OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE LAKE UNION CONFERENCE OF SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS

A very important phase of the Peoria Laymen's Congress was the Singspiration under the direction of Eld. R. H. Nasvall. One of the special numbers was rendered by Linda, Brenda, and Cinda Sue Micheff.

"Here am I, send me." "Such a consecration is the only way we can effectively make the theme of the congress a part of our lives," he added.

The afternoon session presented some practical application of these ideals as various ministers and laymen gave experiences and instructions on how effective soul-winning work can be done. Eld. V. W. Esquilla, local Home Missionary secretary, led out in these various presentations.

In his remarks, Eld. Vernon Flory, Home Missionary secretary for the Lake Union Conference, said, "Man, to get a job done, looks for better methods; but the Lord looks for a better man."

The music presented was provided by Broadview Academy and the Aurora and Peoria churches. Miss Adeline (See LAYMEN'S CONGRESS, p. 12)

FOR ILLINOIS LAYMEN

Come—Go—Tell: Congress Theme

AS THE large gathering of ministers, delegates, and friends assembled Friday evening, April 28, for the first meeting of the Laymen's Congress in Peoria, they saw the banner over the platform proclaiming the theme of the congress, "COME—GO—TELL."

"We are a spectacle," stated Eld. W. A. Nelson, president of the Illinois Conference, in the opening service. "And we must never forget our responsibility in this respect," he continued.

Every sermon, talk, or experience related pointed the listener to some phase of the theme for the congress.

Eld. A. A. Esteb, associate secretary of the General Conference Home Missionary Department, urged the more than 500 present to have the same consecration that led Isaiah to respond,

Eld. Vernon Flory, Home Missionary secretary of the Lake Union Conference, interviewed several laymen at the Peoria Laymen's Congress and contributed much to its success.

Miss Linda Proctor comes to us from the New York Conference and is a sophomore at Emmanuel Missionary College. Last summer was Linda's first year canvassing, and she gave an excellent account of herself in the Illinois Conference. This summer will find her taking studies in Europe; however, in 1962 it is her plan to be back in the Illinois Conference revisiting her former customers and carrying on her colporteur ministry. The following brief experience comes from Linda herself:

Linda Proctor
former customers and carrying on her colporteur ministry. The following brief experience comes from Linda herself:

Almost a year ago I embarked upon my first summer-canvassing venture. Mattoon, Ill., was the main target of my colporteur work. It was thrilling and rewarding to see how the people opened their homes and hearts to learn about the truth-filled message of my books.

Many times great controversies were raging in my customers' hearts: to buy or not to buy, to accept or to reject, that was the question. There is no greater joy than to see individuals make the right decision.

I am deeply thankful for other doors of service the Lord opened to my partners and me through our colporteur work. We were able to conduct a story-hour program of music, chalk drawings, and stories for church and community children on Sabbath afternoon. This was well attended and resulted in further book sales.

Also our work frequently brought us in contact with ministers. Sometimes they invited us to come and speak at their Sunday morning or evening church services. Some of our most interesting and fruitful experiences were had on these occasions.

As I review my first summer of canvassing, I cannot begin to enumerate the abundant spiritual and material blessings I received. I am more firmly convinced than ever before that there are millions more on the verge of the kingdom, only waiting to be garnered in. As God continues to give me strength, I want to go and work for Him while it is yet day.

"These Times" Helps Win Souls

Special Price Ends Soon

The month of May will bring an end to the special price being offered for a subscription to our missionary magazine, These Times. Therefore, it is important that each church member place his order before the last of the month. After the campaign the price goes up to the regular price again.

We are encouraged with the way the subscriptions are coming in. We just want to make sure that no one waits too long and is disappointed in not getting the advantage of the campaign price of $2.00 per subscription.

So much good can be done by sending this attractive magazine into the homes of our neighbors and loved ones. Be sure you make fullest use of this beautiful way of bringing the truth to others before it is too late. Make large plans, and let us all do all we can now.

New Graduation Party Trends

"Carless" graduation parties for senior high school students are slashing highway accidents involving young people in areas where a new trend in graduation-night parties has eliminated the use of the automobile.

This statement appears in the May-June issue of Listen magazine, a national journal depicting better living habits for young people. Author Ray Bernard says the idea, which began in El Monte, Calif., costs little, eliminates the threat of drinking, and keeps seniors off highways on their happiest night.

The idea of graduation parties minus cars began with George Vincent Burnett, former principal of El Monte Union High School, and William F. Fenske, activities director at the same school. "This year will be our third carless year in the community's series of senior proms," stated Fenske. "The kids love it. The parents like it. No complaints anywhere."

At first the programs were relatively simple at El Monte's event, recalled Fenske. But today there are not only motion pictures available to the seniors, but also they can get their crewcuts and permanents, listen to popular vocalists and orchestra leaders, pick up razors and perfumes as door prizes,

Converting the Unwilling

There are times when we may feel that further effort to reach an individual with the gospel is futile. An attitude of coolness and unfriendliness may be so obvious that it is clear we are unwelcome. In such cases further personal contact may be unwise.

Does this mean we are to give them up and not put forth further effort to win them to Christ? Let us turn to God for the answer. "But," says one, "suppose we cannot gain admittance to the homes of the people; and if we do, suppose they rise up against the truths that we present. Shall we not then feel excused from making further efforts for them?" By no means. Even if they shut the door in your face, do not hasten away in indignation, and make no further effort to save them. Ask God in faith to give you access to those very souls. Cease not your efforts, but study and plan until you find some other means of reaching them. If you do not succeed by personal visits, try sending them the silent messenger of truth. . . . Angels of God are near to impress the unspoken word upon his heart; and, although loath to do so, he at last yields, and light takes possession of his soul. Those who are thus unwilling converted, often prove to be among the most substantial believers; and their experience teaches them to labor perseveringly for others."—Ellen G. White, Evangelism, pp. 411, 412 (emphasis ours).

May we recommend "the silent messenger of truth," The Message Magazine and These Times. They are proving to be highly effective in winning precious souls to Christ. The low missionary subscription rate of only $1.50 a year for The Message Magazine and $2.00 for These Times is effective until May 31, 1961.

and earn valuable awards in games and contests, he said.

Student and parent planners decide on the best site, who will furnish the music and entertainment, what will be on the menu, and what will make up the decoration and setting. Students work closely with parent committees on the programming, but focus on entertainment and decor, while parents concentrate on finances.

Mrs. William H. Allen, wife of a former mayor of El Monte whose children have gone through the annual celebration, commented: "I was happy to know that my son and daughter were in a place I knew, happy also to know what they were doing and that they would enjoy themselves there safely."

"Best proof of the pudding," noted Fenske, "is the fact that only about a dozen seniors absent themselves from the party, with as many as 350 present." From a larger class in 1961, he expects nearly 400 to attend.

A number of ministers of local churches have had sons and daughters in these senior classes and have shown themselves always co-operative. The most enthusiastic minister probably is the Rev. Elmer Roy of the First Presbyterian Church. "Certainly, the program in the past two years has been far superior to running off after the ceremonies to some strange and distant place," he stated. "Last year's program was exceptionally good."

Other cities which have inaugurated similar carless graduation parties are Jefferson City, Mo.; Worthington, Minn.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Prescott, Ark.; and Washington, D.C.

A bimonthly journal of better living, Listen endeavors to portray better living habits for young and old alike by depicting positive alternatives to drinking, smoking, and the using of narcotics.

VACATIONERS AND TRAVELERS TO ROCKY MOUNTAIN NATIONAL PARK, Are You Interested in Sabbath Worship Services at Estes Park?

A branch Sabbath school is operated at Estes Park, Colo., sponsored by the Fort Collins church. Summer services will be held at the McAfee Hall, 141 West Elkhorn St., in the town of Estes Park.

In order to assist in the plans and decisions for the summer Sabbath services, it would be helpful to have an indication of the degree of interest on the part of vacationers to the area as to their preference by mailing a postcard as soon as possible to the district pastor, Melvin G. Johnson, 1313 Luke St., Fort Collins, Colo. Ministers who plan to attend services are invited to indicate the dates they will be present.

Congo Opportunities and Needs

by J. B. COOKS

THE CONGO and Ruanda-Urundi were, until last year, little-known countries in Central Africa. Now, because of the tragedies which have come to the Congo particularly, adults and even children around the world have learned about them.

Tremendous changes have come and are still coming to these lands. The minds of men have been awakened and they are seeking something which they hope will be better than what they have had. There is no question but that education must play a very vital part in their future.

Of the 734 schools that we had in the Congo and Ruanda-Urundi at the close of last year, approximately 200 are MV schools, taught by voluntary teachers who have had a few years of education and receive only their tax money—a few dollars a year—for their labor. The mission fields do not have money with which to pay these teachers.

Equipment, too, is very meager. Until recently numbers of these schools did not even have a blackboard! Books of any kind were difficult to find, and children wrote on their dark legs with sticks, because they just were not all fortunate enough to have slates and pencils.

Most of our regular primary school teachers are paid a salary, but in their classrooms also equipment is far from adequate, and there are far more children to each teacher than he can handle properly. Many of these teachers have had only seven to nine years of education. One of our greatest needs is better trained teachers; for this we must look to our training schools.

Lulengele Seminary, which is located in the Congo and offered eight grades of academic work and two years of training in teacher-evangelism, has been closed since conditions in the area became very difficult. But fortunately Gitwe Seminary, located in Ruanda, has continued to function.

Gitwe Seminary is the anchor to which much of the success of our work in the Congo and Ruanda-Urundi is tied, for Gitwe must provide the opportunity for increased training of teachers and pastors as well as training new ones. Twenty-seven thousand children attend our schools in these lands, 105,000 members and adherents must be shepherded, and Gitwe must train the teachers and pastors for them.

The school staff at Gitwe is quite inadequate for the subjects offered; hence essential subjects are periodically not taught. Definite plans are being made to ease this problem.

The school building has nine classrooms, some having ceilings of reeds and others having no ceiling at all. The classrooms are poorly lighted and, generally, very poorly furnished. They need more desks for the 690 pupils enrolled at Gitwe this year.

Up until now the boys' dormitory has consisted of three little three-roomed houses, which serve as sleeping quarters, dining-room and kitchen. However, a new dormitory is being built and a preceptor will be appointed.

The girls are a little better off than the boys because, under the guidance of Sister Werner, they have done much to help themselves and to make old buildings habitable.

A new dining room and kitchen are essential to care for the physical needs of the young people who come from afar to attend the training school.

A number of teachers have returned from the field, or have been sent by their employing organizations, to study further at Gitwe. These good married students live in a compound of rondavels (round huts). A one-roomed rondavel, about 12 feet in diameter, is given to each family; in this room they must cook, eat, sleep, and entertain their visitors. And living in each of these rooms are families consisting of father, mother, and up to four children. What makes things yet worse is the fact that the thatch on some of these houses has worn extremely thin in places, or is missing entirely, so that sun and rain have free access.

Other urgent needs are a primary school block, to serve as a practice school, and an administration building housing offices, library, and the laboratories. This list could be extended, but we have named only the basic needs.

There is no dearth of pupils; the problem often facing the school principal is how to keep more children from enrolling! But we do need staff and means. Please pray that we may find the men, and please help us find the money!

SPOTLIGHT

ON BIG WEEK 1961

The Great Power of the Other Angel

"And after these things I saw another angel come down from heaven, having great power; and the earth was lightened with his glory." Rev. 18:1. "And in a large degree through our publishing houses is to be accomplished the work of that other angel who comes down from heaven with great power, and who lightens the earth with his glory."—Testimonies, Vol. 7, p. 140.

The large population throughout the Lake Union felt the power of the printing press during the week of April 21 to 27. One hundred seventy-two leaders, full-time and part-time literature evangelists took part along with some 45 church auxiliary groups. These dear people worked 5,196 hours and contacted some thirteen thousand homes. They were able to enroll hundreds in our Bible correspondence schools and give away thousands of pieces of free literature. The total deliveries of this group amounted to $46,790.24.

Only in heaven will the true results of Big Week be revealed. As of now we are well aware that there are hundreds making a study of the third angel's message.

The following names are those who delivered $500 or more of our truth-filled literature during Big Week:

Russel Booth	$1,373.55	Everett Willmott	$607.75
Richard Gelsinger	1,334.25	Waldo Alger	572.00
Ray VanVoorst	1,065.25	James Micheff	553.00
H. F. Otis	776.00	Carl Hobson	549.50
Hunter Crigler	763.35	J. D. Spiva	514.00
Phillip Hopkins	755.80	William Lewis	511.25
L. A. Pomeroy	751.50	Harold Willsey	504.95
Robert Chapman	611.24

All who took part during this important week deserve a lot of credit. Space would not permit us to print all their names.

We in the publishing department have wondered just what would be accomplished if we had doubled the number of workers. Surely we have territory—the finest in the world. Our publishing house keeps us well supplied with literature. Our greatest need is for more who are willing to have a part in our literature program and in the finishing of the work of the Lord.

Why not write to your publishing leader for information on how you may become a worker in the vineyard of the Lord? "We are fast approaching the end. The printing and circulation of the books and papers that contain the truth for this time are to be our work."—Testimonies, Vol. 8, p. 89. "God will soon do great things for us if we lie humble and believing at His feet. . . . More than one thousand will soon be converted in one day, most of whom will trace their first convictions to the reading of our publications."—Colporteur Ministry, p. 151.

STATION WRITES OF APPRECIATION

"The phone calls have been most consistent in regard to your excellent programming," writes a radio station program director.

"We, here at 1,000-watt KRAI radio, appreciate the good quality of your recording tapes, and the well-versed messages that you convey to our listeners, plus the station personnel."

Cards or letters sent by listeners to stations across the nation are often forwarded on to our Voice of Prophecy office or to the office of our agency, by station managers or personnel.

Such listener-station communications, including phone calls, bring encouragement to station management everywhere to continue reserving space for religious broadcasts. They are also an encouragement to The Voice of Prophecy radio group and staff. Every phone call and letter is another evidence that there are those who listen, those who care, and those who are receiving blessings from hearing the messages on the air.

Have you recently made a phone call, or written a few lines to the station that, each week, brings you the sermons and songs of The Voice of Prophecy?—"The Voice of Prophecy News," April, 1961.

THE TWENTY-THIRD CHANNEL

The TV set is my shepherd. My spiritual growth shall want. It maketh me to sit down and do nothing for His name's sake, because it requireth all my spare time. It keepeth me from doing my duty as a Sabbath school teacher, because it presenteth so many good shows I must see.

It restoreth my knowledge of the things of the world, and keepeth me from studying the Sabbath school lesson. It leadeth me in the paths of failing to attend the teachers' meeting, and contributing to the study of God's Word.

Yea, though I live to be a hundred, I shall keep on viewing my TV as long as it will work, for it is my closest companion. Its sound and its picture, they comfort me.

It presenteth entertainment before me, and keepeth me from visiting the members of my Sabbath school class. It filleth my head with ideas which differ from those set forth in the word of God.

Surely, no good thing will come of my life, because my TV offereth me no good time to do the will of God; thus I will dwell in the place of the Devil and his angels forever.

Home Ec and S.D.A. Young Ladies

"Home economics" is defined by Webster as "the science and art of home-making including nutrition, clothing, budgeting, and child care." Much of this training should be gained in the home while the young lady works with her mother. As a girl leaves home and comes to a boarding academy, she immediately feels a need for more extensive appreciation of how to choose her food, what clothing is appropriate, and how to budget both time and money. It is this recognition of need that encourages so many of our students to provide themselves with the training that they can get through a class in home economics.

Seventh-day Adventists above all people in the world are food conscious. Our girls are encouraged to take classes that will teach them the fundamentals of good nutrition and help them in making wise decisions relative to food selection and preparation.

The importance of a study of clothing is suggested by this quotation from the Spirit of Prophecy: "Our clothing, while modest and simple, should be of good quality, of becoming colors, and suited for service."—Councils to Parents and Teachers, p. 302. Our ability to choose our clothing with economy and modesty definitely has its effect on our own characters and also reveals to others the depth of our Christianity.

Many statements from the Bible and inspiration enjoin the study of budgeting as it applies to personal and home management. The girls in the Home Economics II class gained a new conception of the cost of food when they cost-accounted a dinner which they served to their guests. In sewing, the girls also become aware of the economy of making their own clothes as compared with "ready-mades."

Child care is first studied in Home Economics I from the viewpoint of a baby-sitter; then in Home Economics II the girls think of themselves as potential mothers and learn something of the training and preparation necessary to become mothers in Christian homes. "A well-ordered Christian household is a powerful argument in favor of the reality of the Christian religion—an argument that the infidel cannot gainsay."—Patriarchs and Prophets, p. 144.

LAKE REGION

Spring Dorcas Federations

The three Dorcas federations of the Lake Region Conference have completed their spring meetings. Mary Brown, president of the Detroit Area Federation, reports one of the largest gatherings ever held. The Flint society demonstrated their hospitality as a gracious host.

Georgia Dodson, who was elected president of the Indianapolis Area Federation at the previous meeting, conducted an impressive meeting in Terre Haute. The Terre Haute society served an appetizing lunch to all present.

The Chicago Area Federation met in the Independence Boulevard church in Chicago. Helen Clark, president, is to be congratulated for seeing that so many ladies in the societies obtained uniforms during her presidency. Emily Brown, who has ably served as federation secretary for the past ten years, offered her resignation.

At this session new officers were elected. They are: president, Ethel Wilson of East Chicago, Ind.; vice-president, Yvonne Butler; secretary, Mavis Baity. We are confident that they will build on the firm foundation laid by their predecessors.

We rejoice with our leaders of the Publishing Department—Hunter Crigler, Eld. R. P. Robinson, and Emmanuel Foxworth—and our faithful publishing workers over the splendid gain made in our Literature Big Week sales.

Our total sales for 1961 were $7,377.88. This is a gain of $1,822.08 over 1960. Brother Crigler personally sold $763.35 worth of books; Eld. R. P. Robinson, $372.25; and Brother Foxworth, $200.

Pray for all our literature evangelists and for the students who are coming to join the Lake Region forces the first part of June.

Future Students Visit G.L.A.

Grand Ledge Academy held its third annual Academy Day, May 1, with 114 Southwest Michigan youth in attendance. The future potential students were given guided tours through the academy service departments, the craftshop, and classes by friendly G.L.A. guides. Classes and regular work assignments were in progress, giving the future students an insight into daily campus life.

More than double last year's Academy Day attendance, this year's attendance reflects the continued interest of our youth in determining their Christian education. This is indeed a challenge to the church of today that it might more abundantly support the growing church of tomorrow. Today's developing youth are eager to plan for their better future.

You, too, may have a part in the developing church of tomorrow. Perhaps you know of some young person who will be able to attend the academy this fall only by your help. What greater mission project could you look for, dear friend? Invest in a human being! Chances are that you will reap a soul saved for eternity.

Encourage the youth of your church by your investing support to emulate the G.L.A. motto of "Looking Ahead in Christian Education."

Bellore-Stephens Wedding

A quiet Sunday evening wedding, beautiful in its simplicity, was solemnized April 30, 1961, at 6:30 o'clock, in the Grand Ledge, Mich., Seventh-day Adventist church, when Miss Lois Arlene Bellore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arne H. Jurmu, of Ann Arbor, and Robert Lewis Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oral E. Stephens, of Lansing, spoke their nuptial vows with Eld. James Ward officiating and Dr. R. W. Spalding assisting.

Mrs. Stephens is secretary to Dr. R. W. Spalding in the Michigan Conference Medical Department. The groom, employed by the Town and Country Construction Corporation, was baptized in the Grand Ledge church on Dec. 4, 1960, by the officiating minister.

Following the ceremony the reception was held in the church parlor, where the couple received many lovely and useful gifts as well as the best wishes of the guests who attended. They left immediately for their wedding trip. May the benediction of heaven rest upon Robert and Lois as they further prepare their lives for His service at Southern Missionary College this fall.

Message From Our President

Time appears to be short. As we face the uncertain future, we are called to a spiritual preparation that will enable us to stand in the presence of the Lord. From the pen of inspiration we read: "Let all who possibly can, attend these yearly gatherings. All should feel that God requires this of them. . . . Come, brethren and sisters, to these sacred convocation meetings, to find Jesus. He will come up to the feast. He will be present, and He will do for you that which you most need to have done."—"Testimonies," Vol. 2, p. 575.

Nature Club Goes Canoeing

Have you ever been canoeing in April? Have you been on the Peshtigo River birding? Have you gone through and over the rapids when the water temperature is about 40 degrees? Have you been soaked by river water and no change available for nine hours? Have you that adventurous spirit of the teenagers and nature lovers? These and many more questions may be answered by the members of the "Keys of Heaven Nature Club" with club headquarters in Pound, Wis.

To get the report firsthand, here is what the club secretary, Mildred Kalbes, writes:

Sunday, April 23, at 8 a.m., six canoes started their way down the Peshtigo River. Most of the canoeists shed their coats and caps, feeling thankful for a warm day.

Almost immediately we spied Mr. and Mrs. Mallard, who didn't like our intruding on their privacy. A few minutes later the lead canoe shouted "Rapids!" The word echoed from canoe to canoe. These rapids are considered by canoeists "just what we like"—on a nice summer day. Some of the canoes went through the waves instead of over. Also waves came over the sides landing in laps. The shouts of glee turned to shouts of "It's cold!"

We kept on going slowly, trying to decide how to get our wet things dry. Then we saw a beautiful sight. Ruthie and some small children were waiting for us to go by. She generously took the wet young people to her home and dried their clothes in her dryer. Mrs. Mills arrived later with a bundle of jackets which were also appreciated.

On we went again—happily singing songs which included the round "Row, Row, Row Your Boat." The water was high so we made good time. There were inlets making quiet bays which were full of ducks: mallards, blacks, scouts, goldeneyes, and buffleheads. We also saw the rough legged hawk, common loons, and great blue herons. We crept right up to a pair of Canadian geese. They seemed to stay just ahead of us for a long while. We recognized the one by some missing feathers in one wing.

We ate our dinner at Bagley Junction. Here was a place to build a fire to warm cold hands and dry wet feet. The children also had a chance to stretch their stiff legs.

We had to portage at "Potato Rapids." What used to be a rapids is now a dam. We carried our canoes over a short but well-made trail around the dam. Ruth was waiting with hot chocolate which was enjoyed by all. From the portage to the city of Peshtigo is about three miles. This was spent enjoying the islands dotting the river, each canoe taking his own channel between the islands.

Two-thirty found us pulling up our canoes, unloading empty food containers, and loading the canoes on the trailer. Happy good-byes were shouted as we drove away in our respective cars—looking forward to another trip in the fall.

We want especially to thank Eld. H. W. Jewkes for coming with the canoes and making this trip possible.

Meetings at Fish Creek

Eld. Kurt Kurz and Eld. R. E. Finney, Jr., held nine revival meetings at Fish Creek, Wis., April 22 to 29. Fish Creek is one of our smaller churches, but the attendance was good and the interest was excellent.

Our people in Sturgeon Bay and Fish Creek gave wonderful support to these meetings. A number of baptisms are anticipated at the time of the conference-wide baptisms, May 20.

"Listen" Sponsorships

We are happy to report that we are sponsoring 1,564 subscriptions to Listen magazine to the 435 high schools in Wisconsin. The magazines are being sent to the principal, physical education instructor, and the library of each school. It is also being mailed to some county superintendents.

The American Temperance Society of Washington, D.C., is mailing a teachers' guide on narcotics education with each Listen magazine, and near the end of the subscription each school will be given the opportunity to subscribe to our temperance journal.

Let us pray that the Lord may guide the teachers in all these schools to use this material in presenting the facts on the use of alcohol and narcotics and help the young people to make the right decisions.

If you haven't become a member of the American Temperance Society for 1961, please do so now. The Temperance Society needs your support now.

This action has been given careful study by the academy board. All of us know that more rooms are needed for the girls who will enroll at Broadview, and they should be provided as soon as possible.

In order to have more room by September of 1962, work must begin this summer. A time schedule has been prepared, and excavating needs to be done in August this year. That would enable the workmen to pour footings and begin laying the walls before cold weather. If a portion were enclosed, inside work could continue during the winter months; but work cannot begin in August unless funds are available.

It has been decided that June will be Broadview academy month. During this month each one should do his part toward the raising of $50,000 for the year 1961. We are well able to give this amount for our Illinois youth.

A statement in the Spirit of Prophecy gives me courage. It says, "I was shown that there is no lack of means among Sabbath-keeping Adventists."—Testimonies, Vol. 1, p. 492. God has given us sufficient funds for carrying forward His work.

In June let as many as possible give a cash gift toward the Broadview building fund. Some may need to indicate by a pledge a later month this year when they can pay their part.

At 9:15 Sunday morning, May 28, a ground-breaking service will be held for the above-mentioned section of the girls' home. All are invited to attend.

As we continue to pray for the fine young people in our churches, let us also pray for the funds to provide adequately for their education.

Kleist of Brookfield and Sandra Nasvall of Chicago Heights were the organists, and Pastor R. H. Nasvall coordinated the music for the congress.

By request, Miss Adeline Kleist presented again the theme of the congress. Her remarks re-emphasized the fact that the future of the church lies in accepting the challenge to "COME—GO—TELL."

THE GOLDEN THREAD

Adventist Christian education is vastly more than secular education with Bible study added.

It is a God-centered educational program through which the basic spiritual objectives of Adventist education permeate every subject and every activity like a golden thread.

The study of the Bible is given the first and most honored place in the program. History is not taught simply as a chronicle of man's achievements, but rather as a record of how God deals with nations as He tries to lead men to know and do His will. Science is studied as the manner in which God operates His own creation.

This is the only psychologically sound way to educate the whole man—to offer a complete education! Its great objective is to conserve our children and youth for God and the church, while at the same time giving them an education equal to or superior to that which they might obtain in secular schools.

It works! It accomplishes this dual task remarkably well! Let us place our children and youth in these God-ordained schools, where a golden thread unifies the program and makes it effective in preparing them for this world, as well as for the world to come!
