Share Your Faith Through Missionary Journals

From all sections of the field the reports indicate a marvelous willingness to share this faith through our missionary journals These Times and Message Magazine.

Your publishing house, in an effort to show its appreciation and to provide our churches with splendid background material, is this year presenting to each church for its church library a beautiful deluxe, four-volume set of The Origin and History of Seventh-day Adventists upon the reaching of the two-per-member objective in our missionary crusade.

Our pastors have lists of names to whom these missionary journals should be sent should you need additional names.

Sister White said, "We have nothing to fear for the future, except as we shall forget the way the Lord has led us." This set by Elder A. W. Spalding is undoubtedly our finest presentation of denominational history. It is written in an easy-to-read style, beautifully bound in white, and imprinted with black and gold. These volumes will bring enrichment of spiritual growth and inspiration to everyone who reads them.

Remember, this set is free to each church upon the reaching of two These Times or Message Magazine subscriptions per member.

We send the books postpaid when your local conference home missionary secretary reports to us that your goal has been reached. This offer expires in the churches June 15 and will not be extended.

Andrews University to Hold Field School in Milwaukee

Andrews University will continue its program of practical training for ministers in the Theological Seminary this year by sponsoring six field schools. About 54 men will participate in evangelistic efforts under the guidance of experienced evangelists.

Field schools will be held from June 11 through July 10, and from July 23 through August 21, says Elder Edward Banks, associate professor of evangelism and director of field work. They will be located in Los Angeles, Calif.; Milwaukee, Wis.; New York City; Omaha, Neb.; St. Petersburg, Fla.; and Worcester, Mass.

"The purpose of the field schools," says Elder Banks, "is to combine the theory and practice of evangelism in an actual soul-winning situation."

In the usual day at field school, students will spend mornings in classes taught by the evangelist directing the effort, and the afternoons will be spent visiting people who have expressed interest in the meetings. After the evening meeting, the entire group meets with the head evangelist to discuss the day's events and their own progress.

Evangelist J. Malcolm Phipps will direct the Milwaukee field school.

Deadline!!

This will be our last opportunity to call to your attention the importance of taking care of your These Times and Message subscriptions. These must be postmarked not later than June 15. We trust that every member will do all he can to use these fine missionary journals in spreading the message of God's love to thousands of homes throughout our union.

Message and These Times win souls. They can not win souls if they are not circulated widely. Make up your club of 100 or 50 or 25 or less subscriptions now and have the advantage of the campaign price of $2.25 per subscription. The price doubles after June 15 to the regular rate. # SPOTLIGHT

ON BOOKS

You will want your children to get acquainted with Jack and June, the Mannerly Twins. They are typical children just like your own and have much to learn.

Eunice Soper, the author of The Mannerly Twins, has done a splendid job in writing a book that teaches manners to the reader and yet makes it so interesting that every child will enjoy its pages.

There are 80 pages of good reading. Some of the chapter headings are "To Chew or Not to Chew," "No Bathroom Manners," "The Noisy Visitors," and "Tired of Sitting." This is only the beginning because there are 14 chapters of good, sound advice and interesting experiences. Included in this volume are pictures that will help to illustrate the stories.

Parents will be thankful that a book of this nature has been printed. There are lessons on table manners, reverence in God's House, how to meet people properly, special manners for boys, etc.

There is indeed much to learn and much to encourage your child to be mannerly in every way.

Your Book and Bible House has this in stock now so order one today, not at the regular price, but $2.25 until July 15, 1965. Tax and postage must be added.

Dial-a-Prayer Discloses Preoccupation with World Affairs Among Australians

More Australians dial a prayer in times of world crisis than in ordinary times, according to Sydney's Dial-a-Prayer service. At the time of the Cuba crisis in 1962 the number of people dialing the service increased from 14,000 to 20,000. When President Kennedy was assassinated, the number of calls jumped by 25 per cent, then fell back to normal levels. At the height of the Vietnam crisis in 1964 the number of calls rose from 26,000 to 34,000. Dial-a-Prayer in Sydney is sponsored as a public service by the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

A four-day cooking school was held at the Colfax Avenue Church in Benton Harbor.

Pastor's Wife Holds Cooking School

Mrs. Wayne W. White, wife of the pastor of the Colfax Ave. Seventh-day Adventist Church, held a 4-day cooking school in one of the newly completed rooms of the Edith P. Garrett school addition the first week of May.

Her assistants in the school were Mrs. Merle Vandewarker, Mrs. Maynard Little, and Mrs. Fred Taylor. Mrs. Johnny Layden was in charge of the sale of health foods manufactured by the Loma Linda and Worthington Food companies. Honey on display at the cooking school was from the hives of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hicks, of the Colfax Ave. Church, who have made this a very profitable hobby.

The attendance varied from a low of 45 to a high of 70, and 25 adults who attended each night were given a health cookbook. Three juniors who attended each night received a teenage cookbook. Names were drawn each night and many received prizes of health foods.

Topics covered were: hearty breakfasts, bread making of various types, importance of protein and salads in the diet, and their proper preparation. Also included was the usage of the bountiful fruits and vegetables of this area in order to benefit from them to the fullest extent.

Those who attended, feel they will be able to prepare better meals for their families from what they learned at this school. FRANCES L. DORGELO

Occasionally we read of a child or youth who stands out against the dark background of unbelief as a monumental figure. Such witnesses as Joseph, Samuel, David, and Paul's otherwise unidentified nephew make us aware that maturity is not an essential qualification for greatness. But back of each act of faith or courage was a type of training in the Word of God and guidance in character development that provided instant readiness for service.

Today our children and youth are challenged to finish the gospel broadcasting in a world that is covered with wickedness and lacks any apparent desire or resolve to serve God. However, God has provided His remnant people with a plan for family life and child training in harmony with the Bible. It is for us, parents and friends of youth, to put life into these plans by providing our children with a

Christ-centered curriculum on a Christian campus. What a privilege we enjoy! The way is marked out for us, we have enviable freedom to act, and a degree of prosperity that seems to have been especially provided for the bold steps needed for these last days.

Our Seventh-day Adventist academies in Michigan are worth more than we are asked to invest in them, and there is danger that their true worth will be realized only when it is too late. Let us give while it is possible. Let us arise and build, and God will bless our efforts in blessing our own sons and daughters along with their consecrated leaders and teachers.

Six Reasons for Church School

The members of the Wittenberg Church dolled up the church basement and opened school in September of 1956 with the spectacular enrollment of just two, namely, Nancy Edminster and Harold Roth.

The following year at Teachers' Convention we enjoyed the distinction of being the only school in the state that had doubled its enrollment.

Since those first two years, we have often no longer been the smallest school. It was because of this foresight that we were encouraged to organize the school with such a small beginning. While we are still few in number, yet our school is filling a real need, and we hope to be able to continue doing small things in a big way!

Zytkoskee Presents Honors To Eight

Investiture services were held at the Wautoma Seventh-day Adventist church school, May 11. The Seventh-day Adventist school children presented a play entitled "Cats."

Elder Adrian Zytkoskee of Madison, MV secretary for Wisconsin, invested the following young people: Mary Lou Weyenberg, Michael Gunderson, David Morford, Sanford Straw, Cheryl Gunderson, Ivy Straw, Daniel Straw, and Mrs. Elaine Gunderson as Master Guide.

These junior and senior MV members have worked very hard throughout the year to receive their honors, class neckerchieves, pins and emblems.

Book and Bible House Notes

This is the week we have kept before you for the past month. Camp Meeting at Little Grassy Lake begins Wednesday evening, June 9. The Bookstand will open at 2 p.m. that day and continue on with regular camp meeting hours throughout the program.

It is hoped that we will have the privilege of greeting and serving the largest assembly of our members ever to attend these important meetings. A rich blessing will come to every one who avails himself of this opportunity for fellowship and inspiration. A special blessing is assured both adults and children through the series of messages which will be brought to us by Elder D. A. Delafield of the Ellen G. White Estate.

As this notice comes to your home, the Bookstand is taking shape to be ready when you arrive. "See you at the Bookstand" at Little Grassy Lake, June 9 to 12.

Less Smoke, More Happiness

Recently a reply to one of the follow-up questionnaires from one who stopped smoking during a Five-Day Plan at Hinsdale bore the following testimony:

"Perhaps you're not interested in this type of remark, but I feel I must tell you because my husband detested smoking (especially when I did it!). My stopping has made him much happier. In turn, our relationship has improved 100 per cent. This has also strengthened me in other areas where discipline for myself was needed."

After this lady stopped smoking she gained twenty pounds. Later she disciplined herself by dieting and has now lost 37 pounds. The act of controlling her smoking habit served to strengthen her will in other matters of right doing.

She reports that she has influenced two others to stop smoking. Many homes could find greater happiness if they did not exist under a cloud of smoke.

Two Mothers Honored In Italian Church

Each year in commemoration of Mother's Day the Missionary Volunteer Society of the Italian Church of Chicago presents a lovely corsage to the youngest and the oldest mother in the church as well as a carnation to every mother in attendance.

This year Mrs. Donald Deavers, leader of the MV Society, presented the corsage to the oldest mother, Mrs. Giovanna Struppa. Mrs. Struppa has been the continued recipient of this honor for many years. Then Mrs. Donald Deavers, herself, was presented with a corsage for being the youngest mother of the church. This was pinned on her by another MV officer, Mrs. Frank Macri, Jr. The respective years of the two mothers, however, were not learned by the rest of the congregation. Of course, this is a right reserved to a woman anytime, anywhere, any age. MRS. HOWARD HARTUNG

Introducing New Faculty At Indiana Academy

We are happy to welcome new faculty members to make for a bigger and better Indiana Academy.

Ray Etheridge is joining the staff as dean of boys. Mr. Etheridge graduated from Columbia Union College in 1959. His major field of concentration was religion. He has been active in the area of tumbling and other athletic fields and has participated in the band and choir programs both in academy and college.

Following his graduation he spent two years as dean of boys at Wisconsin Academy. For the last three years Mr. Etheridge has been working with a building firm where he is now serving as assistant manager.

All who know Mr. Etheridge indicate that he is one who understands boys and works closely with them in finding solutions to their problems. He is known as one who is keenly aware of the need for organization, orderliness and cleanliness.

Mrs. Etheridge and two children are looking forward to joining the boys' dormitory family. We are looking forward to his joining our staff. We know that you will want to welcome him and his family.

John Criss is graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree from Andrews University this spring. Mr. Criss will be teaching in the fields of chemistry, biology, health and safety and German.

Mr. Criss is a "hoosier" and was born and raised in Eastern Indiana. He was baptized in New Castle during the time that Elder Fowler was the pastor.

He is a talented mechanist, and has had a number of years of experience at Andrews University in the maintenance department.

Mrs. Criss will not be working at the school but will be taking care of their two children who will both be attending the church school.

Mr. and Mrs. John Criss and their two children.

C. D. Anderson, Ph.D., will be joining our staff this fall teaching Bible and history. Dr. Anderson has spent a number of years teaching in our secondary schools. He comes to us highly recommended as one who is well qualified to teach and one who is a conservative, stable Seventh-day Adventist.

One married daughter who lives in Columbus, Ohio, has helped him to decide to join our staff since he would like to be nearer her. Mrs. Anderson is a registered nurse.

We are happy to welcome these good folks to the Indiana Academy faculty.

Indiana Academy is the only school in the Lake Union Conference that provides an opportunity for a student to take art. Miss Joy Caselli is being married this summer and to take her place Mrs. LaDean Birkhead has been called.

Mrs. Birkhead is a graduate of Andrews University and will be teaching home economics and art. We welcome Mrs. Birkhead to our faculty.

More on Camp Meeting '65

We have more good news on our 1965 Camp Meeting program. W. S. Lee, Temperance secretary of the Pacific Union, will be one of our guest speakers. Elder Lee is a man of wide and varied experience. He is a former pastor of the Ephesus Church of New York City. Until recently Elder Lee served as secretary of the Regional Department of the Pacific Union Conference. Regular Lake Region campers will remember his stirring evangelistic sermons of a few years ago.

It has been some time since the Faith for Today television group has visited our campground. Word has come to our desk that W. A. Fagal, director-speaker, Mrs. Fagal and the quartet will spend Thursday, July 1, on our campgrounds.

OBITUARIES

ATKINSON, Mrs. Rose, was born June 8, 1885, in Darien, Wis., daughter of Joseph and Amelia Taylor. She passed away in the sleep of death April 21, 1965, in the Rockford Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Atkinson lived in Rockford for 60 years and was a member of the Rockford S.D.A. Church.

Survivors include a daughter and several nieces and nephews. Interment was in Darien Cemetery, Wis. L. J. Marsa BENSON, Clara Beigang, was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 20, 1879, and passed to her rest at her home in Berrien Springs, Sunday morning, April 25, shortly after her morning worship.

In 1901 she was married to Lester Benson who was a florist in Newport, Ky. In 1906 they moved to Indianapolis, Ind., where they established a flower business.

She was baptized into the S.D.A. church in 1916 after attending a series of meetings held by Elder John Tindall.

She leaves to mourn a son, Howard, of Long Beach, Calif., and a daughter, Wilmoth Benson of Berrien Springs, with whom she had made her home for the past several years. She is survived by a grandson, Frank Benson of Long Beach, three great-grandchildren, two nieces, and many friends.

Burial was made in Rose Hill Cemetery at Berrien Springs. Pastors J. H. Rhoads, and Anthony Castelbuono of the Pioneer Memorial Church officiated.

DUNCAN, Malcolm Graham, was born Oct. 23, 1890, in Faucett, Mo., and died April 30, 1965, from a heart attack in the Parkview Hospital of Fort Wayne, Ind.

He leaves to mourn their loss his faithful wife, Hazel Yancey Duncan, who shared his blessed hope; and three children by a former marriage, Mrs. Frances Stoney, of Levantha, Kan.; Mrs. Margaret Hellom, of Hemet, Calif.; and John H. Duncan, of Pocatello, Idaho.

At his passing Mr. Duncan belonged to the Wolf Lake, Ind., Seventh-day Adventist Church where he served faithfully as a deacon.

Mr. Duncan was laid to rest in the Wolf Lake, Ind., Cemetery. Services were conducted by Elder Harold L. Wernick and the writer, Alfred C. Schnell FREMOLE, Mrs. Willa Maude Elmore, was born Oct. 31, 1886, and passed quietly to her rest May 2, 1965. She spent most of her life in Galesburg and attended the public schools there.

She was married to Elmer G. Fremole Dec. 17, 1908. A few years later they joined the

Graduation Climaxes Successful School Year

Two hundred three graduates and a host of relatives and friends were challenged by Dr. F. D. Nichol Sunday morning, May 30, during the commencement address at Andrews University.

"The goal of Seventh-day Adventist schools," he stressed, "is to free us from the pathetically small limits of modern thought. We would grasp with one hand the magnificent revelations of science in the natural world, and with the other, the inspired revelations of the world beyond. We believe that only by this twofold revelation can we live the most meaningful lives in this present world, with assurance of an even more meaningful life in a world to come."

In summary he emphasized that Seventh-day Adventists "are totally unwilling to restrict the sweep of our spirit to six feet above ground for seventy years, and then six feet below for eternity."

Nichol, a past recipient of an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from Andrews University, is a prominent Adventist writer and editor. An Australian by birth, Dr. Nichol is a world traveler presently serving as editor of the Review and Herald.

An honorary Doctor of Divinity degree was conferred on Dr. Edwin R. Thiele, emeritus professor of religion and philosophy. An ordained minister of the S.D.A. church, Dr. Thiele graduated from Emmanuel Missionary College in 1918. In 1920 he went as a missionary to China, where he worked until 1937. He has been on the faculty of his alma mater for 28 years, teaching in the field of religion. A portion of the citation awarded him reads:

Dr. E. R. Thiele Honored

"To Edwin R. Thiele, missionary to China, teacher of Bible, departmental administrator, and scholarly author, who through his book, The Mysterious Numbers of the Hebrew Kings, has become recognized throughout the world as the leading authority in Old Testament chronology, we offer recognition with praise and appreciation."

Weekend speakers included Elder N. R. Dower, president of the Washington Conference of S.D.A., for Friday evening consecration; and Dr. T. S. Geraty, associate secretary of the department of education of the General Conference, who delivered the baccalaureate address on Saturday.

Fifteen students graduated "with honors," indicating that they had maintained a superior scholastic record. Of these, eight were awarded to college graduates; five to School of Graduate Studies graduates; and two to Theological Seminary graduates. Two students, Ruth Elaine Atkinson of Little Rock, Ark., and Leo Ray Van Dolson of Angwin, Calif., graduated summa cum laude, the highest honor that can be bestowed on a student for excellence in scholastic achievement.

Of the 203 graduates, 153 were graduates with college degrees, and 50 with masters and professional theological degrees.

Field Representatives

Elder E. Nachreiner

Dr. Horace J. Shaw

Two faculty members have been named as Andrews University field representatives and will spend the summer assisting prospective students from the Lake Union in planning for college attendance.

These individuals are prepared to talk with students and their parents regarding academic, financial and career questions.
