THE WILLING—HEARTED

by O. W. LANGE

THE truest evidence of real conversion is a willing-hearted response to God's appeals.

How wonderful it would be if every believer could be said to be as willing-hearted today as they were in ancient times. Take the example of David. He had conceived a wonderful idea. He would build a temple for God. But God said, "No! your son shall build the temple." David didn't waste any time complaining. He was satisfied to prepare the way so that some one else could carry out his plan. Without any bitterness, he said whole-heartedly to Solomon, "Be strong and of good courage, and do it: fear not, nor be dismayed: for the Lord God, even my God, will be with thee; He will not fail thee, nor forsake thee, until thou hast finished all the work for the service of the house of the Lord." I Chron. 28:20.

The work was finished in Solomon's day because the people came forward willingly. "Who then is willing to consecrate his service this day unto the Lord?" David asked. "Then the people rejoiced, for that they offered willingly, because with perfect heart they offered willingly to the Lord." I Chron. 29:5, 9.

The determining factor of success in God's work is willing-hearted obedience to the Master's will.

It would be well for every believer to earnestly examine his heart to see whether he is rendering willing-hearted service that leads to rejoicing in the Lord, or whether his is cultivating a selfish critical spirit that leads to withdrawal from the blessings of heaven.

The saddest story in all the Bible is that of Judas who cultivated a narrow, covetous disposition. Mrs. White says Judas was "blinded by his own selfish desire."—Desire of Ages, p. 718. He did not whole-heartedly yield his mind to the will of God. "He regarded himself as far-sighted, and thought he could see that Jesus would have no honor and that He could bestow no high position upon His followers. He determined not to unite himself so closely to Christ but that he could draw away if necessary. He would watch, and he did watch.

"From time to time he expressed doubts that confused the disciples. He introduced controversies and misleading sentiments, repeating the arguments urged by the scribes and Pharisees against the claims of Christ. All the little and large troubles and crosses, the difficulties and apparent hindrances to the advancement of the gospel, Judas interpreted as evidences against its truthfulness."—Desire of Ages, p. 719.

"In all that Christ said to His disciples, there was something with which, in heart, Judas disagreed. . . .

"In betraying Him, it was his purpose to teach Him a lesson."—Ibid., p. 720.

Judas reached this sad condition because he did not willingly yield himself to the Master's plan, but rather he cultivated a selfish spirit. He kept close watch to see that he always got all that was coming to him. Instead of being willing to sacrifice for others, he was determined to collect for himself all he could whenever an opportunity arose.

"In ministering to others, Judas might have developed an unselfish spirit. But while listening daily to the lessons of Christ and witnessing His unselfish life, Judas indulged his covetous disposition. The small sums that came into his hands were a continual temptation. Often when he did a little service for Christ, or devoted time to religious purposes, he paid himself out of this meager fund. In his own eyes these pretexts served to excuse his action; but in God's sight he was a thief."—Desire of Ages, p. 718.

There are daily indications and evidences of the direction we are taking. Are we developing the "selfish disposition" or the "willing-hearted" spirit?

Oftentimes Christians when brought to the knowledge of the truth, instead of willing-heartedly yielding all to God's will, cultivate small reservations for self which slowly choke the willing-hearted liberal impulses which stirred within them when they first heard the message of God's love.

Cultivation of a selfish spirit always leads away from Christ. It deviates from the willing-hearted way only slightly to begin with. First it prompts one to be overcautious about helping others in need. It is manifest in the giving of miserly offerings when appeals for gifts to God's cause are made. As the selfish covetous spirit is cultivated it causes one to give grudgingly to Sabbath school or other calls for God's work. As one proceeds the wrong way upon this road he allows doubts and questions to linger in his mind. He compares himself with his brethren with a favourable appraisal of himself. He cherishes the thought that he has done his share. Portions of tithe are withheld with the feeling "well, I have made up for it by what I have already done," or "I have really been underpaid. I have not received what I should have, so this just helps make things even."

By such pretexts and excuses one like Judas may salve his conscience; but by so doing he cultivates a selfish disposition, and in God's sight he is a thief. Not only has one robbed God but he has robbed himself of greater blessings and joys that might have been his had he cultivated a willing heart.

Shall we not cultivate willing hearts in giving and in service?

For as it was said of the people in David's time "then the people rejoiced, for that they offered willingly, because with perfect heart they offered willingly to the Lord," so will it be said of the faithful in our day who willingly respond with perfect hearts to the needs of the hour. —So, Asia Tidings

Calling

We would like to mention again the annual A.S.I. meeting in Takoma Park, October 29-31. This meeting will be held in the Washington Sanitarium church.

This meeting is a real help and inspiration to members and prospective members of this Association of Self-supporting Institutions. In addition to devotional features, there are most helpful workshops where a friendly exchange of ideas and problem solutions are invaluable. These workshops are most interesting and practical. It is an unusual opportunity to sit with those engaged in the same business in which you are engaged and learn how they were able to meet some of their problems.

We hope that many of our A.S.I. members are making definite plans to attend this important meeting.

Notice

Loma Linda—Students from the Lake Union Conference were listed among the number of College of Medical Evangelists students who took part last month (September) in the regular CME Medical Evangelism program directed by Dr. J. Wayne MacFarland, General Conference Associate Secretary for Health Education. A report for the month listed 313 students and wives participating in religious activities off campus which include evangelistic efforts, speaking appointments for Sabbath services and denominational school chapel programs, and medical evangelism trips to Mexico.

S.D.A. Dentists to Meet

The National Association of Seventh-day Adventist Dentists will hold its annual convention at the Algiers Hotel in Miami Beach, Florida, October 31-November 3. This meeting immediately precedes the American Dental Association's convention in Miami, Florida. All Seventh-day Adventist Dentists are cordially invited and urged to attend their National Association meeting.

Elder M. F. Grau, Conference Sabbath School Secretary, superintended an ideal Sabbath school session. This was followed by a challenging sermon by Elder Jere D. Smith, our new president of the Lake Union. "The Lord has never called a person to serve Him without a promise of good things to come both in this life, and in the life to come. He will be well paid." These were the keynote statements of Elder Smith's sermon, climaxed with the Biblical charge, "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give you a crown of life." Rev. 2:10.

After a pot luck dinner, our spiritual feast continued with a study of the Seven Steps From Vision to Victory by Elder G. E. Hutches. At the close of the message there was a united response to a consecration call.

An evening social was preceded by a sundown worship service conducted by Elder Vernon Flory, Home Missionary Secretary of the Lake Union.

Sunday morning the Dorcas members met for a federation meeting under the direction of Mrs. Harold Greanya. Elder B. J. Furst, newly appointed district leader, conducted the devotional period. The various societies brought reports of their activities. Elder H. D. Burbank, Home Missionary Secretary of the Michigan conference, assisted by Mrs. Burbank, State Federation President, brought us reports and interesting comments and suggestions for the furthering of the Dorcas work and Civil Defense.

In the closing talk of the day Elder Flory presented some very practical suggestions that the Dorcas representatives could take home to their local societies.

Welcome to New Workers

The Illinois conference is happy to welcome Elder and Mrs. Anthony Castelbuono into this field. Elder Castelbuono has become the pastor of the Chicago Italian church. He has already taken up his duties in Chicago and Sister Castelbuono, and the children, will be joining him soon.

Mrs. Gladys Husted has joined the staff of the Book and Bible House. She will be serving as the billing clerk. We are happy to have her join our office family.

Result of Building for the Lord

When the judgments came upon the children of Israel for their failure to live up to the Lord's expectations in the building of the temple, they began to think seriously, with this result:

"Roused by these warnings, the people set themselves to build the house of God. Then the word of the Lord came to them: 'Consider now from this day and upward, from the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, even from the day that the foundation of the Lord's temple was laid . . . from this day will I bless you.'"—Patriarchs and Prophets, p. 528.

Is there a blessing in building a house of worship today, a church?

"God intended that His people Israel should be light-bearers to all the inhabitants of the earth. In maintaining His public worship they were bearing a testimony to the existence and sovereignty of the living God. And this worship it was their privilege to sustain, was an expression of their loyalty and their love to Him."—Ibid., 528.

The group of new workers that attended this class are as follows: Adolf Beck, Mrs. Virgil Fruth, Mrs. Earl Jones, Mrs. Marilyn Little, Frank Martin, Alverda McConnachie, Charles F. Murray, Mrs. Leah Phillips, E. E. Neal, Bob Schwarz, and Mrs. N. Tallios.

We would ask you, dear church members, to remember these new workers as they start out for God in the great vineyard.

Great Controversy Wins
Fifty Souls

by GEORGE BAEBLER
East St. Louis, Illinois

"It has been truly said that 'it is not enough to pray for the conversion of sinners; it is not enough to look with fear upon the palaces of the rich or with solicitude upon the hovels of the poor. Our feet must cross their threshold.' As we search we shall find one here, another there." (Soul Winning, THOMPSON, p. 66-67.)

It goes without saying that our feet here, must be converted feet, the beautiful feet of Isaiah 52:7.

"As we search"—business men, bankers, teachers, laborers, etc., respond to the appeal from the pages of Great Controversy." Many tell me they are reading it with eager expectation and are learning to trust in the power of Christ's atonement. This volume presents the arguments in a true light, and paves the way for the Spirit of God to establish souls in present truth. It has served as an anchor to my own soul on rough seas since I joined with God's remnant people.

On the right is Brother Baebler praying with two other literature evangelists, Brother and Sister Coon.

Among the fifty or more souls won since my own conversion, three are now serving as local elders in churches.

As a silent witness it has convicting and converting power to those who read. I read C. E. p. 35 "Nothing is to hinder its sale."

The servant of God wrote (1896)—"The results of the circulation of this book Great Controversy are not to be judged by what now appears. . . . When the earth is lightened with the glory of the Lord, in the closing work many souls will take their position on the commandments of God as a result of this agency."

Like the Waldenses of old, whose only crime was their piety—(p. 62, second paragraph, new edition) the book and the colporteurs become molders of human destiny. Peace, hope, and life on my footsteps wait, and passing by hovel and mart and palace, soon or late, I knock unbidden once at every door.

Yes, "our feet must cross their threshold. As we search we shall find one here, and another there."

Lot Secured for New Evangelistic
Center in Chicago

God has performed another miracle in Illinois. He has laid bare His mighty arm in behalf of His people and cause.

For some time it has been the mutual desire of the General and Illinois conferences, as well as the West Central church to establish a strong evangelistic center on the west side of Chicago. This is a fast growing section of the city, and includes the densely populated suburbs of Oak Park, Cicero, River Forest, Forest Park, Berwyn and other communities. A fine class of people reside in this area, and it has been felt that a center in Oak Park would be strategically located to reach the masses in Chicago as well as the western suburbs.

For almost three years the congregation looked earnestly for a large enough lot at the right price. Nothing seemed to open up that was suitable. Prices are very high in this area, running as high as $125,000-$150,000 for a piece 125 x 300. Shortly after my arrival as pastor, it became evident to me that only God, who is possessor of heaven and earth, could break down the existing barriers and find a way through.

This he has marvelously and miraculously done. One morning as I was driving west on Roosevelt Road in Chicago, intending to investigate a certain piece of property, I inadvertently passed the corner where I was to make the turn. What seemed to me to be a mistake was no mistake with God. Turning the corner north off Roosevelt Road to get back where I originally intended to go, I noticed a large piece of ground 150 x 408, almost an acre and a half. This piece included a large beautiful home on the corner lot. Realizing that this was exactly west central, and near important transportation lines to all points, north, east, south, and west, I stopped to investigate. To my joy, I learned that, though this land had been tied up in the courts for 40 years, it had just recently been cleared.

Quickly, contact was made with the man holding the corner lot. He informed me that he was authorized to sell 260 feet of the 408 with the stipulation that it be sold as one piece to one buyer. Believing that the Lord had set His hand to work in our behalf, we proceeded to purchase the 260 feet including the house on the corner. It was thrilling to see how God led us step by step. But at this time we all realized that we would need the adjoining 150 feet. Many prayers were offered by the church and after a period of waiting our opportunity came. God worked mightily again as every detail unfolded favorably in our behalf. Significant indeed is the fact that the price paid for the entire piece, including the house, is little more than half of most prices quoted for other considerably smaller pieces.

Today the cause of God, on Chicago's west side, is blessed with a beautiful 150 x 408 lot. The house is already in use as a parsonage. Construction of the new evangelistic center and other facilities will begin as soon as possible. An architect has been engaged and is working with the building committee of the church.

A master plan that will provide for 650 people in the church auditorium as well as an additional 650 people in the recreational center and Pathfinder room which will adjoin the nave, and will be opened by folding doors for special meetings is being developed. A Dorcas welfare room, adequate facilities for all departments of the Sabbath school and a four-room school are also in the planning.

The days ahead are filled with joyful expectancy. God has been very near

The Review

The Review is one paper above all other periodicals that should be found on the reading table in every Seventh-day Adventist home. It is sad, but true, that in many homes demoralizing literature has taken the place of our general church paper, the Review. The great need in many of our homes today is to clean up and discard the light and trashy literature that is now being placed before our young people and older members of the family and make room for more substantial and solid reading.

During these uncertain and troublous days we cannot afford to be without the Review. To be without its guiding, inspiring, saving influence will almost certainly mean we will sooner or later fall away from the people of God. To read it yourself and have it in your home may mean the holding of your family true to the Adventist faith during the perilous times before us.

Since the General Conference Session will be held in 1958, it is especially urgent that every home where there is a Seventh-day Adventist arrange

NOW for the Review for the new year. The subscription price including the General Conference bulletins

THE FALL WEEK OF PRAYER

The 1957 Autumn Week of Prayer, October 4-12, which provided a busy week of activities over the whole campus, is now a thing of the past. There were the elementary, the academy, and the college groups to plan for and direct. Each had its own program, suited to its own needs.

The first four grades on the elementary level had programs directed by their teachers. Grades five to eight were united and Elder Sakae Kubo met with them every day. After the devotional talk, the grades separated, going to their own rooms for prayer bands. With respect to numbers baptized, the elementary school is the most fruitful field on the campus. Twenty to twenty-five are baptized from this group every year.

Elder H. F. Hannah, of Marion, Indiana, served as guest speaker for the secondary level. This was his second week of prayer for the academy group here, and he reports that the response this year was very good. The academy faculty had their own daily prayer band, while the students met in their four respective classes for prayer. Elder Hannah also met with the Bible classes each morning, and discussed with them their several problems. Afternoons were devoted to individual counseling with the guest speaker.

The basic plans for the spiritual life of the college students include these activities: Everybody's Prayer Band which meets every day following chapel, the weekly dormitory prayer bands that meet on Tuesday evening during the worship period, the Wednesday evening joint worship, and the vesper service at the beginning of the Sabbath. These activities are supervised by the Religious Activities Committee of the Student Association. Perhaps the weekly prayer band is the most vital of these. Dormitory students are organized into groups of five to ten, with a student over each group who serves his band as a group pastor. He is the counselor and director of his band, and the one to whom the members look for leadership.

The faculty has its own Religious Activities Committee, under the direction of Dr. E. R. Thiele, the head of the department of religion. This committee plans the general religious activities, makes recommendations in regard to the guest speaker, and helps with the counseling in the different dormitories. Elder J. L. Tucker, Mrs. Tucker, and Mrs. Thiele have helped with the counseling work in Lamson Hall. Other members of the faculty, in groups of two's have visited each of the men's dormitories.

Elder A. E. Axelson

On the college level the general topic presented by the guest speaker, Elder J. E. Chase, was "What Will the Harvest Be?" The acceptance of the spiritual challenges by the student group was very good. An unsolicited evaluation of the spiritual life of the college by Elder Chase follows:

"My observations are based on a visit of eight days on the campus, which included personal interviews with more than one hundred students, and association with faculty and staff members. My first impressions were gained when I met for prayer with the faculty on Sunday morning at the beginning of the week. Staff status does not automatically make saints out of sinners. That those present at the meeting were conscious of this was obvious by their prayers, as they earnestly asked God to bless them first of all, and then remembered the needs of the students. As we arose from prayer I had the impression that here are staff members who recognize their own imperfections, yet by the grace of God are striving for perfection. Here are staff members under whose influence I would be glad to have my own sons.

"The speakers of the week have returned to their regular work, but the spiritual activities will be maintained. Baptismal classes are planned for each of the three levels. The academy has already started a Sabbath evening, Friday evening, vesper service. Two more special weeks of spiritual emphasis will be held this year. One of these, The Student Quest for Christ Week, will be planned and presented by the students themselves. The college staff continues to solicit the prayers of the Lake Union constituency, for "prayer moves the arm of Omnipotence."

RELIGION DEPARTMENT IN NEARBY CAMPAIGN

VICTOR CULVER, E.M.C. Student

Sunday Night, October 13, a series of evangelistic meetings were begun by Elder Bruce Johnston, assistant Professor of Religion at E.M.C. A large attendance from the first indicates widespread interest in the sermon topics. The meetings are conducted in the Seventh-day Adventist church in Buchanan.

Two of Elder Johnston's classes are actively engaged in sharing the responsibilities of these meetings: classes in Personal Evangelism, and Methods in Religious Education. Students from these classes carry out the duties of ushering, musical programing, literature distribution, visitation, and many other related services. The series will continue every evening for three weeks. Our people are requested to pray for the success of this worthy endeavor.
