

Baptism Story

Of the millions of viewers who watch Faith for Today over 225 stations in North America and ten overseas countries, only a percentage take the trouble to write in. Television executives indicate that for every letter sent in, a hundred folk have the similar convictions but do not take the trouble to write.

Presently the volume of correspondence coming to Faith for Today is close to 10,000 pieces of mail a week. These are indications of the impact of the telecast and the blessing God is bringing as the message goes over the airways.

A recent letter to Faith for Today speaks for hundreds who have made their decision for baptism recently through the influence of the telecast. Comments the viewer:

"This letter is written to tell how your television program, Faith for Today, inspired my husband and me to join the Seventh-day Adventist church.

"One Sunday about two and one-half years ago, I was feeling a little depressed. Wishing I could cheer up, I accidentally tuned in Faith for Today on television. After listening to your program I was inspired with new hope and courage. I decided to take your Bible course to learn more about the teachings of Jesus. I began, completed your course and received a diploma.

"A little later I had a visit from a truly Christian lady, Mrs. Doris Batchelder, Bible instructor from the Green Lake Seventh-day Adventist Church in Seattle, Washington. Through her guidance and interest I went on to join the Green Lake Church. My husband and I were baptized together last month. He is now taking your Bible course and is getting as much inspiration from it as I.

"Your courses have helped my family so much and the church is indeed friendly and Christian. Please accept our thanks for all."

It is the prayers of our people and their invitations to folk to view the telecast and cooperation in enrolling students in the Bible course that make letters like this possible. This is indeed our opportunity to work for Christ. May God bless as you do your part.

Pathfinders in God's Out-of-Doors

Pathfinders from all sections of Indiana came together at Cicero for the annual Pathfinder Fair. The day began with the JMV Pledge and Law and the pledge of allegiance to the flag. All clubs fell in line for the parade and marched by the reviewing stand.

Booth and displays were erected to depict the theme of the fair, which was "Pathfinders in God's Out-of-Doors." A feature of the fair was to use lashing wherever possible.

Pathfinders entered wholeheartedly into the contests, which were fire-building, lashing tripods, jumping rope, strength endurance, tent pitching and squad drilling. A number of clubs gave unusually good demonstrations from the platform.

As the fair drew to a close, we were privileged to enjoy some special features. Eugene Lincoln showed the Pathfinders how to properly use a

500 Indians Help Build Peru Clinic

A medical clinic to serve the Campa and Amuesha Indian tribes of the Peruvian jungle is now in operation in Nevati. Some 500 Indians pitched in to help build the medical unit—the only medical facility available to members of the two largest tribes near the Seventh-day Adventist Nevati Mission Station. The clinic has beds for 12 patients, a surgery, a dental office, an examining room, a workroom, and baths. Electricity is supplied from a generator, and water from a large underground tank where rainwater is stored. Before the clinic was constructed, Indians requiring serious medical treatment had to be flown to the nearest hospital—40 minutes of flying time plus half an hour by car or truck. Directing the Adventist mission at Nevati is Marvin Fehrenbach, assisted by his wife.

"Worry List" of Americans Compiled by Harris Survey

Americans are worried because they don't make it to church regularly. This is the conclusion of the Harris Survey, conducted to determine what the chief causes of worry are for Americans. Non-church-going was fourth on the list of worries, topped only by worry about being overweight, not being physically fit, and reading too little. Of those questioned, 43 per cent said they often felt bad about not attending church regularly. Another 35 per cent admitted that they sometimes felt bad about their own non-attendance. Fourteen other subjects causing Americans to worry were revealed by the survey, including wasting too much time, not being considerate enough of parents, not being active enough in the community, spending too much money, and not giving enough to charity.

Mason-Konrad Wedding

In a lovely candlelight ceremony in the Pontiac, Mich., Seventh-day Adventist Church on May 9, Miss Johna Sue Mason became the bride of Albert Konrad. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mason of Drayton Plains, Mich., and the groom, the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Konrad of Berrien Springs.

They will live in Lyons, Ill., where the groom will begin internship with the Illinois Conference for the summer, previous to his return to Andrews University Theological Seminary in the fall. The bride will complete the requirements for a registered nurse at Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital in October.

ACADEMY REPORT

Elder W. J. Hubert, left, Church Development director, assists Harold Moll with his report as chairman of the Building Committee for Academy Development.

THE LAY ADVISORY COMMITTEE for Michigan's academy development program met Sunday, May 23, at Cedar Lake Academy. Following is a brief review of the morning's activities:

- ★★★ REPORTS FROM ACADEMIES. The principals of Cedar Lake, Grand Ledge, and Adelphian academies reported on the school year just closing, and commented on prospects for the future. Dr. Clarence Omans reported on behalf of Battle Creek Academy. All reports stressed full student enrollments and qualified staff members.
- ★★★ PROMOTION COMMITTEE REPORT. Chairman Don Hawley reported on a meeting of the promotion committee for academy development held earlier in the month. A number of new approaches to keep our constituency better informed as to the progress of the academy development program were outlined.
- ★★★ ACADEMY FARMING REPORT. A partial report was presented on the investigative work done by V. H. Campbell of Andrews University in regards to the agricultural potential at each of the boarding academies. It was voted to allow the individual school operating boards to implement that portion of the report presented as they see fit.
- ★★★ CHURCH DEVELOPMENT SERVICE REPORT. A thoroughly encouraging report on the C.D.S. canvasses throughout the conference was presented by Elder William Hubert. Mention was made of the excellent reception the program has received in the field. Forty-nine Every-Member Canvasses have already been completed and 16 churches with no immediate local need have elected to assume their academy goal without C.D.S. directed canvasses.
- ★★★ BUILDING COMMITTEE REPORT. Harold Moll, chairman, reported on the work of his group. Various charts were used to explain comparative building costs. There was discussion concerning the plans for the Grand Ledge Academy auditorium-gymnasium. It was reported that the Lewis J. Sarvis Company of Battle Creek has been given the final clearance to proceed with the first academy project, a new girls' dormitory at Cedar Lake Academy. Consideration will be given at a later date as to whom will be awarded the contracts for later projects. It was re-emphasized that some major construction should be commenced on each campus during 1966.

Wisconsin News Items

★ The Wisconsin Rapids Dorcas Welfare Society workers are glad they cleaned, mended and pressed the 300 pounds of clothing which they received in a recent community-wide appeal. Information of three area families which suffered the loss of all their personal belongings in fire-ravished homes came at this time. A total of 142 items of clothing was distributed to 22 persons in these families, according to Mrs. Lenora Tesser, society leader.

★ The Bethel, Wis., Church recently spent $600 on new carpeting for the floor of their sanctuary. Four new roadside identification and directional signs have also been made. Permission for their erection was granted by the State Highway Department. They will be located at the intersections of Highway 13 and Highway 186 with County Trunk N.

★ Two underprivileged children are being sent from the Marshfield area to Camp Wahdoon this summer. Under the auspices of the Conference Home Missionary Department, 20 such youngsters will attend camp who would not otherwise have camping opportunities.

★ A new church sign is being constructed for the Granton, Wis., Church. The faithful members meet each Sabbath afternoon from 2 to 4.

★ Evangelistic meetings are being planned for the Owen-Withee area for this coming fall. The American Legion Hall in Owen has been secured by Elder S. D. Seltzer and the Withee congregation. The hall, a former Catholic church, is ideally located on the main thoroughfare through town.

Two Families Join Wisconsin Workers

Glimpses of Wisconsin Academy

Wisconsin Academy students look on at the construction work with anticipation of the time all this dirt will become classrooms. This second section of the Administration Building will house three classrooms, all administrative offices, the school store, and adequate restroom facilities. Construction is being done by Roy Schreiber of Randolph, Wis., and is scheduled to be completed by December 31. At the time of this writing, all of the footings and most of the walls have been poured.

Wrong Number Increases Publicity

The Smoker's Dial Program of East St. Louis was recently given considerable publicity by the local radio station and by the Belleville News Democrat, a local newspaper.

On June 4, the local paper carried an article about the Smoker's Dial Program and listed the number to be dialed as EX 7-7060. This number seemed to give cause for much wrong dialing. In an attempt to remedy the problem, the telephone company gave the Smoker's Dial a new number, EX 7-2251. Now there was a problem, as the people had been informed of one number and the program was operating under a different one. In order to correct the situation and to inform the public of the change of numbers, the local radio station gave regular spot announcements throughout the day regarding the program with the new dialing number. The Belleville newspaper also aided in the publicity by a favorable report about the program. As a result, the Smoker's Dial phone was in constant use and the program has had tremendous acceptance.

Following the mix-up, the Belleville paper carried an interesting editorial entitled "Fingertip Information." You will be interested in the editorial:

"More and more, people all over the world are literally living a phony life.

"You can get almost any kind of information or service you want these days by simply stepping to the phone and dialing a number.

"The time. The weather. Wake-up services for the sleepyhead. Dial-a-prayer for those in need of spiritual comfort.

"Recorded newscasts. Traffic and road information. Ski reports, stock market quotations, election results, how to break a bad habit.

"In Boston, even improper Bostonians can dial the 'Voice of Audubon' and learn what birds can be seen where.

"And we Americans aren't the only phone-advantaged ones.

"In England little tykes or their parents can go beddy-bye by dialing a fairy tale. In West Germany hausfraus can dial the 'recipe of the day.'

"In Switzerland there is dial help on crossword puzzles and train schedules. Parisians can dial for advice on romantic problems, if a Parisian ever needs such help.

"These remarkable aids to better living encourage hope for the ultimate breakthrough in telephonic miracles — the dream day when the subscriber picks up the phone, the operator answers, and she does all the dialing!

"Quiet, old timer. Your memory is playing tricks on you."

The Lord has many ways that we would never think of to place our work before the eyes of the public. On two occasions our church representatives in East St. Louis have been interviewed on TV in connection with the Smoker's Dial Program.

Camp Meeting at Little Grassy Lake

The tolling bell from June 9 to 12 at Little Grassy Lake was not only a reminder of school days, but a time clock for camp meeting.

From all corners of southern Illinois people gathered in the large pavilion to hear messages from our leaders.

Every day from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. was full of activity. The children enjoyed their meetings and recreation. The adults were given a variety of things to think about.

was Elder D. A. Delefield, associate secretary of the E. G. White Estate. He reaffirmed our faith in the writings of God's servant. His services were illustrated with pictures of Ellen White's life and work.

The Sabbath School program was presented by Miss Adeline Kleist, superintendent of the Brookfield Sabbath School.

Others who contributed to our rich camp meeting experience were J. P. Winston, Temperance secretary, and G. E. Hutches, Education secretary, both of the Lake Union Conference; Dr. Richard Hammill, president, and Dr. Horace J. Shaw, professor, both of Andrews University; H. J. Forquer, Review and Herald Publishing Association; M. J. Blair, Hinsdale Sanitarium administrator; President W. A. Nelson, from the Illinois Conference, and departmental secretaries and ministers.

Fifteen Faculty Receive Cash Awards

Awards ranging from $75 to $150 each have been made to fifteen members of the faculty for books written or articles published in professional periodicals. Provision for these awards, which amounted to a total of $1750, was made by the Board of Trustees in order to encourage faculty participation in publishing articles in the area of their specialty in professional periodicals.

A young university seeking public acceptance in order to attract students and obtain recognition of the sisterhood of accredited institutions of higher education must accept the responsibility of participating in the discovery and dissemination of knowledge. The 1963 report of the examining team of the North Central Association stressed the necessity for the faculty of Andrews University to engage in scholarly publication, if the University is to obtain wide recognition and acceptance, and if it is to fulfill its allotted share of the responsibility of productive scholarship.

The awards were made by President Hammill on June 10 to the following members of the faculty:

School of Graduate Studies: Dr. Mercedes Dyer, Dr. F. E. J. Harder, Dr. John Waller.

Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary: Dr. Raoul Dederen, Dr. Earle Hilgert, Dr. Siegfried Horn, Dr. Sakae Kubo, Dr. W. G. C. Murdoch, Dr. Kenneth Strand, Dr. Daniel Walther.

Summer Session Enrollment Largest in History

Slated for a summer of study are 788 students enrolled in the three schools of Andrews University, according to Registrar Dyre Dyresen.

One of the largest summer sessions in Andrews University's history, the graduate school for the first time has the largest enrollment with 311 students. The Seminary accounts for 172, the college, 305. Of the total number enrolled, 40 states, from Alaska to Florida, from Maine to Hawaii, and 42 different countries are represented.

The 788 enrolled chose their courses from a total of 233 being offered by the three schools, not including the summer Institute in Mathematics for Secondary School Teachers under the direction of Dr. Harold T. Jones, professor of mathematics, and three study tours: the Peru expedition led by Drs. Thoresen and Seidel, associate professors of biology to collect biological specimens; the Reformation Lands Tour of Europe under the direction of Dr. Daniel Walther, professor of church history; and the Denominational History Tour of Michigan and New England, under the direction of Virgil Robinson, guest professor at the Seminary.

One of the 125 courses being offered by the college, Vatican Diplomacy taught by Dr. Leif Kr. Tobiassen, professor of history and political science, is being offered for the first time. Dr. Richard Schwarz, acting chairman of the department of history and political science and associate professor of social science, in announcing the course stated, "Students taking this course will learn of the important part the Vatican plays in international affairs. I know of no other college or university offering such a unique course."

Graduate School offerings total 74 classes, according to Dr. Emil Leffler, dean of the graduate school.

A special feature of the Seminary classes which number 34 are the evangelistic field schools being held in New York City; Omaha, Nebr.; St. Petersburg, Fla.; Milwaukee, Wis.; West Covina, Calif.; and Worcester, Mass. The purpose of the field schools, indicates Dr. W. G. C. Murdoch, dean of the Seminary, is to permit the students to put into practice the theories on soul winning they have previously learned in other Seminary courses.

Being offered for the first time in the Seminary is Ecclesiology, a class in the doctrine of the church, being taught by Dr. Raoul Dederen, visiting professor of theology.

Seminary guest professors from the General Conference include Dr. R. A. Anderson, secretary, the Ministerial Association, currently giving instruction in leadership and worship; Elder D. A. Delafield of the White Estate, teaching a course in prophetic guidance; and Elders John Hancock of the MV department, R. Curtis Barger of the Sabbath School department; and J. Ernest Edwards, A. A. Esteb, and Maybelle Vandermark, of the Home Missionary department who together will be teaching The Departments of the Seventh-day Adventist Church at the three-week post-session.

A deans' workshop is being conducted by Dr. Mercedes H. Dyer, professor of education.

APPLICATIONS FOR 1965-1966 SCHOOL YEAR

As of June 25, 1,104 college students have been accepted to Andrews University, and an additional 427 applications are being processed. August 15 is the deadline for applications. If you are planning to attend college this fall it is not too late to submit your application.

Twenty-five students are currently attending the summer Institute in Mathematics for Secondary School Teachers sponsored by a National Science Foundation grant of $29,980 to cover tuition and fees that otherwise would have been charged to the students. Students also are receiving a stipend to cover personal expenses. This is the third time Andrews University has been the recipient of similar grants from the foundation, states Dr. Harold T. Jones, professor of mathematics and director of the institute.
