From Here and There

ATHENS, Greece.—The sentence of a Jehovah's Witness condemned to death for refusing to serve in the Greek army has been commuted to four and a half years in prison. The Jehovah's Witness is Christos Kazanis, a 23-year-old tobacco worker from northern Greece. Kazanis' sentence stirred international reactions ranging from the stoning of the Greek Consulate in Amsterdam to a protest from the American National Council of Churches. The courtroom of the Athens revisionary court-martial was packed with newspapermen and silent Jehovah's Witnesses, including the defendant's family. Private Kazanis said the prison sentence meant he would be drafted again after serving his term. The court was asked by the defense attorney to commute the sentence to "five and one-half or six years." Such a ruling would have exempted Kazanis from conscription and spared him a repetition of his ordeal. He is one of 50 to 60 Jehovah's Witnesses in Greek prisons for refusing to bear arms.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Executive Committee of the Seventh-day Adventist Church has voted $23,000 to purchase land for a servicemen's center on Okinawa. The land is near the main military bases on the strategic Pacific island. Located on a hill, the site is one-sixth of a mile from Army headquarters and overlooks the Kishaba Military Housing Area, the East China Sea, and the Pacific Ocean. English-speaking Adventists on the island have been trying to provide food and homes for the some 90 Adventist servicemen attending Sabbath services each Saturday.

CARLISLE, Eng.—This almost-too-good-to-be-true story appears in the latest issue of the Anglican parish magazine of Stanwix, near Carlisle, England. It seems that a vicar attending a conference of clergymen left his auto in a prohibited area of York with this note on the windshield: "I am a minister of the Church attending a conference as I have done for 15 years. I am already late and the parking places are getting fewer. Forgive us our trespasses." When the vicar returned he found the following note: "I am an officer of the law and I have been doing this beat for 20 years. My superior is due within the hour and the rules are getting stricter. Lead us not into temptation."

ABOUT THE COVER

Four members of the Bloise family have been baptized as the result of the missionary work of Myrna Taylor (left). Next to Myrna Taylor is Mrs. Bloise and Alphild. On the top row are Francis, Luisito and Luis Bloise.

As the result of evangelistic meetings conducted in the Ambassador Theater, 28 persons have been baptized. Above is part of the group. Standing in the back row are (left to right): Elder Salim Japas, the evangelist, from Argentina; Elder Eduardo Zurita, a Chilean pastor; Mary May, Bible instructor, and Elder Manuel Rosado, Pastor of the Washington Spanish Church. Meetings are still continuing, but in a new location. A church has been rented at 14th and Gallatin Streets, N.W., in Washington and this will be organized later into the second Spanish Adventist Church in Washington.

A TRUE MISSIONARY

By Morten Juberg

Managing Editor, "Visitor"

THIRTEEN - YEAR - OLD Myrna Taylor is a missionary. She has spent most of her life in Cuba and Mexico where her parents, Elder and Mrs. C. R. Taylor, have been in educational and MV work.

Myrna was born in Mexico and one notices the faint Spanish accent when she speaks.

Myrna is a missionary in another way also. She believes in sharing her faith with others. Because of this, she had a part in the winning of a family to Christ.

The Taylors live in Takoma Park. They are on furlough and will be going to Puerto Rico for their next assignment.

One of Myrna's friends told her about a girl, also in Takoma Park, who spoke Spanish and was a native of Venezuela. Her parents are in Washington because the father is an official at the Venezuelan Embassy.

Before too long Myrna was introduced to the young lady, Alphild Bloise. Adventists were not completely foreign to her, because a member of the Washington Spanish Church, Mrs. Abraham Carreño had given her a copy of Mary Kennedy's Victory in her native language.

Myrna invited Alphild to attend church services with her and she accepted. Not long afterward Spanish evangelistic meetings began in the Ambassador Theater in downtown Washington, D. C. The Bloise family began to attend the meetings.

Alphild was the first to be baptized. This was a joy to her friend, Myrna. Then another baptism was held and Mrs. Bloise and two children, Francis and Luisito, were baptized. Mr. Bloise also has indicated his desire to prepare for baptism.

This is a fine, cultured family that will have a strong influence for good. It all started because Myrna Taylor was a true missionary for her Lord.

Father-Son Team Launches "Total Evangelism" Program

1. Evangelist and Mrs. W. C. Scales, Jr.

2. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Scales, Sr.

3. Bishop G. C. Davis about to be baptized by Elder W. C. Scales, Jr. Clifton Powell, lay elder (left), assists at the baptism.

4. Mrs. Mary Linder, featured soloist during the tent meetings, was accompanied by Leslie Booker. Both are loyal members of the Campostella Heights Church in Norfolk, Va.

5. Bishop and Mrs. G. C. Davis. Bishop Davis was a minister of another denomination for many years. Now he and his wife are rejoicing in the Adventist message, having been baptized during the Portsmouth tent meetings by Evangelist W. C. Scales, Jr.

6. A portion of the crowd that attended evangelistic meetings in Portsmouth, Va.

7. John Harley and his "converted trumpet." He used to play for "the world," but now has dedicated his talents to the cause of God. His services were invaluable during the tent meetings held in Portsmouth.

Tidewater District Records 135 Baptisms in Eight Months

THE program of "total evangelism" in the Tidewater district (Norfolk, Newport News, and Portsmouth, Va., Churches) has resulted in 135 baptisms during the first eight months of 1966.

A father-son team, composed of Evangelist W. C. Scales, Jr., and W. C. Scales, Sr., Bible instructor, launched this program the first of the year, setting a district goal of 225 baptisms for 1966. Church elders, loyal officers, and faithful members of the three churches have given their wholehearted cooperation.

The major evangelistic effort conducted in the "Bible Tabernacle" at Portsmouth, Va., during the months of July and August has resulted in 70 baptisms to date with others in preparation for a later baptism. Within the past 18 months the Portsmouth Church has grown from a membership of 30 to 125.

Among the many persons who were added in the Portsmouth tent effort were a minister and his wife.

This couple, Bishop and Mrs. G. C. Davis, had been keeping the Sabbath in their home for many years, but they are now rejoicing as they walk in greater light, having united with God's commandment-keeping people. Mrs. Davis is a school teacher and a competent Bible student.

Associated with Elder and Mrs. W. C. Scales, Jr., in this meeting were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Scales, Sr., Mrs. Ethel Williams, Mr. and Mrs. James Nelson, Mrs. Ida M. Johnson, Mrs. Elaine Spivey, James Reid, Richard Guilford, Clifton Powell, Leslie Booker, John Harley, Mrs. Mary Linder, Juanita Johnson, Jacquelyn Harrison, Mrs. Mozelle Giles, Arthur Johnson, and Callie Williams.

A new church building has been purchased to accommodate our Portsmouth members. This was necessary owing to the rapid growth of the church. The sanctuary auditorium is air-conditioned and has a seating capacity of 250.

Billboard Used to Advertise Baltimore Meetings

ON the corner of Payson and Lafayette Streets there is a vacant lot, and above this lot there stands a large billboard which advertised Blue Ribbon Bread.

This company feels they have a fine product and so they advertise it.

We, as a people, know there is no finer bread than that which we have to offer: the Bread of Life.

It was felt that this billboard would be the perfect thing to advertise the presentation of this "Bread of Life," and that the vacant lot would be the perfect place to present it.

On July 3, 1966, our thoughts and plans became a reality. The board no longer advertised Blue Ribbon Bread, but the presentation of "The Bread of Life" by Elder Leon G. Cox under the big gospel tent.

Elder Leon G. Cox

Many came out to feast upon the Bread. They tasted and saw that the Lord is good, and continued to feast for the six weeks that the big gospel tent remained there. Many decided that this was the best Bread they had tasted and so they decided to go all the way with the Lord.

Among this group were two young girls. Ruth Smith, aged 11, and Althera Blanchard, aged 13. They are friends but are from different families. They were the only ones from their families to attend these meetings.

After they made their decision, Elder Cox went to talk with their parents about it. After much prayer and the working of the Holy Spirit upon the hearts of the parents, they said that if that was what their daughters wanted, they would not stand in their way.

Our evangelistic program for 1966 was three-dimensional: church and public evangelism, boosted by our radio program which is on the air three times each week. So far 51 persons have been baptized, and the prospect is bright for many more before the end of the year. Elder Hassie Harris, Baltimore's new Bible instructor, is giving valuable service; and the faithful members at Berea Temple are preparing for even larger successes in time's last hour.

As preparations are being made for larger feasts, please pray that many will accept Jesus, the Bread of Life, THE BEST BREAD.

Salem Church Dedicated Free of Debt

On Sabbath, July 2, 1966, members of the Mount Calvary Church of Salem, New Jersey, rejoiced as their mortgage was burned and the church was dedicated free of debt under the leadership of their pastor, Elder A. S. Wagner.

Elder W. L. Cheatham, President of the Allegheny Conference, delivered the dedicatory sermon, based on Psalms 48.

The mortgage was burned on a silver tray provided by Dorothy Woods. Elder W. A. Thompson, Conference Secretary-Treasurer, offered the prayer of dedication and earlier taught the Sabbath School lesson.

Invitations were extended to sister churches, including Chester, Wilmington, Newtonville, Bridgeton, and Jericho. They graciously responded. The Jericho choir sang during the worship hour. Sharon Cluff of the Berea Church of Boston, Mass., the Brice sisters, and the Brown brothers trio each provided special music.

In 1958 Mrs. Mattie V. Jones, now deceased, had sacrificed to purchase the land. Twelve faithful members worked hard and a church was erected on the lot in December, 1958. The dedicatory services brought to fruition a day long anticipated by the congregation.

Church Dedicated at Hillsboro

Left: the Hillsboro, Ohio, Church, dedicated on September 24, 1966. Right: participants in the dedication service: Elders Stanley W. Hyde; C. C. Weis; Leslie R. Shultz; F. Wernick; Marshall Wright; and Glenn H. Hill.

ONCE it was a shop where crumpled automobile bodies were repaired; now it is a church where lost souls are reconditioned for heaven. This is the Hillsboro, Ohio, Church, which was formally dedicated on September 24, 1966.

The dedicatory sermon was preached by Elder C. C. Weis, Lay Activities Secretary of the Columbia Union Conference, and the prayer of dedication was by Elder F. W. Wernick, Ohio Conference President. The pastor, Leslie Shultz, was in charge of the service. Congratulations were expressed by V. D. Christoffel, Mayor of Hillsboro, and by Pastor Herbert Shiltz, President of the Hillsboro Ministerial Association.

The significance of a church dedication was emphasized by both Mr. Shiltz and Mr. Weis. Mr. Shiltz reminded the group that they were present "to dedicate ourselves to effective witnessing." Mr. Weis said: "To the study of the Bible, bringing our lives into harmony with it, until Christ is seen in us—to this we dedicate this church."

Mrs. Kathryn Trouts, a charter member of the Hillsboro Church, told of its beginning. For several years the group met in members' homes. The formal organization was on December 8, 1951, with 15 members. A hall was rented at that time. A building fund was begun, and many different methods were used to raise funds. In 1957 a larger hall was rented and a welfare center was operated. Later Brown's Body Shop was purchased and the work of converting it into a church was begun. Step by step, it developed over a period of several years. The members worked on the project. Individuals and business firms in the city contributed. "When we have needed something, God has provided for us," Mrs. Trouts said. When shrubbery was needed, the prices were investigated at the nursery. The manager, a lady from Italy, gave the plants, saying, "Of all the churches in my town, the Seventh-day Adventists have done more for our people than all the other churches."

Three former pastors were present: Elder Glenn H. Hill, now the pastor in Bloomington, Ind.; Elder Stanley W. Hyde, Assistant Chaplain of Battle Creek Sanitarium; and Elder Marshall Wright, Pastor of the Hamilton-Middletown, Ohio, district.

Dorcas Federation Meetings Emphasize Human Need

THE Dorcas federation meetings in Ohio during the last week of September faced up to the fact that the helplessness of humanity in need requires the personal involvement of people who are in a position to give help.

The fall meetings were under the direction of Elder S. W. Burrows, Director of Lay Activities of the Ohio Conference, and Mrs. Clarence Thompson, State Dorcas Federation president. The guest speakers were Elder C. C. Weis, Secretary of the Lay Activities Department of the Columbia Union Conference, and Maybelle Vandermark, Assistant Secretary of the Lay Activities Department of the General Conference.

Three meetings were held—in Akron, Mount Vernon, and Cincinnati. Representatives from most of the societies, including several of the pastors, were present. Reports of welfare activity were given. Many details regarding the preparation, packing, and stockpiling of clothing and other relief supplies were studied. Consideration was given to preparation for a fall clothing drive to supply the New York Warehouse of the Seventh-day Adventist Welfare Service.

Bible Conference Held At Dayton

THE two-week Bible conference tent meeting, recently sponsored by the Kettering and Far Hills (Dayton) Churches, was triggered by two basic factors, Elders Murray W. Deming and William C. Hinton, pastors of the churches, announced.

"It was our way of substituting for the annual camp meeting, reduced to a weekend meeting this year, and also of contributing to the 'Bible Emphasis' year as declared by the American Bible Society, now celebrating its 150th anniversary," Elder Deming stated.

The pastors of the two churches alternately presented the 30-minute sermons. Each was followed by a panel discussion on questions from the audience, based on the subject of the evening. The panelists—four or five each evening—included: Elder Chester R. Spangler, retired; Elders Albert Brendel and Deiter Hain, chaplains of Kettering Hospital; Alfred Aastrup, Principal, Dayton Junior Academy; and Horace Kelley, chief technologist of Kettering Hospital.

Sermons during the first week dealt with the second coming of Christ. Emphasis during the second week was on "Keys to Christian Living."

The most popular and the best attended were the Saturday-night meetings advertised as "the best Saturday night in town." These were directed primarily to the youth and young adults.

Equally rewarding was the next Saturday-night meeting when "Realizing Our Dream," the topic of the meeting, became most realistic as the Horace Kelleys told in narration and color slides their own youthful dedication to a dream and its realization in the erection of the Chiapas Mission School during their 18 years of service in Mexico.

Even though the meetings were planned primarily for the parishioners of the two churches, "a nice sprinkling of non-Adventist friends attended each evening," Elder Hinton reported.

"Good sermons," was the response of a layman. "I felt a somewhat informal closeness to the speaker," he added, "that one doesn't get when sitting in a large church auditorium." His comment on the panelists was: "They gave answers that were right to the point. Too bad time did not permit them to answer some questions more fully."

"I picked up a few things about prayer that really helped me," said a one-time, non-Adventist visitor. "I liked the discussion from the panel. The meeting was not formal and yet orderly. Christ was emphasized, and that is so important."

In evaluation of the experience, Elder Deming observed, "Elder Hinton and I believe that the meetings demonstrated the concern on the part of the Adventist community for a strong evangelistic work. We believe that the Bible conference approach is suitable for the general public and we further believe that the Bible conference just concluded is the forerunner of greater evangelism next summer."

Camp Mohaven Hosts Pathfinder Camporee

CAMP Mohaven, near Danville, Ohio, was the site of a recent tri-conference Pathfinder camporee. Eight clubs participated, with 211 persons attending. The activities were under the direction of Elders D. M. Winger, H. W. Bass, and D. L. Davis, youth leaders of the Ohio, West Virginia, and Allegheny Conferences, respectively. Elder Lawrence Maxwell of Takoma Park, Md., Editor of the Guide, was a special guest.

The program included regular care of the camp, Morning Watch, evening campfire, Sabbath School and church service, nature walks, field events, and contests.

The Greenwood, Kettering, and Mount Vernon clubs (all Ohio) received first awards for their participation in the camporee. Second awards were given to the Worthington and Cleveland, Ohio, clubs, and the Charleston, W. Va., club. The Newark, Ohio, club received a third award.

MV-CUC Weekend Features Western Motif

PLANNED jointly by the Sligo Missionary Volunteer Society and the Columbia Union Conference MV Department, "MV at CUC," challenged Columbia Union College students September 16 and 17 with area opportunities for service.

MV Weekend began Friday night with a challenge from a C.U.C. Alumnus and current Kettering Memorial Hospital intern, Dr. Richard Ruhling. Following Dr. Ruhling's remarks, the MV Society presented the film, "Bal-Week."

On Sabbath morning in the campus cafeteria, C.U.C. students gathered at a prayer breakfast and heard a challenge from Dr. Ruhling to maintain one's personal Christian life with the breath of prayer and the nourishment of study and meditation.

During the Sabbath-morning worship hour, Elder Cree Sandefur, Columbia Union Conference President, emphasized the whole purpose of service by reminding Sligo Church members and C.U.C. students of "God's Love."

A new challenge for local service is soon to open to C.U.C. students. On Sabbath afternoon on the campus lawn, representatives of the D. C. Urban Service Corps disclosed how students can serve underprivileged children in the District of Columbia.

To complete the weekend activities students, faculty, and local Conference and Union MV Secretaries donned western attire Saturday night to the tune of the range. The program, held on the athletic field, was directed by Elder Edmund Peterson, Columbia Union Conference MV Secretary.

In western atmosphere including hay, wagon wheels, horses, and teepees, the group ate a supper of veggieburgers, cookies, and punch. Western music, both vocal and instrumental, added to the atmosphere of the occasion.

The weekend program featured worship, work, and play with the students and the MV Secretaries each getting better acquainted with each other.

1. MV Secretaries of the Columbia Union Conference, in western attire, join their voices in song.
2. Students enjoyed the Saturday-night program in an informal atmosphere.
3. Directing the MV Weekend activities was "Straw Boss" Edmund Peterson, MV Secretary of the Columbia Union Conference.
4. Elder Cree Sandefur (right), President of the Columbia Union Conference, becomes an honorary member of the Indian tribe headed by Elder Don Winger, MV Secretary of the Ohio Conference.

Your Helping Hand Is Needed

By Robert H. Pierson

President, General Conference

SEVENTH-DAY Adventists as a church have been spared one of the greatest scourges of our time—the use of tobacco. While millions of others in virtually every country of the world are enmeshed in this tragedy, we as a people are free from its ravages.

No other church today is equipped to do what ours can to help smokers. No other faith has the publications program to help smokers quit and to discourage non-smokers from starting. No other denomination has films like ours to help smokers.

The General Conference Temperance Department, along with its message of prevention, also is developing methods of helping the intemperate. Listen magazine for October is a single-theme issue devoted to helping the alcoholic. Several conferences in North America are using this special issue in their fall visitation program. This issue of Listen contains excellent suggestions on how to work with alcoholics, a graphic portrayal showing how alcoholism develops gradually in a person's life, and tangible ideas on how to control weight healthfully.

Through the years our church has emphasized a message of temperance education to help people from falling victims to drink and other dangerous habits. This approach is important, perhaps the most important. However, work for the intemperate must not be neglected. "Missionary work does not consist merely of preaching. It includes personal labor for those who have abused their health and have placed themselves where they have not moral power to control their appetites and passions. These souls are to be labored for as those more favorably situated. Our world is full of suffering ones" (Evangelism, p. 265).

The task before us is huge. The challenge is great. The church has an unprecedented opportunity to save lives and souls by supporting our temperance work today.

We are ready to move forward, but we need "your helping hand." We now hasten to finish the task our Lord assigned us in the lingering twilight of earth's history. Won't you give a little more than you have ever given before on World Temperance Sabbath, October 22, for the temperance phase of the third angel's message? May God bless you as you share "your helping hand." "As we do our part faithfully, the Lord will bless our efforts to the saving of many precious souls" (Temperance, p. 251). May "your helping hand" dig deeply into your pocket on October 22, and may this offering be the largest in our history, with God's help.

Why You Need the Review

You are not, you cannot be, you cannot even hope ever to be a knowledgeable Adventist without it, that is, one who is conversant with the church you joined.

This church is doing things, going somewhere for God. And there is no other way you can be intelligently sure of this and on the basis of such knowledge take an aggressive part in this world movement than by utilizing this agent in your home.

You don't have to read it, or like it, but you should expose yourself to it, for your sake. And you should make it available for your household. Then you will try sampling it.

You say, "I can't afford it?" Before you start believing this, consider that it costs you about eight cents a copy, which is close to what you pay for your daily paper. Then ask yourself if you can afford your house, car, TV, and other things for which you may be in debt, and in any case would not think of trying to get along without.

The price of the Review is not a handout to the conference, or the church, or the Review. It is, rather, an investment in your own growth and prosperity in the advent message.

I ask you, how can you possibly get along without the Review?

Who is Raymond Pearson? He is a school teacher in a public school just outside of Washington, D. C. He is a part-time literature evangelist. He has a burden for people of non-Adventist homes to become the owner of a well-rounded library that bears God's message of hope for these latter days.

Raymond Pearson

Mr. Pearson began canvassing on a part-time basis in February of this year, and during the past seven months God has enabled him to place $20,400 worth of books and periodicals in homes in and near Washington, D. C.

This man has a passion for souls, loves his work, and has no other plan than to continue letting his light reach out and bring gladness to others. He is married and has one child.

Mr. Pearson tells me that his small unit consists of the Bible Story, Your Bible and You, Desire of Ages, Modern Ways to Health, Triumph of God's Love, and 36 issues of Life and Health. His larger unit of sale consists of the same, plus a set of Bedtime Stories, less 12 issues of Life and Health.

His highest single sale, $314.60.

His highest single day in sales, $995.66.

His highest single week in sales, $2,040.

You, too, may wish to invest some of your part-time hours as Mr. Pearson does. Contact your Publishing Secretary at the conference office. He will advise you intelligently.

"Voice of Youth" Meetings Being Held in Washington

Speakers for the Capital Memorial Voice of Youth meetings make a last-minute check before going on the platform.

THE series of Voice of Youth meetings in the Capital Memorial Church opened Sunday night, September 18, with a well-filled church and a large number of non-Adventists present. The youth did an exceptional job in caring for all details related to this evangelistic meeting.

Four youth speakers—Garland Day, Lisa Stark, Darryl Clark, and Roy Katsuren—presented Daniel 2 in a unique discussion with clarity and power. God blessed their humble efforts, and many expressed surprise in the wonderful results.

Ground Breaking for Tappahannock School

A CHOICE memory for Ronnie Montgomery will be the day he turned the first shovelful of dirt for the ground breaking for the Tappahannock Seventh-day Adventist elementary school. Ronnie earned this honor by being the first and only student of the school during the past year, the first year for the school.

The new building, to be completed early in 1967, will be a two-room structure and will serve for a short time as both a school and a church until the new sanctuary can be completed.

During the period of construction of the school the five pupils and Pastor J. R. Johnson is proud of his youth who have worked for weeks in various committees to make all of this possible. The following leaders are to be commended with their full committees:

Fred Harter, MV leader
Bert Williams, advertising and publicity chairman
James Beale, usher chairman
Roy Katsuren, finance chairman
Barbara Katsuren, music chairman
Douglas Tavener, literature distribution chairman
Gayly Mullinax, secretarial chairman
Walter Putney, transportation chairman
Sharon Elliott, nursery chairman
Ralph Funk, properties chairman

For seven weeks Friendship Teams have faithfully visited scores of interested persons and distributed a series of Steps to Christ leaflets by the hundreds.

Capital Memorial Church youth invite you to visit these evangelistic meetings every Sunday evening until Christmas and to bring your friends and neighbors with you. Please remember these youth in your prayers.

teacher will hold classes in a home. The Tappahannock congregation looks happily forward to the day when their school will become a full-fledged two-teacher school.

For Ronnie Montgomery the ground-breaking ceremony was a thrilling event. Being the school's first student earned him the honor of turning the first soil.

Motel Ministry in Roanoke

OVER 4,000 copies of Your Bible and You have been sold in Roanoke motels as the result of a program launched by Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Buch of the Roanoke Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Now servicing 12 motels, Mr. and Mrs. Buch recall the meager start of their project two years ago with only $75, four motels, and a zeal to place Your Bible and You in homes throughout America.

The books are stocked in 484 rooms and are replaced weekly as travelers buy them for one dollar each.

Cooperation of the motel managers

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Buch (right and left) make weekly visits to 12 motels to replace books that travelers have purchased. Here a motel operator receives a new supply of Your Bible and You.

has gratified these missionary-minded church members. Several owners actually have requested the books for their motels.

People from all walks of life who have purchased the books are responding with hundreds of letters, keeping Mrs. Buch busy answering the "fan mail," while Mr. Buch continues to order new books for placement.

Here are some of the letters received:

From Pennsylvania:

Several weeks ago when we were on vacation and stayed in a Roanoke motel we discovered the book Your Bible and You. We read it and liked it and purchased a copy for our waiting room. Patients have been asking about the book so I am writing to ask you to send us 10 extra copies.

From South Carolina:

I recently had the opportunity to look through your book, Your Bible and You, and was greatly impressed. It is a book that I wish I could have had many years ago. Never have I seen a publication such as this that answers so many questions about the Bible and our Christian heritage. . . . Thank you for making such a publication available.

From Viet Nam:

I am a soldier in Viet Nam, and happened to see one of your books, Your Bible and You. I would like very much to have one for me and one for my wife in Missouri. Thank you very much.

From Florida:

I have a beauty salon in which I keep good Christian books and literature for customers' reading. Since returning home from vacation, I would like to order one dozen of Your Bible and You for customers, friends, and family. We were so blessed by reading the book ourselves. We deeply appreciate the helpful truths presented in your book.

Mr. and Mrs. Buch heartily recommend this type of project.

Nutrition, Cooking Classes At Capital Memorial Church To Begin October 30

PASTOR J. R. Johnson of the Capital Memorial Church announces that the church Health and Welfare Department will sponsor nutrition and cooking classes, beginning Sunday, October 30, at 6:30 P.M., to be held in the church Fellowship Hall at 3150 Chesapeake Street, N.W. The classes, to be held Monday through Thursday, October 31-November 3, will begin at 7:30 P.M.

Mrs. Dorothea Jones

The lecturer and cooking class demonstrator this year will be Mrs. Dorothea Van Gundy Jones of the International Nutrition Research Foundation at Riverside, Calif. Mrs. Jones is a well-known nutritionist and has conducted cooking classes from coast to coast and in Europe and Japan. She holds a degree from Loma Linda University and currently serves as an editor of Today's Food.

The four aims of the nutrition class are: to help homemakers save money on their food budget; the introduction of modern and time-saving methods of food preparation; the discussion of good nutrition habits to help members of the family guard their health; and to introduce new recipes, prizes, and surprises in sampling foods.

"Good nutrition is a family adventure," Pastor Johnson says. Therefore, he would like to invite men as well as women to attend these classes. The registration fee for the entire family living at home is three dollars, and two dollars for the single registration. For advance registration or information call 362-3668 or JUniper 8-6320.

The equipment and display table will be furnished through the courtesy of the Washington Gas Light Company.

The nutrition and cooking class is another in the series of community services being offered by the church in its fall program. All church members in the area are cordially invited.

Seven Baptized at Elkton

THE banks of the Shenandoah River provided the setting for the baptism of seven new believers into fellowship of the Elkton, Va., company. Those baptized were largely the result of the lay efforts and influence of the Elkton company leader, Austin Seal.

The Hensley family is a testimony to the effectiveness of the literature work and our lay ministry. A copy of Daniel and Revelation had been performing its silent ministry for several years. Its influence on Mrs. Hensley's mind finally compelled her to attend services on God's holy Sabbath. She, of course, brought her family with her. They have attended Sabbath services almost every week since. Mr. Seal responded to the need for Bible studies and, after six months, five of the family made their decision for Christ. Keith, who is 19, was drafted into the armed forces, September 15.

Pastor Hartman happily welcomes the new members of the Elkton congregation. Those baptized are (right to left): Nancy and Kathleen Seal and the Hensley family: Marcia, Jane, Mrs. L. G. (mother), Clay, and Keith.

The Elkton company is to be commended for this large increase in membership, particularly in view of the fact that the members are spending many hours each week erecting their new sanctuary.

From Book Sale To Baptism

THE following report was received from Charles Reep, a successful literature evangelist in the Potomac Conference:

I received a doctor lead card which led me to the home of a Mrs. Spivey. She gave me an order and before leaving we got into a discussion of the Bible. She remarked that she was confused, and she did not know what to believe. She comes from a Holiness background and her husband is from a family where members are Jehovah's Witnesses. She wished she knew what was right.

I arranged for Bible studies with this couple. We studied for about six lessons. Then one Sabbath afternoon I did not find anyone at home. The lights were out and I went next door to find when they had left. The neighbor mentioned that they had driven away about 30 minutes previously. I went to work and three or four weeks passed. I did not bother about going back. I felt that this was a polite way of telling me not to come anymore.

One afternoon I was riding along, praying and asking for guidance as to whom I should see next. We are told in Desire of Ages, page 363, that we must individually hear him speaking to the heart. When every other voice is hushed and in quietness we wait before him, the silence of the soul makes more distinct the voice of God. This is the effectual preparation for all who labor for God.

God impressed me to go see Mrs. Spivey. When she opened the door the first words she said were: "Where in the world have you been? We have been wondering what had happened to you. Did you not see the note on the door saying we would be back and to wait for us?" I told her I was sorry I had not come to her door. I could see that no one was at home. "We were going to call you," she said, "to come back and continue our studies together."

We studied about six months and Mrs. Spivey was baptized into the Norfolk Church. Her husband has not taken his stand yet, but we are still praying that he will overcome the tobacco habit and that they will be a united family.

Aptly Said

The most tragic figure on the Baptist scene is the spiritual descendant of Isaac Backus and John Leland struggling to justify the support of Baptist ministries with tax funds while maintaining that he is protecting the insight of religious liberty through separation of church and state.—Jimmy Allen, Secretary, Christian Life Commission, Baptist General Convention of Texas (in address at Pastor's Conference of SBC in Detroit, Mich., 1966).

"Dark County" Adventist Witnesses in Face Of Jail Sentence

Editor's note: There are not many Adventists in Louisa County, Va. The Potomac Conference lists it as a "dark county" because it has no Adventist churches.

But a great many people have found out about Adventists recently because of a man whose Sabbath was not to be tampered with, even with a threat of a jail sentence.

The following story from the "Daily Progress" in Charlottesville tells about the incident. A story about Jesse Merrell appears on this page.

By Jesse Merrell

State Editor, Charlottesville (Va.) Daily Progress

A Louisa County man who faced a possible contempt of court citation through his refusal to go to court on Saturday because of his religious convictions has been removed from his precarious perch.

B. Theodore Anderson, 68, had been subpoenaed to appear as a witness next Saturday in Louisa County Court. But he has received a letter from Louisa County Commonwealth's Attorney C. Pembroke Pettit telling him he is released from the subpoena and will not have to be present.

Anderson, a Seventh-day Adventist, had been trying to find a way out of the Saturday appearance because Adventists keep the Bible Sabbath.

Two visits to Pettit and one to County Judge S. A. Cunningham had been fruitless. He was told he would have to appear or be in contempt of court.

The problem began for Anderson when he heard a noise in his back yard about 11:00 o'clock one night. He investigated and found a man hunting for the keys to a truck in the yard.

Anderson helped the man, who had been drinking, search for the keys for about an hour and tried to find out the name of his visitor. But the man would only say his name was "Warren." He didn't know if this was his first or last name, Anderson said.

Mrs. Anderson, who is originally from Chicago, became fearful for her husband's safety and called police. Anderson told police he didn't want to press any charges. But police charged the man with public drunkenness, and subpoenaed Anderson as a witness.

Anderson says he is glad the problem is solved and thanks all who prayed for him. He credits the prayers of friends with playing a big part in eliminating the difficulty.

B. Theodore Anderson

B. THEODORE ANDERSON is a stubborn man. Some of the county officials may not be happy about it, but his stubbornness paid off.

When faced with a contempt citation (see adjoining story) and a possible fine, he told officials that to pay the fine would be an admission of guilt and he was ready to go to jail.

Furthermore, he told the officials, he had friends who would make the religious persecution known.

With no great joy, the officials backed off. But an implied threat was given in a letter from the County Prosecutor:

Dear Dr. Anderson:

After talking with Sgt. Chisholm concerning your charge of drunkenness against the man who appeared at your home and was arrested by the State Police, I have decided to release you from the subpoena and, of course, if the evidence isn't sufficient to convict, then the charge will be dismissed by the Court.

I should like to advise you that in the future if you expect police protection, you will be required to co-operate fully in any prosecution in which you are a necessary witness. Our County Court has been held on Saturday for many years and I know of no plans to change that date.

Very truly yours,
(signed)

Mr. Anderson says the state-wide publicity has given him an opportunity to pass out many tracts concerning the Sabbath. Many have asked him why he refused to go to court on the Sabbath and this has presented many opportunities for witnessing.

A graduate of Columbia Union College, Mr. Anderson worked at the Washington College Press and taught at a high school for 25 years in Washington, D. C., before his retirement.

Virginia Newspaperman Becomes Member

To pinpoint the influences that bring one to Christ and the remnant church is not always easy. Many times a half-dozen individuals or more play a part, each adding his influence.

This was the case with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Merrell who recently became members of the Charlottesville, Va., Church. And where did it all start?

It may have been a contact made by a literature evangelist, Eugene Haney, who sold the Merrells some books when they lived in Hopewell.

After being discharged from the army, Mr. Merrell was the news director for a small radio station in Hopewell and then went to the Hopewell News. He was a staff writer and became City Editor.

The Merrells attended evangelistic meetings conducted in Waverly by Elder John Klim. This was an influence. Then they met Elder Lewis Stout, another contact.

At about this time the family

moved to Charlottesville where Mr. Merrell had accepted a position as State Editor of the Daily Progress.

Elder Stout wrote to Elder Hartman, then in Charlottesville, and he got acquainted with the family. Mr. Haney visited the family and took Mrs. Merrell and the children to church services in Waynesboro where Elder Elwin Hewitt is the pastor.

Then Clay Farwell, the present pastor, came to Charlottesville and Elder Kenneth McComas began a short series of revival meetings. It was then that the Merrells took their stand and were baptized. It was a winding path, but God led them along, step by step.

One of the first problems facing Mr. Merrell was Sabbath work.

In his soft Virginia drawl, Jesse Merrell recollects what happened. "We have four editors who work alternate Saturdays. I didn't know just what would happen, because this would mean extra work for them. I went to the chief and told him what my experience had been."

"The editor talked to the other men who would have to do more work and in 30 minutes he came back and said everything was all right. I haven't had any problems. In fact, I got a raise the other day."

Mrs. Merrell remembers that one of the turning points in her experience came when a minister of another faith came to see her. "I handed him my Bible and asked him to show me where I was wrong."

"I was fighting it," Mrs. Merrell said. "I told the minister I didn't want to be an Adventist. I didn't want to be different. But I wanted Bible answers."

But there was no answer. The pastor wouldn't discuss it. "It's just faith," he told her, "and Jesus changed the keeping of the law."

Today the Merrells are a happy, active family, and one the pastor, Clay Farwell, is proud to have in his congregation. "They are good members," he says with a smile. "They really do their part."

There are five children in the family. Sandra, the oldest, is now at Shenandoah Valley Academy and the other four—Mark, Brad, Carolyn, and Gwen—add their energies to the Merrell home and their church.

Where did it all start? It is hard to say. But one thing the Merrells do remember—many people were kind, friendly, and interested. All had a part.

Temperance Exhibit at Harford Fair

Leaders at the Harford Fair were (left to right): Alice Wilbur, Jean Lenigan, and Faye and Ernest Blachek. Mr. Blachek was the coordinator of the event.

THE Adventist temperance exhibit at the annual Harford Fair in Pa., was very rewarding. We showed two films, One in 20,000 and Verdict at 1:32 to a total of 662 people. Eight hundred pieces of literature were distributed. One was overheard saying, after he had viewed the film, One in 20,000: "I've seen enough," and he threw his pack of cigarettes in a barrel by the building.

Plans are being made for a bigger and more interesting temperance display next year. Please remember those in prayer who saw the films and received the literature, that they will be moved by the influence of the Holy Spirit to cast off these killing habits.

"Faith for Today" Program Changes

1. WSBA, Channel 43, York, Pa., has started releasing Faith for Today in color on Sundays at 11:30 A.M.
2. WTPA, Channel 27, Harrisburg, Pa., is reserving time on Sunday at 9:00 A.M. every other week, beginning September 25, for Faith for Today.
3. WIBF, Channel 29, Philadelphia, Pa., has cancelled its contract with Faith for Today.

Remember to call friends to view these programs and write to the station manager if you enjoy the telecast and want it to continue.

FOR some time the VISITOR has felt the need of making available to its readers tested recipes which will add variety to meal planning. Baptisms are increasing and many of our new believers are trying to plan menus which will enable them to switch to a vegetarian diet.

Mrs. Alberta Reed

It is our hope that we can publish recipes which will be of interest to all. We hope to include entire dishes that will appeal to the new believers, the non-Adventist relative, newly married couples who are just building recipe files, those who enjoy variety, and also some for those who like to entertain.

Do you panic when your husband suggests that you invite the minister over for dinner? Do you find all possible excuses for putting off such an invitation? I have heard several ladies come right out and say that they would not know what to serve under the circumstances. It is not that they would not like to invite the minister and his family to come for a meal, it is just the fact that they feel they have nothing interesting to serve. It is surprising how few meatless recipes some of our ladies have.

Hats off to the various church or school districts that compile cookbooks with the favorites of the local congregation. In many instances this is a lot of work, but to me it is a tremendous missionary project as well as a means for raising funds. It makes available to new members recipes which are tested and tried and also gives new variety to members whose families are tired of the "same old vanilla."

Most of our districts do not under-

The column will be coordinated by Mrs. Alberta Reed of Frederick, Md. Mrs. Reed (the wife of Ralph E. Reed and mother of eight-year-old Roberta Grace) enjoys testing new recipes and will help us with this column as her missionary project for the coming year. It is her hope that our readers will contribute their favorite recipes so our column will be successful. We will acknowledge our contributors as we publish their recipes. We would suggest that you obtain a spiral notebook and scotch-tape these columns in your notebook as they appear.

We hope that you will enjoy this service and that by working together we not only can add variety to meal planning but also develop tasty as well as nourishing dishes.

take projects of this type and, since many of our members do not have time (or do not take the time) to get acquainted with the books already in print by some of the denomination's leading chefs and dietitians, it is our hope that we can pass on to you some of these recipes. From time to time I would like to publish my favorites which have been given to me by friends, but I hope our readers also will give serious consideration to submitting their favorites. Our column cannot be a success, unless you do. I would especially like to urge our ministers' and teachers' wives to contribute, since many have lived in various parts of the world and have had the opportunity to taste and prepare dishes that we shall not otherwise have the opportunity to sample unless they submit them to the column.

So get out your recipes and send them along to me at Route 7, Frederick, Md. 21701.

Principal Greet New Teachers

Martin Laloan (left), Principal of Parkersburg Junior Academy, welcomes two new teachers. They are Charlotte Swain from Charleston and Leroy Snider from Columbia Union College. This year the school boasts an increased enrollment of 40 pupils, making a total of 125 students. Staff members include: Martin Laloan (Principal), grades 9 and 10; Leroy Snider, grades 5-8; Mrs. Catherine Breese, grades 1-4; Mrs. Florence Bass, kindergarten; and Charlotte Swain, kindergarten. Hot lunches from the school's modern kitchen are being served daily by the Food Service Director, Mrs. Mary Kittle. Bus drivers are Mrs. Mary McConaha and Mrs. Doris McIntosh. All classrooms have been redecorated and new physical education equipment has been purchased. Mr. Laloan anticipates the "best year ever" and says: "Christian education is surely worthwhile."

THE REVIEWER

In your library I am sure you have a group, large or maybe not so large, of books which you classify as "old favorites." Perhaps these are volumes which arouse nostalgic memories of childhood. Or maybe you just realize, as soon as you purchase a certain book, that it is going to be one of your all-time "greats."

Publishers have their hit parade also, and from time to time they reissue certain books for which there seems to be a continuing demand. This week we should like to discuss a few of the more recent revisions and reissues. Perhaps in this list you will recognize one of your favorites.

Successful Temperance Booth at State Fair

1. Elder Robert Steinke, Lay Activities Secretary of the New Jersey Conference, served as the coordinator of the temperance exhibit at the New Jersey State Fair in Trenton. A loud-speaker system was used to invite passers-by to visit the booth.
2. Jess Dixon (left), New Jersey pastor, explains "Smoking Sam" to a youthful visitor. "Smoking Sam," a mannikin, was equipped with means to artificially smoke cigarettes and trap the nicotine and tars. This made a vivid demonstration for the visitors to the booth.
3. Robert Dunn, a New Jersey pastor, aided in the State Fair exhibit.

The Spirit of Prophecy, of course, has the essence of timelessness as far as church literature is concerned. It is refreshing to note that the Pacific Press is now moving into the paperback market with some of these books. Education is the first to be released in the new format. Its economical paper cover, with a still-life design by Howard Larkin, is most refreshing. The contents, of course, are intact in the original form. We hope to see many more Spirit of Prophecy books in this line.

Also reissued recently by the Pacific Press is the popular Century of Miracles by Richard I. Utt. A colorful, composite photographic cover, together with some new photographs inside, give this already excellent book a very current look. Statistics and other information have been updated also. This would make an excellent gift for non-Adventist friends.

Those who work with children will be delighted with two recent reprints from the Southern Publishing Association. Many years ago Archa O.

Dart, a master story teller, wrote a book called Tips for Story Tellers. In response to a number of requests, the author has revised and enlarged this popular book. Many new stories and suggestions have been added. Also new is the handy age-level indicator for each story. This one is a "must" for Sabbath School leaders.

Especially for tiny tots is the revised edition of Finger Plays and Songs by Bertha D. Martin. This is a collection of charming songs that will delight the little ones. Most are original compositions by Miss Martin. Clever line drawings illustrate instructions for the finger plays. This inexpensive little paperback will add a lot to your cradle roll or kindergarten activities.

Do you have any old favorites, either books or records, that seem to have disappeared? Let us know—you might be responsible for a best seller!

Barron-Turner Team in Baltimore

Elder Ray Turner greets one of the visitors to the Baltimore evangelistic meetings.

Elder Richard Barron with Elder Ray Turner is currently holding meetings in Baltimore. It is expected that a new church will be organized this fall as the result of the evangelistic campaign. From Baltimore the team moves to the Sligo Church in Takoma Park for a campaign beginning October 16.

One of the features of the Baltimore meetings is a children's choir directed by Elder Ray Turner. The children sing each Friday night. Shown is a small portion of the enthusiastic choir.

Most hospitals have male nurses on their staff, but few have male nurses from Kisumu, Kenya. Such is Walter Abilla, one of four male nurses at Kettering Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Abilla, a Friendship International student, became a registered nurse at King George VI Hospital (now Kenyatta National Hospital) in Nairobi, Kenya. In addition he holds a B.A. degree in biology and sociology from Wilberforce University and a master's degree in public health from the University of Michigan. This fall he plans to enter Western Reserve and study for a Ph.D. before returning to his native homeland.

In 1906 Dr. Carey established a mission station in the African village of Gendia. The message given and the life lived by Dr. Carey was so influential the entire village, including Abilla's parents, became Seventh-day Adventists. Thus Walter was born into a Christian home. He states that even today the only church in the village is the Seventh-day Adventist church and three-fourths of the villagers are members.

CRISIS HOUR EVANGELISM

• WE are now in the closing week of the Barron-Turner evangelistic crusade in Baltimore. Forty-three persons have taken their stand for baptism as of September 26. We are praying that many more who are deeply interested will make their decision for Christ.

• Fifteen have taken their stand for Christ in the evangelistic series being conducted in Wilmington, Del., by Elder F. F. Schwindt of California and Elder Charles J. Griffin, pastor. Three already have been baptized and the report is that there are 107 names of prime interests. The next baptism is planned for October 7. Elder Schwindt and Elder Griffin have set as their goal for this three-month series the winning of 66 souls. Please pray with us that this goal will be reached and exceeded.

• Elder Lyndon DeWitt of the Dover, Del., district, with the cooperation of Elder Wilbur Atwood, pastor, began evangelistic meetings in the church at Martinsburg, W. Va., Saturday night, September 24. There are many fine candidates for Christ in this area, and we are looking and praying for a good many accessions to the faith.

Prior to coming to Kettering Memorial Hospital he spent seven weeks in an Indian reservation in Arizona doing research on health conditions of the American Indian.

Mr. Abilla speaks English, Kisii, Swahili, and Luo, his native dialect. He studied English seven years before coming to the United States.

He has often displayed his colorful Kenyan national costume. The background is a rich green, signifying that Kenya is an agricultural land; on this is a black pattern which stands for the people of Africa; and, finally, there are fine strands of iron-oxide red, which represent the country's struggle for independence.

In 1963 Mr. Abilla declined an offer from his country of an executive position in Kenya's Public Health Department. He felt that additional education would make him of greater value to his country and to his church.

Previously, according to James L. Hagle, administrator, the local Adventist pastors have willingly given attention and assistance to the spiritual needs of Harding Hospital patients, but the growth of the institution has made necessary the employment of a full-time chaplain. Elder Nicola will have charge of the religious activities of the institution and will be a part of the therapeutic team, working closely with the psychiatrists, psychologists, and nurses in patient care.

Write a Letter Today

A WHILE back Elder George Knowles, Oregon Conference Evangelist, wrote to a station which no longer carried Faith for Today, asking why. The reply came back: "Your inquiry is the first one that we have received since the program mentioned went off the air. This is the reason for our discontinuing it."

The letter went on to state that other programs would have brought a great deal of protest had they been dropped. Indeed, the program director pointed out: "If any of these programs were dropped we would be deluged with protests immediately."

The lesson is self-evident. If our people will take the trouble to express their appreciation when the telecast is aired by a station, naturally it is going to remain on the air. If they will write a courteous letter, saying they would like to see Faith for Today continued after it has been dropped, an impact will be made.

Take time now to write to your local TV station, either expressing appreciation for its carrying Faith for Today or asking that it do so in the near future. Those letters and post cards can make all the difference between having the program on the air with its weekly invitation to enroll in the Bible course or having no air time at all.

New Book Praised By Jews

ALMOST 900,000 Jews live in the large cities of the Columbia Union Conference. A man who is deeply concerned about this neglected mission field is Elder S. A. Kaplan, a pioneer Jewish pastor, who now makes his home near Baltimore.

Since his retirement, he has headed the Jewish work in the Chesapeake Conference.

Elder Kaplan has written a book, Can Persecution Arise in America?, which has met with a favorable response.

In Baltimore Elder Kaplan sent out descriptive leaflets with a return card to many Jews and received many replies. The books were mailed and he received many interesting letters.

An Orthodox rabbi wrote: "It is my conviction that you have made a most valuable contribution to the ongoing process of the preservation of the seventh day as the true Sabbath day. . . . I feel certain that your effort in the vineyard of God will bring a rich harvest."

Another rabbi wrote: "Thank you very much for the copy of your book, Can Persecution Arise in America?. I have read it with great interest and want to compliment you for a fine piece of work. The argument is a cogent one. Certainly the problem is a very real one and we must all watch out most carefully for the threats to religious freedom which do exist in our country and which seem to be increasing from day to day. . . . You are to be complimented upon a splendid job."

The book deals with the possibilities of persecution of the Jews, a potential which is ever present. It discusses prophecy and points to the day when Sabbath observance can lead to persecution.

Elder Kaplan suggests that the paperback book can be given to Jewish neighbors and friends. He has used it for business contacts and it has found a ready acceptance. Many Jews have given personal contributions to aid in the wide circulation of the volume.

The book is available through the Book and Bible House at a nominal cost.
