COVER

Dr. Weaver interviews one of his medical colleagues for one of 24 stop-smoking television spot announcements being produced by Detroit's channel 2.

Five-day Plan

Dr. Arthur Weaver, right, talks with a salesman from channel 2 in Detroit, who was one of the five staff members of WJBK-TV who gave up smoking as a result of Dr. Weaver's hour-long special on smoking put on by the station. To the right in the picture is the director, who also quit. The picture was taken during the shooting of 24 spot announcements produced by channel 2.

Catches Fire in Detroit Area

The Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking is catching on fire in the Detroit area, and with it uncounted scores of lives are being prevented from going up in smoke!

The latest push in this direction started in April when the first of three Detroit area clinics to stop smoking was held in the theater of the Henry Ford Museum in Greenfield Village. Dr. Arthur Weaver of the Plymouth church, an assistant professor of surgery at Wayne State University, was asked by the Michigan Cancer Foundation to co-sponsor the well known stop-smoking programs.

Radio and television stations gave support to the clinics and WXYZ-TV spent an entire evening filming the program for later release on channel 7.

The continuing success of these three clinics and the resulting publicity caused the Cancer Foundation to quickly arrange for four more to follow. Dr. Weaver was assisted in them by Adventist pastors of the Detroit area and Dr. Alfred Lui of the Oakwood Boulevard church.

It was then that J. P. McCarthy, well-known radio personality of WJR, Detroit, invited Dr. Weaver to appear on his noontime Focus program. The usual three-to four-guest interview format was forgotten and the entire 45 minutes was devoted to the smoking habit and the success of the Five-Day Plan. By the time the program was completed, the program's producer, Hal Youngblood, said he was through and challenged "J. P." to join him. McCarthy wasn't sure about his feelings and wouldn't commit himself, claiming he needed the weekend to think it over.

The following Monday morning Dr. Weaver received a call from McCarthy, who was doing his early morning program. He had decided to quit and was asking for additional information. This was given as the telephone conversation was publicly aired. All that week and the week that followed, the radio audience numbering into tens of thousands heard similar conversations between the doctor and the disc jockey.

By this time most of the population of greater Detroit knew that their favorite radio personality had quit the weed. An invitation from WJBK-TV came to Dr. Weaver to tape a one-hour special. This was aired during the week at 10 p.m., when channel 2 claimed an audience of 285,000 homes. Their promotion of the program caused their viewing audience to increase to about half a million homes.

This success gave station officials courage to rerun the hour's program on the following Saturday, even though they were working against one of their biggest sources of income.

The program had an immediate effect on a number of the station's personnel. Five of them quit by the time the program had been taped. Six weeks later one of them, a director of the program, told this reporter that he had had no intention of quitting.

"I started to light up during the taping session," he reported, "and then hesitated." He thought of the good Seventh-day Adventists were trying to accomplish and felt lighting up at that moment would be an affront to them. As a result, he put his cigarettes away. By the time the taping was over his cancer-causing cigarettes were put away for good.

A few weeks later Dr. Weaver was back in the studios of WJBK filming a series of one- and five-minute messages to be run as a public service by the station two or three times daily. Twelve five-minute tapes and 12 one-minute spots were made and are now being telecast. Each one ends with the TV screen showing the telephone number of the Smokers' Dial inaugurated by the station. Ten answering devices were installed to handle the thousands of calls which followed. Each recorded telephone message ends with a smoker's prayer asking God's strength to quit the habit. Dr. Weaver prepared these messages also.

This is just the beginning of the benefits of these television programs, for WJBK is one of five stations owned by the Storer Broadcasting Company. The company has decided to make these available to their other stations located in Toledo, Atlanta, Cleveland, and Milwaukee.

Thus, for the second time during the summer months the health message of the Seventh-day Adventist church has been brought to the attention of hundreds of thousands of people. The other event was the camp meeting march on the state capitol by Adventist youth in an anti-smoking crusade. This resulted in the passage of a bill to bring to children in the schools of the state vital scientific and health facts on the evils of this deadly habit.

Better health for thousands is resulting, and good public relations for the church has taken place as the result of our Christian doctors and their local pastors aiding health organizations in their drive for cleaner living.

The Michigan Cancer Society and other health organizations believe they had their "lucky strike" when they discovered Seventh-day Adventists and their famous Five-Day Plan.

Youth Congress Program Available

Ben Schoun, the union delegate to the World Youth Congress in Zurich, is prepared to put on a combination slide and lecture program about the youth congress and the trip. No charge will be made, though an offering will be taken to cover expenses. MV societies or churches interested in making arrangements should contact the MV department, Lake Union Conference, Box C, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49103, phone (616) 473-4541.

CHURCH EMPLOYEES RIGHT TO STRIKE BILL OPPOSED

HARRISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA—A bill designed primarily as a public employees labor relations law, affects churches, too.

According to its wording ministers, priests, or any other employees of a church, charitable or education institution may strike.

The Pennsylvania Catholic Conference has registered opposition to the bill with the Senate committee. The bill has already passed the House.

COURT DENIES AMISH RELIGIOUS LIBERTY MOTION

MONROE, WISCONSIN—A county judge has found three Amish fathers guilty of violating Wisconsin's compulsory education law. The men have refused to send their teen-agers to a public high school on the grounds of religious beliefs. They do not wish to expose their children to the current youthful environment.

The judge said the law does interfere with the religious freedom of the Amish parents and would be unconstitutional if it involved only adults. However, he said, the law protects the educational rights of children and is a reasonable exercise of the governmental function of the state.

He imposed a symbolic penalty of five dollars. The case is to be appealed.

Archaeologists Think Noah's Ark Found

ISTANBUL—Desires to locate Noah's ark have led many expeditions to Mt. Ararat in eastern Turkey. The most recent was sponsored by a U. S. government grant to the Arctic Institute of North America.

A party of six found pieces of wood in a lake bottom at Mt. Ararat early in August, according to the report of B. E. Crawford of Washington, D. C. He is president of the Scientific Exploration and Archaeological Research Foundation. The wood is being examined in research centers in the U. S., France, and Turkey, he said.

LUTHERAN CONGREGATION INVESTS IN PEOPLE, NOT BUILDINGS

NEW YORK—A Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod congregation in Manhattan's lower east side can't afford to fix the roof of its church. But it is beginning an unusual program to help those affected by recent welfare cuts. The church has no central heat in its 122-year-old building, and is holding services in the basement because of a badly cracked sanctuary ceiling.

The pastor explains that, since the welfare cutback, members of the middle-income bracket in the congregation have decided to share their earnings. The cutback amounts to $10 per person, and 43 welfare recipients are now being helped.

MORE CHRISTIANS PREDICTED FOR AFRICA THAN IN OTHER CONTINENTS

KINSHASA, THE CONGO—A Cuban-born evangelist-in-depth pioneer predicts that more Christians will be found in Africa at the end of this century than on any continent.

Ruben Lores, speaking to a National Congress on Evangelism in the Congo, says the prediction is based on sociologists' studies and the present rate of growth among Christians.

The meeting drew participants from more than 25 Congolese denominations, seven from other African states, and from foreign lands. About 150 people attended.

Mormons Hold World Conference on Records

SALT LAKE CITY—The first world conference on the keeping of genealogical records met in Salt Lake City by invitation of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon). Mormons, whose vast collection of family records is tied to their religious beliefs, are interested in standardizing record keeping all over the world.

"No one library can house all the records of mankind," said Howard Hunter, president of the Mormon Genealogical Society. "We suggested a conference that would create uniform patterns for making and using records, and invited all interested groups to attend." The church gathers records so that marriages, baptisms, and other ordinances may be performed by proxy for a member's ancestors who did not have the chance while alive.

ARCHAEOLOGICAL FIND SHEDS NEW LIGHT ON CRUCIFIXION

JERUSALEM—The remains of a contemporary of Jesus Christ who was executed by crucifixion have been discovered, according to a Greek archaeologist. He has been working for the Israeli government's Department of Antiquities and reported the find during the World Congress of Jewish Studies.

Although crucifixion was a common form of execution in Jesus' time, these are the first bones from that period that could definitely be identified as those of a crucified man. The ankles had spikes about six inches long in them.

The bones were discovered during construction of a new housing development in northeast Jerusalem, and are said to be the remains of a Jew named Jonathan the Potter.

BAPTIST SAYS BIBLE-BELT IS NO LONGER RELIGIOUS

RIDGECREST, NORTH CAROLINA—The United States is no longer religion-oriented, even in the so-called Bible Belt of the South, according to a Baptist public relations secretary. W. C. Fields, who also edits the Baptist Program and directs the Baptist Press, said Baptists must break out of the institutional church and go out where the people are. "Jesus Christ did not come into the world just to talk," he said. "We must go out where humanity is hurting."

SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL

Miss Heisel Retires After 35 Years at Hinsdale Nursery

When one reaches the point of retirement and looks back at the 35 years spent in one spot, it doesn't seem nearly so long. At least that's what Miss Ruth Heisel, head nurse of the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital nursery, thinks now as she packs to leave for her home in Pound, Wisconsin, a suburb of Green Bay, where she plans to retire.

She is anxiously awaiting the moving van to get back into her little house where she says it will take five years to reclaim the wilderness around it. She looks forward to raising her own vegetables and perhaps a few flowers.

Working in the yard will be quite different from her job of overseeing the nursery at the hospital, where thousands of youngsters have been silenced by her gentle touch and lured into slumberland by her voice. She was witness to the population explosion as more and more young couples moved away from Chicago to have their children and to raise them in the suburb of Hinsdale and surrounding villages.

Resting from her labors, she can now enjoy her friends and family as she picks up the threads of time to weave a new pattern into her life, but her memories will always be of Hinsdale and the 35 years well spent here as a nurse.

Hinsdale's Blood Bank Reaccredited

Reaccreditation of the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital blood bank by the American Association of Blood Banks for another three-year period was announced this week by the American Association of Blood Banks medical director.

"You are hereby recognized as maintaining or exceeding the standards of blood bank performance as established by the American Association of Blood Banks," stated Dr. Frank C. Coleman, president of the association, in making the presentation. "The enclosed certificate is your formal official record of this action. We hope you will display this award in a prominent place, because we share your pride in its significance," he continued.

Congratulating the hospital's governing board and staff, Dr. Coleman pointed out that "this recognition by the American Association of Blood Banks is assurance of your continued interest in establishing the highest quality medical care to the patients you serve."

Accreditation was preceded by a comprehensive questionnaire and physical inspection of the blood bank by one of the association's volunteer specialists.

The purpose of the voluntary inspection and accreditation program, sponsored by the American Association of Blood Banks, is to elevate the standards of practice within the transfusion service; to assist the blood bank director in determining whether procedures being employed in his institution meet the established standards; and to provide consultation service, thus assuring patients of increased safety of human blood transfusions. Continuing voluntary participation in the program is outstanding evidence of the blood bank's effort to provide a superlative service to the community.

Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital blood bank is one of the more than 1,000 blood banks which have been certified through this program.

ILLINOIS

"La Juventud Victoriosa" Is Theme Of Spanish Youth Convention in Chicago

"La Juventud Victoriosa" provided the theme for the Spanish youth convention held July 25 to 27.

The convention, held at Wells High School, brought Spanish youth from Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois.

The theme for the weekend was presented in the Friday evening service when Elder W. A. Nelson, president of the Illinois Conference, welcomed those present. With a backdrop of the glowing MV torch, Elder Machado, pastor of the Bridgeport, Connecticut, church, presented the joys of the "Victorious Youth."

For the Sabbath morning services young people filled the main auditorium and spilled over into four classrooms, as Pastor Rojas spoke of "Refugio de la Juventud."

Sabbath afternoon inspiration was provided by the musical talents of various Spanish young people. Several English churches joined in to lend their voices and instrumental beauty to the program.

The weekend came to a climax with a baptism on Sunday evening of seven souls uniting with the church.

For many Spanish youth of Chicago, the convention marked the beginning of renewed effort for victory in their daily lives.

CONFERENCE BIBLE HOUSE MANAGER ASKS, "WHY BUY BOOKS?"

Upon being asked the question, Why should I buy books? my immediate mental response was—to read, of course! So often a great deal of importance is placed upon the cover of a book with the thought of how it will look on the library shelf. Many take great pride in building a library of beautifully bound, impressive titles. Some even go to the expense of having all books purchased rebound in order to develop an individual style with color coordination.

The valuable library is the neat and orderly arrangement of much-used reading material. Someone has said, "Show me the man whose Bible is falling apart from use and I will show you a Christian who is not falling apart spiritually."

Why buy books? Books open doors to wholesome recreation, as reading can transport one from his immediate surroundings into a completely different atmosphere and attitude. Books inspire, impart knowledge, and nurture spiritual growth for the Christian. Books lead souls to Christ.

Should you buy books? Absolutely! Add to your library regularly and with a purpose. Search out those volumes that will inspire, encourage, and challenge you and the members of your family.

It should be clarified at this point that our term "books" surely includes fine periodicals and journals, without which an individual's reading program would be incomplete. Such journals add freshness as they bring new and current concepts week by week or month by month.

Good reading builds character and develops strong leaders. Students seek knowledge to give direction to their lives and prepare them for their place in the world. Professional people maintain their stature and command respect by keeping up-to-date in their field of interest. That upon which the mind feeds will surely determine what the person will become. If your aim is to be a full-time, career Christian, you will seek knowledge in your field of interest and desire to keep well informed.

You must read! This is why you should buy good books and journals regularly. Counsel with your pastor and let your Book and Bible House manager help you build a library and develop a reading program that will be meaningful for you and your family.

Rockford youth who gathered toys for tots are Rhonda Waterman, Kathy Baker, Nancy Baker, Rita Waterman, and Kay Thompson.

Youth Again Gather Toys for Tots

Youth of the Rockford church again collected toys for Head Start, a summer program to prepare preschool children from low income families for entering kindergarten this fall.

When Head Start was launched in Rockford three years ago, the youth from the Rockford church conducted a similar drive that resulted in over 1,000 toys being donated for this purpose. This program is financed by federal funds through the local school system. It has a limited budget that does not provide the necessary toys to teach coordination, etc.

Many toys have already been collected by the youth. The largest donation of toys came from the Carter Tru-Scale Toy Company in Rockford, a company known for its generosity to mission projects.

EAST SAINT LOUIS CHURCH HAS DISPLAY AT FAIR

For the second consecutive year the East Saint Louis church had a temperance display at the Saint Clair County Fair in Belleville.

C. C. Muffo, temperance leader, was in charge of the display. Pastor D. G. Lewis assisted in telling those who were in attendance of the evils of alcohol and tobacco.

Temperance films pertaining to narcotics and tobacco were shown to the people in an effort to encourage them to discontinue that which is harmful to their physical well-being.

A Five-Day Plan is scheduled in the immediate future for those who indicate a desire to stop smoking.

Mayor B. T. Schleicher of Rockford delivers a scroll to Gary Friestad, Barbara Friestad, and Kathy March for them to take to Elder Theodore Lucas in Zurich, Switzerland.

Youth Head for Zurich Congress With Mayor's Best Wishes

Rockford's three youths who attended the World Youth Congress, Kathy March, Barb and Gary Friestad, were fortunate in having a mayor who gave them an enthusiastic send-off. Rockford's Mayor, B. T. Schleicher, wrote a personal letter to Elder Theodore Lucas commending him for sponsoring this type of congress. He also had the delegates personally deliver a parchment scroll to Elder Lucas making him an honorary citizen of the city of Rockford.

The youth presented their exciting congress report at the Rockford MV on August 9. Besides the details of the congress, a complete report was given on Hitler's concentration camp, Dachau, and on the city of Pompeii.

The youth will long remember the friends they made on this trip and intend to keep in touch with many. One friend was a Catholic nun, Sister Rosa, who was in charge of the Catholic mission in Rome, Missianarie Eucaitiche, where the delegates spent four days. Keeping in touch with these acquaintances will help carry out the aim of the congress, "One-to-One" witnessing.

MINISTERS' ALLIANCE MEETINGS HELD

There is no profession with a higher calling than the ministry. It is with this in mind that Elder Robert Dale, president of the Indiana Conference, has scheduled a monthly Ministerial Alliance Program where the pastors and district leaders are called together for a day of prayer, counsel, and study to maintain and improve methods by which the work in this conference can progress.

The first month's agenda included a motion picture showing ministers and physicians working closely together on cases which involve emotional and physical illnesses. Time was spent discussing the 1970 evangelistic program, Go Tell, which will soon be introduced to all our people. The 1970 Ingathering program was also explained in detail to our church leaders.

A training program is envisioned in which our ministry will be kept abreast of the latest techniques in counseling, visitation, decision-making, chairmanship of committees, evangelism, stewardship, etc.

These alliance meetings are scheduled for the first Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of each month for three areas of the conference—the southern section at Bedford, the central section at Indianapolis, and the northern section at South Bend.

Stop-Smoking Fair Booth Has Large Attendance

The metropolitan Indianapolis churches united their resources in sponsoring a stop-smoking booth at the Indiana State Fair. More than a million people attend this outstanding state fair. Our booth was strategically situated on the main avenue very close to the official entrance. Elders Merton Henry and Byron Blecha were the prime movers in this venture.

Elder Merton Henry, pastor of the Indianapolis Glendale church, is visiting with Captain Yoaquin Rodriguez of the Indianapolis police department outside the temperance booth.

Annual Workshop Held for New Teachers

The annual New Teacher Workshop was held at the new Cicero church school on August 24 and 25.

These new teachers are well prepared for the schools they will teach this year, for they have a combined total of 95 years of service. Three of them hold a master's degree and nine of them hold a bachelor's degree.

Our teachers are spontaneous in their show of courage and enthusiasm for the Christian education of our Indiana youth. The year 1969-70, with the Lord's help, looks like an excellent year. A hearty thank you to the teachers for their cooperation in serving the Lord here in Indiana.

MICHIGAN

P.R. Secretary Praised by Selective Service Representative

The public relations secretary of the Ithaca church was praised in an article appearing in the local newspaper for never missing a send-off of Gratiot County youth to the armed services. C. B. Burgess has been out every morning, rain or shine, "to help give the boys a warm send-off."

The article quoted Mrs. Violet Goodwin, clerk of the local Selective Service board, who used the Gratiot County Herald to express her personal thanks, "the thanks of the board, and the thanks of all our young men" to Burgess and to a representative of the Gideon Society, who also has been faithful in this task. Both men "distribute comforting literature to young servicemen," the Herald article said.

"Recently, our boys have been leaving quite early in the morning, but they have never missed," Mrs. Goodwin was quoted as saying, "and I know they are very much appreciated by both us and the boys."

Golden Anniversary Celebrated

Sunday, August 17, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Petersen of Perrinton celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. They were honored at an open house by their four daughters and three sons.

The Petersens have been loyal and active members of the Carson City church for 25 years. She is an enthusiastic health and welfare leader, and he did much work in the construction of the Gratiot County Health and Welfare Center. They attribute their good health to healthful Adventist living.

Mrs. Petersen is one of a family of nine, seven of whom are living. All live in the West, but all were present, as well as the widow of a deceased brother. The brother and sister who were best man and maid of honor at the wedding in 1919 were also present.

John Derringer, right, chairman of the social committee of the South Flint church, presents Elder and Mrs. Kenaston with a money tree at their farewell.

Farewell for the Kenastons Held at Flint

A farewell get-together was held September 6 for Elder and Mrs. Henry Kenaston and their three children of the South Flint church. The Kenastons have moved to Pennsylvania, where he will pastor the Sharon, New Castle, and New Brighton churches.

Elder Kenaston has worked in the Lake Union since 1964. He was principal of the Raymond Junior Academy in Franksville, Wisconsin, and a teacher at Pontiac Junior Academy prior to becoming associate pastor of the Flint churches. He was ordained at camp meeting last year.

With the guidance of Elder Jeremia Florea of Flint, Elder Kenaston's ministry resulted in over 60 uniting with the churches with which he was associated. The membership of the South Flint church (his primary charge), has grown from 85 to the present 130. He also had a part in the necessary steps leading to the current construction of the new First Flint church, the erection of the new South Flint church, and the establishment of the new welfare center.

According to Elder Kenaston, the mention of Flint will always bring fond memories to him and his wife. "It was here," he said, "where two of our three children were born."

Elder Kenaston's new address will be 2366 Avalon Drive, Sharpville, Pennsylvania 16150. He is being succeeded by Elder Paul Gates of Onaway, who will take up his duties in Flint around October 1.

Book Racks Should Be in Church Lobbies

One of the most successful programs we have initiated in the last year or so is the doctors' office book racks.

This program has been wonderfully supported by our doctors and has been the means of distributing scores of thousands of small books.

This program was originally started by the Southeastern California Book and Bible House. It is directed in our conference by Bill Thomas.

In southeastern California recently a Presbyterian minister saw the rack in a doctor's office and told the doctor he would like just such a rack in his church lobby. This was a shock to the brethren, but this is the way some new ideas come about, so a rack was placed in his church and filled with books. In reporting this experience, they say, "We wonder what will come of this."

On one of my visits recently I noticed a rack in the lobby of the Ionia church. I think this is a fine plan. It helps our people have access to these many, many small books that we publish.

If a Presbyterian church finds it desirable, then I think it is time all of our churches placed racks in their lobbies, too. I am sure the regular lay activities offering will pay for the books taken by the people. This is true home missionary work.

Talk to your church board about this for your church, and then contact the publishing department of the Michigan Conference. We will supply you with this stand-up floor rack and fill it with our newest booklets.

William Brace, instructor in physical education at Grand Ledge Academy, pauses on his way to a gym class to anticipate the benefits of the gymnasium-auditorium now under construction. Present progress suggests completion by October 15.

New Gym Nearly Ready for G.L.A.

Three ones do not always equal three. This school year at Grand Ledge Academy they equal 111—the current enrollment. There is a great stirring on the campus as old-timers renew acquaintances and visit their favorite haunts, while the newcomers orientate themselves to the mysteries of high school adventure. The year looms challengingly as 26 freshmen begin the rigors of increasing their knowledge, and 26 seniors prepare to complete this section of life's challenge. They and the other students will find the faculty of 10 dedicated Christians anxious to hold aloft the ideals of the Divine Teacher.

Especially of interest is the nearly completed gymnasium-auditorium which enhances the campus and delights the hearts of all. Audiences of 800 to 1,000 can be comfortably accommodated, and the gym will have a legal-size basketball court, as well as two volleyball courts. The new building will also be of great value during the yearly camp meeting.

The construction group is rehousing the bakery in an addition to the warehouse. This new location provides triple oven space and will allow for new additions, like sweet rolls, to join the array of wholesome baked goods.

Sabbath School Workshops Begin

Michigan's new Sabbath School secretary, Elder Clyde C. Groomer, will begin the first of his training programs for Sabbath School workers on October 12 at the Wilson church.

Elder Groomer will emphasize the work of the senior division, while his wife Vera will concentrate on the problems and needs of the kindergarten and cradle roll departments.

Mrs. Marjorie Snyder, office secretary of the department, will give instruction on the primary level. Her husband, Elder Stuart Snyder, will stress working for the juniors and teen-agers.

The series of seven Sabbath School institutes and workshops will be held Sunday mornings in each selected area, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. There will be material and help for all division leaders and teachers. Visual aids and materials for the first quarter of 1970 will be on sale at the workshops.

The following are the cities and dates where these meetings will be held: Wilson, October 12; Boyne City, October 19; Edmore, October 26; Jackson, November 2; Holly, November 9; Berrien Springs, November 16; and Detroit (Metropolitan church), November 23. As many as possible of the new Sabbath School officers should be present.

Elder and Mrs. Clyde C. Groomer discuss Sabbath School aids at the recent camp meeting in Michigan.

Overseas Clothing Drive Held Earlier This Year

The conference Health and Welfare Service announces that arrangements have been worked out with the officials of the truck driver training department of Lansing Community College for student drivers to again pick up clothing in connection with our state-wide drive. The dates are October 14 and 15.

We would prefer to have the pick-up come toward the end of October or early November, but this happens to be the time in the truck driver training program that best fits into their schedule. A detailed pick-up schedule will be released in the Herald in early October. This advanced announcement is being made to enable all those involved to plan accordingly and process all clothing possible in time for the pick-up in your area.

If any center or unit runs short of standardized cartons for the fall drive, please continue processing your clothing in cardboard cartons from your local merchants. We are happy to report that 6,000 more standardized cartons are coming from SAWS in New York, many of which will be distributed at the time of our fall clothing drive.

We make an appeal to our Adventist believers to clean out their closets and shelves of surplus clothing and take it to the nearest health and welfare society unit or center for processing for this overseas drive. Do not delay. Do it today.

Elder and Mrs. Harold Jewkes leave Camp Au Sable to take up new duties at Fort Bragg, California.

Elder Jewkes Leaves Au Sable

Five years and seven months ago we moved from Wisconsin (where we lived for almost 10 years) to Michigan and Camp Au Sable. These years have gone by fast. They have been filled with the joys of service. We have greatly appreciated the privilege of laboring in the Lake Union.

Now we say farewell to you, our friends, and make our way westward to northern California. Our new post of duty will be the town of Fort Bragg, on the shores of the Pacific Ocean. Here we have a two-teacher school and a growing church. It will be our duty to shepherd the flock there.

We leave Camp Au Sable with mixed emotions. No place in Michigan is more dear to the hearts of thousands of young people and friends of youth than this beautiful camp. Here is where scores of youth have made their decision for Christ. Here is where the voices of nature speak of her Creator to the heart of man. Here is where a man may come apart and rest from the rush of city life. Here the still, small voice calls, "This is the way, walk ye in it."

To our friends in the Lake Union we say Thank you for everything, and God be with you till we meet again.

Harold and Glenna Jewkes

NEWS NOTES

• Another honor has been given to Mrs. William Shertzer of the Detroit Oakwood Boulevard church. This is the third time since the middle of August that a news item on her achievements has appeared in the Lake Union Herald.

At the thirty-second annual meeting in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, of the Theta Sigma Phi, a national organization for professional women in journalism and communications, Mrs. Shertzer, known professionally as Marion Corwell, received a Headliner Award, the society's highest honor.

Headliner Awards also went to Katherine Meyer Graham, publisher of the Washington Post, Newsweek, and Art News; and Erma Bomback, whose daily column, "At Wit's End," is distributed to over 300 newspapers.

The recipient of many awards over the years, Mrs. Shertzer is listed in Who's Who and the Dictionary of International Biography. Recent articles in the Herald told of her election as national president of the American Women in Radio and Television and of her appointment by Governor William G. Milliken to the Michigan Women's Commission.

• The National Association of American Business Clubs has awarded an $800 scholarship to Jerry Kaufman of Battle Creek, now a senior therapy student at Loma Linda University. He is a graduate of Battle Creek Academy. The American Business Clubs make such funds available to help relieve the acute shortage of therapists in the United States.

• Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gordon of Monrovia, Liberia, were recent visitors to Battle Creek, Jackson, and Berrien Springs visiting relatives. Mr. Gordon was administrator of the Battle Creek Sanitarium until two years ago when he accepted a post with the U.S. State Department. He is now administrator of two existing government hospitals in Monrovia and will head a third one now under construction. The Gordons were on furlough with their three daughters, Jill, Jan, and Traci. They returned to Africa the first part of September.

• Dr. Douglas A. Mack, a graduate of Loma Linda University, has assumed his new duties as health director for St. Joseph, Hillsdale, and Branch counties. Dr. Mack was in general practice at Wakefield in the Upper Peninsula before moving to southwestern Michigan. He is a graduate of Andrews University and interned at Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital. Dr. and Mrs. Mack and their four children attend the Sturgis church.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO DRAFTEES

We understand that draftees with a I-A-O classification who are selected for assignment to the U.S. Marine Corps may be given a choice at the Armed Forces Entrance and Examining Station (AFES) as to whether or not they will accept such assignment. If this choice is offered to Seventh-day Adventists, we counsel strongly that they not accept the assignment to the Marine Corps but go into the U.S. Army.

Each man must make his own decision in this matter. However, this counsel is based on Sabbath observance problems and other factors experienced by Adventist inductees during the past six months.

As soon as definite word on this matter comes into our hands we shall publish more details.

Fifty-two Sabbath Menus compiled by Jeanne R. Larson and Ruth A. McLin. Southern Publishing Association, Nashville, Tennessee. 255 pages, spiral bound. $4.95.

This collection of Sabbath menus of the denomination's first ladies of good cooking is unique among Adventist cookbooks. Included are Friday and Sabbath preparation times, along with recipes, numbers of portions, and serving suggestions—everything but the market order.

The menus are divided for the different seasons of the year, and foreign dishes and snack suggestions are provided.

From Immigrant to Emissary, by Doris Holt Haussler. Southern Publishing Association, Nashville, Tennessee. 192 pages. $5.95.

This book captures the excitement and challenge of the adventure-filled life of an ex-immigrant boy, Dr. William Landeen, who ably served both his church and his country.

This Day Is Yours, by Kenneth J. Holland, editor of These Times. Southern Publishing Association, Nashville, Tenn. 192 pages. $4.95.

"The Sabbath is not for the sake of the weekdays; the weekdays are for the sake of the Sabbath. It is not an interlude, but the climax of living."

With this intriguing comment, Kenneth Holland opens his discussion of the blessings of the Sabbath. With straightforward simplicity he describes the spiritual beauty of the day. Especially appealing is his account of Sabbath traditions in the Jewish faith.

Pastor Holland supplies the reader with a real wealth of background material on the Sabbath doctrine. Although he goes into detail regarding the Biblical background and the change from Sabbath to Sunday, his style is consistently clear and simple.

The second half of This Day Is Yours is devoted to some philosophical thoughts on the Sabbath and the kind of life a true Sabbath-keeper can enjoy.

DISCOVERING THE UNKNOWN

Through test tubes and equations the scientist has opened up a whole new world for modern man. Today we live in an era that a few years ago was only man's fanciful dreams.

E. I. du Pont de Nemours

But while modern man has made tremendous discoveries, the most glorious revelations of all come from God's Word. Here is outlined the secret of personal power. Beautifully revealed are the steps one takes to salvation and entry to God's kingdom.

You may have a friend or loved one who has never made a full commitment to Christ. Take a moment now to invite him to enroll in Faith for Today's Bible Correspondence Course. Fleeting moments spent in giving a brief invitation to study in this way can lead another to make his calling and election sure.

White, will be presented during Wednesday evening prayer meeting services in Pioneer Memorial church on the Andrews University campus October 8 through December 10.

D. A. Delafield of the Ellen G. White Estate in Washington, D.C., will launch the series by speaking at both morning services and at an afternoon community-wide rally in Pioneer Memorial church on Sabbath, October 4.

W. G. C. Murdoch and Thomas Blincoe of the S.D.A. Theological Seminary faculty will conduct the Testimony Countdown prayer meeting services. All Lake Union Seventh-day Adventists are invited to attend.

Andrews University Librarian Mary Jane Mitchell examines some of the items in a collection recently donated to the James White Library from the estate of the late Dr. Cyril Courville, A.U. alumnus and noted neuropathologist.

Andrews Inherits Courville Collection

Andrews University welcomes collections from its constituency that are of educational value and can be used for instructional purposes.

Recently donated to the James White Library at Andrews were 635 volumes and various artifacts from the estate of the late Dr. Cyril B. Courville, an Andrews University alumnus and noted neuropathologist.

Approximately two-thirds of the books pertain to the American Civil War, and the others deal with history, languages, science, and art. Many of the Civil War volumes are original editions of the memoirs of Union and Confederate generals and some are autographed by their authors.

Also included in the collection are tomahawks, a war club, a bronze statue of a Civil War soldier, muskets from the mid-1800's, masks of Lincoln, boots and hat from World War I, a telescope, and three flags, one of which has 13 stars and stripes.
