COVER

Our cover shows Leonard Haswell with Charles Moore in front of the Tennessee State Penitentiary. For 20 years Mr. Haswell has ministered to the prisoners inside these walls.

"I Was in Prison,

Ask Leonard C. Haswell, Nashville, Tennessee, his opinion of These Times, and he will tell you the magazine is a valuable tool in personal evangelism.

His opinion is based on personal experience, because over the past 20 years he has seen 300 individuals give their hearts to Christ, partly with the help of the magazine.

The almost unbelievable saga of Mr. Haswell and his remarkable experiences began two decades ago. He and his wife had just been baptized.

The couple looked for missionary work. Their pastor, seeing their willingness to help, suggested some tasks. "I would like to have you visit some of the shut-ins who do not have a chance to come to church," he told the Haswells. And, as an afterthought, he asked, "Would you take a Sabbath School Lesson Quarterly to a young man in prison?"

Mr. Haswell's ideas of visitation did not correspond exactly with those of his pastor. To visit shut-ins seemed like a good idea, but he had reservations about visiting a locked-in person—one who had broken the law and was jailed. Instead of visiting the prisoner, he mailed the Sabbath School Lesson Quarterly.

Gently prodding her husband, Mrs. Haswell suggested a personal contact with the prisoner instead of a proxy visit through the postman. Hesitantly, Mr. Haswell drove to the grim, foreboding Tennessee State Prison.

Even though the first visit was casual, several prisoners asked an unexpected question: "Would you start a weekly worship service?"

From this request came a Sunday morning Bible class with Mr. Haswell as the teacher. The group continued to grow in number. With growth came shifts to larger quarters—the printing room, the library, and finally to a newly constructed prison chapel. This last shift led to another change, the institution of a Sabbath morning service.

Rapidly the years have slipped by, and today Mr. Haswell's prison church has a weekly attendance of from 50 to 60 inmates. But most remarkable has been the effect on the prisoners. Over the two-decade span of the weekly penitentiary visit, about 300 prisoners have been baptized.

Leonard Haswell, right, visits with prison officials in connection with the congregation that meets behind the prison walls each Sabbath.

and Ye Came Unto Me”

Faithfulness is part of the secret of Mr. Haswell's success. In the 20 years of visiting the dismal prison, he has missed only four Sabbaths. It has been no easy task, for his Sabbath day begins early—very early—at 4:30 a.m. when he arises to study. He drives to the prison for Sabbath School at 7:50 a.m. and preaches for the worship service at 8:20 a.m.

Another part of the secret of Mr. Haswell's success has been literature. “I use These Times and Message each week,” Mr. Haswell reports. “The magazines are largely responsible for the conversions that have taken place.”

One of those who have been baptized is Charles Moore. A smiling, light-hearted young man, he is now a pressman at the Southern Publishing Association. A former prisoner, he now helps print the magazines that aided his decision to follow Christ.

Before this, Charles Moore's life plans and hopes came to a jolting halt when he was convicted of a crime and sentenced to the Tennessee State Penitentiary. In the painfully dull monotony of a prison, almost anything that breaks the routine is a blessing. This applies even to Bible study, an unusual choice for criminals.

“I was looking for a means of escape,” says Charles Moore of his experience. “When you are behind the walls, you watch people and see their characters.”

Two inmates made an impression on Moore, and he followed their example by attending the Sabbath morning church services. It was more than a break in the routine to the young prisoner. There was hope.

“I got so involved because for the first time I found something that was real,” says Moore. This led to his baptism by the prison chaplain.

Following his release on parole from the penitentiary, he was hired by the Southern Publishing Association. With the job came training in a trade, and Charles Moore is now a skilled pressman.

Leonard Haswell, a dedicated layman, is searched for weapons at the prison by a guard. This is only a formality, as Mr. Haswell has preached every Sabbath at the Tennessee State Penitentiary for the past 20 years.

One of the most unusual Adventist churches in North America is located behind the walls of the foreboding Tennessee State Penitentiary.

Happy Charles Moore enjoys his work as a pressman at the Southern Publishing Association. Moore is only one of 300 men who have found Jesus Christ as a Savior from sin through the work of Leonard Haswell at the Tennessee State Penitentiary.

One of the promises of the Scriptures is, "My word . . . shall not return unto me void." The weekly ministry of Mr. Haswell aptly demonstrates the truth of this text. Through the spoken word and in the printed page, God speaks to man.

These Times and Message carry on this ministry of the printed page. Seven years ago a new idea for the two magazines was born. Special center-spread articles were prepared, and reprints of these articles were made available as tracts. These up-to-date reprints have proved to be a valuable tool to the laymen also. In the seven years of using the reprints, nearly 28 million of them have been distributed.

All of the eternity-slanted material has its effect. Letters by the hundreds come to the editorial offices of the Southern Publishing Association expressing appreciation for the magazines.

Many find the journal in doctors' offices or in hospitals. A lady from Mississippi wrote: "Would it be possible for you to send a copy of the May magazine to me? I am enclosing 50 cents and 10 cents postage. I really want to replace the magazine I borrowed from the hospital. It had so many good readings in it. I just had to take it home with me."

A Pennsylvania man found a copy of These Times in a laundromat. "I was so interested in it," he wrote, "I brought the magazine home. Today I read it almost through." He ordered a series of reprints for further study.

For the Christian layman These Times or Message is a tool that fits in almost any kind of witnessing program. Whether it be a Dorcas ministry or a Branch Sabbath School, the monthly journal fits the need of the dedicated layman.

Many others sponsor subscriptions to their neighbors, relatives, and business acquaintances. These individual subscriptions are also valuable tools, and the mail ministry is silent and effective.

Such is the influence of These Times or Message. These magazines can be a helpful tool for you. As you plan a program of progressive evangelism, use the tool that fits into every facet of soul winning—These Times and Message.

DIRKSEN "PRAYER" MEASURE SUBMITTED IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Senator Everett Dirksen made good on his vow to carry his prayer amendment fight to the Senate floor this year. Although he has filed bills for three consecutive years, the issue has been largely dormant.

Technically, informal, noncompulsory exercises of prayer may be held in public places. But the 1962 and 1963 prayer rulings of the U.S. Supreme Court have caused confusion and even the voluntary exercises have largely ceased, he said.

Should the Senate pass the measure, it also would have to pass in the House before advancing to the states.

BIBLE SCHOOL ENROLLMENT EXCEEDS FOUR MILLION

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The four-millionth student recently enrolled in the Bible correspondence school operated in India by Seventh-day Adventists. He was Mohammed Ali Khan, a high school teacher at Srinagar.

Approximately 25.4 million students have enrolled in 110 Adventist Bible schools since they were started more than three decades ago. Around the world persons continue to apply at the rate of two million per year. There were at least 2.4 million graduates by the end of 1967.

ADVENTIST LAYMEN TO HOLD EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS

SINGAPORE—Eight thousand evangelistic meetings to be held by laymen is the goal of Seventh-day Adventists in the Far East. The goal was set during 14 laymen's congresses held in that area during the last quarter of 1968. The goal will be exceeded if they reach their objective of holding at least two series of meetings in every Adventist church in the Far East in 1969.

Adventist officials attribute much of the rapid growth of their membership in the Orient to the work of laymen.

Stannard to Coordinate San's Schools

L. C. Stannard

L. C. Stannard, director of staff development, has been appointed to coordinate the medical technology, practical nursing, and X-ray schools of Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Administrator Mardian J. Blair made the announcement, noting Stannard's extensive and successful experience as an educator.

"His contribution to our educational interests here at Hinsdale has already been substantial. We feel this new responsibility relates naturally to Mr. Stannard's role as director of staff development for the hospital and his role as resident educational director for Andrews University," Blair observed.

Stannard is a graduate of Atlantic Union College and was on its staff four years in the teacher-training department. He received his master's degree and took additional advanced work from Boston University. In denominational work 18 years, Stannard served in various capacities including that of academy teacher and superintendent, and Carolina Conference MV and educational superintendent.

Flying Club to Buy Cessna 150

The Hinsdale Flying Club, Inc., voted at its March 4 meeting to expand its membership and to buy an additional airplane, a 1967 or 1968 Cessna 150 Commuter.

The club had limited its membership at its present total of 20, but will now be able to admit 20 additional members, making a total of 40.

The new plane will be based at Lewis College's Lockport field because of arrangements with the flying instructor there. The Cessna 172 Skyhawk will be moved from Lockport to the Hinsdale airport, a more convenient location for most of the members.

Pilots and would-be pilots (women included) interested in joining the club may write for information to Willis C. Graves, Secretary, Hinsdale Flying Club, Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, Hinsdale, Illinois 60521.

Club memberships are $250 plus $5.00 per month dues. Of the $250 for the membership, $200 is redeemable if the membership is transferred to someone else.

The name of the club was recently changed from Hinsdale Sanitarium Flying Club to Hinsdale Flying Club. The club has no formal connection with the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, although most members are associated with the hospital.

The club was originally organized in April, 1964.

Officers of the club are Gordon T. Hewlett, president; Royce Brown, M.D., vice-president; Willis C. Graves, secretary; and Floyd Moore, treasurer.

BOOK AND BIBLE HOUSE NOTES

• Your Bible House will have its usual display of books, Bibles, games, recordings, and a large bargain table ready for those who attend the conference business session to be held at Broadview Academy, Sunday, April 13.

• It will be our plan to have a good supply of all new titles and the special offers now being announced. April is "Music Month" in Illinois, so you will be able to add to your library of Chapel recordings at a double camp meeting discount—a full 20 per cent reduction.

• At the biennial session both time and space are limited. We wish to be of as much help to the delegates as possible. We invite your personal orders to be mailed to the Book and Bible House at the address given below. Such orders will be prepared at the office for delivery at the book stand. You surely may include food items (except frozen) in these orders, for no foods will be included in our display stock. These individual orders must reach our office in Brookfield not later than Wednesday, April 9. It is hoped this plan will more nearly insure your getting the very items you desire.

• The book stand will open a full hour before the session begins and will remain open throughout the day to serve you as the program permits. Of course, special camp meeting prices are in effect on all items for this one-day sale.

• "See you at the book stand."

NEWS NOTES

• Sixty years ago Dr. David Paulson told the Cook County Teachers' Association, "We are going to have a tremendous awakening on the evils of cigaret smoking"—Chicago Daily News, March 12, 1969. Wouldn't Dr. Paulson be pleased if he could know the prominent part the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, which he founded, is taking via the Five-Day Plan in helping people break this habit since the "awakening" that he prophesied has taken place?

• Sixty ex-smokers recently graduated from a course sponsored by the Joliet church and conducted by Dr. Ronald Van Arsdell. A special meeting—a combination alumni reception and refresher course—was held in the YMCA Buchanan Hall.

• Associated with Elder Eston Allen in two Teachers' Training Classes at Alton, February 22, and Kewanee, March 1, was Miss Adeline Kleist. The response from those interested in learning how to improve their teaching talents was great. Seventeen graduated and received certificates.

Other classes will be held April 4 and 5 in Ottawa and May 9 and 10 in Rockford.

Ministerial Students Assist in District

The Chicago Heights district is host to four Seminary ministerial students from Andrews University, who actively participate in the program of the district.

The purpose of these men coming into the district is to involve them in every possible facet of pastoral, evangelistic, and administrative work within the churches.

The program has been so arranged that there are two ministerial men in the district each Sabbath day. The Sabbaths the Chicago Heights Seminararians are present the Harvey Seminararians are absent, and vice-versa. With this type of alternating schedule, the district pastor can spend Sabbath afternoons with two students, taking them along with him to make pastoral visits among members, visit the sick in the hospitals, accompany him on Bible studies, and engage in many other missionary endeavors planned for the day.

Occasionally church board meetings or business meetings are scheduled to take place immediately after the close of the Sabbath, and this gives these young ministers the opportunity to attend and see the work of a board or business session.

A school-year-long schedule has been made out in which each man knows the Sabbaths he is to preach in the church services. Also, they are instructed to be prepared to teach an adult or youth Sabbath School class. These men are kept busy while in the district, and I, personally, as district leader, consider them to be a real help and asset to the Chicago Heights and Harvey churches.

In order for them to become more closely acquainted with the church people, they have their Sabbath dinner with different families of the church.

Their experience is one akin to that of a ministerial intern, except that they only spend the Sabbath day in the district. They are also participating in the current evangelistic series which started on Saturday night, March 15, in the Chicago Heights church. These meetings will go on into April on Saturday, Sunday, and Wednesday evenings.

The members of the church in the district enjoy the fellowship of these future workers and leaders in the cause of God.

Courtesy Pays Off for Hinsdale Students

The week of March 3 to 7 was an exciting week at the Hinsdale school. Each student was striving to the utmost to become one of the Courtesy Week winners.

On Thursday of Courtesy Week a health assembly was held under the sponsorship of Mrs. Maxine Matacio, physical education teacher. Also, a number of health practices were demonstrated by the girls in the seventh and eighth grade health classes.

On Thursday each room selected a prince and princess, and on Friday the entire school voted to select a grand prince and princess for grades 1 to 6 and a grand king and queen for grades 7 to 10.

This day was also "dress-up day." Each student wore his best clothes to enhance the feeling of courteousness.

Finalists in the courtesy contest were: prince—Douglas Bolin, grade 4; princess—Marla Young, grade 5; king—Nicholas Reiber, grade 10; queen—Connie Weis, grade 7.

Courtesy Week was sponsored by Miss Kathleen Kamsanback, sixth grade teacher, and the Student Council.

Nicholas Reiber, grade 10, and Connie Weis, grade 7, won the Hinsdale school Courtesy Week contest.

Diane Sjoren, seventh grade, demonstrates the proper method of brushing teeth, using a large set of dental plates and an over-sized brush.

Evangelism Continues Throughout Conference

Elder William Geary, youth leader for the Indiana Conference, has begun his series of evangelistic meetings in the New Albany church. "The opening night's attendance was most encouraging," report Elder Teddrick Mohr and David White, who are closely associated in this soul-winning program.

The services are conducted four evenings a week, Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday. As an added attraction, each evening's Bible lecture is preceded by a short health talk.

The quickening tempo of evangelism is beginning to be felt all over Indiana. At present 16 evangelistic programs are being conducted by ordained ministers, and 26 lay preachers are holding Sunday evening lectures in our churches. We are also pleased to announce that four Voice of Youth programs are being sponsored by our young people. The flame of evangelism is glowing brightly in Hoosierland.

In order to fulfill our commitment for 500 baptisms in Indiana during 1969, it means that many more ministers, lay preachers, and youth leaders are needed. In this battle of truth for Christ every member of the remnant church must be enlisted. If all our people were thoroughly committed we could easily exceed the goal of 500 baptisms for Christ this year.

We need you! Why not consult with your pastor, encouraging him in his efforts to win souls? Tell him that you are completely dedicated toward this conference-wide soul-winning program. Volunteer your services to be used in whatever way best suits the program of total evangelism in Indiana during 1969.

NEWS NOTES

• The young people of the Muncie church took an active part in church activities the week starting March 15. They had charge of the regular church service on Sabbath, and Sunday night they took over the entire meeting of the Bible Speaks series with Steve Clifford presenting the sermon. Wednesday night Miss Sharon Clark delivered the sermon. Friday night's meeting featured the students home from Andrews University. Sabbath, March 22, the young people of the church presented a panel discussion with Elder Virgil Bartlett acting as moderator. Local youth also had charge of music, scripture, and prayer. Mrs. Delbert Bateman is the MV leader and has organized these activities.

• Elder W. R. Howard has been busy since he took over the stewardship and church development departments of the conference. Sabbath, March 15, he launched a new campaign at Lafayette to raise the money to build their new church. They just finished their new school and gymnasium in time for school to start. The church is meeting temporarily in the gymnasium until their new structure is built.

• The young people of the Indianapolis Irvington church are starting a Voice of Youth series in their church beginning Sunday night, March 22. They are following the lay meetings that were held by Robert Miller and Delbert Sweeney. After the meetings by the young people, Elder B. A. Blecha, pastor of the church, will have a follow-up program.

Lay Preachers and Lay Efforts Listed

We take pleasure in publishing the names of our lay preachers and the places in which they have conducted evangelistic services. To date we have 123 lay preachers who have volunteered their talents to win souls for the kingdom. So far 28 souls have accepted our message due to their earnest labors.

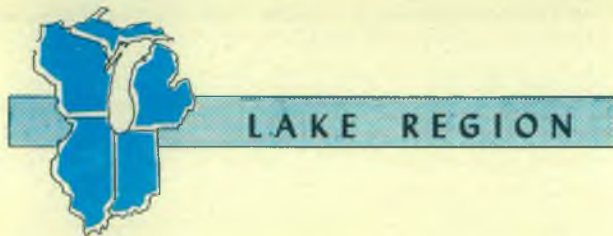

As far as we know, here are the laymen who have conducted lay efforts in Indiana. There may have been others conducted, or some now going on, of which we have no reports.

Extend your imagination and test God's promises by maintaining or starting a lay-conducted effort in every church in Indiana. Don't you believe God would honor our faith and give us an abundant harvest of souls if every church in Indiana this spring and summer would actively engage in a soul-winning offensive?

Talk with your pastor, visit with our people, and pray to God—and let us plan to make this year, 1969, our best soul-winning year. Become actively engaged as a soul-winner.

RETIRING TREASURER HONORED

With the thought in mind, "Render honor to whom honor is due," the members of the Capitol Avenue church in Indianapolis gathered at the Christian Theological Seminary recently to honor Mrs. Eva B. Bryant. Mrs. Bryant has faithfully served the church as its treasurer for 20 years.

An appreciation plaque was presented to Mrs. Bryant with the names of the following six pastors under whose administration she served as treasurer: Elders J. W. Allison, R. F. Warnick, Sr., J. P. Winston, D. C. Batson, M. C. Van Putten, and the present pastor, Samuel Flagg. Mrs. Bryant was baptized in the church 45 years ago and served as the Sabbath School secretary for some time.

Elder and Mrs. Flagg were also honored, as well as the Bible worker, Mrs. Harley, with gifts and testimonies of their faithfulness in soul winning.

Mrs. Thomasine Wright, chairman of the reception committee, and her hostess left nothing neglected to make the occasion an enjoyable one.

Georgia W. Dodson

Mrs. Eva Bryant points to her final entries in her last treasurer's book. Elder M. C. Van Putten, conference treasurer, and Samuel Flagg, pastor, admire her work.

Smoking Sam Does It Again!

On Sabbath afternoon, March 1, Elder J. P. Winston, temperance secretary for the Lake Union Conference, showed the film "Countdown," at the MV hour. He also shared some startling and enlightening facts about tobacco with the Burns Avenue youth.

Elder Winston's traveling companion, Smoking Sam, proved to be of great interest to all the youth present.

Elder Winston also served as one of the judges for the temperance poster contest.

Appreciation Voiced, "With Love from All of Us"

On Sabbath afternoon, March 1, the Shiloh church expressed their appreciation to Elder S. D. Meyers for his pastoral leadership, in the form of a program under the direction of Beatrice Hampton, lay activities leader.

Chief spokesmen for the occasion were Burrell Burns and Theodore Persons, who carried much of the burden as laymen in the planning of the new church.

The heads of departments and auxiliaries presented tangible tokens of their appreciation to Elder and Mrs. Meyers and family.

Elder Meyers expressed his gratitude to the membership for their loyalty and expression of love.

Werner Lightner, Sabbath School superintendent, was master of ceremonies.

Patricia Carr

Members of the S. D. Meyers family, honored for their church leadership, are: Elder Meyers, Pamela, Mrs. Meyers, Donna, Sybil, and Charles.

Wilfred Schultze and Paul Salziger lift a patient into the Emmett Squad ambulance.

Men Find Opportunity for Service In Battle Creek Area

Red dome light flashing, the ambulance raced down the deserted streets to the emergency room of the Battle Creek Hospital at four o'clock in the morning, as if a life depended on it. Inside the red and white vehicle a race was going on—a man's life did depend upon the ambulance team.

Seated beside the patient, his hands rhythmically compressing the breastbone downward, Paul Salziger applied external heart massage. After each five compressions his assistant, Don Sykes, breathed once for the man by squeezing a Hope resuscitator. As the ambulance rolled to the emergency entrance, the man's heart started beating again, and he began breathing on his own.

These Adventist men demonstrate a new opportunity for men to become involved in Christian service in a community enterprise. Though the Dorcas Welfare organization has provided an outlet for women of the church to do medical missionary work for many years, opportunities for men to serve have been limited.

Two rescue squads serve Battle Creek, one located north of town in Bedford Township, the other to the east in Emmett Township. Over 80 men alternate at Bedford, but only about 60 at Emmett.

None of the men are paid for their services; nor are fees charged the patients. Maintaining buildings, several ambulances, and equipment costs much. How can such an organization survive?

"As you can," answers Paul Salziger. Donations and gifts from grateful patients, their relatives, friends, and others go into building and ambulance funds and are also applied to the building mortgage. Fund-raising rummage sales of donated clothing, furniture, and appliances help these non-profit organizations to exist.

First aid classes are sponsored by the crew members who have Red Cross Instructor's certificates. Two who teach on Thursday nights are Paul Salziger and Dave Ruskjer. This is part of the requirement for earning their Michigan Heart Association certificates.

At a recent class, both men alternated telling the class how to resuscitate a person whose heart had stopped. A Heart Association motion picture dramatically portrayed various experiences in life saving.

Thirty-two eyes widened with intensified interest when Paul Salziger carried Resusci Annie into the room in his arms, gently placing her on the floor. Having watched the demonstration of external heart massage and mouth-to-mouth breathing on this manikin, each member practiced the maneuver on her. Gauges connected to the model's heart and lungs indicated whether or not compressions were of sufficient force to pump "blood" through the heart, or whether breathing was adequate to inflate the lungs.

More volunteers could assist in dispatching, driving, and attending patients. The Emmett organization, in particular, needs men. More Seventh-day Adventist men could be used. Members of local Adventist churches who now serve the squads include Ben Gillette, Wilfred Schultze, Don Sykes, Frank Wallmer, Paul Salziger, David Ruskjer, and Tim Woolf.

Here is fresh scope for many Adventist men and teenagers to engage in life-saving missionary work. Getting involved in such community service stirs excitement, satisfies the desire for a different type of service, and enhances public relations for the church.

You, as a member of such a squad, may spare a life for now and save one for eternity.

WEEK OF SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS HELD AT ADELPHIAN ACADEMY

Taking as his textbook the world's best seller, the Holy Bible, Elder John Hayward, pastor of the Battle Creek church, brought new spiritual insight to students of Adelpian Academy during their recent special week of spiritual devotions.

"An intelligent and widely traveled man, Pastor Hayward never failed to have several experiences to relate, which bolstered his scriptural admonitions," remarked Henry Wooten, principal.

During the week Pastor Hayward was kept busy counseling the eager students who sought his kindly advice. After the evening meetings he spent time with the students in their dormitories until "lights out." Also, in the day time a schedule was set up and a steady stream of interested students sought his counsel.

One whole service was spent telling of the providential leading while he was on a trip to Russia. In Russia the printing and circulating of Bibles is forbidden, but Pastor Hayward hoped that the customs would allow them to carry 24 Bibles through. Amazingly, they were able to distribute all 24 to fellow Christians there without any opposition, an almost unheard of experience in Russia.

At the Friday evening meeting students who had never taken their stand for Christ before were urged to exercise faith and to dedicate their lives to Christ.

Students participated in all of the services by sharing their musical talents. Since Pastor Hayward had to return to his own church and was unable to occupy the pulpit Sabbath morning, two students, Jim Carter and Gary Tabor, did the preaching.

Both speakers combined personal experiences, thoughts, and ideas with the straight facts that the Lord's coming certainly must be near. Jim Carter used a few objects, such as a basketball and a candle, to illustrate his points, while Gary Tabor used a mountain climbing experience to complement his talk.

Although no official prayer groups were organized, many banded together during the week at times to pray for unity and strength to do God's will and for the healing of the world's ills.

Elder John Hayward stops to talk with three Holly students, Sue, Cindy, and Dick Stevenson.

SAN HOSPITAL GROUND BREAKING EXPECTED TO BE SOON

Ground breaking for the new Battle Creek Sanitarium hospital is expected early this month, officials announced recently at the opening of construction bids. The facility should be completed in about 18 months.

Officials said the bids totaled approximately $200,000 less than anticipated by the architects, Sarvis Associates, Inc., of Battle Creek, lowering projected costs to $2.5 million. Financing for the facility includes a $685,000 grant from the National Institute of Mental Health.

The new structure will be built on Manchester Street, adjacent to the present Sanitarium and gym buildings.

Plans call for the first floor of the three-story building to be used for a 37-bed mental health unit and medical records department. The second floor will house a 41-bed medical-surgical unit, while the ground floor will provide ancillary services.

The 59-bed present Sanitarium Hospital, in use since 1910, will be closed when the new facility is completed.

Gentry A. Spaulding, left, and Larry Salisbury work out a magical trick which helped Larry to become $75 richer.

Magical $75 Found in Mill Manager's Bag

The cash appeared like magic—but it represented weeks of top working habits at Cedar Lake Academy's mill.

Gentry A. Spaulding, manager of the mill, is also noted for his sleight of hand entertainments. At a recent chapel program he performed a special trick with senior student Larry Salisbury, drafted as his assistant.

In front of the curious student body Mr. Spaulding placed in his magic bag a test which Larry had taken in one of his classes. After the proper "magical incantations" over the cloth bag, Larry was asked to reach in and retrieve the test paper. He could not locate the test, but in its place found $75 in cash.

The sum of money was donated by a friend of the school who wanted to help a worthy student. It was decided that Larry's excellent working habits warranted a reward, and he became the recipient of the money. It helped this senior student make the class trip to Philadelphia, New York City, and Niagara Falls.

Testimony Countdown Guidebooks To Be Available This Fall

Many of our members have read with interest the successful prayer meeting series that is being conducted in the Takoma Park, Maryland, church by Elder D. A. Delafield.

We have had a lot of people write us and want copies of the guidebooks that Elder Delafield is using in these meetings. Elder Delafield has written me in answer to our request for these, stating that these are still in the experimental stage and that he hopes they will be available by this fall.

It is very encouraging to see the renewed interest in the Testimonies. We do not want to dampen anyone's enthusiasm for this program in his church, but there is nothing we can do but wait until these guidebooks are completed in the fall. As soon as they are available we will announce it, and orders may be submitted to the Bible House.

Elder Delafield has been very pleased with the wonderful response to these studies in the Takoma Park church. The church has been packed every night.

Every one of our churches in Michigan should plan to carry on this program as soon as these guidebooks are completed and ready for distribution. We need to be reading and studying the Testimonies more than ever.

Michigan Book and Bible House*

Southwestern TEX is April 5

Sabbath School workers in all divisions will meet in the Berrien Springs church, 635 St. Joseph Avenue, April 5, at three o'clock.

This is the spring Sabbath School Council and Teachers Exchange for the Southwestern area. Plan to attend.

NEW BATTLE CREEK PASTOR SPONSORS AREA MV SOCIETY

John Franklin Glass, newest member of the Battle Creek Tabernacle ministerial staff, was chosen to coordinate the newly formed Battle Creek Area Missionary Volunteer Society.

A constitution drawn up and approved by the group provides that youth of six area churches shall be constituent members. Each church delegated one youth and an adult sponsor to form a central committee which chose officers for the united society and are included in its executive committee.

Currently the society meets at the youth chapel of the Tabernacle on Friday evening each week. Special Sabbath afternoon activities are planned for the future. A Voice of Youth effort is scheduled to be held in August.

Pastor Glass was born in Flint and grew up in the Otter Lake area. In 1962 he went to Andrews University and graduated with his B.D. degree last August. He has been with the Tabernacle staff since that time.

His hobbies and interests include modeling plastic airplanes and flying them, camping, music (He plays the guitar.), and reading. He enjoys most "just talking to people." His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glass, are members of the Otter Lake church.

V.O.P. Broadcast Time Changes

A notice from the Voice of Prophecy informs us that the broadcast in the Detroit area is now at 10 a.m. instead of at 10:30 a.m. Listen to the broadcast yourself and tell your friends about it. The Detroit station is WJBK, 1500 on your AM dial, and WJBK-FM at 93.1.

Area Sabbath School Workshop Is April 13 in Holly

All those within driving distance of the Holly church, 104 Lake Street, should plan to attend the Child Evangelism Workshop to be held Sunday, April 13, by Marjorie Snyder of Lansing.

The workshop will be concerned with the children's divisions, through junior age, and will convene at ten o'clock. Everyone attending should bring a sack lunch and plan to stay throughout the day until 3 p.m.

There will be demonstrations of felt coloring, teaching aids will be presented, and there will be Oregon felt and other teaching aids for sale.

It is very important that those who are leaders, teachers, and interested persons be present for this evangelistic approach to the children of our conference. Bring a friend.

Many Activities Claim Time Of Welfare Leader

Nedra Renshaw, Central Welfare Federation president, recently took a year's course of study to become an L.P.N. and, upon writing her State Board examination, was happy to receive a score 635. The minimum score required for passing is 350.

In addition to her many church interests and activities, Mrs. Renshaw has two of her own children and one foster child to claim her interest, plus the work and interests of the Renshaws' farm home.

But the nursing profession seems to be "catching" at the Renshaw home, as Mr. Renshaw recently took a position as nursing attendant at the Coldwater State School, and daughter Celia, a student at the Battle Creek Academy, plans to enter nurses' training. The little folk get much pleasure in playing nursemaid for baby goats when their mothers can't take care of them.

The Renshaws are members of the Burlington church.

Eleven Milwaukee Young People Baptized in Central Church

On March 1, during the MV hour, 11 of Milwaukee's young people were baptized at the Milwaukee Central church. Miss Aileen Berger, Bible worker for the area, has been studying with these youth at the church school on a regular basis since September. Their knowledge of the scriptures and of the beliefs of the Seventh-day Adventist church were vividly displayed during a Bible "spell down" which preceded the baptismal service.

Two pastors, Elder Aufderhar and Elder Huff, baptized their own children, Ken and Terri, who are classmates at Milwaukee Junior Academy.

Kevin Watts and Lina Azzolina will be uniting with the Waukesha church, and the others will be members at Milwaukee Central.

NEW FACILITIES SPARK NEW ACTIVITIES IN GREEN BAY

The first formal program presented in the new Green Bay gymnasium was a band concert by the Wisconsin Academy band. There was a full house to enjoy the very excellent music provided by these academy young people.

It was a special step forward for Green Bay members to be able to provide their church-owned auditorium for the program. The gym has, indeed, been an important addition to the church school complex.

Nearly every Saturday night and at least one evening during the week, the gym is open for action. Every age group in the church now has opportunity for physical recreation. The teen-agers have had "painting parties" combined with volleyball; the Pathfinders practice for their archery honors or enjoy kickball; the church school students have recess inside on wintry days; older folk may be participants or spectators; but everyone is welcome. Basketball and other equipment is scheduled to be installed soon, expanding recreational possibilities.

Finishing touches also continue on the beautiful new Green Bay church located adjacent to the gym and school. Work hastens along in anticipation of a series of meetings to begin April 19. Members are preparing prayer lists and good-will visits among friends to assure maximum attendance at the meetings.

Much more will be heard about Green Bay's new activities in the coming weeks.

Elder Elmer Rasmussen is pastor of the new Green Bay church. This picture shows the rostrum and baptistery area of the church. New furniture will be installed soon.

A room full of juniors listens to the leader in the junior department at Green Bay.

Unforgettable Hot Dog Goulash

$\frac{1}{8}$ cup vegetable oil
3 large onions, coarsely
chopped
1 clove garlic, well crushed
5 large green peppers, cut into $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch cubes
 $\frac{3}{4}$ tablespoon caraway seeds
 $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups canned tomatoes, undrained
1 tablespoon paprika
salt to taste
1 can well-drained VEJA-LINKS . . . cut in $\frac{1}{2}$
inch pieces

(1) In a large heavy kettle, heat oil and add onions and garlic. Cook over moderate heat, stirring with wooden spoon, until the onions begin to take on color. Add the green peppers and cook, stirring, five minutes longer. Cover and cook 20 minutes, stirring occasionally.

(2) Add the caraway seeds, tomatoes, paprika, and cook an additional 20 minutes or so until mixture thickens.

(3) Add VEJA-LINKS and salt to taste. Cover and heat thoroughly.

Serves 4 generously.

Serve with plain boiled potatoes and crisp green salad.

FOURTH ANNUAL FOOD SERVICE SUPERVISORS WORKSHOP HELD THIS SUMMER

Another full program of classes and laboratories for food service supervisors is planned for this summer at Andrews University. Food preparation principles, service, purchasing, use of equipment, will be taught by Clinton Wall and Mrs. Fonda Chaffee. Laboratory experience will be given in the university cafeteria. Mrs. Alice Marsh and Mrs. Dorothy Christensen will give instruction in nutrition, diets for special conditions, and menu planning. A period will be set aside each day for group discussions of problems in the various types of institutions, help with projects and special features.

Enrollment must be limited to the number who can be accommodated in the laboratory. Applications will be accepted in the order in which they are received.

Men and women between the ages of 21 and 55, preferably with a high school education and experience in food service, are eligible for this training. However, anyone with a real interest in food service will be considered even though he may not fulfill all specifications.

Write for further information to: Coordinator, Food Service Training Program, Department of Home Economics, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.

Academy English Teachers to Gather For Workshop June 23 to August 1

A workshop for denominational English teachers on the secondary level will be conducted at Andrews University June 23 to August 1, in response to a resolution passed by the Autumn Council. Topics under discussion will be the academic and administrative problems encountered by secondary-level English teachers and present-day trends in grammar, literary criticism, book selection in S.D.A. context, and the rhetorical approach to writing.

The faculty on the workshop will include Mrs. Opal Hagelgantz of Union College, Dr. Ottilie Stafford of Atlantic Union College, Dr. Edith Stone of Columbia Union College, and Mrs. Alma Campbell and Dr. John O. Waller of Andrews University.

The purpose of the workshop is to upgrade the teaching of English in Seventh-day Adventist academies, to develop a positive approach to the selection of books and other materials for study in Seventh-day Adventist English classes, and to encourage English teachers to obtain a master's degree in their field, according to Dr. Waller, director of the workshop.

Persons who qualify for admission to the School of Graduate Studies may earn eight hours of credit toward a master's degree in English or education; the workshop may also be taken on an audit basis.

For registration blanks and further information concerning the workshop, write to the Dean, School of Graduate Studies, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.

Nine Faculty to Receive Higher Academic Ranks

Nine Andrews University faculty members have been voted by the university board to higher ranks in their departments, effective July 1, 1969: George Akers, associate professor to professor of education; Farrel Brizendine, instructor to assistant professor of physical education; Pietro Copiz (presently on leave for doctoral study), instructor to assistant professor of French; Ivan Holmes, assistant professor to associate professor of chemistry; Richard Jordan, instructor to assistant professor of education; Robert Moon, instructor to assistant professor of education; Merlene Ogden, associate professor to professor of English; Leona Running, associate professor to professor of Biblical languages; Donald Van Duinen, instructor in education to assistant professor of education; Herold Weiss, assistant professor to associate professor of New Testament; and Bruce Zimmerman, associate professor to professor of physics.

Oriental foods such as are pictured here will be served at the International Food Fair April 27, along with food and beverages from various other countries and areas of the world.

"AROUND THE WORLD IN 40 MINUTES" IS THEME OF FOOD FAIR

The opportunity to go "around the world in 40 minutes"—the theme of the eighth annual International Food Fair—is offered to everyone who comes to the fair to be held on the A.U. campus April 27.

Individual booths will offer food and beverages characteristic of various countries and continents of the world. Also, oil paintings and other works of art will be on display and for sale.

The fair is jointly sponsored by the Graduate Guild and the Campus Women's Club, and part of the proceeds will go to the A.U. Gymnastics, the gymnastic team performing at the Youth's Congress in Zurich, Switzerland, this summer.
