"Herald" Volumes in Library of Congress

Should you chance to browse through the Library of Congress, you will be able to read the Lake Union Herald.

For many years it has been our practice to send a bound volume of Heralds to the Library of Congress, where these volumes can be kept as a historical record.

A few days ago we received a thank-you note from the librarian for our gift of the 1968 volume.

The note follows:

The Library of Congress has received as your gift the material described on the opposite page.

Quiet Hour Suffers Loss of Supplies During California Floods and Mudslides

REDLANDS, CALIFORNIA—Pastor J. L. Tucker reports that the floods and mudslides in southern California during the month of February have damaged what was to be the new home of the Quiet Hour offices. The Quiet Hour suffered loss in supplies that had been moved to the proposed headquarters, estimated at six to eight thousand dollars. Included were 3,000 copies of the book Steps to Christ, the first book used with the Quiet Hour Bible correspondence course.

Pastor Tucker and his staff have taken great comfort in reading again the first two chapters of the book of Job. They have worked hard to salvage everything possible. It may be that some Herald readers are in a financial position to give an extra gift to replace supplies and materials, for Pastor Tucker believes the work of the Lord must go on from victory to victory despite all setbacks.

CRISIS INTERVENTION CENTER OPEN

NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE—Persons in need of counseling to meet a crisis may receive help by telephone if they live near High Point, North Carolina. Under a new program called "Contact," the United Methodist General Board of Evangelism has made such help available.

The counseling center idea was sparked by Bill Colona, a city planner for High Point and a member of High Point's United Methodist church. Fifty persons, trained in counseling techniques, assist in the ministry which is available 24 hours a day.

GERMANY'S PRESIDENT-ELECT TO RESIGN CHURCH POSTS

BERLIN—President-elect Gustave Heinemann of West Germany said he will resign from all church posts when he takes office in July. The current justice minister, elected president March 5, is a member of the governing body of the Evangelical Church in Germany.

ADVENTISTS MOVE TO COMBAT STARVATION OF THE RICH

PHILADELPHIA—A "Better Living" center, opened by Seventh-day Adventists in downtown Philadelphia, may help prevent starvation among the affluent. Many Americans who have plenty of food are actually half-starved because of an unbalanced diet, the church explains.

The center hopes to improve the health of the community by holding public nutrition classes, as well as Five-Day Plan clinics to help those who wish help to stop smoking. The center also provides recreation facilities for neglected young people.

The operation is sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventist Health Department.

LUTHERANS, ADVENTISTS OPPOSE DIPLOMATIC TIE TO VATICAN

NEW YORK—Protestant groups continue to voice opposition against U.S. diplomatic ties to the Vatican. Objection to U.S.-Vatican diplomatic links was expressed by the Lutheran Council in the U.S.A. and by the administrative committee of the Seventh-day Adventist church after President Nixon, at a press conference, said the matter is under study.

Earlier, units of the National Council of Churches, the Southern Baptist Convention, the American Baptist Convention, as well as Christianity Today magazine were among those indicating disapproval of a diplomatic exchange with the Vatican.

LEPROSY SEMINAR TO UPDATE MEDICS

NEW YORK—Some 50 medical workers from Asia, Africa, and North and South America will participate in the tenth annual leprosy seminar at the United States Public Health Service in Carville, Louisiana, April 10 through 16.

The seminars are sponsored by American Leprosy Missions in cooperation with the United States Public Health Service Hospital. Participants are selected by American Leprosy Missions.

The purpose of the seminars is to give an intensive review and orientation in the modern management of leprosy, according to Dr. Oliver W. Hasselblad, president of the American Leprosy Missions.

Lay Evangelism Training Class To Be in Detroit, May 3-10

All pastors and laymen of the Lake Region and Michigan conferences in the Detroit area are urged to attend a Lay Evangelism Training Class to be conducted in the Metropolitan church at 15340 Southfield Road, Detroit, May 3 to 10.

Elder V. W. Schoen from the General Conference will lead out in the instruction. This is a marvelous opportunity for all pastors and laymen within driving distance to take advantage of this timely instruction. It will be inspirational and most helpful in all soul-winning work for both pastors and laymen. There will be a special class on the "Art of Obtaining Decisions."

The training school will begin on Sabbath afternoon, May 3, at three o'clock. On Sunday the program will begin at 8:30 a.m. and close at 6:15 p.m. The training classes will continue each evening during the week from 7 to 9:15 p.m. The closing exercises and graduation will be conducted on Sabbath, May 10, from 3 to 6:30 p.m.

The Michigan Book and Bible House is planning to supply the Leadership Training Series of booklets at $2.00 per set for all who attend the classes. You can purchase your set on Sunday morning, May 4.

Please pray for the presence of the Holy Spirit so that the instruction received may be used in winning many souls. Then, if at all possible, come and receive the blessings in store for you.

A nationally known Boston chest surgeon and an authority on lung cancer and the effects of smoking, Richard Overholt, M.D., will speak Wednesday evening.

The Five-Day Plan is being conducted by Hinsdale

Sanitarium and Hospital's five-man team: Charles L. Anderson, M.D., psychiatrist; Charles L. Dale, M.D., pathologist; Willis C. Graves, chaplain; Gordon T. Hewlett, associate chaplain; and Ben Lau, Ph.D., clinical microbiologist.

Other featured speakers at the congress are Jeremiah Stamler, M.D., of Chicago, who gave the latest facts on smoking and its effects (Monday); Daniel Horn of Washington, D.C., director of the National Clearing House of Smoking and Health (Monday); and Attorney John Banzhaf of New York, who successfully worked for the "Fairness Doctrine" to gain educational time on radio and television to counteract tobacco advertising (at Wednesday luncheon).

Broadview Pathfinders under the direction of Ray Tufts marched for the March of Dimes.

Pathfinders March for March of Dimes

Broadview Pathfinder Club members enjoy going from door to door doing mission service for the denomination, but when the public makes a special request for them to help out, they consider it quite an honor.

Recently Mrs. Anne Krpalek received a call from the local chairman of the March of Dimes requesting that the Pathfinders go from door to door in the subdivision for her. They accepted the challenge. The report from the chairman was that they brought back twice as much as in last year's march, which was done by adults. The Pathfinders took in $70.

GROUNDBREAKING FOR YOUTH CENTER HELD AT NORTH SHORE FEBRUARY 23

Sunday, February 23, at 2 p.m., ground-breaking ceremonies for a new youth center were held at the North Shore church, 5220 North California Avenue, in Chicago. A short service was held in the church sanctuary preceding the ceremonies.

Dignitaries attending included Representative John J. Hoellen, alderman, who brought greetings from the city of Chicago; Elder W. A. Nelson, Illinois Conference president, who extended greetings from the conference; and Elder Eston Allen from the Illinois Conference public relations department.

Daniel Peters, principal of the North Shore school, gave the congregation a view of the history of the school. Elder Clifford Hoffman, youth pastor, spoke about the youth of North Shore. Elder Donald A. Riesen chose the title "Teen-age Gangs or Armies of Youth" for his topic. The youth choir and senior choir both participated in the program, under the direction of Mrs. Donald Riesen.

It is the hope of the leaders of North Shore and all those who are sacrificing toward this new $400,000 building that it will be able to serve its community and give the youth of the church a more advanced education.

Johne Pertlick

Elder Clifford Hoffman, associate pastor, North Shore church; Dan Peters, school principal; Elder Don Riesen, pastor; John J. Hoellen, Chicago alderman; Sanford Rubin, church elder; W. A. Nelson, conference president; and Larry Schwall, architect, were all participants in the North Shore ground-breaking ceremony for a new youth center.

Successful Stop Smoking Plan Now Completed in Aurora

The Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital presented the first Five-Day Plan ever held in Aurora February 16 through 20. An average of 115 individuals met nightly in the First Presbyterian church.

Each program included a film, a brief presentation by a clergyman on the nature of the plan and its effective control by willpower, a lecture by a physician on the effects of smoking, and a group discussion period. An array of printed material was also available.

A number of factors blended to assure success of the plan. Early in January a Smokers' Dial was installed in the Aurora church school. Mrs. Wilbur Wright helped with the promotion of the program and organized the laymen to help. Mrs. Pearl M. McGlaughlin of the Aurora Chapter of the American Cancer Society served as enrollment coordinator. She also gave faithful support each evening. Representative Allen Schoeberlein of Aurora was a special guest speaker one evening. Radio Stations WMRO and WKKD each carried a half-hour program regarding the Five-Day Plan and the Aurora-Beacon News also provided coverage.

So successful was this community service that ground-work is being laid for another session May 18 to 22. Smokers' Dial is still in operation, and will continue for an indefinite period.

Mrs. P. W. Fletcher

BOOK AND BIBLE HOUSE NOTES

- Our traveling book stand moves on! The next appointment is the Chicagoland Youth Rally to be held the weekend of April 25 and 26.

- As usual, arrangements have already been made so that our display can be set up in advance, making it possible to give immediate service following sundown vespers. A large assortment of books, Bibles, games, recordings, special bargains, and the regular bargain table will be available all through the evening.

- Since April is "Music Month" in Illinois, this occasion will give the opportunity of making selections of Chapel recordings in person at a full 20 per cent saving. At the moment we are also working on a very special feature for this particular book stand appointment.

- This will be our third major display in four weeks. It is truly a joy to plan for these occasions when we have the privilege of serving fellow believers and their friends. Be sure to plan time for a book stand visit Saturday night, April 26, when the familiar "camp meeting prices" will be in effect on all items.

- "See you at the book stand!"

The church was filled with members, visitors, and friends. Following the service punch and Italian cookies were served in the fellowship hall to everyone.

The service consisted of presentation of colors; thanks to God for the religious freedom of this nation; presentation of the candle, symbolizing the living church; presentation of the book of church records, which has been kept faithfully for many generations; and the presentation of the Bible, which has kept the church strong in its beliefs.

Watch for announcement of the church dedication.

NEWS NOTES FROM BURNS AVENUE

• Brightly colored cloth bags filled with personal items and fresh fruit were delivered to patients in a local nursing home by the ladies of the Burns Avenue Dorcas Society under the leadership of Mrs. Pauline Taylor. Since the hospitals and nursing homes in this area were closed to visitors during the holiday season due to the influenza epidemic, the Dorcas ladies waited until this month and found that the gifts were all the more appreciated.

• Thirteen-year-old Cynthia Murray was among those baptized at a candlelight baptismal service conducted by Elder Thomas Kelly at the Burns Avenue church. Cynthia first learned of the Adventist truths through attendance at the local church school. The only member of her family to embrace Sabbathkeeping, she has let her light shine in the home, for her mother has expressed a desire to join Cynthia in church membership.

LITERATURE EVANGELIST RALLY HELD IN FORT WAYNE

A successful training class for literature evangelists was recently held in the Hanna Street church, Fort Wayne, Indiana. Instructions in the mechanics of Christian salesmanship were given by T. S. Barber, publishing secretary of the Lake Region Conference.

The 20 or more persons in attendance comprised recruits and regular literature evangelists from Fort Wayne and Indianapolis. It was an enthusiastic group that listened and took notes from the instruction given.

The teamwork of the pastor evangelist and the literature evangelist was exercised in the full cooperation of Pastor Robert L. Douglas with the publishing department to make the one-day meeting a success.

The literature evangelists were encouraged by the instruction received; at the close of the meeting they were fully satisfied by the delicious dinner prepared and served by Mrs. Robert L. Douglas and her faithful corps of volunteers.

Each one present saw the importance of literature evangelism and the need of having a definite, personal, active part in this work. This work must go forward until probation closes. Every hand is needed now.

1969 Camp Meeting Speakers Announced

Elder R. S. Joyce has authorized that an announcement be made concerning the main guest speakers who will be ministering to the spiritual needs of our people during the Indiana Camp Meeting, June 13 to 26.

★ Responding to popular demand, our president has invited that prince of Adventist preachers, H. M. S. Richards, to attend this year's convocation. Not only will the speaker for the Voice of Prophecy international radio program appear in person, but the King's Heralds quartet will also be featured.

★ Elder E. L. Minchin, General Conference field secretary, an outstanding revival preacher, will be the featured guest at each evening service.

★ Elder J. R. Spangler, associate Ministerial Association secretary for the world field, will join the first week-end's featured speakers. Elder Spangler did such an outstanding job during the 1968 camp meeting season that by popular demand he is being recalled to help set the pattern for the entire week of spiritual refreshment that is to follow.

★ This will be the introduction to the Indiana constituency of our new Lake Union Conference president, Elder Francis W. Wernick. The schedule calls for Elder Wernick to speak the first Sabbath.

Now is the time to make reservations through our conference treasurer, L. L. Davis, for your 1969 camp meeting needs. We anticipate the largest attendance in Indiana's history.

BOYS RECEIVE "BIBLE STORY" AS REWARD FOR GOOD DEED

Two little non-Adventist boys recently picked up a billfold containing $70, took the money out, and left the billfold on the side of a car. When they arrived home and told their mother what they had done, she sent the boys right back to find the billfold so that she could see who owned the billfold. She found that the owner was the husband of a lady who works for a Seventh-day Adventist doctor. The money was to be used to replace the roof of a home on which the man was working.

After the lady told the doctor all about what happened, they both felt they wanted to do something good for the boys. As a result, the boys received The Bible Story. No doubt after reading these the boys will have a desire to know more of our message.

This is just one of the ways to contact souls for God's kingdom. Our doctors and nurses are doing an outstanding job, along with our pastors and literature evangelists, in spreading the message. The Lord has many ways to help us spread the gospel and to do good. A wonderful way is to give books that will encourage others to find the message.

H. F. Otis
Publishing Secretary

GYMNICS PERFORM AT ACADEMY

The Andrews University Gymnics recently paid a welcome visit to the Indiana Academy campus.

The 35-member gymnastic team started the program by singing a rousing rendition of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Using sound, color, and muscle, the Gymnics put on an inspiring display of talent. Precision balancing, teeter-board acts, unicycling, and comedy helped keep the program rolling along.

The Gymnics have been invited to perform at the World Youth Congress in Zurich, Switzerland, this summer. We wish them and Coach Bob Kalua success in raising the necessary funds, so that this team of young men and women can attend the congress and perform in Zurich.

The triple chair stand is one of the most exciting acts of the program. Don Watson and Richard Ross show what a small amount of balance can do.

MICHIGAN

SPRING CLOTHING DRIVE COMING SOON

The conference-wide spring clothing drive is May 13. All church members throughout Michigan should assist welfare workers by bringing clothing NOW to their local welfare centers for processing for this important clothing drive.

It takes time to process and pack the clothing for shipment. Therefore, we are appealing to you to clean out your closets, shelves, and dresser drawers of useful clothing no longer needed and turn it over at once.

This year, through arrangements with the truck driver training program of Lansing Community College, our clothing will be picked up on one day by five of their large vans. This cooperative effort by the Michigan Conference and the Lansing Community College will be beneficial to both organizations. It will assist the college in their training and development of truck drivers; it helps us in transporting our clothing to New York on almost a 100 per cent charitable basis.

Girl and Glow Worm Win Amateur Hour Prize

Jeanne Boling, sophomore at Grand Ledge Academy, took the grand prize at the annual Amateur Hour. She played "Glow Worm" in the dark, while the worm attached to her marimba glowed and its eyes rhythmically blinked on and off.

G.L.A. Students Spread GLAdness of God's Word

In order that the highest goals may be achieved, Grand Ledge Academy emphasizes the spiritual growth of each student.

Recently, representatives of the student body visited Belding and participated in the Sabbath service. Judy Powel and Cindy Fleming, with Sue Power's accompaniment, rendered a flute duet, while Julie Papendick added to the ministry of music with a solo. Sermonettes were given by Jim Boismier and Steve Fleming. Dan Towar, the leader of the Speaker's Forum, organized the appointment as he does many others.

Letter of Thanks Received From Missionary in Sierra Leone

A letter has been received from Sierra Leone, West Africa, addressed to Mrs. E. F. Herzel and the members of the Decatur church. Decatur Adventist ladies and their friends have sent knitted bandages for use in the Masanga leprosarium there.

Mrs. Herzel, wife of the local pastor, stated that Decatur ladies have mailed two boxes with over 70 bandages to Masanga. These bandages are hand knit of cotton thread and are in four-, six-, and eight-foot lengths. The leprosarium needs stretch bandages of material that can be boiled, so this excludes the rubberized types used in the general hospitals. Masanga sends sincere gratitude to all who have helped supply this need. Mrs. Herzel states that another 25 bandages are ready to be mailed.

The Masanga leprosarium is the hospital part of an Adventist institution for the lepers in West Africa. This institution has been in operation for three years. It consists of a 54-bed leprosarium and a leper colony of 232 in need of less critical treatment.

The letter was written by Mrs. G. W. Turnbull, a licensed missionary nurse who took her training in the southern part of the United States. She tells of progress in the institution: "Acres of peanuts, native beans, and swamp rice are growing fine. Two hundred ninety orange trees are growing in their permanent orchard, and over 400 fruit tree seedlings are set in nursery beds. These products will supplement the patients' diet. Most of the people are so malnourished when admitted, it is little wonder leprosy has such a high incidence throughout the country," states Mrs. Turnbull.

"In Sierra Leone, women rarely have training of any kind other than farming," she continues. "A gift of 30 sewing machines from Seventh-day Adventists in Finland—some treadle and some hand operated—will initiate a rehabilitation program for the ladies along with the teaching of other areas of homemaking. Two teachers have been added, one in carpentry and one in bricklaying and masonry. So a technical school is now on its way at Masanga, which will enable patients who are released to be prepared to find a place again in their home and community."

Mrs. Turnbull concludes that "reading classes have been organized and each patient has been placed in an illiteracy class. Nine local teachers have volunteered to conduct these classes."

Frank Haynes watches for a "go" signal from the director as Betty Sue Finch checks her script.

NEW DETROIT STATION FOR V.O.P.

Due to changes in local programming the Voice of Prophecy will no longer be heard over WJBK, Detroit. To take its place, time has been obtained over WQTE in Detroit. This important station began broadcasting Elder Richards's program on Sunday, April 20, at 10 a.m.

Tell your friends and neighbors of the new time, and tune your own radio set to the inspiring Voice of Prophecy radio broadcast. WQTE is located at 560 on your radio dial.

Radio Plays Recorded At Adelphian Academy

The sophomore and junior English classes, taught by Virgil Lewis, are preparing radio plays to be broadcast in Flint. Five classes in all are participating in the plays.

The plays were read by the students in class, then interested students tried out for the parts. The try-outs were recorded and then voted on by the entire class. After participants had been selected for the parts, the plays were prepared. Each has a student director and a sound effects man.

After the plays were recorded, the classes chose the best two, which were to be broadcast on the radio. The two groups traveled to Flint Junior College on March 17, where they recorded their plays at the educational radio station for later broadcast.

Five student directors are: Judson Nelson, Roy Schaeffer, Sharon Jackson, Pat Edwards, and Lucy Salsbury.

Literature Evangelist Rally Draws 100 From State

Literature evangelists of eastern Michigan held an all-day rally at the South Flint church, March 16. Elder George Taggart, manager of the Michigan Book and Bible House, was the guest speaker at the eleven o'clock service. He spoke on Christ's second coming and Armageddon. About 100 visitors were present for the rally.

In the afternoon a symposium was conducted by Elder J. D. Spiva, publishing secretary of the Michigan Conference. His associate, Kenneth Williams of Cedar Lake, assisted. Part of a television film series featuring The Bible Story was shown. Speaker for this series is Paul Harvey, noted news commentator.

Colporteurs from the Flint, Detroit, Bay City, Grand Rapids, Port Huron, and Cedar Lake areas gave some of their experiences. Seventy-seven souls for Christ were won in the year through the efforts of Michigan's literature evangelists.

"Here's What PR Is"

Church press secretaries attending the Houghton Lake workshop had a visual lesson in public relations from Elder Gordon Engen, public relations secretary of the Lake Union Conference. By use of a flannel board he pointed up what PR is, does, and involves.

This workshop was the third of four scheduled for throughout the state. The other three were held in Berrien Springs, Monroe, and Menominee.

Teen Dial Gives Battle Creek Students Questions to Be Answered

Teen Dial, a telephone answering machine, has been operating in Battle Creek now for just 11 months. The youth of Battle Creek Academy have recorded 130 messages in answer to typical teen questions. More than 20,000 calls from youth of the town have been tabulated. These town youth have responded with more than 1,700 comments or questions of their own which they desire to be answered by our youth on Teen Dial in the future.

Most of the questions that come in on Teen Dial are social in nature. They range from "What age is appropriate for young people to go steady?" to "How can I make my father want to stop drinking and quit beating up the family?" The academy youth are asked everything from how to handle jealousy to "How long should a boy be permitted to wear his hair?"

Not all the questions are social, however. Some ask about God, prayer, or the meaning of a particular Bible text. Over the Christmas holidays the Voice of Prophecy "Bright Horizon" Bible course was offered to those who requested it and left their name and address. More than 100 responded. From these, others learned of the course by word-of-mouth and asked on Teen Dial if they could get it too. Recently one asked if she could get the course for her aunt who had read and enjoyed the lessons.

There are many who phone in to Teen Dial (965-7728) and listen to the recorded message. Then they ask foolish questions or make ridiculous comments of their own. But there is a hard-core group with real problems who are reaching out for what help they can get.

It is the hope of the academy young people to reach these youth not only with recorded telephone answers to their questions, but also by inviting them to a series of youth meetings in August, where they can see and hear Seventh-day Adventist young people share their faith.

Some values of Teen Dial are these: 1. It provides answers to youth questions by Seventh-day Adventist youth, who speak from a background of fundamental Bible truth; 2. Our own youth are benefited by studying the problems in an effort to help others; 3. It provides a sympathetic ear for troubled youth who may not want to talk to any person face to face; 4. It keeps us aware of the thought patterns of today's youth, which is essential if we are to help them; 5. It is another way of saying to the community at large that Seventh-day Adventists are concerned with the problems facing today's youth and are ready to help.

Whether or not Teen Dial is appreciated may be judged by the feedback from the machine. One listener recently said, "That was a good answer. Teen Dial is great!" Another volunteered, "Teen Dial is a real help to other people—especially for young people whose parents won't listen to them. Thank you." Still another said, "I don't have a problem, but I think your program is wonderful. I hope you will keep it up. It is going to help a lot of people. Thank you."

Carlton Center Homecoming Scheduled for May 3

YOUTH ENJOY RHINELANDER RALLY

Elder Lester Rilea and Melvin Rosen, youth leader and educational secretary of the Wisconsin Conference, conducted a youth rally at the church in Rhinelander Friday and Sabbath, March 14 and 15.

David Bauer, assistant vice-president of student affairs at Andrews University, was the speaker at the eleven o'clock hour. He said the world today needs a "revolution"—Christian style—such as Holy Spirit-filled Christians effected after Pentecost when they used Calvary as a pry and the cross as a fulcrum and "turned the world upside down" (Acts 17:6). In the afternoon he spoke on the three-dimensional education offered in Seventh-day Adventist schools, and showed the "Imprints" movie about the Seminary and Andrews University.

Melvin Rosen also spoke on Christian education in the afternoon and conducted the Sabbath School lesson in the morning.

Lester Rilea discussed various faith-sharing activities and stated that the goal of 100,000 baptisms by youth sharing their faith during the four-year period ending in 1970 will probably be met. He had Pastor Lester Hall, Vicki Crawford, and Gerald Williams, all of the Oconto district, illustrate Voice of Youth. After that, he showed a film of Voice of Youth activity in Washington, D.C.

Melinda Rodriques told of life in the Philippines and showed handmade dresses, flowers, water buffalo, and a shirt made from pineapple fiber. She told of her efforts to gain an education in the Philippines and of joining the church. After being baptized she was persecuted by members of the family. But today four of the family have also become Seventh-day Adventists. She is now dietitian at the Friendly Village Home for the Elderly at Rhinelander.

The youth rally concluded with supper, snowmobiling, games, and movies at the spacious facilities and grounds of the Rhinelander Methodist church on Saturday evening. Children and youth filled the sleds pulled by snowmobiles. Mr. Bauer did some of the driving. "First time," he said.

DEDEREN CONDUCTS EXTENSION CLASSES IN SOUTH AMERICAN COUNTRIES

"Thirty thousand persons were baptized in the South American Division in 1968, enough people to fill a church with 90 people every day," says Dr. Raoul Dederen, professor of theology and Christian philosophy, who spent the winter quarter of 1968-69 school year in South America teaching Christology to ministers in that division. He was accompanied by Elders E. E. Cleveland, associate secretary of the General Conference Ministerial Association, who taught evangelistic methods; and R. L. Odom of the General Conference, who taught the history of Sabbath and Sunday. All courses offered Seminary extension credit.

The extension school was conducted at River Platte College in Argentina. One hundred thirty-two students from eight South American countries attended the classes which were divided into Spanish and Portuguese sections. Institutes were also conducted in Buenos Aires, Argentina; Santiago, Chile; and Lima, Peru, for ministers who were unable to attend the extension school.

"My colleagues and I have never witnessed such an enthusiastic spirit before," says Dederen. "One man conducted two evangelistic series of meetings last year and baptized 480 persons; I took a picture of six of my students who baptized a total of 2,000. I have been impressed with the progress of our work in South America!"

WORLD MISSION INSTITUTE TO CONVENE AT A.U. DURING SUMMER OF '69

An Institute of World Mission will be conducted at Andrews University, June 16 to July 25, for missionaries on furlough or persons under appointment. The courses will introduce the students to the task of the contemporary overseas worker, examine insights and understandings of the tensions and movements of the non-western world, and point out study disciplines needed by an overseas Christian worker.

Included on the teaching staff will be Drs. M. O. Manley, Gottfried Oosterwal, C. E. Wittschiebe, Raoul Dederen, Ruth Murdoch, Wilson Trickett, Elaine Giddings, and Mrs. Alice G. Marsh of Andrews University; Dr. Andrew Haynal of Loma Linda University; and select individuals from the General Conference.

The purpose of the institute is for alert, ambitious, and professionally qualified people with an active spiritual commitment to Christian world mission to receive the type of orientation that will increase their effectiveness in overseas service, according to M. O. Manley, director of the institute.

The first five weeks will be spent in studying the following courses: 1. Science and Principles of World Service, a study of actual overseas experience in terms of the call, goals, methods, and administration. Afternoon seminars will supplement other offerings of the institute with material in interaction experiences; 2. World Religions, a study of the ethnic and major world religions and the proper approaches to their adherents with the gospel message; and 3. Applied Anthropology, an introduction to the principles of cultural anthropology as they relate to Christian world mission and to Christianity in the overseas field culture.

The final week of the institute will be spent in a Seminar in Personal Health and Tropical Hygiene, a course dealing with aspects of both the mental and physical health of persons working in cultures other than their own.

Persons who qualify for admission to the School of Graduate Studies or to the Seminary are eligible to earn eight quarter credits toward an M.A. degree; persons who do not qualify for credit may audit the courses, according to Dr. Manley.

For further information and registration blanks concerning the institute, write to the Dean, School of Graduate Studies, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.

JAMES CURRY IS NEW PLANT SERVICE SUPERINTENDENT

James Curry has assumed the position of Andrews University plant service superintendent, according to V. E. Garber, vice-president for financial affairs. In his new position, Curry supervises operation of the $15,000,000 physical plant of the university, which includes a heating plant, sewage plant, water supply, heavy equipment, and roads.

A 1959 graduate of Andrews University, Curry served for six years as Maplewood Academy farm manager in Hutchinson, Minnesota, before he returned to Andrews to complete state certification requirements for teaching. He served as field assistant for maintenance and equipment before being promoted to his present position where he administers the work of 30 full-time carpenters, electricians, plumbers, painters, and some part-time student laborers.
