Apollo and Greensburg Churches Sponsor Exhibit

THE Apollo and Greensburg Churches, under the guidance of Elder M. E. Fralick, sponsored an exhibit at the Westmoreland County Fair near Greensburg, Pa. They used a tent 14 by 22 and secured the space on the fairgrounds free of charge. The church members cooperated in such a way that there was no cost to the churches or conference for either literature or labor.

As a special feature of attraction, sacred music was played on an electric organ which was lent by a local firm. In addition to this, Bible study films were shown periodically and a drawing for a free Bible was conducted each day.

Almost 600 applications for the Bible correspondence school were recorded, and about 3,000 pieces of literature were handed out to those interested as well as 29 books and Bibles.

The participants, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McCann, Mr. and Mrs. William Tressler, Mrs. Paul Polacek, Mr. and Mrs. Charles George, Margaret Sosigian, and Moses Sosigian, together with Cora Bair, David Fennell, Joseph Breeze, Mrs. Ralph Jaynes, Erma Rager, and Pastor M. E. Fralick, were pleased and delighted with their experiences. They met some who had attended services occasionally and their interest was aroused. A serviceman requested a Bible, three individuals wanted the address of our Book and Bible House, and several individuals requested the missionary book of the year, Your Bible and You. All are persuaded that this is an excellent type of evangelism.

Good-bye to Ingersolls

ELDER D. M. Ingersoll has recently accepted a call to become Missionary Volunteer and Temperance Secretary of the East Pennsylvania Conference. He and his family will soon be moving to that field.

It has been nearly four years since Elder Ingersoll and his family joined the working staff of the West Pennsylvania Conference. Since that time he has been Secretary of the Educational, Missionary Volunteer, and Temperance Departments of the Conference. Each of these departments has prospered under his leadership. He also has guided the development of the youth camp at Laurel Lake and many improvements have been made. The camps held there were appreciated very much by all those who attended. We shall miss his work here and I am sure that the young people of our field will greatly miss his visits to their churches and schools.

Mrs. Ingersoll worked in the Conference office and she, too, will be missed by those who worked with her.

We wish the Ingersolls many blessings as they take up their work in East Pennsylvania and assure them of our prayers for their labors over there.

The Conference Committee will meet soon and consider a successor to Elder Ingersoll. We ask you to pray that God will guide the committee in this important task.

Work Advances in Elkins Area

ON August 25, 1962, on a stony river bank located in Parsons two people were baptized by Elder R. C. Detweiler. The candidates were H. A. Price of Junior, W. Va., and Hazle Fulton of Parsons, W. Va.

Mrs. Fulton, a Faith for Today Correspondence Course student, represents the firstfruits of an evangelistic campaign held by Elder Detweiler, district pastor, and C. Norman Farley, associate district pastor in Parsons.

Published weekly by the Columbia Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, Takoma Park, Washington, D. C. Printed at the Washington College Press. Price, $2 a year in advance. Second-class postage paid at Washington, D. C.

Mr. Price, a long-time faithful Bible teacher and leader in another church, has united with the Elkins Seventh-day Adventist Church as a result of continued Bible study and church attendance.

We rejoice with these dedicated Christians who have chosen to join God's remnant church.

Meaning of Sacrifice

EIGHT hundred dollars! After such a struggle to get the little church under roof, where could this amount be found to finish it?

The pastor decided to go to one member who for many years had demonstrated an unselfish spirit. She had no beautiful home, no car, no fine clothes. In fact, she made her home in a simply furnished room in her place of business.

Neither did her money come easy. Despite her advancing years, she had to work energetically with her hands to make her living. All that she earned was used as God intended, to modestly sustain life and to redound to the glory of God.

"Would you be willing to lend us $800?" the pastor queried. "Surely," she replied though the needy church was 60 miles away in another county.

Several months later the pastor had the task of going to her to arrange repayment. "I believe you are holding a note for $800," the pastor began. She got the note and handed it to him. "There, wiggle out of that if you can," she said, barely concealing her humor beneath a stern countenance. "Take the note with you," she told the pastor. "I don't understand," the pastor replied and countered, "Why?" She replied, "If you have it I can't prove that the church owes it to me; besides, I've already taken it off my income tax." A debt was forgiven, but at the cost of hundreds of hours of hard labor.

Tens of thousands of pieces of literature, individually addressed and mailed to isolated and shut-in persons, students helped through college, including one of our best-known evangelists, a county covered with Faith for Today mailing, and countless other things reveal a personal understanding in the heart of this lady of the meaning of the word sacrifice.

Sacrifice is a word describing an attitude, a way of life almost completely incomprehensible to all but a very few of God's people today. Rather, the prevailing belief is like this, "If I give a certain amount to the church God will more than make up to me what I have given." This is not so, not if we are sacrificing. "I saw that a sacrifice did not increase, but it decreased and was consumed" (Early Writings, p. 57; italics supplied). In the same paragraph we read: "The cause was languishing, God's people were starving for the truth, and we made no effort to supply the lack; now our property is useless. Oh, that we had let it go, and laid up treasure in heaven" (Ibid., p. 57).

"I saw that some hardly know as yet what self-denial or sacrifice is. . . . But none will enter heaven without making a sacrifice" (Testimonies for the Church, Vol. 1, p. 126).

Report From Cumberland-Frostburg District

PLANS to move forward evangelistically in this area are materializing on all sides. Owing to the scattered condition of the members of the Romney group, it has been thought best to abandon this meeting and substitute branch Sabbath Schools at Moorefield, Three Churches, and Keyser. Two of these are in operation and the third is to start soon. The Frostburg Church also is establishing an "outpost" in the area recently covered so thoroughly by the literature evangelists.

Bible course interests have been coming in quite fast and as a result in two of the more or less unentered portions of the district we now have a number of Bible studies which requires an afternoon and evening to cover. Although it is too early to estimate the results to be expected, we cannot help but feel that the Holy Spirit is working here to advance the work in these distant areas of the district.

A concerted effort is being put forth to complete the Faith for Today mailing program in two of the counties of the district.

With the mailing program, the branch Sabbath School, and the Bible course interests, we feel that real progress is being made on the "evangelistic front." There are also the welfare program, the building program, and the impending Ingathering program. Thus there is little time for "slackers." We pray that we may ever remember our consecration, that we may apply ourselves to these programs in such a way that the efforts of every church member will contribute to the victorious advance of the third angel's message in this area.

Three Thousand Attend Ohio Youth Rally

THE auditorium on the campus of Mount Vernon Academy was filled with more than 3,000 persons who gathered for the annual Ohio Conference Youth Rally, October 6.

The featured guest was Lawrence E. C. Joers, M.D., who has seen four and one half years of active duty in World War II and three and one half years in the Korean conflict. He has conducted weeks of prayer in most of our major colleges, including Loma Linda University. He is the author of God Is My Captain, Thou Art Peter, and Mercy Rides on Wings. Dr. Joers' challenge to the youth in his appeal, was met with a very ready response, several taking their stand for Christ for the first time in a public way.

The afternoon program included a series of pilot teams who went out in a community Bible-survey endeavor. Upon their return, they shared their experiences with those who had not been privileged to go out. There was also a broadcast produced via tape from the auditorium through the courtesy of Radio Station WMVO.

The evening program included a presentation by the Mount Vernon Academy Band, under the direction of Garland C. Peterson, and the showing of the film, "Question 7," which was a fully documented, authentic composite history of life under Communism, where such true plots were seen representing, for example, a pastor being sent to prison for use of a certain Bible text in a sermon, an organist being forced to quit playing in church to keep her teaching permit, a father keeping a daughter from church lest it cost him his factory job, and police breaking up a children's party in church.

The questions that came home to the consciences of the audience were: "Would I sell a bit of myself now, a little bit next time, and more . . . and more?" or "Would I stand firm for what I believe, even if it meant prison?" Surely, these are questions that we need to think about and may God give us the strength to answer them correctly and to live for Christ.

Norwalk Church Organized

SEPTEMBER 8 witnessed the organization of Ohio's 91st church—the Norwalk, Ohio, Seventh-day Adventist Church. The organization took place on Sabbath afternoon in the La Grange, Ohio, Church, with Elder D. W. Hunter, the Ohio Conference President, presiding. There were 23 charter members.

Elder Hunter spoke at the morning worship hour, at the close of which Elder J. B. Bogle conducted a baptism resulting in 11 additional members in the churches of the district. The baptism was the result of a recently conducted effort by Pastor Robert Thompson in the Conference airatorium in the city of Norwalk.

We solicit your prayers that heaven's blessing may rest upon these new members and also upon this new church that it may grow and prosper.

Adventist Booth at Ohio State Fair

For the past six years the Columbus and Worthington Churches, along with the Ohio Conference, have sponsored a booth at the Ohio State Fair. The 11-day fair this year was attended by a record-breaking 700,000. The booth was located, as in the past, in the Buckeye Building, one of the newer buildings on the fairgrounds.

During the 11 days thousands of pieces of literature were picked up by those passing the booth. Many

The fair booth has proven an excellent means of acquainting many of the people of Ohio with our wonderful message.

Dedication of Salem Church

SEPTEMBER 29 was a wonderful day in the lives of the Salem Church members, for this was the long-looked-forward-to day when the mortgage debt was burned and a church was dedicated to God free of debt.

Elder L. G. Euler had the day's activities well organized. Sabbath school began promptly at 9:15 A.M. Elder T. R. Gardner, Treasurer of the Columbia Union Conference, conducted an interesting lesson study. Elder D. W. Hunter, President of the Ohio Conference, delivered an inspiring sermon on God's love at the morning worship hour. At the dedication service in the afternoon Mayor Dean Cranmer extended a warm welcome on behalf of the city. The dedicatory sermon was presented by Elder W. E. Murray, Vice-President of the General Conference. Everyone enjoyed the day of fellowship.

Of particular inspiration was the music presented by the Salem Church choir. This choir is composed entirely of ladies. The music was excellent.

Three former pastors of this district were present and participated in the day's activities—Elder E. H. Roy, Elder E. J. Zager, and Elder R. F. Farley.

Cincinnati First Church Welcomes Returned Missionary

MEMBERS of the First Seventh-day Adventist Church in Cincinnati, Ohio, are grateful to have their devoted member, Alberta Hodde, return from the mission fields to be with her family and friends of the Cincinnati area.

Miss Hodde served 10 years in Brazil and five years in Portuguese West Africa as a missionary nurse at the Bongo Mission Hospital, directing nursing at the hospital and teaching native students nursing. She is very conscientious about her work which was evidenced by the pictures that were shown and the incidents she related concerning care for the sick and combating the natives' belief in witch doctors and witchcraft. In many instances only after these ideas fail will the natives consent to medical care.

This occasion at the Cincinnati Junior Academy, combined with a covered-dish supper, afforded every one an opportunity to become acquainted with the new pastor, Elder Frank E. Vessels.

During a recent MV meeting Miss Hodde also showed various objects used by the witch doctors and which the natives still hold sacred. Miss Hodde plans to show these pictures and objects to church groups in the surrounding territory as well as to other denominations.

Farewell to Columbia Union Conference

AFTER 17 wonderful years of service in the Columbia Union Conference, we respond to a call from Elder John Osborn to join his staff in the Southeastern California Conference. Partings are always difficult, and ours was no exception.

To our many friends in New Jersey, where we labored for 13 years, we want to express our sincere joy for your Christian fellowship. New Brunswick and Plainfield will always be remembered as our first field of labor, following graduation from Columbia Union College in 1945. The lovely church building in New Brunswick reminds us of the "sweat, blood, and tears" to house a small congregation who longed for a building to call home. The Plainfield Church building on Park Avenue is a reminder of God's promise to "open the windows of heaven and pour out a blessing" as we sold the old building on Front Street at a profit of $36,000.

The thrill of public evangelism with many souls won for Christ and the assistance of the splendid folk of Jersey City is a high point in our ministry! Many more of God's "jewels" are still waiting to be found in that metropolitan area.

The challenge of southern New Jersey was answered in launching a church building fund for Bridgeton, culminating in a new building under the leadership of Elder Thomas Green. Swedesboro's remodeling plans were inaugurated, but were finalized under the direction of Elder B. L. Raith. Old Jericho, housed for many years in a lonely section of the Jericho Road, blossomed into a beautiful, modern church edifice in Salem and a near-doubling of membership during our nearly seven years of ministry. Many thanks to all the wonderful people who assisted in making our labor fruitful.

A call from Elder Don W. Hunter took us to the beautiful state of Ohio where the needs of Medina, Wooster, and Millersburg challenged us. Our radio program out of Wooster created good interest and was used of God to win several precious souls for Christ. Building plans drawn and a building lot purchased in Medina were bequeathed to Pastor Fred Stauffer as we moved on to the Mansfield, Blooming Grove, and Crestline district of churches. As choice "jewels" among our many friends in the Columbia Union Conference are the splendid young people in New Jersey and Ohio and especially the boys and girls of the Mansfield Church school.

As we say good-bye to all God's people in the Columbia Union Conference, we wish to express our sincere appreciation for the privilege of having served you. We look forward with eager anticipation to the "sounding of the trumpet" when Jesus will come for His people and there will never again be another parting. Our prayers shall be that we meet again on that glad day. We solicit your prayers for God's guidance and a portion of His Spirit as we take up our labor in the Southeastern California Conference.

sisted by Mrs. Jose Perez and Mrs. Cole.

A very unique goal chart was made for the children and their mission offerings are soaring to unusual heights as a result. This device is in the form of a small church, and an envelope for each child is attached to the church. As they bring their offering to God it represents sending the light to those who know not the truth. The children have been denying themselves candy and other unnecessary items in order to bring a substantial offering to put in their envelope. The spiritual phase is emphasized and the children enjoy working for God. They feel they are a part of the great mission program, and truly they are.

We rejoice with the leadership in the Newark Spanish area as they press on to give the message among the Spanish-speaking people. They need our prayers in their service for the Master. Greater things are in the offing for this fine group. Soon we expect to organize this group into a company and then into a church.

Pastor and Family Bid Farewell to Members

DEAR BROTHERS AND SISTERS:

My family and I cannot leave the New Jersey Conference without expressing our love and gratitude to you. As we go to pastor the church at Apopka, Fla., we take with us many cherished memories, memories that you have given to us as we have worked with and for you in the cause of Christ. In knowing you we feel that Christ has fulfilled a promise to us and given to us brothers and sisters an hundredfold.

We find that it is not a light or easy thing to leave the work or friends of the past 10 years. It was only after earnest prayer and much thought that we said yes to the call to work in a new field.

Fellow believers, we have confidence in you and in your dedication to Christ. Knowing that "God is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we can ask or think," we believe that as you daily surrender yourselves to Him, He will through you be able to accomplish His plan for a finished work in the New Jersey Conference.

Because of the warm place that you hold in our lives, there will always be a special welcome for you at our door. When plans permit you to travel in our direction we hope that you will come and see us.

Sincerely,

PASTOR AND MRS. MANZANO

Ministers' Council Held at Pine Forge

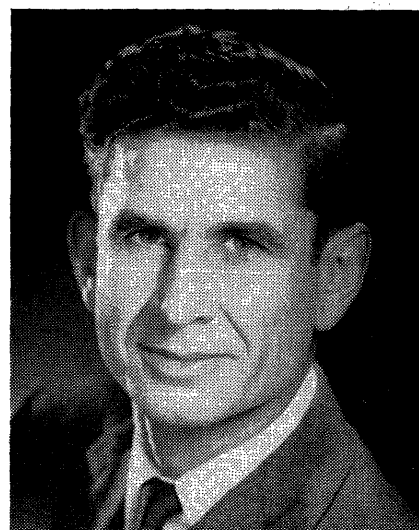

"ELIJAH, at Mt. Horeb, was in an environment where he could listen," explained Elder Neal C. Wilson to the Ministers' Council at Pine Forge, Pa., recently.

"I have been in that section of the country many times, leading groups up to Sinai, during my presidency of the Nile Union Conference. The terrain is sandy and dry. The stillness is so intense that you can literally feel it. Jagged mountains seem to enclose you. If one speaks, even in conversational tones, his voice can be heard for miles.

"It was in such surroundings that Elijah, having fled from the wrath of Jezebel, witnessed the mighty wind, the earthquake, the fire, and heard the 'still small voice' and recognized that voice to be that of his God." "Oh, he declared, if we could only stop and listen." "The servant of the Lord points out that in a listening attitude we could hear the footsteps of an approaching God."

"Amazing things are being done by men today," the President told his audience, and with a characteristic smile he added, "this is not a Texas story, Elder Wickwire (who had his eyes fastened upon the speaker as did the entire audience). Eight miles above the city of Fort Worth they were testing out this new 100-inch lens. They focused it on a green and two golf balls were brought so sharply into focus that you could read the names on the balls.

"Blasting through 23 miles of solid rock in Denver, and tapping the earth's reservoirs of water is a staggering feat of engineering. It will solve the water problem which so long has been an anxious question in the mile-high city."

Elder Neal C. Wilson

"Yet, there is danger of seeing only the mass; we are losing the concept of the individual. Christ saw them as sheep individually that had lost their way," explained Elder Wilson.

Elder Frank L. Bland was heard in the opening devotional service. Returning to Pine Forge, not as the former Treasurer, nor as a conference president—and he has held two such positions, Central States and South Central Conferences—but as the Associate Secretary of the Regional Department of the General Conference, he said, "It was delightful."

In his opening remarks he spoke of the lighting along the roadway which extends throughout the property. These lights formerly illuminated High Street in Pottstown before they installed their new high-tower soft-tone lights. He noticed the care of the grounds, which is said to be the pride and joy of Titus Duncan, the Conference custodian.

"The new girls' dormitory and the improved school cafeteria all bespeak progress, which I am proud to see you making here at Pine Forge. Best of all, I am thrilled by the morale of the men and the spirit of teamwork exhibited," Elder Bland told the council.

"You are ambassadors of Christ and, appearing before your congregation week by week, you do not have this opportunity to ridicule and chastise, but rather to feed the people from the life-giving Scriptures, lifting them spiritually."

During the two-day session, Elder T. R. Gardner, Secretary-Treasurer of the Columbia Union Conference, and Bruce M. Wickwire, Union Conference Publishing Department Secretary, both spoke to the council.

At 8:00 P.M., Tuesday evening, closing the first day's session, a farewell banquet was given for Elder C. M. Willis, Conference Publishing Secretary for more than six years, who has accepted a position as Promotional Secretary of the Periodical and Book Departments of the Review and Herald Publishing Association for the continental United States and Canada. Elder Willis has earned the name of record breaker and record maker for the Conference which has been carried to world leadership through the sale and delivery of truth-filled books.

The following topics were presented: Weekly Prayer and Sunday Night Meetings, Elder C. D. Brooks, Cleveland, Ohio; Conference Committee Member, Elder Paul Cantrell, Washington, D. C.; Christian Education, Elder L. G. Cox, Philadelphia; Church Programming and Budget, Elder W. M. Fordham, Baltimore, Maryland; Use of Church Manual, Elder J. H. Lester, Philadelphia; Church Evangelism and Financial Goals, Elder George Rainey, Cincinnati, Ohio; Organizing a Church for the Financial Campaign, Elder W. M. Starks, Washington, D. C.; Preparation and Delivery of a Sermon, Elder Milton Thomas, Richmond, Va.; Church Construction and Renovation, Elder J. H. Wagner, Newark, N. J.

In charge of all meetings was Elder W. L. Cheatham, President of the Allegheny Conference.

Former Conference Worker Speaks at Pine Forge During Week of Prayer

ELDER R. T. Hudson, President of the Northeastern Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, with offices in New York City, was the guest speaker at Pine Forge Institute during the special week of emphasis on spiritual rejuvenation through prayer, an annual sacred period at the school.

Elder Hudson is no stranger to the academy students, as he formerly served in the Allegheny Conference, which sponsors the school, as Pastor of the Glenville Church in Cleveland, Ohio, the largest church in the Conference at present, with a membership of more than 1,000.

Beginning Saturday, October 6, the evangelist and administrator spoke to the students, faculty, and persons from the community nightly. From 2:30 to 4:30 P.M. he conducted counseling services for any student who felt the need of spiritual guidance. "Many students have taken advantage of this away-from-home, heart-to-heart direction and sympathetic understanding," the Bible instructor, Elder C. B. Tivy, said.

The speaker believes in using the language of young people, and he has been able to give more meaning to Christian living among campus students.

C. L. Brooks, Principal, said: "Elder Hudson has been able to get close to the student body and the effects of his messages are being felt in the dormitories."

The meetings and counseling service continued through Sabbath, October 13.

Elder Hudson has nine students enrolled at the Institute from the Northeastern Conference.

Columbus School Opens With 33 Students

ON September 4 the Columbus Ephesus Church school opened with 33 pupils registered and ready for another school year. Jenefer Calder teaches grades 5-8 and Clara Powell, grades 1-4. These two teachers were with us last year and we are very pleased to have them again this year.

During the summer Mrs. Catherine Reeves, who heads the Home and School Association has been working diligently toward purchasing needed facilities for the school. A beautiful television set which can receive stations with planned educational programs broadcast from Ohio State University, was purchased, making possible foreign languages and everything new in the educational field that furthers better methods of teaching and learning.

The school rooms were redecorated. New, modern desks, and new drapes which carry out the restful color scheme of soft green and a darker green, were purchased.

There is indeed an atmosphere of learning brought about by careful and intelligent planning of all facilities and surroundings. Ephesus is off to a wonderful start owing to the tireless efforts of Mrs. Reeves. Many items to be added, in order to make our school the best, are in the planning. The Pastor, Elder Aaron Brogden, and all the membership stand solidly by, helping in all efforts and endeavors.

Canton, Ohio, Church Dedicated

ELDER W. L. Cheatham, President of the Allegheny Conference, spoke at the dedicatory service of the renovated New Hope Seventh-day Adventist Church in Canton, Ohio, on Sabbath afternoon recently.

G. W. Washum, local elder, has pushed the payment of the mortgage and saved the congregation much in paying off the debt before the life of the mortgage expired.

The church, located at 714 Tenth Street, is the home of the congregation and "has ample room for expansion," Mr. Washum said.

Elder Cheatham in his message praised the manner in which Mr. Washum has promoted the local work. The President said, "Canton owes much to the leadership of your local elder, supported as he has been by his devoted wife. They have kept the advancement of the church always before them and the Conference deeply appreciates what has been done."

Mrs. Inez Washum, the treasurer of the church for many years, is not only efficient but she is talented in being able to solicit funds for the church personally. "While in Canton," Elder Cheatham remarked, "Mrs. Washum showed me a check for $20, a letter with two and another with five dollars, all from friends of the church anxious to help the congregation beautify the outside of the building."

"The relationship of Christ and His church is as close as husband and wife," the speaker said. "Any place that becomes the meeting place of God and His people is the gateway to heaven. The church is built upon Christ the solid Rock, and although it may be assailed, Christ has promised it will triumph."

Elder Cheatham was also heard in the morning worship service at which time he developed the topic of obedience.

The Canton Church is in the Akron and Cleveland district, under the pastorate of L. R. Palmer.

Kettering Memorial Hospital Construction Proceeding at Rapid Pace in Dayton

CONSTRUCTION is proceeding rapidly on the new multi-million-dollar Charles F. Kettering Memorial Hospital in Dayton, Ohio, George B. Nelson, Administrator, reports.

It is expected that by the time the first snow flies in Dayton the building will be completely enclosed so that certain phases of the construction program can be continued during the winter months.

The building program was accelerated during the spring and summer months because of good weather. The target date for the official opening of the hospital has now been set at approximately November 1, 1963, Mr. Nelson says.

Construction also has started on the School of Nursing building which will be located adjacent to the hospital building and connected by a 275-foot tunnel passageway. Foundations have been poured and walls are expected to go up within the next few weeks.

Photographs accompanying this article graphically portray the progress that has been made on the 304-bed hospital since the last report appeared in the VISITOR. The five-story structure is constructed of light-gray brick interspersed with dark-gray brick, which makes an attractive pattern on the exterior of the building. The front entrance also will have stone and glass facing. An entrance marquee juts out from the middle of the building and large picture windows enhance the appearance of the building.

A recent tour of the building by the writer revealed that rapid progress also is being made in the interior of the structure. A visitor is impressed by the multitude of pipes and tubing extending throughout the entire structure. Primary consideration is being given by plumbers and others to the heating system, air-conditioning, gas lines, message chutes, electrical conduits, laundry chutes, and other phases of the hospital operating program.

C. H. Mattingly, often called the "clerk of the works" of the construction program, says that about 135 persons work full time daily on the building. They are scattered over the seven acres of floor space inside the hospital. He also reports that there are more than 40 miles of electrical conduits in the building and 28½ miles of water and steam pipes. Another interesting statistic revealed by Mr. Mattingly: more than 500,000 bricks were used in the construction of the building.

Many months were spent in planning the School of Nursing building under the direction of Martha Johnson. The building is designed to house all of the school facilities: classrooms, demonstration room, administrative offices, faculty offices, parlors, lounges, guest rooms, a gymnasium, and rooms for 136 students. It also includes three apartments for dormitory deans so as to adequately provide good supervision and administration of the school home.

Much of the fixed equipment for the hospital has been purchased: sterilizers, laundry machinery, washers, stills, cabinets, and X-ray equipment.

1. NEW BUILDING. This is a north view of the new Kettering Memorial Hospital. More than 125 full-time construction workers are at work on the building.

2. POWER PLANT. An important part of the engineering building which will house the power plant for the main hospital building.

It is essential that many members of the Columbia Union Conference make themselves available to help operate the new hospital. Nurses, technicians, therapists, and other skilled workers will be especially needed and are urged to write for more information to Kettering Memorial Hospital, 1105 Third National Building, Dayton 2, Ohio.

ing area around the hospital building.

Farther south of the hospital building proper is the site of the new School of Nursing building, now also under construction. The two buildings are connected by a tunnel for the convenience of nurses and School of Nursing instructors during inclement weather.

The photo on the cover and those in this center spread were taken by the writer during a recent visit to the hospital.

Pathfinder Fun Day

SECOND annual Chesapeake Conference Pathfinder Fun Day! The Frederick, Md., Pathfinders were host to an enthusiastic crowd of 450 who had an enjoyable day, Sunday, September 23, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Damazo near Frederick.

Starting the day's events was a horse show with 10 exhibitors. The high light of the show was the jumping.

Next on the program was the most popular event of the day, lunch.

Lunch was followed by a high-jumping contest, sack races, and egg-throwing contests for young and old.

Profits realized on the sale of lunches and horse rides by the Frederick Pathfinder Club were donated to the Frederick Seventh-day Adventist Church school for maps.

Plans are already under way to make next year's Fun Day even bigger and better.

Five-Day Stop-Smoking Plan Presented

"You can, if you will" was the oft repeated phrase of Pastor Peter Luna as he sought to place psychological keys in the hands of smokers that would unlock doors to power and victory over the smoking habit. Using the "Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking" originated and perfected by Dr. J. Wayne McFarland and Elder Elman J. Folkenberg of the Atlantic Union Conference, he introduced the plan in the town of Cambridge, Md., October 7 through 11.

For five nights, Sunday through Thursday, a centrally located public auditorium found 25 to 30 smokers sitting through lectures on the physical and psychological aspects of the smoking habit. Pastor Luna spoke on the psychological aspect while Dr. Lewis M. Burdette spoke on the physical aspect. Doctor Burdette, a non-Adventist physician, came on the scene as an answer to prayer. He was the only doctor known not to smoke in a town of approximately 12,000. "I had been looking for a way to help my patients stop smoking," he said, when presented with the plan and asked to cooperate with the local Adventist minister in bringing the plan into his community. The most respected surgeon in Cambridge and a former smoker, Doctor Burdette's presence on the nightly lecture platform was invaluable to the success of the program. Many participants were his patients.

From facts obtained through information sheets turned in by the participants in this plan, we learned that six had been smoking for more than 40 years—one for more than 50 years! Many had tried to quit before, but without success. The last night of the program brought approximately 20 to 25 to victory over nicotine.

Following are some of the testimonies:

"I've smoked 25 years and haven't smoked since Sunday night. Haven't been nervous, and I had been taking nerve medicine." (This contact has led to Bible studies.)

"I smoked 20 years, and I smoked two cigarettes when I left here Sunday night but not since. Friends even placed cigarettes in my mouth, but I have not smoked."

"I am 25 years old, and I've just realized I've been a slave to tobacco half my life. Today was the first day that I went 24 hours without even a puff on a cigarette, and I am so proud of myself."

"I smoked corn silk when I was a boy and started smoking cigarettes when I was 14—it's been 43 years—but I haven't smoked since coming here Sunday night."

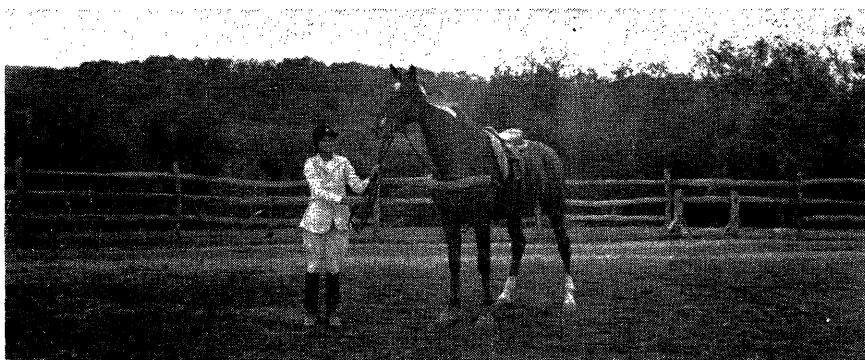

That a Seventh-day Adventist minister should take time from his busy schedule to help them left the people overwhelmed and extremely thankful for the victory gained. Requests were made for another Five-Day Plan for friends and relatives.

Variety of Activities at Frederick Church

THIS past year a variety of activities has been made possible by a variety of people in the Frederick Church. Everything from lively banquets—one celebrated the Ingathering victory and another boosted the building program—to serious soul winning ventures have graced the calendar.

There is the Jail Band which held meetings in the local jail twice a month all winter. Lawrence Delong and Herbert Damazo provided the leadership for this. A well-attended cooking school was conducted this past summer. Dorothy Delong, Iris Dahlberg, Carolyn Eckenroth, Doris Blood, and Barbara Liston were the cooking instructors. Nearly 50 children attended one of the most successful Vacation Bible Schools Frederick has enjoyed. Ann Damazo, Joan Teske, and Aldane Warren provided, with their able helpers, thorough planning and much hard work to make this such a success. Twenty-two of the children came from non-Adventist homes.

Charles and Dollie Webster, a Fort Detrick couple, have given stimulating guidance to the MV Society. The young people gave of their time in visiting the sick and helping shut-ins with household chores, in addition to engaging in other activities. Dr. Raymond Damazo and a team of speakers conducted Voice of Youth meetings on the Fort Detrick post from September through December last fall.

Ann Damazo, (Mrs. Frank), has organized a Junior Pathfinder Club to accommodate the younger set who have been watching Dr. Ray Damazo's Senior Pathfinders so intently. Both of these groups are as busy and enthusiastic as can be!

The correspondence band leader, Faith Pryor, has covered the nearby city of Thurmont with Bible enrollment cards. Members of the Bible Study Band have been active in giving regular Bible studies. Donald Eckenroth, the leader of this group, has been working with several families this year. Sixteen people (including three Catholics) have been baptized and several more will be ready soon.

"Life and Health" Opens a Door

SABBATH, September 22, saw the culmination of a chain of events leading to the baptism of a husband and wife.

One cold night two of the sons of Paul Arner, a literature evangelist, were selling Life and Health magazine. They had just decided to finish their work when they noted a short street that had not been worked. It was on that last little street that Roy Collins and his wife and family were living.

They noted the advertisement on the cover telling of The Bible Story. The clipping was filled out and mailed. A few days later they were visited by Paul Arner and purchased the full set and a three-year subscription to Life and Health. It was evident to the alert colporteur that this family was hungry for the truth of God, and soon he and the local elder, Thomas L. Dennison, were studying regularly with them and their three young children.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins, even before their baptism, proved their love for God's truth as night after night they joined the Federalsburg Church during Ingathering. Mrs. Collins finally becoming the top solicitor in the church.

Now they are fully baptized members of the remnant church and are busily engaged in passing on their newly found faith to others—all as a result of the sale of Life and Health by two boys! God give us many more.

Leland Memorial Hospital Sponsors Fair Booth

THE Eugene Leland Memorial Hospital in Riverdale, Md., participated in the Prince George's County Fair and Showcase between September 6 and 9.

The booth display was designed by Richard Hart of the Medical Group Foundation, and consisted of three revolving doors. As the doors revolved, they told how the hospital was serving both God and the community in which it is located.

More than 7,000 pieces of literature consisting of Life and Health, pamphlets on health principles, coffee, smoking, etc., and a special issue of Health and Happiness (an ELMH publication) were distributed.

We are very grateful to God for the opportunity this afforded us to

Pulaski, Radford, Pearisburg Churches Unite in Rally

THE Pulaski, Radford, and Pearisburg Churches united in a district rally on Sabbath, September 22, at the Radford Church. E. H. Craig, a representative of the Christian Record Benevolent Association, was the guest speaker and presented a message which greatly blessed the gathering.

In planning for the service, officers and members of each church were assigned various responsibilities. The Pulaski Church Sabbath School very ably cared for the children and young people, Cliff Herrmann, a student at V.P.I., was Sabbath School superintendent; Mrs. Dorothy Hardiman, of the Pearisburg Church, gave the missions appeal; and Phillip Howell of the Radford Church presented the lesson study.

A youth choir, composed of members of all three churches, directed by Mrs. Thelma Frey and accompanied by Mrs. Kay Green, greatly enhanced the worship service. Then a fellowship lunch period between the morning and afternoon services helped the members of the churches to become better acquainted with each other. A name card was pinned to each adult and child to aid in this fellowship.

In the afternoon a film was shown which thoroughly informed the church members concerning the work of the Christian Record Benevolent Association. A historical review of the Radford Church followed which was an interview of various charter members by the pastor and which turned into a very touching testimony service on the part of these members.

The program closed with the showing of film slides taken at the General Conference in San Francisco. The church members are now looking forward to another day of fellowship at such a meeting in the future to be held in the Pulaski Church in celebration of the 1962-63 Ingathering victory for the three district churches.

Evangelism at McDowell, Virginia

This is the Bethlehem Presbyterian Church, McDowell, Va. It is again the scene of Seventh-day Adventist evangelism as it was last summer. Elder Elmer Malcolm, Pastor of the Staunton Church, is conducting the very successful meetings on Sunday afternoons. The average attendance is about 140. Most of those attending are visitors and friends of Elder Malcolm who was reared in this rural area. He is being supported in the effort by Robert Clarke, Pastor of the Waynesboro Church; Mrs. Ralph Hallman; and other members of the Staunton Church. Plans are being made for the purchase or rental of a church with the expectation of organizing a company of believers as time progresses.

"Junior Guide" Editor To Speak November 2

ELDER Lawrence Maxwell, Editor of Junior Guide, youth publication printed by the Review and Herald Publishing Association, will speak at the Takoma Park MV Society on Friday night, November 2, at 8:00 o'clock.

All the youth in the Takoma Park area will want to hear this friend of young people. The title of his talk is "Summoned at the Plow." Song service begins at 8:00 P.M. and the youth of Takoma Academy will provide the music.

Weddings

On a beautiful Sunday afternoon, September 9, James Larry Keener and Hildergard Charlotte Kober were united in marriage at the Washington Sanitarium Chapel, Takoma Park, Md. The service took place at 2:00 o'clock.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. The attendants of the bride and the groom were Heide Kober, Ruth Bristow, and John Burdick, John Gank, Kenneth Clelland, and William Clelland. The organist was Charles Pierce and the soloist was David Liu.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Halcyon Hall where refreshments were served.

James Keener is a senior student of theology at Columbia Union College. Their new home will be established in Takoma Park as they continue to prepare for denominational service.

ROBERT TAYLOR

LOUISE CORBETT and Edwin Weimer were united in marriage in College Park, Md., by Pastor Sid Conger. The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, George Zervos. Mrs. Ellen C. Zervos, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mary Ellen Weimer, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and David Miller served as attendant to the groom. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Louise Boals Osborn and Betty Lou Lewis. Ushers were Albert Flenner, Jr., Robert Elliott, and George Topakas. The flower girl was Dana Kaye Osborn.

The wedding music included "O Perfect Love," indicative of the Christian basis of the home.

After an extended wedding trip west, the couple have made their home in Silver Spring, Md.

Canton Member Observes Ninetieth Birthday

MRS. EUDORA GILBERT lives at 165 Center Street, Canton, Pa., and is a member of the Canton Seventh-day Adventist Church. On August 19 she celebrated her 90th birthday. She was showered with cards and other remembrances from far and near, and many friends dropped in to wish her well.

Mrs. Gilbert's parents, Ellen G. and Vicilla Salisbury, lived on a farm in Fox township, Sullivan County, Pa., in 1872 when she was born. The Salisburys were among the very earliest Seventh-day Adventists in this area. In fact, Mrs. Gilbert has been a Seventh-day Adventist for more than three-quarters of a century. She was just 12 years old when Lyman Crow, a literature evangelist, came through Sullivan County selling Sunshine at Home. Then two years later Elder J. W. Raymond and Elder D. A. Ball held a tent meeting in Shunk. Mrs. Gilbert took her stand for Christ and His truth and was baptized in Fall Creek by Elder Raymond. Thus she became a charter member of the Shunk Church when it was organized.

As a young lady, Mrs. Gilbert, with her sister, Mrs. Loren L. Stone, sold Adventist literature in Elmira, Canton, and Sullivan County. She also helped in tent meetings, playing the organ for Elder John Baker when he conducted meetings in Susquehanna County.

Mrs. Gilbert is an accomplished pianist and for many years, in fact, until she was 80 years old, she gave piano lessons. Today she still enjoys playing the familiar and much-loved hymns.

Mr. Gilbert died 15 years ago; however, no children were born to Mrs. Gilbert, yet she was a second mother to many, especially to her grandnieces, Grace King and Judith Stauss, while they lived near her. She was always the one in the family and community to whom all turned in time of emergency and crisis. During her early childhood she was frail of body but when she accepted the Adventist faith she embraced health reform and thus she became strong physically as well as spiritually for the time of test and trial. Today Mrs. Gilbert keeps her own house in order and even takes care of her own washing. Surely God is good to His own and cares and watches over them.

Following is a note she had read in the Canton Church on the Sabbath before her birthday:

"Dear Brothers and Sisters in the church: I want to send a greeting. Tomorrow I will be 90 years old and I have been a Seventh-day Adventist since I was 12 years old. God has richly blessed me, and I love to sing His praises. I ask your prayers that God will still keep me in His way until the end. I am sending a thank offering to my dear Lord today. Your sister, (Signed) Eudora Gilbert."

Honesdale Church Conducts First VBS

THE Honesdale, Pa., Church conducted their first Vacation Bible School this year with good success.

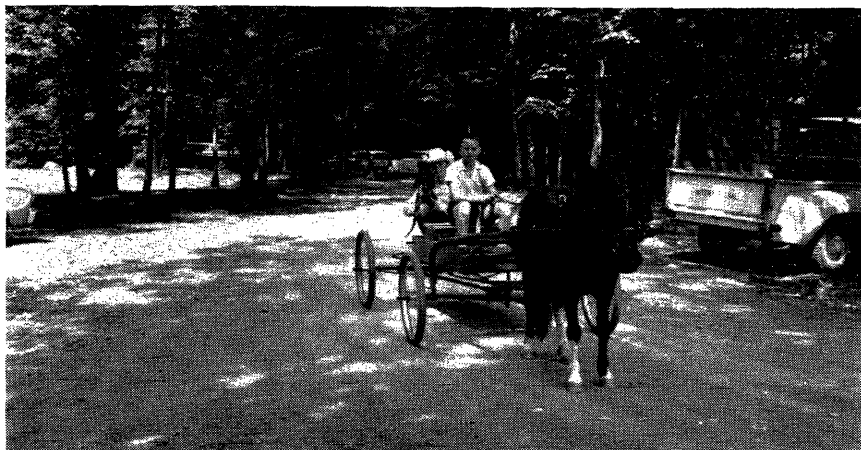

Mrs. Arlene Dewey writes: "Having a Vacation Bible School has been a wonderful experience for us and has brought a closer friendship among those of us who participated. We also got better acquainted with our pastor, who took a keen interest in the school. Our oldest teacher was Mrs. Charlotte Rose, 80 years of age, and the youngest teacher was Grant Kimble, 16 years of age.

Fifty-two per cent of the children came from non-Adventist homes. We hope to have some of these children attending Sabbath School and our Missionary Volunteer meetings."

This school is typical of 24 such Vacation Bible Schools conducted this summer in the East Pennsylvania Conference.

The largest Vacation Bible School was held in the Reading Kenhorst Church with an enrollment of 230. Eighty-seven per cent of the enrollment were non-Adventist children.

Horse and Buggy at Kamp Keystone

One of the recreational features of Kamp Keystone this year was the horse and buggy. Here the red buggy is seen being pulled by Queenie, a Shetland mare, driven by two young campers.

Different types of follow-up work are underway. A number of branch Sabbath Schools are being planned.

We are happy for the missionary venture and the fine spirit manifested by the leaders and members of the various Sabbath Schools in regard to Vacation Bible School evangelism.

We hope next summer every Sabbath School will have a Vacation Bible School. Why not plan for it now?

Dean Eric Jones Chapel Dedicated With Ceremonies

FORMER Dean of Men, G. Eric Jones, was present as the chapel of Morrison Hall was dedicated in his honor.

G. Eric Jones was Dean of men at Columbia Union College between the years 1927 and 1936. One of the presidents he served under was Harvey A. Morrison, after whom the dormitory was named.

Dean Jones served in Canada before going to Indian as a missionary. He came directly from the mission field to the campus in 1927. The fact that he served longer than any other dean, except the present one, caused the board to name the chapel in his honor.

Several hundred guests filled the chapel to capacity. President Hirsch welcomed the guests, especially former students present who had been in the dormitory under Dean Jones. One of these, Percy Manuel, now President of Oshawa Missionary College, delivered the dedicatory sermon.

The act of dedication was led by the present dean, M. E. Loewen, followed by the dedicatory prayer. Drew Gackenhimer, president of the dormitory men's club, Delta Sigma Tau, presented an American flag to be used in chapel, and Mr. Jones was presented with the key to Morrison Hall.

The Dean Eric Jones chapel is finished in natural paneling and stained-glass windows. The pews of African mahogany provide a seating capacity for 366.

Religious Program Planned by SA

VIVIAN PUCCINELLI, pastor of the Students' Association, is planning a new Students' Association religious program for students.

One feature, according to Mr. Puccinelli, will be a mid-week prayer meeting to be conducted by a guest faculty member or minister. This activity is tentatively planned for Wednesday evenings from 9:15 to 10:00. Final plans for this meeting are in the final planning stages, it is reported.

Morning worshipers are presently being conducted in Morrison Hall's Dean Eric Jones Chapel each morning from 6:45 to 7:00.

The beginning of Sabbath-afternoon discussion groups is also planned. This will include a singspiration as well as a discussion of some topic by a guest and the audience.

Pastor Puccinelli says: "Our slogan is not to ask for students to support us, but our aim is to support the students in their Christian growth."

CUC Vocal Group Named Pro Musica

RECENTLY organized under the direction of Paul R. Hill is a group of select vocalists from the C.U.C. student body. This group, formally known as the Madrigal Singers, has been renamed Pro Música.

Pro Música consists of first sopranos: Barbara Watkins, Faith Vejnar, and Annette Guldhammer; second sopranos: Joyce Hall and Jeanne Haas; altos: Betty Millard, Jane Richardson, and Glenda McGinnis; first tenors: Don Anderson and Jerry Shoemaker; second tenors: William Helbley, James Malin, and James Dearing; first basses: Robert Yingst, Louis Negretti, and Joshua Rivera; second basses: Elmer Crist and John Wohlfeil; the accompanist is Martha Kubrock.

Officers elected for this group are: Don Anderson, president; Betty Millard, secretary-librarian; James Malin, business manager; Robert Yingst, public relations, and Joshua Rivera, pastor.

Pro Música's first appearance at C.U.C. will be Friday, November 16, at the Sligo Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Lindsay Guild Elects Officers

THE Kate Lindsay Guild, a club made up of graduate nurses seeking a baccalaureate degree, has elected Drusilla Kurz as president.

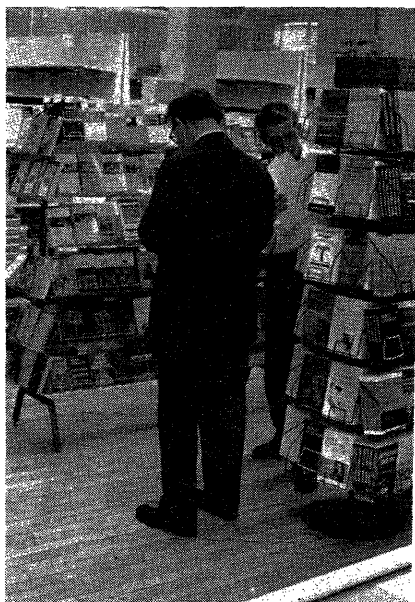

Other officers include Margareta Pyke, vice-president; Barbara Schultz, secretary; Jongkolnee Patmasiri, treasurer; and Verna Roberts, publicity secretary. The faculty sponsor is Eulalia White.

Each year the Guild selects a mission project, in addition to sending two nursing magazines to each of the former members of the Guild now overseas. Last year they sent money to Formosa which helped furnish necessities for the nurses' home. A similar project is planned for this year.
