MT. VERNON, OHIO--Elder Leroy L. Albers has accepted a call from the Ohio Conference to become the Pastor of the Mount Vernon Church. He has been the Pastor of the Kress Memorial Church in Winter Park, Florida. Elder S. S. Steiner, the former pastor, accepted a call to the Keene, Texas, Church.

ROANOKE, VA.--Six have been baptized as the result of meetings conducted in the Roanoke Church. Ten laymen did most of the speaking for the campaign. The last five messages were given by Elder C. C. Weis, Lay Activities Secretary of the Columbia Union Conference. Elder Earnest Clark, pastor, reports that 10 more who made their decision at the meetings will be baptized soon.

CUMBERLAND, MD.--Three new members were added to the Cumberland and Frostburg Churches by baptism on Sabbath, October 29. Mrs. Jean Diehl of Frostburg was the first in the district, pastored by Elder William F. Hawkes, to complete the "Bible Speaks" course.

WEST PAKISTAN--E. R. Reynolds, who was shot recently by a bandit, remains in a semi-paralyzed condition. Elder Reynolds, who is connected with the Pakistan Union School, went to investigate noises on the mission compound roof and was shot by an unknown assailant. Since the bullet entered the nostril, evidence of it was not known until routine X rays revealed it.

Ingathering

IS EVANGELISM

By Cree Sandefur

President, Columbia Union Conference

"Little Mrs. Ingathering," Anna Rodeback (right)—the sincere, tiny 93-year-old Ingatherer—raised $530 this year. Another faithful member has joined Mrs. Rodeback in the several-hundred-dollar category—Mrs. Elsie Timming who solicited $630.

EVEN in this age of inflation, a million dollars is a large sum of money. Accustomed, as most people are, to $10 and $20 bills, it is hard to imagine how much a million dollars is. But this was the amount raised last year for Ingathering in the Columbia Union Conference which is one-sixth of the total that was gathered from all North America. Our union conference sets the pace!

sist in achieving this goal, a world budget of 40 million dollars was provided. Around the world doors of opportunity are open. We must move forward!

The Ingathering campaign, already under way in the Columbia Union Conference, plays an important part in the evangelistic thrust of our churches and contributes strongly to the advance of the gospel in the world field.

We appreciate the fine efforts that were put forth for the last campaign and look forward to equally wonderful achievements this year. This is a program in which every member can take part. On this page you will see pictures that show the spirit of dedicated members in the Columbia Union Conference. Three-year-old Kristin Heslop raised nearly $40 for Ingathering. At the other end of the age bracket, ninety-three-year-old Anna Rodeback is equally faithful.

It takes all of us working together, both old and young, to put the Ingathering campaign over the top. It is not a program limited to the ministry, nor is it confined to the efforts of the lay members. It is a united endeavor. Together shall we work and pray for greater achievements through Ingathering this year. The opportunities for enlarging God's work in the world field are unlimited.

Little Kristin Heslop was only three years old last Christmas when she raised $38.66 for Ingathering. Accompanied by her grandmother, she would tell the householder: "Hello, I am caroling for the poor people." Then she would sing a stanza of "Silent Night." Then she made a brief appeal, "Do you want to give me an offering?" She raised her amount in four evenings, working an hour each time.

Front row: Mary Ellen Zent, Florence Ott, David Ott; back row: Cleveland Ott, Jr., Nelson Ott. These young people of the Pottstown Church gathered $1,000 in the 1966 Ingathering campaign. All earned more than a Jasper Wayne goal. Cleveland Ott, Jr., raised $317.—T. H. Weis, Lay Activities Secretary.

At eighty-six years of age H. C. Preble of the Corry, Pa. Church, still solicits for Ingathering. Each of his thirty years of faithful work has seen from one to six $25 goals brought in. He still walks from farm to farm in unflinching effort.—Ben Stiles, Pastor, Corry Church.

Member's Witness Results In Baptism of Five

The Fetterman family.

MEET the Fetterman family! God works in mysterious ways! Nine years ago Mrs. Fetterman and Mrs. Sharen Fox met for the first time in Orleans, France. Both of their husbands were stationed there at an army base. Mrs. Fetterman, a Methodist, invited Mrs. Fox, a Seventh-day Adventist, to attend the Methodist chapel on the base with her. Mrs. Fox returned the invitation by studying the Adventist faith with Mrs. Fetterman at her home. Both ladies became close friends.

In 1960 Staff Sergeant Fetterman was transferred to Georgia. A little later the Fox family was moved to the same camp, so both families met again. By now the ladies would go to the Methodist Church on Sunday morning and to the Adventist Church on Sabbath morning.

When Mrs. Fetterman's husband was moved again to Virginia, she and her family decided to return to her home in Julian, Pa. Here she enrolled in the Voice of Prophecy Course. The closest Adventist church was 35 miles from her home. She came to visit, and the first contact was made with the pastor of that church. He arranged to have Bible studies in her home.

One year ago Mrs. Fetterman and her two older children were baptized and joined the Lock Haven Adventist Church. As this is written the second eldest son and Mrs. Marie Donnahue, the mother of Mrs. Fetterman, were baptized. Staff Sergeant Fetterman came home to join the family and to witness the scene of the baptism. When he left the church he stated, "I thank God for what your church has done for my family."

However, Mrs. Fox, one of the loyal lay members, could not witness the scene. Although just a young woman, she died a year ago of brain cancer. Mrs. Fetterman keeps a beautiful picture in her living room—the portrait of her best friend whom she met in France—Mrs. Sharen Fox. "She has been such a sweet lady," Mrs. Fetterman told the pastor.

Little do we realize the result of our humble labor for God. What a glorious morning it will be when these dear friends shall meet again at the second coming of our Lord, when God shall reveal the secrets of His marvelous but mysterious ways.

Pennsylvania Conference Evangelist Appointed

"By giving the gospel to the world it is in our power to hasten our Lord's return" (Evangelism, p. 696). What a thrilling and challenging prospect! How we long to see that glorious consummation!

Our Conference Committee, sensing the urgency of the times and the need of greater evangelism in all phases of our work, has moved forward in faith. They have asked Elder Robert W. Taylor, now a district leader in Pennsylvania, to serve as our Conference Evangelist.

Robert W. Taylor

Elder Taylor already has demonstrated his zeal in this type of soul-winning work and God has blessed his dedicated efforts. He recently held a three-week series of meetings (September 24 to October 15) in Gettysburg, assisted by Elder E. W. Snow. This was a Voice of Prophecy Crusade. They are expecting a good baptism. Other series are planned.

When a special effort is to be put forth "there rests upon every believer in that field a most solemn obligation to do all in his power to clear the King's highway. . . ." (Ibid., p. 111).

To assure a maximum harvest there are nine basic procedures: (1) prepare the church spiritually; (2) organize prayer bands; (3) build an evangelistic interest list; (4) organize visitation teams; (5) establish an evangelistic budget; (6) secure decisions; (7) organize the pastor's Bible class; (8) set and announce baptismal dates; (9) invite the guest evangelist to speak on the Sabbath before the series starts.

We know that "the calamities by land and sea, the unsettled state of society, the alarms of war are portentous. They forecast approaching events of the greatest magnitude" (Ibid., p. 32).

"I am drawn out to call upon our people to make every effort to save souls. We need increased faith. The hearts of our church members should be drawn out in prayer for those who are preaching the gospel. And ministers must take time to pray for themselves and for the people of God, whom they are appointed to serve" (Ibid., p. 98).

Please join us in earnest prayer for God's rich blessing upon EVANGELISM throughout this fine conference. Many series of meetings are now in progress including the Columbia Union Conference Holley team in the Allentown-Bethlehem area. Prospects for baptisms before the end of the year are excellent. God bless and keep you all.

Blue Mountain Academy Ingathering Record Set

York Springs Church Dedication Service Held

OCTOBER 1, 1966, marked the dedication of another church, York Springs, in "ever-progressive Pennsylvania."

Thirty-five years ago the Milton Meyers family became the first Seventh-day Adventists in York Springs, Pa. The J. Robert Fair family was added through an effort held by the Detamore-Holley-Turner team in Harrisburg. Then Pastors A. W. Ortner and Harry E. Robinson baptized four as a result of evangelistic meetings in the York Springs Fire Hall.

In 1959 Elder E. F. Koch and Gordon Osgood added a few more as the result of a tent meeting and in 1960 a church of 24 members was organized.

After meeting in various places the members, under the leadership of Elder Earl Heslop, decided to build. On February 3, 1962, the first Sabbath service was held in the new building by Elder C. M. Bee, the present pastor. Since then 14 members have been added by baptism.

The potential of the York Springs Church may be envisioned by the fact that 15 of their young people are attending church school.

May the prospering hand of God continue to be with this fine congregation.

loyal support, Blue Mountain Academy is the only boarding academy in the Columbia Union Conference with full accreditation from the Middle States Accreditation Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges. There are certified teachers in every classroom.

The long-awaited gymnasium is approximately 30-per-cent completed and the laminated-wood arches have been shipped and were due to arrive on October 27. Then it will not take long to erect the roof structure, enabling the remaining work to be completed on schedule.

Currently the students have no place for recreation when the weather will not permit outdoor activities since the quonset hut has been converted into a plastic bag and packaging industry. It is, therefore, important that the new gymnasium be completed as soon as possible in order to provide adequate recreational facilities during the inclement weather of the months ahead. The gymnasium is scheduled to be completed by January 15 and, in order to make this possible, the students and staff of B.M.A. are looking to you, the Pennsylvania Conference constituents, to give a liberal Christmas offering on December 24. You have been kind and generous in providing the present facilities and we are confident that you will lend a helping hand at this time also.

BEVERLY VAUGHN, a senior at Pine Forge Academy, was named President of the United Student Movement of that campus by Paul Jones, Vice-Principal. The student body of Pine Forge cast their votes and had a choice of two candidates. The other one was John Wagner, a native of Philadelphia, Pa. He presently lives in Pine Forge village.

A United Student Movement campaign at Pine Forge Academy features two opposing parties, the members of which are followers of their chosen candidate. At the campaign "kick-off" each party presents a program highlighting the platform speech of its candidate.

The United Student Movement President for the 1966-67 school year, who is from Columbus, Ohio, is the first girl to hold that office.

College Days Observed At CUC

On October 2 the seniors of Blue Mountain Academy, Mount Aetna Academy, and Greater Baltimore Academy arrived on the Columbia Union College campus. The 129 seniors with 11 sponsors remained on the campus until October 4. From October 16 to 18 the 108 seniors of Mount Vernon and Garden State Academies were our guests. They were accompanied by 10 sponsors. There were 219 visiting seniors, in addition to their sponsors, from October 30 to November 1. These were from Pine Forge Academy, Shenandoah Valley Academy, and Takoma Academy.

The seniors were welcomed to C.U.C. by President Winton H. Beaven and Dean J. G. Smoot. All registered in Columbia Hall where each received a gift packet and an identification badge. They were then escorted to the respective dormitories where they shared rooms with present students.

After getting settled and after having a satisfying meal in the College cafeteria, the students listened to a late-afternoon program presented by the band and the Physical Education Department. This was replaced by the Student Association Fair for the second group.

After worship all seniors met in the chapel of Columbia Hall for the program, "What C.U.C. Has to Offer You." President Beaven, presiding during this program, first gave a short history of C.U.C. He then explained in detail phase one of the building program. Construction is to begin on the new four-story Student Center Building in 1967. It is to house a cafeteria, bookstore, student lounge, Student's Association offices, Dean of Students' office, Behavioral Sciences offices, Nursing Administrative offices, and the Physics and Mathematics Departments. It is to be located north of Morrison Hall just south of the physical education area.

Robert J. Robinson, Assistant Business Manager, with the aid of students, outlined some of the work opportunities afforded by this area. He explained that students work in several places on Capitol Hill, in offices in the community, on construction, and in hospitals. Work in these and in many other areas may help a student defray his college expenses.

Early on Monday morning student guides met the visiting seniors in the dormitory lobbies to escort them to breakfast. At the same time the sponsors had breakfast in the committee dining room with members of the College faculty.

After devotional talks presented by Robert Wilson of the Sociology Department and Richard Broeckel, local attorney and C.U.C. alumnus, the student guides accompanied the seniors on visits to several classes. Visits also were made to the departments of the College, where the seniors were able to become acquainted with the offerings of the departments. At mid-morning the groups stopped at the cafeteria for refreshments.

Chapel time at 11:20 found all students and visitors in Sligo Church. Prof. Lester Harris of the Biology Department, Prof. R. F. Schwindt of the Behavioral Science Department, and Elder Richard Barron and Elder Ray Turner of the Crusade for Christ team of the Texas Conference were the speakers at the various chapel appointments.

In the afternoon the groups were taken to tour the General Confer-

A Princess COMES TO OHIO

Public Relations Secretary, Ohio Conference

A college president from the nation's capital, and a world-traveling youth leader also were headliners at the Ohio Youth Rally in Mount Vernon on October 7 and 8. Besides all of the Mount Vernon Academy students, youth attended from all over the state. Elder D. M. Winger, Ohio Conference MV Secretary, was in charge.

Dr. Winton H. Beaven, President of Columbia Union College spoke at the opening meeting on Friday night on the value and significance of "The One-Talent Man."

After the meeting the Ohio Conference Book and Bible House offered the book, Alice Princess, for sale, and Alice was met by a crowd of people requesting her to autograph their copies.

In the Sabbath School missions presentation Alice demonstrated a costume that was typical of her African homeland. She showed how a large rectangular cloth is worn in various ways.

A trio of young ladies of M.V.A. sang during the Sabbath School. From the left: Judy Woods, Sherrie Toalston and Jayne White. Many other young men and women participated in all of the services of the rally. Karl Janetzko, of Clarksfield, Ohio, a senior at M.V.A., served as Sabbath School superintendent.

Ann O'Frill, Elder L. M. Nelson, and Tom Tindall closed the youth rally with a moving challenge to the youth to place themselves in God's hands to be used as He wills for the finishing of His work in the earth. Ann is from Elida, Ohio, and Tom is from McComb, Ohio. They are both juniors at MYA.

Alice Princess Siwundhla, of Malawi, Africa, was introduced in the first meeting on Friday night, and spoke briefly at that time. She is well known from the book, Enchanted Pillowcase by Josephine Cunningham Edwards, and more recently from her own autobiography, Alice Princess.

Special music during the closing service on Saturday night was provided by the M.V.A. concert band and the Dayton Junior Academy choir. The latter group is pictured here. Its director was Alfred Aastrup, principal of the school.

Youth Congress High Lights

• AN impressive ceremony near the beginning of the meeting was the entrance of a Medical Cadet Corps color guard while the band was playing "The Stars and Stripes Forever." With the bearers of the national flag and the Missionary Volunteer flag in position on the platform, Elder Edmund Peterson, Columbia Union MV Secretary, led the congregation in giving honor to the many young men who have loyally served America when called into military service. Then Elder E. F. Farley, a retired minister and Bible teacher, offered prayer for those in the armed forces.

• Especially interesting was the story of Alice Princess' life and her experience of being brought from Africa with her family to be featured on Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life" television program. With the aid given to them by the sponsors of the program and others, Alice and her husband began their advanced education at Oakwood College. They are studying at the University of California toward doctors' degrees, expecting soon to return to their country to serve in educational work.

• At the close of the Sabbath morning sermon, Elder L. M. Nelson, Associate Secretary of the General Conference MV Department, called for a general dedication of heart and life. With the entire audience standing in response, he then asked the youth who were seriously considering dedicating themselves to specific service in the ministry and other lines of soul-winning work to come forward for a prayer of consecration.

• The Sabbath-afternoon session began with a novelty dialogue between Elder Peterson and Elder Nelson, featuring a series of objects—a pulpit, a stepladder, two baskets of flowers, an easy chair, and a baby buggy—each of which was "interviewed" by Elder Peterson. Voices seeming to come from these objects told of evangelistic youth activities that they each represented, culminating in the introduction of the new MV baby, the Open-Bible Plan.

• A vesper service was held at sunset time, Sabbath. During a song service, while everyone was singing "I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go," Sharlene Beebe, a resident of Mount Vernon, and a Senior at M.V.A., interrupted the singing, went to the pulpit, and seriously asked everyone to think about what he was singing and to take the message to heart.

Canton MV's Donate Immunization Gun To Mission Hospital

DURING Ingathering time, Mrs. Charles Evans and Mrs. LeRoy Mosley of the Canton Church contacted Dr. Blanchard Antes for a donation.

Harold Holyoke (right), member of the Canton Church, is shown presenting the gun to Dr. Blanchard Antes.

The doctor in turn challenged the church members to buy an immunization gun to send to some mission field. The challenge was accepted by the MV Society and in a few days money was given to Dr. Antes to buy the gun.

When Dr. Antes wrote the General Conference Medical Department asking to what field the gun should be sent, the answer came back, "New Guinea." He mailed the gun, as his part of the arrangement, to Dr. Roy Yeatts, Sopas Hospital, Wabog, New Guinea. Since Dr. Yeatts was leaving on furlough, he gave the gun—which will immunize 500 persons per hour—to Dr. Robert D. Wood, the new director of the hospital. Dr. Wood will soon begin a mass-immunization program there.

Dr. Antes, a well-known Canton obstetrician, and two of his medical friends have spent their vacations doing this type of work for the past three years—two in Africa and the last year in Honduras where they immunized 250,000 persons in one month.

Dr. Yeatts has returned to the United States and hopes to visit Dr. Antes while here.

School Administrators Meet

THE administrators of the church schools of the Ohio Conference met at the Mount Vernon Church on October 2. The group consisted of pastors, school board chairmen, and school treasurers and principals. Elder J. R. Shull, Conference educational superintendent, and Mrs. Marian Berry, classroom supervisor, directed the conference.

Elder F. W. Wernick, Ohio Conference President, spoke of the importance of Christian schools.

In a progress report Elder Shull told of enrollment increases in most of the schools, ranging up to 150 per cent. There was a total enrollment last year of 967, in 21 schools, for which the gross operating expense amounted to $450,000. Because many of the schools are small, the process of upgrading them has been a bit slow, but this year 70 per cent of those enrolled are in classrooms of no more than three grades and 58 per cent of them are in rooms of two grades or less.

Elder Charles R. Beeler, Conference Religious Liberty Secretary, discussed the growing complications of the issue of state and federal aid to church schools and its relationship to the principle of the separation of church and state.

Many topics were discussed, including the employment of substitute teachers and part-time help, financial policies, the testing and measurement of the progress of the pupils, the keeping of financial records, and the responsibilities and function of the school board.

Ingatherer Meets With Success

A quiet, somewhat timid octogenarian, who has looked forward to the annual Ingathering time for the past six years, said recently: "I want to do all I can this year. I want to get started early before the weather gets cold." This perennial enthusiasm has helped Lova Walker of the Dayton Far Hills Church to solicit hundreds of dollars for her church each year.

New Jersey Builds For the Future

For New Jersey Adventists, Sabbath, November 19, will be a special day because of a special offering. On that day members will give to the building fund of Garden State Academy.

It is not that they haven't been giving, because they have. For the past two years, without too much notice or fanfare, the third Sabbath offering in New Jersey churches has been dedicated to the Academy and there is now in the treasury about $100,000.

The special offering, added to what is on hand, plus other gifts, will make it possible to begin construction on the first phase of the building program. This will be a new cafeteria and administration building. Not only will the new building be a boon to the school, but it will aid tremendously at camp-meeting time.

It is estimated that the cost of this building, the greatest need at Garden State Academy, will be about $460,000. Elder A. B. Butler, President of the New Jersey Conference, has set a tentative target date for the construction to begin in 1967.

The second stage of building will be dormitories. The plan is to build half a boy's dormitory and the same for the girls. Each half will accommodate 80 students. As enrollment grows, the balance of the building will be finished.

Since November, 1964, a lay advisory group has studied the plans for the complete reconstruction of Garden State Academy. This group and the Conference Executive Committee have named the building and finance committees for the Academy construction.

The plans, reproduced below in full color, reflect the future growth of Garden State Academy.

- 6 ADMINISTRATION BUILDING
Contained in this building will be administrative offices, classrooms, laboratories, and a large library.

- 7 BOYS' DORMITORY
Even now more rooms are needed for boys to work in the Harris Pine Mills and on the campus. The first phase will provide 40 rooms plus the dean's apartment.

Washington Adventist Chorus Holds Seminar For Church Musicians

SEVERAL of the Washington-area church choir directors are currently attending seminars with Paul Hill and the staff of the Washington Adventist Chorus. These seminars are held weekly and are concerned with the further musical training of each director, the growth and development of the individual church choir, developing a junior choir, guidance in score studies, and other technical problems of choral conducting.

Some of the topics covered are: music library procedures, vocal training for the choir, both elementary and advanced conducting, training the child's voice, and in-service training with the Washington Adventist Chorus.

The heart of a church's music program is its church choir, and these seminars are planned to aid in making this "heart" a more healthy organization.

Dedication and Enthusiasm Mark Workers' Meeting

A GENUINE spirit of dedicated enthusiasm was manifested by the pastors, departmental leaders, and office secretaries of the Chesapeake Conference when they pledged to give, to the best of their ability, a full week's salary to the annual Week of Sacrifice offering on Sabbath, November 12.

This wonderful spirit of sacrifice characterizes the fine corps of Chesapeake Conference pastors who also pledged to lead their congregations to an Ingathering victory before Christmas. This will mark the fourth consecutive year that the Chesapeake Conference has achieved the Silver Vanguard goal.

The annual fall workers' meeting, held Thursday, October 27, in the Baltimore First Church, concluded with the presentation of an appeal from the General Conference Fall Council for world-wide revival and evangelism. In response to this appeal the Chesapeake Conference pastors have set prayer objectives for more than 2,600 souls to be won between now and the next General Conference Session, which will be held at Atlantic City in 1970.

Workers at annual meeting, held in Baltimore, October 27.

Let us support our dedicated pastors as they earnestly pray and work for a total of approximately 750 persons each year for the next three and a half years. It is very evident that the Spirit of God is being poured out upon His people.

We must prayerfully move forward in search of the lost and our prayers to the Lord of harvest will be answered. We know that the loyal members of the Chesapeake Conference congregations will arise as one man to support our share of World-Wide Evangelism during earth's last crisis hour.

CRISIS-HOUR EVANGELISM

BETWEEN 50 and 60 have been baptized as a result of the Baltimore Barron-Turner series of meetings, and other baptisms are being planned. The new Linthicum Church will be organized on November 12. Elder Roy Ulmer, pastor of the new church, has located a building for the organization meeting and also a place for the church members to meet until they can buy or build their own sanctuary.

Patuxent, Frederick, and Hagerstown series all open on November 6 with Elder May, Elder Miller, and Elder Crews as speakers.

Intensified preparation is going forward in Dover for the Barron-Turner series. Dover's Ingathering campaign is now in progress and will be over before the evangelistic series begins on November 19. Remember, as evangelism moves forward everything else moves forward also.

Fifteen more were baptized on Sabbath, October 22, in Martinsburg, making 31 for this October series. Others will be ready later. God has truly blessed Elder DeWitt and Elder Atwood in these meetings. Some very outstanding victories have been won for Christ.

The Charles Town Church sponsored a booth at the fair. Approximately 500 took a copy of the Amazing Facts folders. One family who came by the booth attended church services in Charles Town the next Sabbath (mother, father, and five children). The mother had attended church school and decided she must come back to the church. They attended the meetings conducted by Elder DeWitt and all seven took their stand. They were baptized as a family on Sabbath, October 22. Surely there are many hundreds more, who have strayed from the church, that would come back if they could be found.

Conference Pathfinder Camporee Held

Elder E. M. Peterson leads group in singing.

Linwood Stimpson of Spencerville taught the Sabbath School lesson. He demonstrates "Living Water."

TEN clubs joined together for the Chesapeake Conference Pathfinder Camporee in Patapsco State Park, October 14-16.

A high light of the weekend was the Saturday-night western round-up held at a blazing campfire in the midst of the forest. A number of guest "cowpunchers" arrived in full costume with guitars and banjos to perform and lead the group in singing western favorites. They included Elder E. M. Peterson and Elder Tom Green of the Columbia Union Conference, Elder and Mrs. Otis Graves and Elder Paul Cannon of the Potomac Conference, and the Sines brothers with their wives from both the Potomac and Chesapeake Conferences. During the round-up, Elder Cyril Miller, President of the Chesapeake Conference, was "branded" with the MV symbol.

Earlier in the day the group of 165 had held worship services in the woods. The Spencerville Club conducted the Sabbath School and Elder Miller preached the youth sermon. In the afternoon the entire group took a nature hike over to the swinging bridge and along the Cascade Trail.

The camporee started on Friday evening when Elder Peterson led a devotional campfire service and ended on Sunday with the clubs playing "Pioneers and Indians."

The weather was good for camping and eating out-of-doors. The autumn foliage was beautiful. The events and programs were fun, and the Pathfinders had opportunity to live close to God's book of nature for a few days.

THE REVIEWER

ABOUT three months ago the Southern Publishing Association released to church members a book called Flee the Captor, by Herbert Ford. (Official publication date is November 14.) This book tells the dramatic story of an Adventist hero named John Weidner and his leadership of the famed Dutch - Paris Underground during World War II.

In southern France in 1940 thousands of Jews were being herded into detention camps. Their ultimate destination? The extermination ovens of Dachau, Buchenwald, and other Nazi torture centers. Weidner, a native of Holland who resided in France, could not remain an uncommitted bystander for long when he fully realized the unspeakable tortures which these innocent people were being forced to endure. He organized the Dutch-Paris Underground, a unique rescue operation, and was soon joined by hundreds of other sympathetic Dutch and French patriots. His war-time activities brought Weidner scores of awards and honors, including the highest United States decoration for citizens of other countries.

The exciting true-life adventure, so dynamically told by Ford, has attracted considerable attention outside the immediate circle of Seventh-day Adventist readers. In his foreword to Flee the Captor, Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft, General Secretary of the World Council of Churches, declares: "He (Weidner) had that directness, that simplicity of faith, which made him realize that he was at all times in the hands of a loving God."

Haskell Lazere, Director, New York Metropolitan Council, American Jewish Congress, made this significant statement: "If it (Flee the Captor) had not been written the facts about the activities of a great humanitarian would have remained in the official archives of the Allied governments, rich research material for the historian, but hidden from

Retirement No Problem For Him

FOR many people retirement poses a problem. There is too much time and not enough to do. However, for 87-year-old Elder F. D. Wells, of Takoma Park retirement has not brought any such problems. In fact, he wishes he had more time, because he has a special project in which he is interested.

Elder Wells served as a conference president for 22 years and after retirement spent several years as a representative for the Christian Record. After his second "retirement," he looked for a project to occupy his time.

"There is no satisfaction in sitting around doing nothing," was Elder Wells' comment on life and he became a representative for the Reader's Digest.

The funds from this project have been dedicated to Investment. As Elder Wells says, "this fund has become a mighty river of financial blessings. It was my privilege to promote Investment for many years as an executive. I never had a project of my own, but gave liberally to it."

Since he adopted the Reader's Digest project as his own, he has turned in an ever-increasing amount to the Investment. The first year the amount was $25. It grew to $80 the second year and this year he has set a goal of $200. So far he has $175 and will probably surpass his goal.

As community representative for the magazine, Elder Wells gets a rebate from every subscription, new or renewal, that is sent in with his name on it. It is his feeling that there should be a representative in every church for this project.

Further information about the plan can be had from Elder Wells at his home address, 8500 Flower Avenue, Takoma Park, or by telephoning 587-0897.

the millions who should know about John Weidner."

Recently, complimentary review copies of Flee the Captor were sent to leading newspapers and magazines across the country. The reactions thus far have been unanimously positive. Rabbi Arthur Gilbert, himself a well-known author, made this comment: "This is an exciting and deeply moving book.

One is impressed by Weidner's own heroism, but what is made clear in Flee the Captor is that if only one, no matter how humble his station or limited his power, will begin to do his duty to his fellow man, then soon there are two, then three, then hundreds who are inspired by the vision of service."

Human courage and faith of epic proportions keynote the story of John Weidner and the Dutch-Paris movement. James Stewart, Book Review Editor of Christian Herald magazine, summed it up in these words: "I started Flee the Captor on the plane Thursday as I was leaving Nashville, and I must confess that I didn't put it down until sometime late Friday night. It is quite a story, and John Henry Weidner is the kind of hero the world needs to know about."

Before many more months have passed, the world will know a great deal more about the courageous life of John Weidner. If you have, in your own circle of acquaintances, someone who is keenly interested in the cause of human rights, take him a copy of Flee the Captor. He will thank you for it.

Bible Story Inquiry Results in Baptisms

Three new converts, baptized recently during the evangelistic series of Elder Roger Holley in Wheeling, W. Va. The interest began sometime before when Mrs. Gary Cameron (center) mailed a post-card inquiry about The Bible Story. This brought Mrs. Gladys Shallenberger, a part-time colporteur of Martin's Ferry, Ohio, to her home. Besides showing the books, the colporteur gave an invitation to attend church services, which was accepted by Mrs. Cameron and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Laingo (shown with Mrs. Cameron in the picture). When the "Bible Speaks" program was launched, Mrs. Shallenberger offered these people the gift Bible and enrolled them in the "Bible Speaks" course. Then they attended the evangelistic meetings, accepting fully the message presented.

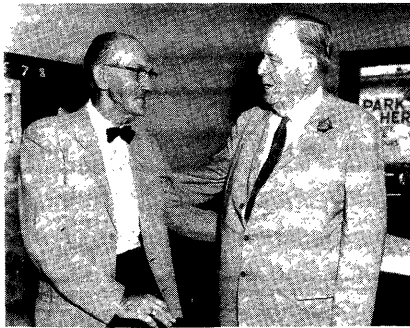

Meet Your Visitor Staff

A NEW name appeared on the VISITOR masthead last spring when the Columbia Union VISITOR began its new format utilizing two colors. The name was that of Herbert Klischies, layout artist.

All of the special designs that have appeared in the paper from time to time as well as the general layout, have come from the versatile hand of Mr. Klischies.

Radio Gospel Singer Visits Beckley Church

THE Beckley Church enjoyed a visit recently from one of its former residents, "Singing Sam" Raborn.

This well-known radio gospel revivalist and singer, now 70 years of age, with his strong bass voice, returned to sing in the Beckley Church. This was indeed news to all his old friends and acquaintances, as only two weeks previously he had been baptized into the fellowship of the Silver Spring, Md., Church.

Presenting a full program of gospel music, "Singing Sam" was accompanied by his friend, Roy Lee Harmon, Poet Laureate of West Vir-

A native of Staten Island, N. Y., he had his early education at Greater New York Academy. His first work experience was with a New York newspaper, but Sabbath problems interfered. Wanderlust took him south to the Florida Sanitarium. It was here that he met his wife-to-be, Barbara Eldridge, who was graduating from Forest Lake Academy.

While Miss Eldridge went on to Southern Missionary College to complete her nurse's training, Mr. Klischies went on to Japan as a medic in the Armed Forces.

After Mr. Klischies' discharge from the Army, the young couple were married and moved to Takoma Park. Sandwiched in during the next few years was work at the Review and Herald Publishing Association, attendance at the Corcoran School of Art, and free-lance art work.

For the past five years Mr. Klischies has been the art director for a major insurance company in Washington, D. C. Readers of Guide have seen the work of this talented artist in the features, "It Happened This Month" and "Just a Minute

Hampton Roads Church Given Top Ingathering Award

Left: These members of the Hampton Roads Church achieved the Jasper Wayne Award in the 1966 Ingathering campaign. Right: Ingathering awards for the Hampton Roads Church were presented by Elder Donald Stutler (left), former pastor; Clifton M. McMillian, church missionary leader; and Elder George Gainer, present pastor.

Top awards for Ingathering in the Potomac Conference in 1966 went to the Hampton Roads Church, which had an overflow of $5,554 over the goal. This amounted to $54.54 per member.

An interesting story of this achievement comes from Clifton M. McMillian, the church missionary leader.

"Our conference goal was $4,700, but at our October church board meeting we voted for a goal of $10,000. We were mindful of how God had blessed us in the past and we felt this year would be no exception.

"We divided our church into nine bands and chose a leader for each. Each band was given a goal of $1,111 with individual goals of $50. Territory was assigned to each band and the date to launch the campaign was set for November 6, and our victory date was to be December 18. We decided to work only on Saturday, Sunday, and Monday nights.

"As our launching date drew near, the excitement and enthusiasm of this occasion could be felt all through the church. Who can forget that first night? When the figures from all the bands were totaled, God had blessed us with over $1,000. This was encouraging and we were off to a good start."

The church continued to work, even with a change of pastors. Elder Donald Stutler was transferred to Vienna, Va., and his place was taken by Elder George Gainer who came from the Chesapeake Conference. The excellent leadership given by Elder Stutler was continued by Elder Gainer.

Mr. McMillian continues his account of the close of the campaign: "When victory night came, which was December 18, we totaled the figures and the amount exceeded our goal of $10,000. We all joined together in prayer and in singing 'Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow.'"

"Some who were working for their Jasper Wayne award continued to work beyond this date, enabling us to raise $10,254.26, or $54.54 per member. We had 33 Jasper Wayne award winners in our church. When the final Ingathering report came from the Conference office, we were happy to learn that we had led the Conference again in per-capita accomplishments.

"Everyone deserves a lot of praise and thanks, especially our young people. Without them we could not have made it. Our church-school students and faculty members solicited more than $4,500."

This is the story of Hampton Roads and their remarkable accomplishment last year. No doubt by the time this VISITOR reaches the field they will be well on their way to another record-breaking year.

Potomac Schools Raise $31,000

POTOMAC Conference church schools have raised $31,000 during the recent Ingathering campaign. A total of 93 Jasper Wayne awards were given out to the various students and as a result of their hard work they are each eligible for a free week at summer camp.

The top Ingatherer was Debbie Neptune, a second-grade student in Lynchburg. She raised $304.38. Quite a record indeed!

The 10 top students in the Potomac Conference are as follows:

Debbie Neptune (Lynchbg)	$304.38
Richard Burgess (Vienna)	268.00
Heidi Neptune (Lynchburg)	255.12
Joe Rudd (Roanoke)	211.89
Kenny Ford (Detwiler)	207.67
Rudy Good (Stanley)	198.00
Donnie Stutler (Vienna)	182.00
Connie Stutler (Vienna)	180.00
Robert Dudley (Lynchburg)	178.76
Keith Rogers (Vienna)	170.00

The Lynchburg Church school, with a total enrollment of 15, did the most outstanding job by raising $1,831.08, which averages $122.07 for each student in the school. Hampton Roads Junior Academy produced 15 Jasper Waynes from among 54 students enrolled, and the group solicited a total of $4,083.59. Vienna Junior Academy takes the honors for the highest number of Jasper Waynes in a single school—18!

Handicaps No Deterrent To Ingathering

Sally Buntin, hardly able to walk, and James Green, aged 75, are both looking forward to the 1966 Ingathering program. Both were Jasper Wayne Award winners last year as they helped the Danville, Va., Church achieve its goal. Handicaps like age and physical disability do not keep these "active young people" from planning to reach the Jasper Wayne goal again this year. What about you?

Editor's Note: For about a year study has been given to a film-guidance policy for the Columbia Union Conference. The following are the guide lines that were adopted by the Columbia Union Conference Executive Committee. Further information and lists of films available can be had by writing to Elder Edmund M. Peterson, Chairman, Film Evaluation Commission, 7710 Carroll Avenue, Takoma Park, Md. 20012.

As there is an increasing use of motion-picture films for general use and entertainment purposes by our institutions and church-sponsored groups, and

As there is a need for more adequate control and guidance in the use and showing of motion-picture films by such groups, the Columbia Union Conference Executive Committee on May 19, 1966, adopted the following:

1. That a group known as the Columbia Union Conference Film Evaluation Commission be appointed by the Columbia Union Conference Committee for the purpose of giving guidance and direction in the use of films by churches and institutions in the Columbia Union Conference Territory.

2. That this Commission number 25 members, and include the following:

- 3 conference presidents
- 2 Columbia Union Conference office staff members
- 2 Columbia Union College staff members
- 3 academy representatives
- 2 elementary teachers
- 2 Missionary Volunteer Secretaries
- 2 educational superintendents
- 4 laymen (two of whom shall be women)
- 4 pastors
- 1 institutional representative

3. That one of the members of the Columbia Union Conference office staff act as chairman of the Commission.

4. That the Commission meet whenever needed, at the call of the chairman.

5. That the Film Evaluation Commission report to the Columbia Union Conference Executive Committee once a year.

6. That a general Preview Committee of 25 members be named by the Columbia Union Conference Film Evaluation Commission. This Preview Committee is to be made up of personnel from conferences, institutions, and churches in the Washington area and is to include at least three members of the Film Commission. The Film Preview Committee is subject to the Film Evaluation Commission.

7. That feature films not be shown in the Columbia Union Conference territory until cleared by a four-fifths majority of the members of the Preview Committee previewing the film. At least 10 members of the Preview Committee must be present. All other films should be previewed locally.

8. That a report of all films previewed be filed by the chairman of the Preview Committee, or his designate, with the Columbia Union Conference Film Evaluation Commission and that the Commission appoint an individual to compile this information.

9. That the Preview Committee shall serve as an advisory committee to help in the selection of suitable films for general and entertainment use.

10. That the Columbia Union Conference Film Evaluation Commission appoint a committee of five to look for and recommend films to the Film Commission.

11. That the Columbia Union Conference Film Commission compile and make available to the conferences, churches, and institutions in the Columbia Union Conference territory a list of recommended feature films for entertainment use.

General Guide in Evaluating Films

The use of feature films as a means of entertainment and fund raising in Seventh-day Adventist institutions has created many problems. With this in mind, the Columbia Union Conference Committee, after careful study, presents the following guide to be used by those given the responsibility of selecting suitable films for showing to our people.

1. Classifying Films for Possible Use

For the aid of those charged with the responsibility of the selection of suitable films for entertainment and general use, the following list of suggestions is submitted under three headings:

- A. Acceptable presentations
- B. Unacceptable presentations
- C. Limited presentations

This is submitted with the awareness that this listing is neither final nor complete, but is only a guide in selection.

(A.) Acceptable Presentations

Industrial Pictures

Scientific Processes and Food Research

Travelogues

Nature and Wildlife

Archeology

Wholesome Art

Newsreels and Current History

Educational and Teaching

Pictures

Our Denominational Work and Activities

Historical

Biographical and Other Films which are recommended as acceptable by the Columbia Union Conference Film Evaluation Commission.

(B.) Unacceptable Presentations

Unacceptable films are those which ridicule religion, church beliefs, sanctity of home and marriage and activities contrary to church standards. Also included are films emphasizing cruelty, violence, glorifying crime or criminals or pictures which pervert or distort the truth.

(C.) Limited Presentations

There are certain films available for specific purposes and thus are limited in their use and may be shown to restricted audiences.

Following the banquet was the "Potpourri" program in which Dr. Stephen Hiten, Chairman of the Speech Department, and Robert Robinson were the masters of ceremonies. This program consisted of two performances from each of the academies and several songs by the College choir under the direction of Paul Hill, Assistant Professor of Music.

When Does Your "Visitor" Come?

The workings of the Postal Department have suffered deterioration during the past few months, according to reports appearing in newspapers and magazines.

It is reported in Chicago that postal authorities are thinking of asking permission to destroy a backlog of undelivered third-class mail. Fortunately, the VISITOR is mailed under second-class privileges.

However, it appears that the VISITOR is getting caught in the backlog of undelivered mail and is getting seventh- or eighth-class treatment.

The VISITOR is mailed one week prior to the date on the cover. This issue, dated November 17, was in the mail on November 10. To better help us check on delivery of the VISITOR, we would like you to let us know when you receive this issue.

Just address a postal card to the VISITOR, 7710 Carroll Avenue, Takoma Park, Md. 20012. Just tell us the date your copy of the VISITOR arrived. We shall appreciate it.

Have a person or group definitely responsible for the appearance of the church, bulletin board, roadside signs. Do your best to have a church in which your neighborhood can take some degree of pride.

personality profile

But He Can SMILE!

He cannot hear. He cannot speak. He cannot read lips. But he can walk and read and write.

So he responded to God's call to become a literature evangelist. His name is Lee Roy McKinney of Boones Mill, Va. Since he began canvassing in July, 1966, his sales have averaged over $700 per month.

He makes 60 to 70 presentations a week with small gospel books that average one dollar each. He also sells the two journals, Life and Health and These Times. This takes a lot of walking and demonstrating.

How does he do it? Mr. McKinney carries with him three typewritten cards which he hands to the person who answers his knock at the door. While this householder is reading the cards, Mr. McKinney gets out his books and shows them. If the prospective customer has questions, these have to be written out. So the two write notes back and forth at the door.

Whether he shows the books or not, Mr. McKinney hands the person a pen and a Bible-school enrollment blank. It amounts to quite a bit of postage for him to mail in his 90 to 120 enrollments for each week.

Mr. McKinney was reared in Mt. Airy, N. C. At the age of five he lost his hearing and speech in an accident, when his father's truck backed into him. He received his schooling at the Staunton School for the Deaf and Blind.

Later, at the Roanoke, Va., Church, he met and courted his wife-to-be, Margaret. Under his tutelage, she learned to communicate with him, using sign language.

sales. Nearly a year ago, she influenced her husband to canvass on a part-time basis. He liked it so well that this summer he quit his steady employment at the Miller Container Box Factory to become a full-time colporteur.

"Lee Roy doesn't worry about anything," avers Mrs. McKinney. "He knows that God sends angels to watch over him. One time he was canvassing in the country. As he neared a farm house, no dogs were in sight. But, as he got out of his car, a huge German police dog came straight at him. It looked as if the dog were going to tear right into him. Lee Roy said he just froze, and that when the dog came within a few feet of him it suddenly stopped, turned, and ran in a different direction."

She tells of another incident, when Mr. McKinney knocked at a door in an apartment building. The man living there wrote him a note saying, "If you don't get out of here, I'll call the police and have you put out!" Mr. McKinney took the note, walked away from this apartment, went on to the others, and solicited the entire building with no problems.

We asked Mr. McKinney if he enjoys being a colporteur.

You can see his reply in the accompanying photographs. He cannot hear. He cannot speak. But he can smile!
