Winning and Holding

by THEODORE CARCICH, Vice-president, North American Division

OUR TASK is to win and hold disciples for Christ. There is no virtue in bringing thousands in through the front door of the church while thousands are leaving through the back door. Apostasy may never be entirely eliminated, but it can be drastically reduced when our evangelism follows God's pattern.

Preaching alone does not win a person to God's truth. Besides listening to the spoken Word, the prospective convert needs to read the written Word. This he must do for himself if he is to understand the foundation principles of saving truth. When an individual's search for truth is directed and confirmed by written arguments and evidences, that individual, under

New Voices in the King's Heralds

For a quarter of a century the stirring call, "Lift Up the Trumpet," has proclaimed each radio broadcast of the Voice of Prophecy and has served to immortalize the harmonizing voices of the King's Heralds. Despite occasional changes in personnel, this familiar vocal group has been careful to maintain the same distinctive sound since its first coast-to-coast broadcast in 1942. Their inimitable style and refined arrangements of gospel songs have made them one of the world's best-known-and-loved religious quartets.

This year the Voice of Prophecy goes on the air with two new voices in the quartet. Jack Veazey, baritone, and Jim McClintock, bass, replace Wayne Hooper and Jerry Dill, respectively. Joining Bob Edwards, first tenor, and John Thurber, second tenor, these ministers of song are making the service of the Master first and foremost in their lives, as those before them have done.

For more than 17 years, Wayne Hooper has been the baritone of the King's Heralds. Now he will devote full time to securing a wider variety

Pathfinders Give Records to Radio Station

A project of the Western Wayne Buffaloes Pathfinder Club is one that will be heard in the Detroit area for a long time to come.

There are several FM radio stations that have special programs of religious music each day. The Pathfinder Club recently presented 25 long-playing records to one of these stations, WBFG-FM.

Included were records featuring Adventist musicians such as the King's Heralds, Del Delker, Faith for Today and Betty Lawson.

The club has plans to present records to another Detroit FM station soon.

In the photo above, Bonnie and Jim Ely, representing the club, present the records to a member of the station staff.

in the musical presentations of English and foreign-language broadcasts. As a result, the new quartet will be able to expand their public appearances and singing in other languages. Recording sessions will occupy only part of their time. Appointment requests pour in, faster and more numerous than can possibly be accepted. Personal appearances will take these men away from their homes and families, often for weeks at a time. Old arrangements will be revised and new hymns will be learned. Hours of rehearsing and recording will be required every week. Songs in foreign languages will have to be learned and pronunciation perfected, until their singing can hardly be distinguished from that of those who are native to the languages. This intensive, almost endless schedule will demand complete dedication on the part of every member of the Voice of Prophecy music group.

More people are now being reached by radio than ever before. Europe I, the most powerful radio station in the world, has recently accepted Voice of Prophecy programs in three major languages—English, Russian, and Spanish. Its 1,400,000 watts of power blanket all of Europe, much of Russia, North Africa, and the Near East. Additional station time has been purchased in the Far East and in South America.

Bible schools all over the world are receiving more applications for Bible lessons than limited budgets will allow them to accept. Millions on every continent are starving for the message of hope and peace that the Voice of Prophecy is eager to send to them by radio. Though large numbers are being reached today, vast areas of the world are still groping in spiritual darkness.

Much will be expected of the King's Heralds in the days ahead, in cooperation with Voice of Prophecy speaker Eld. H. M. S. Richards, contralto soloist Del Delker, and organist Brad Braley. As they blend their voices with the electronic magic of radio, spirits will be lifted heavenward, broken hearts will be mended, and eager minds will be turned to the matchless gift of God's grace. This dedicated team will need our sustaining prayers and continuing support. FRED M. LEE

Michigan A.U.C. Alumni to Organize Chapter

A.U.C. Alumni will be organizing a Michigan chapter at Andrews University on January 31 in the Hoosier Room of the Campus Health Center at 5:45 p.m. Mrs. Rochelle P. Kilgore will be present to assist in the organization.

See Film on Puerto Rico

Individuals living in the Hinsdale area will have opportunity to become better acquainted with a lesser-known part of the United States territory on the night of February 16, when photographer-explorer Fran William Hall comes to David Paulson Auditorium, 631 Hickory St., with his color film entitled "Puerto Rico—Caribbean Treasure Isle."

Following in the footsteps of the Spanish conquistadors and Captain Kidd, Hall found not pirate treasure, but a rich bounty of human interest. History comes to life as one travels about Puerto Rico, reminding the visitor that almost a hundred years before the Pilgrims this golden island was settled, and was a stopping point for ships coming to the Spanish Main.

From the floor of the turquoise Caribbean to mountain-top rain forests, Puerto Rico is an island of extreme contrasts. Here among the coral reefs, Hall took his camera underwater to photograph colorful fish and sea urchins; along the shore he discovered the primitive giant iguana lizard and watched enormous hermit crabs scaling trees in search of food. Lady With a Green Thumb Visitors coming in out of the sub-zero weather had to rub their eyes to see if the giant plant blooming in the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital administrative offices was real. The four large orange blossoms, fully seven and a half inches across, protruded symmetrically from a single sturdy stalk some 20 inches high.

The lady with the green thumb responsible for this mid-winter giant is Anna Pedersen, who was an employee of the hospital for 57 years. She reports that the flower is called an amaryllis lily. During the hospital's summer competition Miss Pedersen won a $25 award for her outstanding garden. (Photo by Pendleton) the ministry of the Holy Spirit, is well on the way of accepting and retaining the truth in its fullness, no matter what the cost may be. Lest this be considered an extravagant statement, I would invite the careful reading of the following:

"Though the minister may faithfully present the message, the people are not able to retain it all. The printed page is therefore essential, not only in awakening them to the importance of the truth for this time, but in rooting and grounding them in the truth, and establishing them against deceptive error. Papers and books are the Lord's means of keeping the message for this time continually before the people. In enlightening and confirming souls in the truth, the publications will do a far greater work than can be accomplished by the ministry of the word alone. The silent messengers that are placed in the homes of the people through the work of the canvasser, will strengthen the gospel ministry in every way; for the Holy Spirit will impress minds as they read the books, just as He impresses the minds of those who listen to the preaching of the word. The same ministry of angels attends the books that contain the truth as attends the work of the minister."—Testimonies, Vol. 6, pp. 315, 316. (Italics added.)

The question might rightfully be asked as to what particular books, among others, are valuable in "enlightening and confirming souls in the truth"? We are not left in the dark as to the answer.

Again we read, "Many will depart from the faith and give heed to seducing spirits. Patriarchs and Prophets and Great Controversy are books that are especially adapted to those who have newly come to the faith, that they may be established in the truth. . . . Those who become thoroughly acquainted with the lessons in these books will see the dangers before them. They will be kept from strange paths. They will make straight paths for their feet, lest the lame be turned out of the way.

"In Desire of Ages, Patriarchs and Prophets, Great Controversy, and Daniel and the Revelation there is precious instruction. These books must be regarded as of special importance, and every effort should be made to get them before the people."—Evangelism, p. 366.

In view of the foregoing counsel, has not the time come for our conferences and churches to increase greatly the distribution and reading of books whereby converts are "established in the truth"? In every conference more and still more of our members should be trained to take such books from door to door until all cities, towns, and villages are covered. In our churches men, women, and youth otherwise employed need to be enlisted in a program whereby they can devote a few hours each week to the distribution and sale of such literature. If we ever expect to encompass the task before us, each Seventh-day Adventist must take upon himself the personal responsibility of buying, reading, and distributing truth-filled literature. When this is done we shall witness greater accessions to the church and less apostasies.

Thus hath God counseled us. Let us arise and do accordingly!

"Smoke Signals" to Be Published Monthly

Smoke Signals, the colorful, four-page quarterly that tells why tobacco kills, has now become a monthly.

So says W. A. Scharffenberg, executive secretary of the American Temperance Society. "This four-page creation was geared to inform the laymen in an easy-to-read style the scientific and medical proof of why tobacco kills," he stated. "And now because of additional need for information in this area, we will publish Smoke Signals in 1963 as a monthly."

He noted that Smoke Signals has been published for nearly a decade and has reached upwards of 100,000 people during that time. Thus, subscribers who formerly received this publication as a quarterly now can secure three times as much information.

"Untold numbers of smokers who have read Smoke Signals have been inspired to give up their smoking habits," he declared. "For example, Alvin C. Jones of Grand Rapids, Mich., recently wrote that he gave an issue of Smoke Signals to two men where he works.

"One man in his early forties has nine children. The other man in his twenties has six children. After reading this particular issue, both immediately (See "SMOKE SIGNALS" on page 10)

ON CHURCH SCHOOLS

Where Are the Youth?

A good look at our evangelistic soul-winning program seems to be in order as we begin a new year.

It was pointed up in the third quarter's report of 1962 that for every two baptisms we had during that time there was one drop-out. It was further learned that the great majority of these drop-outs were under 30 years of age.

We are probably all aware that the peak age for baptisms is around 12, and that 85 to 90 per cent of those educated in our schools stay with the church.

What is happening in our midst? The Advent message is most surely attractive and challenging in itself to youth. Youth leaders were the pioneers of the church. Are we losing our youth for fear of entrusting responsibility to them today, or is there some other reason? What is the example of dedication and faith that we are giving them?

Reports are often heard that only about 50 per cent of the eligible youth from our Adventist homes are in our schools. We also know that we lose 80 to 90 per cent from the church of those not attending our schools. The Lake Union seems to just about fit into the fifty-fifty category of school attendance.

Eris Kier, principal of Plainview Academy in South Dakota, states that they have 90 per cent of the potential students of their territory in their academy, and that they hope to make it 100 per cent next year. This is a worthy goal indeed. If that were to happen in the academies of the Lake Union Conference our facilities would not contain them. Every academy would be overflowing, and the potential for baptisms in the Lake Union Conference would immediately be doubled.

A letter under date of December 15 from the General Conference Department of Education states that one conference in North America has 17.5 children in church school for every 100 members, and that another conference has only 2.5 children enrolled for each 100 members. Neither of these conferences is in the Lake Union. We come into the record around the middle point. The most striking figure given is that of the nearly 50,000 children enrolled in grades 1 through 10 in our schools, 62 per cent have not been baptized—29,441 to be exact.

We are accountable for our portion of these in the Lake Union.

A dictionary of religious growth in the United States says that in 1850 there were 1,073 Roman Catholic Churches in the United States with 1,081 priests and 1,233,350 members. The prelates met in Baltimore and decided to send a pastoral letter to the laity to emphasize two things. They said, "The principal matters of exhortation are—the necessity of greatly increasing the number of priests, and the importance of the education of children."

We have great light. We often speak of the blueprint, but time is running out. The year 1963 brings us another chance to meet the challenge of saving our youth.

Fifteen Minutes Every Day

Are you reading the Bible in 1963?

Are you numbered with the Missionary Volunteers that are using fifteen minutes every day reading the Book of Books?

Are you receiving the blessings that come from reading God's letter to His children?

This is the fifth week in the new year and during this week we all may enjoy the Morning Watch and read Exodus 35 through Leviticus 12. To give you a good start for every day read Morning Manna, the book for family and individual morning devotions.

Keep your appointment daily with God.

Former Member Returns

About 25 welfare workers met at the new Welfare Center the day before Christmas and packed 25 Christmas baskets which were delivered to families that were found during Ingathering and other contacts.

One elderly lady who had dropped her church membership years ago accepted an invitation to come back to the church again. Mr. and Mrs. Sterling had kept in touch with her during the intervening years by personal visits and, while delivering a food basket this year, the invitation to return to church fellowship was made. She accepted and is sincerely rejoicing to be in the church again. Let us ever watch for those who are waiting to be garnered in.

God has greatly increased our happiness by giving us the privilege of sharing our blessings with those who are less fortunate.

Sunday Closing Law Turned Down in La Crosse

On the evening of January 4 a hearing before two hundred persons was held in the City Hall in La Crosse on a proposed Sunday closing law. It was a time of tension and men were eager to speak. The hearing lasted two hours.

Speakers both for and against the proposed law were heard and were later quoted in the press. Our pastor, John Holstein, called it "unconstitutional, un-American, and un-Christian."

A five-member committee of the Common Council turned thumbs down on the proposed law. Later at a regular Common Council meeting it was tabled by a unanimous vote.

On January 5 an editorial appeared in our La Crosse Tribune entitled "The Issue on Sunday Closing Law Is Freedom of Choice—and we're for that."

Chicagoland Dorcas Federation

As the mercury struggled in vain to reach the zero mark, over one hundred faithful Dorcas workers braved the elements to attend the Chicagoland Dorcas Federation held January 15 at the Conference Office in Brookfield.

The president, Mrs. Herman Kleist, opened the meeting by reminding us that a whole new year was before us—to set our standards high and to make new records in whatever we might attempt.

For a moment we thought back over the old year as we sang "A Year of Precious Blessings," and I am sure that we all vowed to do better during this new year.

Eld. E. L. Allen reminded us in the devotional that whatever we do we should look only to Christ as our inspiration. If we are true Christians, working only with unselfish motives, we bring peace and happiness to ourselves, as well to those we minister unto.

The special music was the beautiful duet "Hold Thou My Hand" sung by Mrs. E. D. Calkins and Eld. R. D. Fearing.

A skit, "The Measuring Rod," enacted by Mrs. E. L. Allen and Mrs. Joseph Dobias, and narrated by Miss Adeline Kleist, portrayed the very touching dream of one who did not take part in the activities of the church, and therefore did not "measure up" to the standards set for entrance into heaven. As this poor soul was measured, each one present silently measured herself. How many of us would have made it, were this measuring rod used on us?

The reports from all of the societies of their holiday experiences were most inspirational. Many are now attending church and Sabbath School because some Dorcas worker fed their spiritual hunger as well as their physical hunger.

The sad obituary of a Dead Dorcas Society was read as each one present passed before a casket in which a mirror rested. Each face reflected there is responsible for the life or death of the Dorcas Society. Let it always be said that every one of us is working to keep the Dorcas alive, and that not one of us is responsible for its death.

Following a delicious pot-luck luncheon served by the Brookfield and La Grange societies, we reassembled to listen to a most interesting talk by Eld. D. T. Hawley, Director of Public Relations for the Hinsdale Sanitarium. His message was centered around the great work a Dorcas Society could do in Pakistan, the poorest country in southeast Asia.

Before closing, Mrs. Kleist gave us several quotations to use to encourage all church members to become regular givers to Dorcas.

A complete circle was formed around the room as we all joined hands and sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." May this circle remain unbroken as we walk together to the Heavenly Kingdom.

We were dismissed by repeating together the "Mizpah."

Do You Like the Outdoors?

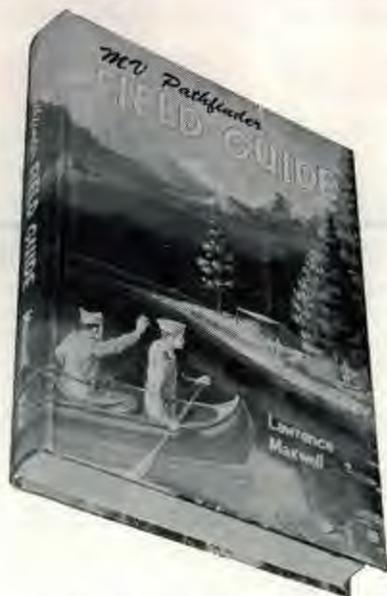

Is the call of the wild beckoning you?

Is an undigested urge for adventure bothering you?

Do maps and pictures stimulate you?

Wonderful! Why don't you just settle that little voice by satisfying it now. Begin preparation for that which has been enticing you, whether it be a canoe trip to Canada or down the famous Wabash, whether it be a campfire by the side of a mirror-surfaced lake in the wilderness or a night in the back pasture, by getting out your Pathfinder Field Guide and pouring over this thrilling volume. (However, this is not guaranteed as a cure in all cases as it might tend to excite, depending on the individual circumstances.) It is divided into two major sections: Outdoor activities, showing how to use a compass, what to do if lost, how to make a map, how to cook outdoors, and many other interesting, necessary things dear to my heart.

The second major section deals with nature, with chapters of rocks and minerals, stars, weather, birds, animals, snakes, trees, flowers and even spiders.

This book is a MUST for Pathfinders, their leaders and counselors, for MV Society leaders, for every church school teacher and church school library.

Anyone who likes outdoor things will find this book of special interest and value.

Indiana Academy Music Department

Everyone enjoys the thrill of receiving something new and useful. The music department at Indiana Academy has just recently experienced a thrill that few departments can. Nine brand-new Hamilton school-practice-pianos were placed in the newly re-decorated practice rooms.

Not only has the music department been obtaining new space and equipment, but it has also been growing and improving to meet the demands and keep pace. Nearly fifty students are taking piano lessons and almost that many are studying voice, with about fifteen instrumentalists. There will be an informal recital after the beginning of the second semester and another large spring recital later on. The students are able to put their talents to very good use in providing music for all of the religious and secular programs on the campus. This experience and training is invaluable for them.

The former administration building has been remodeled to provide new, spacious, comfortable vocal and piano studios for lessons. There are nine small, well-lighted and ventilated practice rooms, and a large band rehearsal room. The choir room doubles also as an informal recital hall, with two identical new pianos especially for piano duo work. There will be nearly ten piano teams. The floors in the halls gleam with colorful vinyl tiling.

All these well-wrought plans and new facilities afford unlimited opportunities for the music students at Indiana Academy and will contribute greatly to the whole school program in general. The students who study music here, taking advantage of these golden opportunities, will be enabled to serve their home churches better which will, in turn, enrich their own happiness. Many new students are signing up for lessons, which reveals the progress and growth of the music department. We have every indication to look forward with great anticipation to the many wonderful things that can be accomplished both now and in the future for furnishing God's service with musical talent from Indiana Academy.

Sabbath School Investment Projects

The reports on Sabbath School Investment for 1962 that have reached the conference Sabbath School Department show that 1962 was a banner year for the Sabbath School membership of the conference in Investment projects. The new Investment secretaries for 1963 are invited to present their plans early so that a continued good work might be promoted in this new year.

The picture shown of just one class of primary children of the Detroit City Temple Church is indicative of the potential that can be cultivated and realized through good planning, as carried out by their teacher, Mrs. Evans.

Faithful Stewards

Would you make your property secure? Place it in the hand that bears the nailprint of the crucifixion. Retain it in your possession, and it will be to your eternal loss. Give it to God, and from that moment it bears His inscription. It is sealed with His immutability. Would you enjoy your substance? Then use it for the blessing of the suffering.—C.S., page 329.

Response Is Heartening

The interest of Michigan members in the program "It Is Written" was demonstrated the week end of January 11 to 13 as large crowds attended meetings held in six locations with Eld. George Vandeman as the guest speaker.

On Friday night Elder Vandeman, who is the speaker on the "It Is Written" series, spoke at the Walter-Henderson meetings being held in Bay City. A district meeting on Sabbath morning brought together members of the western Michigan churches in the Grand Rapids area.

Two meetings were scheduled for Sabbath afternoon. Pastors and "It Is Written" interested visitors met with Elder Vandeman in the conference office auditorium while a later meeting was held in the Lansing Church. A Sunday afternoon meeting in Flint and a Sunday night session in the Detroit Metropolitan Church concluded a busy week end for Elder Vandeman.

At the present time there are 4,383 enrollments in the "Take His Word" course and it is expected that this will easily rise to 12,000 or more in the near future. This means that 50,000 or more people, figuring four to a family, will be actively studying the course.

By the time this article appears in print, another announcement for a free copy of "Planet in Rebellion" will be made on the stations carrying the telecast. A similar offer in the Detroit area a few days ago brought in 477 enrollments and the phone company

Eld. George Vandeman was the guest speaker for a Grand Rapids district "It Is Written" rally held in the Ottawa Hills High School on Sabbath, January 12.

reports at least 200 calls were unable to get through.

The faithfulness of the "It Is Written" visitors and secretaries in the local churches is one of the two key points in carrying this conference-wide enterprise to a successful conclusion. The other will be the evangelistic meetings to be held throughout the conference this spring, summer, and fall.

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY

New Unit to Be Added to Garland Apartments

Construction of a new Garland Apartment building will begin during March of this year.

The architectural design allows for a combination housing unit for students who are pursuing graduate studies at Andrews University.

The unit will be constructed to accommodate several three-bedroom apartments in the center of the building for missionaries and mature worker families.

Wings on each side of the building will house thirty-six single men and sixteen single women.

Ronald Senseman, architect from Washington, D.C., has estimated that the cost of the new structure will run between $210,000 and $220,000 plus $50,000 for equipment.

J. N. Andrews Lecture Series

The 1963 J. N. Andrews Lecture Series will begin on March 5 and continue on every Tuesday evening until April 9.

Six speakers, Doctors D. A. Augsbarger, Earle Hilgert, H. T. Jones, Leif Kr. Tobiassen, and J. O. Waller, teachers at AU, and Dr. John Grebe, a physicist for the Dow Chemical Company, will present lectures on topics ranging from the United Nations to Current Ethics.

"The general theme of this year's series is Reflections of Modern Problems in a Time of Crisis," states Douglas Wartzok, chairman of the planning committee.

Wartzok lists three aims of the series sponsored by the Educational Standards Committee of the Student Association: "To provide intellectual stimulation and challenge through the lecture medium for students and faculty of AU and members of the surrounding communities.

"To substantiate AU in the minds of our community friends as an intellectual as well as spiritual center.

"To characterize the Student Association as an organization which is progressively interested in intellectual as well as the spiritual and social aspects of student life."

Thirty-Three Educators Attend Three-week Conference at Andrews University

Attending the current Educational Work Conference at Andrews University are thirty-three educational secretaries, superintendents, and supervisors representing twenty-three conferences in the United States and Canada.

The work conference, aimed at meeting the needs of the Seventh-day Adventist superintendent of education, emphasizes both the theoretical and practical aspect of teaching through class offerings, as well as classroom observation, and field trips.

The classes, Supervision in Elementary Education and Work Conference in Supervision are equivalent to two four-week summer courses. Upon completion each student will receive four hours of graduate credit.

Closed-circuit TV, a relatively new experiment in classroom observation, was used on the Andrews University campus for the first time allowing the educators to observe the eighth-grade class of the Campus Elementary School in session. This allowed the full group to observe the classroom without intruding on the normalcy of the group's activities and at the same time offered opportunity for the instructor to offer suggestions and helps.

Field trips occupied two days as the group visited the Carson City Elementary School, Carson City, Mich.; Kalamazoo's Loy Norris School; the Upjohn Company, a pharmaceutical manufacturer; and the Brunswick Corporation, a school furniture plant.

Chicago was the destination of the other field trip when part of the group observed the Christ the King School while the others visited the Hinsdale SDA Church School. The groups then combined to tour the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry.

"We are very pleased with the way this conference has been received thus far," commented Dr. E. S. Chace, coordinator of the event. "Many participants have expressed the wish that such a program be offered regularly on this campus," he added.
