GOOD NEWS FROM IRAN

Dear Brother in Christ,

As recipients of part of the 13th Sabbath Overflow Offering for this quarter, we thought that the consistuency of your field would be interested in having some of the latest news from our school.

We have been praying for several years very earnestly, that God would help the way to be opened that we might have the deep well that is so necessary to make the "desert blossom as the rose." It has been of considerable concern to us, as much building has been commenced in the vicinity of our school property. There is a law in Iran, that no one should drill a well closer than 500 meters from another well.

This means that if someone should place a well on their property before us, that we could not have our own clean water system, but would have to buy all our irrigation water, which is very expensive, as well as have our drinking water trucked to us.

The well is now finished, and we thank God for His abundant kindness. We have a fine supple of water in the 4"-70 metre deep (approx. 230') well.

Another thing that has been a source of difficulty for our school, is the question of government-recognition. Without it any student can be taken off the street into the army at once. Without it, it is hard for a student to find work, and he cannot transfer to any other educational facility, not even to one of our own schools outside of the country, because they will not grant him a passport without documentary proof of his education.

We have been working with the Ministry of Education almost constantly for the past year, and it has, at times, appeared rather discouraging. However, two weeks ago, it was announced over the radio and in the two leading Tehran newspapers that the government had accepted our request and proposed curriculum for a vocational-type school, and were going to grant us this recognition, which would accept and evaluate our credits on an equal basis with the Government-operated High schools,

At a time when our work in some parts of the Middle East has been hindered, we are indeed grateful that God has allowed us an opportunity to strengthen the facilities for training the young people of Iran, and that our work is now looked upon in a most favorable light. It has not always been this way. We also know that it will not continue forever, and we believe that now is our God-given opportunity. We know that all our brethren and sisters will be cheered by this news, and that they will give generously to carry the work forward while there is such, an excellent opportunity.

Sincerely your brother in Christ, M. EARL ADAMS, Principal Iran Training School

Polio Vaccine for Our Children and Young People

Many of our people are inquiring as to their duty in the matter of polio protection for their children. Perhaps only those who have seen firsthand the tragic, deathdealing, and life-long crippling results of this disease will fully appreciate the dangers still at large from the possibility of a polio epidemic.

There are several questions being asked by our people, and answers to these questions may be helpful to our parents in their plans for the best health interests of their children.

 What about the dangers of polio inoculation which we heard much about at the beginning of this Salk vaccine program?

Answer: "Since May, 1955, when vaccine was first released under revised safety standards, there has been no epidemiological evidence that any case of poliomyelitis has been causally related to the use of poliomyelitis vaccine." U. S. Public Health Reports, January, 1957, in an article "Supply, Distribution, and Use of Poliomyelitis Vaccine," by Jack C. Haldeman, M.D., Chief, Division of General Health Services, Bureau of State Services, Public Health Service, Washington, D.C. This statement of safety is issued after a survey of the many millions of injections given over this year-and-a-half period of time.

2. What are the protective results from the use of polio vaccine?

Answer: "Surveys show that among children vaccinated with only one or two doses, the incidence of paralytic poliomyelitis has been reduced about 75 per cent. We can expect an even greater reduction as more and more persons receive three injections."—From a report to the President of the United States by Marion B. Folsom, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, U. S. Public Health Reports, January, 1957.

3. Who should receive these inoculations?

Answer: Until very recently the limited supply of vaccine has restricted the vaccination program to those in the greatest danger age. The vaccine is now freely available, and all children and young adults, preferably even to forty years of age, should receive not one, not two, but three inoculations— preferably before the usual summer peak of the incidence of this disease.

4. What is the principal problem in the polio vaccination program at the present time?

Answer: The indifference of many families toward the dangers of this death-dealing disease.

Faith for Today Host to PR Council Delegates

At the recent North American Public Relations Council in New York City, Faith for Today was represented by an impressive exhibit demonstrating the television work. A miniature TV camera picked up visitors to the booth and projected their pictures on an actual TV screen. This, of course, was made possible by a closed circuit TV system such as that used in banks.

In a more impressive way, however, Faith for Today welcomed the delegates to the city. The assembly and exhibit hall of the New York Center were transformed into a reception room for a couple of hours one evening with refreshments and social relaxation making a brief break in the council's busy schedule.

During the daytime hours tours were arranged for any of the delegates who wished to visit the television offices in Forest Hills. Faith for Today is grateful for this opportunity to welcome representatives from the conferences of North America. We cordially invite you to pay us a return visit.

Champaign-Urbana Institute

Elder J. W. Proctor, Publishing Department Secretary for Illinois, and his two efficient assistants, brethren Forrest Skaggs and Theodore Phillips, held an institute in the Champaign-Urbana church on February 22, 23, 24, for those interested in entering the literature ministry.

On Friday evening Elder Proctor spoke briefly after which the motion picture film, "Summons at Midnight" was shown.

Psalm 121:1, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help" was the text chosen by Paul M. Weichert, the Book and Bible House manager for Illinois, as he spoke to us at the regular worship hour on Sabbath morning. All present for the Sabbath afternoon meeting were deeply impressed as they listened to the experiences told by the men and women who have devoted their lives to the literature ministry.

Saturday night and all day Sunday was given over to an intensive training program for beginners. There were about ten from the surrounding area who were present for this important instruction. Elder Proctor, his two assistants and several of the regular literature evangelists from Chicago, Paris and elsewhere in the state, gave valuable information and instruction to those present.

This inspiring week end meeting came to an end all too soon, but, not without some good rewards, for some of those present made the decision to devote some of their time each week toward placing our truth filled literature in the homes of the people.

The special book for 1957 is entitled What Jesus Said, and is written by H. M. S. Richards, speaker for the Voice of Prophecy radio program. The inside endsheets are in full-color too, depicting the Saviour teaching by the Sea of Galilee.

MV Winter Camp

Michigan's first Winter Senior Youth Camp was a grand success. Thirty-six former Senior Campers enjoyed a never-to-be-forgotten week end of fellowship and winter sports. Due to the shortage of winter accommodations it was necessary to limit the number of applicants for this camp. We are sorry that so many had to be turned down.

Camp Au Sable is idealy situated for winter sports. Just three miles from camp is the Grayling Winter Sports Park with its famed toboggan runs (the fastest east of the Rockies), skiing and skating areas. Senior Campers enjoyed most of a day at the Winter Sports Park, Our own property in itself proved to be a wonderful winter playground. A large area of the lake was cleared off for skating and the hill leading down to the beach provided many a thrill and spill for sledding, tobogganing and skiing. Other activities entered into with enthusiasm were: Saturday night's hay ride, the marshmallow roast, Sabbath nature hikes, and we shall not soon forget the inspiration and blessing received during the camp chorus song fests, devotional periods, morning watch services and Sabbath morning church service.

Camp dates this summer are as follows: Boys Teen-Age Camp: June 30-July 7; Boys, ages 9-11: July 7-14; Girls, ages 9-11: July 14-21; Girls Teen-Age Camp: July 21-28; Senior Youth Camp: August 25-September 3.

Plan now to join your friends at camp. FRED BEAVON

More Good News

As this article is being written I have a definite promise from the company responsible for putting up the camp meeting pavilion steel frame that the frame will be going up by the time you read these lines. This is the day we have been waiting for.

As soon as the steel frame is up we can plan our own program and push the work along as the funds are available.

As the steel goes up, our members all over the conference will be designating their support of our building program on Sabbath, March 23. A letter and blank is going to each church treasurer for a report to my office immediately following the March 23 church service so we will know how far we can go with our building plans and how to plan our work.

Also, you will be watching the Wisconsin section in this paper to see the skeleton frame filled in. How we all like to be connected with a growing and progressive concern. What a joy and pleasure it is to have a part in a program that will prove a blessing to God's people and cause.

Last week the available members of the Conference Committee and department heads met at Portage to give long range study to future buildings on the camp ground. Some provision MUST be made for the cradle roll department this year. The tent previously used for these little tots is absolutely beyond repair. We must not try to put them into it again, It is hoped that with an exceptionally good buy on materials and by some Sunday "work bee" volunteer labor we can provide them a building this year.

Elder Lyberg just called from the camp ground and said a car load of lumber was being unloaded. Yes, things are moving and we believe in the right direction. We are exercising all the faith we can without bordering on presumption and again appeal to all our faithful people to pray for and stand by this forward movement in our fine conference.

"Friendly thoughts are like flowers. They cost little and may mean much. There is no wayside weed but makes its little world lovelier and more fragrant, and blessed is the traveler who is able to see and comprehend its message. So there is no friendly thought, however inarticulate, that does not carry with it a two-fold blessing."—"From Me to You."

In Tribute

by BARBARA PHIPPS

Leona Summey-Burman, whose truly inspired teaching molded the lives of students at EMC (in the academy and college) for twentyfour years, passed away Sabbath, March 9 at her home in Angwin, California.

We who sat in her classes cannot forget the genius of her teaching personality, as she made the literatture of the past live in our present, and instilled in us a healthy respect for accuracy of spelling and grammar in all our speaking and writing.

Mrs. C. A. Burman

Even while she was ruthlessly tearing apart our clumsy sentences, there was an unmistakable twinkle in her eye, and a warmth of interest in her voice. Typical was the rejoinder to a luckless lad who was shriveled under her fire, when she stopped, relaxed, and said, "If you want me to tell you how much I love you, I'll be glad to, but I'm paid to tell you what is wrong with your grammar."

But she was interested in the boy or girl behind the composition. She felt a special burden for the wild and wayward ones, the rebellious and the stormy. Somehow her pungent wit and peppery comments drew those in need of her guidance, and today many a successful leader can trace his turning point to her interest and inspiration.

As "first lady" of Burman Hall, she had no small part in the success of Elder Burman, dean of the dormitory now named for him.

From 1937 to 1944 she was principal of EMCA, taking the success of her dynamic classroom teaching into her handling of teen agers from the administrative desk, carrying on with strength and courage after her husband's death in 1940.

In 1944 she joined the staff of Pacific Union College Preparatory School, and though lately in partial retirement, was still librarian of the academy until her illness last December. This serious illness forced her at the age of 78, to decide on complete retirement. Only a few brief weeks after she left St. Helena Sanitarium did she have before her sudden passing. Though we have a sense of loss, we know her restless, energetic spirit, and are glad she was spared the confinement of invalidism.

Though there were no sons and daughters to inherit her facility in teaching, yet she was able to inspire hundreds of future teachers and leaders who sat in her classroom, and in them, her heritage is eternal.

SERVICES HELD FRIDAY MARCH 15 FOR MRS. C. A. BURMAN

Funeral services were held on Friday, March 15, 1957 at 2:30 p.m. for Mrs. Leona Summey-Burman in the college chapel. Interment took place at the Berrien Springs Rose Hill Cemetery where her mother, father and husband are buried Using as his text Mark 14:8, "She hath done what she could," Dr. E. R. Thiele recounted her exemplary life of service to the denomination and the college in particular. Taking part in the service were Elder W. A. Nelson who gave the scripture and prayer, Dr. F. O. Rittenhouse who presented her life sketch. Vocal solos were presented by Mrs. Verna Driver of Berrien Springs, and Dr. W. L. Landeen of Washington state, and organ meditations were played by Mrs. Blossom Engen.

At the graveside service President Rittenhouse read a scripture and Dr. Thiele offered prayer.

Mrs. Burman was born May 19, 1878 near Elk Point, South Dakota, and attended Union college from 1892 through 1897. On September 1, 1897 she was married to Charles A. Burman. While her husband served as the president of several conferences Mrs. Burman took an active part in the conferences as Sabbath School department secretary and teacher in elementary schools and academies.

In 1920 the Burmans came to Emmanuel Missionary college where Elder Burman was dean of men and she an English teacher, and principal of EMCA. Elder Burman died in 1940 and Mrs. Burman continued on the staff until 1944 when she transferred to Pacific Union college. Until the 1953-54 school year when she entered partial retirement she carried a full teaching load. Because of ill health she discontinued her active work in 1956 and entered St. Helena Sanitarium for medical care. She returned home to her friends on March 3, and about a week later, on Sabbath morning, March 9, she passed away.

Will present a sacred program of ensemble music at the ANN ARBOR church at 3 p.m., March 30, and a full secular concert at ADELPHIAN ACADEMY, 8 p.m., March 30.
