Downtown D. C. General Hospital

Report From Hadley Hospital in Washington

MANY Seventh-day Adventists of the Columbia Union Conference are unaware of the fact that Adventists have a modern hospital operating in the heart of Washington, D. C. This is the Hadley Memorial Hospital, owned and operated by the Columbia Union Conference. Perhaps you would like to know more about Hadley Hospital.

In the summer of 1952 seven patients were transferred from the Sixth Street Clinic to the new hospital. This hospital, which was built entirely by the earnings of the Sixth Street Clinic operated by Dr. Henry G. Hadley, except one per cent in gifts from friends, was given to the Columbia Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists soon after opening, which took over the operation. It is a 74-bed hospital and receives all patients regardless of race, creed, or color, for general hospital care. Its prime objective is to be of service to mankind, ministering to the needs of the sick efficiently and lovingly.

These 10 years have seen many changes. However, many of the original staff still remain at their posts of duty, namely, Dr. Hadley, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Chunn, Mrs. Reuter, Dr. Slate, Dr. Gibson, Dr. Sorkin, and others. Also other employees still there but in different capacities than originally are: Mrs. Kelsey, Mrs. Calloway, Mrs. Stapelton, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Esposito, Mrs. Mary Williams, and Mrs. Frances Ellis.

Originally one nurse took care of the Pharmacy and the Out-patient Department. Now, there are more than 100 patients a day and about 20 clinics. In-patients and surgery have a waiting list at all times. All departments have outgrown the planned, the clinic was moved to the hospital. The funds received from the sale will help to build a much-needed addition to the third floor, business office, and maintenance department.

In June of 1961 Harvey A. Rudisale was asked to take the position vacated by Wilma Tuttle, administrator, who was Dr. Hadley's secretary for many years, serving as the hospital's administrator from 1952 to June, 1961, and now completing her studies at George Washington University in hospital administration. New departments added in the past four years are Social Service and Volunteers. Also there is a full-time Bible instructor and a full-time chaplain, R. A. Wilson, who gives clinical training for ministers under the auspices of Andrews University.

During the year 1961 the hospital had a total income of over $1.1 million. Charity and allowances totaling over $41,000, were given. There were 3,258 admissions, staying an average of 7.1 days, making a total of 21,497 patient days.

Hadley Memorial Hospital employs 200 persons of whom 40 per cent are now Seventh-day Adventists. It is the goal of the administrator to increase the number of Seventh-day Adventist employees in the hospital as fast as the opportunities present themselves. Probably one of the greatest needs is for good, consecrated Christian nurses.

Several departments are proud of their new equipment received within the past six months. The Culinary Department is proud of the new ovens and stove. The X-ray department has a new control panel, dryer, stainless-steel tank, and transformer. The Laundry has a new dryer and sewing machine. Several office workers have new typewriters, and the switchboard operators are jubilant over their new switchboard with inter-office dialing and direct lines outside for offices. The Emergency Room and Obstetrics Department have new tables.

Since the hospital was built, the South Capitol Street bridge, the Woodrow Wilson bridge from Alexandria, and a portion of the new highway have been completed. Soon Bolling Air Force Base will be moving and that will make it much quieter. Sibley Hospital has moved to the northwest, and Providence Hospital has moved farther west, which leaves our Hadley Hospital the only general hospital on this side of the Anacostia River.

It is felt that, with all the growing pains, the objective of the hospital is still the same for patient care, and it will continue its successful growth.

A Thrilling "These Times" Report

HERE at the Southern Publishing Association we are constantly amazed and thrilled at the large number of readers who write in, expressing their appreciation for our journal. Let me quote at length from a letter from Fort Atchison, Wis.:

"I am a relief receptionist at night from 11:00 o'clock to 7:00 A.M., at our local hospital every Wednesday and then again every other weekend. This weekend I happened upon your March issue of These Times. I have found it very inspirational and helpful this weekend due to the lack of incoming patients, et cetera, leaving me much time on my hands to think seriously. Many times, I believe, if we had more of this type of material around, it would make for a better world. By the way, this happens to be the first time I had come across your magazine. I have four growing children and I believe that they will reap much from the issues too. . . . —Mrs. R. H."

How typical this is of the hundreds who write in, expressing their appreciation for the journal and of their dismay that it never came to their attention before. Just now we have our campaign on for the renewal of missionary subscriptions and the entering of new subscriptions.

As the editorial staff sat down and designed the journal for 1962, we devised a plan that we believe will meet with marvelous response around the field. We concluded that our publishing house is small enough to want to serve the field exactly the way the field wants to be served, and so we are designing These Times with that thought in mind. Beginning with the June issue, a marvelous series of 12 reprints and preprints will appear as center spreads in your missionary journal, These Times. This feature is unique in all the annals of Seventh-day Adventist publications.

Elder W. A. Fagal, the very popular and authoritative voice of Faith for Today, will do the writing, and in his marvelous style will present the great doctrines of the church in 12 comprehensive articles. These reprints and preprints, at the very heart of the journal, will make your missionary subscriptions more effective than ever before. We anticipate being able to start all of our new missionary subscriptions with number one of this series of reprints. Therefore, we urgently urge every church member to great promptness. Get your orders in so that your missionary subscriptions can be more effective than ever before in the winning of the lost. Be sure that your neighbors and friends, your loved ones whom you want to meet in the kingdom, all have their names in our missionary subscription list by June 1, so they will receive number one of this new, evangelistic reprint concept and follow right through the 12 numbers. No other journals published by Seventh-day Adventists have offered this service.

Order through your church missionary secretary or your Book and Bible House. Remember, hundreds are looking to you for introduction to the Christ as revealed in These Times for 1962. Our pledge is a better journal — Christ-revealing, Christ-centered, Christ-filled for 1962.

Chaplain Honored by Hospital Association

At a luncheon held on February 26 at the Morrison Hotel in Chicago, sponsored by the American Protestant Hospital Association, Chaplain Robert A. Wilson of Hadley Memorial Hospital was honored along with 11 others. Chaplain Wilson was given the status of being fully accredited as a chaplain by this Association. The Association comprises over 500 hospitals, and at the present time the Chaplain's Association has outgrown the parent body. This is the largest chaplain's association of its kind in the world.

There are some 342 accredited chaplains in the organization, and we are pleased that Chaplain Wilson can be among this group. In order to qualify, one must have a seminary degree, be screened by a group of psychiatrists, have at least two quarters of clinical training from an accredited clinical supervisor, and be recommended by some of the leading chaplains already in the Association. At this recent meeting, 12 new chaplains were accepted into the organization.

We feel that it brings some stature and recognition to our chaplains' work when one of our men can be recognized in this way. At the present time Chaplain Wilson is the only Seventh-day Adventist accredited by this organization. He plans to pursue further studies and training in order to qualify as a clinical training supervisor.

Meeting Held for D. C.-Area Servicemen

ELDER E. M. Peterson, War Service Secretary of the Columbia Union Conference, spoke to 120 servicemen and guests at the first of a series of monthly meetings on Sabbath afternoon, February 17, in the Review and Herald Chapel. His topic was "Does It Make Any Difference?"

Guest musician was Mrs. Marilyn Cotton who sang "God Speaks" and other numbers, accompanied by Sp. 5 Allen Breach. Sgt. Breach, who is chief clerk in the Chaplain's office at Walter Reed A.M.C., also contributed to the service by playing some lovely piano numbers.

Two Seventh-day Adventist military chaplains, Capt. Joseph T. Powell, and Capt. John Keplinger, offered prayers and spoke their greetings to the soldiers. These men

The service was under the direction of the Washington-area Civilian Chaplain, Elder Tom Green. Following the service, Elder and Mrs. Green received approximately 50 of the men in their home for a light supper and the closing of the Sabbath.

"At the present time there are approximately 230 Seventh-day Adventist Servicemen in the Washington area," Chaplain Green reports. "We want to encourage Seventh-day Adventists in the Washington area to pray for our men, and to show an active, personal interest in them while they are serving their tour of duty in our area. "Listen" Given Safety Council Award

Listen magazine was awarded the National Safety Council's Public Interest Award for Exceptional Service to Safety in 1961, it has been learned.

In a letter to Francis A. Soper, Editor of Listen, Howard Pyle, President of the National Safety Council, said: "We believe you are doing an important job for safety and we are delighted that the judges have seen fit to recognize this fact. We hope you feel, as we do, that there is another dividend as a result of your safety efforts—the knowledge that you have helped prevent many accidents."

This noncompetitive award annually honors exceptional service to safety. It was established in 1948 to honor leadership, initiative, and originality in promoting accident prevention through communication.

Encouraging safe driving without alcohol is only one phase of Listen's program of depicting positive and safe living habits for young people and adults. Listen is gratified for the honor bestowed upon it by the National Safety Council.

New Jersey

Report From Franklin

A NEW day is dawning for the Franklin Church in the beautiful northwest corner of New Jersey. Three or four years ago the church was struggling for its existence. Since then two families with children moved into the area from a nearby city, following the instruction of the Spirit of Prophecy in seeking a rural environment in which to rear their children.

These additions, plus a few baptisms over the past few months, have given the church a new lease on life. Besides the regular Sabbath services, the church now has a well-attended prayer meeting and an active MV Society. James Lumsden, one of the recent additions from a nearby metropolitan area, has become a full-time literature evangelist. He is doing very well and we anticipate that his work will give a great impetus to the soul-winning program of the church.

Rates will be approximately $2.50 per night per person. No deposit is required on rooms. However, on tent rentals a deposit of at least 50 per cent of the total order should accompany this application.

Under the former pastor, Elder A. M. Ragsdale, the church started a church-improvement fund to add much-needed rest rooms to the facilities of the church. This plan has now been revised to include a Sabbath School room that is being designed so that it can be used for the church school if necessary. The members have worked hard and sacrificed to raise money for this project.

In the last Ingathering campaign, $45 per capita was solicited by the membership. The Clem O'Neil and William Farrar families deserve special commendation for their hard work in making this possible. The reversion from this overflow, a $500 appropriation from the Conference, in addition to what the members have given, has now raised the building fund total to almost $2,000, or close enough to the estimated cost of the improvements to enable the church to begin work just as soon as the weather permits.

Pray for us and the Lord's work in Franklin. If there are any readers of this article looking for a beautiful rural environment and an opportunity to work for God, we invite you to come over to Franklin and help us. The area has two distinct advantages—it is in a nice rural environment and is within commuting distance of many job opportunities.

New Department in Ohio Conference

ALTHOUGH Church Development Service is not a new department within our denomination, it is new to Ohio. During the recent Biennial Session, your delegates voted to expand the Conference departmental structure to provide a church development service for Ohio.

Named to head the new service was Elder W. C. Loveless, district pastor of the Cincinnati-Hamlet area. Elder Loveless is quite well qualified to organize this new department because of his years of experience in directing the development of educational and other institutional facilities in conferences across the nation. At present he is studying the program provided in other conferences for church development and will participate in on-the-job training before setting up a department for Ohio.

Need for such a service in the Conference is pointed up by the fact that 22 new churches and schools were completed or were in process of construction during the past two years.

Church development service is just what the name implies. It is set up to assist you and your fellow church members in finding funds for needed expansion and construction of facilities for church worship and for schools.

It is certain that Elder Loveless's services will be very much in demand. Those planning to build new facilities, or to expand existing ones, should contact the Conference officers soon.

Youth Camp "Fly-in"?

THIS is an inquiry to all flying enthusiasts. If a "fly-in" could be arranged at our new Ohio youth camp, would you be interested in participating? Depending on your response, plans will be formulated and a date set for later this coming summer after youth camps have been held.

Please write to Lowell Yokum, 8 Morris Road, Mount Vernon, Ohio, at your earliest convenience so that arrangements can be made in time to assure use of the camp.

Potomac's Share in $1,000,000 Offering

THE Potomac Conference plans to duplicate the goal of $30,000 reached four years ago as its contribution to the $1,000,000 offering taken by the time of the General Conference, which was held in Cleveland, Ohio, that year.

The offering to be received this year will be taken on July 14. Treasurers throughout the churches in the Conference will immediately report to Elder R. G. Burchfield. Then, on the first Sabbath during the General Conference Session in San Francisco, the Potomac Conference plans to be ready to report at least $30,000 as its share in the current $1,000,000 offering which has been posed as a challenge to help meet the tremendous needs of the far-flung mission program in these climactic days.

We urgently request that all members of the Potomac Conference plan accordingly. You will soon be receiving more material relative to this large financial effort. May the Lord help us with the true spirit of dedicated giving.

Ingathering Victory for the Washington Spanish Church

THE motto for Ingathering this past year in the Spanish Church was "GO." In six weeks they had their Minuteman Goal of $2,100. Carlos Capote was the energetic leader, and Manuel Rosado, Pastor of the church, gave his full support.

Mr. Capote devised a chart which indicated that each member should reach $5 before he could get to Egypt, $10 to get across the Red Sea, $15 to reach Sinai, $20 to cross over Jordan, and $25 to reach Canaan. If a member doubled his Minuteman goal, he was placed in orbit as pictured on the chart.

This is the goal device used during the Spanish Church Ingathering effort.

Sunday night, March 4, they celebrated their victory by having a supper and then giving tokens of appreciation to the following 12 persons who did outstanding work in this project: Estela Goyochea, Arthur Perez, Irma Rosado, Edgar Rosado, Eva Roman, Gloria Tenicela, Carlos Capote, Arturo Covarrubias, Ida Suris, Adolpho Suris, Marcela Suris, Celia Rivas.

Capital Boys' Club Conducts Camping Trip

ON the weekend of March 2-4, eight boys from the Capital Boys' Club, directed by Bob Bryan, Orion Sickler, Paul Rouse, and Service-men's Chaplain Tom Green, traveled to Shannandale, W. Va., for the club's winter camping trip. The boys were Paul Davis, Club President, Bob Davis, Rickie Meyer, Bob and Paul Weisner, Eric Lane, and Dick Gremlin, a guest from Columbia Union College.

The boys were lodged in a rustic cabin generously provided for the occasion by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Walters of Takoma Park. The cabin is nestled picturesquely in the woods near the shore of the Shenandoah River, a short hiking distance from the Appalachian Trail.

Though the temperature dropped to 10 degrees at nights, the days were sunny and bright. The boys hiked to the Appalachian Trail and were rewarded by a magnificent view of the countryside and an encounter with a couple of wild goats, one of whom was coaxed to eat a candy bar from Mr. Bryan's hand.

Good food to eat, cold spring water to drink, strenuous hiking, Christian fellowship, and the close contact with God through nature all helped to make the trip a success. Much credit goes to Elder Donald Haynes, Boys' Club adviser, for enthusiastic leadership in developing plans for the trip.

The Wrights have the only Adventist program on WHIO, Channel 7, Dayton, received by viewers in southern Ohio, northern Kentucky, and eastern Indiana.

"These Times" Is Economical Way to Win Souls

WHEN James White was instructed by his wife, Ellen, that God had shown her he should begin a little paper and it would grow, he could never have envisioned the millions of pages of literature now distributed by our people every year. The many souls baptized yearly whose lives have been touched by this literature testify to the wisdom of God in sending the instruction to print a paper.

This year we shall again have our attention focused during April on These Times, the missionary journal for our territory. This monthly magazine, so well written and beautifully illustrated, should be in thousands of homes in our field. Will you not respond as liberally as you can to send this journal to several interested persons? Its price of $2.25 for 12 issues is a very economical way of winning a soul to Christ. Think of being able to give someone the message for less than 19 cents per month and doing so in such an attractive way. The printed page is an entering wedge that opens hearts, but it also fixes the message in the mind. This year let us do all we can to circulate These Times to the people in our territory. Your pastor or missionary leader can supply names of interested people if you desire.

He received a Jasper Wayne Award at the victory celebration and the commendation of his fellow classmates and church members.

Charles set a worthy example by his faithfulness and earnest labor for God, and the Lord has wrought a good work through him. May the fine example he has set be an inspiration to other youth and the seed he has sown for Christ yield a rich harvest of precious souls in the kingdom of God.

DURING the 1962 Ingathering Campaign in this conference Charles Rutt, 11 years old, a student at the Allentown-Bethlehem Church school, was exemplary of many of the Adventist youth who reached a self-set financial goal.

To do this, Charles worked alone many nights and at other times with caroling bands and in house-to-house solicitation. He solicited more

Staff Needs at Reading Rehabilitation Hospital

THERE is an urgent need for R.N.'s and L.P.N.'s and male aids to expand our rehabilitation hospital services. These services have been approved by the Blue Cross and Blue Shield, the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation, and Medical Assistance for the Aged, as well as a number of other major insurance companies.

Present nursing facilities are now filled and, owing to the heavy requests for admissions during the past few days, it is planned to open another wing of the hospital as soon as staff personnel can be obtained. This new wing would have facilities for 20 beds and is now ready for use.

Persons desiring employment at the institution should write to: Charles Snyder, Administrator, Reading Institute of Rehabilitation, Route 1, Box 250, Morgantown Road, Reading, Pa.

In addition to medical and paramedical education, the University offers advanced programs in numerous areas of teaching, liberal arts, health education, administration, and science.

Among the graduates are scores whose application of their Christian education has profoundly affected the work of the Church around the world. One of them, Dr. Stanley G. Senior Class Presentation Held; Dr. Sizoo Speaks

Dr. Joseph Sizoo, described by Life magazine as one of the nation's 12 great preachers, addressed the senior class at its presentation in Columbia Hall. He urged its members to accept duty by adopting a philosophy which would involve them in the needs of the world. Dr. Sizoo is the Milbank Professor of Religion and Director of University Chapel at George Washington University in Washington, D. C.

One hundred and thirty-two candidates were presented for graduation in 1962, 20 of whom were from Newbold Missionary College.

Eighteen states are represented in the class of 1962. Maryland has 46 students and Pennsylvania, 14. There are as many students from Thailand as from the District of Columbia. Ten countries are represented: British Guiana, Hong Kong, Iceland, England, India, Italy, Turkey, Nova Scotia, and the Philippines.

The two youngest students in the class are 20 years old—one has a son six months old. The oldest member has 23 years of denominational service, including seven years in Africa. Children of the candidates number 28, and there are five grandchildren.

Eighteen different majors are represented in the class. Nine students from C.U.C. are graduating in theology or religion and 20 from Newbold Missionary College plan to enter the ministry. Forty-one students major in nursing. Fifteen candidates chose elementary education. One student majors in psychology, the first time such a major has been offered at the College. The B.S. degrees and the B.A. degrees are equally divided—66 in each category.

Alumni Invited to New Dormitory

ORDER has come to Morrison Hall after the confusion of moving. No longer do suitcases, boxes, tennis rackets, and boots lie in the corridors, threatening the unwary with barked shins and broken bones! The alumni, who will open the brown oak doors of the new dormitory on Open House, May 6, will more likely be greeted by the music of Chopin or Debussy, broken on occasion by more strident tones as Glenn Manner or Tex Newland, presiding over the mysteries of the intercom and PA systems, announce the latest meeting of Delta Sigma Tau.

Visitors to the chapel, on the lower level of the dormitory, will immediately find themselves shut away from busy College life. Grey and green coloring blends in the subdued light, and the sunshine is soft as it falls on the red-rust carpeting.

Alumni who wish to recall their earlier days can catch the jovial sound of Prof. Sidney Tymeson's voice, as he lectures his class in Business Administration—now located in more spacious quarters. Or they can visit the largest classroom in Morrison Hall, where throughout the week
