Junior Guide Is Ten Years Old

By R. G. CAMPBELL

Circulation Manager, Junior Guide

James Lindsay looks over his sister's shoulder as they both read the first issue. Joan has grown up with the "Junior Guide." She is ten years old, too.

THE very first issue of Junior Guide was dated Oct. 7, 1953. The first issue of October, 1963, marks ten full years of life.

There were many who heard the birth cry of the Junior Guide back in 1953, who questioned whether the baby would survive.

There were, indeed, many reasons for doubt. Would anyone write stories for the new paper? Even more important, would the juniors and teenagers read it?

The answer to those questions has been a resounding YES!

The early issues of Junior Guide had a circulation of about 17,000. As Junior Guide turns ten, the circulation is more than 43,000 copies every week, read and devoured in Adventist homes around the world!

Would anyone write for the new paper? This was a most serious question, because a weekly paper consumes a vast quantity of material.

A great host of men and women have arisen all over the United States and around the world to write for the Junior Guide. There are school teachers—one almost expected them to write. There are dentists and doctors, too, and one hardly thought they would find time. There are nurses and ministers, men whose names are famous throughout the denomination, and housewives whose names are scarcely known beyond the walls of their own homes. There are presidents of the great world divisions of the General Conference, missionaries, and managers of denominational institutions.

Their manuscripts find their way to the Junior Guide from the rarefied altitudes of Peru and from the steaming jungles of New Guinea and the Solomon Islands. They come from India and Chile and Kenya and Denmark and Canada and England and Brazil, from Australia and New Zealand and South Africa, and from many more places besides. Among the writers are devout Christians in the Presbyterian faith and the Baptist, the Episcopalian and the Roman Catholic. The oldest contributor is in his nineties; the youngest is less than nine.

All have seen in this growing youth a servant of God, a voice through whom God speaks to the hearts of juniors and teen-agers, and they give God's message words, that the young may read and be drawn to their Saviour.

The tenth-anniversary issue, October 2, is not a special one. It is not particularly different from the 522 Junior Guides that have preceded it. Yet how significant are the stories it contains! The first is about a seventh-grader who witnessed for his faith in a public school. Next is a thrilling mission story describing the advance of God's Word in the face of immense difficulties. In the third, the Reformation lives again. The center story features our denomination's radio program, the Voice of Prophecy. And on page ten the annual "Treats for the Needy" Campaign begins once more—a constructive way to spend Halloween that Junior Guide first suggested to the Adventist churches of North America nine years ago, and which by now has swept the country and leaped the oceans. Pick up any of the Junior Guides, and you will find it packed with character-building true stories and features like these.

To all who have written for the Junior Guide, and to you who have prayed and worked for its success, a million, million thanks.

May God bless the Junior Guide during the next ten years as richly as He has blessed it during the first.

Long-Awaited VOP Health Course Now Ready

Radiant Health is the descriptive title of The Voice of Prophecy's newest correspondence course. Just off the presses, this timely addition to the correspondence school contains a wealth of practical medical information for the average family.

Radiant Health has been written and prepared by Clifford R. Anderson, M.D., known and loved in many areas of the world as "Your Radio Doctor." Renowned as physician, lecturer, and radio speaker, Doctor Anderson is well qualified to condense up-to-date medical data into everyday language designed especially for the layman.

The 16 fascinating chapters of Radiant Health have been generously illustrated with attractive pictures and its format closely resembles the pattern of Bright Horizon, a Voice of Prophecy

Bible course for senior youth. Through a "grade yourself" system of testing, the student is given the opportunity to reinforce his memory of each lesson immediately. Filled with practical information and sound advice ranging from headaches to cancer, Radiant Health stresses the sacredness of the Christian's body, "temple of the Holy Ghost."

Friends and listeners of The Voice of Prophecy are encouraged to ask for and introduce others to Radiant Health, by sending a letter to The Voice of Prophecy, Box 55, Los Angeles. In treating both the body and the spirit, The Voice of Prophecy hopes to reach the whole man through correspondence courses which will direct his heart and mind to God—the Source of his being.

Last Call to PR Seminar

Walla Walla College, College Place, Wash., will be the site of the 7th Annual Public Relations Seminar, October 28 through November 7.

Plans for the seminar are now complete and the roster of guest lecturers and instructors is both interesting and impressive.

Dr. H. Stephenson

Scheduled for a series of seven lectures and discussion periods is Dr. Howard Stephenson, president of Community Relations, Inc., and educational adviser to the Office of Information, United States Air Force.

Others slated to take part in the session are: Lewis B. Perry, president of Whitman College; Jim Schick, associate editor, Walla Walla Union Bulletin; Dr. W. W. Marsh and Associates from Portland, Ore., Charles R. Wallace Pischel, Inc., of Pascoe, Wash., and many others.

Included in the array of instructors will be many of the staff from Walla Walla College and from the union conferences involved. Eld. E. W. Tarr, head of the General Conference Bureau of Public Relations, will be in charge of the seminar.

Who is to attend this seminar? This session is being held primarily for the North Pacific and the Pacific Union conferences, and for western Canadian provinces. However, anyone from the entire North American Division is welcome to attend if arrangements can be made with officers of their employing conference or institution.

Requests for information or reservations for the seminar should be addressed to Eld. E. W. Tarr, Bureau of Public Relations, General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, Washington D. C. 20012. Again, we suggest that you get your reservation in early to assure a part in this 7th Annual Public Relations Seminar.

*Dr. Howard Stephenson will be one of the guest lecturers at the 7th Annual P.R. Seminar to be held at Walla Walla College, College Place, Wash., October 28 through November 7.

Dr. Stephenson is one of the nation's leading authorities on public relations. He is author of nine books and has written numerous articles on management for national magazines.

His Handbook of Public Relations, published in 1960 by McGraw-Hill Book Company for English-speaking countries, will appear in German and Spanish in 1964.

An Unusual Sacrifice

By W. A. SCHARFFENBERG

Secretary, General Conference Temperance Department

"Please don't," said a protocol officer to me as we were walking through the crowded district of Riyadh. "If you must smoke, wait until you get back to your car. Better still, wait until you get back to your hotel."

On this occasion I had a small counting machine in my pocket. I was checking to see how many of the men on the streets had cigarettes in their hands and/or were smoking publicly. The protocol officer, of course, was unaware of what I was doing, and on one occasion while he was looking into one of the shop windows, I pulled the counter out of my pocket to see how many I had checked and discovered that I had already tagged 2,500 men and hadn't found one cigarette in the hand of any one of them.

This prompted me to discuss the question of smoking with the protocol officer. When he heard the word "smoke" he must have thought I wanted to smoke and was about to light up. He told me, "You see, smoking is banned here in Riyadh, the capital. If anyone is caught smoking he is beaten up by the police."

Wherever the Westerners have made an impact, however, the situation is different.

On another occasion I was in Zanzibar trying to find someone to represent Zanzibar on the International Commission for the Prevention of Alcoholism. Three different officials on three different occasions told me that alcoholism was not a problem in Zanzibar, at least not among the native community. "It might be a problem," each official said, "among the foreign community, but it is not a problem among the natives." "In fact," they said, "the only ones who ever apply for license and the only ones who ever secure a license to sell alcoholic beverages are Christians. No Moslems," they said, "would ever become involved in such a filthy business."

I am sure that the vast majority of Christians are unaware of the stigma that rests on Christianity as a result of their smoking and drinking. In Ghandi's opinion, the thing that was holding up the advance of Christian missions in India more than any other single factor was the smoking and drinking on the part of Christians.

Certainly the time has come for Seventh-day Adventists to launch a mighty revival of temperance among us as a people, a revival that will reach out to the ends of the earth. The tobacco and alcoholic beverage industries are spending millions inducing and enticing the youth in particular to use alcohol and tobacco.

Surely the time has come for Seventh-day Adventists to do all in their power to free as many of these victims as possible. Our temperance publications, especially Listen and Smoke Signals, should be circulated like the leaves of autumn. Listen should be sent to all leading citizens in the community. Smoke Signals, too, should have a wide circulation. These publications should be found in every doctor's office and in every public reading rack. May the offering this year be the largest in all our history.

I look forward to the day when we put Listen and Smoke Signals into 5,000,000 homes. The Temperance Day Program and Offering is centered this year especially around Listen magazine. If every Seventh-day Adventist would contribute on World Temperance Sabbath the same amount that the average non-Adventist spends in a year on tobacco and alcohol, we would be contributing approximately $125 each. Our crying need today is for more resources with which to push this temperance work to the hilt.

May the Lord richly bless us all as we make an unusual sacrifice for temperance this year. It is only as we sacrifice and invest in this cause that we will become interested in it and become more active in this phase of our work, for where our treasure is there will our hearts be also.

We need your help and we need it on World Temperance Day in your church.

Ministers' Chorus on VOP Broadcast

The Southern California Conference Ministers' Chorus will provide special music on the Sunday broadcasts for October 20 and December 29. Well known throughout the Greater Los Angeles area, this chorus has appeared before countless congregations, including radio and television audiences.

The idea of an all-ministers chorus caught hold about eight years ago. Within a few weeks of its initial announcement a group of 35 Seventh-day Adventist ministers with special singing ability was selected and molded into this distinctive vocal group.

R. R. Bietz, president of the Pacific Union Conference and an influential figure in the formation of the Ministers' Chorus says: "It is my opinion that this chorus has been a real inspiration to our people. These men have been a strong factor in building up the spirituality of the churches. They are always appreciated, and no large conference convention seems complete without their presence."

Pictured above is this all-ministers chorus. It is led by Lorne Jones and accompanied by his wife (extreme right). The Voice of Prophecy is honored to have this group with us for these two programs. We know our listeners will derive a blessing from their ministry in song on October 20 and December 29.

ON BOOKS

Pastor, This Is My Problem by William A. Fagal, the speaker of the Faith for Today television program, contains the cream of the material which has appeared in the "Signs" Counsel Corner over the past several years.

Pastor Fagal, from his 13 years of experience with America's oldest church-sponsored telecast, now seen over a network of 200 stations, here gives good, solid, sensible counsel. To help answer the hundreds of questions that come to him in the 9,000 letters received at the Faith for Today office each week, the author applies an inspired combination of practical Bible truth and what someone has called "sanctified common sense." The result has been happier, more successful living for thousands.

In the 144 pages of Pastor, This Is My Problem you will find answers to questions on planning for marriage, married life, child training, teen-age problems and general family relationships. Other areas of counsel deal with the personal life when one is alone, at work, enjoying social fellowship, and with respect to religion and church affiliation. Many viewers have come to think of Pastor Fagal more as a personal friend than as a nationally known telecaster. Consequently, they have besieged him with such questions as:

"My husband and I don't get along; should we separate?"

"Are my parents old-fashioned?"

"If I don't dance, what can I do?"

"Will marrying a young lady not of my faith spell disaster?"

"Where were God's angels when my neighbor's children were severely injured in an accident?"

"Is my dead husband's spirit close?"

"Will God forgive a suicide?"

Parents, ministers, teachers, young people—in fact, anyone who might be called upon to offer help or a sympathetic ear to the problems of others, as well as the many individuals seeking solutions to their own problems—will find this volume of real value.

The book, cloth bound with a most appropriate cover, is priced at $3.75 plus 15 cents for the first book and 5 cents for each additional book for mailing costs. Order through your church missionary secretary or from your local Book and Bible House.

SPECIAL PRICE, $3.40 TILL OCTOBER 31

This year some 41,000 Americans will die of lung cancer. At least one million of today's school children will also die of this disease, if there is not a change in current smoking trends. "Smoke Signals" tells the truth about smoking and health. Many who read it quit smoking. When you give on World Temperance Day, you help support our temperance literature. What you give may save the life of a school boy. It may save the life of a friend. Give from your heart this World Temperance Day.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Wisconsin Academy's alumni day has been postponed until further notice. Alumni day will not be held on October 6 as shown in the school bulletin.

A New Year at Wisconsin Academy

Registration day at Wisconsin Academy was a gloomy, rainy day. The day, September 2, reminded teachers and students of Academy Day at Wisconsin Academy, because it traditionally rains then. The brightest part of the day was that over 230 students registered. Elder Stephan has expressed his pleasure concerning the number of students who are able to attend this year. Some of the dormitory rooms and some of the classrooms are a little crowded, but students and faculty alike seem to be happy about it.

"These are the largest physics and chemistry classes I've had here at Wisconsin Academy," commented Mr. Breakie. "We also have introduced a general science class this year. We have prospects of an excellent year in the science department. It is encouraging to see so many students—good students, too—who are interested in science."

DuChateau-Bruntz Wedding

Miss Donna Jean DuChateau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond DuChateau, and Roland R. Fearing to Leave

Richard D. Fearing, pastor of the Hinsdale Seventh-day Adventist Church for the past six years, has accepted a call to become pastor of the Walla Walla College Church, Walla Walla Wash., effective October 1.

Pastor Fearing preached his farewell sermon at the Hinsdale church on Sabbath, September 28, and is expected to take up his new post early in October. The Hinsdale congregation is the largest Adventist church in the Illinois Conference.

Richard Fearing

In his new post Pastor Fearing will be spiritual leader of more than 2,000 persons who attend the Walla Walla church, religious center for Walla Walla College, largest Seventh-day Adventist college in the United States. The church building itself has the largest seating capacity of any Adventist church in North America. Appointment was made by the executive committee of the Upper Columbia Conference.

Fearing came to the Chicago area six years ago from Williamsport, Pa., where he served two churches for four years. He also pastored churches in Reading, Fleetwood, and Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He is a 1950 graduate of Columbia Union College.

Originally from Columbus, Ohio, Pastor Fearing attended public schools there and later attended Mount Vernon Academy, Mount Vernon, Ohio. He then went on to take the ministerial training in Washington, D.C., and began work for the denomination in 1950 at Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

His high school career was marred with a severe truck accident which left him bed-ridden for many months with an injured leg. He recovered fully and was able to excel scholastically and otherwise during his college days. He was president of his college senior class.

Pastor Fearing was ordained to the gospel ministry in 1954. He is married to the former Claoma Suhrie, of North Haledon, N.J., and they have four children, Richard, 11; Joy, 7; George, 6; and June, 4.

During his pastorate at Hinsdale the church increased in membership by 65 per cent. Two new churches were or-

Henry Selent watches as his brother, Norbert, is baptized.

"A Little Child Shall Lead Them"

"Elder Klute, I would like to be baptized," said Henry, ten years old, and the youngest member of the Selent family.

"Why?" asked the pastor.

"Because I want to be ready when Jesus comes, and I believe the Seventh-day Adventists are the true church of God," was his prompt reply.

Bible studies were arranged with Henry alone at first, but soon his older brother joined, and both boys made the covenant with God. They were baptized June 28. Now they both were ready for Christ to come, now they were happy to belong to the church, and wished Christ would come as soon as possible—but on the other hand, not quite. Grandmother was an Adventist all right. They could go forward in faith together with her, but what about their parents? So they prayed for them, and pleaded with God, and just wished.

There was another baptism a week later. The mother took her stand, was baptized July 6, and joined the Polish church in Chicago. Oh, what joy filled the hearts of the boys when they saw their mother going down in the water! The Lord had answered their prayers at least partially. Now they are praying that the Holy Spirit will soften the heart of their father so that the whole family will be ready when Jesus comes again.

21 Baptized at Anderson

Three full weeks of heart-stirring messages, presented by the Walter-Jones Evangelistic Team, came to a close on August 4, at the Anderson Seventh-day Adventist Church. On Sabbath, August 10, at the Anderson church saw the results of their many hours of planning and working when 21 souls were baptized by their pastor, Eld. John O. Herr. There were others that manifested an interest in the message. Fifteen of those baptized joined the Anderson church; three, Ingalls church; and Alexandria, Noblesville and Indianapolis Irvington churches each received one.

God has greatly blessed the Anderson district during the last six years. During that time, members of the Anderson church have built a beautiful limestone church, with a seating capacity of 455 people; also a most attractive two-teacher school, with modern facilities and equipment, and a blacktopped playground and parking area. At present a six-foot chain link fence is being installed to enclose the school playground.

During the last four years the Alexandria church, which is part of the Anderson district, has also erected a beautiful two-teacher school, located in a lovely countryside, two miles east of Alexandria.

The believers of the Anderson district are of good courage, and are determined to work faithfully for God to hasten the coming of their Lord.

JOHN O. HERR

Johnson-Hassinger Wedding

Donna Marilyn Johnson and Keith Byrd Hassinger II exchanged vows in a beautiful wedding at the Glendale church in Indianapolis, Ind., on Sunday afternoon, September 8.

The bride is daughter of Eld. and Mrs. N. J. Johnson, formerly pastor of Glendale, now of Nashville, Tenn. She is a graduate of Indianapolis Junior Academy and Indiana Academy. Her further education includes two years at Andrews University in the field of social work.

The bridegroom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hassinger of Baltimore, Md. He is a graduate of Shenandoah Academy and Andrews University.

The ceremony was followed by a lovely reception in the church parlors.

The Hassingers will continue their studies for another year at Berrien Springs, the bride in college and the groom in the Seminary, after which they will enter the ministry in the Chesapeake Conference.

May God's richest blessings attend them always as they seek to do His will and may their home truly be a little haven of refuge that will gain them an eternal home.

LAKE REGION

1963 Camp Meeting Echoes

In our first presentation of camp meeting accomplishments, we pointed out with words and pictures some of the areas in which the abundant blessing of the Lord made the encampment a spiritual success. We are adding these additional pictures to assist in making known the many good things that were enjoyed by all campers present.

One of the special features on the first Sabbath afternoon at 4 p.m. was the ordination service for Pastor Robert Andrews, presently located with district headquarters at Ft. Wayne, Ind. He is a native of Detroit, Mich., graduating from Emmanuel Missionary College at Berrien Springs and the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary in Washington, D. C. In 1948 he was called to the assistant pastorate of University Boulevard Church of Los Angeles, Calif. He received his second assignment to full pastorate of the Pacoima, Calif., district, where he laid the ground for a new church building at the time of his call to the Lake Region Conference in August, 1962. He has already reported 13 souls baptized for the year of 1963 as his district is moving forward in soul-winning endeavors.

The main ordination address was given by Eld. Harold T. Singleton, General Conference secretary of the Regional Department. The prayer of ordination was given by Eld. J. H. Laurence, retired veteran minister now residing in Seattle, Wash., and who was instrumental in baptizing the grandparents of Robert Andrews. Eld. Frank L. Bland, associate secretary of the General Conference Regional Department, gave the ordination charge. Eld. Charles E. Bradford, president of the Lake Region Conference, extended the official welcome to Eld. Robert Andrews and his wife and reintroduced them to the constituency in their increased ministerial responsibility.

The camp agenda provided a broad section of interest coverage as it challenged the laymen for increased soul-winning endeavor, explored the abundant counsel provided by the Spirit of Prophecy writings, included health lectures and participation in food demonstrations, reviewed basic fundamentals of our faith as presented by our local and guest ministers, and gave emphasis to continued prayerful Christian living as our daily objective for being better witnesses for our Saviour, Jesus Christ.

Eld. and Mrs. A. V. Pinkney, president of Oakwood College, left, and Eld. Charles Brooks, Allegheny Conference MV secretary, were camp meeting guests.

Eld. J. D. Smith, Lake Union Conference president, speaks at the eleven o'clock worship hour.

Vacation Bible Schools

The Vacation Bible School, as is indicated by its name, is a school-type of meeting conducted during the summer vacation for boys and girls. At the close of school each year, millions of boys and girls pour into the streets of the cities and towns. Many of these children have little or no direction during the entire summer. Most of them have no religious instruction whatsoever. The Vacation Bible School is a wonderful opportunity for us to reach some of these children with the gospel.

During the summer of 1963, thirteen Vacation Bible Schools were conducted in the Lake Region Conference. Of the schools reporting at the close of the summer, the Gary, Ind., Mizpah Vacation Bible School had the largest enrollment, 219 children, and issued 157 certificates. Under the leadership of Mrs. Avannah Smith, these young people experienced a great blessing, and many heard of the love of Jesus who had never heard before.

The Benton Harbor, Mich., Vacation Bible School, under the direction of Mrs. Walter T. Thomas, also had a successful summer. Various crafts were taught in addition to the Bible lessons and quizzes.

The City Temple Vacation Bible School in Detroit, Mich., had an enrollment of 171 children, and at the end of the session 57 certificates were awarded for perfect attendance. Other Sabbath Schools that sponsored Vacation Bible Schools this past summer are: Chicago, Ill., Shiloh; Ecorse, Mich.; Detroit, Mich., Burns Avenue; Evansville, Ind.; London, Mich.; Altgeld Gardens, Chicago, Ill.; Muskegon, Mich., Wood Street; Milwaukee, Wis.,

Sharon; E. St. Louis, Ill., Trendly Avenue; and Chicago Heights, Ill., Emmanuel. Some of these were held in connection with evangelistic efforts.

It is our hope that every Sabbath School leader and pastor will realize the great potential of the Vacation Bible School as a soul-winning agency. It is not too early to begin to lay plans and make preparations so that each Sabbath School in the conference will be able to sponsor a Vacation Bible School next summer. X. BUTLER

Film at the Fair
 Attracts Interest at Midland

For the first time in its history, the Midland Seventh-day Adventist church was represented at the local county fair. The church and the Midland Cancer Society cooperated to bring a cancer message to the public.

"One in 20,000" and two Cancer Society films were shown alternately in an attractive, strategically-located tent on the midway. In spite of unfavorable weather and reduced fair attendance, 8,500 people viewed the films. "One in 20,000" took the show with close to 5,000 viewers. Especially noticeable was the large number of teen-agers, many of whom returned with their teen-age friends.

The Dorcas mobile defense van lo-ated nearby also attracted favorable attention.

Results from the fair project were apparent from the beginning. Two ten-year-olds who smoked viewed the film, decided to quit smoking, and then took literature home to their parents. After viewing "One in 20,000" a Catholic fair worker on the grounds quit smoking and at the invitation of Loren Bishop spoke during the home missionary service the following Sabbath.

Favorable press publicity for the church has also resulted from the fair activities. In a letter-to-the-editor, the Cancer Society chairman, a well-known Midland businessman, mentioned that "full credit should go to the Seventh-day Adventist church" and its "splendid church group."

Largely responsible for Midland's first fair project were Chester Moore and his missionary committee and Loren Bishop of Narcotics Education, Inc.

Annual Fall Clothing Drive

The dates for our annual conference-wide Fall Clothing Drive for overseas relief is scheduled from October 27 to 29. We are giving you this advance announcement to enable our members throughout Michigan to help their local Dorcas leaders, Welfare Center directors, and Welfare workers, by bringing clothing now to their Local Welfare Center or Dorcas Society for processing for this important overseas drive.

It takes time to process and pack this clothing for shipment to our Eastern Warehouse in New York City. Therefore, we are appealing to our members to clean out their closets, shelves, and dresser drawers of useful clothing no longer needed, and turn it over to a Center or Dorcas Society at once.

The conference is happy to underwrite the transportation and shipping costs of this clothing from your pick-up station to Lansing and thence to our Eastern Warehouse at New York. But for us to continue this arrangement and make our annual drive worth while, the wholehearted cooperation and the all-out support of every church throughout our conference is solicited, and sincerely appreciated. This will guarantee our program outstanding success, and will warm the hearts of our believers and neighbors in need in disaster areas throughout the world.

For your convenience we are listing here the schedule of the place, date, and time for the pick-up of the clothing by van in each federation area.

By the accompanying schedule, you will notice that there are only two pick-ups scheduled for Sunday, October 27. One is at Escanaba at 6 p.m. in the evening and the other at the Berrien Springs Welfare Center from 4 to 7 p.m. By this arrangement it will make it possible for every church throughout

The Michigan Conference is proud and happy to top the list of conferences in the Eastern U.S. in their clothing shipments in tonnage to our Eastern Warehouse. Let us continue to keep up this fine work and keep the clothing not needed for local welfare work constantly flowing to our Eastern Warehouse for shipments overseas. OBITUARIES

DE PASQUALE, William, was born in Sicily on Nov. 21, 1889, and passed to his rest on Aug. 10, 1963, in Milwaukee, Wis., after a severe fall. He came to this country in 1906 and took the shortened name, Dever, at that time, but was still known as De Pasquale by many.

He was baptized in 1917, and was very active in missionary work the remainder of his life. For many years he was a faithful member of the Italian Seventh-day Adventist Church in Milwaukee, and when that church disbanded he transferred his membership to the Concordia Ave. Church. He will be greatly missed by his fellow church members.

After being left a widower with 4 children, Mr. De Pasquale was married to Mary Cinquemani in 1942, a widow with 4 small children of her own. He is survived by his wife, Mary; his four children: Dorothy Krueger, Devine Luczak, Daniel and David Dever; his 4 step-children: Roy, Nicholas, Paul, and Vincent Cinquemani; grandchildren; great-grandchildren; a brother in Italy; and other relatives and friends.

Services were conducted at the Niemann Funeral Home in Milwaukee by Eld. Joseph Damazo of the Milwaukee Central Church and Pastor Fred Ellis of the Concordia Ave. Church. Interment was at the Evergreen Cemetery in Milwaukee. Fred W. Ellis LOUDEN, Edgar U., was born May 29, 1874, in Wakeshma Township, Mich. He quietly passed away during the morning hours of July 31, 1963. On Aug. 25, 1896, Edgar chose as his life companion Miss Nellie Rainbold. Into this happy union were born 8 children: a son, Alfred J. Loudon; and 7 daughters, Mrs. Flossie Hock, Mrs. Edna Van Avery, Mrs. Iva Garrison, Mrs. Mildred Vance, Mrs. Luella Morrison, Mrs. Genevive Cramer, and Mrs. Evelyn Taylor. All of the children live in Michigan, not far removed from the childhood home provided them by Edgar and Nellie.

During recent years Brother Loudon was confined to his home much of the time due to ill health. He was a faithful member of the Mendon Seventh-day Adventist Church. He leaves to mourn: Nellie, his devoted companion, 8 children as mentioned above, 27 grandchildren, 57 great-grandchildren, and 5 great-great-grandchildren.

Words of comfort were spoken by the writer. E. A. Crane

SAWYER, Oren J., was born Dec. 16, 1881, and passed to his rest Aug. 23, 1963, at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mr. Sawyer was a faithful member of the Streator, Ill., Seventh-day Adventist Church for many years. He was a baker by trade and worked at Mr. Young's bakery in Streator. He toiled many days, mixing mortar and carrying bricks for the new church that was erected in Streator during 1949 and 1950. This toil was sweet to him for he was always singing or whistling as he worked to help erect a building to honor his Saviour. He was faithful to Him and to his church. He died with a steadfast hope in the resurrection.

He leaves a son, 6 daughters, 22 grandchildren, 34 great-grandchildren, a sister, 2 brothers, and many friends to cherish his memory.

SCHOOL OF GRADUATE STUDIES
SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

Board Approves New Men's Residence Hall

The University Board of Trustees, meeting on September 12, voted to begin the construction of a men's residence hall this fall. The present plans were developed by the O'Meara-Chandler Corporation of Houston, Texas. This firm has had long experience in the construction field and in the past eight years has developed a specialty in the building of residence halls. The new hall will have space for 432 students, and will cost approximately $1,200,000, including furnishings and landscaping.

The building will be constructed to harmonize architecturally with the other buildings on campus. It will be three stories in height, built of brick and limestone.

Weniger Appointed West Coast Director

Dr. Charles E. Weniger, formerly dean of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary, and also dean of the School of Graduate Studies and vice-president of Andrews University, has been appointed by the Board of Trustees to serve as the administrative officer for the West Coast Extension School of the Theological Seminary.

Dr. C. E. Weniger

In this capacity Dr. Weniger will counsel with ministers and other students who are taking extension courses in the Los Angeles-Riverside area, relative to requirements for graduation and other matters related to their studies.

Dr. Siegfried Horn, chairman of the Old Testament Department, will be offering first and second semester course in archaeology on the campus of La Sierra, Loma Linda, and Los Angeles. Associated with him will be Dr. William M. Landeen, until recently president of La Sierra College, who will be teaching in the field of church history.

This coming summer Dr. Horn will join for the third time in the Harvard-McCormick joint excavation of Shechem for the final excavation of that important archaeological site.

Committee Inspects Andrews University Graduate Program

On July 30, 1963, a special committee appointed by the General Conference Commission on Graduate Education surveyed the graduate program of Andrews University. Under the chairmanship of Eld. E. E. Cossentine, secretary of the Department of Education in the General Conference, the committee conducted an exhaustive survey into all aspects of the graduate program. Reports and exhibits submitted by both the Theological Seminary and School of Graduate Studies were evaluated. Specifically the committee examined the following areas: objectives, organization, staff, curricula, admission policies and practices, instruction, facilities, personnel services, and budget.

"We'll Bury You" Film to Be Shown October 5

On Saturday night, October 5, at 7:30 and again at 9:15 p.m., the documentary film "We'll Bury You" will be shown at Andrews University in the Physical Education Building.

The film graphically traces the history of communism in the Soviet Union and elsewhere, ranging from Karl Marx to the Cold War. It vividly depicts the world leaders during these times of overpowering stress.

In its dramatic portrayal of the Red master-plan for world conquest, there is uncensored footage of the upheavals in China, Korea, and Cuba. Graphically shown are scenes of world-famous—and infamous—figures like Krushchev, Lenin, Stalin, Trotsky, and others of the Soviet scene; Castro of Cuba and Mao Tse-Tung of China. Containing footage from secret film archives, this film bares the crushing of the Hungarian uprising, the brutal terror of the OGPU, the Red slave labor camps, the bloody purges and pogroms, the daring escapes over the Berlin wall and many more of the headline-scaring events of the Red reign of terror!

The seventh unit of Garland apartments will be ready for occupancy on October 15. It was constructed at an estimated cost of $270,000. It contains eight three-bedroom and two two-bedroom apartments. There will be accommodations for 30 single students. This building will be used by students attending the graduate divisions of Andrews University.
