

What Price for Liberty?

by JERE D. SMITH, President, Lake Union Conference

WE HAVE heard the statement that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty" so often it has become almost cliché, and yet it is just as true now as at any time in the past.

Those who have been keeping abreast of legislation through the past several years are painfully reminded of the fact that gradually our liberties are being restricted to the place where there is grave danger that one day we shall lose what religious liberty we still possess in this country.

This erosion has crept upon us so imperceptibly that many people doubtless have failed to recognize its grave importance. When we hear a great deal about Sunday laws being passed and enforced, then we suddenly become quite alarmed and begin to use all the influence we can possibly muster against this encroachment on our liberties; but there are numerous other ways less drastic whereby liberty is being constantly restricted.

Any integration of church and state is against the principles of the separation that we have held dear for so many years. We could name numerous instances where there has been a laxity on many of these things in the past few years; therefore, we feel that our people should keep this vital subject constantly in mind. Not only that, they should ever keep it before the minds of those who have the responsibility of legislation, both state and federal.

The offering for our Religious Liberty work is to be received on January 20. This money, of course, is used both at home and at our national headquarters. It is used for the purpose of placing the Liberty magazine in the hands of men and women of prominence throughout the country, and for such other religious purposes as may come before us from time to time.

Let us keep this date in mind and be liberal in our offering.

This Is Soul-Winning Teamwork

Rudolph and Kathryn Pringle are a youthful couple living a few miles out of the city of Jacksonville, Fla. They are now active members of the Jacksonville Seventh-day Adventist church. However, it hasn't always been that way.

The story begins when a local TV station carried a summer series of Faith for Today programs. One Sunday morning the Pringles missed attendance at their regular church. While looking for a worship service on their TV set, Mrs. Pringle happened to tune in on the Faith for Today telecast. A longing for a better understanding of the Bible combined with the program's appeal and the offer of a free Bible course resulted in an immediate enrollment.

Lesson after lesson, she found, followed the teachings of the Scriptures. The Sabbath truths, too, were accepted after very careful searching of Bible texts, dictionaries, and encyclopedias.

About this time Mrs. Pringle began following a series of articles which appeared in the local newspaper on the beliefs of Seventh-day Adventists prepared by Eld. Orley Berg. The final installment of these articles included an appeal to attend a series of evangelistic meetings at a nearby Seventh-day Adventist church. However, at this point her husband, Rudolph, still counseled against involvement with Adventists.

Then there came to Pastor Berg a report of interest from Faith for Today. When Mrs. Rena Mae Clark-Cutuli, Bible instructor, called, Mrs. Pringle revealed that her visit came just at a time when she was ready to give it all up. As a result of this visit, Mrs. Pringle determined that she would obey the truth.

Acting on a calculated guess while at a local laundromat, Mrs. Pringle made contact with another Seventh-day Adventist, Mrs. Shirley Cruze. As a result of her inquiries about the evangelistic services Mrs. Pringle found herself in attendance at the meetings with the Cruzes. She hoped that her husband would attend with her the next week. Ensuing friendly contacts with the Cruzes and with members of the church's married couples' club served to further cement favorable impressions. An aggressive Dorcas Welfare program conducted by the church was to the Pringles an additional evidence of the living faith exercised by Seventh-day Adventists.

Products of soul-winning teamwork, Rudolph and Kathryn Pringle are now energetic church members as the result of God's blessing upon the combined efforts of Faith for Today, the minister, Bible instructor, and consecrated laity. Their son, "Rudy," enjoys family worship too.

By this time Rudolph's prejudices vanished. His interest became avid, and with this new experience came a victory over the cigarette habit. Now they were both attending services regularly. These spiritual impressions were further supplemented by Bible studies given by Jack and Shirley Cruze.

The thrilling sequel to this story was another high day for the Jacksonville church when the Pringles joined several others in the sacred rite of baptism and acceptance into church membership. This was the culmination of co-operative evangelism—first with Faith for Today, then with the combined efforts of the minister, Bible instructor, and missionary agencies of the church.

Now the Pringles in turn are working to give God's message to others. Mrs. Pringle is an energetic Sabbath school worker in the children's division. Rudolph, after serving as Sabbath school usher, is now beginning office as a church deacon. They are an added strength to the church, witnessing for God in their community.

Draftees and Reservists, Notice!

MANY questions have been asked recently by our church members regarding the draft and the reserves here in the United States. These questions have emphasized the need to be aware of the obligations in these fields.

Selective Service Obligations

1. Every male resident of the United States must register on his 18th birthday or within five days thereafter. Generally, you will need your birth certificate or other evidence that you are 18. This registration can be done at any draft board office. You do not have to be at your home draft board. The home address you give will determine which draft board will have jurisdiction over you.

2. Every registrant must notify his draft board of any change in his address within 10 days following such change, until he reaches the age of 35.

3. Every registrant must notify his draft board of any change that would affect his classification, within 10 days of such change. This would include such things as marriage, or the breaking up of a home relationship whether by separation, divorce, or death; such things as birth or death of a dependent; entering into or leaving schooling; entering into or leaving an essential situation in industry; entering into or leaving an essential agricultural situation; a change in physical condition of a type that would affect classification. (This list is not complete.)

Reserve Obligations

Virtually all who have entered the military forces since August, 1955, have a six-year military obligation. After active service, unless such active service was six years or longer, there remains a period of time in the Ready Reserve or the Standby Reserve.

their Reserve Headquarters of all

1. Reservists of all types must notify changes of address.

2. Reservists of all types must notify their Reserve Headquarters of all changes of physical condition that would affect a possible recall to active duty, and of anything that might be of a hardship nature if the reservist were recalled to active duty.

3. Reservists of all types who undergo a change of conscientious belief following their last active duty should notify their Reserve Headquarters of such change and of their intention to request a noncombatant assignment if and when recalled to active duty.

If you have further questions in these matters, or in other matters relating to the draft or military problems, please contact the MV secretary who is your War Service Commission representative.

Ground Broken for New Building

Ground was broken Dec. 14, 1961, for a new building to serve as headquarters for the four-campus graduate programs of Loma Linda University. Construction of this building was the first phase of a multi-million-dollar expansion program outlined by the university a month ago.

The ceremonies were witnessed by several hundred students and other spectators, among whom were leading figures in community and California state education and civic affairs.

Participating in the formalities were officials of the university and the presidents of Pacific Union College and La Sierra College, both of which are associated in the university's graduate program.

HINSDALE SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL

Annual Christmas Party

Over 1,000 baskets of mixed fruit were given out by the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital Thursday night, December 14, when employees, students, and friends gathered in David Paulson Auditorium for their annual Christmas party.

After a welcome by A. C. Larson, hospital administrator, a program was presented which included the singing of Christmas carols by the entire group, a student nurses' triple trio, a one-act Christmas play, and several vocal numbers by the Jolly Boys' Choral Group. Mr. Larson also made the following awards:

Volunteer of the Year, Mrs. Helen Dunkle

Junior Volunteer of the Year, Miss Marilyn Mowery

Patient of the Year, G. Austin Kuhns

Supervisor of the Year, Lyle Kuhns

Employee of the Year, Mrs. Marcy Burks

Santa Claus and his assistants arrived in time to present a gift to every child present, and a box of chocolates to each of the teen-age "Candy Strippers" who volunteer their help in the hospital.

The Hinsdale-Clarendon Hills Junior Chamber of Commerce contingent of clowns proved themselves capable of keeping everyone laughing.

Guy Stewart, hospital personnel director, was in over-all charge of the evening's entertainment.

Distaff Christmas Party for Hinsdale Nursing Students

Monday, December 18, was a special day for the student nurses of the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital School of Nursing, when wives of the staff doctors entertained the students at their annual Christmas party in the school parlor. The student nurses during their training become acquainted with the doctors on the staff, but do not always get to meet the doctors' wives. Consequently, the afternoon program began with each lady introducing herself so that the students would know "which wife belonged to which doctor."

The high light of the afternoon came when Mrs. E. J. Justema, on behalf of the doctors' wives, presented a check for $1,101.94 to the hospital administrator, A. C. Larson. This check, the proceeds from the annual ice-cream social sponsored by the doctors' wives, goes into a special scholarship and loan fund the ladies have established for the students. At the recent graduation exercises, 10 scholarships were presented from this fund.

After the presentation of the check, student nurse Carol Rogers, one of the recipients of a scholarship, told how much it meant to the students to have this additional help.

The students presented a program of skits, readings, and vocal numbers, after which the doctors' wives served refreshments.

Penitentiary Requests "Message Magazine"

This morning's mail brought a very touching letter from a Protestant chaplain of one of our state penitentiaries, requesting Message Magazine for prison inmates. Let me give you a portion of his letter:

"Inmates have requested copies of Message Magazine. However, these men are without funds with which to purchase literature. Several religious publishers have developed a Christian concern for these men and others, and have contributed literature upon request. There is a great demand for your magazine, as we have no one contributing any Negro magazine. I can only hope you feel this concern and find it favorable to make a contribution. Any number of magazines you contribute, large or small, will be graciously received. God's richest blessings upon you.—C.G."

What better opportunity can we, as Seventh-day Adventists, have than to furnish Message Magazines for these inmates of our state penitentiaries! Please send your offering to Southern Publishing Association, Box 59, Nashville 2, Tenn., and mark it, "For MESSAGE prison work." You are urged to respond at once, that we may start hundreds of subscriptions going to these penitentiaries.

I need not refer you to the words of our Lord relative to being in prison. Here we have this opportunity and this urgent appeal. Many other such appeals could be listed from other penitentiaries. Awaiting your help are these needy men and women, anxious to receive the message for this time. Give today.

F.F.T. Plea for Bibles

Faith for Today, the church's international television program, has issued an urgent plea for Bibles which are in good condition to be used by Bible correspondence students who request a copy of the Scriptures.

The present supply of extra Bibles is sent to those Bible-course enrollees who indicate that they do not have ready access to a Bible. These requests come often enough to require a periodic appeal for Scriptures from the members of the church. Specifically the need is for the King James Version in a representative condition for use by Bible-course students.

Camp Meeting Date Changed to June 7 to 16

Some weeks ago we set June 14 to 23 as the date for the 1962 camp meeting. This date was announced in the HERALD. Now it has become necessary to make a change. The date will be approximately the same as last year—June 7 to 16. Mark the new date on your calendar. You will not want to miss it. Since 1962 is General Conference year, we will undoubtedly be able to arrange for a number of visitors from mission fields. So make your plans now to attend camp meeting.

The reason for having to change the date of camp meeting is the conflict that developed between the previously announced date and the opening of the School of Evangelism that will be held in the Indianapolis area. That conflict has now been eliminated. Our camp meeting will close June 16 and the opening date of the School of Evangelism is June 17.

The School of Evangelism will be conducted by Eld. Bruce Johnston and a corps of workers from Andrews University. Eight or ten of our Indiana pastors will also assist in the evangelistic effort. It will be one of the largest campaigns ever conducted in the state of Indiana.

The campaign will cover a period of five weeks. There will be a week of preparation, three weeks of meetings, and a week of follow-up work. We are anticipating a large harvest of souls. The times demand great efforts to save the lost. God's promises should inspire us to anticipate great results. Let us begin now to include the coming camp meeting and the School of Evangelism in our prayers.

Remember the dates: Camp meeting, June 7 to 16; School of Evangelism, June 17 to July 8.

Indiana Church Officers' Institutes

Arrangements have been completed for holding three church officers' institutes early in the new year. Please note time and place:

South Bend: Sunday, February 4, 9:30 a.m., C.S.T.

Indianapolis (Glendale church): Sunday, February 11, 9:30 a.m., E.S.T.

New Albany: Sunday, February 18, 9:30 a.m., E.S.T.

This series of important institutes will be for all officers and departmental leaders of the local churches. Pastors will arrange for the officers from the district to attend the nearest institute. Bring lunches and plan to remain until the close of the institute, which will be about 4 p.m.

The agenda will include the general church program, the responsibility of church leaders, and the activities of all departments of the church.

T. E. UNRUH

Central Indiana Evangelistic Services

Mark the dates February 9 to 24 on your new calendars. These will be important days. During that period of time Eld. E. L. Minchin, General Conference MV Department evangelist, will conduct nightly services in the new Glendale church in Indianapolis. The church is located at 2900 East 62nd Street.

For some years earnest efforts have been made to secure the services of Elder Minchin for a series of revival and evangelistic meetings. The dates have now been set, and a committee representing the central area of the conference is at work arranging the details for this important effort. Further information will be communicated to the field in the coming weeks. This preliminary announcement is designed to alert our people and to request that they give wholehearted cooperation to their pastors as efforts are made to organize the churches for full participation.

Prayer groups will be organized. Efforts will be made to secure the names of all former Adventists. Also the names of interested people should be handed in to the committee on attendance. Plans will be made to arrange transportation pools for those who do not have cars of their own.

This is an all-out effort to reach thousands with the message for this time. Nothing must be permitted to hinder the attendance of our people and their friends. God will be found of those who search for Him with all their hearts. Surely nothing can be more important in this late hour than to establish fellowship with God. If we seek Him, we shall find Him.

SPECIAL COOKING CLASS CONFERENCE OFFICE BASEMENT

Jan. 21, 1962, at 5 p.m.

Supper will be served from the various foods demonstrated. Don Knecht, A.U. Cafeteria director, will give counsel and advice on bread making and general food preparation. Door prizes. Buy foods under camp meeting prices. Book and Bible House will be open all afternoon.

Does Christian Education Pay?

Any Seventh-day Adventist parent needs have no one call his attention to the expenses involved in Christian education. Those who are fortunate enough to have good church schools in their communities know that they are expensive. Anyone who has ever paid a bill at an academy knows that academy education is likewise expensive.

Sometimes we are tempted to wonder whether or not Christian education actually pays. We need not be ashamed of scholarship. We can be highly appreciative and proud of Christian teachers. Results, however, in other areas are sometimes less difficult to define and appreciate.

Throughout this year particularly I have had a number of visitors on our campus who have expressed an appreciation for the decorum of the students at Indiana Academy. One of these wrote a letter that is of interest. I quote two paragraphs of a letter received from Mrs. Harry Moorman: "I was particularly impressed by their nice manner, their friendliness and dignity. There is a calm and naturalness about your students that indicates constant training on your part and that of your faculty.

"I have contended for many years that the school can teach politeness and manners, and it was certainly refreshing to find a school that does it successfully. Your students are not only polite to guests but to each other. Their conduct in the dining room is exemplary. Never fear that any one of them will be at a loss in the finest hotel. Furthermore, they are a lot of fun."

This evident contrast that exists is one that makes Christian education worth while. The type of values indicated here cannot be purchased with money. It is a result of an experience. Those who have sacrificed, however, recognize that unless the money had been made available, Christian education could not exist.

Continue to pray for Seventh-day Adventists in schools in the Lake Union Conference, Indiana Academy particularly.

Chicago Area Youth Activities

The importance of the youth activities in our churches was recognized by the Morgan Park nominating committee with a recommendation that a youth director be elected to coordinate youth activities of the church. This recommendation was adopted, and Benjamin Furman was selected to carry this important responsibility. Pastor C. A. Myers and his church are to be congratulated for their keen insight and their efforts to solve the problems of their youth.

Chicagoland MV Federation Meeting

On Sabbath, December 16, the Chicagoland MV Federation was reactivated with a revival meeting under the auspices of the Chicago Heights, Morgan Park, Robbins, and Altgeld Gardens churches in the Jones Memorial Auditorium, Chicago Heights, Ill. An overflow crowd, well over 600, was in attendance and listened to President C. E. Bradford as he presented Christ as the Leader of all mankind.

After the eleven o'clock service, many young people and adults went into the community visiting the homes, and enrolled 70 persons in the Faith Bible Course given by the Voice of Prophecy.

"Youth at the Crossroads," a symposium, was participated in by Elders E. S. Dille, W. G. Mills, E. W. Moore, and W. H. Brown, Jr., and three teenagers of the Shiloh school—Beverly Douglas, Lucy Winfrey, and Jonathan Roache, Jr. The topics discussed were "What the Youth Can Do to Help the Program of the Church," "What the Church Can Do to Conserve and Hold Its Youth," "How Can the Youth Be Helped Spiritually, Educationally, and Socially?" One youth speaker impressed the audience by asking the adult members of the church to put more confidence in the youth, and stated that the youth would not fail them.

The day's activities closed with a well-planned-and-directed social period.

The following officers were elected to serve the Chicagoland MV Federation for 1962: president, Mrs. Bettye Washington; vice-presidents, Mrs. Abby Boone, Abraham Lloyd, Mrs. June Newby, Henry Blake, Frank Davis; secretary, Miss Savannah Rollins; assistant secretaries, Miss Lucy Winfrey and Miss Karalyn Dawes; treasurer, Howard McHenry; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Evra Murphy; pianists, Mrs. McCaskill, Miss Carolyn Nathan, and Mrs. Phyllis Campbell; chaplain, Charles Davis; choristers, Earl Calloway and Cassanova Hudson; publicity, Earl Calloway; social directors, Miss Avice Graham, Miss Emmalyn Howell, and Charles Ward.

Missionary Doctors Answer the Call

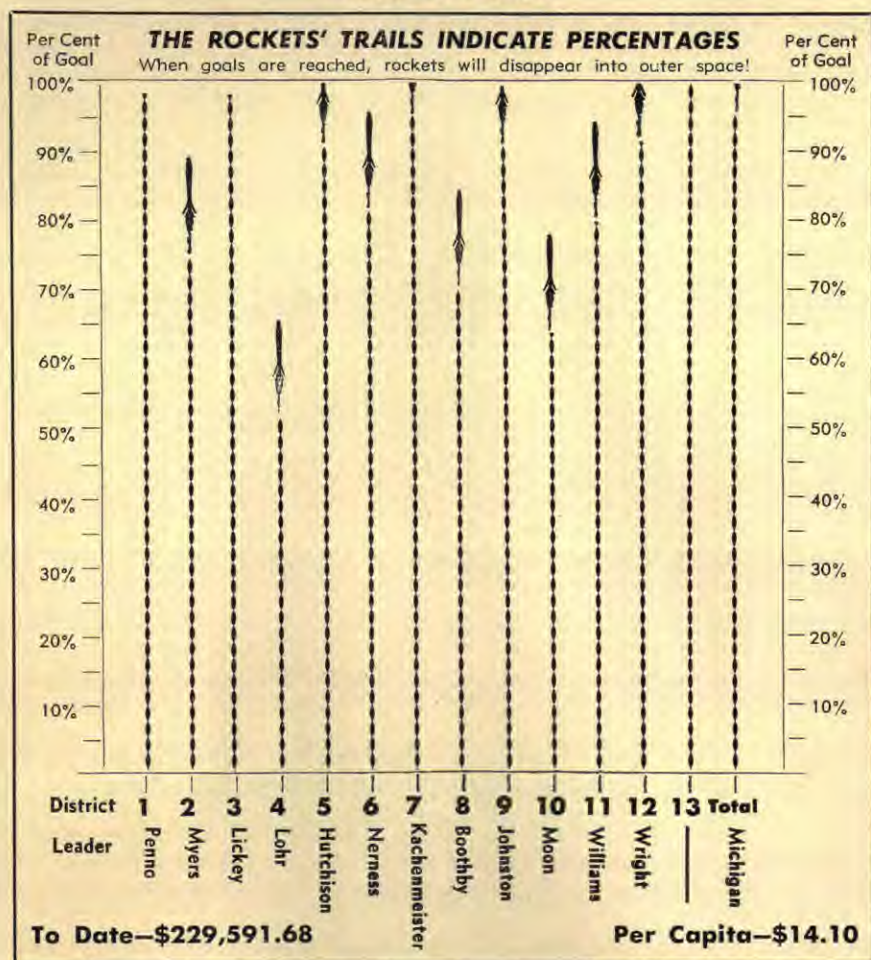

The missionary doctors of the Orion Medical Group in Lake Orion, Mich., stretch forth their hands of mercy, like a mighty enveloping octopus, across sea and land into the remoteness of Africa as Dr. E. Arthur Calkins travels over 6,000 miles to fulfill a promise made to the natives of the Bahemba tribe.

In answer to their plea to "come over and help us," the local chiefs of the Bahemba tribe in North Katanga requested Dr. Percy S. Marsa to help them establish a hospital in that area while he was in medical service at the Songa Hospital and Training School. Dr. Marsa responded by journeying to the area, seeing the need, and even helping them locate a site for a hospital about 20 miles from an established Seventh-day Adventist dispensary and school at Bigobo.

The violence of independence and insurrection erupted at that time, driving out all white people from the area and hastening Marsa's departure and return to his practice in Lake Orion.

MICHIGAN CONFERENCE INGATHERING VANGUARD

PROGRESS REPORT

The first half of 1961 brought letters from political leaders in the villages urging the need of medical facilities, so a safari was planned for Dr. E. A. Calkins to explore and investigate first hand the possibilities of establishing such a facility on a self-supporting basis, with the natives assuming the responsibilities of the physical plant.

Trouble beset the doctor on his arrival in Elizabethville. He learned there was no transportation, no gasoline, no provisions other than what was flown in to Kongolo, 60 miles from the hospital site.

In counseling with Conference President R. H. Wentland and the other brethren, it was decided to fly up to Bigobo with Dr. Shafner later in the week. However, the United Nations Organization and Katangese hostilities prevented Dr. Calkins from reaching his objective, for all except UNO planes were grounded for the duration.

All were hoping a cease-fire would soon be reached so normal activities could be carried on. An uneasy truce was finally arrived at, but still no air travel was allowed, so Dr. Calkins found auto transportation to Northern Rhodesia, and thence by plane to Nairobi to visit Dr. W. W. Oliphant, the third medical member currently serving in a mission hospital, and Dr. Pereplitza and their families at Kendu Bay Mission Hospital.

The doctor states, "The continent of Africa is a seething, turbulent cauldron of unrest, filled with a driving ambition to seek knowledge and education in developing a European type of life, but lacking the means or persistence in obtaining it. We hope the time will soon come when it will be possible to answer the calls for help from these needy fields."

The hopes and fulfillment of this promise into one of reality lie in the glorified abundance of a fourth member as He walks along the darkened highways dispensing love, understanding, and guidance in the expansion and furtherance of this partnership with God.

C.L.A. Classes Visit Conference Office

Thirty-six students from Cedar Lake Academy with three of their teachers spent a day recently in Lansing visiting places of interest in keeping with their class choice.

All the students visited the conference office and the state capitol and had their lunch at the office. After lunch the auto mechanics class, with the instructor, Harold Streidl, visited the Fisher Body plant and the Oldsmobile factory.

The bookkeeping class and Don Hanson, instructor, got an insight into modern accounting methods at the Michigan National Bank. The office practices class, with Mrs. Streidl, got down to business at the conference office and saw how the work is done.

"There's my name," says Marilyn Wold, Ithaca, left, as she checks the membership list of the conference. Her work is supervised by Judy Caviness, center, and Nancy Bailey.

Servicemen Remembered at Christmas

The St. Johns church has four boys in the service, three of them overseas. The MV Society wanted to remember these young men who are serving their country, and so each one is receiving a box of baked goods from their home church. Mrs. Robert Keiser, shown in the picture, and Mrs. R. L. Wohlers packed the boxes.

WISCONSIN

Literature Evangelists Meet

It was a happy group of literature evangelists who arrived at 1710 Hodgeboom Avenue, Eau Claire, Wis., December 1. They had gathered with their leaders to study how they might accomplish more in 1962.

Elders D. A. Bailey and R. G. Campbell from the Review and Herald were with us, Eld. J. W. Proctor from the Lake Union office also joined us at this meeting. Our local conference men were there, George Taggart from the Book and Bible House and Eld. L. G. Wartzok, conference treasurer. Each one gave help and inspiration as he attended these meetings.

On Friday evening, December 1, an interesting picture, "Message to the Multitudes," was shown. Sabbath morning, Mr. Taggart conducted the Sabbath school, and Elder Campbell brought out the importance of finishing the work quickly.

In the afternoon, Brother Alger, our assistant Publishing secretary, had a service called "Missionaries in Action." It was thrilling to hear the experiences of our literature evangelists and how God had led them to souls longing for light. At sundown, Elder Wartzok took charge of vesper service.

Sabbath evening found us together again to receive instruction and view a film provided by Brother Taggart.

Sunday morning, our pastor, Eld. Leonard Jaeks, took charge of the worship period. The day's activities centered around instruction on how we might accomplish more during the next year, how we might do our work more efficiently, and how we might baptize more souls.

Sunday evening, 3-D pictures of the historical settings of our message were shown. Monday morning, Elder Proctor had our devotional service. After an additional instruction period we had a good dinner and left for our territories.

The colporteurs were thankful for the kind hospitality shown by the Eau Claire church. They took care of all our physical needs, and it was a joy to be there with them.

We are of great courage here in Wisconsin. Many men are seeing the need of laying down their other professions and going out to work for the Master. They realize they must do it now or Jesus will soon come and they will not have any souls as a result of their labors. May God help our members to see the great need of finishing the work quickly that Jesus might come soon. In Wisconsin we are planning to have the greatest year ever seen during 1962.

We are encouraging each member in Wisconsin to be responsible for seeing one soul baptized this year. If each member will do this, we can double our membership in a short while. This can be done. There are souls there to be won if we will just look for them. Jesus says, "Pray the Lord of harvest, that He will send forth reapers. For truly the harvest is white and the laborers are few."

Contact your Publishing secretaries and tell them that you want to join with them this coming year.

Ingathering at W.A.

Our church board agreed that it could be done, we voted to do it—and we did it!

For years the Thanksgiving-to-Christmas period had its annual Ingathering program. The few faithful members continued until the task was done. This year it was different.

Following the board's long session, where the organization plans were laid, the church was informed of the new Ingathering program. We were going to complete our Ingathering in four—or at the most, five—nights. Band leaders met and were briefed on their important responsibilities. Persons responsible for supplies, equipment, and territory were contacted and made responsible for their part. All our equipment must be in top working order and used to capacity on both shifts each of the nights.

Some wondered if our tightly knit organization would work smoothly. After the first night we knew it would. In the scheduled time our territory had been covered and we had reached our objective. Some still find it hard to think that Ingathering is over for another year, but they are happy! It really was fun.

Students and children of the Pound church on steps of new school.

Modern Mission Miracle

The Pound church school children rejoiced as they moved into a recently purchased public school building on the outskirts of Coleman, Wis. The days of long trips to and from school, which was held in a church basement, were now a thing of the past. Gone also was the lack of playground space and equipment. Three new students joined the existing six to make a total of nine church school students as they thanked God for a modern miracle which provided this school for them.

When it became known that this school could be purchased, the Pound church members pledged immediate cash for one half of the selling price. The children then sent letters to friends and acquaintances across the land asking for help. The response was immediate and liberal beyond hope or expectation. When the final count was made, the figures showed that there was $400 over the purchase price of

Investment Goal and Program

Clearwater Lake, Wis., church tops the highest Investment goal it's ever had. The goal set for the 65-member Sabbath school was $400. The amount reached was $477.27, according to the report prepared and read December 1 by Janie Peters, Sabbath school secretary. The 100-per-cent participation goal was also reached, and is an important reason for the outstanding success. The fund-earning projects were ones commonly used for Investment. Mrs. Vesta Olmsted is the Investment secretary of the Clearwater Lake church.

Given on November 25 was an inspiring Investment program, described as follows by Sabbath school secretary, Mrs. Janie Peters:

As we entered the church last Sabbath we noticed many flags representing many nations. The words "As ye sow, so shall ye also reap" and "All the world" caught our eyes. I'm sure this aroused our interest in the Investment program. We know one way to bring others to know Jesus is through investing.

To begin the program Judy Adams read a poem with the thought of raising one million dollars to meet the world's needs. Three of the primary youngsters, Jimmy Sowa, Stephan Crane, and Marlene Poole, also recited a poem saying they too were for raising a million dollars.

Sister Lucille Denler let everyone in the congregation look at a "Hell Bank Note" used by the ignorant heathen in the Far East, where our overflowing offering is to be given. They are steeped in superstition and burn paper money, houses, furniture, and other objects, thinking their deceased will be provided with money and facilities to make their existence in the spirit world happy and comfortable.

Don Evans, in the special song he sang, asked us to give our dimes and dollars. Each person was given the opportunity to give his Investment and tell how it was raised. An interesting project by the children of the primary department was their big cardboard buffaloes on which they pasted nickels each Sabbath.

We know that the recording angel makes a record of all that is given. In the Investment program Diane Hunter and Virginia Denler, dressed in angel costumes, watched as members of the congregation placed their offerings in a basket. After each offering Diane read a passage telling of the blessings of giving, and Virginia told how each offering might help, and pinned a small red tag on a large map of the world showing where the offering might go.

This very inspiring program was concluded as Julian Denler played a special number on a saw, and a prayer of praise and thanksgiving was offered.

ILLINOIS

Noble Evangelistic Effort

During the summer months members of the Noble church were very busy working faithfully on remodeling the church building in order to make it more representative for the coming evangelistic public meetings. They put in new oak floor and new aluminum windows, enlarged the entrance hall, insulated the whole building, and put on aluminum siding. Over $3,000 was spent in this remodeling program, plus many hours of free labor donated by the devoted members.

Sunday, October 8, was the opening night of the evangelistic effort conducted by Pastor E. H. Moldrik for two months, three times a week. The interest was good. The members gave their full support, and the young people took an active part in ushering and in bringing special music each night.

Four souls have been baptized, several others are in the valley of decision, and many more heard the message for the first time. The church has been strengthened, and all members appreciate much more the wonderful Advent message which the Lord has entrusted to their hands. Many personal victories have been won.

We move forward united in the spirit of love and in full confidence that soon our Lord will come to take His faithful home. Let us work to hasten that glorious day.

Gary Cronau of the Moline primary department who earned $10 for Investment.

Moline Investment

A degree of anxiety and excitement filled the air in the Moline church as the members and children waited eagerly for the special Investment Day program, Sabbath, November 25, and the announcement of the leader, Mrs. Anna Zuhn, concerning the total of $272.73 raised to date for Investment.

Gary Cronau, pictured, led the way, having earned $10 for Investment. His special project was a gadget of "one hundred and one" uses. It was a clip made from two colored plastic tile, one more narrow than the other, with a pincher-type clothespin glued between them, and a small decal decorating the front one. These colored tile were selected to harmonize with the color scheme in any home. Gary sold them for the kitchen to hold recipes, receipts, bills, or dish cloths. In the bathroom he suggested they be used for guest towels or wet hose. And then for the children's rooms they could hold instruction sheets, pictures, or school papers. Even in dad's workshop they could be of value, he told his buyers, for holding patterns, etc.

Gary's father, John Cronau, who served as the Investment sponsor, helped in Gary's project by boring the needed holes in the gadget, but Gary did the rest of the work and sold them for 35 cents each.

Six other primary boys and girls earned $5.00 or more for Investment. Julie Owens sold candy. Linda, Dick, and Mike Reynolds raised a calf. Beth Ballarini raised and sold beans, and Jimmy Beckett collected and sold soda-pop bottles.

The pastor, Eld. B. H. Green, felt the children had done a commendable work, and praised them for their choice of projects, their interest in the Investment program, and their perseverance and dedication to the task.

Officers Meet at Mattoon

A church officers' meeting will be held in Mattoon, Sabbath afternoon, Jan. 13, 1962. The meeting will be held in the Mattoon church, which is located at 2120 Dewitt Ave., and will begin at 3 p.m.

All officers from the following churches are invited to attend:

Champaign-Urbana, Charleston, Danville, Decatur, Lovington, Martinsville, Mattoon, Paris, Saint Elmo, Stewardson. W. A. NELSON, President

Annual Publishing Council

Nov. 27 to 30, 1961, was the time of the Lake Union Publishing Council. The purpose of this annual meeting is to study together ways of circulating more of our literature, and through this avenue find souls that will eventually be baptized into the church.

The chairman for all the meetings was Eld. J. W. Proctor, union Publishing secretary. He very capably led through the agenda of this very successful meeting.

The high light of each day was the devotional service. Eld. J. D. Smith, our Union Conference president, Dr. F. A. Meier, and others of the college administration challenged each one present, with the help of God, to strive for ever-greater achievements.

We are happy for the interest of our local presidents in our publishing program. Some of the presidents, together with the Book and Bible House managers, were in attendance. Eld. W. A. Higgins, associate Publishing secretary from the General Conference, was present for the entire series of meetings. Having attended like meetings in other unions, he could help coordinate the efforts that are to be made in the future.

From the Review and Herald Publishing Association were Eld. C. E. Palmer, general manager of the publishing house; Eld. J. D. Snider, manager of the book department; and his associates, D. A. Bailey and H. J. Forquer. Through their combined efforts, we are able to have books of the finest quality, which means so much to the literature evangelist who presents them to the people in their homes.

I feel that it is a great tribute to these men that these books and periodicals always surpass in quality the subscription books presented by other book companies.

Eld. R. G. Campbell, manager of the Periodical Department of the Review and Herald, was at the meeting in behalf of our Life and Health journal. He told of the increasing success of this journal and pointed out the value of each local field's using it to greater advantage.

Many people cannot be reached unless we make a greater use of these journals. This, of course, will call for more magazine workers. Many of our church members could do a wonderful work for souls through this avenue on a full- or part-time basis.

Eld. R. J. Christian, manager of the Periodical Department of the Southern Publishing Association, brought us up to date on the use that can be made of These Times and Message magazines in our soul-winning program.

During this time, many items of importance relating to our work were discussed. Among them was the time-payment plan that is now being used throughout the union. With a few minor changes that will be put into effect during the coming year, we feel that the opportunities for those who are contemplating this work are greater than ever for success. This plan makes the purchase of our books much easier, since it fits into the pattern of the average individual's buying habits.

In order for this program to successfully achieve its goal, the need for addition (See PUBLISHING COUNCIL, p. 16)

A.U. Secures Rare Collection of Luther's Writings

Martin Luther's writings in rare editions published during his lifetime for the greater part of a new Reformation collection of bound tracts and pamphlets were recently added to the Andrews University Library.

Twenty-two of the 34 volumes, some of which enclose several separate tracts, are of Luther's writings.

The opposition to Luther is represented by a copy of Pope Leo X's "Bulla Contra Errores Martini Lutheri" ("Against the Errors of Martin Luther"), issued at Augsburg in 1520. The Andrews University copy still has part of the original seal of the Archbishop of Augsburg.

Another item by a Pope is the very rare "Suggestio Deliberandi" by Hadrian VI, giving Hadrian's proposals presented to the diet at Nurnberg that the German princes unite to eliminate Lutheranism.

Luther's own monastery at Wittenberg once owned one of his books, of special interest to Adventists, A Christian and Well-founded Proof of the Judgment and of Its Signs, and That It Is Not Far Off (translated title), as

Other Luther items include his "De Captivitate Babylonica," which was answered by Henry VIII of England. For this work Henry was honored by the Papal title "Defender of the Faith," which British monarchs still bear. Also included is Luther's answer to Henry.

Dr. Emil Leffler Named Acting Graduate Dean

Dr. Emil Leffler, former dean of Albion College, has been chosen as acting dean of the Andrews University School of Graduate Studies. This action was taken by the Board of Trustees because of the extended illness of Dr. C. E. Weniger, who is undergoing treatments at the White Memorial Hospital in Los Angeles.

Dr. Leffler began his new duties Jan. 1, 1962. He comes to the deanship with a wealth of valuable educational training and experience. A graduate of Washington Missionary College and Columbia University, he received his L.L.D. in 1934 from Battle Creek College. Prior to 1929, Leffler taught history and served as registrar at Broadview College. Until 1939 he was president of Battle Creek College, and from then until 1960 he taught economics and was dean at Albion College, Albion, Mich.

In addition to the above, Dr. Leffler has served in the following professional capacities in recent years: president of the Michigan Colleges Association, president of the North Central Association of College Deans, president of the Michigan Association of Collegiate Registrars, president of the Michigan Association of College Deans of Men, and chairman of the Division of Higher Education of the Michigan Education Association.

In addition, Leffler has been a member of the Michigan Advisory Committee on Teacher Education and of the advisory committee in higher education to the Michigan State Legislature.

Dr. Leffler has served as president of the Albion Rotary Club and of the Battle Creek Torch Club. He is currently a member of the following learned societies: Delta, Phi Mu Alpha-Sinfonia, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Eta Sigma.

Through the years, the incoming graduate school dean has served Adventist denominational schools well in many capacities. At present he is a member of the Board of Trustees of Atlantic Union College, of three academy boards in the state of Michigan, of the Michigan Conference Committee, of the Battle Creek Health Institute, and of the Hinsdale Sanitarium boards.

Commenting on this important step in the Andrews University administrative development, President F. O. Rittenhouse said, "While we deeply miss Dr. Weniger and deplore the cause of his enforced absence from his duties, nonetheless, we feel highly fortunate to be able to bring into the important position as dean of the graduate school a man of Dr. Leffler's distinguished experience and leadership. He will have opportunity to mold and direct, as well as strengthen, the graduate program as it develops on this campus."

ence School has processed nearly four million lessons and now has issued over 65,000 diplomas. The baptisms from this ministry now total nearly 6,000 as the result of God's blessing upon the telecast ministry.

Those desiring to furnish a Bible for use in Faith for Today's televangelism ministry should send it to Faith for Today, 108-43 71st Avenue, Forest Hills 75, N.Y.

He Kept His Promise

The $75 check given by Mr. Frazee, funeral director in Middletown, Ind., helped to make the Muncie district, under the leadership of Eld. Wm. H. Grotheer, the first in Indiana to reach its Silver Vanguard goal this year.

It was early in the current campaign when Mr. Frazee was contacted. He did not give, that day. His business is just beginning to develop, and he stated that he was returning to the Lord a certain percentage of his earnings and promised that, as the Lord blessed him in his work, he would be giving to all the churches in Middletown, in their turn.

Imagine the happy surprise a few weeks later when Mr. Frazee drove out to Dennis Drury's home with a check of $75. We believe that the Lord will continue to bless Mr. Frazee as He has others through the years who have returned to the Lord that portion which is His.

This fine expression on the part of this funeral director in Middletown is typical of a spirit that could be felt in many places in Indiana this year. I think of the banker in Hartford City who had his check already made out for us, before we entered his bank.

I have been impressed by the fine reception we have had from several city mayors who were contacted in connection with our work this year. Seventh-day Adventists say "thank you" to these our friends who are helping us in the task that has been committed to human hands before the ushering in of the "new heaven and a new earth," when the "first heaven and the first earth" are passed away.

Ingathering Is Soul Winning

I trust that you are keeping up with the weekly story of Ingathering work in the different conferences of our union. Each week we have a story that is right from the field, and it is wonderful to note how many of them have to do with real soul-winning contacts through the Ingathering work.

Today we are $17,052 nearer our objective than we were a year ago. We now have 101 Vanguard and 115 Victory churches reported from the field. Our conferences are pressing to 100-per-cent victory, and soon you will know the messages conveyed by the sentences of our chart.

I am happy to report that most of the unions of our division are reporting in the gain column also. Lake is one of three that have been showing the largest gains over last year. We are happy for that and want to pass our thanks on to each of you who have made this possible.

We are now coming to the final phases of our work this year. Let us continue to work faithfully to accomplish our four objectives: 100-per-cent participation; complete all territory; faithful follow-up work; and baptisms in every church from Ingathering.

tional workers must be met. Many areas do not have any literature evangelists. We must reach the people before the work can be finished.

If there ever was a time to volunteer for God, it is NOW. This is a program that cannot fail. It was felt by all in attendance that the urgency of the times makes it imperative that every effort be made to accomplish this task in the shortest possible time.

After prayerful consideration by the five local Publishing Department secretaries and their associates, a goal of $1,150,000 was set for the year 1962. Believing that with God all things are possible, we are convinced that this goal will most certainly be reached or even exceeded in the coming year.
