OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE LAKE UNION CONFERENCE OF SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS

IT IS almost impossible to equal the enthusiasm of a literature evangelist!

Some people may want to argue with this. But if they do, it is only because they are unfamiliar with the literature ministry. The better you become acquainted with colporteurs, the more certainly you will know the truth of this statement.

Enthusiasm was much in evidence as 400 persons—colporteurs and their families—gathered for their annual institute, August 22 to 28, at Portage, Wis. One of the largest gatherings of its kind in North America, the institute this year concentrated on sharpening the literature evangelist's tools to make him a more effective instrument.

W. A. Higgins of the General Conference Publishing Department, and Dr. Elaine Giddings of Andrews University headed the list of instructors. Counsel which they gave along the lines of sales techniques and effective use of speaking and correct approaches to persuasion, were hailed as some of the most valuable presentations in recent years. Review and Herald Manager C. E. Palmer set the tone on a spiritual note in his keynote address, and the theme continued throughout this institute.

This was the fourth year the group met at Portage. Each year they took a half-day excursion on the Wisconsin River at Dells, only 17 miles away. Next year, because of the Quadrennial General Conference session, each state will hold local meetings in place of the Union-wide mid-summer rally.

LITERATURE EVANGELIST HIGHLIGHTS

A closer look at Publishing Department statistics indicates the results of the enthusiasm of literature evangelists.

Each of the five conferences in the Lake Union has made gains in deliveries this year. In July there were 302 students and full-time literature evangelists, in addition to about 125 part-time workers, and an equal number of auxiliary workers.

It's tough enough to give a demonstration canvass, but when you have to give it to J. D. Snider (right), head of the Review and Herald Book Department, you are really on the spot. But it is much easier if your name is Wally Leonard, the Lake Union's leading literature evangelist in sales this year.

This summer 178 students participated in the student-colporteur program. At present, there are 150 full-time workers.

In order to have enthusiastic workers, there must be enthusiastic leaders. The energetic qualities of the Lake Union

Two publishing house representatives take time out to congratulate Dick Proctor, son of the Lake Union Publishing chief, for his work as the leading student literature evangelist. Dick's summer deliveries totaled $12,000. He is presently studying toward his Master's Degree in psychology at American University in Washington, D.C. J. D. Snider is on the left, and R. J. Christian on the right.

The institute leaders included the local conference Publishing men. Left to right are Robert Chapman, Illinois; H. F. Otis, Indiana; J. W. Proctor, Lake Union; W. A. Higgins, General Conference; J. D. Spiva, Michigan; Glen Hixon, Wisconsin. Hunter Crigler of the Lake Region was out helping student colporteurs reach their scholarships before the summer was over.

Only a few of the 178 students attended the institute. The others were busy increasing the amount of their scholarships.

Associate publishing leaders of the Lake Union include: (Front row) T. K. Struntz, R. J. Christian (Southern Publishing Association), J. D. Snider (Review and Herald Publishing Association), Chester Shumaker, Bill Morgan, and Kenneth Williams. (Back row) Everett Brown, Bill Blair, Bill Thomas, and L. W. Brantley.

A few of the forty-five $10,000 literature evangelists in the Lake Union include (left to right) Lawrence Townsend, Daniel Jacome, Bill Greer, Sam Chrispens, George Gough, Bill Johnson, Joe Raineri, Wally Leonard, Jay Sloan, Clarence Davis, and Edwin Swan.

More than half of those in attendance had this view of Portage, the camp ground and the surrounding area. Russell Booth, formerly assistant Book and Bible House manager in Michigan, and now back in the ranks of front-line literature evangelism, filled his spare moments by giving airplane rides in the Cessna 172 which he brought from Michigan. A fleecy cloud drifts by on the left.

If the colporteurs were not watching the speakers during the instructional periods, it was because they were feverishly taking notes on what was being said.

Sometimes singing and sometimes just taking in the scenery, this boatload of literature evangelists enjoyed the beautiful scenery at the Wisconsin Dell.

Publishing leader, Elder J. W. Proctor, rub off on the five local conference leaders. In turn their enthusiasm is transmitted in even greater fashion to the workers throughout the union.

This year they have already passed the one million dollar mark in books delivered, and are well on the way to their goal of one and one-half million dollars—the largest amount for any union in North America with only five local conferences. This is the third year in succession in which the Lake Union's sales have passed the one-million-dollar mark.

A number of firsts can be recorded for the Lake Union Conference. They will be cited here not in a boastful manner, but rather in a spirit of thanksgiving, for they are the results of much more than mere human efforts.

NOTABLE FIRSTS

The Lake Union was the first union conference to go on a guaranteed payment-by-mail program. It was also the first to have Bible Stories officially approved and advertised by some of the leading churches in North America, including Roman Catholic, Greek Orthodox, and Lutheran churches.

A pilot program of having student colporteurs conduct evangelistic meetings at the conclusion of their summer of canvassing was started first in the Lake Union, and has since been used with success elsewhere. This summer, four such evangelistic meetings were conducted. So far, eight people have been baptized, and as many as 30 more are continuing in Bible study classes.

The Lake Union is the only union in North America to show gains every year since 1959. The record is as follows:

Year	Deliveries
1959	$ 514,480.36
1960	653,792.64
1961	840,772.65
1962	912,870.71
1963	1,026,307.52
1964	1,229,699.62
1965 (Goal)	1,500,000.00

J. W. Proctor pauses at the literature display with J. D. Snider of the Review and Herald Publishing Association, who has spent nearly 60 years in various phases of the literature work.

Dr. Elaine Giddings, head of the speech department at Andrews University, gave daily lectures on the techniques of speech and persuasion for the third successive year.

LOOKING AHEAD

When literature evangelists look to the future, they do so with an optimistic view. They have been talking 1966 for some time and their goal is to place two million dollars worth of Seventh-day Adventist literature in the homes of people in the Lake Union territory. To colporteurs, sales goals in terms of dollars and cents are their way of indicating how fervently they plan to preach the gospel through the medium of Adventist literature.

They expect to see at least 300 people baptized during 1966 through literature contacts, and to place more than 15,000 copies of the Triumph of God's Love (The Great Controversy) in the homes of the people during the coming year.

Through all of this enthusiasm, the literature evangelist will be the first to acknowledge that his efforts would be fruitless if he did not have a direct connection with the true Source of all energy. You cannot visit a colporteur institute without coming away having experienced a closer walk with God.

An evening was dedicated in the honor of a veteran couple, who have dedicated their lives to the literature ministry. Mr. and Mrs. George Baebler had just celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Mr. Baebler has become known as Mr. Great Controversy because he has used this as his lead book for many years. A special copy, with his name engraved upon it, was presented to him by the colporteurs. In addition, they were given a money-tree decorated with bills contributed by those attending the institute.

Looking on from the other end of the marital spectrum are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gessel, who spent most of their honeymoon attending the institute. Tom spent the summer as a student assistant for the Illinois Conference. They also received a wedding present from the Illinois Conference group.

New Committee for Accreditation

The accreditation of Michigan's secondary schools is facing a new turn in state regulations. The Public Acts of 1965, Act 180, transfers the responsibility of licensing future operation of our boarding schools from the University of Michigan and Social Welfare to the State Department of Education. Accordingly a committee has been set up under the State Superintendent, Lynn M. Bartlett, and the present Acting State Superintendent, Alexander J. Kloster, to provide guide lines for schools such as ours in the State of Michigan.

A special distinction has come to Elder R. W. Pratt, principal of Adelpian Academy, in being appointed as one of the committee members for setting up this new criteria. Eight have been selected throughout the state to serve with these two officials in Lansing, making a full committee of ten. This group is to meet in Lansing at 10 o'clock September 30. We shall hope and pray that our schools will be given kindly treatment in the future as we have received in the past, and the prospects look good when one of our educational leaders in our academies is given an appointment to such an important post.

The State Superintendent's office has already laid down some rules for guidance in their study. They are:

1. Who Shall Be Licensed
2. The License
3. License Criteria
4. Initial Application
5. Reissuing of License

Under each of these rules is a page or more of subsidiary items for consideration.

Construction Begins on New Hospital in Libya

Construction has begun on a 60-bed building for the Benghazi Adventist Hospital in Libya. The entire cost of the hospital will be covered by gifts from four oil companies operating in Libya. Expected cost is $750,000. The building will provide modern facilities for the hospital, which has been housed since its establishment ten years ago in an old renovated hotel building on Benghazi's main avenue. The new hospital will be located on spacious park grounds in a choice district of Benghazi.

DRAFT AND MILITARY SERVICE INFORMATION FOR SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS

File for future reference articles that will appear periodically under this heading

Exemptions, Deferments, and Classifications

The purposes of the information provided by the registrant in the questionnaires from the draft board are to sort out those who are to be exempted, deferred, or drafted. This process of sorting goes on continually according to the needs of the moment for manpower in the Armed Forces of the United States.

The exemptions from the draft would include: certain elected officials of the government on federal, state, or local level; a sole surviving son in a family in which a son or daughter was killed in war; those already in military service; ministerial students or ministers.

A deferment from induction may be granted under certain conditions. These would include: students in school at any level; engineers, teachers or others engaged in an occupation or work essential to the national interest, safety, or welfare; married men, especially those with dependents; those not meeting the current standard for physical, mental, or moral standards.

A registrant who is given a classification that he does not consider correct, or who is denied a deferment, may appeal the decision of the draft board if he notifies the draft board of his appeal within 10 days of the date the communication from the draft board was placed in the mail. Additional time is given in the case of registrants residing overseas.

Only registrants in the I-A and I-A-O classifications are drafted into the Armed Forces. The law provides that the oldest available man among the registrants in a draft board must be drafted before younger men; however, those delinquent in their Selective Service responsibilities and those requesting immediate induction are placed at the head of the list for each draft call.

The law provides that a registrant must be placed in the lowest classification in which he qualifies according to the following list of classifications:

- I-A Available for military service.
- I-A-O Conscientious objector available for noncombatant military service only.
- I-C Member of the Armed Forces of the United States, the Coast and Geodetic Survey, or the Public Health Service.
- I-D Member of reserve component or student taking military training.
- I-O Conscientious objector available for civilian work contributing to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest.
- I-S Student deferred by statute.
- I-W Conscientious objector performing civilian work contributing to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest.

- I-Y Registrant qualified for military service only in time of war or national emergency.
- II-A Registrant deferred because of civilian occupation (except agriculture and activity in study).
- II-C Registrant deferred because of agricultural occupation.

"Hell-Fire" Sermon Converts Family

It isn't often that a minister of another faith steps out to become a member of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. An exception occurred in Chattanooga, Tenn., when Pastor and Mrs. Thrower, a Baptist evangelist and his wife, were baptized into the S.D.A. Church.

Bob Thrower became a Christian in 1951, and after his conversion he joined the First Baptist Church in Lanett, Ala. Shortly thereafter he felt the call to preach. Sensing the need of further education, he enrolled in the Tennessee Temple Bible School in Chattanooga. After his graduation he was ordained to the ministry. Later he became a full-time evangelist, and also began his own radio program known as "The Open Bible Hour."

It was at this time that Pastor Thrower came in contact with W. C. Starkey, a Christian businessman, who invited him to listen to the Voice of Prophecy radiobroadcast. At about the same time, Louis Spitzer, part owner of Vandsco Poster Company where Mrs. Thrower was working at the time, was witnessing to Mrs. Thrower. Although Pastor Thrower was still puzzled over the question of "hell-fire," his wife became convinced that the Adventist Church was the true remnant church.

One day while Bob was driving to his own evangelistic service, he was listening to the Voice of Prophecy radio program. Elder H. M. S. Richards announced his sermon topic—the one Pastor Thrower was waiting to hear—"Hell-Fire." Although it was time for his own service to begin, Pastor Thrower decided to "sit it out" and hear what Pastor Richards had to say on this subject.

Elder Richards used the story of Sodom and Gomorrah as an illustration. In recalling the incident, Pastor Thrower said, "When Brother Richards remarked, 'Sinners will not burn in hell-fire for as long as the righteous are in heaven,' and showed me the difference between eternal punishment and eternal punishing, I understood it! Elder Richards showed me that even as Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed and the fire is not now burning, so it would be with the sinners. That was a tremendous revelation to me, and it was as clear as a bell.

"From this point on," said the evangelist, "I could no longer turn back—and I was very happy I wasn't preaching on hell-fire that night!"

Pastor and Mrs. Thrower were baptized into the Seventh-day Adventist Church on Sept. 17, 1960. He then became assistant pastor in the Chattanooga district, until the end of 1960, when he went to the Adventist Seminary in Michigan, where he learned more about this blessed Truth.

Elder Thrower states that the Voice of Prophecy has played a very large part in bringing him to his present understanding of the message. For the past year he has been pastor of the Dalton-Calhoun district in Georgia. While there he again began his own radio program, over stations WBLJ in Dalton and WCGA in Calhoun.

The Thrower family is now to serve in the Southwestern Union, where he will be a full-time evangelist for the Texas Conference.

And the Church Burned Down . . .

Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Laing of Toronto, Canada, decided to move to an area where there were no Seventh-day Adventists, which would give them an open field for missionary work. So they began to look around in Northern Ontario. They had $8,000 to spend on a new home. They found just the place, a 350-acre farm with a 40-acre lake on it; but the owner wanted $16,000. So they passed it up. Disappointed, they went back to Toronto; only to receive a long distance call a few days later, offering them the farm for $8,000.

When they moved up there they found living nearby a pleasant little lady—Mrs. Ed Sohm—who was unhappy with her own church because it no longer preached the Bible as the absolute word of God. About 20 years before, she had taken a Voice of Prophecy Bible course, and had been praying that God would send her information about the true Church. Then the Laings moved in. Now they are studying the Bible with her.

A short time ago Mrs. Sohm prayed that God would help her to break away from her old church, without hurting anyone's feelings. The church burned down! Mrs. Sohm plans to be baptized soon. Dr. and Mrs. Laing are now holding Sabbath and week-night prayer meetings in their home every week.

A.A. The staff has been chosen for the "Shi," A.A.'s school paper. Cassie Hawley, the editor-in-chief, is working with the complete staff to launch the annual campaign, September 18 to October 10. The goal is 3,500 subscriptions. There will be prizes for those who successfully participate in bringing in "Shi" subscriptions.

A.A. Adelphian boys' club, the Alpha Delta Nu, has elected its first semester officers. They are as follows: president, Paul Ashton; vice-president, Jerry Ferguson; secretary-treasurer, Chuck Winnons; sports coordinator, Neal Rosenquist; sergeants at arms, Dave Wall and Gary Laser. The club has laid plans for a licensed barber shop, swimming trips, and organized football teams.

A.A. Adelphian's girls' club, the Kappa Delta, elected its officers as follows: president, Carol Keller; vice-president, Shelly Nodel; secretary, Eleanor McLaughlin; pianist, Ardythe Gallant; sergeants at arms, Kathy Heitch and Jocelyn Smith.

W.A. Wisconsin Academy has added three new elective classes this fall. New to the staff is Mrs. Burtnett, who is teaching only part time. She is conducting a home economics class for the senior girls, which will include cooking, sewing, and interior decorating. She is also resuming the teaching of art, formerly taught by Frank Kravig.

W.A. The third elective is a vocational class called General Shop taught by Dean Nash. This is an informal class which will acquaint its members with woodworking, printing, welding, etc. Some of its projects will be items of improvement around the campus. The class has already built a platform for the weights in the boys' recreation room.

W.A. Wisconsin Academy has an opening enrollment of 227 students, which is composed of 51 freshmen, 49 sophomores, 57 juniors, and 70 seniors. The student body and the faculty and staff families got acquainted with one another at the traditional handshake on Monday evening, August 30.

It All Started With a Tract

Some weeks ago an article was published in the LAKE UNION HERALD about Chase Young who is a member of the Bloomington Church. The article told of how Mr. Young had been faithful in the daily study of his Sabbath School lesson for over 40 years, and though he is now 85, he walks a mile to church every Sabbath.

After having read this article, a member of our Glendale Church, Mrs. Dora Rogers Martin, wrote this interesting article. Speaking of Brother Young, "His parents and mine were neighbors who lived nine miles apart. They lived near Unionville and we lived near Needmore. A neighbor's home served as P.O. for people miles around. This was over 80 years ago. Mail was brought in saddle packs, by horse or muleback.

Mrs. Dora Rogers Martin

"One day my parents received a little packet of tracts and in it was one on 'Who Changed the Sabbath?' They immediately began keeping the Sabbath.

"I don't know how the two families became acquainted but my brother Bert and sister Una and I used to walk the nine miles to visit their children and stay overnight, and Hattie, Floyd and Chase would walk the nine miles to visit us and stay overnight.

"Because of that one little tract there have been a large number of our family who became Seventh-day Adventists through the years.

"I am 85 and a firm believer in literature work and have in the last few years distributed 12,000 magazines, tracts and books. God bless our literature work. Sincerely, Mrs. Dora Rogers Martin."

This article is very touching. No doubt there are many such members over Indiana who could tell similar stories. The importance of our relationship with neighbors and friends cannot be stressed enough. Just think, a large family of believers because someone cared enough to send a tract.

Participating on the program were Elders C. E. Bradford, conference president, C. F. Warren, Northeastern Conference, the ministers of the Detroit area, local Dorcas personnel, and Xavier Butler, conference director of Laymen's Activities.

As a result of this program and the work preceding it, there is now in operation a representative Health and Welfare Center in Detroit which will soon have a formal opening.

Jacobsen Gives C.L.A. Prayer Week

Elder Don Jacobsen from the Department of Instruction in Evangelism at Andrews University in Berrien Springs, conducted the Fall Week of Prayer at Cedar Lake Academy from September 12 through September 18.

He gave the students some practical ideas for Christian living. One point in particular was that Christianity is not a set of rules and regulations but a love affair with Christ. The students came to respect and admire him not only for his pleasant Christian personality but for his earnest sincerity. They soon found him to be a man "not afraid to call sin by its real name" and were especially appreciative of this.

Among his sermon titles were, "Age of the Twist," "Don't Go in the Orchard," and "Slightly Soiled, Greatly Reduced in Price." The sermons were unusually interesting and students were heard to say that they could hardly wait for the next meeting.

On Friday, a special assembly was called and the Student Association presented Elder Jacobsen with a newly developed picnic table and chairs from the Cedar Lake Mill. Elder Jacobsen then offered an invitation to all to come for supper to his home the first Sunday in Heaven. Everyone present looks forward anxiously to that day.

Elder Don Jacobsen, Andrews University instructor in evangelism, poses with Kandi Gorman, Cedar Lake Academy senior, during counseling period. Elder Jacobsen conducted the Week of Prayer, September 12 to 18, at the academy.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight St. Clair are making their home at Noblesville, Ind. Dwight is employed at Harris Pine Mills, Indiana Academy, Cicero, Ind.

WISCONSIN

Ground-Breaking for New Church

On August 22, ground was broken for the new Clear Lake, Wis., Church. The church, housing four large classrooms, mother's room, office, choir room, and a sanctuary with a seating capacity of 200, is scheduled for completion by Jan. 1, 1966.

Sheridan Johnson, Wisconsin Conference contractor, is leading out in the construction of the building. With the use of some donated labor the cost of construction is expected to be kept down to around $43,000.

Two former pastors were present for the ground-breaking ceremony. Elder S. A. Sackett, now of Rochester, Minn., made the initial contribution to the building fund in 1958. Elder L. D. Jaacks, now of Madison, Wis., guided in the formation of the first building committee.

The service was conducted by the present pastor, Dean L. Hubbard.

John Jordan, a senior from La Crosse, helped to lay the new vinyl tile in the kitchen of Wisconsin Academy. The new floor will be much easier to keep clean and the light beige color will tend to brighten the work area of the cafeteria.

Other improvements and equipment waiting to be installed in the cafeteria include steel shelving, new ovens, a steamer, and a large, heavy-duty garbage disposal unit.

The Wisconsin Academy Farm owns 102 cows, milking about 84 all the time. Between the two barns there are stanchions for 89 cows. In this view, Howard Gustrowsky, left, and Ken Gebhard are looking after the milking.

At 2:30 every morning, seven dairy boys and the farm manager get out of bed to do the milking which, with the afternoon milking, amounts to 4,200 pounds per day. The rolling herd average on 102 cows is 15,118 pounds of milk per cow per year, with 538 pounds of butterfat, and a 3.6 per cent test.

Glimpses of Wisconsin Academy

Jay Wright, a student at Wisconsin Academy, is refueling the tractor so Kelvin Priser, the assistant farm manager, can go back to combining oats. About 28 boys are employed on the Academy Farm during the school year.

Mrs. Irene Biswell comes to Wisconsin Academy from Milwaukee. She took up her duties as girls' dean on August 1. Happily situated in the dormitory and well qualified through past experiences, she is a welcome addition to the Wisconsin Academy staff.

Work is progressing on the new addition to the Wisconsin Academy Administration Building. The walls have now been completed, and the cement floor was poured on September 2. Roy Schreiber, the contractor, from Randolph, Wis., has set Dec. 31, 1965, as the date of completion.

Worship With the Pioneers

Pioneer services will be held in one of Wisconsin's oldest Adventists churches on Friday and Saturday evening, October 1 and 2, at 7:30 p.m. Visitors are invited to bring a copy of Christ in Song and worship in the lantern-light atmosphere of a century ago.

When early believers moved into southwest Wisconsin in the 1860's they organized and built a church in Waterloo township halfway between Potosi and Cassville. Here they met to worship until services were transferred to Lancaster 30 years ago. The church building and adjoining cemetery where our believers were laid to rest has been kept up by neighbors anxious to maintain this landmark.

Former members and friends will wish to attend this annual memorial service.

A. D. CHILSON

Quincy Church Dedication, Oct. 2

The Quincy, Ill., Church is to be dedicated on Sabbath October 2. This is made possible by the faithful and untiring efforts of our former pastors and laymen who believed that it could be done and did it. But even then, without the encouragement and financial help of our conference officials, we could not be ready for this wonderful climax, our dedication service.

We are most grateful to our heavenly Father who has so abundantly blessed our humble efforts to build "an house of prayer and worship for all people" for His honor.

Leading out in the program of the day will be conference president, Elder W. A. Nelson and secretary-treasurer, Elton Dessian. Elder Jere D. Smith, Lake Union Conference president, will give the dedicatory sermon at 3 p.m. Elder W. A. Nelson will speak at the eleven o'clock worship hour.

Elder J. E. Cleveland, now pastor of the Mattoon district, who was pastor of the Quincy Church when it was built and occupied for the first time, will also have part in the service of dedication.

We cordially invite all of our former pastors, former members, and all friends to come and spend this happy day with us. This includes all of the members of the Carthage and Warsaw churches. A basket lunch will be enjoyed by all during the noon hour.

ELDER LEON L. MURPHY, Pastor

Noble Church Homecoming and Foll Reunion

The annual Noble Church Homecoming and Foll Reunion was held at the church on Sabbath, August 21. Sabbath School began at 9:30 a.m. led by the superintendent, Donald Foll.

The Sabbath School lesson was taught by Thomas Harter from Marion, Ind. Our missionary leader, Robert Foll, told of the activities of the Noble Church and invited those visiting to tell some experiences from their church.

Elder Loy Foll told of his work in Hadley Memorial Hospital in Washington, D.C., and Elder Merlin Foll told of the work being done in Lansing, Mich., with the tract "This May Startle You."

Some of the folk from Centralia, Ill., related what they are doing with the book Your Bible and You.

We were very happy to have Elder W. A. Nelson, our conference president, with us. He presented the 11 o'clock message "Emmanuel, God With Us" and told of God's wonderful promises to us.

Everyone enjoyed the bountiful dinner served on the church lawn and afterward assembled for the "singspiration" and musical program.

Noble Vacation Bible School

This was the third year the Noble Church has held Vacation Bible School and, as in the previous years, we felt it was truly a success. There were 33 children enrolled with 31 receiving certificates. Of this number only eight were from Adventist families.

Mrs. Lois Gott was the director, under the leadership of Elder and Mrs. E. H. Moldrik. We were also happy to welcome a ministerial student, Ed Sharp. Mrs. Madaline Fruth was teacher of the juniors, Mrs. Lulu Gerhart, of the primary children, and Mrs. Margaret Foll, of the kindergarten children.

Four fine young ladies not of our faith volunteered and helped in the childrens' divisions and in recreation. Ladies in the church donated cookies for refreshment time.

A tent was used for the craft work in which Mrs. Moldrik directed young people in creating colorful roosters from all kinds of seeds. Pretty wall plaques were made from paper plates edged in macaroni and centered with flowers sprayed with gold paint. Vases were made from used detergent and bleach bottles and prisms.

All the primary and juniors enjoyed the bird walks and insect collections that Mrs. Lois Gott helped them make.

The tent was most desirable for displaying crafts the evening that a large crowd attended the closing program. The children did very well in presenting the things they had learned about "God's Wonderful World."

As a follow-up, two girls who had helped in the V.B.S. attended Teen Camp at Little Grass, two children attended Opportunity Camp and two, the Junior Camp.

A social was held August 8 starting at 10 a.m. with games and lunch for all the children enrolled in V.B.S. and their families, as well as all the church members and friends. For supper, good vegetable soup was cooked on an open fire in a huge kettle.

We pray the Lord will bless in our effort to teach these boys and girls spiritual things and that some day, as the result of our work we may see them in the earth made new.

MARGARET FOLL, Press Secretary

Doors Open Wide at Rockford's New Church

Mixed emotions were felt by the Seventh-day Adventist congregation as they met with Elder W. A. Nelson, conference president, and others, including Mayor B. Schleicher, for the ground-breaking ceremony in April of 1964.

After having met for the previous five years in the gymnasium of the educational center, the Rockford members were thrilled with thoughts of their future church. They realized also that this was a tremendous undertaking which would pose many problems and require decisions that only very capable leadership could make.

On Aug. 11, 1965, great joy was reflected on every face as the members met once again with Elder Nelson, this time to open the doors of their new church for its first service. There were some tears of joy as some realized a dream had become an actuality—a completed church for Rockford Adventists and their friends.

In addition to Elder Nelson's sermon for the eleven o'clock hour, the church members were grateful for the efforts of all who shared their talents on the opening day. The special music was furnished by some of our Chicago members—Mrs. Ruth Goranson accompanied Kathy Dehnicke and Marianne Pflug for their vocal duet, and for Edward Pflug's violin solo.

This new church has a seating capacity of approximately 500, and it was nearly filled for the opening services. Non-Adventists attending were presented a copy of the book The Seventh Day.

Most of the members and friends remained after the morning services to enjoy a fellowship luncheon planned, donated and served by members of the church. Two beautifully decorated cakes to serve 500, made by Rockford Church ladies, were presented to Elders Nelson and Marsa, the two outstanding leaders in our building program.

Organ meditations by N. G. Bast, guest organist from Rockford, opened the afternoon service. Elder C. E. Bradford, president of the Lake Region Conference, was guest speaker for the inspirational hour. His subject was "Occupy 'Til I Come."

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Flossman, recently returned from the Philippine Islands, thrilled all with their slides and colorful report of these enchanting islands.

The day and evening were filled with inspiration and reflection and everyone felt this was a most appropriate way to celebrate the church's 87th anniversary—from its humble beginning in 1878.

It is the hope of all Rockford members that all travelers will find within the doors of their church a touch of friendship, warmth, and brotherly love so much needed in our world today.

MRS. JOYCE FRIESTAD
Press Secretary

It Pays to Attend

The youth leaders enjoyed a wonderful weekend at Little Grassy Lake, September 3 to 6 for their Tri-Union Workshop.

Elder John Hancock, associate secretary of the MV Department, General Conference, played on his accordion and told of his meeting with young people in other countries.

What an inspiration to know that the message is being preached and taught by youth.

Others who participated in the program were Elder Fred Beavon, Lake Union MV director; Elder Wm. Edsell, Illinois MV secretary; Elder C. M. Willison, Illinois educational leader; Elder Harry M. Lodge, veteran educator; Elton Dessain, Illinois treasurer; Elder Eston Allen, Illinois Public Relations secretary; Elder Lester Rilea, MV director for Wisconsin; and some fine youth leaders from the churches.

The study, recreation, atmosphere, excellent food, and stimulating counsel brought an enriching experience to all who attended. All youth leaders should plan to be together again next year to learn better and more effective ways to keep Christ alive in young hearts.

Public Relations Department

REGISTRAR

Enrollment Jumps 15 Per Cent

Over 1400 undergraduate students were registered at the close of Wednesday, September 15. This is 15 per cent more students than the total number registered at the same time last year according to Dyre Dyresen, registrar.

The official number will not be available until October 1 when the count will include those students who are registering late. "I feel confident we will pass 1500 in our undergraduate enrollment by October 1," says Dyresen.

On Tuesday, September 14, 550 students registered, making it the biggest day of the registration period.

Dyresen stated that the automatic process used to register students this year, was not designed to speed up registration but rather, to help him send out his statistical reports after October 1.

(Left) Each student is handed a packet of registration materials. Before registration is complete he must be issued I.B.M. class permit cards. From these cards the Data Processing Center will automatically tabulate and print master lists of all students enrolled in college. (Center) Each student is given a flu "shot" by an efficient Health Service nurse. For those desiring chest X-rays a mobil X-ray unit provided this service free. (Right) Information was dispensed by the Student Association Educational Standards Committee. In spite of the misspelling "informtion" the information was accurate and courteously given. (Photo by Pentleton)

The information needed can be obtained easily by sorting the I.B.M. cards through the sorter and this saves a great deal of time.

The large enrollment this year has filled the residence halls to overflowing.

The number of girls in Lamson Hall is over 400 and they are living three to a room on the top floors plus approximately 10 girls who are staying in the recreation room in the basement. Forty girls live in Birch Hall, which was scheduled to be torn down a year ago, and Campus Hall and Rachel Hall each house 16 girls.

Meier Hall has 428 men with an overflow of 142 living in Burman Hall, also scheduled to be razed.

Latest figures indicate that 322 have enrolled in the Theological Seminary and School of Graduate Studies.
