

"Courage for the Crisis"

When I was asked to prepare the book of the year for 1962 the thought occurred to me that the greatest need of the moment was for a volume that would present in simple, easily understood language the true sources of courage that are available to everybody in these dark and dangerous days.

So many people today are worried about the future—the future of their homes, their families, their children, their businesses, their way of life. They are appalled at the thought of what may happen in the next few years, possibly within the next few months. They know that the third world war is only a gunshot away. They know that everything they have labored for, everything they love and cherish, may soon be swept away in a fearful nuclear holocaust.

Millions have no idea where true peace of mind may be found. They are looking to the United Nations or a United Church to save the situation, while they seek personal consolation in alcohol, tobacco, or drugs, only to find them nothing but broken cisterns. Meanwhile on all the works of men may be seen the handwriting of divine judgment, "Weighed in the balances and found wanting."

In such an hour as this all who love God should rediscover in Him the source of courage. As Courage for the Crisis points out, "Courage may flow into our hearts from the knowledge that God is Creator and Sustainer of the universe, or from evidence that He is the Lord of history, directing the course of nations as He works out His eternal purpose, or from the fulfillment of His predictions concerning men and peoples; or from the many Bible promises of His care and protection; or from the cross itself, with its dramatic assurance of God's concern for the human race; or from those essentials of Christian living such as Bible study, prayer, worship, and ministry to others."

Here may be found courage sufficient for every trial, courage that will endure

Others with him include: Dr. L. Harold Caviness, Battle Creek Health Center, Battle Creek, Mich.; Miss Arlene Friestead, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Mich.; Dr. Charles L. Anderson, Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, Hinsdale, Ill.; Eld. Tom Williams, Battle Creek Health Center, Battle Creek, Mich.; Eld. A. D. Chilson, Superior, Wis.; Eld. Willis C. Graves, Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, Hinsdale, Ill.; Eld. E. Nachreiner, Wisconsin Academy, Columbus, Wis.; Eld. Morten Juberg, Michigan Conference, Lansing, Mich.; Laverne Bissell, Wisconsin Academy, Columbus, Wis.; and Prof. Charles E. Wittschiebe, S.D.A. Theological Seminary, Berrien Springs, Mich.

Group from Lake Union Attends Ohio Institute

The eighth annual Institute on Mental Health met at the Harding Hospital, Worthington, Ohio, Oct. 8 to 10, 1962.

Presented in association with the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary, Andrews University, the session brought together Seventh-day Adventist pastors, chaplains, and educators from the Eastern United States.

The first Institute, held in 1955, came about from a desire to provide a forum for the sharing of ideas and techniques in the closely related fields of the pastor and the psychiatrist. Dr. L. Harold Caviness, now the director of the psychiatric services at the Battle Creek Health Center, and Eld. Charles Wittschiebe, the professor of pastoral care at the S. D. A. Theological Seminary, were instrumental in launching the Institute and have been a part of the instructional staff each year.

In the ensuing years, more than 200 Adventist ministers have attended the annual institutes in Worthington. The purpose of the sessions have not been to make psychologists of those attending, but rather to give a brief insight into some of the causes of emotional disturbances as well as to add new understanding of people and their problems.

The Harding Hospital, the site of the meetings, is the center of Adventist psychiatric training. Since its founding in 1916 as a psychiatric hospital, the institution has sponsored a growing educational program. Forty-two physicians have received their training in psychiatry and now are filling responsible positions in many parts of the nation. Many of them are serving in Adventist hospitals and educational centers.

The field of mental health is becoming increasingly important and for those interested in this field, the Harding Hospital offers training in psychiatry, the related fields of psychiatric nursing, occupational therapy, social work, and clinical psychology.

The director of this year's institute was Dr. George T. Harding, Jr. Others from the Harding Hospital who served on the staff included Dr. William D. Bolander, Dr. Donald H. Burk, Dr. Grace Collet, Dr. Clarence E. Carnahan, Miss Mary Jane McConaughy, Dr. George T. Harding, Sr., and Dr. Vernon W. Shafer.

Lecturers from other institutions included Dr. Charles Anderson, Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, Hinsdale, Ill., Dr. L. Harold Caviness, Battle Creek Health Center, Battle Creek, Mich.; Dr. Harrison S. Evans, Loma Linda University, Loma Linda, Calif.; Dr. Jon A. Whieldon, Ohio State University School of Medicine, Columbus, Ohio; and Prof. Charles E. Wittschiebe, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Mich.

Pitcairn's Sabbath Principles Respected

Many of the ships that stop at Pitcairn Island are small, carrying around 100 passengers to whom the people can sell their wares. So naturally there was some dismay on the island when it was learned that the big ship "Willem Ruys," on which they depend so much for their trading, was for the first time coming in on the Sabbath, and with Mr. Fletcher John Christian on board, returning from his world trip, as reported by Sister Don Davies, the minister's wife.

She then tells this remarkable story: "This meant a tremendous temptation for quite a few of the people. John, of course, being on board, tried to have a change made, but nothing could be done about it. However, my husband felt impressed to wire the captain asking if it were not possible to slow the ship down so that it would get here three hours later, after sunset. The radio operator was most sceptical about this request, and we prayed much about it.

"Imagine our delight when the captain graciously replied that he would come in as planned, but to fill in the time he would circle the island in the remaining daylight to give his 1,300 passengers a good look at the place. He would then stay for two hours after the Sabbath to give our folk time for trading."

Isn't that wonderful—a huge luxury liner altering its schedule to accommodate Sabbath-keepers! This favour speaks well for the influence over the years of the Pitcairn people and of Brother John Christian particularly while he was aboard the boat.

Home and Parent Education News

by ARCH A. O. DART, Home and Parent Education, General Conference

It is impossible to give you a complete account of all that is being done in home and parent education but we wish to share a few partial reports that were given at our recent General Conference meeting that will enable you to have a little idea of the variety of activities going on around the world. Be sure to get a copy of the September-December number of The Adventist Home and School for more reports. (Order direct from the S.P.A., Box 59, Nashville 2, Tenn.)

Did you get a copy of the General Conference special? It is not only a "manual" for home and parent education but has a list of recommended books for parents. Every parent should have a copy.

Christian Parentage Training Course

At the Lay Evangelism and Church Officers Rallies (Central California) emphasis was given to the upbuilding and strengthening of the Adventist home. It was suggested that groups be formed in our churches for the purpose of studying the Christian home.

Several of the churches did this and received a most welcome response from the parents. Eld. E. F. Heim writes, "Recently we received from Eld. R. H. Libby a three page summary compiled from reports made by the moderators of the ten panel discussions recently held in our Modesto Union Elementary School chapel. Elder Libby states, 'So much interest was created by this series that our Home and School leaders feel that we should hold annual series of parent education lessons of some variety.'"

The title subjects for the ten nights were: (prayer meeting nights)

1. "The Successful Home," Moderator, Don Lake
2. "The Social Life of the Home," Moderator, Dr. Bruce Wilson
3. "Home Health and Hygiene," Moderator, Dr. Newton Tonge
4. "Increasing the Spirituality of the Home," Moderator, Pastor R. H. Libby
5. "Polishing the Personalities of Our Children," Moderator, H. Morley

6. "Methods in Character Development," Moderator, Pastor H. Shafer
7. "Recreation and Re-creation," Moderator, Chas. Smith
8. "Junior Partners," Moderator, Harvey Bailey
9. "Principles of Family Finance," Moderator, Dr. Edward Rebok
10. "Christian Discipline," Moderator, John McConnel

Marriages and Births

As conference medical secretary I requested our local church medical secretaries, as well as the pastors, (to make sure of a complete list) to send us a list of all marriages and all births within their churches. These names were kept in a file and once a month an issue of The Christian Home Series was sent to the new parents and one issue of selected Public Affairs Pamphlets (non-Seventh-day Adventist publication, but very acceptable) was sent to the newlyweds. In several instances only one parent or one marriage partner was a member of the Seventh-day Adventist church, and so we felt that this contact and interest shown was a good opportunity to encourage them in a spiritual way as well as in a practical way.

Premarriage Retreat

On Sabbath, May 5, 44 young people from Andrews University and community gathered at a quiet retreat near Allegan, Mich., at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Johnson. The program had been planned by Eld. E. C. Banks of the Seminary, in collaboration with other educational and church leaders as a group counseling service for those who were planning marriage during the spring or summer.

The day was profitably spent in emphasizing the factors which make for strength in marriage, and in pointing out the areas where marriage often deteriorates.

A Special Sabbath School lesson was prepared for the occasion by Elder

Banks, and was presented by Eld. Douglas Bennett. This was followed by a practical message from Eld. Archa O. Dart of the General Conference Department of Education. In the afternoon a panel was conducted by Mrs. E. C. Banks with several of the young people participating. Dr. R. W. Spaulding who is a practicing physician near Gobles gave valuable help which included the showing of films in the evening. Dr. D. W. Anderson, psychiatrist from Hinsdale Sanitarium, gave most practical help in his presentation. John Cassell, dean of students in the undergraduate school, gave a summation of presentations and discussions at the close of the afternoon session.

Questions were asked and answered in an easy and informal atmosphere. A copy of The Adventist Home was given to each couple by J. H. Rhoads, pastor of the Pioneer Memorial Church. Many of the young people expressed their deep gratitude for the retreat, and requested that it be made an annual event as a guidance service for other young people.

The Jacksonville (Fla.) Story

At a Florida Conference Workers' Meeting the following action was voted:

"Whereas, it is felt that the effectiveness of teachers as soul winners and as academic instructors will be improved if conditions in the homes can be improved, and whereas the development of better attitudes and habits of reverence, obedience, self-control, and self respect should be developed in the home (The Adventist Home, p. 182), we recommend that study be given to ways of awakening parents to the importance of early, persistent, consistent home training along lines pointed out in our Christian Home Series Leaflets."

Eld. Orley Berg, pastor of Jacksonville, Fla., church, reports:

"When the above encouragement was given the workers of our conference to carry out a program in our churches that would help strengthen the homes and the relation between the church, the school, and the home, we devised a plan in our Jacksonville church that proved very helpful.

"We devoted four Sabbath mornings to (1) 'Preparation for Marriage,' (2) 'Love, Dating, Courtship, and the Engagement,' (3) 'Happiness in Marriage,' and (4) 'The Making of the Family.'

"That the sermons might have as wide an influence as possible they were all duplicated and made available. This meant that they were read by many who did not hear them when delivered.

"On the first Sabbath of the Home Series, I announced the series of special Wednesday night panel discussions on the subject of the home and the rearing of the child. This series began the following Wednesday night at the regular prayer meeting hour and continued for eight weeks. The basis for the panel discussions were from the Christian Home Series—C. These booklets were purchased in quantity and also displayed in a prominent place in the narthex of the church. All were encouraged to study the booklet pertaining to the next Wednesday night's discussion.

"The total impact of this program was clearly evident. Strength was added to many homes as the parents saw anew the importance of the home training and were able to understand a little better how to carry out the responsibilities of parenthood."

Colporteurs Meet in Madison

Several of the Wisconsin colporteurs met in the Madison Church October 12 to 14 for a rally. They joined Eld. J. W. Proctor from the Lake Union along with the local Publishing secretaries, Eld. L. A. Pomeroy and Waldo Alger.

At the MV meeting Friday night, they viewed the wonderful picture "Like a Mighty Army" which has just been prepared by the General Conference. Elder Proctor spoke at the eleven o'clock service on Sabbath morning. In his inspiring sermon he told how the angels of God watch over those who are laboring for Him.

The colporteurs gave a good account of their soul-winning work Sabbath afternoon in a symposium. On Saturday night two more films were viewed by the church members and the colporteurs.

The rally closed just before noon Sunday morning. We pray that those who were at the meetings will catch a glimpse of what God can do through them when they give their hearts wholly to Him in service, striving to win souls for God's eternal kingdom.

The next rally to be held in Wisconsin will be November 16 to 18 in La Crosse. We hope many will attend these meetings.

Clear Lake Gets New Church School Building

A ground-breaking ceremony was held at the Clear Lake school on Monday, October 8. About 80 people were present even though the day was rainy. During the past few months the Clear Lake congregation was fortunate in being able to purchase a good brick school house just one mile from their former school. They are now in the process of building an additional room onto this property. The school that was purchased is modern, has a good furnace, and has plumbing in it. With an additional room it will make a fine school home for this thriving church school.

The Clear Lake church school was established in 1899 in a log building that had been the church. In 1918 another building was built and the school was enlarged to ten grades at a later date when a further addition was made to the school facilities.

Taking part in the ground-breaking ceremony were Harold Bagley, local elder of the Clear Lake Church, Eld. Robert Hampel, district pastor, Eld. R. E. Finney, Jr., conference president, and Lawrence Wolcott, school principal.

R. E. FINNEY, JR.

The Clear Lake congregation recently bought this birch school house for their church school. On October 8 they broke ground for a new addition.

With the Departmental Secretaries

Sabbath, Oct. 13, 1962, found the Wisconsin Conference departmental secretaries leading out at the following churches: Eld. A. W. Bauer, Sabbath School and Home Missionary secretary, at Fort Atkinson; Eld. C. H. Turner, Church and School Development secretary, at New London; Delmar Wood, assistant treasurer, at Sheboygan; Eld. L. A. Pomeroy, Publishing Department secretary, at Madison; Eld. L. G. Wartzok, secretary-treasurer, at Raymond.

During the previous week Eld. R. E. Finney, Jr., president of the Wisconsin Conference was at Appleton, where he is assisting Eld. L. R. Ellison with an effort in Appleton.

Also during the previous week, Elder Pomeroy and Eld. J. W. Proctor, Lake Union Publishing secretary, were itinerating throughout the northern part of the state, winding up their itinerary with a literature evangelistic rally at the Madison Church. Literature evangelists attending the rally were R. J. FitzGerald, from the Green Bay area; John Hoffman, from the Wausau area; Norman Lund, from the Milton area; and Sally Weiss, from Milwaukee.

Pierce-Sotola Wedding

Miss Karen Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Pierce, and Martin Sotola, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Sotola, both of Milwaukee, Wis., were united in marriage on Sunday, Aug. 5, 1962. The wedding took place in the Milwaukee Concordia Church. A former pastor, Eld. Daniel F. Roth, officiated at the ceremony with Duane Longfellow assisting. A dinner and reception was held after the ceremony. The couple went to Michigan and Canada on their honeymoon trip.

Prior to her marriage, the bride worked as a secretary and the groom attended and graduated from Emmanuel Missionary College. The groom is now the professor of music at Forest Lake Academy, Maitland, Fla., where they now reside. May God richly bless both of these Christian young people as they go ahead with God's work.

After a short trip the couple will be at home at 7708 S. Paulina St., Chicago 20, Ill.

May God bestow His blessing of marital happiness on this new home.

Ingathering Brings a Blessing

In the Ingathering a church has a double door to progress. Ingathering funds are used in healing humanity's wounds. The door of charity with compassion is opened.

As the ingatherer visits homes, accosts people on some busy street, or appeals to the businessman in his office, his work may seem remote from the actual relief of suffering. Notwithstanding, he presses on in his mission. This brings another blessing.

When members organize to work, set their goal for a short campaign, and put their life into the work, God honors their faith. This, in turn, increases their faith; and another door to progress is opened—the door of Christian growth in character.

Following the ceremony a reception was held on the church lawn. Mr. and Mrs. Lavallee left for a short honeymoon at Huntington Beach, Calif.

The bride is a graduate of Broadview Academy, and the bridegroom is serving in the Marine Corps at Twentynine Palms, Calif. The couple are at home at 7766 N. Star Drive, Twentynine Palms, Calif.

INDIANA

A "Call Back" to Say Thanks

Several weeks ago we shared with our readers the financial need of a number of students of Indiana Academy. Our heading read, "They Are Trusting Him." We are now calling back to assure our people that these earnest young people did not trust Him in vain. We quote from letters that have been received:

"After reading your article in the LAKE UNION HERALD this week and realizing the need of the two young girls mentioned, I felt I wanted to do my bit to help. It has always been said that our young people will help to finish God's work in the earth. They must have a chance. This isn't much ($25) but if only 20 or 30 other members could help by each meeting this amount what a great difference it would make in the situation. My heart has always been with the academy and its people and personnel." So wrote one of our sisters.

A few days later we received the following note from her husband: "I was just reading the letter from you to my wife thanking her for the $25. I feel that was a good invitation for me to send a little too, so I am sending a check for $75 and my heart goes with it for a wonderful work you are doing."

A church school teacher wrote to Elder Bartlett: "I have just read the article in the LAKE UNION HERALD by Elder Unruh about students needing financial help. I know how to sympathize with them. I was unable to get very far in school for the same reason. I am enclosing $50 toward such a fund and will try to send the same or more each month. I do not have much of this world's goods, but what little I have I want to be put helping others. God bless our young people as they strive to serve him."

God bless and reward generous hearts. Of such is the kingdom of God. If you who read these lines have not already treated yourself to the joy of sharing with needy youth, don't forfeit that pleasure by neglect. Many youth are trusting Him for help.

Evangelism in Indiana

Watch the HERALD for an announcement of an unusual evangelistic advance in 1963! It will appear shortly. In the meantime keep the following efforts on your prayer list. It is still true that more souls are won by praying than by preaching.

New Albany and Jeffersonville districts have been participating in the crusade directed by the Detamore team in Louisville. Already the fruit of the effort is ripening in our field. Elder Mohr reports that two baptisms are scheduled in New Albany.

November 10 to 17 Eld. Richard Fearing of Hinsdale, Ill., teams up with Eld. John Kroncke in the South Bend school auditorium.

Elders Vetter and Paden are currently conducting an effort in Evansville.

Robert Hirst and his wife are running a three-pronged effort in the district. Every Sunday night through January 27 in the Redman Hall in Monticello, every Sabbath morning in Monon at 9:30 a.m. and in Rensselaer at 11 a.m. This is a unique approach. We shall watch it with interest.

A three-week series in the Rochester Church will be conducted by W. J. Clemons and his wife. The series runs every night except Thursday from October 21 till November 10.

Eld. Harold L. Wernick is currently in a series of evangelistic meetings in the Fort Wayne Church. The attendance is encouraging.

Eld. John Herr is running a series of meetings in Alexandria. Meetings are held three nights a week and will continue for five weeks. The series opened October 14 and reported a good opening attendance.

Beginning October 27 in the Shelbyville Church Alfred Kromminga and William Haynes are uniting their efforts in a series that will continue every night except Tuesday through November 18.

Eld. Ralph Heiner finished a series of meetings in the Jeffersonville Church just prior to the opening of the Detamore effort in Louisville.

Eld. L. H. Cox is engaged in an effort in Lewis, Ind. It is hoped that this company will soon be organized into a church.

In this report we may have missed some efforts. This is without intent. Pray for all these efforts and the labors of our literature evangelists, our lay brethren and sisters, and our school teachers as unitedly we seek the salvation of the lost. T. E. UNRUH

Indianapolis Welfare Center

Through our Health and Welfare Centers Seventh-day Adventists are coming more and more to be known as those who are willing to lend a helping hand.

Mrs. Marjorie Earl, the director of our center that is sponsored by the churches of the Indianapolis area, has recently received some fine letters of commendation from city officials with whom she has been in contact.

One letter from the Marion County Department of Public Welfare, signed by the supervisor of volunteers, declares the following:

"For a good many years we have been referring our welfare recipients to you for supplemental help of all sort. We cannot say thank you often enough. Our caseworkers have come to accept you as one of our top resources. There are times when we may impose upon you, and this may be one of the times. Caseworkers are concerned about book referrals and school clothes because these items are essential to potential school dropouts.

"Mrs. W. H., caseworker, has reported her gratifying trip to your center Tuesday with Mrs. M. R. and Mrs. T. W. These mothers were relieved to have the nice new articles of clothing that will make it possible for their children to go happily to school.

"This is just a letter that you may know how we feel about the valuable service your organization is giving the community. We appreciate the fine spirit of your staff and look forward to our continued relationship with you."

Another letter signed by the Chief Supervisor of the Family Services Division addressed to Sister Earl states as follows:

"Mr. S. and the staff of the Intensive Casework Unit cordially invite you to attend at 3:30 on Tuesday, Aug. 7, 1962, a reception in recognition of those persons who have been extremely cooperative and helpful in the rehabilitation of some of our Assistance to Dependent Children families.

"I wish to personally thank you for your generous gifts and sincere interest in our Assistance to Dependent Children families. I know that our caseworkers have called on you many times when they had urgent needs and simply did not know where to turn for help. Your assistance has meant a great deal to not only the Intensive Casework Unit, but to our entire Family Services Division Staff."

It takes many months of hard, painstaking work to build up a reputation which brings such responses. Sometimes these faithful workers in our church are only a few in number. Sometimes they may be tempted to give up because more of our members do not feel the burden of participating. But only our Saviour and the angels of heaven know the total value of good that is being done. Occasionally a little gleam of appreciation, like the above, beams through and helps to bring encouragement.

We believe a minimum objective should be a Welfare Center in every district and a Welfare Unit in every church.

LAKE REGION

New Conference Secretary-Treasurer

Eld. M. C. Van Putten has been asked by the Lake Region executive committee to assume the responsibility of conference secretary-treasurer. Elder Van Putten began his ministerial career in the Lake Region Conference in June 1951, immediately after his graduation from Emmanuel Missionary College. Before that time he was a student at Oakwood College. Elder Van Putten has served as pastor of many churches in the Lake Region: Inkster, Muskegon Heights, and Grand Rapids, Mich., and Indianapolis, Ind., to name a few. It was under his leadership that the beautiful New Capitol Avenue school building was erected in Indianapolis, Ind.

Elder and Mrs. Van Putten and their four children have already moved to Chicago. We ask for the Van Puttens a continued interest in your prayers.

C. E. BRADFORD
President

J. H. Jones to Assume New Duties

Eld. J. H. Jones, Jr., who has served as secretary-treasurer of the Lake Region Conference since June 1960, has recently been appointed associate secretary for the MV and Educational Departments by the executive committee. Elder Jones has a rich background for leadership in youth activities, having served as MV and Educational secretary of the Central States Conference for a number of years. It should also be added that his wife Mrs. Elva Jones, a talented and capable youth leader, worked closely with her husband in the development of the successful youth program in the Central States Conference.

We have a very large number of young people in our conference and I am sure that Elder Jones will provide vigorous and dynamic leadership for these lambs of the flock on a conference-wide basis. I personally wish to solicit your prayers and cooperation on behalf of Elder and Mrs. Jones as they take up their new responsibility on or about Nov. 1, 1962.

Evangelism Vacation Bible School

The summer months offer church laymen and officers the best time for evangelistic activities, although it is rather difficult at the close of summer to find out actually what did transpire. The Mizpah Church of Gary, Ind., conducted a very successful V.B.S. this past July 16 to 27, under the direction of their superintendent, Mrs. Susie Williams.

They were successful in securing a total enrollment of 165 children of whom 117 were non members of the church. With 38 members of the church assisting on their staff, they provided a recreational, educational, and spiritual opportunity for the children in attendance that culminated in the awarding of 93 certificates at the closing exercises. The seed of God's Word is being sown. The tender plants are being nurtured. The future harvest will be sure.

Hats off to the Gary Church and its V.B.S. staff in their evangelistic adventure in child evangelism.

News From the MV Office

Impressive Investiture Service Held at Milwaukee

Sabbath, September 29, was a high day at the Sharon Church in Milwaukee where Eld. E. S. Dillett has succeeded Eld. W. G. Mills as pastor. The morning service was dedicated to the Pathfinders. It was the writer's good privilege to be the guest speaker. It was a beautiful picture to see the entire church pay tribute to the Pathfinders as they marched in to take their seats for the morning worship service. Mrs. Saleaka Harrison, Pathfinder director, had arranged a good program which everyone appreciated greatly.

At the 3:30 hour, four Master Guides, Mrs. Saleaka Harrison, Mrs. Edith Robinson, Mrs. Alby Boon, and Dallas Pottinger, were invested. These Master Guides were reminded by the conference MV secretary that they were entrusted with the highest honor of Four Master Guides of Milwaukee, Wis.

Missionary Volunteering that the church can offer. They were also led in pledging continued support to the Missionary Volunteer work. Several Pathfinders were also invested: eight Friends, five Companions, one Explorer, and one Guide. Mr. and Mrs. James White are to be complimented for leading this group into completing their preparation for investiture. The leadership is already planning for another investiture in the near future.

Many Attend Open House

On the last Sunday afternoon of August a large crowd gathered at the new Indianapolis Church School for the program and open house which was scheduled for 4 p.m. On hand for the occasion were representatives from the local and union conference offices and from the office of the mayor of Indianapolis.

The opening prayer was offered by Eld. N. J. Johnson, pastor of the Indianapolis Glendale Church. Eld. C. E. Bradford, president of the Lake Region Conference, served as the master of ceremonies for the program which included short speeches by Noble P. Hollister, representative from the mayor's office; Eld. G. E. Hutches, Lake Union Educational superintendent; Eld. J. E. Roache, MV and Educational secretary of the Lake Region Conference; Eld. C. N. Willison, MV and Educational secretary of the Indiana Conference; Louis Hackney, Jr., who gave the history of the school; and Eld. M. C. Van Putten, pastor of the church. Musical selections were rendered by Miss Millicent Moreland, a former student of the Indianapolis Church School.

The school building was appropriately decorated throughout, and in the gymnasium-auditorium were the words in large letters "Pursuit of Excellence Under God."

Following the program the guests were conducted on tours through the building and were then served refreshments from the beautiful new school kitchen.

Spotlight on Lake Region Personnel

The camera spotlight is focused this week on Eld. Samuel Flagg, former pastor of the Benton Harbor, Dowagiac, and Kalamazoo, Mich., District, who is now transferred to the Gary and East Chicago, Ind., District. Elder Flagg is pictured here with his family: Helen Flagg, a school teacher; and two children, Samuel and Genevieve.

The Lake Region Conference is favored in having the services of Elder Flagg, who is an all-around pastor and evangelist. The constituency appointed him to the Conference Committee at the last biennial session in recognition of his sound leadership ability. As he labors with us, a shepherd of the flock with a missionary spirit, will you not pray for him and his family that his ministry will be fruitful unto the Lord.

MICHIGAN

Marshall Church Organized

Climaxing several months of branch Sabbath School activity as a missionary project of the Battle Creek Tabernacle, about thirty Seventh-day Adventists of Calhoun County were organized by

Eld. N. C. Wilson, president of the Michigan Conference, into the Marshall Church on Sabbath, October 13.

Reviewing the events that led to such a happy occasion, Eld. R. D. Moon, pastor of the Tabernacle, gave appreciative recognition to all who had served, including Mrs. Beryl Davison, Bible instructor; Brother and Sister Ronald Ewald; Gordon Weidemann and James Wycoff who held an effort there, and James Wilson, assistant pastor of the Tabernacle.

Most of the members of the new church transferred from the Tabernacle, but some came from nearby churches including Bunker Hill, Coldwater, and Urbandale. Two united subject to baptism which was performed that afternoon at the Tabernacle.

The Marshall Church meets at 9:30 a.m. for church service, and at 10:45 a.m. for Sabbath School in the G.A.R. Hall, at Michigan and Exchange Streets, Marshall, but we look forward to the day when a more satisfactory location may be found. We solicit the prayers of God's people for the effective service and growth of this new branch of God's great family.

The new Lapeer Church has a good location along a busy highway and is a blessing to the congregation as well as a good addition to the city.

Eld. Jack Price, pastor of the Lapeer Church, welcomes members and visitors to the Open Door ceremony of the new sanctuary on Sabbath, October 6.

New Lapeer Church Opens Its Doors

The opening of the new Lapeer church on Sabbath, October 6, marked a tremendous advance for the congregation.

Just five months previous, on May 6, the church members broke ground for a new sanctuary. The day previous they had celebrated the hundredth anniversary of the founding of the congregation.

The Lapeer church was fortunate to have as one of its members a contractor, Vern Hunt, who supervised the construction, much of which was done by volunteer labor. It is estimated that 60 per cent of the labor was donated. Before mentioning costs of the new structure the features should be examined.

Built in the shape of an "L," the new sanctuary is all on one floor. One wing houses the classrooms, including junior, primary, and kindergarten rooms, and provision is also made for a Dorcas room.

The other wing has the church proper with a seating capacity of 250. All of the floors are tile and the sanctuary will have carpeted aisle and altar. This was the only portion of the church that was not finished. However, the carpet has been purchased and it had been hoped that it would have arrived in time but did not. The interior side walls of the sanctuary are of mahogany with exposed stone being used to good advantage in the front and rear of the auditorium. The exposed arches as well as the blonde oak pews help to create a tasteful color scheme. The Lapeer church ranks as one of the most beautiful structures in Michigan. The exterior of the building is of block and Miami stone.

The cost of the new church, including furnishings, new piano, and organ, is about fifty-two thousand dollars. A conservative estimate of the valuation would place it above the hundred thousand dollar mark, but the lower figure should be an inspiration to other congregations planning to build with limited finances.

Under the leadership of their pastor, Eld. Jack Price, the members worked many long hours on the construction, and the success of the building program is due to this cooperation. The chairman of the building committee was Dr. William C. Heatsch, and the head of the finance committee was Dr. Cornell J. Greavu.

Guest speaker for the Open Door services was Eld. N. C. Wilson, conference president, who was also present at the ground-breaking services. Two former pastors also took part in the program. They were Eld. John Erhard, now at Pontiac, and Eld. Raymond Hamstra, Livonia. District superintendent Eld. Robert Kachenmeister was also present.

Charlotte Church Centennial

The Seventh-day Adventist Church in Charlotte was 100 years old on October 26. Special services for the occasion were held Sabbath, October 27, and featured Dr. E. K. Vande Vere, professor of church history at Andrews University, as the speaker for the worship hour. Dr. Vande Vere presented a historical sketch of the work and its growth in Michigan.

The Charlotte church was organized Oct. 26, 1862, following a series of meetings conducted during the summer by Elders J. N. Loughborough and Moses Hull. Writing on June 17, 1862, to Eld. James White, Elder Loughborough reported: "We pitched our tent [in Charlotte] according to appointment. The first evening we had a congregation of 200; the next evening 400; the next evening 600; the next 800. Monday evening, which is generally considered the poorest night in a week for meetings, we had between six and seven hundred; last night, 800 again. Several loads of people come four and five miles every night after working hard all day."

The Eaton County Argus reported on June 16, 1862, that "Tent meetings are being held in our village by Elders Loughborough and Hull of the Second Advent persuasion from Battle Creek. They are largely attended and a good deal of interest is manifested by the hearers. We heard there one of the best exposures of modern spiritualism on Sunday last we ever heard or read. Evening meetings are announced to continue through the present week."

From those early beginnings in a tent, the church has grown until it became necessary to build the present structure, a spacious building completed this past June under the direction of Eld. William F. Hawkes.

"First Fruits" of Evangelism—44 New Members

Forty-four new members were received into the fellowship of Detroit's Oakwood Boulevard Church as a result of the series of meetings held in the church from Aug. 26 though Sept. 16, 1962, by Elders Roger Holley and Fred Speyer of the "Christ for Today" team from the Ohio Conference. Two additional converts have joined the Detroit Metropolitan Church.

Included among the "first-fruits" are nine members of a Mexican family who were influenced to attend the meetings by Eld. W. A. Fagal of the Faith for Today telecast.

In the coming storm Seventh-day Adventists will need to be a tower of strength to all their neighbors and friends. They must be prepared to radiate hope and cheer and comfort. And they can begin to do it now by sharing with them the spiritual blessings available in Courage for the Crisis.

HINSDALE SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL

Gold Rush Days Live Again!

Individuals living within driving distance of Hinsdale, Ill., will have the opportunity of reliving the Great Gold Rush of '98 when famed travel lecturer Don Cooper shows his colored film "Klondike" the night of November 3, at David Paulson Auditorium, 631 Hickory Street. This colorful chapter in American history will be recalled to mind as Don and his brother, Dennis, retrace the footsteps of their wanderlust-laden grandfather over Chilkoot Pass and down five hundred miles of the roaring Yukon River. Their laugh-loaded adventures take them to many of the one-time roaring mining camps, into primitive Yukon Indian "fish camps," and eventually to famed old Bonanza Creek with its one remaining prospector still "holding down his claim."

This film is also the most complete ever made on traveling the Alaskan Highway, with pertinent information on how to go, when to go, what to see, accommodations, road conditions, "off the road" spots of interest, etc. A special feature shows the famed inland sea passage to Alaska by steamship, one of the biggest vacation thrills in America.

In speaking of Don Cooper, the Spokesman Review of Spokane, Wash., had this to say:

"About Coop's second appearance in Spokane . . . 10,106 persons thrilled by travelogue . . . many would-be spectators turned away as the Coliseum was filled to capacity . . . one of the masterpieces of travelogue that makes you want to hit the trail . . . right now . . ."

The program will begin at 8 p.m., with doors opening one hour earlier. The nominal charge will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Week of Religious Emphasis Concluded

The worship services of Sabbath, October 20, in Pioneer Memorial Church concluded the Andrews University Fall Week of Religious Emphasis with the topic "God's Account With the Nations," presented by speaker of the week, Eld. William Loveless.

This ended the week's series "Ultimate Questions and the Christian Outlook" in which the Pastor of the Sligo Seventh-day Adventist Church sought to stimulate interest in the primary issues of life which include man's relationship to God and to the world in which he lives.

Emphasized during the week was the opportunity and responsibility for individual witness within the Christian community. A unique feature, "Dialogue," an informal discussion period conducted by Elder Loveless, provided opportunity for students to exchange ideas and actively probe deeper into topics presented at regular meetings. Prayer bands were conducted at various times throughout the day under the leadership of the undergraduate faculty.

Loveless is a 1949 graduate of Walla Walla College after which he served in evangelistic and pastoral work in the Upper Columbia Conference. He received the M. A. degree in Bible and Systematic Theology from the Theological Seminary in 1953. Currently, he is a candidate for the doctorate in education from the University of Maryland.

A.U. Hosts Council of Churches Lecture Series

"The Priority Problems of Self, Sex, Segregation, and Survival" was the topic explored by retired Methodist minister Dr. Henry Hitt Crane, in morning lectures on October 15 to 18 at the Andrews University Seminary Hall. This lecture series was sponsored by the Spiritual Life Committee of the Berrien County Council of Churches.

University students and faculty along with interested clergy and laity of the area were invited by Dr. Crane to consider with him during the week "priority problems which everyone must face at one time or another in his life."

"As pastor of the Central Methodist Church in Detroit, Mich., for 20 years and active in promoting a pacifist approach to world problems, Dr. Crane is well qualified for this type of work," commented the Rev. Walter Price, secretary for the National Council of Churches of Berrien County.

With the Faculty

Dr. Earle Hilgert, professor of New Testament literature at Andrews University, is currently presenting the theme "The Peace That Passeth Understanding" to students and faculty at Columbia Union College during their Religious Emphasis Week.

At an institute held for teachers from West Virginia and the East and West Pennsylvania Conferences, Dr. T. H. Jemison, professor of education, presented the keynote address on October 14 in Reading, Pa.

The Dean of Women, Arlene Friestad, attended the Institute on Mental Health for ministers and educators at Harding Sanitarium, Worthington, Ohio, October 7 to 10. The institute promoted a better understanding of emotionally disturbed persons as well as insights into professional working relationships.

At a recent impressive ceremony Dr. Kenneth Strand, Seminary professor of church history, dedicated the book which he edited, Dawn of Modern Civilization, to his major professor, Dr.

Albert Hyma of the University of Michigan.

Dr. F. O. Rittenhouse, president of Andrews University, attended Fall Council held in Takoma Park, Md., from October 18 to 22.

Campus Bakery Route Extended

A total of 32 stores are now being served by the cafeteria bakery's two bread routes, according to Donald Knecht, director of the cafeteria and bakery.

Formed in July of this year, the routes make a full run every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, with a partial run on Sunday, Tuesday, and Thursday. Route one services 20 stores in Berrien Springs, Eau Claire, Dowagiac, and Niles, and route two supplies 12 stores in Scottsdale, Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, Stevensville, Baroda, Bridgman, Sawyer, Galien, and Buchanan.

Mr. Knecht listed three main benefits from the bread routes which deliver an average of three thousand loaves per week and bring in from $2,500 to $2,800 per month: (1) Full or part-time work is provided for eight to ten additional students; (2) The cafeteria operates without an additional raise in food prices; and (3) Good contacts are being established with neighborhood merchants.

In addition to sprouted wheat bread, which is most in demand, the bakery is also supplying a limited line of pastries.

Tom Forbes from Philadelphia, Pa., performs a vital step in the bread-making process.

The engineer and the engine are under the direction of Chester Feak as they go around the yards carrying out the switching needs of the factories in the Menominee area.

Adventists in Action

Railroader Witnesses in His Community

by MORTEN JUBERG

RAILROADING is not an occupation generally associated with Adventists, probably because of the difficulties of keeping the Sabbath. However, Chester Feak of Escanaba is one of the small handful of Adventist railroadmen who have discharged their dual responsibilities by being faithful to their employers and their God.

Feak has been an employee of the Milwaukee Railroad for 38 years and for the past 27 years has been a Seventh-day Adventist. Probably the fact he had some seniority before becoming a church member has protected his job, but an individual's personal philosophy and faith have a greater effect.

Feak sums up his feelings in these words: "When a man sets his mind to keep the Sabbath, the Lord opens the way." This is not to say that the way has always been easy. His work is geared to the ore season, which runs roughly from April through November. The winter months find Feak in Menominee, some 50 miles to the southwest, where he is the foot-board yard master. He has charge of an engine and a crew which does switching work in the Menominee yards. The summer months find him in Escanaba around the ore docks.

These great wooden structures jut out into Little Bay de Noc of Lake Michigan, and a steady stream of lake freighters comes there to load iron ore. Feak is a yard foreman most of the time and is responsible for the line-up of the ore cars which are unloaded high above the ore freighters.

Fridays, as one might expect, can be difficult days. The switching crew has a certain amount of work to do, and difficulties can easily lengthen the day. This is especially true during the winter at Menominee when the sun sets quite early. So on Fridays he offers a prayer something like this: "Lord, today is Friday. Things have to go well so I can be through on time, for your sake. I am going to keep the Sabbath regardless of what may happen today, but I want your cause to prosper. You're running the program, and I need your help."

God honors a simple prayer like this and the fact Feak has retained his job for so many years testifies to this.

Feak is also active in community affairs. He is township supervisor for the Ford River Township and is automatically a member of the Delta County board of supervisors. This group, composed of 14 township supervisors and 13 members from the towns of the county, is the county's governing body.

This office is elective, and Feak has held the position for two separate periods totaling 11 years. In his work he is responsible for all the assessing in the township, makes out the assessment and tax rolls, and is a member of the board of review.

Everyone he works with on these board meetings knows he is an Adventist, and consequently there are no difficulties of Friday night or Sabbath committee meetings. They are automatically changed to some other time. As a church elder and active lay worker, Feak finds that the civic contacts he makes aid in the work of the church. "Step out in faith, and God will do the rest" sums up his ideas of participation in community affairs.

A typical pose shows Chester Feak signaling the switch engine as two freight cars are coupled.

Freight cars come from all parts of the nation, and eventually Chester Feak has a chance to work with them all.
