Dream Comes True for Congregation in Southeast Cleveland

July 21 was a memorable Sabbath in the history of Allegheny West Conference, especially for the members of the Southeast congregation in Cleveland, Ohio. It was the grand opening of the new Southeast church, which is one of the largest and most commodious in Allegheny West.

The structure is an ultramodern architectural design, and fully air-conditioned throughout. The auditorium's seating capacity is 900; the fellowship hall's is 500. Other accommodations include a pastor's study and office, a secretary's office, conference, deaconess, deacon and finance, Dorcas and mothers' rooms, ladies' lounge, restroom facilities on both floors, storage, and accommodations for the various Sabbath school divisions.

The eventful occasion began at 10:00 a.m., when everyone assembled at Ramah Junior Academy, approximately one block away and across the street. At 10:30 a.m. Elders Gerald Penick and King S. Smallwood began leading the grand procession as they marched two abreast, singing

"Walk together children, don't you get weary." When the procession neared the entrance they paused for the key and ribbon-cutting ceremonies. After the builder passed the keys to the chairman of the building committee, the doors were unlocked and opened wide for the procession to proceed into the beautiful sanctuary.

Friends came from far and near to witness and participate in the occasion. Every available square foot of space in the auditorium and balcony was filled by the overflowing crowd. Ministers of other churches in the community came to offer their congratulations.

Platform guests included our conference president, H. L. Cleveland; treasurer, W. G. McDonald; and the departmental director of the conference, Willie Lewis. Councilmen Clarence Copeland and John Barnes presented a resolution from Cleveland City Council, and W. A. Thompson, executive secretary of Columbia Union Conference, delivered the worship-hour message. The music was rendered by the mass choir of the church, under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Gilleylen and Mr. Don Boger.

In the afternoon service, Mrs. Gilleylen gave the history of the church; King S. Smallwood, secretary of Allegheny West Conference, delivered the message of consecration; and music was again furnished by the mass choir.

The final service was one of praise in word and song. The Southeast church choirs and guest choirs rendered the music. Henry Wright, of Oakwood College, who served as interim pastor for six months in 1978, gave the praise in word as he delivered the vesper message.

For years the people in the southeast area of Cleveland had urged the pastor of Glenville and the conference administration to establish a church in that section of the city. Under the dynamic and progressive leadership of President H. L. Cleveland, who is a former pastor of Glenville, a call was sent to King S. Smallwood, of the South Atlantic Conference, placing upon him the challenge of establishing a new church in southeast Cleveland. Elder Smallwood and his wife, Jacqueline, accepted the call and the challenge. In May of 1974 the church was officially organized with 150 charter members, and King S. Smallwood installed as pastor. The charter members transferred mainly from the Glenville church. Through tent evangelism, coupled with an aggressive evangelistic thrust on a year-round basis, the membership grew rapidly. It now exceeds 400.

After a year of studying and planning, the congregation decided to build. Elder Smallwood led the congregation in sacrificial giving. Within two years, the growing congregation had given more than $200,000. Under his devoted and dynamic leadership, the dream of a southeast church home became a reality. Gerald Penick, the present pastor, is responsible for the magnificent job of furnishing and decorating the church.

Wrights' First Generation Offspring Hold Concert at Germantown

When the Wright Family Reunion weekend in May rolled around this year at the Dale Wright Memorial church in Germantown, Ohio, the annual concert proved a surprise to the audience. Usually this program in the church's concert season has been given by the Wright Family Singers.

This year the program was presented by their first generation offspring, using the repertoire of the parents. Responsible for the inception and culmination of this idea was Clifford Wright, director (insert), son of Elder and Mrs. William Wright, Sr., and Carla (Wright) Coleman, daughter of Elder and Mrs. Harold (James) Wright.

The group, over 30 in number, included sons and sons-in-law, daughters and daughters-in-law of the original seven. They reproduced the title numbers in the original family album, the arrangements, individual treatments, and common tonal characteristics peculiar to their parents' renditions. Henry M. Wright, also son of

The concert was dedicated to the parents of the participants for their work as teachers, guardians, keepers, providers, and for their Christian inspiration, love and caring, also to the originators of the clan, Nathan and Willa Wright, octogenarian stalwarts in Seventh-day Adventism.

All concerts given on the last Saturday in each month from September to May are free to the public, with all offerings going to Christian education.

Calvary Church Relives Its 25 Years, Former Pastor Speaks

The Calvary church celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary on August 4. Betty White, church hostess, was responsible for this memorable occasion. It began with the reading of the church history by Lillian Ashby, which highlighted the contribution of the past ministers and charter members.

It was interesting to note that the first member, Ophelia B. Hill, is still active in the church. The first minister was J. B. Mallory. Presently pastoring the church is Timothy E. Henderson.

A very interesting program was planned for this occasion. It consisted of music from guest vocalists Lorice Washington and Anthony Boger, along with a presentation by Dr. Lizette Westney and her daughter.

Elder A. T. Westney, associate education director of the Columbia Union Conference, spoke for the divine worship. He was the fourth pastor of the church, and was greatly loved by the congregation and the community. His presence for the occasion afforded many the opportunity to once again greet and fellowship with him and renew some dear memories.

First Vacation Bible School in Nine Years

In an effort to plant Jesus Christ in the lives of the youth in the community, the Sabbath school of the Bethel church in Staunton, Virginia, under the leadership of Mildred Rhodes and Larry McIntyne, along with their pastor, Timothy Henderson, conducted a Vacation Bible School from July 18 to 30.

More than 45 non-Adventist children of the community attended daily. This made the Sabbath school department especially grateful, because it was the first Vacation Bible School held there since 1970.

Adventist Exhibit Completes Fourth Successful Year

In spite of inclement weather, nearly 3,000 people signed up for vegetarian cooking classes, Five-Day Plans, and drawings for a family Bible and The Bible Story books. The 60-foot-long Adventist booth at the Virginia State Fair was a joint venture of area Potomac and Allegheny East churches. Scores of laymen joined CUC students, headed by Marc Lovejoy, in manning the exhibit. Hundreds stopped by for blood pressure checks and free literature about the church. Robert Turner, pastor of the Forest Hill church, was general manager of the September 20 to 30 event. The Second Advent Singers from the Patterson Avenue church presented four Sabbath afternoon concerts.

New Pastoral Care Associate at Beltsville

Frances Wiegand, 26, originally from Boise, Idaho, is the new associate on the pastoral care staff at the Beltsville church. She replaces Patricia Wilkinson, who recently married and moved to California.

In her new responsibility Miss Wiegand will be primarily responsible for youth activities, but will also give Bible studies, make pastoral home visits, assist in the church office program, and participate with the other members of the staff in the routine activities of church life.

The new distaff member of the staff is a well-traveled young lady, since her father was a member of the United States armed forces. She is a graduate of Fletcher Academy in North Carolina and in 1976 graduated from Southern Missionary College with a major in religion.

For a year she was an assistant dean of girls at Kingsway College in Canada. She then attended Andrews University, where she obtained a Master's degree in religion with counseling emphasis. This past summer she completed a course in clinical pastoral education at Kettering Memorial Hospital in Ohio.

Miss Wiegand has assisted at youth camps in the Florida and Potomac conferences, and has had two summers of experience in literature evangelism in Arizona. She plays the guitar and likes to sing with groups.

She has one brother and two sisters, and her parents now live in Tennessee.

GC Sabbath School Department Visits Staunton

World Sabbath school leaders and their families provided all the talent for the October 6 Sabbath services in Staunton, Virginia. The six Sabbath school teachers are shown above. Sabbath school director H. F. Rampton, top center, preached, and C. L. Brooks, top right, ministered with music. The Allegheny East Bethel and Charlottesville congregations joined in the high Sabbath, which included a fellowship dinner at the C. F. Richards Junior Academy. Only a few of the more than 20 staff members and their families were missing for a weekend retreat in the Shenandoah Valley arranged by Wanda Krone, a secretary in the department, and her husband, who hosted the event. The Krones leave their Washington apartment most weekends for their home near Staunton, where the Sabbath school staff enjoyed a Saturday night fellowship. The other teachers shown are Tom Ashlock, top left; and bottom left to right, R. Curtis Barger; Donald Wood, husband of Lynette, an editorial secretary in the department; and W. Richard Leshar. Laurell Peterson participated in the worship service. The only director missing was G. J. Bertochini who was on an overseas assignment.

Churches Have Good Year at the Fairs, Follow-up in Progress

The church was at the fair, using various themes in making itself visible. The people of the church were there to greet the passers-by, visit, and give printed information to fairgoers willing to receive it. Sponsoring churches feel the effort was worthwhile, and most plan to continue next year.

The Carrollton church used the Voice of Prophecy's "Way Out" theme, July 17-22 at the Carroll County Fair. Its presence at the fair, coupled with the series of ads in the newspaper, is sure to make the church better identified in the community.

"When Jesus Comes Again," the exhibit developed in 1977 by Elder Wayne Martin, was used by the Athens church at the Athens County Fair, August 6-11. People stopped to talk and take various tracts and books. Some asked about buying the paperbacks on display. Two Bible Readings, two Triumph of God's Love, and one Your Bible and You, were purchased. Sixteen persons requested home Bible studies. Arthur and Mary Burton and Bob Smith are following up these requests.

Large bold letters that asked, "Which Will You Choose?" caught the attention of people passing the Millersburg church booth at the Holmes County Fair, August 14-18. Below the question were three words—Health, Happiness, Security—followed by appropriate script. Across the bottom was the identification of the church. Donald Bradley who directed the exhibit, says the church is already planning for its presence at the 1980 Holmes County Fair.

A silhouette of Christ for the background, cups on a table with a water cooler jug of cold water, was the place for visitors to the Montgomery County Fair to meet with members of Dayton Far Hills, Dayton View, Ethan Temple, Kettering, and Beavercreek churches, August 29 to September 3. The hot weather made the offer of "a cup of cold water" greatly appreciated. The booth attendants offered copies of Steps to Christ and "A Quick Look at Seventh-day Adventists" leaflets. Approximately 3,000 copies of Steps to Christ were distributed. On the back cover of each was a sticker giving the name and address of each of the participating churches.

Hillsboro used the It Is Written display at the Highland County Fair, September 4 to 8. In connection with the theme, several of the It Is Written short films were shown throughout the day. While the response was not as large as anticipated, it was worthwhile. Next year's display should prove more effective.

A thousand people visited the

This was the second year the Fredericktown church participated in Fredericktown's Tomato Show. It proved to be an excellent way for the new pastor, Guy Drab, and his wife, Dolly, to meet the community. Friday night and Sabbath, Jodie Flory did freehand drawings of Bible themes, and the DuKane projector was used to show the "We Care" filmstrip.

The new exhibit, purchased from the Southern Union by the Ohio Conference Department of Communication, was used by the Wooster church at the Wayne County Fair, September 9 to 13. The Wooster booth was the only church booth at the fair. Gerald Drabenstott said that in his 15 years of working with the church's booth, more people stopped this year to talk, sign for the drawing, and take literature than ever before. The booth is available for churches to use at fairs and other exhibits.

booth sponsored by the Hamilton church at the Butler County Fair. The theme was Vegetarian Creations and the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking.

Cooking classes and Five-Day Plans were advertised. Follow-up programs are in progress. Results will not be known until we reach the kingdom.

Doctor Gives Van to Church for School Use

Dr. Benjamin Sanidad, anesthetist at Marion General Hospital, presented to Pastor James Hawkins the keys to the 1977 Ford van that he and his wife, Esther, presented to the Marion church. The gift by Dr. and Mrs. Sanidad solved the problem faced by the Marion church to transport its students seven miles to the Monnett Seventh-day Adventist school. It was an answer to the prayers of the church. Dr. Sanidad comes from the Philippines and is a fifth generation Adventist.

Enrollment at the Monnett school has increased 60 percent for this year. Carol LaRosa, teacher of grades 1-4, is the daughter of Elder and Mrs. Sal LaRosa. Her father once pastored the district. She has a B.S. degree in elementary education and taught last year in Sanford, Florida. Larry Blanchard, teacher for grades 5-8, is also principal. He has his Master's degree, and taught agriculture and science the past two years in Malawi, Africa.

New Pastor Is 20-Year U.S. Air Force Veteran

The new pastor for the Napoleon-Swanton district is Eugene Young. A veteran of 20 years in the United States Air Force, Pastor Young was converted when he realized God's protecting care over him during the Vietnam War. His story appeared in the Review, December 14, 1978. Eugene graduated from Andrews University this past June, and has served as assistant pastor of the Allegan, Michigan, church for a year and a half. He and his wife, Ellen, were married in Darmstadt, Germany, in 1961. The Youngs have three children: Detlef, at Wisconsin Academy, and Sindig and Bertina, at home.

Multiskilled Pastor Has Oft Been Imprisoned

Gabriel Katrib, new pastor of the Grove City-Washington Court House district, came to Ohio from Lebanon. Baptized into the church in 1951, he began working for the denomination that year as a teacher in his home village in Syria. He has served as pastor, departmental secretary, teacher, mission president, and evangelist. He has been imprisoned several times for his faith. Elder and Mrs. Katrib have five children. Sami and Hala are attending Columbia Union College; Nhlal and twins Ghina and Rana are attending Columbus Eastwood Junior Academy.

90-Year-Old Hampden Heights Congregation Dedicates New Church

"Talk, pray, and sing the greatness of God, and it will touch the hearts of men." As Neal Wilson, president of the General Conference, spoke these words at the 11 o'clock dedication service of the Reading Hampden Heights church, the congregation, friends, former members, and pastors could look around and see the greatness of God, for this was the day they were dedicating their church to their God.

The weekend began Friday evening, September 21, with a concert of sacred music. Former pastor Reginald Shires reminisced over the past eight years—from the purchase of the eight-acre plot of ground until September 21 and 22. He brought to mind the faithfulness of the members, who gave their time, talents, and means to finish this great task, mentioning those who had laid down their tools in this life, and are awaiting the soon return of Jesus. Shires challenged the members to help hasten that day.

The Sabbath school lesson was brought to us by William Pohle, the pastor when the search for land was begun. Gordon Henderson, president of the Pennsylvania Conference, challenged the members to dedicate themselves along with their sanctuary. Each service was enhanced with a variety of excellent music.

The Hampden Heights church has a 90-year history. It dates back to March 24, 1889, when a band of 18 members first met at 609 N. 10th Street, in Reading. Prior to this, Amos Snyder, formerly of Pricetown, Pennsylvania, was handed a copy of the Signs of the Times, while living in Oakland, California. He was so startled by the message of the soon return of Jesus, that he traveled to the Pacific Press, where he purchased back issues of the Signs, and made further inquiries, which led to his attending meetings being held by two Adventist ministers in Oakland. He was baptized and shortly afterwards returned to Pricetown.

In 1879 he purchased a tent and invited Elder I. Sanborn to hold a series of meetings. As a result of the meetings, a small group of believers were baptized. They began meeting in their homes and in county schoolhouses to share their hope of the soon coming of Christ.

During 1925 their first church home was purchased at a cost of $23,000. Because of the many evangelistic meetings, people moving into the area, and church members giving Bible studies, the church family grew, until today they have a membership of 220.

In 1975 consecration services were held for the new $300,000 church home, which seats 400 people. On Sabbath, September 22, they dedicated this miracle to God. Some 90 years later, a dream became a reality as the members reflected on their heritage and the memories of how God has led His people.

Horsemanship Instructor, Laurie Hutchinson, Is Baptized at Camp

Laurie Hutchinson, a staff member at Laurel Lake Camp, was baptized at camp on August 18. This was the culmination of having attended a number of evangelistic meetings and having Bible studies at her home in Dixfield, Maine.

On her arrival at camp and after becoming better acquainted with the staff, Laurie indicated her desire for baptism. It was determined that it would be fitting to have this take place on the Sabbath afternoon of the Pennsylvania Conference senior youth weekend. Laurie was the horsemanship instructor and was also in charge of instruction and recreation.

Although the weather was rainy that day, the staff and senior youth present sensed the Lord's presence at the service, which was held in a spring pond at the camp. Man never knows the end result of a contact. Only God does.

Literature Evangelists Conduct Group Canvass

The Reading group canvass covering Morgantown and Reading was a success. More than 300 hours were put in and 150 personal visits were made. As a result, there are 100 Bible enrollments and better than $8,000 in sales. Those contacted through TV or card leads will be followed up in preparation for a spring evangelistic crusade in the Reading area. ## Lancaster Conducts Nutrition Classes

Coordinator Carolyn Jamison welcoming those who attended the nutrition classes conducted recently in the Lancaster church.

For one night each week for six weeks the Lancaster church conducted nutrition classes. Neil and Carolyn Jamison coordinated the program, along with other members of the church.

Two of the guest speakers were Bryce Pascoe, health and stewardship director for Columbia Union, and Gwen Foster, health director for Allegheny East Conference.

Of the 57 persons who faithfully attended, 50 were non-Adventists. The meeting gave opportunity for the people to ask questions, see the preparation of vegetarian dishes, and hear principles of our health message.

Pastor Jamison will be conducting a follow-up program for the non-members who attended.

Learned Nutrition Expert To Conduct Food Seminar

Jay M. Hoffman, Ph.D., a teacher of nutrition for more than 40 years, will conduct a five-day nutrition seminar and will show beautiful color pictures of Hunza. The wonderland is better known as the Shangri-La of the Himalayas, where people live for over a hundred years and die of old age instead of disease.

Dr. Hoffman states that if the people in America would put into practice the principles followed in Hunza we too could live a long life and die of old age instead of disease. In Hunza the people live without cancer, heart trouble, high-blood pressure, arthritis, diabetes, tuberculosis, mental illness, and many of the other ailments that plague the Western world.

Jay M. Hoffman, Ph.D., to conduct a five-evening nutrition seminar in Bethlehem.

The seminar will begin Saturday, November 17, at 7:30 p.m., and will continue for five evenings, ending Wednesday, November 21. It will be held at the Bethlehem church, Jacksonsville and Macada roads, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

Free Vegetarian Meal Draws 128 Non-Adventists

The members of the Trenton church sponsored a full-course vegetarian meal, free to the public, Sunday, September 9. The meal was decided on after 150 people in the community had come to a successful Tasting Fair in June. Out of the 160 reservations made, 128 non-Adventists came to enjoy the luscious meal prepared by the ladies of the church.

Those partaking of a vegetarian meal for the first time expressed enthusiasm about the tantalizing taste of the meatless entree. Questions were answered and favorable comments were heard throughout the room.

The vegetarian meal is one phase of the community action program planned by the Trenton church to acquaint the Trenton population with the Adventist way of living. Those who attended have been invited to cooking classes, which will also emphasize vegetarian cooking.

Tom Dignan Pastoring in New Jersey Conference

The New Jersey Conference Committee voted to ask Tom Dignan to assume the pastoral duties of the Hackensack-Westwood district, replacing Mike Sulen, who has transferred to the Stevens Avenue church in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Tom, who was raised a Catholic, served for a time as a Presbyterian youth pastor and later as an associate. During the time he was in Bible college, he became concerned with the professors' attitude toward Scripture. If, as the professors suggested, the Bible really couldn't be trusted, then why should one dedicate his life to the ministry?

While thinking these thoughts, it was suggested that Elder Naz Mizher tutor Tom in Greek and Hebrew. Tom and Pastor Mizher began to study the Bible together. When Elder Mizher loaned The Great Controversy to Tom, the Holy Spirit used the book to bring added conviction to Tom and Jackie, his wife.

After his baptism, Tom served as a Bible worker in the Wayne and Elizabeth churches and has been used by God to bring several people to a decision for baptism. Some of the members of Tom's former congregation have followed him into the Adventist faith.

Morristown School Holds Fund-raising Dinner

The Morristown church members launched their second school year with a fund-raising spaghetti dinner prepared by Newton Zanes, school-board chairman.

Following the dinner, an inspiring message was given by Don C. Schneider, New Jersey Conference president, in which he presented some outstanding points in helping children know Jesus personally.

During the program Doris Chisholm, a school teacher, was given a clock—a gift from the children, parents, and other church members.

There are 12 children enrolled in the school this year. Many activities have been planned for the year, including field trips to Turtleback Zoo, a boat ride around Manhattan, a visit to the Amish country in Pennsylvania, and several historical sites in the local area.

Four Unite With God's Remnant Family in Baptism

It was a high day for the Morgantown church on Sabbath, August 11. As a result of public and personal evangelism, and through the ministry of the Holy Spirit, four persons were united with God's family through baptism. During the service, Pastor Tom M. Hughes interviewed each candidate. There were many tearful eyes as they related how they had learned of our message and why they wanted to unite with God's remnant family. As each person rose from the watery grave, many an "Amen" and "Praise the Lord" filled the sanctuary. A fellowship dinner was held in their honor, making a beautiful Sabbath of inspiration and sweet fellowship complete. Left to right: Pastor Hughes, John Fleming, Jim Johnson, Angie Beckett, Bill Beckett, and Steve Sharp, head elder.

Fairmont Pastor Impressed To Conduct 5-Day Plan

Feeling impressed by the Spirit of God to begin a new ministry, Dr. Neal Wearer conducted his first 5-Day Plan. His nightly lectures on the physiological aspects of "kicking the habit" were well received. Dr. John King gave a lecture, using specimens to illustrate the effects of smoking on the heart. Dr. Dick Meckstroth showed a slide presentation on the dental effects of smoking. And Pastor Tom M. Hughes lectured nightly on the spiritual and psychological dimensions of habit, encouraging users to choose not to smoke.

The most rewarding aspect of the series was hearing the testimonies of those who had been shackled by habit set free again.

One month later a follow-up meeting was held, and the entire team thanked God for a 75 percent success rate. The church was so inspired by the results of the week that another 5-Day Plan has been scheduled.

Second-hand Smoking Story by Dr. Alfred Munzer Receives Attention

Dr. Alfred Munzer, associate director of pulmonary medicine at WAH and president of the Washington, D.C., Lung Association, has recently been the recipient of some worldwide attention.

What sparked the flurry was an interview by Sandy Rovner entitled "Your Children's Health Up in Smoke," which appeared in the Washington Post recently.

Contacted for his reactions to recent laws banning smoking in many public buildings, Dr. Munzer said the main victims of second-hand smoking are children. "The greatest danger is in our homes," where "you can't legislate," he said.

Shortly after the article appeared, Dr. Munzer started receiving telephone calls from other papers and news media. The first came from a television station in Toronto, which wanted to produce a short segment on their program CT 5, a program similar to the American 60 Minutes. When asked how they knew about the interview, the producer said it had appeared in a Toronto paper.

Next came a call from a news correspondent in New York for the German news magazine Der Spiegel. She had seen the article in the International Herald Tribune, an English-language newspaper based in Paris, which is distributed in Europe. They had run the story entitled "Children Snuff as Parents Puff." The story has also appeared in the Times-Picayune of New Orleans.

New England Tour of SDAs' Beginnings Grips Chesapeake Ministry

As the rain dissipated, early in the morning, September 22, the sun's reflection glistened off the Columbia Union College bus. The engine hummed eagerly as the ministers of the Chesapeake Conference and their wives boarded for an unforgettable trip—to follow the path of Adventist beginnings.

While the bus made its ten-hour trip to Camp Winnekeag in Massachusetts, the workers were inspired by studies from the book of Daniel presented by Gene Cherry and Ed Mottschiedler. Upon arriving at the camp, the group was refreshed by a meal prepared by the camp staff.

Before the close of day there was a tour of the Atlantic Union College facility, under the direction of AUC staff members David Knott and Rhona Archibald. The sights reviewed were Founder's Hall, the oldest building on an SDA college campus, and Thayer's Mansion.

On Monday the day began at 6:30 a.m. with breakfast at the camp. This was followed by a devotional, led by Doug Rennewanz. With physical and spiritual tanks filled, the bus proceeded to Washington, New Hampshire, to the first Seventh-day Adventist church. In the stillness of nature, the peace of God seemed to rest upon the group. George Woodruff, president, presented a short history of how the Sabbath light found its way into the SDA church. Then in heartfelt response Elder Woodruff and his ministerial force in prayer consecrated themselves to the finishing of the work. A visit to Portland, Maine, to see the area where Ellen G. White lived as a young girl, completed the day.

Richard Duke began Tuesday for the tour group by presenting a devotional thought on love. Then, off to Concord, Lexington, and Boston to relive some great events of our American history. This tour was conducted by Dr. Knott, who really made the history come alive.

Nelson Eichelberger gave the morning devotional on Wednesday, after which we boarded the homeward-bound bus. More inspiring thoughts on Daniel were given by Otis Parks and Joe Reynolds. As the sun set Wednesday, all felt richly rewarded for the experience.

Members at Salisbury Take Witness Training

The Salisbury church is presently reviewing a witnessing program that will be used to proclaim Jesus' soon return, with the hope of drawing new members from the community.

A monthly newsletter has been started in the Salisbury-Pocomoke district, announcing upcoming events and happenings.

Jim Stevenson has been leading out in a prison ministry program at Poplau Hill Camp this past summer. Sabbath evenings and Sunday mornings he and several other church members, including Pastor Eichelberger, are sharing the promise of Jesus' return.

39 Chesapeake Teachers Receive Service Awards for Dedication

Thirty-nine Chesapeake teachers received pins in recognition of service ranging from five to thirty-five years. The presentation highlighted an evening of talent by the teachers of Chesapeake, Potomac, and Mountain View conferences at the teachers' institute held at Shenandoah Valley Academy, August 19 to 21. Recognition was given the teachers for their dedication to the teaching ministry.

Agnes Hill, a 35-year veteran, was given a trophy honoring her for her years of service. Miss Hill has taught in the Spencerville Junior Academy for the past 26 years, giving her the distinction of being the teacher with the longest term of service in one school, as well as the teacher with the most continuous years of teaching in the conference.

The pins presented represent a total of 425 years of teaching by Chesapeake teachers.

Disney and Miller Join the Ministerial Team

Two interns arrived at the Chesapeake Conference in June and assumed their responsibilities on the ministerial team. Charles Disney (left), a 1979 graduate of Columbia Union College and native of Takoma Park, has been assigned to the Frederick church. Disney's experience includes duties as a student chaplain at Washington Adventist Hospital and a literature evangelist. David L. Miller graduated from Columbia Union College in April, 1979. He has worked as a literature evangelist in Pennsylvania, a student Bible worker, and assistant chaplain at the Leland Memorial Hospital. Miller's wife, Monica, is employed at Home Study Institute. The Millers have been assigned to the Spencerville church.

GENERAL NEWS

Temperance Offering Set for November 24

What does temperance mean to you? The use of alcohol, drugs, and tobacco is sweeping the schools of America. It's an epidemic of large proportions. Parents and teachers are frantically seeking help for the youth under their care.

You can help solve these serious problems by giving liberally to the World Temperance Offering in your church on November 24. The goal for North America is $250,000. This Thanksgiving time is your opportunity to thank God for the blessings of temperance, and contribute to the betterment of your community.

Church-State Lawyers Look at Government Meddling

At a recent seminar held in Silver Spring, Maryland, a select group of attorneys discussed "Government Encroachment: The Church-State Issue of the 80's."

The two-day seminar, sponsored by the Americans United Fund, Inc., attracted more than a hundred lawyers and others concerned about increasing government interest in the affairs of religious organizations.

Especially emphasized at the meeting were government intrusions in the operations of small and unpopular "sects" and "cults."

Examples of seminar concerns are cities' attempts to prohibit public funds solicitation, government seizure of church records, court intervention in church business operations, and state control of curricula in church-operated schools.

A highlight of the seminar was a luncheon honoring Leo Pfeffer, a noted constitutional attorney who has been responsible for arguing a significant number of the church-state cases decided by the United States Supreme Court in the past three decades.

HAMMOND AWARDED GRANT—

Dr. James Hammond, professor of psychology and director of the summer sessions, has been awarded a grant for $12,407 by the Maryland State Department of Education to conduct a project in nutrition awareness.

The purpose of this project is "to develop and provide innovative techniques for nutrition education for food-service personnel and teachers in a parochial setting." The project will compare nutrient analysis of a two-week cycle (ten meals) of ovo-lacto vegetarian menus with the Type A lunch. (A Type A lunch is one that follows the USDA guidelines.) At the end of this project a teachers' guide for the teaching of nutrition in grades 4 to 6 will be developed.

THE POPE'S VISIT—The day before Pope John Paul II visited Washington, D.C., WDVM-TV (CBS affiliate) came to CUC for a sample of the Adventists' reaction to the Pope's visit. The interviewers had two main questions: "As a Seventh-day Adventist, what is your reaction to the Pope's Visit?" and "Do you think his visit will result in the eventual uniting of church and state?"

Answering the first question, several students and faculty members indicated they felt the Pope seemed to be an interesting person and was welcome as a visitor. The second question resulted in a greater variety of answers. But a consensus of the answers was that his visit would not necessarily or immediately result in the uniting of church and state.

During the evening news, two of the interviews were aired—those of Juan Torres, a senior theology student, and Robert Zamora, acting chairman of the religion department. Zamora enlarged his answer to the second question by stating that "as a result of the Pope's visit some politicians might try to ride the wave of the Pope's popularity on issues he espouses that coincide with their political views—for example, birth control or abortion. And some of these politicians might then try to impose these private views on the non-Catholic public."
