a spiritual way.

- With a great amount of sacrifice upon the group at Indore, and with the help of the conference and other missionary-minded individuals, a church school will be started at Indore this coming September. This is a demonstration of what teamwork and sacrifice can bring about. It was last fall that the building project for the meeting place got underway and now this group is proceeding with a school program.

- Prof. J. F. Harold, Principal of the Charleston School, has accepted the challenge of pioneering the church school at Indore. Prof. Harold declined an invitation to be principal of a much larger school in another conference and is moving with his family to Indore. Let us all unite in prayer for this worthy endeavor.

- Are you making arrangements to send your children to our church schools or to Mt. Vernon Academy or Columbia Union College this September? Our children must be in our own schools.

Broader Educational Possibilities at Parkersburg Junior Academy

WITH the coming of the 1961-62 school term in September, the Parkersburg Junior Academy is opening its doors to the youth of Junior Academy age throughout our West Virginia Conference. We know there are young people in our churches who cannot afford to go to a boarding academy and still are eager to attend a Christian school.

A number of our Seventh-day Adventist Parkersburg families are making ready to open their homes to such boys and girls. A local Placement Director has been appointed to act as a liaison in finding a Christian "home away from home" for these young people.

Our local School Board feels the urgency of helping to prepare the army of workers which our youth rightly trained can make.

Any young people or families desiring further information regarding enrollment this fall, please get in touch with Ruth Vaughan, Placement Director, Parkersburg Junior Academy, P. O. Box 890, Parkersburg, W. Va. Telephone GARfield 2-0914 or GARfield 8-1615. Registration blanks and bulletin will be sent on request. The opening day of school is September 5.

Mothers in Charge of Sabbath Services

FIVE years ago, almost to the day, the Asbury Park Church adopted the idea of celebrating Mother's Day by having only mothers take part in the various branches of the Sabbath school and church services on that day.

This year was no exception. Those taking part in the Sabbath school program were as follows: superintendent, Mrs. Evelyn Ascough; secretary, Mrs. Mabel Tilton; lesson study, Mrs. Signe Johannson; mission story, Mrs. Jacqueline McComas; song service, Mrs. Marie Pinterich; morning devotions, Mrs. Olive Ivins; special music, Mrs. Novella Cain of the Tom's River church, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ann Rhoads.

DEDICATED. Shown here are Mr. and Mrs. J. Benkirt and daughter, Debbie. The child was dedicated at the Asbury Park, N. J., Church in a special service.

At the close of Sabbath school, a corsage was presented to the oldest mother present, Mrs. Jane Nearing, and the youngest mother, Mrs. Dora Jones.

As part of the program Pastor Gordon Rhodes dedicated Debbie Ann Benkirt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Benkirt.

Mrs. Alethea Appleyard, a teacher in the Asbury Park grade school, gave the sermon. The subject was on "Mother Love." The invocation was by Mrs. Minnie Jones, devotions were by Mrs. Martha Jackson, a poem was given on mothers by Mrs. Carolyn Zimmer, and a vocal solo was presented by Mrs. Marie Kijack of the Perth Amboy church, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ann Rhoads. The deaconesses, Mrs. Evelyn Ascough, Mrs. Olive Ivins, Mrs. Mabel MOTHERS. This is the group of ladies who took part in the Mother's Day program at the Asbury Park, N. J., Church.

Tilton, and Mrs. Reba Bellis took up the offering. Benediction was by Mrs. Barbara Morrow.

In the future special efforts will be made to have a Father's Day program along the same ideas.

Church School Children Baptized

BAPTISM. On June 17, 1961, Elder William Goransson baptized five precious boys and girls, four of them from the church school. The children were Dalila Morales, Noemi Morales, Gloria Nazario, Doris Perez and Edwin Peralta. Several of these boys and girls have been selling "Life and Health" magazines to earn a scholarship for Summer Camp. One of these, Edwin Peralta, not only earned a scholarship for himself but one for his sister, has earned his Pathfinder uniform and was blessed by receiving a $20 tip at one time. He is a real little missionary.—Derrell K. Smith, Superintendent of Education.
