Radio Offering on October 13

What If You Should Stop Caring?

MAN congratulates himself on the dozens of satellites he has sent spinning around this earth, possibly overlooking the fact that God has long been in the orbiting business.

This country has pledged billions in the race to be the first to land a man on the moon. What have you and I pledged to keep God's everlasting gospel "in orbit" so that all men everywhere will hear of that heavenly home that awaits them far beyond the frontiers of space?

Now that summer has ended and autumn is here, home life again becomes a bit more normal. People will soon spend more time indoors and radio programs will reach more people. Our best season is just ahead. The stage is set in every particular for the most effective radio work in the history of the Voice of Prophecy.

Elder R. R. Figuhr has said: "The Voice of Prophecy has won a lasting place in the hearts of Adventist people. They believe in it; they give to it; they pray for it. The reason is not hard to find—it has proved to be an effective evangelistic agency. The voice brings people into the church. We doubt that there is any other agency dearer to our people, especially in North America, than the Voice of Prophecy."

Because you and I heartily agree with our world leader, and because we care, we shall welcome Sabbath, October 13, and an opportunity to respond to the urgent need to reach the $300,000 goal set for us. This will provide one-fifth of the Voice of Prophecy budget for 1963, and will be the largest single Voice of Prophecy offering ever raised on one Sabbath.

By E. R. Walde

Secretary, Radio-TV Department, General Conference

It is reported that when William Allen White gave Emporia, Kansas, a 50-acre wooded plot for a park and agreed to beautify it for five years he observed: "This is the last kick I'm getting out of these dollars—but it's the biggest. I have always felt there are three kicks in every dollar: one when you make it—and how I do love to make a dollar—; one when you have it—and I have the Yankee lust for saving—; and the third when you give it away. The last kick is the biggest of all."

Your past investments in the Voice of Prophecy have brought results. This radio program is time-tested and a proven ministry which has brought countless blessings to millions. It takes the message to the people where they are.

Pastors frequently tell us that the Voice of Prophecy is a powerful supplement to their work. It breaks down prejudice . . . it creates interests . . . it results in baptisms.

God is ready to finish His work on earth in this wonderful hour of opportunity. Let us be ready, too.

Temperance Day Offering Scheduled October 27

"WHEN temperance is presented as a part of the gospel, many will see their need of reform. They will see the evil of intoxicating liquors and that total abstinence is the only platform on which God's people can conscientiously stand."—Temperance, p. 238.

"Voice of Prophecy" Offering, October 13

For 20 years the Voice of Prophecy radio broadcast has been heard on national networks in the United States and Canada. Multiplied thousands of persons have come to a knowledge of Bible truth as a result of the weekly programs of the Voice of Prophecy.

Once again we are coming to the time when the annual offering will be taken to assist in our radio work. Word comes from the Glendale offices of the program that there is need for a larger offering this year than ever before in order to keep the program on the air in the more than 500 areas in which the weekly series is broadcast. I am sure that God will bless as you plan NOW to make a large contribution to the radio fund.

As President of the Columbia Union Conference and as a member of the Board of Directors of the Voice of Prophecy, I should personally like to appeal to every member in the Columbia Union Conference territory to give liberally when the offering is taken on Sabbath, October 13.

California Man Named "Temperance Man of Year"

A RETIRED contractor who cultivates a five-acre almond orchard to assist him in his temperance activities was named "Temperance Man of the Year" by the American Temperance Society. John Lammerding of Orangeville, Calif., who has for several years sponsored and operated a prize-winning temperance booth at the California State Fair was given his award at the General Conference Session.

State fair officials have awarded Mr. Lammerding a plaque for his outstanding educational exhibit during the past two years. One man who viewed the booth was so impressed that he contributed a 16-millimeter sound projector to assist Lammerding in furthering the cause of temperance.

Commenting on the effectiveness of the temperance booth he operated, Lammerding tells of one man who viewed an ATS film on smoking, "then walked to the side door, took a partly used package of cigarettes out of his pocket, tore it up, and threw it to the winds.

"In another case a young boy about 13 observed the film, 'Time Pulls the Trigger,'" he relates. "When it was over he walked to a gallon jar I had on the counter, took an unopened package of cigarettes out of his pocket, and a partly used one, and put them in the jar. I put my arm around him and encouraged him to stick to it."

Talking of his interest in the temperance message, Lammerding declares: "I am determined to rally to every appeal on behalf of total abstinence and true temperance education in the home, the church, and the school. I believe the blessing of God will be brought to thousands who will otherwise perish if we do not arise and do something about it."

Born July 23, 1892, Lammerding is now 70 years old. The American Temperance Society acknowledges his excellent service to temperance by selecting him as "Temperance Man of the Year," and wishes him many more years of fruitful service, says W. A. Scharffenberg, Executive Secretary.

Nominations for "Temperance Man of the Year" are submitted by temperance secretaries and others in all parts of the country. From these suggestions a specially designated panel of judges selects the name of the one to receive this award. This is the second year in succession that the American Temperance Society has made this award.

SMC Homecoming and 70th Anniversary Celebration Scheduled

Home Still a Beautiful Word

Easy to say, warm to remember, thrilling to conduct, home is a great American word, a great Christian word. It is the light that hangs in the belfry of the community, with every member of the family a window.

Here is a continuous exhibition. There are no intermissions, no vacations, no moratoriums, no breathing spells, no release.

The home life of the Christian tells the community a running story of his faithfulness or neglect in every field, at every level of influence.

Life in the Christian home is frequently on public display as Mother or Willie or Susie goes to the corner store, or engages in any one of a thousand other seemingly unnoticed activities. On the contrary, during this moment of "unnotice" the atmosphere of that home represented is projected into the store, or wherever, and other lives are touched, for better or for worse.

When the family car drives up to the gasoline pump there is an opportunity for Christian impact, or there is a new barrier erected against the work of Christ. The very appearance of the car itself tells a story, as the conversation of the family, their attitude toward one another, their manner with the station attendant—all these bear a vital, though perhaps a silent, testimony.

The glow of the Christian fireside is felt for good or ill at every point of contact in the neighborhood, and sometimes it is transmitted in the most unthinkable ways.

When Willie plays with his friend across the street the Christian influence of Willie's home is right there with him. Many times a day Willie's language and manners and appearance amplify or exaggerate the best, or the worst, qualities of life in the home.

Progress at Beltsville School During 1961-62

Spiritual. Under the fine direction of the pastor, Elder Richard Rideout, a weekly baptismal class has been held for the upper-grade students at the Beltsville School. The program, including a special series of audio-visual tapes made especially for this purpose, was of such interest that even some students of other faiths chose to attend the weekly meetings. Some of these have expressed interest in joining our church.

These weekly meetings, along with the seasonal weeks of prayer, have been much responsible for the good number of baptisms which resulted from the school.

The Spring Week of Prayer, conducted by Elder Melvin Tompkins, Youth Pastor of the Sligo Church, presented a real challenge to the student group.

During the course of the year, a total of 13 students have been baptized, comprising nine per cent of the student body.

The weekly chapel programs by the Principal, John Ward, also have done much to encourage a wholesome religious attitude.

Physical. One of the outstanding contributions of the Beltsville School to the physical needs of the student is its hot-lunch program. Now in its fourth year, under the very capable direction of Mrs. L. W. Malin, this program has utilized the best in local resources to provide a well-balanced daily meal for the students at a very nominal cost. An overwhelming number of parents have commended this phase of the school program, and the students, too, have shown great enthusiasm in cooperating with the efforts of the dietary staff.

Also advantageous to the physical growth of the student is the location of the Beltsville School. In the peace and quiet of a suburban community, it is located on seven and a half acres of land, which provide abundant room for recreation. Teachers and students alike have found added pleasure in expanding the classroom to include outdoor classes, study periods, and lunches, an experience not always possible to those attending schools in the city.

The inclusion of an excellent all-purpose room (convertible either for chapel or gymnasium), one of the largest among Adventist schools in the Washington, D. C., area, also has made possible the continuance of the physical education program, even in inclement weather.

An added benefit this past year has been the services of a county health nurse. (This is a new service which Prince George's County now offers to all schools located in the county.) She has showed great enthusiasm in completing all necessary health records and offering essential services to increase the physical health of the students.

Scholastic. The qualifications of the Beltsville School for providing the very best in intellectual growth are constantly increasing. Most of the teachers employed are college graduates with education majors. Two teachers have their master's degree in education. The classrooms have been spaciouly designed for easy handling of the suggested number of pupils. The library is constantly expanding through monthly library donations from parents, special projects of the Home and School Association, and others. Students are encouraged to read widely. Some have read as many as 100 books in the course of the year.

Many items of audio-visual and laboratory equipment have been obtained this past year from school-wide campaigns so capably carried out by the principal, John Ward. The enthusiastic cooperation of the students has made possible the addition of a laboratory table for science experiments; a sound movie projector (which has been in almost constant use); a slide and filmstrip projector; painting easels for the primary classrooms; and a complete room of new, modern desks for grades three and four. These campaigns also have helped to provide for much-needed office equipment; a deluxe Ditto Duplicator; a super-quality typewriter; and an adding machine. Planned for the immediate future is a library of teaching filmstrips. Already ordered is a junior-high-school science kit to stock the rolling laboratory.

Not the least of the many opportunities offered to Beltsville students is the periodic field trips. Many of these have been carried out during the year, such as visits to the bakery, juvenile court, flower show, Smithsonian Institution, National Museum, the Zoo, the Post Office, and local excursions through wooded areas. Topping the list was the three-day trip of the graduating class to points of interest in New York City and Philadelphia.

Under the direction of Mrs. Norman Krogstad, the Beltsville School has continued to provide an outstanding music program for its students this past year. In addition to

Baltimore Nurse to Work In Hospital in Ethiopia

CAROL A. JONES, a 23-year-old registered nurse of Baltimore, Md., left by plane Monday, September 3, for the Gimbie Mission Hospital in Ethiopia, operated by the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Miss Jones attended Public School 103, now known as the Henry Highland Garnett School. She went to Japan with her aunt and attended Susebo Junior High School in Susebo, Japan. She returned to Booker T. Washington Junior High School and later was graduated from Douglas High School. Miss Jones is a graduate of the Brooklyn Hospital School of Nursing.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon L. Jones of 1045 Brantley Street, Baltimore, who said: "We shall miss her, but we glory in her devotion and sacrifice for others."

Miss Jones for several years has been the evening nurse in charge of the operating room at the Brooklyn Hospital, New York.

Carol A. Jones

She explained at the Friendship Airport in Baltimore, taking a National Airlines plane to New York from which TWA took her to Athens, Greece. Then she traveled from Athens to Addis Ababa via Ethiopian Airlines.

The Gimbie Mission Hospital is about 300 miles west of Addis Ababa. Miss Jones knows only one person on the staff there, Joyce Bourne, from Barbados, West Indies.

Three separate showers have been given Miss Jones by her many friends. Gifts included charcoal stoves, sheets, towels, linens, a camera, uniforms, $150 in cash, many items of household equipment, and books. A fully equipped nurse's bag that could take care of almost any emergency is her chief delight.

Berea Temple, her home church in Baltimore, presented her with many gifts. The Pastor, Elder W. M. Fordham, conducted a special service, sending Miss Jones to her field of labor with the prayers of the church.

Miss Jones said: "I leave Baltimore with the feeling that I am going to Ethiopia to help those in need of the medical care I have been trained to give. It is not a sacrifice, it is a pleasure."

Stewardship Sabbath Scheduled

THE Executive Committee of the New Jersey Conference has named Sabbath, October 20, as "Stewardship Sabbath" throughout the Conference. On this day all of our pastors and local elders are asked to present to our members a renewed opportunity to covenant with God their determination to be faithful stewards in the vineyard of God.

"Stewardship" is an inclusive term. We are summoned by Christ not only to be faithful in our stewardship of money, but also in the use of time and effort to win souls and hasten the coming of our precious Saviour. Indeed, time, talent, and substance are all inclusive in the great theme of stewardship. God has entrusted His people not only with great opportunities, but great resources, to do His work. God has endowed His church with talent and ability, and He has provided them time on the sacred hours of the Sabbath to do His work. In addition to this, He has given His people unparalleled financial resources in order that the work might prosper and grow.

As your pastor presents his message on Sabbath, October 20, we trust that each one of our members in this great conference will resolve to dedicate himself, his life, and his service in deeper consecration so that all of us may be accounted faithful stewards and hear the words of Jesus, "Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many."

"Lord, Is It I?"

JESUS was partaking of the last supper with His disciples. His heart was heavy as He realized that they were far from ready for the ordeal they must pass through. Pride, jealousy, and selfishness filled their hearts as each considered himself better than the others. Jesus washed their feet and then made the statement that one of them would betray Him. The silence was deathly as each waited for the other to speak up and confess. At last when they could stand it no longer the question began to form on their lips, "Lord, is it I?" A crisis had been reached and a decision had to be made. "What thou doest, do quickly," Jesus said.

Let us imagine another scene. The place is a Seventh-day Adventist church; the event, a church business meeting. The topic under discussion is "Shall we have a church school this year?" Jesus presides as Pastor of the church and chairman of the meeting. The church makes up in children what it lacks in material wealth. To have a church school will mean real sacrifice, financially, on the part of all. Those who have the most children have the least amount of money, but they are willing to do all they can. The Chairman asks the question, "Are there those, who have no children, who would be willing to spiritually adopt one or more of these little ones and pay their tuition so they might have the opportunity of a Christian education?" A few hands are raised, but not nearly enough.

At the back of the church a slight commotion starts as several people put their heads together and talk among themselves. One after another they make the statement that they see no reason for them to be concerned about helping educate other people's children, especially when they do not have any of their own. The Pastor is asking too much.

A look of sadness comes across the Master's face as He remembers that it was their sins that brought Him to this world to suffer and die, and He invites them to turn to Isaiah 53 and read anew.

Desire of Ages, page 25, states: "Christ was treated as we deserve, that we might be treated as He deserves. He was condemned for our sins, in which He had no share, that we might be justified by His righteousness, in which we had no share. He suffered the death which was ours, that we might receive the life which was His. 'With His stripes we are healed.'"

Again the words come ringing down the corridor of time: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me" (Matthew 25:40).

Selfishness has closed the eyes of many church members in regard to Christian education, and has hindered the opening of new schools or played a major part in their closing. As we seek to meet the crisis in our own field, will not each of you take time to see why Christian education has not taken a stronger hold in your particular church, then answer the soul-searching question, "Lord, is it I?"

DALE M. INGERSOLL

Superintendent of Education

Warren Church Sponsors Fair Display

THE Warren Church had a display at the local county fair and gave away 3,266 pieces of literature, besides 24 books, which were given as drawings at the close of each day.

The members are quite thrilled over the friendly contacts they had with so many people as they stopped by to see the exhibit and receive free literature. The visitors marveled at the fact that the literature was all free and no donations were requested.

Literature distribution played an important part in the Warren Church exhibit in the West Pennsylvania Conference. The background for this exhibit was a pale pink. The temple was in blue, outlined with gold, and the lettering was in black. Blue was used for table coverings.

In spite of some disappointments at not receiving all the material they had planned for on schedule, the members went forward and prepared a very nice display with the theme, "Build Now for Eternity." This was truly a church-sponsored project under the direction of Mrs. G. L. Nelson, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hand, Mrs. Ellis Brown, the Ondrizek family, Leona Ash, Ray Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Black, Carol Carlson, Mrs. George Gates, the Ivan Smith family, Mrs. Calhoun, Elder and Mrs. G. G. Creighton, Mrs. Harold Carlson, and Mr. and Mrs. Lauger.

The accompanying pictures help to visualize the procedure that was followed. The members are all eagerly watching and participating in the follow-up work wherever possible. Doubtless they are planning for another such exhibit next year.

Wilna Church Bids Farewell To Retiring Pastor

MRS. Wennerberg and I enjoyed our three years of service at the Wilna Church very much. The Wilna members were wonderful to us and it was hard to say goodbye.

On a Saturday night shortly before our departure the church had a farewell meeting for us at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Loignon, to which the new pastor, Merle Rouse, and his family were invited, in addition to a few members from his district who were to have a part in the evening's program.

After a fitting program, a worthy token of love and esteem was presented to us by the church.

On our last Sabbath at Wilna we had the joy of baptizing and adding to the church four persons. They were Dr. C. F. Hudson's younger daughter, Cheryl, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice L. Sims, and John Gunther, an elderly Methodist lay preacher, who recently has found the truth through reading an old Adventist book now out of print, Beacon Lights of Prophecy, which he bought many years ago from a literature evangelist. Another literature evangelist, Harry Todd, of Rising Sun, Md., found him and reported him to me. As he was in my district, I visited him right away and invited him to the Wilna Church. He came on the next Sabbath and never missed a Sabbath when well enough to attend. On his last birthday, July 10, of this year, he was 90 years old.

The baptism was conducted in the new Parkville Church and Elder S. M. Young, the pastor, had a part in the service.

Our prayers will continue in behalf of our dear people whom it has been our joy to serve in this conference and who have shown their love to us so sincerely.

We are living in retirement in our older son's apartment at 1084 Ruatan Street, Silver Spring, Md. While not having the responsibility of a church, I shall continue my prison work which will give me something to do to help my fellow man. This is a needy work. Please pray most earnestly for it.

Couple Celebrates Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Colliflower

ON Sunday afternoon, June 10, many relatives and friends gathered in the Mount Aetna Academy gymnasium to celebrate the golden wedding anniversary of Omer and Prudence Colliflower.

Under the able direction of Austin F. Anglebarger, a nephew, of Frederick, Md., the program followed the pattern of "This Is Your Life," covering high points in the experiences of the couple, and interspersed with appropriate music.

Early in their wedded life the Colliflowers accepted the Adventist faith and have been faithful members of the Ponds ville Church. A ceremony of renewal of vows was conducted by Elder W. C. Moffett.

In token of remembrance by friends a pot of "gold" was presented by a niece, Mrs. Levetta Thomas, of Frederick.

Our Needs

As we look at the work in the West Virginia Conference, it is remarkable that we have been able to accomplish as much as we have in spite of our limited financial resources. We are encouraged by the words of our Lord in Zechariah 4:6: "Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit."

One of the continuing great needs in this conference is more of the Spirit of God which will actuate us and stimulate us to attain a higher plateau of living, giving, and achieving. Kindly note some of our present needs and please pray for these needs in your daily devotions and help in every area where you can.

1. FAITHFUL TITHE AND INCREASED OFFERINGS. Are we as faithful as we might be? The needs are great in our conference. In a period of increased income our tithe should increase correspondingly. "Brethren and sisters, if the Lord has blessed you with means, do not look upon it as your own. Regard it as yours in trust for God, and be true and honest in paying tithes and offerings. When a pledge is made by you, be sure that God expects you to pay as promptly as possible. Do not promise a portion to the Lord, and then appropriate it to your own use, lest your prayers become an abomination unto Him. It is the neglect of these plainly revealed duties that brings darkness upon the church" (Review and Herald, December 17, 1889).

2. REGULAR SABBATH SCHOOL AND CHURCH ATTENDANCE. Altogether too many of our people are missing the blessings that come by attending our Sabbath School and church faithfully each week. May I urge that each one be present every Sabbath and on time. Let us cultivate the good habit by being early to Sabbath School. It can be done. Come with a liberal offering.

3. ENLARGEMENT OF OUR MEDICAL WORK. We need many more physicians and dentists. We do greatly appreciate our medical people in our conference. Each one is very important. Let us work and pray that we shall have others come and join those already here. If you can encourage someone to locate in our conference, please do so. There are so many needy places. In addition we need clinics, small hospitals operated by Seventh-day Adventists, nursing homes, and a place for our senior citizens.

4. SELF-SUPPORTING WORK. Our conference is greatly in need of just that. We would be pleased to make contact with anyone or a group of loyal Seventh-day Adventists who would be willing to explore this possibility. We believe that this phase could strengthen our conference.

5. INDUSTRIES—owned and operated by Seventh-day Adventists—would help to stabilize our economy. If anyone who reads this would be willing to venture out in developing industries so that our people could find steady employment without Sabbath problems, let me assure you of our encouragement.

Now is the time for advance. Now is the time for growth. Let us not be satisfied with the status quo. Let us work and pray as never before. Our conference membership should be doubled—yes, tripled. The potential is here. The possibilities are unlimited.

Church School Enrollment Establishes All-Time Record

ENROLLMENT in the church schools of the West Virginia Conference has set an all-time record. The enrollment a year ago was a record one, but this past year saw a 33-per-cent increase over the previous total.

The efforts of laymen and leaders alike, together with the blessing of God, have brought about these gains. In fact, the total number of schools in operation, the teaching faculty, and now the enrollment stand far above any records of the past.

If for any reason you might be thinking of placing your child in one of the schools of this conference, the Educational Secretary will be most happy to advise you regarding these schools.

Ohio Camp Is Named

"WHAT would you call it?"

"Well, let's see. . ."

And so the names were shuffled back and forth as many individuals across the state tried to think of a suitable name for the new Ohio camp site.

At the time of the recent 98th annual Ohio Conference Camp Meeting (June 28-July 8) a naming contest was held. At this time many names were submitted, but the name that was submitted more often than any other single one was the name, MOHAVEN.

The Conference Committee, meeting at the camp site Sunday, August 26, voted to officially name the camp, and took action to call it Mohaven.

This is a very appropriate name in that it was originated by Dr. Clinton Trott, one of those who negotiated to secure this very spot. It is a combination taken from the name Mohican, since the camp is on the Mohican River, and the name Brinkhaven, which is the closest town to the camp site.

There is another reason why the name is very fitting, and that is that the very site on which the camp is located was traditionally an area of refuge and peace between warring Indian tribes, and between the white man and the Indians in days gone by.

We trust that this place will be a MV Secretary haven of refuge, peace, and refreshment for young people and older ones of the Ohio Conference.

Dr. Clinton Trott is to be honored as the one who originated the name, and in addition the following receive honorable mention as having submitted this name during the time of the contest held during the recent camp meeting: Johnny Taylor, Bill Hoffer, W. A. Hammond, Bonnie Miles, Mrs. Percy Miles, Jeannie McCoy, Mrs. C. W. Trott, and Mrs. Daisy Maurer.

YOUTH RALLY

9:15 A.M., October 6, Camp-Meeting Pavilion
Mount Vernon

FEATURING: Guest Speaker, Captain Lawrence E. C. Joers, M.D.

Hear Captain Lawrence E. C. Joers, M.D., relate thrilling experiences of God's providential leading.

Captain Joers is the author of the widely known book, "God Is My Captain," as well as such publications as "Thou Art Peter" and "Mercy Rides on Wings."

Captain Joers has conducted weeks of prayer for our youth in most of our major colleges, including Loma Linda University, of which he is a graduate.

He is not new to youth rallies, for he has assisted in many of these also.

He saw four and a half years of active duty in World War II and three and a half in the Korean conflict.

This is the high light of the rally. You will not want to miss his challenge on the keynote, "Divine power . . . gives success" ("Prophets and Kings," p. 176).

Captain Lawrence E. C. Joers, M.D.

FEATURING: Radio broadcast, courtesy of Station WMVO. You, the audience, will participate in the broadcast. Don't miss this!

FEATURING: Singing, special musical presentations, band, mass choir, representation from Columbia Union College, interviews, Share-Your-Faith teams.

FEATURING: In the evening a special message and appeal through a full-length 35 mm motion picture. A fully documented, absolutely authentic, composite history of life under Communism. See these true plots—a pastor sent to prison for use of a certain Bible text in a sermon; an organist forced to quit playing in church to keep her teaching permit; a father keeping his daughter from church lest it cost him his factory job; police break-up of a children's party in church; holding of band and marching drills outside the church walls while worship is in progress.

The challenge to you will be: "Would I sell a bit of myself now, a little bit next time, and more . . . and more?" "Would I stand firm for what I believe, even if it meant prison?" "If I lived in a police state would I compromise conscience?" These are the questions brought home to you with stunning impact.

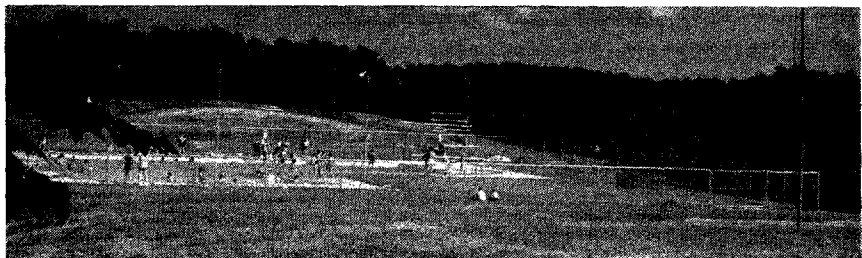

This film has never been shown officially to a non-theater audience, with the exception of the Lutheran Youth League. See it for the first time ever to be shown, except to Lutherans, to a non-theater audience. You cannot miss QUESTION 7.

Reports from the world field indicate that well over a million dollars already has been received in this special offering. These funds will be used to strengthen the evangelistic and soul-winning work around the earth. We appreciate the fine response of the members of the East Pennsylvania Conference and, with our share of the funds returned to our conference, it is anticipated that increased activity in evangelism and soul-winning work will take place in this field also.

"Faith for Today" Canceled by WSBA-TV

NOTIFICATION was received in the Public Relations office this week of the cancellation of the Faith for Today program over WSBA-TV, York, Pa., as of September 9. The station expressed its regrets in canceling the Faith for Today program, but, owing to the heavy pressures of religious telecasting from all denominations, it was felt that it was time for other programs to have a share of the religious telecasting time.

The station management expressed the hope that future time would allow the Faith for Today program to be scheduled again and expressed appreciation for the fine-quality program the Adventist denomination produces.

We appreciate the public service of WSBA-TV in allowing Faith for Today to be televised for nearly a year and anticipate the return of this program to the WSBA coverage area again.

Spot News

• ERNEST WENDTH, Manager of Station Relations for the Faith for Today telecast, and Elder J. N. Morgan, Conference Radio-Television Secretary, visited the television stations in the East Pennsylvania Conference August 27-30. As a result of these visits, stations are giving careful consideration to the televising of the Faith for Today program in several areas.

A firm commitment was given by WCAU-TV, Channel 10, of Philadelphia, for six weeks of telecasting, with a more permanent spot to be made available the first of the year. Faith for Today can be seen on Channel 10, beginning Sunday morn-

Mrs. Linnie D. Miller

One of East Pennsylvania's faithful church school teachers has passed to her rest. Mrs. Linnie D. Miller, a veteran of 24 years of educational service to the denomination as a school teacher, died September 2 in Reading, Pa. Mrs. Miller, aged 71, was born in the East Pennsylvania Conference at Vera Cruz, near Allentown, and spent her entire time of service to the church, with the exception of two years, in her home conference. She began her teaching work in 1915 in Bridgeton, N. J., and two years later came to the East Pennsylvania Conference, where she worked until her death.

For the past few years Mrs. Miller taught church school at Blue Mountain Academy where her husband is employed on the Academy staff. She was loved by her students and appreciated by the parents for her thorough and easy manner of instructing the youth.

Her illness deprived her of classroom participation a few months ago and she was never able to return to her post of duty. Although confined to the hospital for several weeks at the beginning of her illness, she was able to be up and active until just a few days before her death. She is survived by her husband, Amos; one son, Roger C. Collins; and three daughters, Carole A. Collins, Esther Shobe, and Hazel Hallman. One brother, Charles A. Baumgartner, of Norristown, Pa., also survives.

East Pennsylvania will be conscious of the vacancy created by Mrs. Miller's passing. She was attended for the last rites by Elder Charles Dart, Elder Roland Shorter, Elder Dalton Baldwin, and Elder J. N. Morgan. Services were held in the auditorium of the Blue Mountain Academy Administration Building and interment was in White Marsh Memorial Park.

ing, September 2, at 7:30. Church members living in the coverage area of Channel 10 should write a word of commendation to the television station, addressed to: WCAU-TV, City and Monument Avenues, Philadelphia 31, Pa., expressing appreciation to this station for carrying Faith for Today. Other markets look favorable for telecasting in the very near future in Lancaster and Scranton. At the present time Faith for Today can be seen on WSBA-TV, in York, Pa., and WLYH-TV, Channel 15, in Lebanon, Pa. Prayers in behalf of the television ministry are appreciated.

• Two weeks of summer camping at East Pennsylvania's Kamp Keystone ended August 26. A large attendance at both camps kept a staff of teachers, ministers, and selected laymen busy during the long days of varied activities. High lights of the summer camping program included a naturecraft program, under the direction of Mrs. Ira Mills of Harrisburg; Red Cross swimming instruction under the direction of Kenneth Scheller of Reading; nature instruction under the direction of Fred Morgan of Norristown; boating and water skiing in the Schuylkill River; overnight camping and hiking on the Appalachian Trail; visits to Roadside America; daily rides on the Shetland ponies and in the pony cart; daily devotional and religious instruction under Elders E. W. Snow and A. M. Petrone; music instruction under Alfred Aastrup and Hans Bos of Hatboro; and good food under the direction of Mrs. Clara Plummer. Enthusiasm ran high for the activities of the summer camp, and many decisions were made for Christ during the Sabbath worship hours.

Kamp Keystone is developing into a favorite spot of all East Pennsylvanians. This year every weekend has been filled with large church groups visiting the camp to take advantage of its fine facilities. Your church can have a weekend of fun and relaxation in God's great out-of-doors as well as all the facilities of home. Write for reservations to the Conference MV Department.

Enrollment Continues Upward Swing

EIGHT hundred and eighty students have registered for classwork, as enrollment figures continue to rise. According to Eunice Rozema, Registrar, statistics show an increase of 100 students over last year's total of the same date, with final figures yet to come.

Demonstrating the universal nature of the advent movement 72 students from 38 countries arrived on campus, representing nations as far removed from each other as Australia and Norway.

The largest enrollment comes from Maryland with a total of 250. Pennsylvania is the runner-up with 127, closely followed by Ohio with 73, and Virginia with 69.

Thirty-four states are represented, including those as far west as South and North Dakota, Washington, Oregon, Oklahoma, California, and Texas.

The increase in enrollment is keeping pace with C.U.C.'s new program of expansion under the leadership of President Charles B. Hirsch.

Marie Moleta Arrives Home

MARIE MOLETA, Sligo Missionary Volunteer Society Student Missionary for 1962, returned to the United States, September 5.

It has been reported that her "adopted" baby died the day after she left the orphanage in the Ile Ife Mission Hospital in Nigeria where the student missionary was stationed since early June. She added that she was particularly pleased with the work that she was able to do in the orphanage. "For nearly two weeks I worked in the orphanage all by myself usually one and a half shifts a day. When I had help it was usually only equivalent to a fifth- or sixth-grade student," said Marie.

Miss Moleta left Nigeria via a visit to the Seventh-day Adventist mission hospital in Jengre. "The most beautiful country I saw in all my trip was in Nigeria," Marie reported.

Freshman Days Help Students

THE President, Dr. Charles B. Hirsch, welcomed new students at the opening convocation in Columbia Hall chapel. Freshmen during the week faced a battery of entrance examinations and also listened to lectures by chairmen of the various departments. Opportunity was given for group discussions. Relaxation included a talent program directed by Paul Lamborn, Students' Association president, and a tour of Adventist institutions in the Takoma Park area.

The purpose of the orientation program is to help incoming students to get better acquainted with the College and its aims and objectives. Directing the week's activities was Dr. Arlyn D. Stewart, Associate Guidance Director.

New College Bookstore

STUDENTS returning to the campus this fall will be surprised by the new College book store. Formerly located in the back of the College store, the book store has been moved to the basement of Columbia Hall. The new book store also houses the relocated Duplicating and I.B.M. Departments.

Don Ramsey, a Columbia Union College graduate, has been appointed supervisor of the Administrative Services Department which includes the book store and the Duplicating and I.B.M. Departments. Mr. Ramsey was formerly employed by the College as an I.B.M. operator.

The new book store will be run on a self-service basis. It has everything the student will need in school supplies from gym shirts to thumb tacks, and from collegiate wastebaskets to dictionaries. There is also a selection of pocket-size books on display. The new book store is just one of the many remodeled and relocated departments on the campus this year.
