Pastor Salau Visits Indiana Camp Meeting

L. E. LENHEIM

AFTER a flight of 17,000 miles by air, from the faraway South Sea Islands, Pastor Salau, dressed in native costume, appeared on the Indiana campground last Sunday afternoon and gave a thrilling account of the mission work in his native land to a large assembly of believers. Previously he had visited the Illinois camp meeting and cheered the believers with his glowing account of mission miracles. Elder A. J. Stewart accompanied Pastor Salau and also related many incidents of God's providence in mission lands, and joined in the appeal with Pastor Salau for increased sacrifice in mission giving. Large offerings were given on the Indiana and Illinois campgrounds, as a result of these earnest mission appeals. Elder Stewart and Pastor Salau will also visit other camp meetings in our union.

The camp meeting was well attended and it is estimated that the largest crowd ever to attend an Indiana camp meeting was present for the morning service on the Indiana Academy campus last Sabbath morning.

The biennial business session was called to order by Elder C. M. Bunker at the very first meeting on Thursday night, and most of the business was completed by Friday afternoon. Elder C. M. Bunker, president, and Elton Dessain, Secretary-Treasurer were re-elected for the biennial term, and all departmental secretaries were returned to office. A few changes were made on the Conference Executive Committee. The new committee includes the following members: C. M. Bunker, Elton Dessain, W. P. Ortner, Arthur Kiesz, D. E. Caslow, Dr. George Marsh, V. R. Pyke, W. F. Mann and L. L. Murphy.

The mighty power of God attended the speakers at the various services. On Friday night the president of the Lake Union Conference gave an illustrated lecture, showing beautiful colored pictures depicting some of the interesting mission work throughout the Inter-American Division. Elders C. B. Haynes and Dr. Frank Yost were certainly used of the Lord in their forceful presentations. People were sitting on the edge of their seats each evening in order that they might hear the thrilling story of astronomy and the Bible as presented by Elder Phillip Knox. Seats were at a premium in most of the services over the week end.

This is the first time in many years that the Indiana camp meeting has been held at Cicero. A large, new, pavilion tent had been purchased for the main meetings, which was altogether too small for the week end crowds. The administration is definitely planning to provide more adequate facilities for next year. The new Book and Bible House which has been erected was a scene of constant activity and our believers were seen purchasing many new Bibles and books.

A splendid spirit existed throughout the entire meeting. Conference workers and believers invited the Spirit of God to be present for this holy convocation. Truly, it can be said that Indiana has closed its best camp meeting.

Mission Work Pays!

Witness of Pastor Robert Salau, native Seventh-day Adventist missionary and preacher from the Solomon Islands, to the transforming power of the gospel of Christ has spread like wildfire since his arrival May 24.

Some of us remember saving our nickels and dimes as children to help build the Pitcairn. Would that all who had to do with launching this missionary project for the South Pacific could know of the marvelous reception Pastor Salau, humble, God-fearing representative of the thousands of Adventist believers in those islands, has been given in America.

Miss Helen Carpenter, Press Bureau staff member assigned to press publicity, spent a week in New York City before the arrival of Pastor and Mrs. A. G. Stewart and Pastor Salau on the Mauretania, contacting newspapers and wire services with advance information to awaken interest in Salau and his mission. This resulted in advance stories and the alerting of the New York press, hitherto comparatively untouched by Seventh-day Adventist activities.

On the morning of May 24 when the Coast Guard cutter left the wharf to meet the Mauretania, our reporter was thrilled to have with her newsmen and photographers from eight New York cities, the Associated Press, United Press, International News Service, and N.E.A. Aboard also were representatives of radio and news reel companies with their batteries of equipment.

Pastor Salau rose magnificently to the occasion, and during the hours of posing for pictures and answering questions in an extended news conference on the boat, he gave wonderful testimony to what God had done for his people. This was strongly reflected in the stories that began to appear over the entire country May 25, with pictures of him carrying spear and Bible.

Later when Time and News Week (June 6) featured the story, they quoted Pastor Salau giving credit to acceptance of the love of God, the Bible and the Ten Commandments, brought by Adventist missionaries, as responsible for the clean Christian lives now lived in happiness and hope by thousands of people throughout the South Pacific. These two weekly news magazines carried the story into 2,587,545 homes.

A huge bulletin board in the General Conference office is overflowing with clippings from papers all over the country. They continue to come from everywhere—the latest to date from Trinidad, South Africa and India—and in many interesting forms—straight news stories, features, editorials, syndicated columns. Recognizing the impact Pastor Salau's arrival had made on New York City, the big Gimbel's store there keyed one of its unique newspaper advertisements to the event.

The Radio Department has an equally remarkable story to tell of radio, television and newsreel appearances.

Among the newsmen Miss Carpenter contacted in New York and found very helpful was Bob Winokur, Associated Press newsmen, who voluntarily wrote the General Conference officers:

"I have been doing newspaper work and publicity for the past twenty years. Although now connected with the Associated Press in the Traffic Department, I thought you would like to know that the Salau story was very well handled . . . I place the value of the publicity at over five million dollars. Johnny Moros, III, AP writer and Pulitzer Prize winner, concurs with me, He says the job was very ably handled. He believes that because of the extensive newspaper coverage of the story it made the film companies interested and anxious to use the story too."

We would not presume to evaluate this publicity in terms of dollars and cents. But we do know that God has helped in putting this widespread message in attractive and popular form to call the attention of millions of people to the work of Seventh-day Adventists.

We feel very thankful and humble, overpowered by the thought that the time has come for the work to go in mighty power, and that these tremendous agencies for reaching the multitudes have been placed at our disposal. We pray that this experience may encourage the church to make greater use of them than ever before.

NOW IS THE TIME

Now is the time to write letters of protest against blank-day calendar revision. A letter of protest should be sent by each church member to the two U. S. Senators from his state and to the U. S. Congressman from his district.

But especially is it vitaly important now to write to the members of the U. S. Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, who now have before them Bill S. 1415, which calls for the adoption of the blank-day World Calendar. The members of this Committee are as follows:

Tom Connally of Texas
Walter F. George of Georgia
Elbert D. Thomas of Utah
Millard E. Tydings of Maryland
Claude Pepper of Florida
Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island
Brien McMahon of Connecticut
J. William Fulbright of Arkansas
Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan

Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin
H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey
Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa
Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. of Massachusetts

Each Senator can be addressed at the Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. Senator Connally is chairman of the Committee. If your state is not represented by one of the other men, write Senator Connally as Chairman.

We object to the blank-day calendar because it would completely disrupt the historic week. It would require conscientious observers of the weekly holy days to keep a different day of the week under the blank-day system. It would cause loss of employment to men of conscience. It would split churches everywhere over the question of what holy days should be observed. It would in effect set up new holy days by civil law. It would constitute a serious trespass of religious liberty.

Write your letter of protest now. Later may be too late.

G. C. Committee on Calendar Revision

FRANK H. YOST, Secretary

WANTED!—GOOD LABORERS

H. K. HALLADAY

"God requires every one to be a worker in His vineyard. You are to take up the work that has been placed in your charge, and to do it faithfully."—Bible Echo, June 10, 1901.

"God expects personal service from every one to whom He has intrusted a knowledge of the truth for this time."—T. 9, p. 30.

The responsibility of making known to others that which God has made known to us is to be shared alike by all. It is not to be left to the pulpit alone but must be a work of both pulpit and pew.

For many years the heralding of the good news of salvation has been done by both. Seeing that the hour is late in this world, and that "father time's" hour glass has just about run out, there is the urge to have a part in a greater and speedier work. Perhaps some need to be inspired, others to be educated and a few to be helped over the hurdle of fear and timidity, so that the Harvest Field may have more laborers at a time when the grain is fully ripe and beginning to fall and waste away.

There are some within the boundaries of the Lake Union Conference who have for years been engaged in the work of making known to others what God has made known to them. Some have been conducting Bible studies and cottage meetings, holding public services in our churches, school houses and public halls; and have been successful in their work.

When we see the large number of unwarned cities, counties and large areas in all the states within the Lake Union territory, our only wish is that there might be more laborers.

Recently the Lake Union Committee recommended that there be held in the Lake Union a Lay Workers' Institute, which should convene this fall on the campus of Emmanuel Missionary College. The date for this Institute is September 1-5. The first meeting will be Thursday night, September 1, and the Institute will continue until Monday noon, September 5.

This Institute will be open only to those who will have been appointed by their local Conference Committees as delegates. Credential cards will be sent to those selected, and they will bring their cards with them, which will authorize them to participate as delegates to this Institute.

The Institute will be open only to those who are engaged in lay work, and who are earnestly seeking to win souls to God and His truth. Men and women will be recommended by their local church, pastor or district leader to the Conference Committee, which in turn will select only those that are qualified to attend such an institute.

At the time such a person is selected, definite arrangements will be entered into whereby the delegate will be helped in defraying his expenses. Anyone who is interested in attending this Institute should plan with his conference Home Missionary Secretary immediately.

We believe this will be an outstanding occasion for the lay work here in the Lake Union Conference. Plans are being laid to make this not only an instructive institute, but a very practical one. Time will be given when all may actually go forth and put into practical experience the instruction that will be given.

Symposiums illustrating various methods used in lay work will be conducted. It is not too early now to make plans to be present at the Institute, September 1-5. Arrange with your conference Home Missionary Secretary.

Wonderful Universe

BY J. O. WILSON

Wonderful universe,
Spaces sublime,
Millions of solar groups,
Moving on time;
Blue-vaulted dome,
Gem-studded and bright;
God's in His universe
See Him at night.

Wonderful universe,
Our earth's a part—
Where did you come from?
How did you start?
Ocean and mountain,
Dry land and sea;
God made His universe
Sure as can be.

Wonderful universe,
Flower in the vale,
Tree on the hilltop,
Wind in the sail,
Hue and form beautiful,
Bird on the wing;
God's in His universe,
Let the heart sing.

Wonderful universe;
Fish, fowl, and beast,
Man over all of them,
Last but not least,
Made in His image,
'And wondrously well;
God's in His universe,
You yourself tell.

Poor little earth-star,
Fallen in sin,
God will not rest till
You're made new again;
List to His message,
Tidings, I pray;
The King of the universe
Comes—no delay.

Throne of the universe
Here will be placed,
All trace of sin
Forever effaced.
Wonderful universe,
Infinite worth—
God's renewed universe,
Glorious new earth!

THE HOLY SPIRIT AT WORK

At morning worship in the Inter-Union Conference office, Pastor G. Branster painted for us some pictures of the Holy Spirit's wooing hearts in many places, empowering and directing in service those who have consecrated themselves to Him, and making realistic the combined operations of divine and human agencies.

There was Aliko, whom Pastor Branster met at a meeting with the ministers in the mountains of Fiji. He had been the launch boy years ago, during an earlier period of the Bransters' service in that group. The missionary had never pictured Aliko as an evangelist in those days. But here he was, presenting up to six souls yearly.

The scene changed, and we saw the "Fetu Ao" at anchor in the Gilbert Islands. The Adventist missionary had come seeking entrance for the third angel's message in this strange group of islands. How would God lead him? As he pondered, a canoe came towards the ship and a man clambered over the rails. He introduced himself as a native magistrate who had that day retired from his official position. He inquired the nature of Pastor Howse's business, and immediately offered himself as interpreter. Ever since he has been the missionary's indispensable, right-hand man. Pastor Howse declares he never could have accomplished what he has done in the Gilbert and Ellice Islands without him. Surely he was sent by the Lord.

At Fulton College they required another teacher, and as a temporary measure a young Hindu was engaged to fill the vacancy. As he associated with the members of the faculty his outlook began to change. Passing out from a Friday evening meeting, he shook the pastor's hand and confessed: "I don't know much about your teaching, but I want your religion. There is something in my heart that desires it." The longings of the young man's heart were satisfied with the presentation of Jesus, the Saviour of the world who is soon to return, and he has now been baptized. His wealthy grandfather was sore at heart because his entreaties availed nothing to turn this youth back to the ancestral gods. "I intended to make you the heir to my estate," he cried, "but now you will get nothing. I am very disappointed." "I can't help it," was the steadfast rejoinder. "I must follow the Lord."

Then we took to the air, and in the plane flying to Sydney we found Pastor Branster in earnest conversation with a keen young officer of the airways. "Will you please explain to me, Pastor Branster, the difference between your religion and the Church of England?" A direct answer was given. "And what other differences are there in your teaching?" the young man inquired. The information imparted by Pastor Branster brought forth the declaration, "You have a very logical religion," and just before the plane landed, "Here is my card. Have lunch with me sometime while you are in Sydney. I want to continue the conversation."

GOD'S RAINBOW OF PROMISE IN NEW GUINEA

I suppose there is no more rugged country in the world than New Guinea, with its continuous succession of towering mountain ranges from coast to coast. We thank God for the joy of hunting for Him in such a country during the past three years.

Just ten months before coming out on furlough we were sent to work for the Wabag people, 100,000 of them occupying seven valleys in the very heart of New Guinea. With Brother L. I. Howell and two native helpers we set out in a little plane from Bena Bena, then our furthest inland mission. For two hours our plane droned on and on over territory unentered by our missionaries. In all the valleys we were passing over villages and hamlets and gardens. We could see wisps of smoke from thousands of village fires. Again and again, as we moved across the Shuave Valley, the heavily populated Chimbu, then the valley of the great Wahgi River, and on over another range into the broad grassland expanse of Hagen, we were overwhelmed with a sense of all there was yet to be done in the central area.

Our little plane then edged its way through a pass alongside the 13,000-foot Hagen Range, and for the first time we viewed the valley of our destination—Wabag. The shining silvery water of the Lai River wound throughout its length. Along its banks and in almost every tillable portion of the valley were the hamlets of the people. No villages could be seen, but instead small farmlets with little oblong grass houses surrounded by banana palms and clusters of casuarina trees for the family firewood. Beyond these were the gardens of sweet potatoes, taros, or yams in a new pattern of large green squares. Strange it was to know that we were over territory that had never been influenced by any mission body and upon which civilization was yet to make its first impression. We circled the sloping grass dome at the western end of the valley and landed. Hundreds of natives were skirting the strip and these crowded around the plane, staring wide-eyed as we stepped out. A lonely government officer greeted us. His police boys tried to explain to curious chiefs that we were missionaries from a far-away country. They continued to puzzle and jabber and stare, wondering why we had come.

Introduction to Wabag

We spent a number of days exploring much of the large valley in search of a suitable site for a mission. On all the winding tracks we found many people, some peering at us through the bushes on the roadside, many working with sharpened sticks in the sweet potato mounds, others busily building grass houses or cutting timber with crude stone axes. We could see the smoke of burning houses as the natives continued their tribal warfare.

Every mile or so through the country we came upon tribal ceremonial grounds like little parks, with short grass surrounded by rows of trees. It is customary for the people to gather there from scattered farmlets, to hold festive dances or to plan warfare. At these centres crowds gathered to see us walking through. When we opened our picture rolls they stood back aghast, biting finger knuckles to express utter astonishment. Black eyes and white teeth shone with amusement as we told them about the great God. When we sang hymns they rocked with laughter and clapped their hands upon their knees. The top note in the chorus of "Gospel Bells" especially fascinated them.

As the days went by we found the people everywhere unwilling to give any land to the white foreigners, even though we dispensed our medical aid wherever possible. We began to despair of obtaining a site for the mission, when in the providence of God a chief with a broken arm came to us for help. In gratitude he took us to his tribal land and presented a very suitable forty acres bordered by two small streams, where we could establish our mission. Satisfied, we flew out for several weeks, until Mrs. Maberly, our baby, and I could make preparations to live in Wabag.—Australasian Record.

CAMP MEETING AT CICERO

At the time of the writing of this article, our people from all over the State are either in the midst of last minute planning, or are on their way to Cicero, for camp meeting.

For a number of years, we have rented the Methodist campgrounds at Battle Ground, near Lafayette, Indiana, for our camp meeting; but it has become more apparent year by year that we were outgrowing these quarters and that some other arrangement must be made. Finally it was decided to hold the camp meeting at our Academy at Cicero. Surely there will be problems there, but we own the property and any changes that we make will be on our own grounds. The officials of the Methodist Conference were all very nice to us, and we parted as the best of friends.

Eight Acres

The problem of sufficient land for camp meeting was our first hurdle. Adjoining the school is an eight-acre tract which we had tried to buy, unsuccessfully, on different occasions. This land had changed hands in the last year or two, so finally we sent C. M. Willison, the Academy principal, over again to ask if we could buy that land. This piece of land came within thirty feet of our laundry building, so you can see what that might do to our camp meeting if, for instance, some pigs had been turned into that field on the Sabbath of camp meeting! The man agreed to sell the land, providentially, it seemed. But there were legal tangles, as he did not have a clear title; and it looked once as though we might still lose it. These legal difficulties have now all been adjusted, and we have a Warranty deed to the land. This is, I believe, as the Lord wanted it to be.

New Buildings

The first new building contemplated was one for the Book and Bible House, so that our people would have a good place to gather and look over the wonderful collection of books available. The Conference offered to help, the Review and Herald offered to help, and W. A. Petersen, of the local Book & Bible House, has worked night and day to make this dream a reality. We now have one of the finest camp meeting Book and Bible House buildings in the denomination.

Then there was the question of rest rooms. We had to go all the way in providing for our people, so a fine modern rest room was constructed in an area convenient to all the tents and trailers.

Another question was the one of tents. The Conference has purchased 55 new living tents of the best material. The balance of what we used this year were borrowed from Wisconsin. A large 60 x 120 foot tent was pitched for the main meetings. The graduation crowd at the Academy filled it, so it was decided to buy another splice in order to make it 60 x 150. This tent will now accommodate all the meetings, with the possible exception of the Sabbath morning service, at which time other provision has been made to handle the crowds.

A great deal of credit goes to Elbert Young and Beam Crabtree, for their untiring devotion to this work. Many others have worked long hours, and can now feel a justifiable pride in realizing that their hands have helped to build something for the Lord. Ollie B. Green, of the Academy faculty, has worked almost full time for the camp meeting during these last few weeks.

Workers Arrived June 7

All the Conference field workers came to the campgrounds on June 7, and have stayed by faithfully since that time. Bright sunny days have caused many a case of sunburn, but the men have kept right on the job. Many of our church members do not realize the tremendous amount of work that our ministers do in order to get things in readiness. The Conference president and others were there the first day with their overalls, all ready for work.

Outstanding Speakers

This camp meeting is one of the best ever held in Indiana, from the standpoint of visiting speakers. The General Conference sent Elder E. E. Franklin, C. B. Haynes, A. G. Stewart, F. H. Yost, and Pastor Salau, from the Solomon Islands. The Review and Herald sent D. A. Bailey, and J. D. Snider. The Southern Publishing Association sent Elder S. C. Harris. The Lake Union Conference sent its president, Elder L. E. Lenheim and also E. L. Green, H. K. Halladay, D. W. Hunter, I. H. Ihrig, A. E. Mobley, and W. A. Nelson. Emmanuel Missionary College sent Miss Rachel Christman and C. S. Field.

Pastor Salau

The coming of Pastor Salau has given us more publicity than we have received in many years. The Indianapolis newspapers were on the alert to get the first story. Pastor Salau appeared the first Sunday afternoon, to a capacity audience in and outside the big tent. At the Sabbath meeting on the first week end, by actual count, there were 2405 in attendance at the morning meeting, in the main tent, with about 600 children and young people in the other meetings.

Elder Phillip Knox

Elder Phillip Knox, of the Southern California Conference, drew a large crowd every night with his lectures on astronomy and the Bible.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT FOR THE YEARS 1947, 1948

As we open the 16th Biennial Session of the Indiana Conference it is a pleasure to welcome these delegates at large and also the delegates from our seventy churches and three companies. As delegates are seated at a session of this kind, it is always their hope, and the hope of the conference administration, that we might admit one or more new churches to the sisterhood and also seat their respective delegates. This will not be our privilege; but even though we cannot present a new church, we are happy to have representatives from our three new companies—Portland, Silver Lake and Underwood. Each one of these companies is a potential new church, and we are looking forward to the time when their membership can be strengthened to the point of a church organization.

• The period for which I am reporting covers the years 1947 and 1948. The first eight months of this time the work was under the direction of Elder S. E. Wight, who served this field long and faithfully prior to his retirement at the last session. It was in September of 1947 that your humble servant entered upon his duties in this field. It has been a real pleasure to labor with the workers and believers in this fine field. As the various reports are presented I am sure each one will agree that God has honored our faith and richly blessed our united efforts.

Whether it is distributing literature, building churches, establishing schools, raising mission funds, or preaching the gospel, the objective of all our efforts is the salvation of souls. During these two years we have added to our ranks by baptism and profession of faith 814 precious blood-bought souls. Compared to the 573 won to the message during the previous period, this gives a gain of 241. After deducting the number of deaths, apostasies, and losses by letter, we have for this period a net gain in membership of 344, bringing our conference membership to 4,294 at the close of 1948. As conference workers, we have our eyes on the figure of 5,000 members for Indiana; and we believe with God's help we can readily reach that objective.

Our workers are on fire with the spirit of evangelism. Last fall and winter fourteen public efforts were conducted by our ministers, and two successful lay efforts by Brother Bernard Miller, of Converse, and Brother A. W. Stroud in the Taswell area. Where public efforts were not conducted, our ministers engaged in cottage meetings and Bible studies, which often produce comparable results with the public effort. Whereas the last two summers one tent effort has been conducted, this summer three tents will be in the field; and next year we hope to purchase another field tent so that we can have the fourth. During this camp meeting, plans will be formulated for fall and winter evangelistic efforts, it being the plan that every field worker will engage in some form of evangelism.

As people are brought into the faith, it is very essential that adequate church housing be provided for them. This phase of the work has had considerable attention during this time. Starting in the northwestern part of our field, the new school building at Gary has been finished and now provides quarters for our church school and a meeting place for the church. At Valparaiso a start has been made, and a covered, finished church basement makes a neat, comfortable place of worship. At LaPorte a church building which will be most representative, and will adequately care for the needs when completed, is under construction. One of the finest church buildings in the conference has been completed and dedicated free from debt at Elkhart.

The Converse brethren are justly proud of their fine new meeting place. This building is free from encumbrance and will soon be dedicated. Alexandria has completed a very fine church, has just recently installed their new pews, and will soon be ready for dedication. At Seymour the believers are rewarded with a fine new church after a long and arduous task. This church is now ready for dedication. For some time Vincennes has been enjoying their own meeting place in a very representative new building, housing both the church and the school.

At present the Muncie church is undergoing a complete remodeling and renovation to make it adequate for their needs. The property next to the church has been purchased and is being used to house the church school. Construction is well under way on a new church building and school at Tell City. It is expected that soon the members will be occupying this new building. Worthy of mention is the very fine job of remodeling and renovation done on the churches at Rockford, Ligonier, Lafayette, Huntington, Connersville, and Hartford City. A very fine lot in Bedford is waiting to be graced with a new church. A lot has recently been purchased in Rensselaer. The brethren there are working on a building fund, hoping soon to meet the General Conference requirements so they can begin operations. Likewise our church here at Cicero is building up a fund, with the hope of having an adequate meeting place of their own.

While speaking of buildings, we might turn for a moment to our Academy. It was during this biennium that the larger portion of the girls' dormitory was built. An almost entirely new heating system was installed. In the fall of 1947 a terrible tragedy struck, when our barn, silos and contents burned. By the united efforts of the conference, our churches, the union, and General Conference, the barn, silos and well house have been restored.

For years our water supply here at the Academy was inadequate. The well was only 45 feet deep, in gravel. We now have a new rock well 158 feet deep with a flow adequate to supply our school and also our camp meeting. We are still maintaining the old well as an auxiliary, should it ever be needed in case of fire.

Such a building program as I have just described obviously calls for strong financial support by the conference and churches. According to our plan of financing, after these churches are built, there is the added item of upkeep and heavy operating expense. By following the Bible plan, we return our tithe to the Lord. Along with this, by freewill offerings we support a fast growing world-wide mission program. From the financial phase of the work, the picture is encouraging.

For the two-year period under consideration, our tithe income amounted to $655,415.46. Compared to the previous period, we realized a gain of $107,602.35. Going back four years, we find that the tithe per capita for 1945 was $67.03, which steadily increased until we reached an all-time high of $86.12 in 1948.

Our offerings to foreign missions is equally encouraging. For this biennium $235,102.44 flowed into the treasury, giving us a gain of $39,601.74 over the preceding period. The offerings per member per week ranged from $.443 in 1945 to $.607 in 1948. Breaking our total Missions offering down a bit, we find that for 1947 and 1948 our Sabbath school offerings totaled $125,240.21, or a $14,477.29 gain over the previous period. A glance at our Week of Sacrifice offering is interesting. For 1947 and 1948 it amounted to $12,679.54, or almost double what it was for the previous corresponding period. The per capita giving ranged from $.636 in 1945 to another all-time high in 1948 of $2.11. In 1948, Indiana led the union in Week of Sacrifice per capita giving. While it is not considered a foreign missions offering, yet the Famine Relief came from the pockets of our people and certainly should be taken into our reckoning. These offerings during this biennium amounted to $11,527.92.

When we consider our constant church building program, the upkeep and operation of our churches, church schools, the returning of our tithe to the Lord, our gifts to missions, and the special and miscellaneous offerings, surely it takes a faithful and loyal people to support such a work. When those outside our ranks marvel, and ask how we do it, there is only one reply: "It is the message."

It is most encouraging to us to note the increase in Liberty subscriptions coming into our territory. In 1947 we had 3,729 subscriptions to our credit, or 94% of our goal. With strong promotion in 1948, that subscription figure was raised to 6,124—which carried us 2,083 subscriptions beyond the goal, giving us a standing of 152%. As far as our records reveal, this is the first time Indiana reached its Liberty goal. I am sure with God's help we will not only hold this enviable record but will increase the circulation of this valuable periodical.

Our Book & Bible House has experienced a good business. For this biennium the sales amounted to $144,737.92. For several years the trend has been upward in literature sales and distribution. Our Book and Bible House, under the management of Brother W. A. Petersen, is in good financial condition without being subsidized by the conference as many are.

All phases of our publishing work are encouraging. The increases that Brother Unger will show, in the number of colporteurs, hours, orders, and deliveries will be most heartening to all. During 1948 twenty-three souls were baptized as a result of their first being contacted by our faithful colporteurs.

When reports are given by our other departments, you will see a growing interest in our educational, Missionary Volunteer, and home missionary activities. The interest our people are taking in their part of the work will be clearly indicated in a special way as we see the almost phenomenal way the Ingathering victory has been realized.

For some years our Academy mill has been a source of no little worry to the school and conference administration. The mill was established for the express purpose of furnishing labor for our students. At times it has realized

Message-filled books and periodicals have been ordained by God for the giving of the everlasting gospel. In the very beginning of our worldwide publishing program, the leaders of the denomination realized the importance of printing and scattering the message in books and magazines. Through the years the magazine work has developed until now we have a fine selection of periodicals not only for our church members but for sale to the public. At the present time the denomination publishes 282 periodicals.

In this busy age many people who do not feel that they have time to read books will read magazines. We are living in a magazine-reading age and the colporteur evangelists should take advantage of this fact and do everything possible to properly utilize magazines in the giving of the message.

some profits; but in the main, losses have increased and deficits have mounted. This condition has not been peculiar to our mill alone but has been a general condition in small mills across the country, both inside and outside our institutions. Many such mills as ours have been forced to close their doors. It came to the place with ours where it was absolutely impossible for us to absorb any further losses. The only alternative was to find some other way of operating it to furnish labor for the students, or to close the doors. After quite lengthy negotiations, it finally was decided to rent the building and machinery to the Ideal Steel Products of Chicago, with a very carefully drawn contract to protect our interests and standards. Soon after this transaction, the furniture business went into a decline which has seriously affected the production of Ideal Steel; but the firm is still confident of a fair recovery and hopes soon to be producing in our mill. It has been a great load off our shoulders and minds to experience no more losses in the mill.

From the financial picture that I have presented tonight, it is plain to see that for several years our income has been good. In spite of this, however, because of our large working force, our close margin of operating has caused us much concern. As we have seen many of our sister conferences in North America experience a real decline in income, we have tried to look ahead and see what we could do to meet such a crisis.

Recently some of our workers have had calls to other fields. Instead of calling in workers from other conferences to fill the vacancies, we have filled these with the men we already have. It has meant several changes in the field, but the committee has done its best to care for the needs of the conference, and we feel that it has safeguarded our operating to where we will be able to meet an emergency if it should arise and at the same time build our operating reserves up to the point recommended by the General Conference.

One encouraging feature at the present time is our radio work. A year or so ago we were broadcasting over only one station. At the present time we are conducting four local broadcasts. Every week the message goes out over the air from Indianapolis, Lafayette, Bloomington, and Evansville. We feel this is doing a great deal to break down prejudice, create good will, and give the message.

It was a pleasure to announce some time ago that we were reestablishing our Bible correspondence school. We feel that such a school is a great contributing factor to our soul-winning activities, and that it will play an important part in our evangelistic program. The school is off to a good start now, under the direction of the home missionary department, with Miss Marceil Ehrhart as instructor. With very little promotion thus far, the enrollments are coming in and soon with promotion we expect it to take on real proportions.

Of course I could not refrain from saying something about the start we have for our own permanent camp ground. When we were compelled last year to turn down scores of applications because of a lack of facilities and accommodations, many of us felt we could not go through that experience again. Camp meeting is for the people; and if we could not accommodate them, then we felt we should formulate some plan whereby they could be served.

The only answer seemed to be on our own Academy grounds, which would give us a central location for the field, and where we could have the advantages of our dormitory rooms, the dining room and kitchen facilities, the classrooms, chapel, water, etc. At first it seemed as though our primary need was an auditorium, so this was presented to our people last year, with a most gratifying response. As the matter was further studied quite in detail by the committee, it was found that an auditorium would cost at least $60,000. Before we could proceed we would have to meet the General Conference requirements by having 75% in hand. To raise $60,000 it would mean about $15 for every member in the conference. With several churches in and facing building programs, some felt it could not be done at this time.

Furthermore, had we been able through the year to raise enough to proceed with the auditorium, it appeared that this project would consume all of our funds, leaving us with only an auditorium and no funds to provide other things which we must have in order to conduct a camp meeting. After studying and praying over this great problem, the brethren finally concluded it better to get along for the present with a tent auditorium and provide the other facilities that would insure us a comfortable camp. So, as I have said, "with a living tent and some settees," we proceeded to provide for this large camp in only a few months.

To you who have been familiar with the setup here, you will notice that the Academy kitchen has been moved back into what was the old laundry. This enabled us to build a new service counter which would permit serving two lines. One of the centers of attraction at our camp meetings is the book, Bible and literature display. It was thought best to provide a permanent Book and Bible building so that during the time between camp meetings this could be used to store our equipment.

To provide sanitary facilities looked like a big problem. The state health department would permit us for the present to build outside latrines, but would guarantee nothing for the future. It seemed the better part of wisdom for us to build solidly and permanently as we proceeded and not lose money by makeshifts. This accounts for the permanent, modern restrooms which you find for the tent city.

One of our greatest needs was the field to the north of us here, which jutted so conspicuously into our property. For years we had tried to purchase this but in vain. When we came to the point of dire need, it seems the Lord opened the way and now the field where the Book and Bible house building, the major portion of our tents, and the restrooms stand belongs to us.

With these facilities, and by providing electric current in the tents, we feel that we have gone a long way for the first year. This large tent is ours, and fifty-six of the living tents belong to the conference. We appreciate the fine gesture on the part of the Wisconsin Conference to rent us tents until we are able to provide enough to care for all of our needs.

Naturally anyone familiar with costs these days can see that our expenditures thus far have been heavy. I must not fail, however, to share with you the good news that the union conference has appropriated $2,500 to this project, and the Review and Herald is appropriating $1,000 to assist with the Book and Bible House building. I know every delegate and everyone present joins me in saying "Thank you" for these splendid gifts.

From the very start, prospects have been excellent for the largest camp meeting in the history of the Indiana Conference. We have done our best to provide for this, feeling confident that the good old Hoosier Spirit will be manifested in some substantial offerings at this meeting to help us through this difficult time. We know everything is not as we would like it, or as it will be later, but I am sure all will be patient until we can do better.

In a growing work there are always many problems confronting the committee and workers, and Indiana has

FEAR, OR SECURITY?

THE past few months have brought paralyzing fear of the future to the hearts of millions. Now as never before men are asking the question, "What do these things mean?" They crave a sense of security. They desire a message of hope.

Multitudes thought at the conclusion of hostilities of the past great war that the peace would bring surcease from fear and perplexity. This has failed to materialize. Serious-minded, thinking people are asking what manner of world is this? Must there be war to have prosperity? Must there be in peace, labor trouble, fear of recession, and talk of war? Why with whole continents hungry should there be surpluses and talk of curtailment here?

To quote one whose pen was guided by an unseen hand, these present world conditions "are among the agencies by which God seeks to arouse men and women to a sense of their danger."

The new book, "A Guide to Better Living," which has been so enthusiastically received all over the United States, and is to be used in connection with the sale of Life and Health, Listen, Our Times and Liberty, is a heaven-sent instrument for such a time. Multitudes need the message of our health magazine. You only have to look around you to see that intemperance is increasing every day and that Listen should be featured with its temperance information. Furthermore in connection with every panacea offered for the ills of man there seems to be an automatic tendency to curtail those liberties we have taken for granted through the years. The Liberty magazine heralds to the populace the dangers of such trends. Isn't it wonderful that in this same combination the Our Times magazine is a component part! It specifically answers the questions troubling the minds of thinking people about the future. May our hearts be moved to compassion as we see the moral and spiritual desolation of thousands who are under the shadow of a terrible doom, "in comparison with which physical suffering fades into nothingness." Prophets and Kings, p. 172.

Dear readers, will you not join a host of other individuals in bringing to your neighbors and friends this unique combination of advent principles and hope? The price for the book and all these magazines for one year is only $9.25, on which the regular colporteur discount is available. Your Publishing Department Secretary will be happy to send you a canvass and give you the necessary training for its successful distribution.

its share. However, from the foregoing I am sure you can see that we have many reasons for being encouraged. We have a most faithful, loyal group of workers. They are doing their best under God and the direction of the committee to meet the needs of the field. We wish we could grant every request and meet every need. Of course this is impossible. But with the fine spirit that exists among the office and field workers, and with the spirit that we find among the laity, I am sure that bright days are ahead for the work in Indiana.

Added to these encouraging features is the fact that we have full support on the part of our union conference president and his associates. They have been ever ready to give of their counsel and to assist in every way possible. In assisting with the work here, their attitude has not been just one of 'Be ye clothed and fed,' but from the union treasury they have made substantial appropriations on our new barn, the girls' dormitory, and the camp equipment.

Dear fellow believers and fellow workers, we face a mighty task in evangelizing the great state of Indiana. But let us remember that God's power is greater than the task. I have been hoping and praying that this camp meeting will bring a great spiritual uplift to each and every one of us, that we all will leave these grounds with higher aims, more holy ambitions, and greater burden for souls. If this is our experience, and we will consecrate all that we have and all that we are to finishing the work in the portion of God's vineyard that He has entrusted to our care, then with the blessing God has promised, the work in Indiana will be finished on time.

GRIFFITH-HADLEY WEDDING

VERNA Catherine Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Griffith of Berrien Springs, Michigan, was married to James Neil Hadley in a candle-light wedding at 7:30 o'clock Thursday, June 16 in the Berrien Springs Seventh-day Adventist Church. Elder D. W. Hunter officiated.

The bride wore the traditional white satin dress and veil, carrying a white Bible and an orchid. She was attended by her sister, Doralee Griffith, Miss Marjorie Walker, and Mrs. Margaret Scherencel. Her little sister, Wilberta Griffith, was flower girl, and a younger brother, Wilbur Griffith, was Bible boy.

The groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hadley of South Haven, Michigan, was attended by his brother, Joe Hadley, as best man. Gaylord Boyer and Arnold Scherencel served as groomsmen.

Clifford Vixie sang two songs, accompanied by his brother, Elwin Vixie. Miss Marjorie Wilson of Hinsdale, Illinois, played the wedding march.

The reception was held in the parlor of Burman Hall at Emmanuel Missionary College. Music was furnished by an orchestra and over three hundred guests were in attendance.

Mrs. Hadley has been a Bible worker in the Illinois Conference and is a graduate of the Bible worker's course at Emmanuel Missionary College.

THE LAWRENCE EFFORT

SUNDAY night, June 5, was a great day for Lawrence, Michigan. Brother R. L. Boothby opened an evangelistic campaign that evening with about 1200 people on the grounds or within hearing of the loud speakers. The sixty voice chair was under the direction of Professor E. J. McMurphy of Washington Missionary College and Giles N. Roberts was at the piano. Mrs. Roberts is associated with the company as a Bible worker. Brother Wilbur Neff will also join the effort except for the time that he will be away for the Michigan camp meeting.

Five hundred and fifty seats were provided by the conference and after those were filled 100 more were borrowed from the funeral home nearby. Several rows of people stood around the tent and many were in parked cars and benches in the park. Elder Boothby plans to speak every night in the canvas tabernacle for ten weeks. The audience was thrilled with his sermon for the opening night on the subject of life after death. Pray for these souls.

VOICE OF PROPHECY

WORD has just been received that effective from Sunday, June 19, the Voice of Prophecy Radio Program will be heard over two national coast to coast broadcasting systems. The Mutual Broadcasting System has been carrying the Voice of Prophecy broadcasts since its inception as a national program. Beginning on June 19 the program will also be heard over the American Broadcasting Company.

It is encouraging to know that this increased facility will give a much larger coverage with proportionate increasing results. Effective from June 19 the Voice of Prophecy broadcast will be heard on just as many stations as finances will permit. In some cases the combining of the broadcast on two networks has made it necessary to cancel and rearrange local station outlets. Believers are asked, therefore, to clip and preserve the following broadcasting schedule for the Voice of Prophecy in Michigan.

This new broadcasting schedule should be distributed widely and to meet this the Voice of Prophecy staff has prepared a very attractive new radio log. Churches can secure free supplies of these radio logs by writing direct to the Voice of Prophecy, Box 55, Los Angeles, California.

The following is the broadcasting

Mr. Hadley is a theological student at Emmanuel Missionary College and the couple will make their home in the college community while Mr. Hadley continues his studies.

NEWS NOTES

DATES have been set for an Upper Peninsula camp meeting at Wilson, August 25-28.

Elder G. A. Schwerin and Dr. F. H. Sherman conducted a special meeting for the Spanish speaking people of Lansing, Thursday night, June 16. A fine interest is developing among the Spanish speaking people of this area through the missionary efforts of Dr. Sherman.

Ordination services will be held Sabbath afternoon, July 2, at the 4:30 hour for Herbert Hosford, Duane Miller, Lawrence Kagels, Wilbur Neff, Alonzo R. Mohr, V. E. Garber and Edwin Byrd.

A special missions and evangelistic service will be held Sabbath afternoon, June 25. Foreign mission appointees will receive special consideration and a presentation of a leather bound Bible and songbook to match, with names engraved in gold.

Six people were recently baptized by Elder H. E. Bisel in District 11.

RAIN OVER WISCONSIN

Yes, a million dollar rain has fallen over Wisconsin's seared, burned and thirsty pasture land.

For over three weeks the constant sunshine without a drop of rainfall had dried the farm lands, causing thirsty seeds to shrivel and die. Corn and oats were languishing and thirsting. Cattle were eating the last vestige of green grass! Farmers were discussing the necessity of selling out their herds unless rainfall quickly changed the parched earth's surface.

At the Menomonie and Durand Seventh-day Adventist church district meeting, June 10, very serious and sincere petitions to God for rain were offered during the day. Unless rain came very soon, a very serious plight awaited many farmers because their pastures were literally parched.

In answer to prayer there appeared thunder clouds in a sky that had been cloudless for more than three weeks. Soon the rain-drops fell and we thanked the Heavenly Father for his kind answer to our urgent prayer.

For more than two days and nights the abundance of rain fell, assuring food—hay, oats, and corn—so necessary for our Wisconsin dairy men. Without this rain from heaven both man and beast would perish from the earth. How thankful we are to our Heavenly Father for His promise that never fails, "While the earth remaineth, seed-time and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease." Gen. 8: 22.

The brethren, during my visits in the various district meetings, tell me there has never been a total failure of crops in Wisconsin. God always has blessed with the necessary sustenance for His people. Let us be faithful to recognize God's every blessing and to render unto Him His own, the tenth of all He gives us. In return His marvelous promise is "But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus." Phil. 4:19. H. J. CAPMAN

WELCOME TO OUR SPOONER CAMP MEETING JULY 9

ARRANGEMENTS have been made for the Spooner Camp Meeting on July 9 with the following conference workers visiting the Spooner church for an all day Sabbath meeting. Elders H. J. Capman, G. F. Ruf, John W. Boyd, M. H. Odegaard, Brother R. G. Burchfield and Professor H. F. Lease will meet with our people for this spiritual feast. All members in the surrounding churches are invited to be present for the all day Sabbath meeting in Spooner. We extend a cordial invitation to the members of the following churches: Ashland, Berg Park, Bear Lake, Clear Lake, Cumberland, Frederic, Ladysmith, Sheldon, Spooner and Superior.

Meetings will be held in these churches on the nights of July 6 through 8. Notification is being sent to the church elder so that announcements can be made in each church telling of the visiting ministers for these evening meetings prior to the Sabbath day services at Spooner. Let us pray that God will give us a very spiritual blessing at the Spooner Camp Meeting.

BAPTISM DISTRICT 7-A

On Sabbath, June 4, it was my privilege to be with Brother Harold Bohr and join him in the baptism of six precious souls from various churches in his district. In addition to this two were received on profession of faith.

A district meeting was called at Richland Center for that day. There was a good representation from nearly every church so the church was well filled. After the morning sermon the candidates were examined and it was found that Brother Bohr had done a good work in instructing these new souls and helping them not only to understand but to put into practice the principles of our truth.

The baptism was conducted near the Sand Prairie church. It was an occasion of great rejoicing to all the brethren when these new members were received into church fellowship and when all joined in giving these new members a hearty welcome. We pray that the Lord may bless these new believers and may He continue to prosper the efforts of the pastor and members of district 7-A.

VOICE OF PROPHECY ON AMERICAN BROADCASTING COMPANY SYSTEM

Do you enjoy listening to the Voice of Prophecy each Sunday morning over your favorite radio station? Of course you do. You know that the Voice of Prophecy has been on the air over the Mutual Broadcasting System for a number of years. Until now it has been impossible to pay for religious broadcasts over the American Broadcasting Company system. Thanks to God the managers of the American Broadcasting System have reversed their rigid policy which opposed any contracts for religious broadcasts, and now welcomes the Voice of Prophecy over its entire American Broadcasting Company network. This is a definite indication of God's blessing upon our radio work. In fact, the American Broadcasting Company System started carrying the Voice of Prophecy broadcasts Sunday, June 19. Just as rapidly as our finances will permit, new and powerful stations will add our radio program. We believe that all our regular listeners, by carefully checking the newspaper radio programs, will discover a station which can bring clear reception of Elder H. M. S. Richards' Sunday morning broadcast.

There is no question that God will use the radio in the giving of the gospel message for today in order to speedily finish the work of God in all the earth. We can now supply you with new radio logs listing all stations on both the Mutual Broadcasting System and American Broadcasting Company. You can use hundreds of these radio logs among your friends and neighbors giving them a cordial invitation to listen to the Voice of Prophecy each Sunday morning. Be sure and write in to the conference office for the number of radio logs you wish to use. This is missionary work of the first order. Wouldn't you be happy to learn that someone to whom you had given a radio log had found his way into God's message for today? Don't fail to send for a good supply of these radio logs and use them to win some soul to Christ.

Here is the latest list of radio stations broadcasting the Voice of Prophecy program in Wisconsin:

WEDDING BELLS IN SHEBOYGAN

A very impressive church wedding was held in the Sheboygan Seventh-day Adventist church on Sunday, May 29, at 4 p.m., when Miss Laura J. Krause and Leland R. Huntington went to the altar to be united in holy matrimony. The church was beautifully decorated and many friends and relatives came to witness this marriage ceremony. The maid-of-honor was the bride's sister, Erma Jean Krause, and the best man was Archie L. Pauls from Richland Center, Wisconsin. After the ceremony relatives and friends gathered for a reception at the Wilson Town Hall. The writer performed the ceremony. We wish the newly-weds God's richest blessings in their new relations. They will make their home in Beaver Dam, Wisconsin.

BAPTISM IN THE MILWAUKEE GERMAN CHURCH

It was another high day for the Milwaukee German church on Sabbath, May 28, 1949, as this church witnessed another impressive baptism when three precious souls were buried in the watery grave. A very promising young woman took her stand, and we believe that she will be a blessing in the church. Two young men, one fifteen and the other twelve, both attending our junior academy in this city, who also will be a great help in the work of God in this church, were baptized.

The writer is planning another large effort for the German speaking people in this city this coming fall and winter. We believe there are thousands of German speaking people who must be warned before it is too late.

The Milwaukee German church has been very enthusiastic in this year's Ingathering and Academy Fund campaigns. In seven weeks we raised practically the whole year's goal for the Academy and the basic goal for Ingathering. You ask "How did you do it?" It has been done only through hard work. We praise the Lord for the opportunity we have in doing such noble work. DANIEL F. ROTH

OUR INGATHERING PROGRAM AND YOU

OUR latest Ingathering figures (June 19) show that we are within about a thousand dollars of our Basic Goal. This is most gratifying after ten weeks of work and promotion. We want to assure all those who have had a part in this of our deepest appreciation. God will reward you for loyalty to His cause.

Three more districts reached their Basic Goal—those of Elders Jameson, Odegaard and Brother Shiffbauer. We now have nine Victory Districts, the previous ones being those of Elders Guenther, Riston, Dunn, Keiser, Roth, and Brother Castelbuono of the Illinois Conference, who helps out in our Italian church. We have three new Minute-man churches—they are Sparta, Grand Marsh, and Madison. One new Victory church was added—Durand. Our thanks and congratulations to all of these.

Out of 4298 members we have 757 Minutemen, or one out of every six. We know of a conference with a few less members than ours, and they have 1374 Minutemen. We need 700 more Minutemen in Wisconsin. Is it right brethren, that one member should bear the load of three? Brother, Sister, will you not determine right now to be a real lifter, and not a leaner?

G. F. RUF

NEWS NOTES

THE MV's of the Milwaukee church enjoyed Elder H. J. Capman's Friday night sermon and singing on June 17. The topic was entitled "The Hypocrite's Hope." The Sabbath morning sermon was given by Elder Capman. The Sabbath School outing on Sunday afforded opportunity for the Milwaukee members to get acquainted with Elder and Mrs. Capman.

Recent visitors at our office included former conference workers: Brother and Sister W. C. Whitten and Mrs. Eugene (Judy) Maas and 2-months-old Cheryln Joanne from Lincoln, Nebraska, also Mrs. Howard Kennedy from Monticello.

The parents and children of the Durand church welcomed Elder J. F. Knipschild in their homes on June 15 to plan for the church school and new teacher. This school was launched one year ago and now plans for a better and stronger school the coming year.

Arrangements have been completed for the Senior Youth Camp at Drummond July 1-4. All Wisconsin Missionary Volunteers are urged to attend this senior M.V. Camp. Come and enjoy the 4th of July with your fellow Adventist youth.

The Junior Camp at Drummond comes July 6-13, immediately following the Senior Camp. All aboard, Juniors, for a thrilling week in God's out-of-doors. Oh what fun! Swimming, hiking, craftwork, camp-fire stories, good eats, and time to enjoy nature. Send in your application blank. Better hurry because July 6 is coming soon.

Four more summer colporteur students began working for a scholarship to the new Wisconsin Academy which opens its doors September 4. Miss Lee Sackett is assisting these students as they start their work. Brother Walter Nasvall has assisted several of the boys who began canvassing on June 6. There are about thirteen student colporteurs now working for scholarships. Remember these young people at the Throne of Grace.

The colporteur work in Wisconsin is gaining week by week. Orders totaling $1017.30 were reported for the second week of June. There is room for scores of consecrated men and women who will enter the literature ministry. Better plan to attend the summer Colporteur Rally at Green Bay July 1-3.

Our Book and Bible House Manager, L. G. Wartzok, will use to good advantage at the Wisconsin camp meeting August 4-13, some of the good ideas gained by his recent visit to the Illinois camp meeting June 11-12.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Taggert, graduates of E.M.C. this spring, have joined the office workers at Madison. Brother Taggert is assisting in the Bible House, and Mrs. Taggert serves as secretary to Elder G. F. Ruf. We are happy to welcome these new workers to the office family.

PARENTS, FOR YOU

IN a matter of a few weeks, August 11 to 18, to be specific, another Junior Camp will be under way for the Juniors of Illinois. Every effort will be made to help our boys and girls to develop physically, mentally, socially and spiritually.

A carefully selected staff of counselors and other workers is being selected, and will be on hand to guide and direct each Junior in all the daily activities, whether it be eating, hiking, swimming, sleeping or devotions. A counselor will be present to give guidance, a registered nurse will supervise the health program, a qualified dining room matron will have charge of the meals at camp.

In sending your boy or girl to camp, it is more than just giving them a vacation. Many a Junior has taken a new hold on his God and this message, and has made lasting decisions for right because of his attendance at Junior camp. Won't you plan now to have your Junior at camp Rotary when camp begins August 11? A folder with detailed information will be sent you on request. J. O. IVERSEN

RALLY

There will be a Colporteur Rally at West Frankfort, July 15, 16, and 17. All of the student colporteurs, regular and part-time colporteurs in the territory supervised by Brother Newell G. Brown should make plans to be in attendance. Elder I. H. Ihrig of the Lake Union Conference will be with us for all the meetings. The first meeting will be Friday evening, July 15.

Magnifying God's Message for Every Believer

TESTIMONIES FOR THE CHURCH is a compendium of instruction and counsel for every member of the remnant church who is endeavoring to walk in all the light God beams upon our pathway.

A beautiful, new edition of the nine volumes (in four compact books) is awaiting you. Its clear, readable type is a pleasure to read.

Background and history material of the times in which the Testimonies were written introduces each volume. These new chapters, prepared by the Trustees of the Ellen G. White Publications, help the reader to understand the problems and issues facing the church when each message was written.

STUDIES ON CREATION WEEK

In the Naturalist for 1949 we are featuring a series of articles dealing with creation week. Many questions which are difficult to answer will be discussed frankly from the data found in the Bible and the Spirit of Prophecy, as well as from the field of science.

The first issue for 1949 appeared early in April. It contained a 12-page article on the evidences for the creation of our planet during creation week, based on material from the Spirit of Prophecy. The second issue appeared early in June, and contained a second article on creation week, this time citing references from the Bible. The third article, to be published in the Naturalist in September, will deal with the meaning of the Hebrew words used in the story of creation week.

There are several controversial subjects to be discussed in these articles: (1) When was the substance of the earth created?—during creation week, about 6000 years ago, or when the rest of the universe was created, millions of years ago? (2) When were the sun and moon created? What caused the day and night during the first three days of creation week? (3) Does the theory of dating the rocks of the earth by radioactive metals mean that the earth is two billion years old. These and many more questions will be considered in these important articles. Every Seventh-day Adventist should be familiar with these questions, and should be able to answer them to his own satisfaction from the data in the Bible and the Spirit of Prophecy. Your subscription to the Naturalist will bring you this material, and will also help to make the magazine larger. Present plans call for making the Naturalist a monthly magazine if 2500 subscribers can be found. Please send in your subscription at once to the Naturalist, College Place, Washington. The price is $1.00 per year, and there are four issues of 30 to 40 pages in each.

"The burden of the work has been left largely with those who are laboring under salary. But this is not as it should be. The great missionary field is open to all, and the lay members of our churches must understand that no one is exempted from labor in the Master's vineyard. . . ."—Review and Herald, Oct. 22, 1914.

HAVE YOU A FRIEND IN BRITAIN?

God is blessing the work in Great Britain. As the country is slowly but surely pulling out of its difficulties, so are our one hundred churches, and our 6,235 church members are courageously struggling toward a new day.

It was my pleasure recently to spend seven weeks with the workers there. I assisted in holding six Sabbath-school institutes, a Week of Prayer at Newbold College, and a senior M.V. camp in Scotland, on the banks of Loch Lomond.

It was a pleasure to see some of the churches which have been acquired in recent years. The churches in Nottingham, Glasgow and Edinburgh are splendid roomy buildings, and the brethren in Belfast and Dublin are working hard to improve their places of worship.

Everywhere I met sincere appreciation for the generous help of friends in America during the past tragic years, and if you are one of those friends, let me say "thank you" for them.

If you would like to send your friends in Britain a birthday present, or a Christmas present, or any other kind of present, here is a list of things everyone of them would appreciate:

New current copies of the Sabbath school picture roll, new or used copies of Those Tiny Tots, Those Juniors, Teaching Teachers to Teach, Christian Story Telling, Keith Argraves, Paratrooper, The Light Bearer to the Amazon, The Life of Christ Visualized, New Testament Heroes Visualized, Life of Joseph Visualized, Life of Esther Visualized, and any of the children's reading course books.

It is almost impossible under the present economic conditions to send money out of Britain to pay for things like this, and I find that there is, therefore, a pitiful lack all through the land of books for Sabbath-school teachers, picture rolls, and books for little children. Bundles of books, up to six pounds, with one end unsealed, marked gift, can be sent in with no customs duty to pay.

Food conditions are improving rapidly, but it is impossible to buy Postum anywhere, and in England fruit is still hard to obtain and is high.

If you have books of the above description which you would like to donate, but do not know anyone in Britain personally, mail them to our conference Sabbath-school secretaries: Pastor E. R. Warland, 43 Tavistock Drive, Nottingham, England; and Pastor A. C. Vine, 780 St. Albans Road, Watford, Herts, England.

They will be glad to distribute them wherever they are needed most. Make someone in Britain happy today.

ERIC B. HARE

for doing so, helping the younger generation through college is a sound financial investment. With every year spent in college, a son or a daughter becomes, financially, less of a liability and more of an asset.

Come This Year

If you plan to have a college education, you had best get it now. Those who begin usually can continue. Those who postpone, however resolute their plans, seldom have more money a year later. Regularly they have less interest, less courage. That is why a year without school activity definitely reduces the likelihood of your ever resuming formal education.

If you plan to earn some part of your expenses at EMC this winter, make your reservations early. Letters addressed to V. P. Lovell, business manager, will receive prompt and courteous attention.

"Be more in action than in conversation;

God has given you two hands but only one tongue."

EMMANUEL MISSIONARY COLLEGE

Earning While Learning

STUDENTS earned $246,532.99 during the 1948-49 school year by work done for Emmanuel Missionary College. About 85 per cent of all enrolled earn some part of their expenses during the school term. At EMC one loses nothing of social acceptability by engaging in profitable labor. On the contrary, both teachers and students look upon faithfulness in work as a sure sign of human worth.

Young Men Work at CWP

Perhaps eighty of EMC's young men work at the College Wood Products. At this unusually well equipped plant is manufactured for the commercial market a line of desks, tables, and bedroom suites. The chief requisite for those who wish to work here, say E. S. Kyle and Joseph Day, assistant manager and superintendent, is a willing mind. Young men having this quality are often those who have borne a share of responsibility in operating farm or shop.

Men now in conféré employ who formerly helped themselves through college by making tables and dressers say that they find the College Wood Products experience invaluable. It gives them a practical adaptability. When there is furniture to buy or repair, when there is a church to remodel or to build, their knowledge of wood, of tools, of what needs to be done gives them an advantage.

Press Offers Opportunities

The College Press publishes periodicals for several non-church organizations and does a large volume of commercial job printing, besides college and conference work. There will be openings this year for several experienced student compositors and linotype operators, according to Albert Anderson, superintendent. Mr. Anderson will make up his labor personnel lists in August this year. It is time now to correspond with him.

Bindery Will Move

The Berrien Book Bindery does work for clients in several states. Within two weeks from the date of this paper Walter Nelson, superintendent, expects to move his Bindery from its present quarters into a spacious terrace room of the new physical education building now under construction. By the better organization possible here and by the aid of new equipment to be installed, bindery workers expect to handle a third larger volume of business without increasing their demand for help. Young women do most of the bindery work. Mr. Nelson observes that those who can type, or know something about printing, or have done piece work in a factory do better in his shop. The practice here is for employees to work in half-day units with a twelve-hour weekly minimum.

E. S. Kyle (Standing) Assistant Manager of College Wood Products, and Joseph Day, Superintendent

Space forbids special mention of a dozen other sources of student employment, such as the dairy farm, the cafeteria, the laundry, the custodial and the numerous offices necessary to keep the complexity of a modern college functioning smoothly.

The College Offers Work

Work prospects for the coming year are good, says V. P. Lovell, business manager. The college will provide as much work as ever, but there will be more people asking for it. The minimum starting pay for student labor is 40 cents an hour. By the second and third year one is usually earning from 45 to 55 cents an hour. Maximum pay to students is 65 cents except that some with special skills earn more.

College pay figures sound low to one accustomed to commercial rates. EMC rates are relatively high for an educational institution. And EMC's lower charges are equivalent to an increase in student pay. A committee surveyed costs in Seventh-day Adventist Colleges during the 1948-49 school year. This survey revealed that one can pay for a year's education at EMC with $145 less than at any other Adventist college in the United States.

Students Need Help

Can one earn his entire way through college? Earning your whole way is possible if you work twelve months and go to school nine. The load can be eased, too, by spreading a two-year course over three years or a four year course over five. To earn a living is one full-time employment. A regular quota of college classes is another. Trying to do all of both in one unit of time is like pouring five gallons of water into a three gallon bucket. Something is bound to spill.

College by work is a bargain. College without too much work is a better bargain. Parents who are able should help their sons and daughters through college. After doing as much as reasonable for themselves, youth should accept help from parents. In addition to all the higher motives
