HINSDALE SANITARIUM

Million Dollar Unit Under Construction

A million-dollar employee housing unit at Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital has gone from the drawing boards to the contractors, and ground breaking ceremonies were conducted September 29.

Officials participating in the ceremonies were Elder Jere D. Smith, chairman of the San board and Lake Union Conference president; W. F. Miller, Union secretary-treasurer; M. J. Blair, San administrator; and W. H. Wilson, associate administrator.

This new 70-unit structure will provide additional housing to serve the expanded hospital employee staff. It is the final step in a package development program launched in 1959, which included enlargement of hospital facilities from 212 to 360 beds and nearly doubled the nurse's residence hall.

Let to a local contractor, construction is slated to be completed within 10 months. The contract includes a connecting tunnel from the new building to the present tunnel between the

Support This Cause

Seventh-day Adventists are strong champions of temperance. Well over 100 years ago, we took our stand against the use of alcohol and tobacco. Sister White herself wrote much upon the subject. Often her voice was raised in public gatherings in behalf of temperance.

Since Seventh-day Adventists themselves neither drink nor smoke, it is evident that their activity in this field is in behalf of others. Their purpose is to both warn and rescue. People must be informed of the evils of addiction and freed from its enslavement where they have been taken captive.

The messenger of the Lord wrote: "Missionary work does not consist merely of preaching. It includes personal labor for those who have abused their health and have placed themselves where they have not moral power to control their appetites and passions. Our world is full of suffering ones."—Evangelism, p. 265.

It has been the cause of much satisfaction to know that in recent months, many hundreds have become free men and women through our unique Five-Day anti-Smoking Clinics. Conducted by doctor-minister teams, these have proved remarkably effective and a great blessing, not only in North America, but also in overseas divisions.

For years, we have been getting out the best literature on temperance produced anywhere. Our Listen magazine has been outstanding in this field. Temperance films have been prepared and used. They too have made a telling impact. We must not only continue doing what we have, but our efforts must be greatly enlarged and extended that many more may be reached and helped.

World Temperance Sabbath was October 24. If you have not demonstrated your full support of this cause by giving a liberal offering, it is not too late to do so. Funds are needed to provide the tools and assist in conducting many more temperance activities while we still have time.

Can a Christian Be Perfect?

When some Christians read the command, "Be ye therefore perfect," they feel condemned and discouraged. How can they ever reach such lofty heights in Christian living?

Some Christians go to the other extreme. They deceive themselves into thinking they have already achieved sinless perfection. The Apostle John says that if we claim this, "We deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us."

Here is a real dilemma. We are told to be perfect; yet if we think we have reached that goal, we delude ourselves. Can anyone find an answer to this puzzling question?

Yes, the enlightening answer is given in a new 12-page tract called "Is Perfection Possible?" just published by the Pacific Press. It is written by one of our ablest Bible teachers, Dr. Edward Heppenstall. His treatment of this subject is profound, yet concise; logical, yet clear; theologically sound, yet at the same time spiritually stimulating. Many a discouraged Christian will take new heart after reading this tract.

The cost? One cent apiece, $1.00 a hundred, $9.50 per thousand. Many pastors will wish to secure a copy for each of their church members, especially in view of mistaken ideas on perfection which have been circulated in recent years. Order these tracts from your Book and Bible House.

Almost 200 Attended Secretarial Workshop

Exhibitors such as Remington Rand, shown above, explained the merits of their products at the recent Secretarial Workshop held on the Andrews University campus. Approximately $15,000 worth of business machines were on display for viewing by about 185 secretaries who attended the meetings held October 11 and 12.

Exhibitors were A. B. Dick, Dictaphone Corporation, Douthitt's Office Equipment Co., Remington Rand, Royal-McBee, Soundscribe, and Marchant.

Secretaries attended from Andrews University, the Lake Union Conference office, and the Illinois, Indiana, Lake Region, Michigan, and Wisconsin conference offices, as well as Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Medical Records Curriculum Now Being Offered

A new, four-year medical records curriculum is being offered for the first time this fall at Andrews University.

The first three years, under the direction of the Andrews University secretarial science department, are on the Andrews University campus. Students will take about 96 hours with emphasis on sociology, secretarial science, and a liberal arts program.

The fourth year, on the campus of Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, will include 35 hours in medical records classes, including directed practice experience.

ATTENTION WALLA WALLA COLLEGE ACADEMY ALUMNI

Your Alumni Association was organized May 30, 1964. We want you to be a member. Please send your name (maiden too, if applicable), address, whether you are an alumnus or former student, graduating class or year(s) of attendance to Mrs. James Wagner, Route 1, Box 167, Walla Walla, Wash., 99362. If you live a long ways away, let us know someone who lives farther! Make plans now to attend alumni homecoming next spring. Watch for additional information in the coming months. And pass this information on to other former classmates.

Andrews University Has Four Extension Schools

Extension schools operated by the Andrews Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary this fall are located in four separate areas.

Two California extension schools, staffed by Dr. Alger F. Johns, associate professor of Old Testament literature and exegesis, and Dr. William M. Landeen, professor of history, are located at La Sierra College, Arlington, and the Loma Linda University campus in Los Angeles, both Seventh-day Adventist institutions. The schools are offering several courses in Biblical history, literature and exegesis.

Hinsdale Sanitarium, Hinsdale, Ill., is host this year to a class in Christian eschatology, taught by Dr. Kenneth Strand, associate professor of church history. The class, held every Monday carries three hours of credit.

Dr. Charles Wittschiede, professor of pastoral care, is conducting a once-a-month, four-hour class in pastoral counseling. The class of two hours credit, is held at Indianapolis, Ind.

All extension schools except Hinsdale continue through both semesters of the 1964-65 school year.

Far-reaching Effects of S.D.A. Literature

Frequently there come to the publishing houses letters of appreciation for good literature. This letter, just in, deals with Still Waters, but in a larger way it deals with our entire literature program. Note the warmth of this letter. I give it to you here in an effort to assure you that the literature you share is appreciated. And, incidentally, if you have a friend that you would like to remember with Still Waters, the subscription price is only $1.25. It should be turned in through your church missionary secretary or your Book and Bible House.

"Gentlemen: For some time I have been receiving Still Waters, and I want to thank whoever is responsible for subscribing, for I find this publication extremely valuable. It is a great help to start the day with or to pull out of the handbag whenever I find the need of a spiritual refresher. I take this handy little book with me to the hospital where I work, and when I have finished reading it, I pass it on to another nurse, who in turn gives it to a Catholic friend of hers. So you see, there are at least three of us who benefit from one booklet.

"As I don't want to miss an issue, please enter my subscription. I am enclosing a check for $1.25. This way I will be sure it will continue even after the present subscription expires. Thanks again. Mrs. M. W. Methuen, Mass."

nursing students' residence and the hospital. The new building will be located at the northeast corner of the San's 13-acre campus and will face south to take advantage of sunlight for a maximum number of rooms.

The facility will feature completely carpeted rooms and hallways. All new furnishings will be provided.

With this new facility the San will be able to attract additional dedicated Christian nurses and employees who will be able to maintain the high standards the community has come to expect.

This new unit is intended to bring hospital staff housing to the excellent quality set forth as the hospital's general policy. It will accommodate women employees from all areas, both professional and non-professional.

When the building is complete, three houses will have been moved or demolished to make way for it. One of the houses was built before the San was established.

Contracted cost of the structure itself is $784,485. The remaining amount bringing the cost of the budgeted one million dollars is for insurance, architectural fees, landscaping and furnishings.

Johnny Unitas on Smoking

"I started smoking when I was nine years old because the leader of my gang smoked and the rest of us fell into line.

"Looking back, a few years later I had to ask myself what I was gaining. Why was I smoking? I didn't enjoy it. All I was getting out of it were two nicotine-stained fingers. I wanted to be an athlete of some consequence. I had heard that smoking stunts growth. I wanted to be strong enough to play football and develop the physique necessary. Therefore, I had to be strong enough to have the will not to smoke anymore.

"Top athletes create an image that young people look up to. Anything that does harm to that image is harmful to young people. I have turned down offer after offer to endorse tobacco or alcoholic beverages. I want my influence to be right," says Johnny Unitas, star quarterback of the Baltimore Colts, and cover personality of the October Smoke Signals.

Mission Venture Ends In Disastrous Plane Crash

Four Seventh-day Adventists on a mission assignment from Loma Linda University in California died when the private plane in which they were flying crashed near Hermosillo, Mexico. The four were Dallas White, a former missionary to China who was just retiring; Tor Lidar, editor of Scope, the Loma Linda University weekly newspaper; Johan Furulund, a dentist in private practice near Loma Linda; and Ben Eposito, a businessman from San Bernardino, near Loma Linda. Their plane was one of five going to five different mission assignments in Mexico. The plane separated from the others shortly after crossing the California-Mexico border. It crashed near the ground as the plane approached the city of Hermosillo. Cause of the crash was thought to be fuel failure.

"Portraits of Brazil" To Be Seen at Hinsdale

"To millions of Americans the mention of Brazil conjures up mind-pictures of Amazonian jungles, Indians with poison darts, snakes, crocodiles and wild unexplored terrian. But in reality the Brazil of today is completely opposite."

"For some unknown reason the Brazil of today has never been properly brought before the eyes of our public," says Curtis Nagel, who will bring the second of seven lyceum programs to Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital.

In their colorlogue, "Portraits of Brazil," Nagel and his associate, William Moore, will bring important points of interest from this vast tropical land. Highlighting the program will be the gay city of Rio de Janeiro; Brazil's new capital city, Brasilia; the delightful city of old Portuguese charm, Salvador in Bahia; and the greatest scenic wonder in South America, Iguazu Falls.

Other upcoming lyceum programs include "Wings to Wonderland" (America's National Parks) by James Metcalf, December 5; "Royal England," by Bill Dalzell, January 16; "Northwest Adventure," by Stan Midgley, February 27; "Alberta Outdoors," by Edgar T. Jones, March 13; and "Montana: Land of the Big Sky," by Don Cooper, April 4.

All lyceums begin at 8 p.m. and are at David Paulson Auditorium, 632 East Hickory.

SPOTLIGHT

ON BOOKS

Do you have a desire to be a missionary? Surely that desire will creep into your very veins after you read this story of India entitled Dookie, Sookie, and Big Mo, by Alice Mertie Underhill.

How wonderful it is to know that those living in darkness and heathenism, practicing witchcraft and falling in the way of evil spirits, can be changed; changed because one consecrated to Jesus really cared enough to teach them the better way to live.

Big Mo in this story is the big man of the Savara village in India. Dookie was the little baby girl that was brought to Big Mo. Read how he nursed and cared for her. Sookie was another baby girl who was saved from the hands of a cruel death by Big Mo.

You will enjoy reading the experiences of these three and others in the story. What a contrast between heathenism and the Christian way of living. Many surprises will await you as you read.

Purchase from your Book and Bible House today. Regular price $3.00 but you can get it for $2.70 until November 30.

Elder R. H. Nightingale, president of the Central Union Conference, brings a challenging devotional message to the Central States-Lake Region Conference workers at their retreat.

Central-Lake Region Conferences Workers' Retreat

Conference workers and their families of the Central States Conference of the Central Union and the Lake Region Conference joined together on October 5 to 7, for a three day Workers' Retreat at the Lake Region Camp near Cassopolis, Mich. On hand to provide messages of devotion and to lead out in panel discussions were Elders R. R. Figuhr, H. D. Singleton, and F. L. Bland of the General Conference; Elder R. H. Nightingale, president of the Central Union; and Elder J. D. Smith, president of the Lake Union. Dr. W. G. C. Murdoch, Dean of the Theological Seminary of Andrews University, presented a series of lectures on "Christology." Other guests and visitors on hand for the retreat included Elder Robert Carter and G. R. Earle of the Northeastern Conference; L. B. Mitchel, president of the Liberian Mission, West African Union Mission; C. D. Henri, returned missionary from the West African Union Mission now attending Andrews University; E. E. Rogers and M. A. Warren of Oakwood College now doing graduate work on their doctor's degrees at Michigan State University at Lansing, Mich.; and L. H. Palmer, Jr. of the Pine Forge Academy.

Dr. Murdoch's lectures on "Christology," and two panel discussions, one on "Human Relations in the Adventist Church," chairmanned by Elder R. R. Figuhr, and the other on "Organization and Policies of the S.D.A. Denomination," chairmanned by Elder H. D. Singleton, were highly successful in securing the participating interests of the workers.

Generous opportunity was allowed for the workers to participate also in recreational activities, among which was included a guided tour of Andrews University.

The retreat was brought to a successful close by enacting the upper room experience of the disciples of old in the administration of the "Ordinance of Humility" and "Communion."

Nutrition Classes Prove Successful

A successful series of classes in nutrition were held in the Lansing elementary school auditorium beginning September 20. The instructor for the sessions was Mrs. Eunice Hnatyshyn, dietitian.

The opening topic for the first of six meetings was, "What's in Your Grocery Basket?" As a result of attending the course of instruction, many housewives in the Lansing area will be making wiser selections at the food market. Free samples of tasty dishes prepared were offered to those present, and door prizes were also given.

The interest in nutritional instruction is such that Mrs. Hnatyshyn will be conducting another series in the Life Sciences Building on the campus of Andrews University on October 18, 19, 20, 25, 26, and 27. There will be two identical classes each day, one at 1 p.m. and the other at 7:30 p.m.

There will be no charge for these classes sponsored by the Pioneer Memorial and Berrien Springs Village Churches.

Sabbath afternoons at the church. The children I had been taking to church with me each week enjoyed these meetings but too soon they had to be discontinued.

Now I decided to ask these ten youngsters if they would like to come to my home after church where we would continue the story hour. It soon became apparent that I was not adept at story telling, so instead I suggested we all go out to visit the shut-ins on Sabbath afternoons. We made up fruit plates, packaged home made cream cookies and took these along with some of our literature. The children would sing and pray during our visit.

Our Sunshine Band has been visiting weekly now for the past two years. The children love to sing and have learned nearly sixty songs. They can recite the Ten Commandments, the books of the Bible, the Beatitudes and many Bible verses. They have called on more than forty different people.

These children, ranging in age from two to ten years, are all from non-Adventist homes. They love to go to Sabbath School and faithfully attend each week. The oldest girl, Karen, is ten and plans to be baptized shortly.

Elementary School Dedicated In Ironwood District

The rewards of personal sacrifice were evidenced Sabbath afternoon, October 3, when members of the Ironwood Church attended the dedication ceremonies of their new elementary school. Located in nearby Bessemer, the modern unit consists of two class rooms, office, furnace room and lavatories.

Elder J. D. Smith, president of the Lake Union, presented the dedicatory address, and Elder B. G. Butherus, educational director for the Michigan conference, officiated in the act of dedication. Local educational officials were also present for the services.

Michigan conference president, Elder N. C. Wilson spoke at the regular morning worship service in Ironwood, and at the afternoon dedication, presented the denomination's views of Christian education. Local pastor Kenneth Wenberg and Upper Peninsula district leader Elder John Erhard also participated in the ceremony.

School principal Mrs. Lew Johnson reports that at the present time there are 11 students in grades one through eight with the exception of the third grade.

A Progress Report

The sounds of hammers and saws and industrious men and women have mingled with the whirring of the grouse and the honking of the geese in recent weeks at Camp Wahdoon.

At the time of the writing of this article, the roof and roofing are completely on our lodge and kitchen building, and those who have seen it indicate that it will be one of the finest camp buildings of its type in one of the most beautiful settings anywhere.

We do appreciate all of the folks who have helped to make Camp Wahdoon a reality rather than a dream. There's much yet to be done. We need not only your help but your financial support.

December 5, don't forget that date, has been set aside as offering day for Camp Wahdoon throughout Wisconsin. At the present time, we need over $10,000, simply to pay the bills which we have thus far incurred in our building program, without going any further.

Elder B. G. Butherus, director of education in the Michigan Conference, speaks at the dedication services for the new elementary school at Bessemer.

We're not coming down for we are doing a good work.

A Visitor's Impressions

The church and the church school building both were newly painted. A gracious hostess greeted me and I signed the guest book. I noticed the church was fairly full five minutes before the 9:30 a.m. Sabbath School began. The superintendent of the Sabbath School not only made me and 28 other visitors welcome, but he told us how we would be further spiritually blessed by increasing our mission offerings and daily study of the Bible.

I noticed evidence of growth there when the superintendent announced the formation of another class, necessitated because the youth's class had doubled in membership. I noticed two thriving children's divisions, well equipped and directed by some of the most talented members in the church. I also noticed that the superintendent of the Sabbath School gave the Investment secretary time to make a report and to remind all members to finish up their projects for their special Investment program the last Sabbath in October.

I noticed the teachers were given sufficient time to conduct interesting guidance in the study of the Bible lesson.

The Home Missionary leader gave an interesting talk and told us there had been over $795 turned in for the Ingathering project to date. He then gave the Missionary secretary time to bring a report of all the other missionary work of the church. I noticed another missionary report was given by a leader for the Home and School society. What an inspiring report she gave of the work the ladies of the church had done and of the harvest of funds gathered in for the church school. The church school teacher was glowing with enthusiasm as I asked him about the school. Enrollment in the church school had doubled over last year and "it looks like we will make a similar increase next year," the teacher said.

After a very interesting and challenging message, during the eleven o'clock sermon, I noticed the pastor offered the members another challenge and an opportunity to work for Christ, when he announced plans for evangelistic meetings in an attractive hall in the nearby town of Three Lakes.

Where did I notice these evidences of progress, cooperation and dedication? Clearwater Lake, Wis. When? October 10. I was a visitor.

ILLINOIS

Mrs. Marjorie Anderson

Teachers' Institute at Little Grassy Lake

The Little Grassy Lake camp site created a magnificent setting for the Illinois Teachers' Institute, September 23 to 26, under the leadership of Elder C. M. Willison and Miss Helen Mae Smith.

Principals, administrators, and teachers from Illinois schools were in attendance. Personnel from the Lake Union, Andrews University, and the local conference participated in the program. Guest speakers included Elder G. E. Hutches, director of Education for the Lake Union; Dr. Ruth Murdoch, Education Department of Andrews University; Elder W. A. Nelson, Illinois Conference president; Elder R. P. Bailey, Broadview Academy principal; local departmental leaders, and our fine staff of teachers.

Every minute was packed with a variety of good food, practical instruction, and recreation. Our teachers in Illinois who stand before young people every day in the classroom shared with fellow teachers valuable counsel on every aspect of their teaching field—they were the instructors at the institute.

Parents sending their children to church school can be sure that their child, or children, are learning the essentials that will qualify them for good citizenship, for knowledge to meet their future professional needs, and for gifts of spiritual enlightenment. Your child may not be on the outstanding football team of some American college or university, but he is enrolled in the school of the hereafter.

Dr. Ruth Murdoch presented subjects on "Quality in the Curriculum," "The Quality Teachers," and "What is New in Education." Mrs. Marjorie Anderson showed the teaching aids valuable to instruction. With a little effort the aids can be made adaptable to most any grade level.

The success of the convention can best be described by saying—God was present.

series of meetings in St. Elmo with a harvest of about 15. Soon after this the two companies (Loogootee and St. Elmo), along with a small group in the northwest area of Brownstown, were united as one group for worship. In the year 1948, another 10 or 12 new believers joined the church when Elder

T. G. Herr held a tent meeting in St. Elmo.

For May Durbin, a charter member, a dream for a church home was soon to materialize. In 1951 a white wooden 30 x 50 structure seating 125 people was erected, becoming an edifice of courage, strength and sacrifice on the part of a few people, the greater part of the cost resting upon Miss Durbin.

In 1952, under the leadership of Elder R. G. Wertz, the church was dedicated into the sisterhood of churches.

If you wish to live in a community which offers a mission field experience, but the luxury of our American economy—this is your future home in St. Elmo, a good place to retire.

Book and Bible House Notes

A number of opportunities will be afforded our members to purchase literature at holiday prices as our Traveling Bookstand meets its multiplying appointments.

On November 7 we will be located in the church school room of the Chicago Heights Church on the occasion of the annual district meeting. Elder Ferris has arranged a fine inspirational and instructive program for the day and we hope to meet all members of the district. Our display, which will open immediately following sundown vespers, will include many new books: the 1965 Christian Home Calendar; Morning Watch; senior and junior daily devotional books.

It is now planned that the bookstand will serve each of the three Sabbath School Workshops to be held in the Hinsdale, Harvey, and Decatur churches during the month of November. One night during each workshop will be Bookstand night.

When our bookstand goes into the field, it is impossible to carry everything available from the Book and Bible House. We therefore repeat our standing offer, inviting members to send orders for specific items to the office well in advance of our visit, requesting that the order be delivered at the bookstand appointment in your area.

"See you at the Bookstand."

Indiana News Notes

Anderson District

On October 10 we were so happy to witness two baptized in the Anderson Church, one to unite with Anderson and the other to unite with Ingalls. Both of these ladies were the results of the faithful work of our laymen, and of the Bible School program. There are many avenues of missionary work that are being entered into in this district. We are fortunate that we have the Indiana State Reformatory here, and we are happy to have a Branch Sabbath School there. This is operated by several of our men who conduct the services there each Sabbath afternoon. The work at the reformatory is slow, but at the present time we have one man who is ready for baptism.

Each of the churches in the district, Anderson, Alexandria, and Ingalls are preparing for evangelistic campaigns to be held in their churches by R. L. Dale, pastor. We have emphasized the Bible School program, and follow-up from the literature evangelist's records. The church in Ingalls is conducting a Story Hour, with about twenty in attendance. Also, we are running a series of articles in a local newspaper preparatory to the meetings in that area.

We believe that God will prosper the work in this place for we wish to accept our responsibility of finishing the work in this part of the world. We believe that the time is near when Jesus will come and we do not wish to delay His coming. If you have relatives or friends in this area who are interested, please feel free to contact us, and we shall be glad to visit these individuals. The address is Anderson

MERRELL, Mrs. Nettie Sackett (the daughter of William D. and Elva Holmes), was born Jan. 14, 1888, in Gobles, Mich. She was a grandniece of Stephen Strong, one of the early pioneers of the Adventist message.

On Dec. 24, 1906, she was united in marriage to Harry Sackett and to this home were born two daughters; Mrs. William Taylor of Kalamazoo and Mrs. Clinton Deal of Otsego; and one son, Noble W. Sackett of Hastings, Mich.

Much of her married life was spent around Otsego, and in Battle Creek where she joined the Seventh-day Adventist church on March 9, 1935. Mr. Sackett passed away in 1949. On June 10, 1951, she was married to Frank Merrell and was residing in Kalamazoo for the past 12 years. Mr. Merrell having died in Jan., 1963.

At her daughter's home in Otsego, on Friday evening, July 10, 1964, she fell asleep in the blessed hope of her Lord's return and the resurrection. Survivors besides her three children, are 5 grandchildren, 7 great-grandchildren, 3 sisters, 1 brother, many relatives and a host of friends.

Funeral services were conducted at the Truesdale Chapel by H. D. Miller. Mrs. Merrell was laid to rest in Bedford Cemetery.

WOLVERTON, Clair, was born Aug. 9, 1893, at Vickeryville, Mich., and expired at his home in Prudenville, Mich., a few moments after family worship. Wolvertson had been in the hospital for several weeks, but had returned home only three days before his death. He had been suffering from a bronchial ailment for many years, but expired without any struggle.

He had been local elder for the Houghton Lake Church, faithfully fulfilling this office for many years, and was a loyal supporter of the cause of God. He and his wife moved to Prudenville about 15 years ago from the Lansing area, where they were converted to the brotherhood of Christ.

He leaves to mourn his wife Maysie, and their only child, Mrs. Donna Wallace of Lansing; 3 brothers, Frank, Owen, and Guy, all of Vickeryville; Mrs. Lois Moehring, a sister, of Ionia, Mich.; and numerous nieces and nephews.

He will be greatly missed by his church and the community where he lived. He was laid to rest in the local cemetery at Edmore.

Words of comfort were spoken by H. L. Alexander, assisted by Pastor David Copey and Elder H. W. Trecartin at the Stebbins Funeral Home in Edmore.

Student Association Sponsors Leadership Clinic

Andrews University student leaders, as well as those who aspire to be student leaders, have been attending a series of lectures sponsored by the Student Association.

The meetings, held Monday evenings weekly, consist of a 20 to 30 minute talk followed by a question and answer period.

"The attendance at this Leadership Clinic has been very encouraging," said clinic coordinator, Bob Willison.

Glenn Coe, Student Association president, said the idea grew from a recommendation made at the Intercollegiate S.A. Workshop held for eight Seventh-day Adventist colleges on the Andrews University campus last spring.

Future speakers and topics will be: Dr. Elaine Giddings, professor of speech, "Prep-Arpo"; Dr. Leif Toibassen, professor of history and political science, "The Delegation of Authority and Organization"; and Dr. Wilber Alexander, professor of religion, "Role-Playing in Leadership." Speakers who have already presented topics are Dr. Frank Knittel and Dr. Norval Pease.

Dean of students Frank Knittel says, "The purpose of the clinic is to assist students in understanding their own personal roles as student leaders, and to understand the responsibilities that they must accept, both in relationship to the campus and to their own lives."

Jones Receives Certificate Of Merit

Dr. Harold T. Jones, professor of mathematics at Andrews University, was awarded a post-doctoral Certificate of Merit for his research in mathematics this past summer.

Jones received the certificate during the National Science Foundation's 1964 Summer Research Participation for College Teachers which was held at the University of Oklahoma.

According to Dr. Edward Specht, chairman of the university's mathematics department, this was a continuation of the research which he and Jones had been conducting under the support of the Office of Naval Research, Washington, D.C.

The application of functional analysis to potential theory is the topic of the research, reports Specht.

Ingathering Total Now $10,184

Andrews University students raised $7,000 on Ingathering Field Day, October 6, according to Brian Jacques, field day coordinator.

Adding to this the funds raised by the elementary school and academy, the total stood at $8,480.71 on October 8.

"We had hoped to get between $4,500 and $5,000 on the field day," said Jacques. "We're amazed, absolutely amazed, especially when we consider the weather." One car was forced to return early because of snow.

Since that day, the total has grown. Faculty and students who remained on campus were solicited, and the figure as of October 16 was $10,184. Reports from local industries, however, are not in yet.

The largest amount raised by any single group was raised in Gary, Indiana, at the Steel Mills. Dr. Horace Shaw and the students with him raised $771, $15.15 more than last year.
