Radio Link Between Missions Seen in Amazon Valley

A radio network for Seventh-day Adventist mission schools, medical launches, and mission outpost stations in Peru is becoming a reality as two radio technicians work on setting up radio communications in the church's Inca Union Mission. Short-wave radio equipment was purchased a year ago through the efforts of Walter Bolinger, physics and radio-electronics teacher at Pacific Union College in Angwin, Calif., but no technician was available to install the equipment in the mission. Bolinger and his wife left this summer to make the installations, accompanied by Bob Seamount, who left with his wife on permanent assignment as pilot, radio technician, and pastor for the Inca Union Mission. The first project is to link mission schools around Lake Titicaca. The next project is to equip with radio each of eight of the mission launches operated by the church on the Amazon and its tributaries. A third need is to set up radio communications between the Inca union's headquarters office and new outposts being set up by missionaries traveling to remote regions by air.

Christian Record National Convention Highlights

It may be a surprise to many of our readers throughout North America to learn that their one and only Seventh-day Adventist publishing plant for blind people, located in Lincoln, Neb., is the largest publisher of religious braille material in the world.

R. H. Blessing
Director
Great Lakes Division

The Christian Record began its services in 1899 and has grown steadily through the years. Since our last National Convention, five years ago, the Christian Record has published and distributed without cost to blind people enough brailled material to make 40 STACKS OF BRAILLE AS HIGH AS THE EMPIRE STATE BUILDING, primarily distributed to blind people in the United States and Canada, but also in 84 foreign countries. This represents a total of 65,000,000 pages of Braille distributed free to blind people.

On June 17 to 22 the National Convention of the Christian Record Braille Foundation convened in Lincoln, Neb. The meetings were held at the new Christian Record publishing house located in College View. We were happy to have as guest speakers from the General Conference, Elder Theodore Carcich, whose morning devotions stirred the hearts of all those present, and Elder George Huse, who represented the world-wide publishing work, its activities and soul-winning experiences among the sighted. Elder R. H. Nightingale, Central Union Conference president, and Elder F. O. Sanders, Nebraska Conference president, were also guest speakers.

From outside the denomination we had representatives such as Robert Bray from the United States Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., who is in charge of all library work in the United States.

There were also guest speakers from Iowa, Nebraska and Wyoming. These men are in charge of Services to the Blind in their states. Also present were a home teacher, a librarian, and the manager of the Lincoln Better Business Bureau.

One of the highlights of the Convention was the soul-winning program given on Sabbath afternoon at the College View Church. Plaques were given at that time in recognition of outstanding achievements in three fields.

Tremendous strides have been made in the advancement and expansion of our denominationally owned publishing house for blind people in the last seven years. The work has grown in the amount of free services extended to the blind people, but more important, we are seeing the results of our services as blind people are being brought to Christ, and today are experiencing the joy of being Seventh-day Adventist Church members, looking forward to the return of Jesus.

The 50 district representatives and their wives represented all geographical areas of the United States and Canada. They are a truly dedicated group of individuals—not from the floating elements of life. Many of them have sold their businesses or given up life-time jobs with large corporations, and have decided to lock arms with God's workers in finishing the task of taking the Three Angels' Messages to the world, particularly to the 400,000 blind persons in the United States. The ultimate goal for the Christian Record workers is to reach the 18,000,000 estimated blind persons in the world. With 37,000 people losing their sight in the United States annually, the task is indeed a big one. Remember these faithful workers in your prayers daily.

Lay Evangelist Honored For Work in Korea

A layman in Korea who has converted 120 Koreans has been honored by the Middle West Korean Mission and by the official church paper of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, the Review and Herald. Besides seeing 120 persons baptized from his personal efforts Kay-Chae Im has built six churches. In addition to his spiritual ministry, Mr. Im, a nurse, has given medical care to many in the past 15 years. This year he was selected as Layman of the Year for the Adventists' Middle West Korean Mission.

A Special Bible Course For Our Jewish Friends

The marvelous heritage given by the Jews to humanity is graphically recorded in the Old Testament and many parts of the New. Theirs has been a tremendous history. A talented people for centuries, they have served as thought leaders for mankind. Today many thoughtful Jewish people are giving careful consideration to their history and also to the Christian concept. As never before they are willing to carefully study the significance of Christ's first coming and the contribution He made to mankind. Thoughtful perceptive Jews are beginning to ask whether or not it is possible that Christ was indeed the Messiah.

Elder Wesley Amundsen, secretary of the Israelite Heritage Institute, is spearheading an active evangelistic program for Jewish friends. He is interested in the cooperation of every church member in reaching Jewish friends and neighbors in their communities with information about the Israelite Heritage Bible Course.

To encourage the increasing interest in the Christian concept and the ministry of Christ on the part of many Jewish people, Faith for Today has developed a special Israelite Heritage Bible course. Dealing with the great outline of Jewish history, it provides a careful review of the Holy Scriptures and of course places primary emphasis on the marvelous prophecies and colorful history of the Old Testament.

Reference is frequently made in the lessons to the Hebrew Bible translated into English by Alexander Harkavy, as well as to the King James version. Hebrew terminology is used throughout to clarify Bible texts. Best of all, the outline of prophecies lays a strong foundation for presentation of New Testament truth. As these prophecies are currently presented in the Old Testament, the student's mind can easily grasp the significance of fulfilling New Testament events and prophecies.

Currently 1,654 students from all denominations and every part of the Herb Silver, pastor of the Times Square Jewish Center, and J. M. Hoffman, Center director, discuss means of contacting the 400,000 Jewish families in the New York area with the glad tidings of Christ's love and return. These two leaders in the Jewish program are responsible, with Elder Amundsen, for implementing a strong city-wide program that will lead Jewish folk to accept Christ.

world are taking the Israelite Heritage course.

A 21-year-old Jewish student writes: "This course has greatly enriched my life, and I would like you to visit me so that I might express my feelings concerning religion. Although I have not been converted yet, I do have a better understanding of religion as a result of the lessons in this course and the letters you have sent answering my questions."

In your vicinity it is likely there are many Jewish folk, a number of whom are prominent in the community. Why not enroll them immediately in the Israelite Heritage Institute. Write to Faith for Today for a supply of Israelite Heritage Institute enrollment cards. And tell your Jewish friends about the course and the values which it has. We know of no other course just like it, designed to reach folk of the Jewish faith. You may know a doctor, lawyer, or a university professor of the Jewish faith who would greatly appreciate the material which this course includes.

In our interest in leading souls to Christ, let us not overlook our Jewish friends. Historically it has been difficult to reach them with the message of Christ, but now we have a golden opportunity to help lead them to the Master.

MICHIGAN

The beautiful Bible course application folder entitled, "What of the Future?" has proved the best to date in securing enrollments for the Faith for Today Bible course. Every church member should have a good supply to give to friends and neighbors. Plan now to distribute these on Michigan's big Enrollment Procurement Day, September 25. Price through your local church missionary secretary, only $6.00 per thousand. Folders are ideal for professional and business offices.

Bible Course Enrollment Day For Michigan

A big day for Michigan Seventh-day Adventists is coming September 25 when more than 150,000 Bible course enrollment applications will be distributed throughout the conference. Every church member is invited to participate and already many of our churches are laying plans to make this one of the biggest literature distribution days in their history.

When it is remembered that one out of every ten students that graduate from the Faith for Today Bible course is baptized, the importance of covering every home possible with the Bible course application folder and giving an invitation to enroll is obvious. A beautiful new application folder entitled, "What of the Future?" will be given out. In two colors, this highlights space-age problems and the universal question in human hearts, "What of the Future?" It points to the Bible as the answer to every problem contended with by mankind, and it invites the one reading it to enroll in the Faith for Today Bible correspondence course.

Daughter of Michigan Couple Completes Dietetics Internship

A Lake Union woman is one of 12 dietetics interns who received certificates and American Dietetics Association pins from the Loma Linda University School of Nutrition and Dietetics August 12.

Donna Ballard Meek, 23, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald R. Ballard, 21181 Outer Dr., Dearborn.

Mrs. Meek received her Bachelor of Science degree in 1964 from Andrews University.

The one-year dietetics internship prepares the student for a career in food service.

Michigan's Fall Clothing Drive

The dates for the annual conference-wide fall clothing drive for overseas disaster relief is scheduled from October 24 to 26 and October 31 to November 2. We are giving you this advance announcement to enable members throughout Michigan to help their local Dorcas societies and welfare center directors by bringing clothing NOW to their local welfare center or society for processing for this all-important overseas drive.

It takes time to process and pack this clothing for shipment to our Eastern Warehouse in New York City. Therefore we are appealing to our members to clean out their closets, shelves, and dresser drawers of useful clothing no longer needed and turn it over to a center or Dorcas society at once.

The conference is happy to underwrite the transportation and shipping cost of this clothing from your pick-up station to Lansing and thence to our Eastern Warehouse in New York. But for us to continue this arrangement and to make our annual drive worthwhile, the wholehearted cooperation and all-out support of every church in Michigan is needed and sincerely appreciated. This will guarantee our program outstanding success and will warm the hearts of our believers and neighbors in need in disaster areas overseas.

A pick-up schedule, listing date, and time of pick-up in each federation area, will be appearing in the HERALD around the middle of October. We have tried to arrange our schedule so that every church and society can bring in their clothing to the pick-up station for their area on SUNDAY, OCTOBER 24 AND OCTOBER 31 AND HAVE IT THERE BEFORE THE SCHEDULED TIME OF PICK-UP. A few late comers last year will remember the disappointment and plan to have their clothing arrive early this year.

The Michigan Conference is proud and happy to top the list of conferences in the Eastern United States in sending their clothing in tonnage to the Eastern Warehouse. Let us continue to keep up this fine work and keep the clothing not needed for local welfare work constantly flowing to our Eastern Warehouse for shipments to disaster areas overseas. Remember, we are counting on you.

WISCONSIN

Parents of Wisconsin—

We live in a world of comparisons. Too often something is judged "good" or "bad" without considering its own merits or worth.

We tend to compare Christian youth with worldly youth, we compare standards against customs, church against church, and people with people. We compare academy with academy and academy with high school and somehow seem to think we have a basis for evaluation. Yet, this is perhaps the poorest comparison that can be made.

While we here at Wisconsin Academy have enjoyed a reputation of excellence, Wisconsin Academy is not to be compared to any other school anywhere. God has ordained that this school is to perform a specific function for His people in this field. If there is to be a comparison it is with the divine blueprint found in the gift of prophecy. While we cannot boast perfection, we can say that Wisconsin Academy is ever striving to fulfill its obligations as an educational unit in harmony with the will of God.

The faculty and staff are here because God has ordained it so. They are here because they want to be where God wants them to be. Dedicated and consecrated, they are concerned with the individual student and not with a system or with comparisons.

This is where our children belong—in Wisconsin Academy—and not in some high school simply because we think we know or feel that they can do as well or even better elsewhere.

Wisconsin Academy is concerned with the threefold aspect of living. There is a continual striving for a proper balance and harmony in the physical, mental, and spiritual. A strong spiritual program with concern for the standards of the church is ever present. Physical labor and health practices are a part of the program. Truth and intellectual growth, with a positive regard for God, is the object of study. God is revered and the Bible is the infallible Word on the campus of Wisconsin Academy.

Parents, what are you doing in aiding your children in what we call growing up? What are they learning in school and what kind of men and women do they have as teachers? Are you interested in comparisons or with council and instruction as given to us by God? Will your child be in Wisconsin Academy next week?

Let us utilize every blessing and advantage we have offered to us in Christian education. Let us bend every muscle and make every sacrifice for the proper training and salvation of our youth.

New Minister at Brownsburg

The members of the Brownsburg Seventh-day Adventist Church welcomed the new minister, Pastor Arthur E. Wade, as he preached his first sermon at the church Sabbath, July 10.

Pastor Wade; his wife, Arlene; and daughter, Phyllis, who will be a junior at Indiana Academy this year; worshipped with us last week for the first time. Their son, George, is at Southern Missionary College at Collegedale, Tenn., where he is in his second year.

Pastor Wade is originally from St. Marys, Ohio, and graduated from Columbia Union College at Takoma Park, Md. His wife came from Birmingham, Ala., and graduated from Southern Missionary College in Collegedale, Tenn.

They will reside at Frankfort, Ind.

Glezen Vacation Bible School

Operating from one of the smallest churches in Indiana, faith, courage, and perseverance have again resulted in a successful Vacation Bible School as it has for the past three years.

Although the church membership is listed on the record as 13, there was a total enrollment at the Vacation Bible School of 37, 30 of these being non-Adventists. Two of these are already attending the regular Sabbath School.

Writing of the experience, Mrs. Norman Moore states that 26 of the 37 children attended all ten days. In fact, they seemed to be putting the other Vacation Bible Schools in the area out of business.

The children proved to be the best advertisement for this Vacation Bible School. They told how they had learned so much there, how they had more fun, and how they appreciated the crafts.

Four of these children have also joined the Pathfinder Club, and the pastor will be visiting the home of these children.

A great evangelistic potential is open to us as we invite boys and girls into our Vacation Bible Schools.

Welcome New Teachers!

A hearty welcome is extended to the new teachers of the Lake Region Conference. With the expansion of our facilities, it is necessary to bring in new teachers to help with our developmental program in education.

Some of our new teachers are as follows: From Oakwood College we have Misses Carol Smith, Vera Hill, Robert Lois Moss, Sandra Neely, and Mr. Nathaniel Higgs. We also have Miss June White of Atlantic Union College; Mr. Daniel Omole of Andrews University; Mrs. Hilda Cox of the South Central Conference; Mr. Edric L. Weeks-Sealy of British Columbia University, Canada; and Miss Gloria Felan of Ohio.

The Department of Education, along with our veteran teachers, extend a cordial welcome to our colleagues as we join hands together preparing our youth for life's responsibilities and for God's kingdom.

Annual MV Federation Meeting Planned

The annual meeting of the MV Federation will be held Sabbath, September 5, at the Lake Region Conference Campground at Cassopolis, Mich. All MV Federation members are expected to attend this final meeting for the summer. Members and officers should plan to spend the entire weekend and participate in the Labor Day Weekend Camp, September 3 to 6.

MV COMMITTEE

Calling All Senior MV's for Labor Day Weekend, September 3 to 6

All senior MV's, all young married couples, and all youth planning to be married in the next year are cordially invited to the last great feast of good things for the summer. A strong spiritual, educational, and social program is planned for all in attendance.

Among the guest speakers will be Elder O. J. Ritz, veteran minister and candidate for the doctorate degree from Michigan State University, who will give counsel on teen-age problems and family life. Pastor Mervyn Warren, former Bible teacher at Oakwood College, and now candidate for the doctor's degree, will also be a guest speaker, along with ministers from the Lake Region Conference. Plans are being made for counseling sessions for teenagers and unmarried adults as well as sessions for married couples.

Make reservations through the MV Department. Send at least $1.00 with your reservation. The total cost for the entire weekend is $12.50 per person. Be sure to bring your own bedding. Everything else is furnished. There will be a variety of recreational activities including volleyball, basketball, nature study, hikes, horseback riding, swimming, shuffleboard, golf, and archery. Let every youth and married couple plan to attend this week-end of togetherness for spiritual refreshing and social stimulation.

Organ Chimes Donated by Dr. Stocker

A set of Class A Deagan chimes, which, according to Dr. C. Warren Becker, professor of music, are of the best quality possible, has just been donated by Dr. Howard O. Stocker, M.D., of San Bernardino, Calif., as a tribute to the excellent training provided by Andrews University. The chimes are a welcome and necessary addition to the Cassavant pipe organ which is to be installed later this year in the Pioneer Memorial Church.

Dr. Becker explains that the chimes are not only of a different length, but also of a different diameter with the result that the lower register of the chimes are richer and more sonorous than other chimes of a more inferior quality.

The chimes will be put into the organ and will therefore be played from the organ console.

"I am thrilled and grateful that Dr. Stocker has seen fit to add these chimes to our new organ," states Dr. Becker.

Dr. Stocker has also donated an appropriation for a cymbalstern, originally a wooden star with jingles attached to the points which resulted in high-pitched jingles when the stop was pulled. Dr. Becker says that the jingles suggest the twinkling of a star. The stop will be used with especial success in the performance of 17th and 18th century compositions.

"Special attention will be drawn to Dr. Stocker's gift of the chimes and cymbalstern at the opening organ concert which is scheduled for December 11. At that time, we will be able to appreciate the full worth of Dr. Stocker's contribution, which adds the perfect finishing touch on the organ," adds Dr. Becker.
