Of Dreams—and Visions

Three years ago it was just a vision, a dream he hardly dared to dream, a dream in the heart of a young medical director of our little medical institution in a far-off corner of the Republic of Nicaragua. Dr. Fred B. Moor, Jr., had arrived not many years before at the little Puerto Cabezas hospital fresh from his internship, and had put all his youthful energies into the development of the work. But now he could see that the medical work, because of its limited reach in the little town of Puerto Cabezas, had passed the point of diminishing returns.

So, there was born in his breast the Vision, the Dream—the dream of a fine, large, new medical center located centrally in the very heart of Nicaragua where it could touch the lives of the maximum number of people, and at the same time bore through all of the social strata in a society that is more than a little class conscious; in a word, a modern medical center and nursing school for an emergent and rapidly developing democracy.

Would you like to come with me today for a short visit to the Vision, the Dream? As we drive north from Managua along the Pan American Highway, our route carries us through a relatively narrow corridor between the two great Central American lakes, and we soon leave behind the steamy tropics to wind our way through the green hills and valleys of a rich farming and cattle country. Two hours out of Managua we come to the base of a mountain where our road turns (Continued on page two)
Spirit of prophecy should prove helpful:

"The Lord does not propose to come to this world, and lay down gold and silver for the advancement of His work. He supplies men with resources, that by their gifts and offerings they may keep His work advancing. The one purpose above all others for which God's gifts should be used is the sustaining of workers in the harvest field. And if men will become channels through which heaven's blessing can flow to others, the Lord will keep the channel supplied. It is not returning to the Lord His own that makes men poor; withholding tends to poverty."—Counsels on Stewardship, p. 36.

"I was shown that it is the will of God that the saints should cut loose from every encumbrance before the time of trouble comes, and make a covenant with God through sacrifice. If they have their property on the altar, and earnestly inquire of God for duty, He will teach them when to dispose of these things. Then they will be free in the time of trouble, and have no clogs to weigh them down."—Ibid., pp. 59, 60.

"In the last extremity, before this work shall close, thousands will be cheerfully laid upon the altar. Men and women will feel it a blessed privilege to share in the work of preparing souls to stand in the great day of God, and they will give hundreds as readily as dollars are given now."—Ibid., p. 40.

We cannot save our money for the next world in banks or land, neither can we take it with us at death or when Jesus comes; but there is a way whereby we can send it on ahead. How thankful we should be, dear brethren and sisters, for the light that God has given to us through the Bible and the Spirit of prophecy! Let us make sure, therefore, that we are following His counsel and living so near to Him day by day that we shall feel He is leading us each step of the way. If any of you should feel that you have shortchanged the Lord in Sabbath school offerings during the past year, now is the time to clear your conscience on this matter. May God grant it to be so is my earnest prayer.

Another day in surgery at the Hospital Adventista in Nicaragua. Dr. William Shea, Dr. Karen Shea, and Nurse Marjorie Whitney.

steeply upward through a narrow gorge. Ten minutes later, having gained nearly a thousand feet of elevation, we emerge in a beautiful little mountain valley which is almost the geographical center of Nicaragua. And in the center of this little valley, a mile from the town of La Trinidad, we come to a fine new hospital building located on spacious grounds with a rugged mountain for a backdrop—the "Hospital y Clinica Adventista," the Dream coming true.

As we park the car in the shade of the large trees in the parking lot in front of the hospital, we see that the institution is still under construction. The main hospital is a single-storied modern-design building, taking the form of a wide-open letter V, with the open top of the V facing the highway. Entering the building we find a beautiful waiting room with indirect lighting, wide high-ceilinged hallways, a modern laboratory and X-ray facilities, an air-conditioned surgery with adjacent obstetrical unit, a strategically located emergency room. As we talk with the staff, now headed by Dr. William Shea in the absence of Dr. Moor who is in California for advanced studies, we learn that the clinic often treats as high as 50 or 60 patients a day, and that there have been months when a major operation has been scheduled daily.

The doctor shows us the fine modern patient rooms and explains that while the main building was intended to have a maximum bed capacity of 33, due to the fact that it must also double for the present as nurses' dormitory, kitchen and dining room, class rooms, etc., under the present circumstances the patient bed capacity is limited to 18.

And what impact does all this have on the work in Nicaragua? Listen to the testimony of a few influential civic leaders from surrounding towns, and of happy past-patients, as we have...

visited them in the recent Ingathering campaign.

The mayor of La Trinidad; “What do I think of the hospital? Why, our hospital is the very best in the country!”

A high National Bank official, Managua; “My heart sank when I learned that Dr. Moor was no longer in Puerto Cabezas. I had planned to have him operate on me. Well, I had to wait a year and a half for the operation in the new hospital. But now it is taken care of; I’m feeling a hundred times better; and I’m glad I waited.”

A Superior Court justice, Matagalpa: “A really modern hospital that we can all be proud of! And the thing that impressed me most was the excellent nursing service. Those girls are real professionals—efficient, but so kind, sympathetic, and courteous. You don’t find that kind very often here in Nicaragua. Do you know what the doctor told me? That God is his partner!”

Thank God there are still young men who dream dreams and see visions! Elmer G. Ross, President, Nicaragua Mission

The Literature Evangelist Training Institute ended November 3. Over 30 new workers from four of our conferences knelt for the last season of prayer and the benediction, and our hearts were filled to overflowing.

Each morning started with an inspiring devotional service. We received splendid sales instructions from our union publishing secretary, Eld. J. W. Proctor, from the local publishing secretaries, and from their associates.

Some of the thrilling events we shall never forget were the inspiring visit to the Ellen G. White Estate and the tour through the Review and Herald Publishing Association, especially the art department.

As we toured the printing department of the publishing house and viewed the huge presses running 16 hours a day, my mind recalled the vision of Sister White, “You must begin to print a little paper.” “It will be a success from the first.” Truly this has been the case.

We certainly appreciate the great expense incurred that we could attend this institute. Our hearts burned with-
A certain mother is constantly screaming at her children; at times she slaps them. She is by no means an uneducated person, but she thinks she gets quicker results this way, and, moreover, she has used this method so long that it has become second nature to scream and slap. Other mothers look on. Some follow her example, but—thanks be!—many refuse the challenge. I once heard a young woman say, “When I have children I shall never do that!” And she never did. She had observed acutely some of the things this mother had done and she did not approve.

We are all influenced in many ways, unconsciously, and so are our children. They are great “listeners-in.” They hear our opinions expressed often with emphasis, and, naturally, they think as we do—because we are their mothers. Then they are good “lookers-on,” too. They watch our expressions. They watch our gesticulations. They notice when we do not speak, and often silence speaks very, very loudly.

Childhood influences usually last long after we are adults. I lived with my aunt for ten years. She was a woman of strong prejudices. I found myself, even after I had become a teacher, very much influenced toward or against certain people according to her likes and dislikes. I failed to keep in touch with a number of relatives because of having been unconsciously influenced to avoid them. I did not recognize this influence until after I was married. Sometimes it takes years to understand. Then we wake up and are amazed.

Let us suppose our little children have been carefully and tenderly brought up. We have done our best. Then they start school and meet children from all kinds of homes. They hear new words, new approaches toward life. New habits are formed. My helper in the home said, “My three boys are grown. They are all over 12 years now. I shall not need to worry about them any more. My hard time is over.” Should I have told her that she would need to keep close to her boys for many years to come?

We cannot stop living with our children when they are 12 years of age. The question is: What has she taught them? Have they been given definite rules by which to measure the value of differing ways of life? Have they fixed principles which decide their own acts? Long before schooldays children should be taught how to judge what is desirable. And with regard to the boys of whom we are speaking, in any case, they will still need sympathetic help.

Deborah goes visiting with her mother. Her mother and the friend upon whom she is calling have much to talk over, many mutual friends to recall, all sorts of situations to discuss. Deborah’s eyes grow big as she listens. And when she meets this one and that one who have been discussed, she remembers, and she acts toward them in the light that she has heard them discussed. Mother, however, has forgotten all about it long ago, for it was just a temporary attitude arising from her friend’s and her gossip. She is greatly disturbed to have her little daughter act the way she does. She has been obliged to send her out of the room in disgrace several times. When mother talks with her later on, Deborah has no idea why she acts the way she does. If her mother were to think back, she might realize that the child’s conduct was the result of overheard conversations.

We do not often appreciate, do we, that small children absorb from every environment of which they become a part? It behooves all mothers to think before they express themselves when little ones are present, and to pause before they act. There is no limit to the power of influence. Let us not forget!

FAMILY LIFE CONFERENCE

Success in other lines only mocks when the home fails. If we spent one tenth as much time in studying how to make our homes a success as we spend in making our business pay, we would have better homes and happier families. Would you like to have a Family Life Conference in your church? Eld. Charles Wittsiebe’s report of a Family Life Conference in the current Adventist Home and School magazine is well worth reading. Rhinelander Youth Day

Sabbath, November 19, was observed by the Rhinelander church as youth emphasis day during the Week of Prayer. Five of its student representatives, home for the long Thanksgiving vacation, were welcomed in the Sabbath school. The speech choir of the Rhinelander Pathfinder Club presented the scripture reading during the worship service following prayer offered by the club’s director and principal of the intermediate school, Norman States.

In addition to the introductions and brief biographies of each of our students made during the eleven o’clock hour, we present here our student representatives, their classes, and the schools in which they are currently enrolled:

Carpenter, Patricia; freshman, Rhinelander S.D.A. Intermediate school.
Ford, Jill; freshman, Rhinelander S.D.A. Intermediate school.
Gilley, Carollee; senior, Rhinelander high school.
Hirschi, Bob; sophomore, Tomahawk high school.
Hirschi, Jim; junior, Tomahawk high school.
Hutchison, Tim; junior, Rhinelander high school.
Larson, Mike; senior, Rhinelander vocational school.
Larson, Tim; freshman, Rhinelander S.D.A. Intermediate school.
Perberg, Daniel; junior, Wisconsin Academy.
Schneider, Nancy; sophomore, Wisconsin Academy.
Schneider, Patricia; senior, Wisconsin Academy.
Stefonek, David; college sophomore, Walla Walla College, Wash.
Whitlow, Guy; junior, Wisconsin Academy.
Wiedemann, Carolyn; freshman, Wisconsin Academy.
Zerrenner, Janice; college sophomore, Union College, Nebr.

That evening after the Sabbath, the “S.D.A. Girls of Rhinelander” sponsored a youth social in the upper-grade schoolroom. Seventy young people from Rhinelander, Tomahawk, and Clearwater Lake viewed the challenging missionary film, “The Life of Albert Schweitzer” (an 80-minute sound film from the University of Wisconsin Library). The girls served refreshments, and the free-will offering amounted to $30 and was credited to the girls’ band for the church building fund.

It was announced that the “S.D.A. Boys of Rhinelander” would cut Christmas trees as one of their building fund projects. Paul Whitlow, Pastor

Science at W.A.

Over 200 students are enrolled this year in science and mathematics classes at Wisconsin Academy. The science-math curriculum includes general mathematics, algebra, advanced algebra and trigonometry, biology, chemistry, and physics. Each of these courses is taught every year.

Biology is not being taught this year because by General Conference action biology has now been made a tenth-grade subject and algebra, a ninth-grade subject. Up until this year biology was a ninth-grade subject and algebra was a tenth-grade subject. This means that the sophomores have already had biology, and so it is not being taught this year.

We feel that this program provides a strong background in science and mathematics for those who desire it and are capable. All entering freshmen are given a math placement test. The results of these tests are used in counseling with the students as to whether they should take general mathematics or algebra. This plan is proving to be a great benefit to the students.

Our science equipment and laboratory work space are quite inadequate. We are looking forward to the day when we can move into our department in the new building. As I write this article, the men are pouring the concrete floor in the science room. The contributions you give will hasten the day when we can move into our new quarters and students at Wisconsin Academy will be able to receive even

Armstrong-Lee Wedding

Robert Armstrong and Philip Daniel Lee of Waukesha, Wis., chose September 17 as their wedding day. Many friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony as it took place in the Janesville Seventh-day Adventist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee will live at Waukesha, Wis. May God's blessing abide in this new home.

Foll-Slighton Wedding

The Decatur, Ill., Seventh-day Adventist church was the scene of a lovely wedding ceremony November 20 when Kenneth Eugene Slighton and Helen Louise Foll were united in matrimony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Foll of Decatur. She is well known in Hinsdale, Ill., where she has been working as a graduate nurse at her alma mater, the Hinsdale Sanitarium. The young married couple will be at home near Berrien Springs, Mich., as Mr. Slighton plans to continue his education at Emmanuel Missionary College. May God bless this newly established Christian home is our prayer,

MARION DISTRICT MEETING

The Metropolis Seventh-day Adventist church was host to Marion and Cairo for a Marion district meeting on Nov. 19, 1960.

Eld. C. G. Tuland, Galesburg district leader, was the guest speaker. The people were blessed both morning and afternoon as Elder Tuland stressed the importance of a deep inner experience with Christ as opposed to being dependent on externals for salvation.

Following the afternoon message, many participated in an old-fashioned testimony service, after which all sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Illinois has a new baby, and we are so happy over this new addition that we want to spread the glad tidings to all the readers of the LAKE UNION HERALD that they, too, may share our happiness—the dream of "lengthening the cords," the realization of "strengthening the stakes"—the birth of a new church.

On Sabbath morning, November 5, with seating filled to capacity, a new church was organized in the former St. Andrews Episcopal church of Downers Grove, Ill., with 73 persons signing the church covenant, thus becoming charter members of the Downers Grove church.

Such an organization has been talked about for many years for Downers Grove. Its surrounding area has been developing into a heavily populated area; and many of the believers attending sister churches have desired a new church, not only for convenience, but for conducting more aggressive evangelism and developing the work throughout these suburbs.

These dreams finally became a reality through arrangements made by the subcommittee of an expansion committee with J. F. Florian of Downers Grove, chairman; and Dr. J. W. Neff and F. Lenz, both of Hinsdale.

Why a Mastery of English Is Desirable

"Man expresses his desires, his wants and wishes in dreams. However, man's life begins when he learns to take those dreams, sort them out, take them apart and put them together again. It is when a dream is shared that a dream is fulfilled." This is an excerpt from a scrapbook entitled "Life" which was handed to me recently by Linda Perkins, one of my English III students. The scrapbook contains original prose and poetry composed by her. It is an example of expression, our major goal in the Indiana Academy English Department: both oral and written expression of the student's thoughts as well as the thoughts of others through the mastery of the English language.

In Counsels to Parents and Teachers, page 216, are these words: "He who knows how to use the English language fluently and correctly, can exert a far greater influence than one who is unable to express his thoughts readily.” Studying vocabulary words, reading orally for expression and accuracy, reading silently for speed and comprehension, learning ways to improve and vary sentences, studying punctuation and spelling as more effective means of communication, expressing individual thoughts in both prose and poetry and giving oral reports and comments are, we believe, a series of highways that lead to the goal of true expression.

Indiana Academy students are at present traveling these highways, at different speeds, but with the same ultimate goal—expression through the mastery of the English language.

Branch Sabbath Schools in Indiana

“Close around us are cities and towns in which no efforts are made to save souls.” “In places where the truth is not known, brethren who are adapted to the work might hire a hall, or some other suitable place to assemble and gather together all who will come. Then let them instruct the people in the truth. They need not sermonize but take the Bible, and let God speak directly out of His Word.”—Christian Service, pp. 180, 181.

Sister White even tells us that it would be well for whole families to “move into towns and villages where there is but little or no light,” in order to work for the souls of others. (Christian Service, pp. 178, 179.)

On pages 182 and 183 of the same book she tells us: “God calls for Christian families to go into communities that are in darkness and error, and work wisely and perseveringly for the Master. To answer this call requires self sacrifice. . . . Souls are dying without hope. . . . Let them begin their work in a quiet, unobtrusive way, not drawing on the funds of the conference until the interest becomes so extensive that they cannot manage it without ministerial help.”

What better way to reach out into a dark area than through a Branch Sabbath School? It may be that this dark area is right in the city or town in which you live. Some are starting with the children, and through them they find access to the hearts of parents.

Following is a list of Branch Sabbath Schools functioning in Indiana this year. The pictures in this connection speak for themselves. Several of these Branch Sabbath Schools have already had fruitage in baptism, and other baptisms are being planned.

1. Indiana Harbor sponsored by Gary Spanish.
2. Lewis sponsored by Terre Haute.
3. Brazil sponsored by Terre Haute.
4. Indianapolis Northside sponsored by the Indianapolis churches.
5. West Baden Springs sponsored by Jeffersonville,
6. Sheridan sponsored by Cicero,
7. Pendleton Reformatory sponsored by Anderson.
8. Near Logansport sponsored by Logansport,

Has your church named a Branch Sabbath School superintendent for 1961? “Many of the members of our large churches are doing comparatively nothing. They might accomplish a good work if instead of crowding together, they would scatter into places that have not yet been entered.”—Christian Service, p. 183.

Camp Au Sable Founder Passes Away

Eld. John C. Miklos, well-known former Michigan MV secretary, passed away Thursday, November 3, at the St. Helena Sanitarium in California. Since 1956 he had been fighting a losing battle with leukemia.

Born in Janesville, Wis., in 1915, Elder Miklos became an Adventist in 1932. He attended high school in Milwaukee, graduated from Emmanuel Missionary College in 1941, and received his Master of Arts degree from Pacific Union College in 1959. While MV secretary in Michigan, he located and established a permanent youth camp near Grayling, now so familiar to Michigan youth as Camp Au Sable.

After leaving the Missionary Volunteer department, Elder Miklos continued to work for youth, first as Bible teacher at Mt. Vernon Academy in Ohio and then in 1954 as Bible teacher at P.U.C. Academy. Two years later he became principal of the academy, the position he held until his death. Funeral services were held in Irwin Hall at Pacific Union College.

The present MV staff of the Michigan Conference as well as the many Michigan Missionary Volunteer members wish to pay tribute to Elder Miklos, pointing out that his work in Michigan will long be remembered, not only because of Camp Au Sable, but also through the lives of the young people who have been and will yet be elevated by the camp's existence.

We extend our sympathy to Mrs. Sue Miklos and her two daughters, Sharon and Ivanette.

Temperance Billboards Warn of Danger

Sabbath, December 10, is the day set aside for the Temperance Roadside Billboard Offering to be taken in all Michigan churches. At this time our members will have the privilege of helping to maintain the 34 Temperance highway signs which grace our state's highways flashing a timely warning to speeding motorists. When we realize that more than 1,200 new alcoholics a day are being produced in the United States alone, or an average of 50 an hour, around the clock, it sounds alarming indeed. Also there are more than 8 million Americans affected with alcoholism, of whom 5 million are outright alcoholics and 3 million are pre-alcoholic problem drinkers.

Let Seventh-day Adventists stand in the forefront of the battle against beverage alcohol! Temperance Billboards are one method of attack. The Michigan Conference maintains these dynamic temperance testimonials at a cost of $272 per month. Please give liberally on Sabbath, December 10, to help continue the important work of warning Michigan travelers of our nation's third greatest health problem—alcoholism.

A. K. Phillips
Temperance Secretary

Reaches $100 Goal—Age 9

"Pacesetter" is the word that aptly describes 9-year-old Mike Nickless of Grand Rapids and his Investment accomplishments.

Last year Mike's total for Investment reached the $80 mark, and this year he decided to set his goal at $100. By Sabbath, November 19, he had reached this mark.

This achievement is even more remarkable when the method of raising the money is considered. Mike sold pen desk sets, candy, and scouring pads to reach his goal. It takes a great many nickels, dimes, and quarters—the share of the profits from sales—to total up to $100.

A third-grader in the Grand Rapids church school, Mike also has the distinction of being the top in the amount of Investment raised in his church.

Nine-year-old Mike Nickless of Grand Rapids found that the sale of pens plus work equaled Investment funds—$100 of it!
Sparta Church Brings Michigan Total to 164

The organization of the Sparta church on Sabbath, November 19, brought to 164 the number of Michigan Conference churches.

Leading out in the organization of the church was Conference President N. C. Wilson and Grand Rapids district leader, Eld. Charles Lickey.

For the sermon which preceded the formal organization, Elder Wilson spoke on the last two verses of Matthew 28, pointing out the necessity for following "all things" that Christ had commanded.

Also speaking in the services was Eld. W. L. Murrill, son-in-law of Elder Wilson, who is on furlough from missionary duties in Burma.

The history of the Sparta church, located about 16 miles north of Grand Rapids, has its beginnings in the days of gas rationing of World War II. A number of the believers in the area began to meet at homes in the community because of the lack of gasoline for travel. One of the early leaders in the area was Mrs. Edith Morgan, who was also one of the charter members of the new congregation.

Eld. E. H. Knauft held meetings in the village and Eld. A. R. Mohr, who followed him, established a Branch Sabbath School in March, 1957. Members of the Grand Rapids church, along with the Bible worker, Mrs. B. Davison, made the journey to Sparta week by week to help the new group.

Several interns in the Grand Rapids district gave time to the project. Included were Carl Ashlock and Don Stephan, the present pastor, who is being transferred to Boyne City shortly. The new intern in the district, and also the pastor, will be Donald Wilson.

The church, which was organized with 20 members, will probably come close to the 30 mark with the addition of new members and other transfers. The potential for future growth is excellent, being aided by the two dozen or more children who attend Sabbath school.

MORTEN JUBEK

In June of this year Brother Banfe was laid to rest. Five of the seven children born into the home are now living. They are Mrs. Duane (Edwina) Williamson, Madison, Wisc.; Mrs. Ronald (Susan) Meekma, Waukegan, Ill.; Ray, who is taking a pre-dental course at Walla Walla College, Wash.; Paul, who is taking an automotive course in Chicago; and Jerry, a sophomore at Wisconsin Academy.

In the presence of many friends we laid Sister Banfe to rest beside her husband on November 17 in the Fall River Cemetery in the certain hope that He to whom she had committed her life will bring her forth on the resurrection morning. May each mourner find in Him the comfort and solace that He alone can give.

Laura Hippskind was born Aug. 22, 1890, near Lagro, Ind. She passed to her rest on August 24 of this year at the age of 70.

She was a faithful member and worker in the Wabash church and had a large part in establishing the work in that area. The memory of her tireless labor for the Lord whom she loved enriches the lives of all who knew her.

Her sudden passing leaves a void in the hearts of: her husband, Murland; her daughter, Marcile Schetzsle; her son, Maurice; as well as the members of the Lord's flock in Wabash who look forward with anticipation to the great reunion on resurrection morning.

Hildur Helena Hunt was born June 21, 1886, in Sweden. She came to this country at the age of 15. Her father lived on a farm at Lake Malissa, eight miles from Detroit Lakes, Minn.

Hildur attended Maplewood Academy and took the nurses' course at Madison Sanitarium and Hospital. She married a classmate, William Henry Hunt, July 12, 1916. She leaves to cherish her memory her husband; three daughters, Ruth, Naomi, and Cora; two sons, John and Norman; and six grandchildren. She was healed several times from grave illness and spent her life in selfless service to her Saviour and her loved ones.

She was laid to rest in the Floral Lawn Memorial Gardens near Battle Creek to await the call of the Life-giver.

Ethel Knapp Rumsey, a life-time resident of Eaton County, Mich., was born Feb. 21, 1895, in Eaton Township, the daughter of George and O'dell Arnold Knapp.

PROTOSE
- the first and finest vegetable entree
ever developed

This delicious and original Vegetable Protein Food was developed by the late Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, Medical Director of the Battle Creek Sanitarium for well over a half century.

Protose has for years "tickled the palates" of thousands of those who wish to abstain from meat. Although the first, it is still one of the most popular vegetable meats. The many ways in which it can be served offer endless possibilities for appetite-stimulating variety in meatless meals.

BATTLE CREEK FOODS are available at Health Food Stores, College Stores and Diet Food Sections.

SAVE LABELS — WORTH 1c EACH FOR CHURCH MISSIONS

THE BATTLE CREEK FOOD COMPANY
Upon graduating from Charlottesville High School, Mrs. Rumsey took teachers' training at the Eaton County Normal and taught in the rural public schools of the county. She served as the principal at one-third mile west of College entrance.

She was married May 27, 1917, to O. V. Rumsey. They moved to the old family home (a frequent stopping place of Elder and Mrs. James White on their trips through Michigan) in Benton Township in 1927, where they resided till Mrs. Rumsey's death.

Mrs. Rumsey passed away Tuesday, Oct. 4, 1960.

Stetler Rumsey had long been a faithful member of the Charlotte Seventh-day Adventist church. A devoted wife and mother, she is survived by her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Rosalie Brown of Glendale, Calif.; a son, Ray, of Wichita, Kan.; one brother, Myrlin Knapp, of Charlotte; eight grandchildren; and one great-grandchild, as well as a host of friends.

Words of comfort were spoken by the writer, assisted by Elders William Hawkins and Ralph Trecartin, from the Burkhed-Cheney Chapel in Charlotte. Sister Rumsey was laid to rest at the West Windsor Cemetery to await the coming of the Life-giver in whom she trusted.

Richard L. Hutchison

Mrs. Mildred Stefanovich was born March 14, 1884, in Austria-Hungary (now Yugoslavia), and passed to her rest in Holly, Mich., Nov. 1, 1960. She united with the Grand River church in Detroit. She has worked earnestly for the advancement of the cause of God.

Even after the illness which later confined her to the Sunday nursing home in Holly, she seemed very reluctant to give up the work. She bore a heavy burden on her heart for the salvation of her children and others.

She leaves to mourn, three sons, Charles, John, and Thomas Rakish, of Detroit, Birmingham, and Mt. Clemens respectively; and two daughters, Mrs. Mildred Quinton and Mrs. Lillian Malary, both of Detroit.

She was buried in the Evergreen Cemetery. The services were conducted by the writer, R. D. Willmot.

Mrs. Violet Jane Weese was born on Jan. 25, 1874, and died Nov. 11, 1960, at her home in Boyne City, Mich., after a short illness. She was married to Thomas Harrison who preceded her in death early in their marriage and left two daughters and three sons. In 1919 she was married to Frederick Weese of Boyne City.

She was a faithful member of the S.D.A. church and a tireless Dorcas worker.

She leaves to mourn, two daughters, Mrs. Amos Bogart, Jackson, Mich., and Mrs. William A. Box of Traverse City, Mich.; three sons, John Harrison of Kingsley, Mich., William and Homer Weese, both of Flint, Mich.; two brothers, William Griffith of Battle Creek and Daniel Griffith of Houston, Texas; 15 grandchildren and 29 great-grandchildren; also a host of friends.

Funeral services were held in the Stackus Funeral Home, with Eld. Roy Lemon as a host of friends.

The E. M. C.

SYMPHONIC BAND
Prepares for Its
Fall Concert, Dec. 10, 1960

Largest Band in History
The largest band in E.M.C.'s history is composed of 72 chosen musicians; a few on new instruments such as the cello, bassoon, oboe, and E♭ flute, thereby rendering a full symphonic quality and more complete tonal balance at its first concert this year, Saturday night, December 10, at 8 p.m., in the college Physical Education Building.

Guest Trumpet and Post Horn Soloist
Many of you will remember our guest artist, James Douglas, as the trumpet soloist with the famed U.S. Navy Band in concert here a year ago. Since resigning from the service, he is presently on the teaching staff of the University of Colorado. Two of the selections he has chosen are “Czardas” by Monti and “The Huntsmen” by Stanley, thus demonstrating his rapidity of tonguing and flexibility of musicianship. It is with great pleasure we welcome him to once again perform on our campus.

Spirited and Interesting Selections
The repertoire of music for this concert will range from the present to the old masters. Triumphal March from “Peter and the Wolf” by Prokofieff,
